Scanned from the collection of
The Museum of Modern Art Library

Coordinated by the Media History Digital Library
www.mediahistoryproject.org

Funded by a donation from David Sorochty

Digitized by the Internet Archive
in 2013

http://archive.org/details/motionpicture33moti

May 1, 1926

Motion Picture News

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER
HAS DARED TO PRESENT NEW IDEAS
in production
SUPPLANTING WORN-OUT IDEAS
OF OTHER PRODUCERS
THE BIGGEST HITS
ARE M-G-M HITS
THE LIVEST PRODUCERS
The Talk of the Industry
METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Entered as second-class matter January 31, 1924, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., under act of March 3, 1879

Vol. XXXIII No. 18

Published Weekly—$2.00 a year

PRICE, 20 CENTS

Los Angeles — New York — Chicago

WURLITZER
Art Grand Pianos are endowed with the same unapproachable tone and quality inherent in the Wurlitzer Unit Organ.

Send for special catalog

Link the Music of the Immortals with Your Pictures

.....nothing can sway from Beethoven and Bach to Modern syncopation so quickly as the mighty ~

WURLITZER
UNIT ORGAN

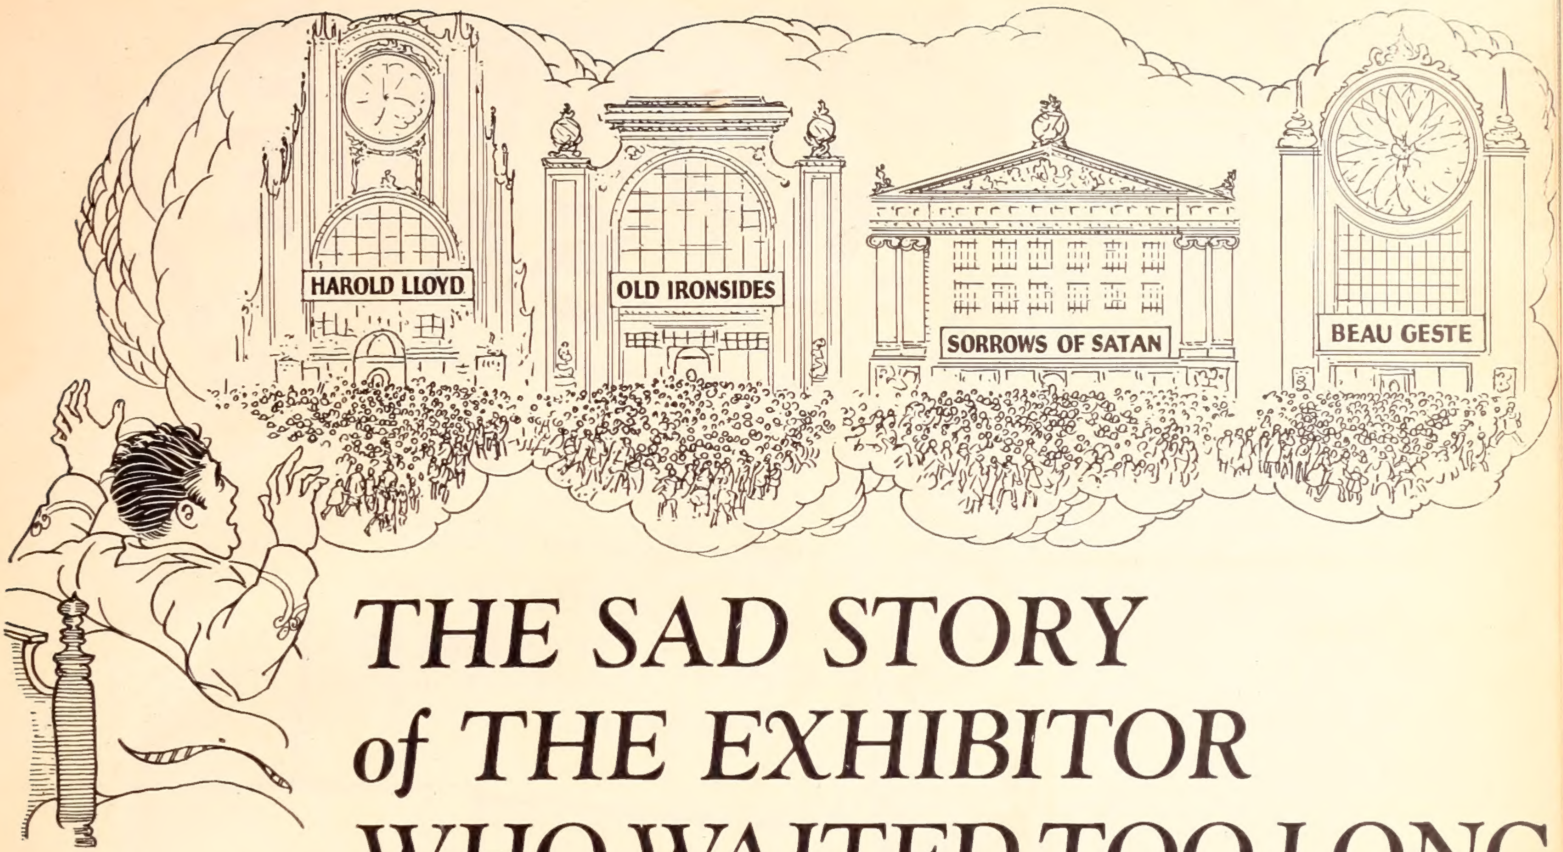
CINCINNATI
121 East Fourth St.
DENVER
2106 Broadway

NEW YORK
120 West 42nd St.

CHICAGO
329 S. Wabash Ave.

[Forty-four Branches in Thirty-three Cities from Coast to Coast]

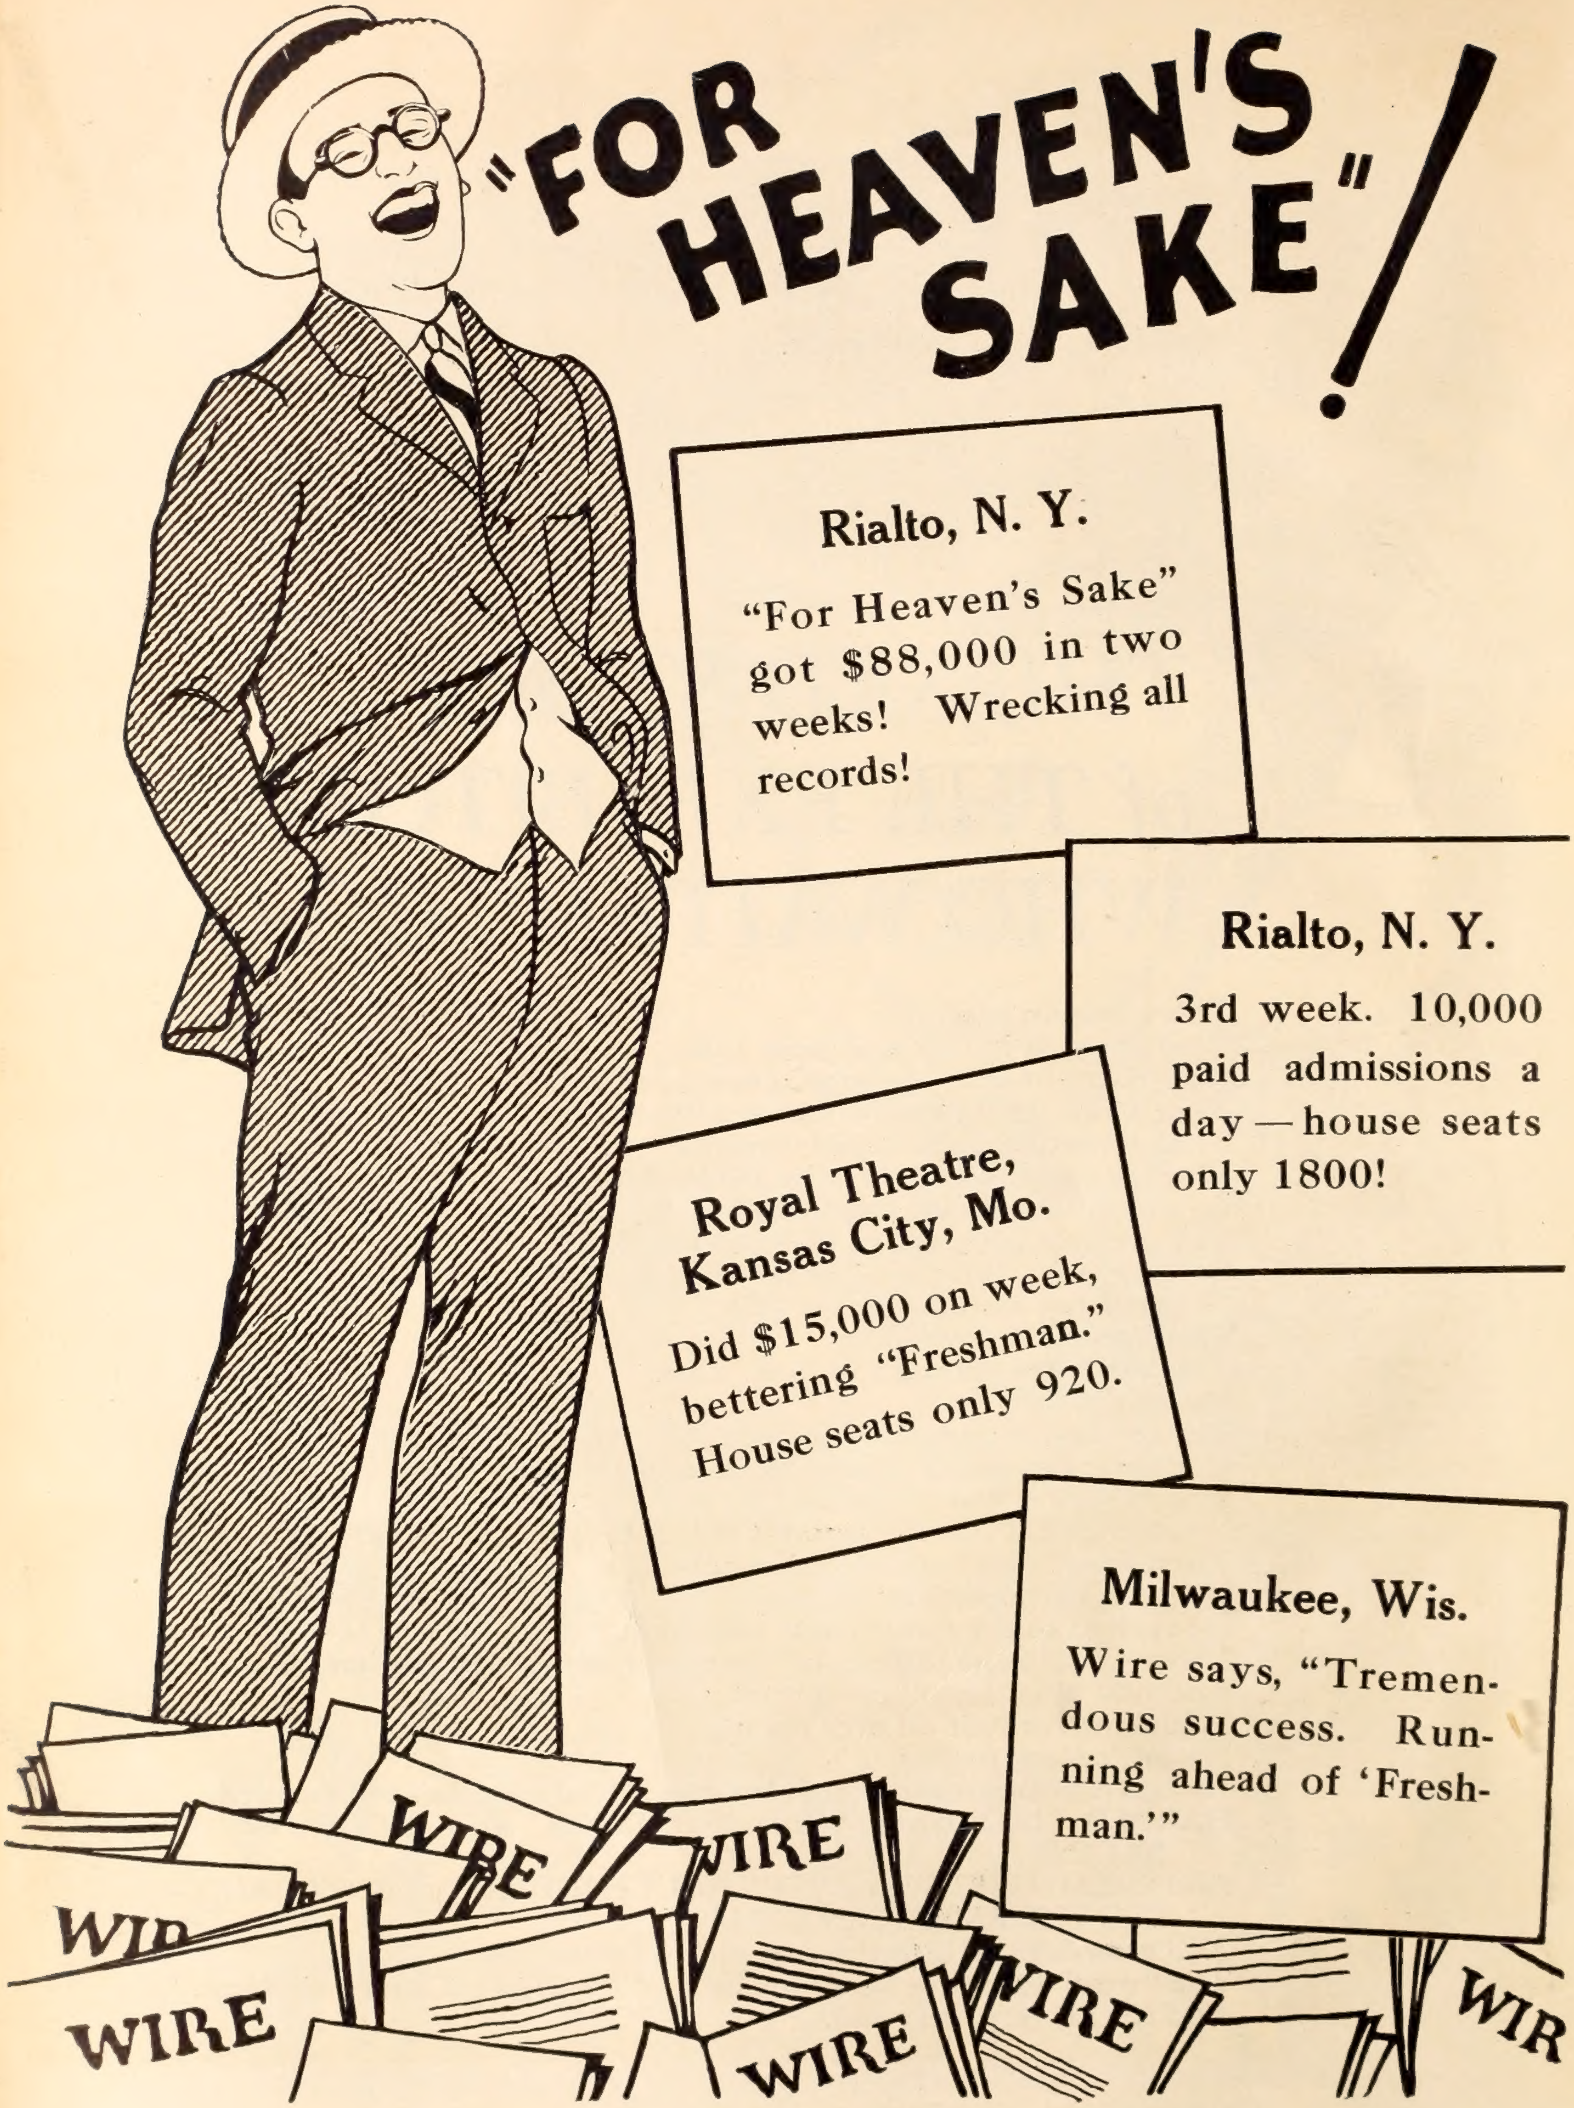
SAN FRANCISCO
250 Stockton St.
LOS ANGELES
814 S. Broadway



THE SAD STORY of THE EXHIBITOR WHO WAITED TOO LONG

There was an exhibitor
Who listened to fast and loose talk
Who thought that one star made a milky way
That a few good pictures made a big season
That something else could compete
With 15 years of constructive leadership
So when Paramount announced
The greatest program of pictures ever known
Stars, stories, directors, casts—the cream of the world!
75 smashing attractions for 1926-7
The 15th Birthday Group
This exhibitor thought he was "wise"
He didn't sign
The leading showmen of the country, by the thousands
Got their names on contracts at record speed
Everywhere it was in the air:
"Nothing to it but Paramount this fall—get 'em quick!"
Then this "wise" exhibitor hesitated
He got a little panicky
He rushed to the Paramount salesman
"Sorry," said the salesman, "but your opposition got 'em."
And now this "wise" exhibitor
Is kicking himself all over town
He can't sleep nights
He has nightmares in which his opposition's lights keep flashing:
HAROLD LLOYD and "OLD IRONSIDES" and "SORROWS OF SATAN"
And "BEAU GESTE" and "THE ROUGH RIDERS" and "GLORIFYING THE AMERICAN GIRL"
And crowds pour into the opposition house
The "wise" exhibitor keeps moaning, "I waited too long—too long."
And it's all very, very sad.

"FOR HEAVEN'S SAKE"!



Rialto, N. Y.

"For Heaven's Sake" got $88,000 in two weeks! Wrecking all records!

Rialto, N. Y.

3rd week. 10,000 paid admissions a day—house seats only 1800!

Royal Theatre, Kansas City, Mo.

Did $15,000 on week, bettering "Freshman." House seats only 920.

Milwaukee, Wis.

Wire says, "Tremendous success. Running ahead of 'Freshman.'"

Some Record Smashing!

Orpheum Theatre, Topeka, Kan.

Established new Lloyd record, beating "Freshman" by hundreds of dollars!

Majestic Theatre, Portland, Ore.

S. R. O. PLUS every performance. Lined 'em up for blocks!

Roosevelt Theatre, Chicago, Ill.

Sensation! Second week topped first by more than $9,000!

Imperial Theatre, San Francisco, Cal.

"For Heaven's Sake" did biggest business in history. Ran away from "Freshman" record.

Million Dollar Theatre, Los Angeles, Cal.

Third week and no let-up in crowds. Got $18,500—tremendous.

Rialto Theatre, Pueblo, Col.

"For Heaven's Sake" smashes all records! Lines a block long every show!

HAROLD LLOYD

in "For Heaven's Sake!"

PRODUCED BY HAROLD LLOYD
CORPORATION

DIRECTED
BY
SAM TAYLOR

A PARAMOUNT
RELEASE

Member of Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc. Will H. Hays, President.

Associated's ENTERTAINMENT Productions

??? !!!! --- ★ § √ """ :::: ....

That's the language we have heard you use at times—

When you were playing Somebody's highbrow fantasy, or Somebody Else's dull and dreary star vehicle, or Some Other Body's over-their-heads Broadway adaptation.

When you've felt like shouting right out loud—

"Why don't those swivel-chair ginks in New York and Los Angeles learn that what folks want is—

"ENTERTAINMENT!"

Yessir, we've heard you.

And we're answering.

Thirty ENTERTAINMENT productions. Every title, story, star, director, player okayed by Associated before a camera crank turns—

With ENTERTAINMENT in mind!

Producers such as—S. S. Hutchinson, Lewis H. Moomaw, H. C. Weaver, Max Graf, John Gorman, John Russell, Paul Brady, St. Regis Productions, S. E. V. Taylor, etc., etc.

Players of Prominence:—Wanda Hawley, Anne Cornwall, Edward Everett Horton, Dorothy Devore, Vola Vale, John Lowell, Evangeline Russell, etc., etc.

Made on a common-sense platform to ENTERTAIN patrons; sold on a HARD-BOILED platform to MAKE MONEY for all concerned.

And that includes YOU.

ASSOCIATED EXHIBITORS, Inc.
Oscar A. Price, Pres.

Ah-h-h! I see WARNER BROS. talk my language!
1926
W.B 1927
WARNER BROTHERS WEST COAST STUDIOS
26
Warner Winners

This is a book of "dollars and cents" box office facts. Every word means money for your box office!

Study it now for 1926-27!

Read the details of this great line-up in your copy of the WARNER BROS. Announcement Book!

1

MONTE BLUE
in
"THE BRUTE"
A virile drama of primitive passions

4

RIN-TIN-TIN
in
"HILLS OF KENTUCKY"
A thrilling masterpiece of outdoor melodrama

7

Dolores Costello
in
"IRISH HEARTS"
A story for young hearts and old—the world over!

8

IRENE RICH
in
"The CLIMBERS"
Clyde Fitch's memorable society drama

9

11

Patsy Ruth Miller
in an
ARTHUR SOMERS ROCHE
story. Romance, adventure, mystery.

26 WARNER WINNERS—the

2

IRENE RICH
in
"MY OFFICIAL WIFE"
From the famous stage drama

3

DOLORES COSTELLO
in
"THE COLLEGE WIDOW"
George Ade's famous stage play of college life

5

Willard Louis
and Louise Fazenda
in
"MILLIONAIRES"
Great comedy-drama by E. Phillips Oppenheim

6

Patsy Ruth Miller
in
"WHAT HAPPENED to FATHER"
Comedy-drama, romance—by Mary Roberts Rinehart

MONTE BLUE
in
"BITTER APPLES"
Adventure drama from New York to the tropics

10

"DEARIE"
With a surprise cast of box office favorites
A melodramatic comedy, by Carolyn Wells

12

"WHAT EVERY GIRL SHOULD KNOW"
With a cast of outstanding stars
Great title—great box office!

13

MONTE BLUE
in
"ACROSS THE PACIFIC"
A champion, record-breaking thriller

Authors

The pick of the world's finest novelists, playwrights and screen specialists!

DAVID BELASCO
ARTHUR SOMERS ROCHE
DARRYL FRANCIS ZANUCK
RICHARD HENRY SAVAGE
GEORGE ADE
E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM
MARY ROBERTS RINEHART
CLYDE FITCH
HAROLD MAC GRATH
CAROLYN WELLS
CHARLES E. BLANEY
VIRGINIA DALE
W. DOUGLAS NEWTON
LUCIAN CARY
LEROY WHITNEY
ALBERT S. HOWSON
S. R. BUCHMAN
CHARLES KLEIN
GEORGE CAMERON
EDWARD CLARK
JOHN WAGNER
WALTER MOROSCO
GREGORY ROGERS

Industry's Finest for 1926-27

Directors

whose records speak for their appreciation of box office and dramatic values!

WM. BEAUDINE
MILLARD WEBB
LEWIS MILESTONE
ROY DEL RUTH
JAMES FLOOD
HERMAN RAYMAKER
WALTER MOROSCO
PAUL STEIN
MICHAEL COURTICE

14

IRENE RICH
in
"DON'T TELL THE WIFE"
Exciting drama with luxurious society background

RIN-TIN-TIN
in
"WHILE LONDON SLEEPS"
Rugged melodrama of the Limehouse district

15

"MATINEE LADIES"
A marvelous cast in this picturization of afternoon indiscretions

17

Louise Fazenda
in
"SIMPLE SIS'
The childhood character that everybody loves

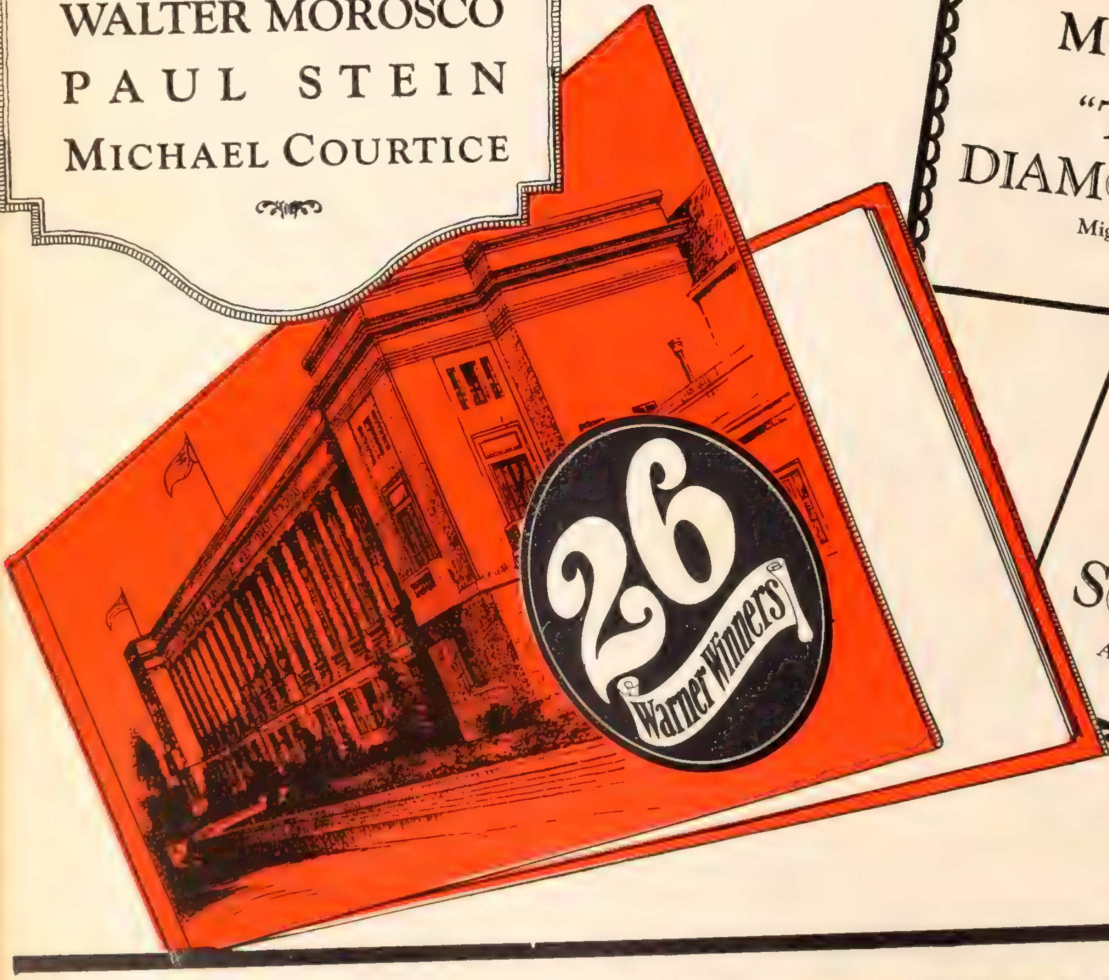
18

MONTE BLUE
in
"The BLACK DIAMOND EXPRESS"
Mightiest of railroad thrillers

20

The year's finest mystery drama
by
ARTHUR SOMERS ROCHE
A great story especially written for the screen

22



26 WARNER WINNERS—the

Picture for picture—the year's outstanding line-up

"WHITE FLANNELS"

With a special sporting cast of youthful stars

The greatest tennis story ever written or filmed

16

19

Dolores Costello
in
"THE HEART OF MARYLAND"

David Belasco's renowned stage hit

"THE THIRD DEGREE"
starring
Patsy Ruth Miller

Charles Klein's sensational stage melodrama

21

RIN-TIN-TIN
in
"TRACKED BY THE POLICE"

The wonder dog's great outdoor melodrama

25

Willard Louis
and Louise Fazenda
in
"The GAY OLD BIRD"

Riotous comedy

26

Dolores Costello
in
"A MILLION BID"

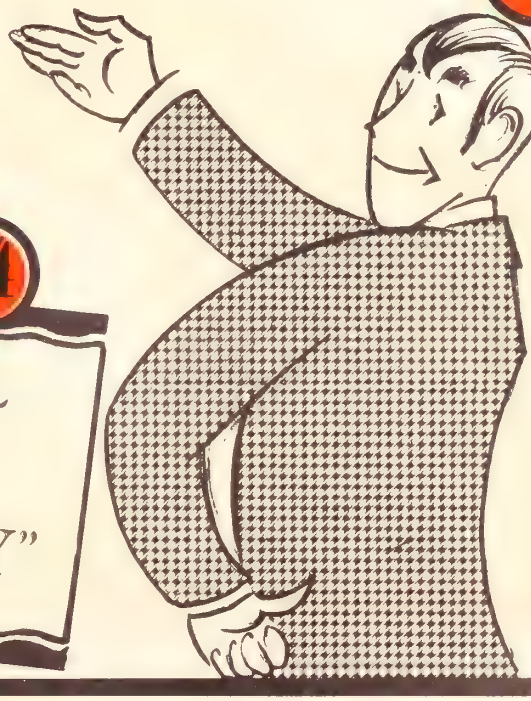
Dramatic romance of society

23

24

GEORGE JESSEL
in
"PRIVATE IZZY MURPHY"

The great star in a great laughing hit



Industry's Finest for 1926-27

After reading the book I know all about 26 great pictures!
26
Warner Winners

Read your copy of Warner Bros. Announcement Book for 1926-27! It is full of dollars and cents box office facts—just the things you want to know and must know when you book pictures. Study the line-up of story-star-director combinations! Every picture stands on its own intrinsic box office values; every picture challenges comparison with the finest product ever produced. Compare stories! Compare stars! Compare directors! Compare the Warner Bros. standard of production values with any other product offered—then you'll know that the theatre that has the 26 Warner Winners as the backbone of its service for the new season has the finest kind of profit insurance! Insure your profits with 26 Warner Winners!

PRODUCTION VALUES

GREAT AUTHORS

OUTSTANDING STARS

BOX-OFFICE DIRECTORS

READY-MADE AUDIENCES

PERSONALLY SUPERVISED

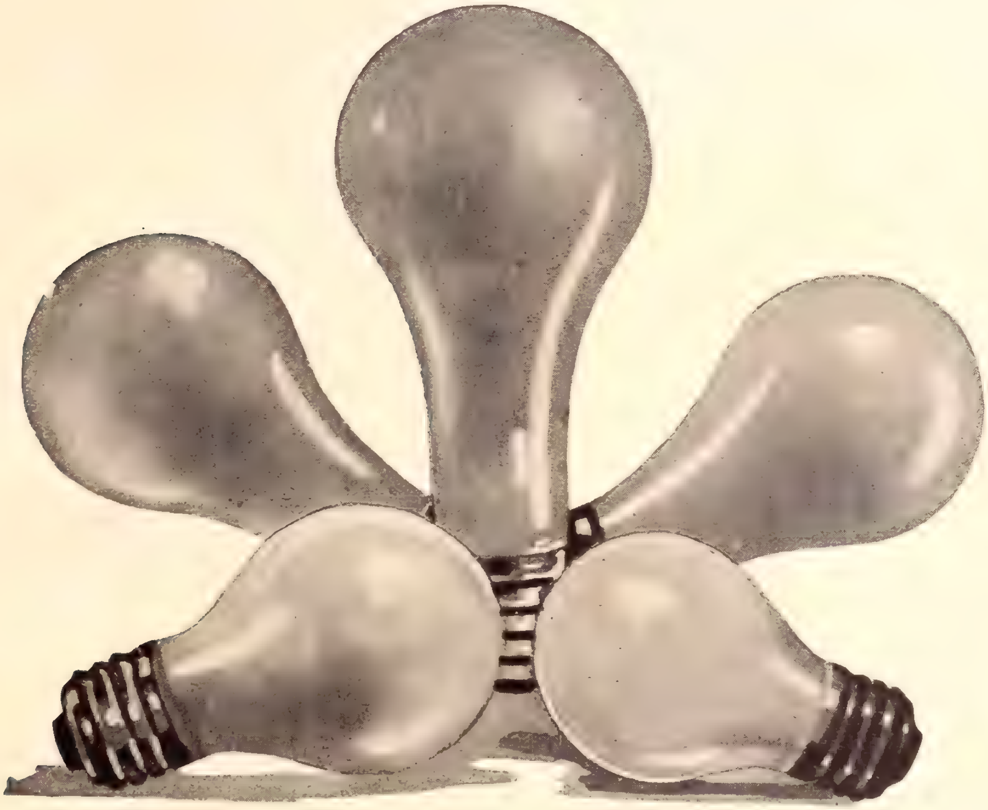
GUARANTEED PROFITS

WIN WITH WARNER BROS.

26 WARNER WINNERS

in 1926-27

For better theatre lighting



With the new Edison Mazda Lamps you can have better lighting than ever before. These lamps are new in shape, finish and construction and so superior to old style lamps as to set a new standard of lighting.

The new lamps are frosted on the inside. They let practically as much light come through as clear lamps, yet diffuse the light as well as any outside frosted lamps made. The lamps are pearl grey and are almost invisible in the daytime; at night they take on the color of surrounding decorations and give a soft, restful light.

Yet, with all these advantages, the new lamps cost no more than the old clear lamps and less than the old frosted lamps. They are made in sizes ranging from 15 to 100 watts.

Wherever you have been using clear or outside frosted lamps up to 100 watt sizes, now use the new inside frost Edison Mazda Lamps. They will give you better light at less cost.

EDISON MAZDA LAMPS

A GENERAL ELECTRIC PRODUCT

A smacking FBO

Whistling down the Big news is coming from F. B. O. Keep your ear to the ground!

FBO

FILM BOOKING OFFICES
1560 BROADWAY, NEW YORK, N. Y.
EXCHANGES EVERYWHERE

drive!
Fairway to the Long Green

Great authors are flocking to the streaming banner of F.B.O! Mightiest box-office author name in the world today, will contribute to the new F. B. O. program, TWO fine dramas based on her greatest novels!

GENE STRATTON-PORTER

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

creator of the glamorously romantic Tarzan, will be represented by a surging melodrama of the South African jungles!

And then will come

KATHLEEN NORRIS

writer of world-wide popularity!

PETER B. KYNE

great genius of sea fiction!

MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

whose readers have grown into teeming thousands everywhere!

EACH WITH ONE GREAT BOX-OFFICE STORY!

Stories are more than ever THE THING today! F. B. O. will have the stories! And author names of stupendous box-office value as well!

Play round with FBO i
1926-27 AND KEEP
OUTTA THE ROUGH

Coming Another AL

MARIE PREVOST

IN

"UP IN MAB

The Title Alone
Spells Box-Office

CHRISTIE Hit —

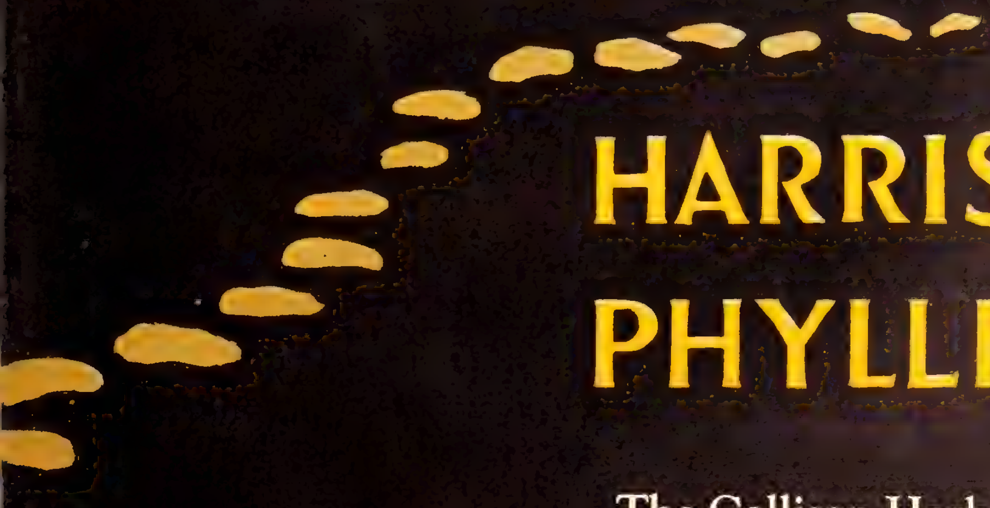
EL'S ROOM"



with

HARRISON FORD
and
PHYLLIS HAVER

The Collison-Harbach play was one of Al Woods' greatest stage hits, breaking records in all the cities where it played. The screen version is a hilarious comedy, made as only Al Christie, the master of farce, can produce.

Directed by E. MASON HOPPER.

RELEASED BY

PRODUCERS DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

Foreign Distributors Producers International Corporation 130 West 46th Street New York, N. Y.

Theatre Building and Equipment

BUYERS GUIDE

Published by

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

The reference book of the motion picture industry

The most successful selling medium ever offered equipment advertisers.

Make your reservations for the Spring Edition
NOW.

RALPH ILIGAN
First National Pictures

John McCormick
Presents

Colleen MOORE

in Thomas Burke's vivid drama of Limehouse Nights

"TWINKLETOES"

—and a series of MAGNIFICENT
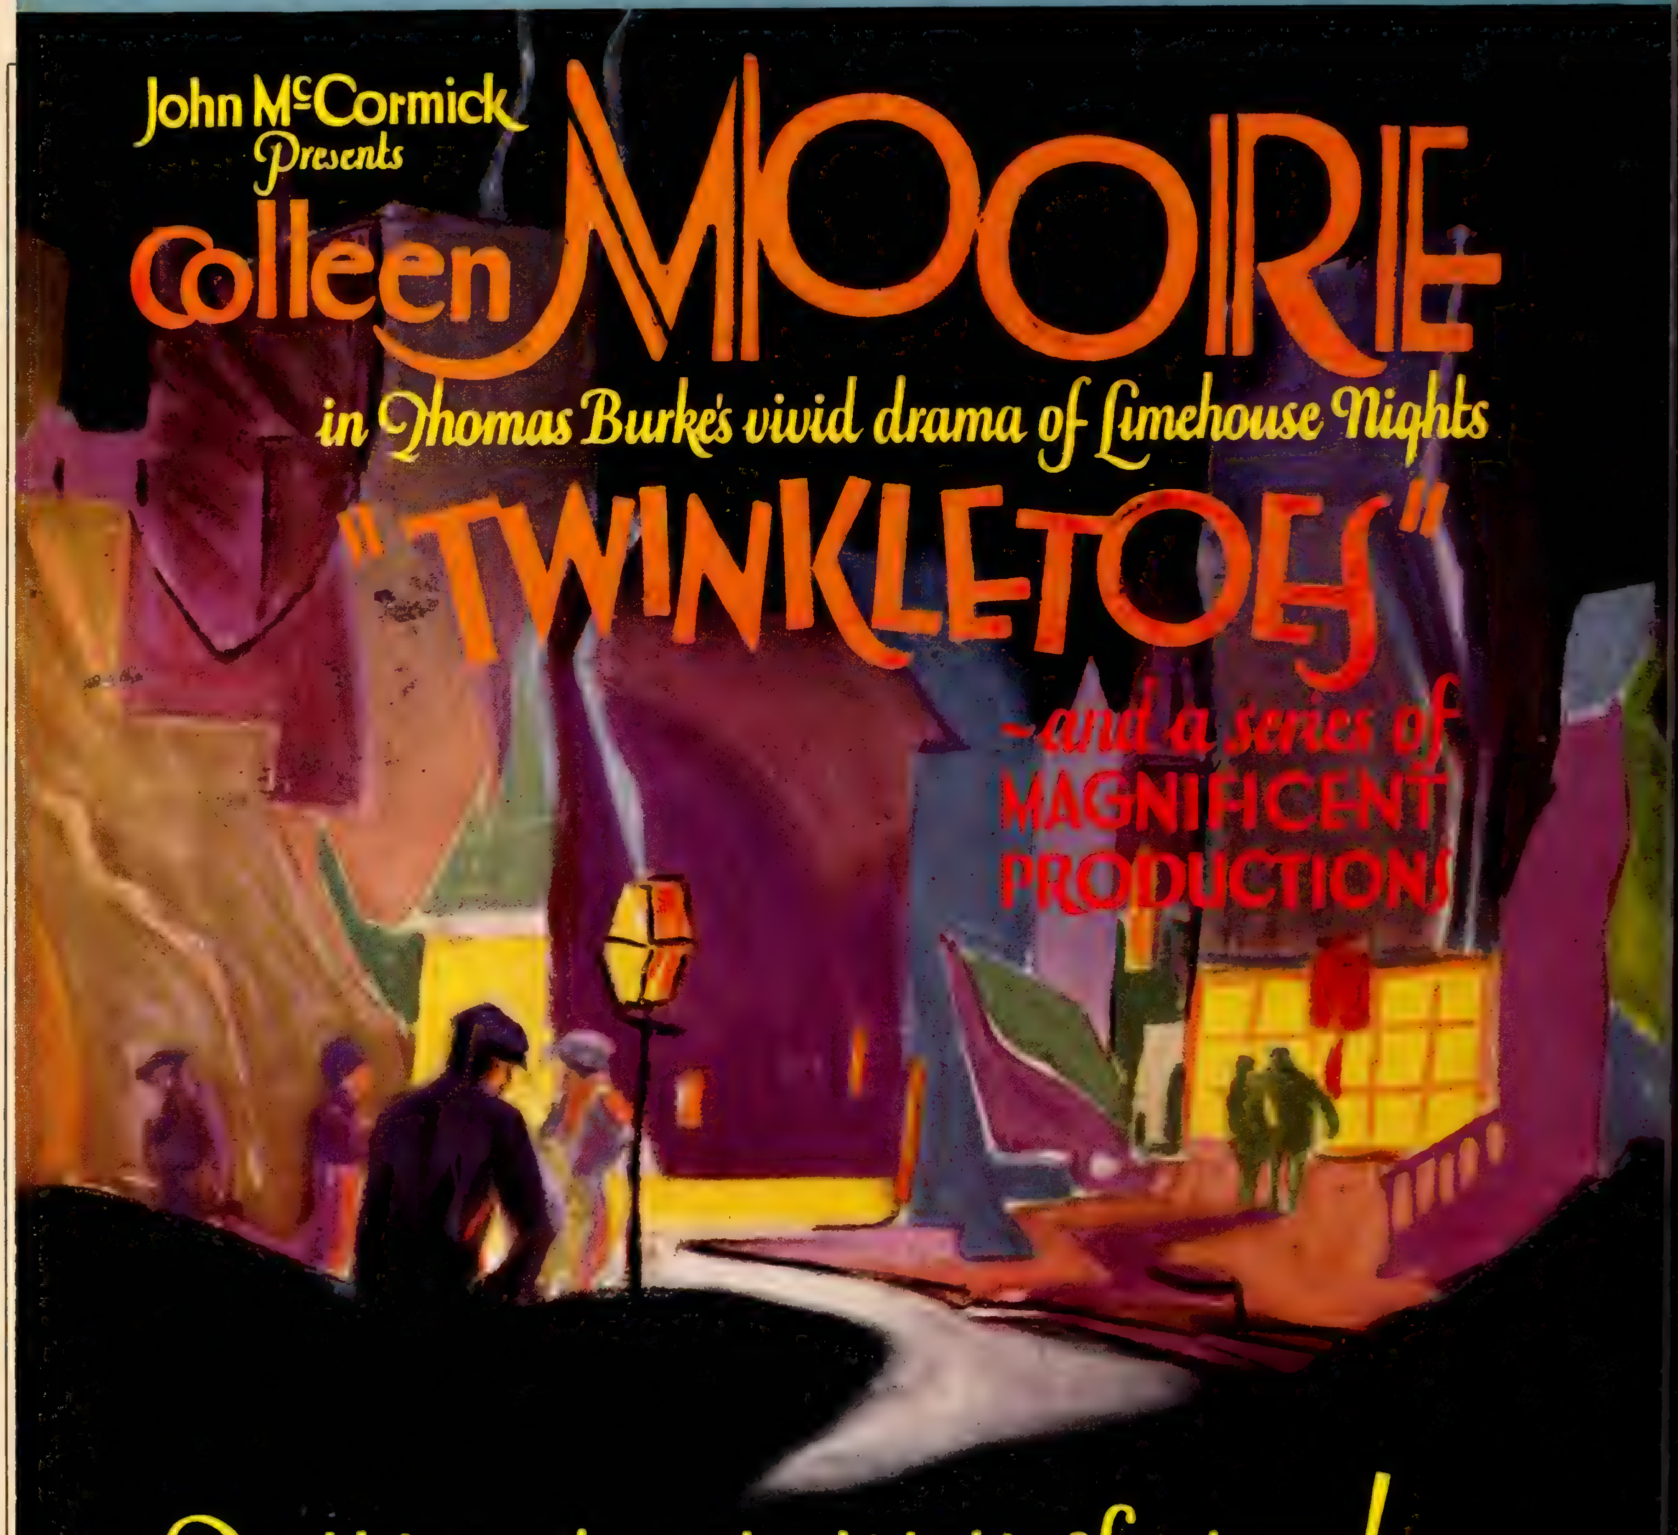
PRODUCTIONS



Twinkletoes—the one bright light of Limehouse!

SHE flitted through the slinking streets like a streak of happiness; and not a man, white or yellow, but realized that there was something "holy" about Twinkletoes.

She led the chorus at a cheap music hall. Her feet danced; her heart danced. Queer how those strange denizens of Limehouse loved her! Queerer still how she pinned her love to one man—how he failed—and then how the shadows sobbed after Twinkletoes—"Poor Limehouse kid! Poor Limehouse kid! Going the way that the rest of them did!"

It's a masterpiece for Colleen Moore in the colors of life, comedy and dramatic poignancy, by the man who wrote "Broken Blossoms!"

Directed by Charles Brabin.

And that's just the first of her distinctive, original, irresistible roles for the Banner Group.

First National Pictures
BANNER GROUP

Second Production: 'Daphne Grows Down'

JOSEPH M. SCHENCK Presents
Constance
in
"SILKY ANNE"
-and A BRILLIANT BOX-OFFICE SERIES

TALMADGE

TALK of surprise stories! Constance Talmadge starts her Banner Series with "Silky Anne"—whirling through the underworld, high-stepping in high-life, smooth as silk if she's picking a pocket, just as smooth when she's stealing a heart!

Here's comedy from an angle the screen never played before. Edward Clarke wrote it—the man who also wrote "De Luxe Annie," the smashing stage hit of a few seasons ago. That's the idea. And Constance tricks the tale into a comedy that will steal all the business in town.

Scenario by Edward Clarke and Raymond Shrock

SIDNEY A. FRANKLIN PRODUCTION

More to follow—
and millions waiting to follow
Constance wherever she plays!

Corinne Griffith Brings Capacity

Asher, Small and Rogers present:

CORINNE
GRIFFITH

IN A BANNER SERIES. THE FIRST IS

"ASHES"

THIS year Corinne Griffith reaches her zenith. Superb stories have been chosen for her, equalling "Classified" and "Mlle. Modiste" in magnetic attraction.

Imagine her in the dramatic glory with which "Ashes" surrounds her: the Cleopatra of Broadway, applauded for the splendor of her love on the stage—but behind the scenes, a married cast-off. Reginald Goode's stage success furnishes that role—a role which Miss Griffith lifts radiantly into a straight-out box-office certainty.

And in addition there's a complete series of productions to secure to you EVERY DOLLAR THAT CORINNE GRIFFITH CAN DRAW.

Pictures to the Banner Grou

First National Pictures

SPECIAL

The Giant Among Specials! The Thrill-Packed Epic of Steel!

SMASHING sequences of drama, spectacularly enacted amidst the glare and roar and throb of a gigantic industry, justify the two years required to plan and produce this special. The hugest screen task ever undertaken is finished! "Men of Steel," glowing with life at white-heat, has exceeded all expectations in the immensity of its star-strength, story-strength, and drawing-power!

Richard A. Rowland
presents

MILTON SILLS

in

"Men of Steel"

with

DORIS KENYON

by MILTON SILLS
Suggested by R. C. Kirk's Story "United States Flavor"
Directed by GEORGE ARCHAINBAUD PRODUCED UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF EARL HUDSON

Milton Sills
also in a Series of Big Productions
commencing with the thrilling drama of the Foreign Legion
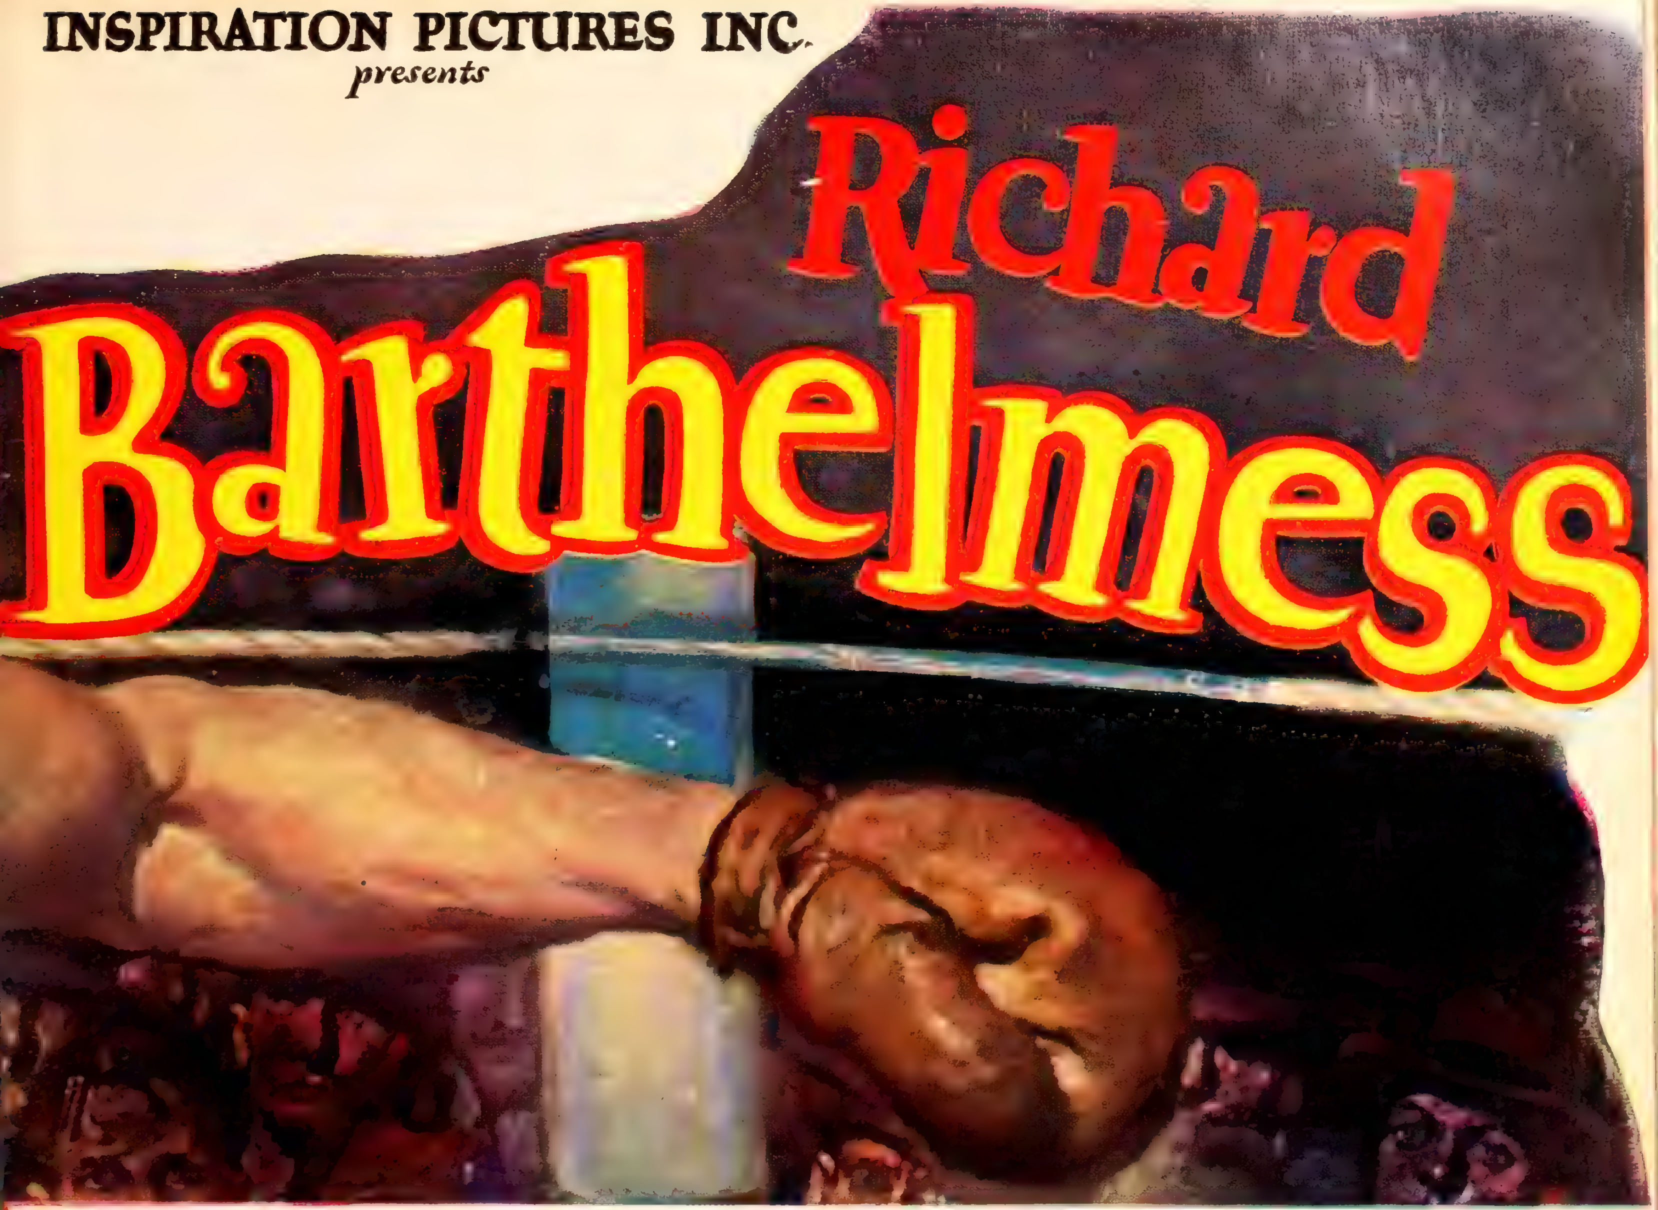
Men of the Night

here comes a knock-out!
First National Pictures
BANNER GROUP

INSPIRATION PICTURES INC.
presents



The Amateur Gentleman

Jeffery Farnol's World-Famous Novel is the Big September Extra . . . A SIDNEY OLCOTT Production

WHAT a wallop Richard Barthelmess packs as "The Amateur Gentleman"— the gamest fighter who ever battled in the old Corinthian ring; the pluckiest horseman who ever cleared the walls and ditches of a steeplechase; quick on the trigger in a duel; daring the world for a woman's smile!

In "The Amateur Gentleman," Inspiration Pictures, Inc., has secured the perfect Barthelmess story — picturesque, vivid in action and romance. Here is his strongest role. More than that! Measured by every standard, here is the greatest production in which Barthelmess has been presented — created with the power and appeal that ensure extended runs.

Inspiration Pictures, Inc.
also presents: Richard Barthelmess in "Four Feathers" Another [illegible]
by A. E. W. [illegible]

9 GREATEST STARS IN NINE RECORD-SMASHING SERIES

—all combined in the year's predominating Banner Group

CONSIDERED altogether, or one by one, First National's stars have risen to unassailable supremacy.

Spectacular advertising, a single and unrepeated hit, the lucky breaks of the show-game have played no part in their success. No! They have built. Each production has created a still larger audience for the next. Your profit and their prestige have grown side by side, and the box-office records of theatres by the thousand prove it.

Here are undeniable Performance Facts to guide you for 1926-1927.

First National Stars

— play more time in more theatres to bigger business,

— are chosen from the vast amount of quality offerings by more exhibitors for new-theatre openings,

— are held over for more extended-runs,

— deliver more consistently and register a greater number of extraordinary hits

—Than Any Other Stars or Group of Stars

THEY have only their own records to beat.

Presenting each in a series means that the box-office pulls with the accumulative force of their constantly increasing drawing-power. Play Each Series and Pyramid Business!

The Banner Group assures you the widest variety of entertainment. Six of First National stars rule the fields of drama, comedy drama, romance and virile action; while three more constitute the Strongest Line-Up of Star Comedians Ever Presented Under one Banner

Big? BIG! He's the Gulliver of Glee!

HARRY LANGDON

hits new high-spots in his series of Seven-Reel Langdon Laffs

"The Yes Man" — is his next!

Presented by Harry Langdon Corporation

LAUGH with Langdon. Everybody's got the habit since Harry shot to the forefront of Big-Time Comedians. What's his secret? Wows and gags and roars—yes! But underneath is the current of pathos that has sent the whole country wild about Harry. Backing him with nation-wide exploitation and presenting him in full length features, First National Showmanship sets exhibitors right in line for business that sky-rockets with every comedy Langdon makes.

First National Pictures
BANNER GROUP

The Year's Comedy Sensation!

C.C.BURR
Presents
JOHNNY
R.G. MORGAN

Seven Winners in a row is Johnny's Record

Now—

"Kid Gloves"

Starts his BANNER SERIES

—and the score is going right ahead: a winner every time.

"KID GLOVES" puts him in the ring; he's a scrapper who takes on all-comers—and shoots across laughter and thrills faster than ever before.

INTENSIVE advertising has sold Johnny to 20,000,000 readers of the national magazines. They're your patrons; and the campaign will be pushed still stronger during 1926-27, because Hines is too good for anyone to miss.

WHENEVER you read a consensus of current box-office reports, or whenever exhibitors list the best money-makers of the year, you'll find him starred there. Capacity business! S. R. O.! Crowds for every show.

By straight proof of performance, there isn't a house that can't stand 'em in line with Johnny Hines

First National Pictures

BANNER GROUP

Captured!

The Lunatic at Large

He'

Captured! That's the word; for Leon Errol is the prize everybody went after. Since First National brought this famous stage comedian into the pictures the world has rocked at each bend of his crazy legs.

Watch for him in "The Lunatic at Large." The wows start right at the title—the best of bets for comedy exploitation. Think of the stunts it suggests.

And the picture is there—there with all the fun that Leon Errol can find in a madhouse; with Dorothy Mackaill and Kenneth MacKenna adding the romance; and Fred Newmeyer winning new laurels as a comedy-director.

"The Lunatic at Large" sets Errol's Banner Group Series off to a flying start.

Certainly there's a series. Here's a star the public wants in picture after picture, and sound business exhibitors sense makes want the lot.

First National Pictures
BANNER GROUP

LEON ERROL

First National Pictures Inc. presents

LEON ERROL

in

The Lunatic at Large

with

Dorothy Mackaill and Kenneth MacKenna

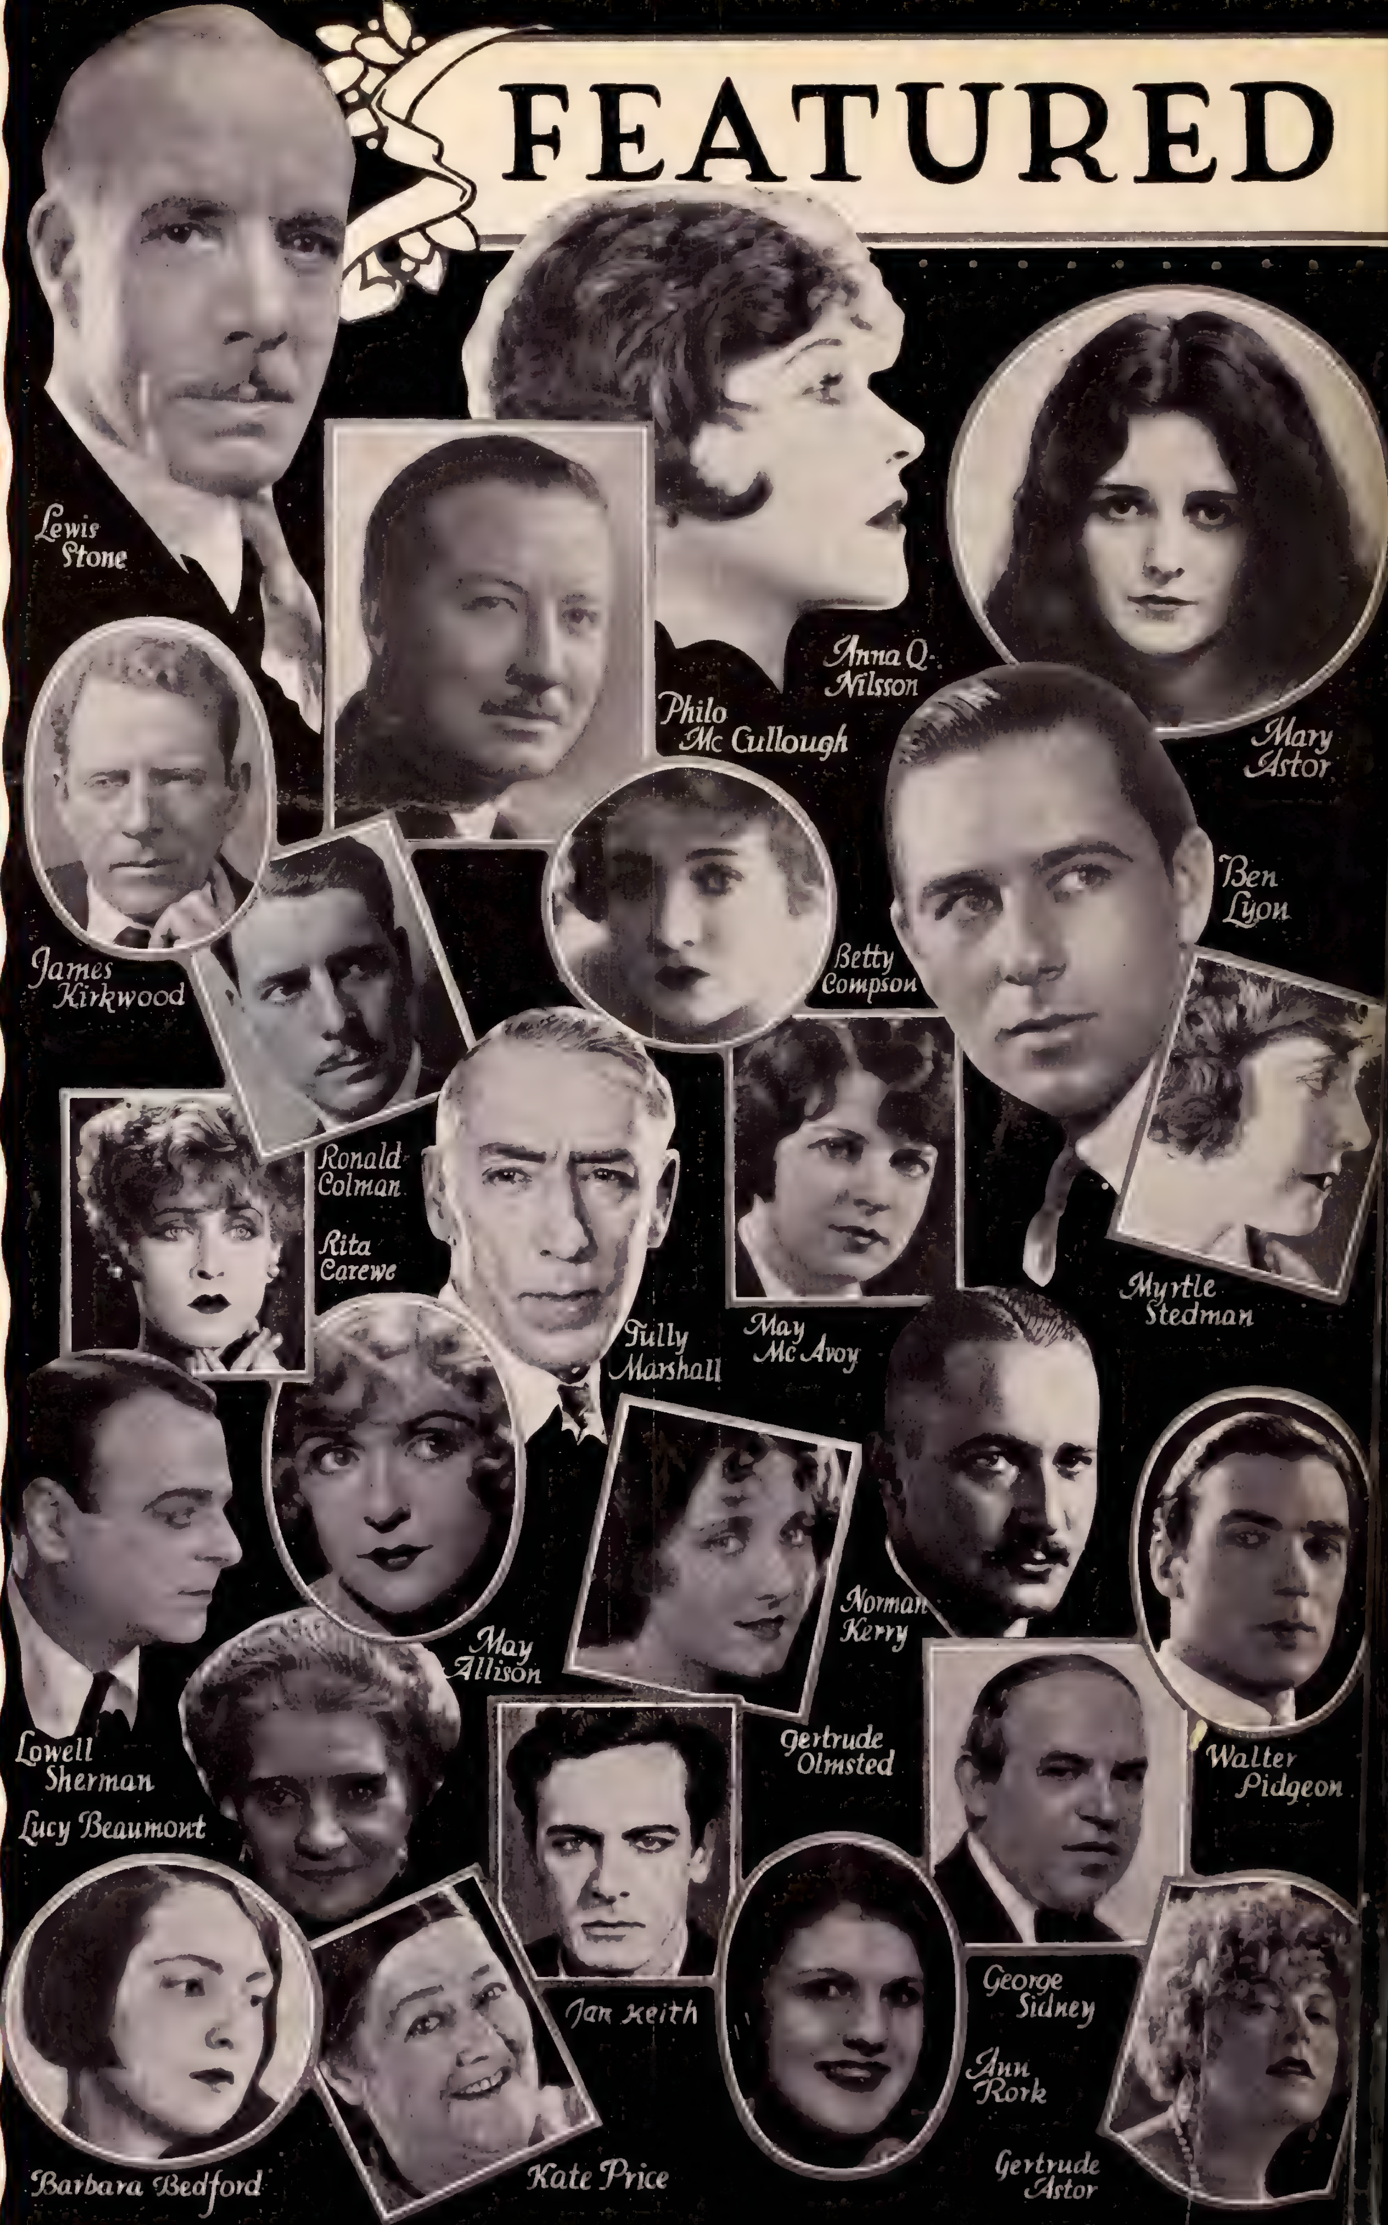
Adapted from J. STORER CLOUSTON'S stories

Directed by FRED NEWMEYER

PRODUCED UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF EARL HUDSON

Scenario by EUGENE CLIFFORD and RAYMOND HARRIS
Photographed by . . . . . . L. WILLIAM O'CONNELL
Art Director . . . . . . MILTON MENASCO
Costumes by . . . . . . JUNE RAND
Film Editor . . . . . . ARTHUR TAVARES

FEATURED



Lewis Stone
Anna Q. Nilsson
Philo Mc Cullough
Mary Astor
Ben Lyon
James Kirkwood
Betty Compson
Ronald Colman
Rita Carewe
Myrtle Stedman
Tully Marshall
May Mc Avoy
Norman Kerry
May Allison
Lowell Sherman
Gertrude Olmsted
Walter Pidgeon
Lucy Beaumont
Ian Keith
George Sidney
Ann Rork
Barbara Bedford
Kate Price
Gertrude Astor

PLAYERS

Every Name Among First National's Featured Players Is a Name to Play In Electric Lights

ALLIED with the box-office titles of the Banner Group, these favorites form an irresistible combination. Every season and picture have broadened their popularity, enhanced their value, made them the most eagerly sought players on the screen.

First National presents them not merely one to a picture, but three, four and five at a time, so that every cast unites the audiences that each player commands, and in every production the utmost in dramatic art is guaranteed.

Stars, Star-Producers, Star-Authors at the Zenith of Their Popularity Have Put Box-Office Genius Into These

7 SPECIALS

"THE GREATER GLORY" "MEN OF STEEL"

"SINNERS IN PARADISE" "SEPTEMBER LOVE"

"THE PATENT LEATHER KID"

AND TWO GIGANTIC PRODUCTIONS
BY ROBERT KANE

MARSHALLING its huge production resources, First National, after months of selection, analysis and preparation, has arranged an array of Specials that will eclipse the standards established by "The Sea Hawk," "The Lost World" and "Abraham Lincoln."

These Specials possess the extra impetus of Star-power.

Rupert Hughes, Frances Hodgson Burnett, Clarence Budington Kelland, Edith O'Shaughnessy, authors who command readers in millions, have supplied their strongest material: stories magnificent in drama, romance, the spectacular heights and vivid depths of life. And the production-brains of First National—producers, directors, scenarists who have given the screen its finest Specials to date—have shaped this wealth of talent into Seven Towering Triumphs!

partly confidential

CONCERNING ROBERT KANE

Different producers employ different tactics in making pictures of such size as to warrant release as Specials.

Some believe in telling everything in advance. Robert Kane tells nothing.

This is "inside stuff."

Kane has started work on the two most ambitious productions he has yet undertaken—a huge task, considering the long unbroken line of successes already to his credit.

They are Specials too original in theme, too unusual in production treatment to permit detailed announcements.

Kane's reputation for accurate judgment is staked upon them.

Rumors will gather; the industry will FEEL two big pictures in the air. But nothing more will be revealed about ROBERT KANE'S 2 SPECIALS FOR 1926-1927 until they are actually ready for presentation.

By concealing the ideas now, he safeguards their values to you!

2 SPECIALS
by ROBERT KANE

SEPTEMBER LOVE
Adapted from
The HEAD of the HOUSE of COOMBE
by
FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT
for 5 years every producer has tried to buy THIS BOOK!
First National Pictures
SPECIAL

For five years producers have tried to buy this book.

For five years the public has waited to see it screened.

Its sales set publishing records.

Critics hailed it as Frances Hodgson Burnett's finest achievement — and few authors have equalled her dramatic force.

A PRIZE FOR MOTION PICTURES if ever there was one.

And First National has won it for production on a scale worthy of its greatness and with the human glory that has enthralled more readers than the ten next-best-sellers of the past five years.

Special is written all over "September Love"

Wine of Life! Blood of War!
Cities of Pleasure crumbling in madness riot.. defeat!

THE GREATER GLORY

From EDITH O'SHAUGHNESSY'S novel
"VIENNESE MEDLEY"

Presented by . . . RICHARD A. ROWLAND
Written for the screen by . . . JUNE MATHIS with CONWAY TEARLE

and ANNA Q. NILSSON

and a cast including MAY ALLISON, IAN KEITH
JEAN HERSHOLT and LUCY BEAUMONT
A JUNE MATHIS . . . . . . Production
Directed by . . . . CURT REHFELD

Production Manager RAY ROCKETT Chief Cinematographer JOHN BOYLE
Art Director E. J. SHULTER Film Editor GEORGE McGUIRE

THE LAST WORD IN DRAMATIC ACHIEVEMENT!

First National Pictures
SPECIAL

Again June Mathis Scores With a Stupendous Special!

IT SWEEPS from underworld alleys to the burnished East; from furtive dives to the throbbing purples of desert night.

Her mother a crook, Rhoda Fair adventures through the molten horizons. In her own tumultuous nature burns her mother's lawlessness; and where the dawn comes up like thunder she must choose between two men—one standing for respectability, the other for the mad reel of life.

Stirring, exotic, keyed to emotion's tensest pitch.

"Sinners in Paradise"—a title that's as good as gold. The producer—June Mathis, whose name is synonymous for specials. The theme—developed with breath-taking suspense against backgrounds made for love. And the whole produced with the bigness and sureness of success that characterizes First National's Specials.

THE CRYSTAL CUP

"I hate being a female! If I were a man I'd see women to the devil"

NO wonder Gita Carteret is the most discussed woman of fiction today! No wonder the furore that "Black Oxen" created is outdone by Gertrude Atherton's latest novel, "The Crystal Cup." She has dared to make her heroine a hater of her own sex: a girl refusing marriage until she must—and then under the most surprising conditions that ever governed husband and wife.

EXCITEDLY as this book has been discussed, the screen version will arouse far wider comment. Produced under Earl Hudson's supervision, with Dorothy Mackaill as Gita Carteret, the presentation of "The Crystal Cup" demonstrates First National's command of the story market, bringing you the best-sellers while reader-interest runs at its height!

with
DOROTHY MACKAILL
PRODUCED UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF EARL HUDSON

First National Pictures
BANNER GROUP

First National Pictures Inc. Presents

"Subway Sadie"

by MILDRED CRAM

with Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall

"MIGOSH! A girl ain't got a chance for a decent ride these days since the sheiks has taken to grabbin' the seats and tradin' 'em fer dates. Somebody says, 'Gentlemen prefer blondes'—but take it from me: Blondes also prefer gentlemen. And these subway chasers don't hang a hat alongside of my Harold. Dearie, he's simply divine—ain't every day a workin' girl gets a glad eye from a guy like him."

That's Sadie, she talks for herself—one of a million you meet every day. This is her picture—every girl's picture set in the atmosphere they know—the kind they'll understand. And there's a thrill climax to make them your friends for life.

First National Pictures
BANNER GROUP

AN ALFRED SANTELL PRODUCTION
Production Management AL. ROCKETT
Scenario by ADELE COMANDINI

Will you ever forget 'Sally' and the knockout 'Irene' scored on the screen?

Now—First National has another musical comedy sensation another history maker—

Direct from a year on Broadway and whirlwind business through the country "Lady be Good!"

She'll be good to your box-office! Just watch her!

Adapted from the musical comedy by Guy Bolton and Fred Thompson, authors: George Gershwin, composer

ROBERT KANE presents

PEACOCKS of PARIS

MONTMARTRE — when lights are low and life is high and every smile and shadow covers a human baffling mystery —

BEN LYON
DOROTHY MACKAILL
LOWELL SHERMAN
SAM HARDY

Directed by LOTHAR MENDES

Try to beat that title and that cast for Box-Office Perfection!

First National Pictures
BANNER GROUP

A-A-AH! The SHEIK OF FLORIDA

The sands of the desert would leave him cold. But he burned up Biscayne Bay

ONLY a garage mechanic, but when he oiled his hair instead of his hands he put the I AM in Miami.

Heiresses petted him under the palms, but his palms petted only twenty dollars on pay-day. And he didn't like heiresses either.

Joyful comedy–it works faster than a bathing beauty chasing a millionaire. All Florida's ransacked for fun and Ben Lyon starts a new boom in laughter as the stoney-broke sheik with the starched-shirt style.

First National Pictures Inc. Presents

The SHEIK OF FLORIDA

by GEORGE F. WORTS

with BEN LYON

Production management AL. ROCKETT

A BOOM for every BOX-OFFICE!

First National Pictures BANNER

Does a wedding ring win for a woman more than her
"BED AND BOARD"
A dynamic theme – and what a title! – for Lenore Coffee's story with DORIS KENYON
RI 20
"A Woman's Picture" that all women will talk about!

Marriage Truths from a Wife's Experience!

BEWARE of the man who says "I can see in your eyes the look of a soul crying for freedom."

NEXT he may say: "You women shout about freedom, and the minute a man takes your hand you howl for a marriage license."

KEEP on reading this story of a wife who envied other women's liberty and heard how men regard a wife.

"WOMEN like you spoil marriage. A man knows any number of women nowadays who support themselves and spend their leisure entertaining him. He doesn't have to assume any burden. For him her old age holds no horror. He enjoys her companionship—and he's not responsible for her bed and board."

First National Pictures
BANNER GROUP

FLYING HOOFS

FLASH of RACING SILKS

SMILES of CONTINENTAL BEAUTIES — GORGEOUS FASCINATORS

LUCK of MONTE CARLO

SCENTED MYSTERIES of ROME

THE SPORT of KINGS and THE DEVIL TO PAY—

— Such glamor and audience spell has E. Phillips Oppenheim woven into "The Duke of Ladies." Conway Tearle, starred in this irresistible picturization of the popular book and play, reveals an amazingly new character: the debonnaire duke who played once too often with the fire of a woman's heart.

ROBERT KANE
PRESENTS

"The DUKE" OF LADIES

by E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

starring CONWAY TEARLE

Directed by HOWARD HIGGIN Scenario by JULIE HERNE

First National Pictures
BANNER GROUP

CHARLES R. ROGERS
presents the

Innovation series of thrilling out-door dramas

STARRING

KEN MAYNARD

with TARZAN, his horse

4

SURPRISING ADVENTURE PRODUCTIONS

WEST—over the range; away where the ranches end and Painted Desert stretches into a grand adventure. Along the hills where raiders ride. Prairies and peaks; echoing hoofs and lariats reaching further than the law. That's West; and today its lure surrounds big-theatre audiences as well as small.

First National's Outdoor Dramas meet a unanimous demand.

Ken Maynard has forged to the head of adventure stars. Now he comes to you in thrilling action roles, in stories by writers famous for dramatic pace, produced with the thoroughness, spirit and knowledge of popular taste that exhibitors everywhere expect of First National.

"Senor Daredevil"
"Gun Gospel"
"Flame of the Border"
"The Unknown Cavalier"

Directed by Al Rogell

First National Pictures
BANNER GROUP

THEY SEIZED THE WOMAN AND MADE HER A GODDESS!

They took the man as her living sacrifice!

THAT startling new novel by Elswyth Thane adds strikingly to the unlimited variety of entertainment afforded by the Banner Group.

"A romance which challenges comparison with anything of Kipling, Stevenson or Rider Haggard," says the New York Times.

Ideal screen material lies in the love-drama of two fugitives from civilization—a man and a woman who masqueraded as a man until the tribal priests of India saw in her the reincarnation of their lost goddess.

First National Pictures

BANNER GROUP

First National Pictures Inc. presents

RIDERS OF THE WIND

By Elswyth Thane

Full of the stuff that hits are made of!

WHAT PLAY IS THE CONTINENT CRAZY ABOUT?

Ask anyone just back from Paris!

THERE'S only one answer — "The Masked Woman." They talk about it on the boulevardes. So-o-o extraordinary! Such.... moments! And.... that.... woman!

This show that set the boulevardes buzzing is a gold mine to the screen.

You get it! The reigning sensation of the continental stage is another First National prize.

First National Pictures Inc. presents

the MASKED WOMAN

with Anna Q. Nilsson, George Sidney and a superb cast

A WIRE stretched sky-high above Broadway. Searchlights played on a scarlet figure walking across—swaying desperately—falling . . . .

SHE was the Daring Venus, who dared to love; then walked the tight-rope with the ghosts of disillusionment.

EVERY moment of it spells breathless drama. A high-powered selling title, too, for a vivid romance of the circus that plays right into a showman's hands!

High-wire thrills make a sure-fire sensation!

The Daring Venus

from Marjorie Chalmers Carleton's novel "The Swinging Goddess"

With a cast of First National's finest players

By William Hurlbut and
Frederick and Fanny Hatton

Anna Q. Nilsson and Lewis Stone outdo in dramatic excellence all those splendid performances of the past that have made them the screen's most popular combination.

First National Pictures Inc.
presents

Purple and FINE Linen

By MAY EDGINTON Author of "SECRETS"

First National Pictures
BANNER GROUP

"TWO HOURS ago you were begging on the street. You stole to dress yourself in purple and fine linen. You were dressed like that when I divorced you—before your daughter was old enough to know what kind of mother you were....

'You have waited years to see her: now you have come back to appear beautiful before her... She is behind this curtain..... Dead!

First National Pictures
BANNER GROUP

At last—

—Sir Philip Gibbs, the one author who painted war in its terror as well as its glory, has written the unforgettable story of its cowards.

Today they skulk in abandoned dugouts; deserters hide in the overgrown trenches where the barrages used to thunder.

After the war! Terrific in truth is this picture of Gauvadan supposedly shot for desertion, yet living beneath the battlefields of Arras—dead to all the world except Yvonne, piquant Yvonne who soon must be somebody else's wife.

OUT OF THE RUINS

from the Cosmopolitan Magazine story
by SIR PHILIP GIBBS

The THRILL that comes once in a lifetime!

Ten thousand feet—falling in flames. Lights and laughter of Coney Island 'way below. Ripping through the sky, a plane with a red comet's tail of disaster spread behind.

Audience stuff? It's the kind of scene that your house-staff looks at, every show.

The story is vivid with tinselled life, with Charleston steppers, with the flotsam caught in with the glare and bustle of carnivals and drifting caravans. It will hold your patrons in their seats; and that thrill-finish will lift them to their feet—whooping!

First National Pictures Inc.

Presents

"The CHARLESTON KID"

from Gerald Beaumont's
Red Book Magazine Story
PLAYED BY A CAST OF STARS!

AN ALFRED SANTELL PRODUCTION

Production Management AL. ROCKETT

Pull!
--All the pull your box-office wants in Owen Davis' drama of the college crews.
H
H
H

"Forever After"

Another Broadway All-Star Hit presented by First National

with MARY ASTOR and LLOYD HUGHES

Production Management B. P. FINEMAN

New York as only the derelicts know it: a cauldron stirring with the throb of brief happiness or swift despair. Now for the human story behind those strange faces that flicker in its steam.

By
JOHN A. MOROSO
Presented by
ROBERT KANE

Directed by
HOWARD HIGGIN
Scenario by
GEORGE M.C. FOWLER

First National Pictures Inc
presents

MILTON SILLS

in a superb adaptation of Cosmo Hamilton's novel

"Paradise"

- Production Management -
RAY ROCKETT

TITLES that SELL

First National Pictures Inc.
presents

Jail Birds Inc.

Into jail without a cent; out of it with a million.

He struck a gold-mine in the rock-pile, and crowds will clamor for their shares of joy in "Jail Birds Inc."

By William H. Clifford

First National Pictures
BANNER GROUP

MIDNIGHT LOVERS

by
J.E. HAROLD TERRY

The world's most hilarious divorce without the pangs of alimony.

EVEN if First National's Banner Group had not the terrific selling value of the greatest stars, directors and authors, it still would rank first with exhibitors on the strength of its titles alone.

Match Mike Donovan of Ireland

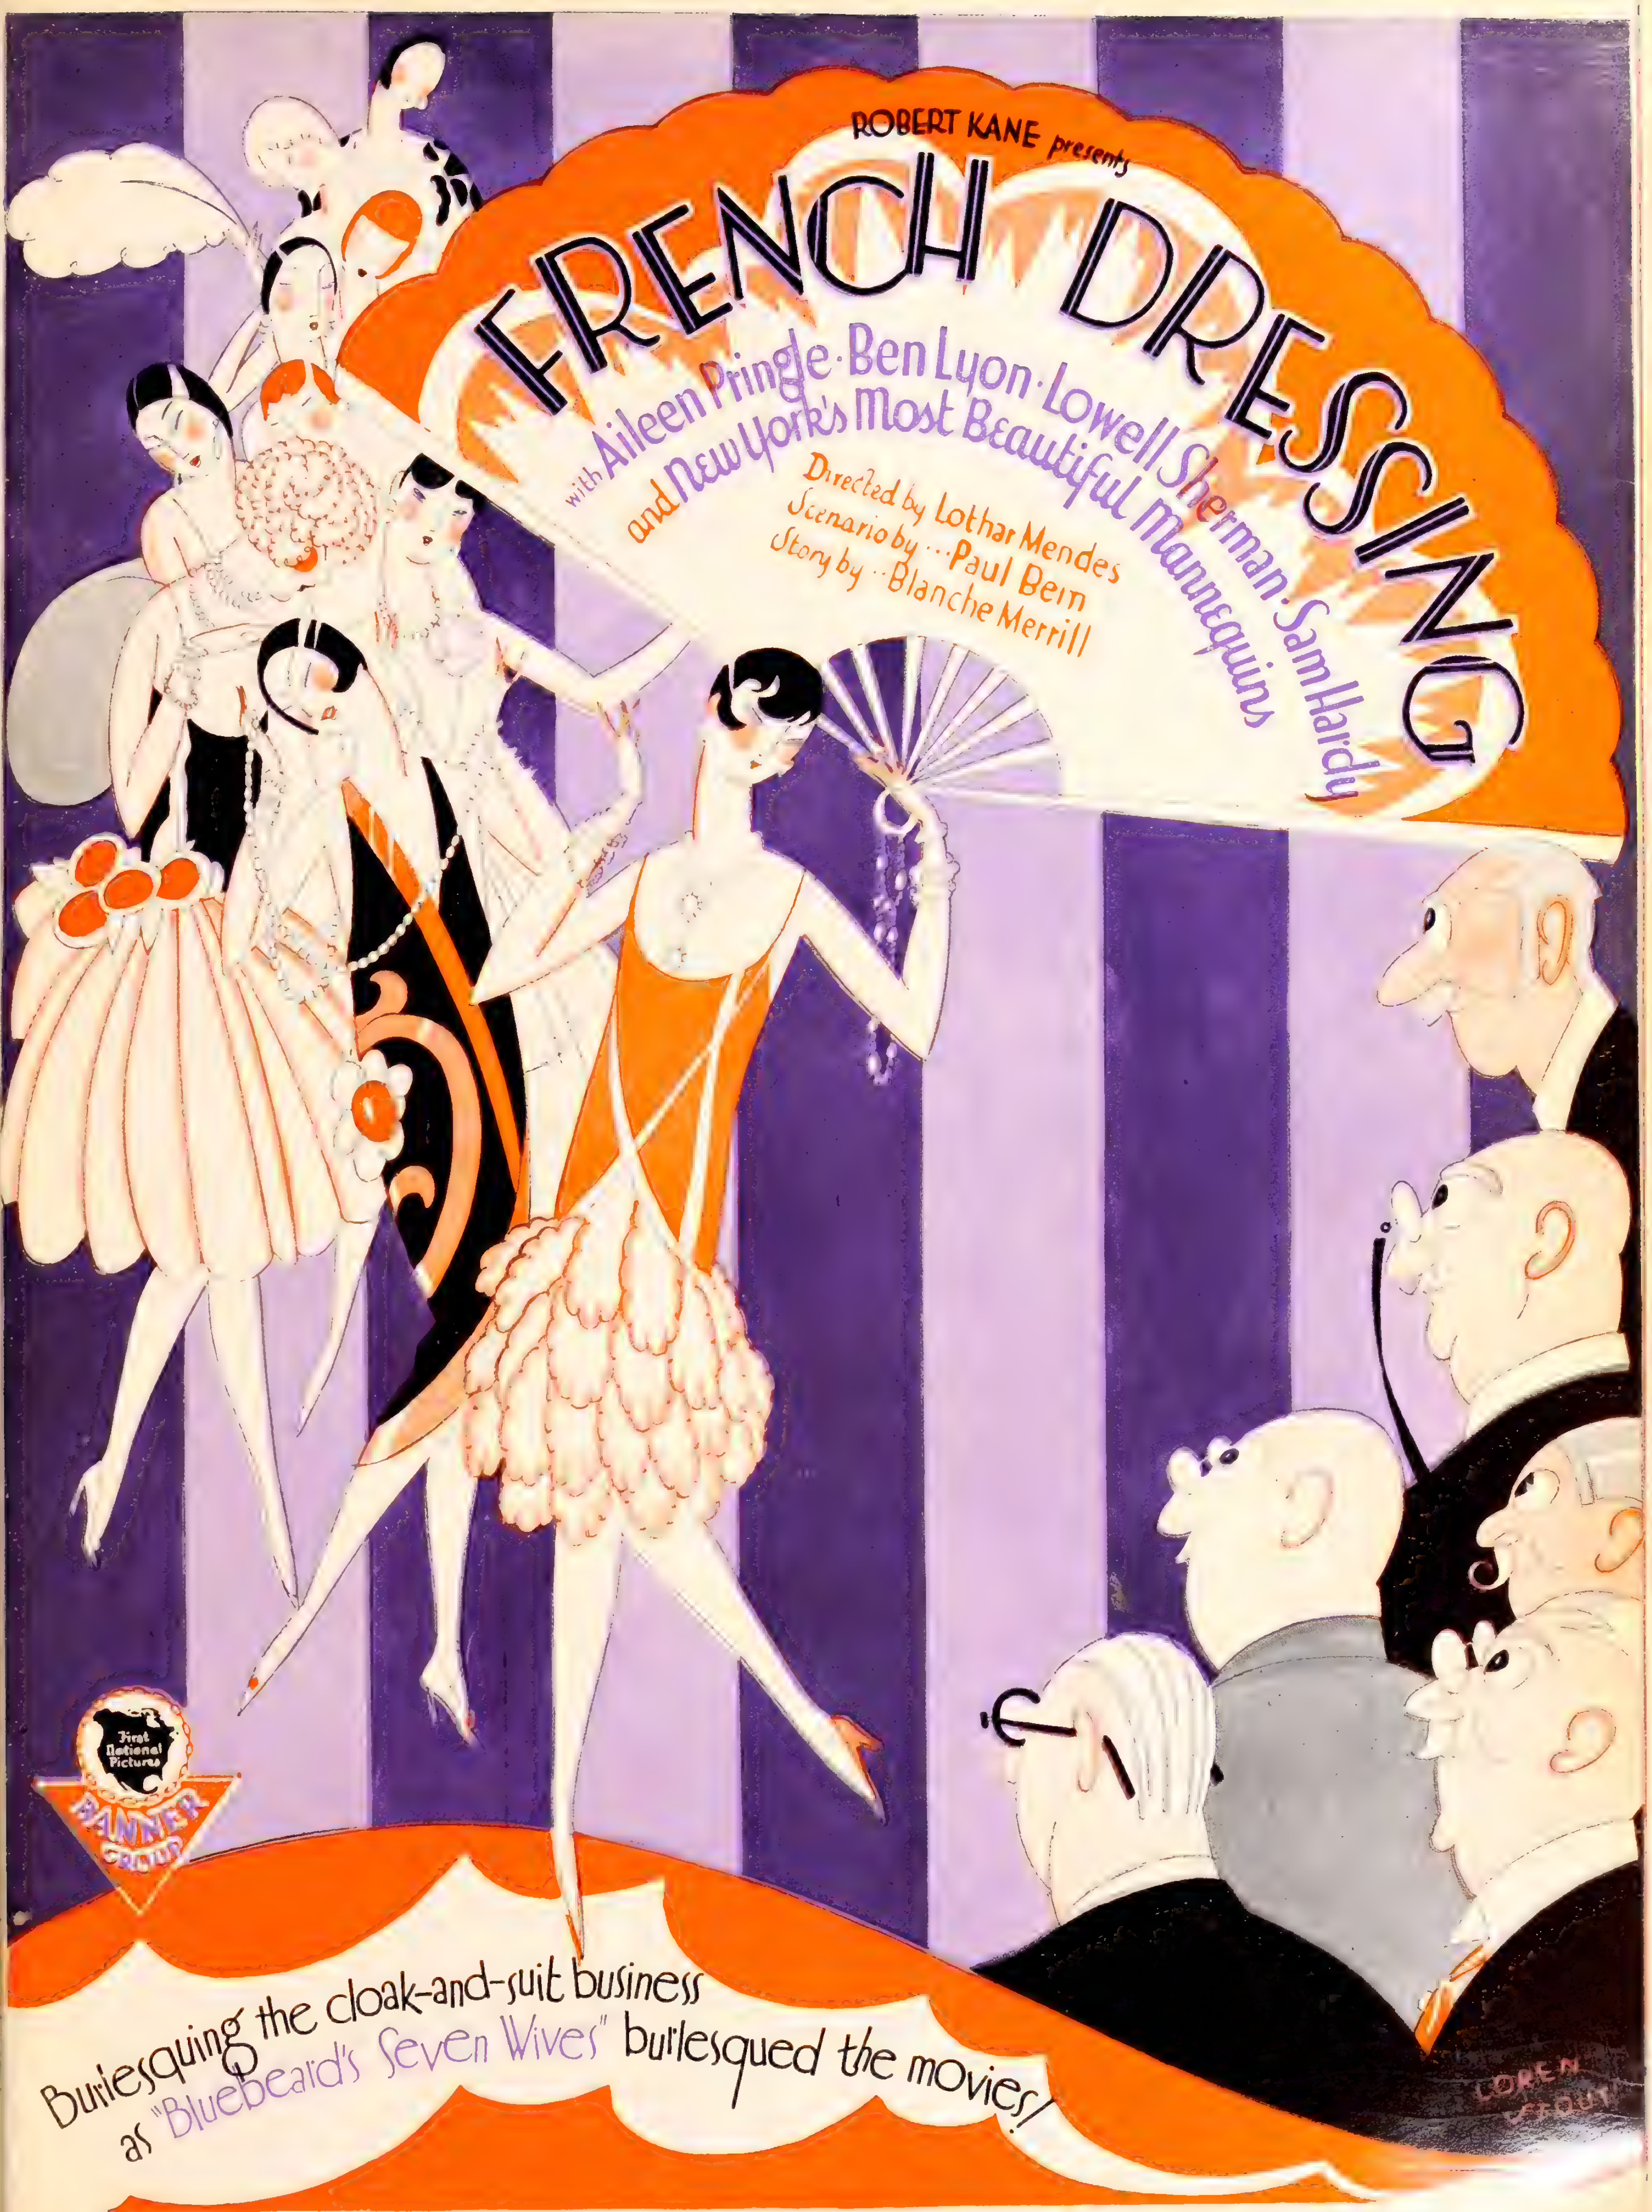
against allcomers. He's a winning, grinning, fighting fury—and his story pulses with the thrill of canvas tents and roped arenas.

by Guy Fletcher

Lewis Stone
Shirley Mason
Malcolm McGregor
Myrtle Stedman

JOHN FRANCIS DILLON
PRODUCTION

Story by ···· Ludwig Biro
Scenario by Clara Beranger



ROBERT KANE presents
FRENCH DRESSING
with Aileen Pringle · Ben Lyon · Lowell Sherman · Sam Hardy and New York's Most Beautiful Mannequins
Directed by Lothar Mendes
Scenario by ... Paul Bern
Story by ... Blanche Merrill
First National Pictures
BANNER GROUP
Burlesquing the cloak-and-suit business as "Bluebeard's Seven Wives" burlesqued the movies!
LOREN STOUT

4

"Here Y'are Brother"

by DIXIE WILLSON

The prize story from Good Housekeeping Magazine. "Money will buy anything"—there's the theme of this heart-drama of poor men's wives.

"Everybody's reading

HOUNDS of SPRING!"

by Sylvia Thompson

The drama of women who drink the wine of life and forget the dregs!

more money-spinners!

THE pick of current fiction and dramatic vogues, combined with the unrivalled popularity of First National's finest players.

"The Blonde Saint"

by STEPHEN FRENCH WHITMAN

Dazzling romance on a Mediterranean island, swept by the tempest of unwanted love.

First National Pictures Inc. Presents

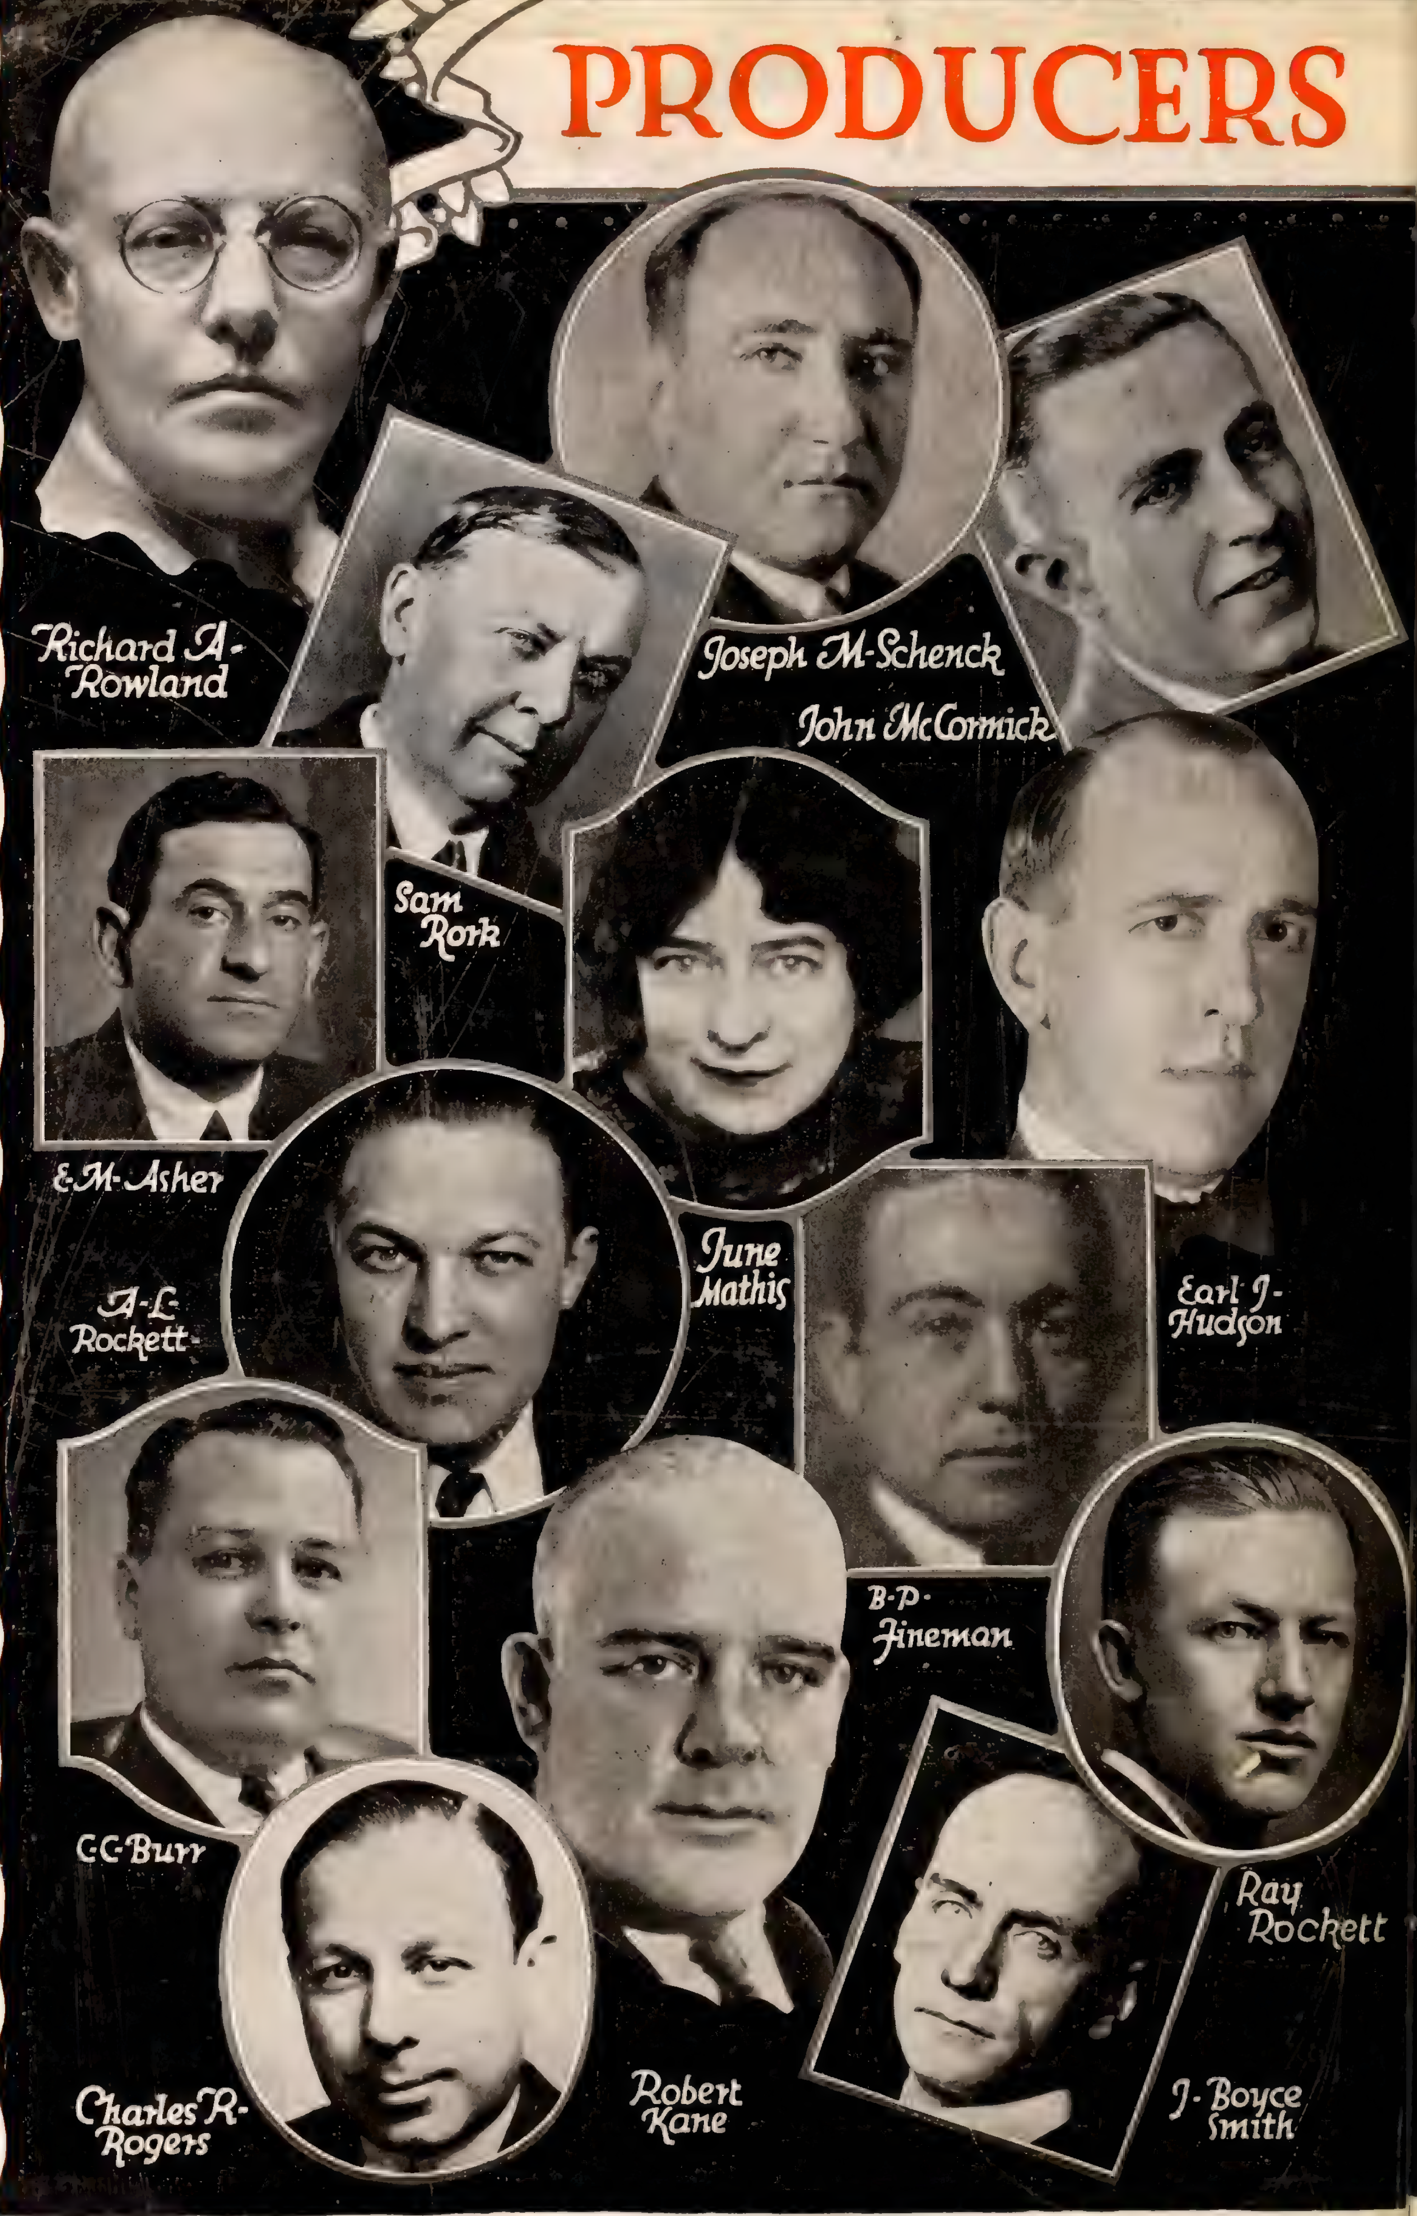
"PRISONERS"

That amazing play by Molnar that has startled two continents with its message.

First National Pictures
BANNER GROUP

PRODUCERS



Richard A. Rowland

Joseph M. Schenck

John McCormick

Sam Rork

E. M. Asher

June Mathis

Earl J. Hudson

A. L. Rockett

B. P. Fineman

C. C. Burr

Ray Rockett

Charles R. Rogers

Robert Kane

J. Boyce Smith

and DIRECTORS

Charles Brabin

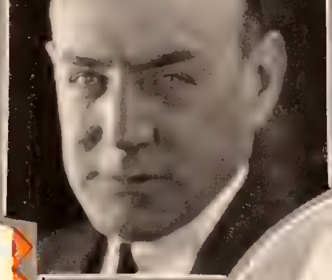
Howard Higgin

George Archainbaud

Sidney Olcott

Balboni

Alfred E. Green



John Francis Dillon

Alfred Santell

NO MORE striking evidence of how First National has equipped its new product with the sinews of success could be given than this assemblage of producers and directors affords. Like the stars, their reputations are founded on unfailing performance. What does the public want? They know! Their productions catch tomorrow's vogue today and set a pace that others cannot follow. Their background is crowds — crowds responding to the lure of emotions or amazement for as many years as there have been motion pictures.

To the creations of famous stars and authors they have added the ticket-selling motive that makes First National's Banner Group and Specials more than ever a showman's buy!

First National Pictures

Sidney Franklin

Lothar Mendes

The UNBEATABLE

52

REAL PICTURES,
box-office perfect in star-strength, story-power, showmanship and production values. Their titles ring like cash on the counter!

NORMA TALMADGE'S GREATEST

COLLEEN MOORE in "TWINKLE TOES"
And a series including
"NAUGHTY BUT NICE"
Adapted from "Daphne Grows Down"

CONSTANCE TALMADGE
in "SILKY ANNE"
And a series

CORINNE GRIFFITH in "ASHES"
And a series

MILTON SILLS in "MEN OF STEEL"
Special with Doris Kenyon
And a series including
"MEN OF THE NIGHT"

RICHARD BARTHELMESS
in
"THE AMATEUR GENTLEMAN"
"FOUR FEATHERS"

HARRY LANGDON in "THE YES MAN"
And a series

JOHNNY HINES in "KID GLOVES"
And a series

LEON ERROL in "LUNATIC AT LARGE"
And a series

"THE GREATER GLORY"—SPECIAL
Conway Tearle, Anna Q. Nilsson
June Mathis Production

"SEPTEMBER LOVE"—SPECIAL
From Frances Hodgson Burnett's
"The Head of the House of Coombe"

"SINNERS IN PARADISE"—SPECIAL
June Mathis Production

TWO STUPENDOUS SPECIALS
By ROBERT KANE

"THE CRYSTAL CUP"
By Gertrude Atherton. With Dorothy Mackaill

"THE SHEIK OF FLORIDA"
With Ben Lyon

"SUBWAY SADIE"
With Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall

"THE DUKE OF LADIES"
Starring Conway Tearle

"BED AND BOARD"
With Doris Kenyon

"LADY BE GOOD"
The musical comedy with records that parallel "Sally" and "Irene"

"THE CHARLESTON KID"
By Gerald Beaumont.
Alfred Santell Production

"THE DARING VENUS"
The Circus Sensation

"THE SHOCK ABSORBER"
It lifts the lid off New York

"DON JUAN'S THREE NIGHTS"
With Lewis Stone, Shirley Mason, Malcolm
MacGregor, and Myrtle Stedman.
John Francis Dillon Production

"FOREVER AFTFR"
Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes in one of Broadway's biggest hits

BANNER GROUP

7 SPECIALS

—seven more reasons why First National leads, and why exhibitors rely on First National for their big weeks, top months, and their very best year!

"HELL'S KITCHEN"
By John A. Moroso. A cast of stars.

* * *

"FRENCH DRESSING"
With Aileen Pringle, Ben Lyon,
Lowell Sherman, Sam Hardy

* * *

"OUT OF THE RUINS"
By Sir Philip Gibbs

* * *

"RIDERS OF THE WIND"
Spectacular romance by Elswyth Thane

* * *

"THE MASKED WOMAN"
The craze of the Continental Stage.
With Anna Q. Nilsson and George Sidney

* * *

"PEACOCKS OF PARIS"
With Ben Lyon, Dorothy Mackaill,
Lowell Sherman and Sam Hardy

* * *

"PURPLE AND FINE LINEN"
With Lewis Stone and Anna Q. Nilsson

* * *

"THE HAT OF DESTINY"
By Mrs. T. P. O'Connor.
June Mathis Production

* * *

"MY WIFE'S FRIEND"
Sir Patrick Hasting's drama of Congo love

* * *

"HOUNDS OF SPRING"
The season's best-seller

* * *

"HERE Y'ARE, BROTHER"
Dixie Wilson's famous story

* * *

"THE BLONDE SAINT"
Another stage success, screened
by a cast of stars

* * *

"PRISONERS"
The vivid play by Ferenc Molnar

Four more stage hits and popular stories with titles that tell at the box-office:—
"MIDNIGHT LOVERS"
"THE DESPERATE WOMAN"
"JAIL-BIRD'S INC."
"MIKE DONOVAN OF IRELAND"

* * *

KEN MAYNARD in "SENOR DARE-DEVIL"
And the thrilling Innovation Series of Outdoor Dramas, including
"GUN GOSPEL"
"THE UNKNOWN CAVALIER"
"THE FLAME OF THE BORDER"

First National Pictures

BANNER GROUP

September 1926

September 1927

"WELL, Bill, what do you think of First National's line-up?"

"Man, it's WONDERFUL"

[And that's why they're booking the BANNER GROUP everywhere]

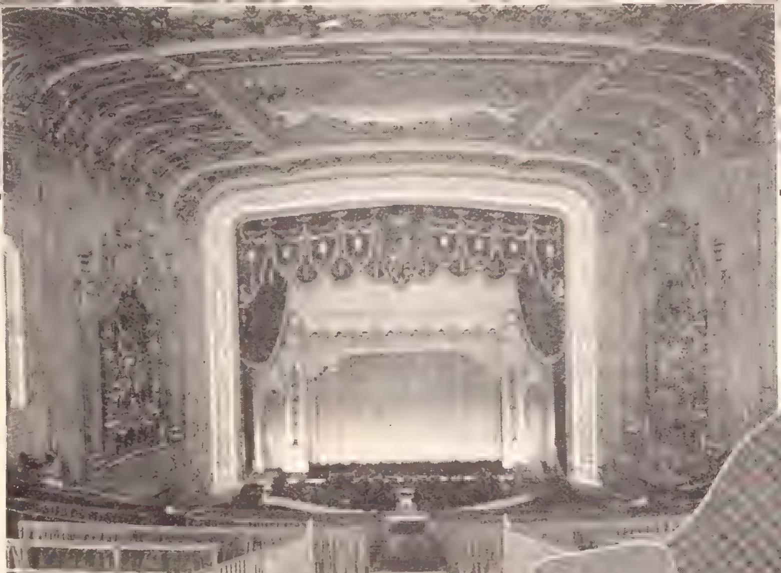
First National Pictures

BANNER GROUP

100 · YEARS · OF · MANUFACTURING · EXPERIENCE ·



Interior showing loge and boxes of Balaban & Katz new "Uptown" Theatre in Chicago, Illinois.

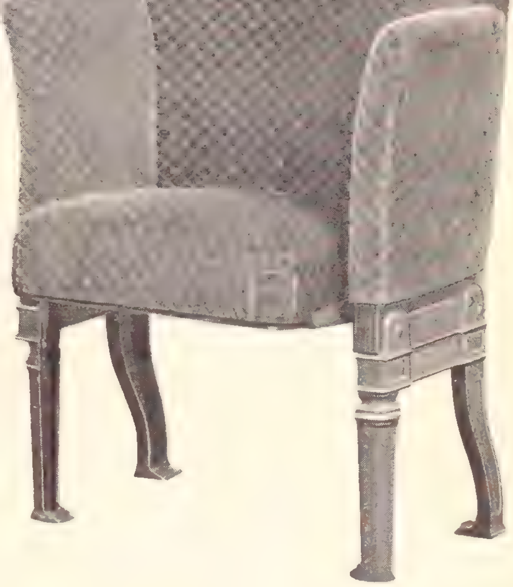
The Finest Seats in the Finest Section of the "Uptown"

WHEN it came to selecting the finest seats (the loge) for the new Chicago "Uptown" Theatre, the management naturally turned to Heywood-Wakefield.

This order was placed with us because architects and owners knew our 100 years of experience would produce chairs built to H-W standards of quality in exact accordance with specifications and with that element of patron comfort which always distinguishes H-W chairs.

Heywood-Wakefield chair designs embrace seating equipment for every part of any theatre, whether you cater to permanent or transient patronage.

Before you build, or re-seat your theatre, write our nearest warehouse. Without cost or obligation our seating experts will help you plan for maximum capacity, durability, beauty and comfort.



Chair designed by and built to specifications of Mr. C. W. Rapp of Rapp & Rapp, Architects for the Uptown Theatre.

Heywood-Wakefield

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

HEYWOOD-WAKEFIELD WAREHOUSES

Baltimore, Maryland 113 West Conway Street
Boston 45, Mass. Winter Hill
Display Floor, 174 Portland Street
Buffalo, New York Wells and Carroll Streets
Chicago, Illinois 2653 Arthington Street
Display Floor, 439 Railway Exchange Bldg.
Kansas City, Missouri, 1310 West Eighth Street
Los Angeles, California 801 East Seventh Street
New York, New York 516 West 34th Street
Philadelphia, Penn. 244 South 5th Street
Portland, Oregon 148 North Tenth Street
San Francisco, California 737 Howard Street
St. Louis, Missouri Sixth and O'Fallon Streets

Charles R. Rogers

presents

Harry

in "The Seventh

Think of the best Western you have ever seen – then compare it with this! Hard riding, thrills, romance, suspense, excitement galore.

It's a corker!

Pathépicture

Carey
Bandit"
$100.00
REWARD
DEAD OR ALIVE!

No.
24

FOR SEASON 1926 — 1927

William Fox presents

The DEVIL'S MASTER

A dynamic drama from Gerald Beaumont's
Magazine Story
"The Lord's Referee"

By Every Test a Story with 100 Per Cent Audience Value

A smashing triumph of courage and hope!
A heart twister for every man and his girl!

NEXT WEEK!

The Most Important Announcement of the year from the House of FOX! Be sure to see the Motion Picture News dated May 8th, published May 1st.

Watch
FOX

Fox Film Corporation

Motion Picture News

Volume XXXIII NEW YORK CITY, MAY 1, 1926 No. 18

Riesenfeld

I DON'T know of anyone better qualified to speak about the theatre of today than Hugo Riesenfeld, who, beside the management until recently of three Broadway theatres, has seen the picture theatre go through its complete development to date. And he has had importantly to do with that development.

So I will set down here, in my own words, the high spots of a most interesting interview with him.

* * *

The feature of picture theatre entertainment is the feature picture.

Often the short feature is of the utmost importance on the bill.

But pictures—they are the features of the entertainment. They are the attraction, with the public.

Then music—orchestral and stage numbers in various forms—to interpret and add to, and round out the program of entertainment. The picture theatre has brought fine music to the masses everywhere, because the masses want it.

* * *

Pictures and music express ideas. Each is an expression in a universal language. Pictures and music talk to everyone.

Pictures came first into broad popularity. Almost overnight picture theatres sprang up all over the world. Formerly theatres were restricted to the larger centres but the film made possible the universal theatre.

Vaudeville is entirely another matter. Its appeal is limited, in comparison.

* * *

In bringing vaudeville into picture theatres we are facing some serious facts.

It is true that picture theatres today can offer time and salaries to vaudeville performers with which vaudeville theatres cannot compete. They are greater in number and seating capacity—by far.

But laying aside the all important question of whether or not the public wants vaudeville steadily in its picture houses we are faced with the following practical situations:

The high class picture theatres of the large cities want only big time artists. The other kind of vaudeville is out of the question. But the number of big time acts is exceedingly small and always will be. They won't begin to suffice. And that simply means that competition will bring cheap vaudeville into the big first run houses, where it does not belong.

Again, if picture theatres invade the vaudeville field in this way, the vaudeville theatres will retaliate in kind.

Thirdly, the expense to the bill of the vaudeville will, of necessity, reduce picture rentals to the point where high grade production will be genuinely affected. If that happens the props will have been pulled from under the great industry of motion picture entertainment.

The tremendous enterprise back of motion picture production—the great sums freely risked—has all been made possible by the great forward sweep of motion picture theatres. And the huge fleet of picture palaces have in turn been made profitable by the great advances in picture production which today is by no means at its zenith but far ahead of the past.

Are we now to invest these great resources in another branch—and an altogether different kind of entertainment—just because our greater number of seats can outbid the houses where this entertainment belongs?

It would seem that our picture theatre prosperity has gotten to be blatant and blind.

* * *

But the immediate point still remains: do the picture theatres, which the public so evidently patronizes because of pictures, want pictures made of secondary importance on the picture theatre bill?

And the answer is pretty plainly: no.

W A Johnston

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

MAY 1 1926

Vol. XXXIII No. 18

Founded in September 1913

Publication Office: 729 7th Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Editorial and General Offices:
729 7th Ave., New York City

Branch Offices:
845 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.
Room 616 Security Bldg., Hollywood, Calif.

Speaking Editorially

THIS issue contains the season announcement of First National Pictures, one of the most important and most interesting in the series now coming from the producing distributing companies.

The announcement sets forth the details of the 52 that will comprise the "Banner Group" and the Seven Specials which First National is offering exhibitors for 1926-1927.

The stars are Norma Talmadge, Colleen Moore, Constance Talmadge, Corinne Griffith, Milton Sills, Richard Barthelmess, Harry Langdon, Johnny Hines and Leon Errol.

One of the new features on the program is a group of Westerns in which Ken Maynard will have the leading role.

The insert reveals the large number of producers who are at work for First National, and the variety of talents and pictures which they are contributing. Just read the list: Joseph M. Schenck, John McCormick, Sam E. Rork, Robert T. Kane, June Mathis, C. C. Burr, Earl Hudson, Al and Ray Rockett, Charles R. Rogers, E. M. Asher, B. P. Fineman, J. Boyce Smith and Henry M. Hobart.

An analysis of the product discloses a very wide range, both in quality and appeal of the stories and the abilities of the leading players chosen to appear in them. Altogether, a very promising line-up—one that deserves and should get very careful attention from exhibitors.

In form, the insert is a striking four-color announcement, filled with showmanship and a distinct credit to C. F. Chandler, Bob Dexter and the First National advertising department.

* * *

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE has again demonstrated emphatically that he is a staunch friend of the motion picture. Through the White House spokesman, he has come out against Federal Censorship, thus rendering futile all the windy talk of Canon Chase and his adherents at the Congressional hearing.

And while we are on the subject of the hearing, let's hand a bouquet to Charlie Pettijohn, general counsel for the Hays organization. It took him just three hours to knock the arguments of the reformers into a cocked hat. The reformers had been talking for three days. Mr. Pettijohn gave figures and facts—incontrovertible facts—probably the industry's best presentation to date of the case against censorship.

* * *

THE pronouncement by the President is a milestone along the road of screen freedom. It is not the first time Mr. Coolidge has shown that he is opposed to the shackling of the motion picture. As everybody knows, he vetoed a censorship bill when he was Governor of Massachusetts; and wrote a message of disapproval that immediately became a classic, ranking along with the pronouncements of Gaynor and McKelvie and Al Smith.

* * *

TO show just how absurd a reformer can be when he really tries, Canon Chase told the committee at the hearing that even President Coolidge would not be eligible for the proposed Federal Censorship Board, because the Board would have to be entirely non-partisan, and the President is a member of a political party.

For arrogance and infernal nonsense, this statement by the Canon wins first prize.

Editorial 1997
Editor on Broadway 1999-2000
Second Editorial Page 1998
Pictures and People 2001-04
Exhibitors Service Bureau 2099-2108
General News and Special Features 2205-21
Short Subjects and Serials 2022-23
Pre-Release Reviews on Features 2111-14
Newspapers Opinions on New Features 2136
Construction and Equipment Department 2123-31
Regional News From Correspndents 2115-22
Features and Short Subject Release Chart 2133-36
The Check-Up 2024
Short Subject Reviews 2109-10
Classified Ads 2132
First National Section 2025-2098

May 1, 1926 MOTION PICTURE NEWS Vol. XXXIII, No. 18

Published weekly by MOTION PICTURE NEWS, INC., William A. Johnston, President; E. Kendall Gillett, Vice-President; William A. Johnston, Editor; J. S. Dickerson, Associate Editor; Oscar Cooper, Managing Editor; Fred J. Beecroft, Advertising Manager; L. H. Mason, Chicago Representative; William McCormack, Los Angeles Representative. Subscription price, $2 per year, post paid in United States, Mexico, Hawaii, Porto Rico, Philippine Islands and some other countries; Canada, $3, foreign, $6.00. Copyright 1926, by MOTION PICTURE NEWS, INC., in the United States and Great Britain. Title registered in the United States Patent Office and foreign countries. Western Union cable address is "Picknews," New York. Entered as second-class matter January 31st, 1924, at the postoffice, New York, N. Y., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

AN EDITOR ON BROADWAY

The Week in Review By William A. Johnston

Marcus Loew, head of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and Loew's, Inc., who is celebrating his twentieth anniversary in the industry.

CLARENCE BROWN, recently signed to a directorial contract by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, is in New York City for a brief stay, and in a chat the other morning suggested several interesting thoughts concerning what really constitutes screen drama. He is not opinionated—he does not suggest that all directors should adhere to the same principle—but he impresses one strongly as a director who has found his forte and is sane enough to do that sort of thing which he can do well. The talk began on the subject of realism in pictures.

"As far as I am concerned," he said bluntly, "realism is the only thing that counts on the screen. My test of a picture is, 'Can you believe it?' If not, it isn't good screen drama. What people want is an entertaining and convincing story woven about characters that are interesting.

"Personalities are the attraction. The director is a myth, the author a vague and unthought of creature to the average picture patron. He can't see them, therefore they don't exist. The players on the screen he can see—they are very real to him—and it is they that interest him.

"In all of my pictures, backgrounds have meant very little. I keep the camera close to the actors at all times, and concentrate on characterization and business. I am not at all interested in plot. I am confident that we overlook many fine screen stories because we don't read them ourselves. We have a reading department, and what do they do? They prepare a synopsis of the story in two pages, in which they have carefully stripped the story of characterization and incident—the very things that make it interesting and individual—leaving the bare plot, which is nothing. Reduced to action, there are only a few plots, while character and incident are endless.

"Put three persons in a room, all of whom are much alike, and you have little story interest. But put three persons of a dissimilar nature into a room together, bring them into relation with each other, and you have situation. To take a trite and familiar example, say that one is the husband, another the wife and the third her lover. As soon as you establish the fact that one is the husband, one is the wife and one is the lover, you have inevitably created a situation—drama.

"In 'The Goose Woman,' the incident at the beginning, where Louise Dresser plays a phonograph record made by herself 25 years before, establishes her in the minds of the audience much more definitely than could have been done by a 30-word subtitle. When, later, she throws a gin bottle out of the window and it lands in a pile of five hundred others, it isn't necessary to put in a subtitle saying that she has been drinking for twenty years. I would rather use a hundred feet of action to establish character than a ten-word subtitle.

"Just at the present time, I am going through all of the newspaper files I can locate for the years from 1897 to 1899, reading their accounts of the gold rush to the Klondike. At first it begins in small rumors and brief items, then grows rapidly until it fills entire papers, and out of that mass of material I am finding rich stores of realistic, convincing incident and events quite unlike anything ever used on the screen, and which will be worked into 'The Trail of '98', supplementing the story of the Robert W. Service novel. What I want to film is not so much the spectacular phases of the gold rush, as the effect of gold on human beings the world over."

Before filming "The Trail of '98," Brown will make "The Flesh and the Devil," based on the Sudermann story, "The Undying Past," and probably with John Gilbert and Greta Garbo. He expresses particular satisfaction over his arrangement with M-G-M, taking the attitude that organization is absolutely essential to a director, and that he can do far more with the resources and assistance furnished by a strong organization than he can possibly do when working in so-called "independence."

* * *

On Monday evening, at the Hotel Plaza, New York City, was shown for the first time in this country, "The Last Days of Pompeii," an Italian production brought here by Jeffrey Bernerd of London, and presented by Joseph L. Plunkett. A large and representative gathering of film personages turned out for the showing, and the ballroom of the Plaza was well filled. The picture, on the whole, seemed very well received.

Victor Varconi, who is now back in Hollywood, plays the role of Glaucus, while two leading German players are also in the cast, Maria Korda and Bernhard Goetzke. The balance of the cast is principally Italian.

The outstanding things about this picture, judging from the general reaction, are the magnitude and impressiveness of the sets and their demolishing during the eruption. These will undoubtedly prove effective sales angles, but it seemed to us that from an entertainment standpoint a little less footage devoted to backgrounds and a little more to interesting incident that would establish sympathetic interest in the characters would have heightened the value of the climax. A threatening catastrophe on the screen is thrilling in proportion to the concern which we feel over the fate of the leading characters. The general production, however, is of high excellence.

* * *

An unusually interesting book which came to our desk this week was the annual De Luxe number of "Lichbild-Buehne," the German trade paper, devoted to German-American film relations. The book, which is printed in many colors on heavy, enamelled paper, is a masterpiece of the printer's craft and contains a particularly interesting group of articles, contributed by men on both sides of the Atlantic. Among the contributors who are well-known here are Adolph Zukor, Ben Blumenthal, Dr. W. E. Shallenberger, Dr. Hugo Riesenfeld and Erno Rapee. Striking advertising pages on current German productions of note complete the work, which is of unusual interest to anyone concerned with international film affairs.

* * *

FROM Edwin G. Schallert, editor of the Los Angeles Times Pre-view and special writer for the NEWS, comes a valuable symposium of comments on the production situation for the coming year by leading executives, indicating something of the new tendencies in this connection.

"The public is recognizing and appreciating 'big pictures'," declares Carl Laemmle, "but it is a discriminating pub- now. Pictures that are big and nothing more are not accepted—as several producers have found to their sorrow. Big sets and large crowds of extras milling about in them do not make entertainment unless there is real story, real drama and an intimate personality in the picture as well.

"As far as our company is concerned, at least four pictures of big magnitude will be made. 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' is now in production. 'Romeo and Juliet,' 'Gulliver's Travels,' 'Les Miserables' (to be produced in connection with a French company), 'The Affairs of Hannerl,' a story of Vienna before the war, and several others are on the program.

"The making of feature comedies—not of the slapstick variety, but sophisticated comedy, and clever farce—is no less important. Universal believes so strongly in the popularity of comedy that this type of picture is predominant on the program."

"The days of the big cast are ebbing away, and the big pictures of tomorrow will find small casts," according to John McCormick, general manager of production First National, West Coast. "The time has arrived for fewer characters in pictures, and more intimate and dramatically concentrated stories."

McCormick also expressed the belief that there will be continued demand for new talent, directors, actors, writers and technical men, who can bring more ideas to the making of pictures.

"Sylvano Balboni, the Italian director, is one example for First National among the directors," he went on. "In addition to him, we will soon be able to announce several other young men for directorial positions—men who have not made pictures before but who will make good directors through their contacts in the film business and their education in other channels of the industry."

According to B. P. Schulberg, associate Paramount producer, pictures are rapidly getting away from the days of furious action.

"There is the real reason that the number of western pictures is being decreased," he said. "There is still a big field for them, but they are not in demand in such quantity as heretofore.

"The real reason for the change that is coming in pictures is that people are beginning to read more sophisticated literature, which permits a similar reflection on life on the screen. The general public is doing more reading generally than ever before."

The vitality of the big picture is clearly established by the reception accorded such films as "Ben Hur," "The Big Parade," "Stella Dallas," "The Sea Beast," "The Black Pirate," and others during the past and present year. The standard has been immensely improved, and the extent of competition indicates that it will be further heightened by the new productions.

Such pictures, more recently completed, as "Don Juan," Mary Pickford's "Sparrows," "The Volga Boatman," are not only going to help further the cause of real entertainment, but they are going to establish more widely the prestige of motion pictures that are motion pictures in the fullest sense of the word. They embody a fascination either of thrilling story or splendid acting or both, and they possess that class which entitles them to the respect and admiration of any and all theatregoers, whether these be typically movie fans or no.

THE past two meetings of the A. M. P. A. have been featured by unusually interesting talks—last week by Sid Grauman and the week previous by Charles Lapworth of London. Each of these visitors brought an interesting and valuable message from his respective field.

Grauman's talk aroused great enthusiasm. Relative to presentations, he stressed the fact that vaudeville does not belong on the same bill with motion pictures. Each calls for a different type of audience, he pointed out. The people attending pictures want rest, while those who go to vaudeville want stimulation. He referred to the motion picture theatre as "the temple of rest."

Presentation, he said, was a form of salesmanship, and courtesy was one of the outstanding assets of the great motion picture theatres, they being quite different in this respect from legitimate houses.

He told something of the plans for the Chinese theatre which he is building on the Coast with Joseph M. Schenck. There will be a waterfall seven stories in height, the water of which will fall in huge vats as big as a hotel diningroom. Control will be exercised over the flow so as to make it harmonize with the musical selections rendered.

Concerning his early struggles, he told of going to Alaska, of making $6,000 by selling newspapers at a dollar each, of losing it again and going back to Los Angeles of becoming ticket collector and cleaner for the Cinegraph theatre there at $6 a week, and of starting a theatre with his father after seeing the money that was to be made. He attempted to open a chain of houses in New York City but failed—returned to the West Coast— and has been a brilliant success ever since. A remarkable and colorful tale, and one quite typical of this business.

* * *

CHARLES LAPWORTH, who is connected with Gainsborough Productions in England, stressed the reciprocity angle in his talk of the week before. Lapworth spent several years here in various capacities and is well qualified to see both sides of the question. He disclaimed the rumored discontent in England concerning the so-called film monopoly in America which has prevented the exhibition of British-made films in this country. This statement, if made, he said, did not emanate from responsible persons.

Lapworth blames no one for the predominance of American pictures in England, claiming that it is simply due to the present preference of the British public for American pictures. "British exhibitors, of whom there are four thousand," he says, "are being severely criticized by parliament and the press for showing so-called foreign pictures on their screen almost to the exclusion of domestic product. They impugn the patriotism of these men, who are quite blameless, having to meet the public demand to exist."

The exhibition end of the business in England is so stable, Lapworth declares, that banking and financial institutions are eager to engage in it. "When a contract is signed by an English exhibitor, it is practically as good as gold. There is a very small percentage of break-downs in contractual agreements. The banking men are beginning to realize what a wonderful field of credit there is there; and the value of exploiting it."

The sooner exhibitors and producers get together in the production of pictures for British and American screens, he says, the sooner will the general situation adjust itself. With Lapworth at the luncheon was Michael Balcon, an executive of the same company.

* * *

AT the Pat O'Malley luncheon on Tuesday we had the pleasure of meeting Paul Leni, noted German film architect and director. Among the many fine designers of sets in Europe, Leni has been an outstanding figure. His most recent designs have been for "Manon Lescaut," "Die Taenzer Meine Frau," "Fiaker Nr. 13," and others, while "Wax Works," under the title "Three Wax Men," was recently shown at the Cameo with considerable success. This last named was directed by Leni as well as designed.

Leni, who had just arrived that morning on the ship, sought to correct the impression that he was solely a futuristic designer, an impression create dby "Three Wax Men," which happens to be of that type. It is his contention that each picture demands a treatment in its own particular style, and he approaches each new subject as an entirely new problem. He has a great admiration for American dash and enterprise, and believes there is a place on the screen, as well, for a touch of Old World ideas and treatment.

He is accompanied here by his wife, well known in Europe as a dancer under the name, Lore Sello, and will leave for Universal City shortly to design sets, create prologues and the like.

* * *

THE announcement this week that the M-G-M program for the coming year will be 60 per cent. original stories and only 40 per cent. adaptations is nothing short of revolutionary, and should be welcome news for the many who believe that it is along the lines of individual expression that the screen must develop, rather than as a parasitic art which leans on the publishing and legitimate theatrical fields for its story judgment.

When Irving Thalberg was here, a few weeks ago, he stressed this matter of original stories, and brought out the point that while the man who filmed an adaptation of a book or play never received credit for anything more than a faithful adaptation, the man who filmed an original story received credit for creating something, as in the case of "The Big Parade."

An important feature of the announcement is the list of authors which accompanies it—71 of them, and all names of the calibre that guarantees something of more than usual interest for the coming year.

PICTURES AND PEOPLE

J. E. Storey, assistant general manager of Pathe, arrives in Los Angeles to assume supervision over activities and is met by Monty Banks, Pathe comedy star

Howard Dietz and Peter Smith, Doctors of Publicity in East and West for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, compare their gifts from the M-G-M stores on the former's visit

DENVER EXPLORERS RETURN

THE Denver African expedition, consisting of Dr. C. E. Cadle, Paul Hoefler and Dr. John, returned to the United States on Monday via the Majestic, coming back from the Dark Continent by way of London. They have been making a most interesting scientific study of Bushmen life in Africa, living for weeks at a time in contact with some of the tribes, and brought back with them remarkable motion pictures of African life and customs, as well as a splendid collection of trophies and relics. More will be heard, we are sure, of the remarkable films taken by the Denver expedition.

Warren Nolan, who has recently joined the publicity and advertising staff of the United Artists Corporation home office in New York City

Miss Catherine Comstock of 1625 East First St., Long Beach, Cal., who is $1,000 richer for suggesting to C. B. De Mille the idea of filming "The Deluge"

WHERE DREAMS COME TRUE

HOLLYWOOD, that strange, mad city where the impossible is forever happening, has not changed. It is still, from a distance at least, the Never, Never Land. As witness the story of Raymond Keane, who five months ago was a clerk in his father's jewelry store in Denver. Now he is one of the four principals in "The Midnight Sun," the Universal special which was scheduled to open at the Colony Theatre this Friday evening. Buchowetski, while casting this picture, saw Keane on the street in Hollywood and was struck by his appearance. He took him to dinner and by the time they had finished talking it over, Buchowetski had decided that Keane was the ideal type for the hero, and had given him a note to the casting director at Universal City requesting that he be so employed. The result, according to those who have seen the picture, has been more than satisfactory, and Keane is now established as one of the "best bets" among the male players at Universal.

"OLD LOVES AND NEW"

IN addition to the praises sung by the New York critics after the opening at the Mark Strand Theatre,

Mary Philbin, Universal star, and Andre Mattoni, new screen importation, pose in balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet," which is planned for them

Colleen Moore, First National star, and Bill Conselman, who wrote the "Ella Cinders" story for her, busy trying to think up something else funny for Ella to do. Serious business, being funny

Big Boy, appearing in the Educational-Juvenile comedies, is always good for a hearty laugh, and this pose is no exception to the rule

James R. Grainger, general sales manager of Fox (in the centre), stops over in Chicago en route to the Los Angeles convention and goes through a sheaf of telegrams keeping him in touch with activities in Los Angeles and New York

"Old Loves and New," the Marion Fairfax production made in collaboration with Sam Rork for First National, the picture received praise from the National Board of Review, which selected for the Photoplay Guide a list of pictures having particular merit. In announcing the choice, the Board stated that the decision was due to the fine technical handling and sustained interest.

"SELECTED PICTURES" OUT

THE 11th annual "Selected Pictures" catalog published by the National Board of Review, lists 572 pictures selected as interesting and wholesome of the 1,499 long and short films which came before the Review Committee during 925. Of the 572 selected films, 43 are classed as Exceptional Photoplays, of outstanding artistic or dramatic merit.

F. B. O. STUDIO BANQUET

THE annual sales convention of Film Booking Offices at Hollywood wound up with a brilliant and unique banquet, attended not only by the delegates, but by large numbers of persons prominent in the film colony, in and out of F. B. O. The banquet was held on one of the sets for "A Poor Girl's Romance," and there was dancing but no speeches. A surprise number was presented when Lefty Flynn rendered a comedy Chinese song to his own guitar accompaniment. Frankie Darrow performed juvenile acrobatics, and Alberta Vaughn and Viola Dana did the Charleston.

Thornewood, the beautiful country estate of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Thorne, Tacoma, will be shown in scenes of the H. C. Weaver Productions' picture being produced under the working title, "The Totem Pole Beggar," for Associated Exhibitors release

W. C. FIELDS' ESCAPADES

LIFE in the movies, W. C. Fields is discovering, is not a bed of hyacinths. He narrowly escaped serious injury on April 13 when he drove himself and three others over a 20-foot embankment in making a scene for "It's the Old Army Game," his first Paramount starring feature, endangering a fifth life when the car crashed at the feet of the still photographer. The company, under the direction of Edward Sutherland, was shooting at Steinway Gardens, at the edge of Flushing Bay. The scene called for Fields to drive the family Ford through a papier mache "breakaway" wall parallel to the embankment, then to turn up a road. He was traveling at such speed, however, when he went through the wall that he was unable to turn in time and the car pitched over the embankment and a six-foot wall to the beach. In the car with him were Blanche Ring, Mary Foy and Mickey Bennett. All escaped with minor bruises.

W. C. Fields, Blanche Ring, Mary Foy and Mickey Bennett had a narrow escape on April 13th when a car they were driving in a scene for "The Old Army Game" (Paramount) got out of control and plunged over an embankment on the shore of Flushing Bay

Then, on Sunday afternoon, a crowd watching him at work in East 62nd Street was stampeded when a calcium flare exploded. No one was hurt, but a property man's overcoat was burned to ruin.

"BUCK" RETURNS

CHARLES "BUCK" JONES, who departed not so long ago with the intention of spending a two months' vacation in Europe, has returned with Mrs. Jones to New York, thoroughly disgusted with the various species of "gypping" practiced abroad on the unwary tourist. Buck, who is the press agent's nightmare when it comes to cornering him for an interview, stated that the reason for their return was two-fold—first, that they became homesick, and second, that they tired of the way they were made to pay—and pay—and PAY. Buck is not the first to discover that Europe is well filled with sharpers just waiting to "put one over" on the unsuspecting American tourist, who is, of course, a millionaire. All Americans are, in the opinion of hotel keepers, porters, guides, shop-keepers and the like.

However, Buck is back, and will spend ten days or so in quiet sightseeing around New York City with his wife, after which he will make a little tour of the country, returning to the Fox studios for the seven Westerns called for by his new Fox contract, signed just before he went abroad.

A BOOK ON COMPOSITION

E. G. LUTZ, the author of a number of interesting and practical books on art subjects, including "Animated Cartoons, How They Are Made, Their Origin and Development," has brought out a new work through Charles Scribner's Sons which should likewise be of considerable interest within the industry, under the title "Practical Pictorial Composition." This book, which treats this all-important subject in one of the most direct and simple fashions that we have ever encountered it, should be of great value to cinematographers, art directors, directors and all of those to whom the pictorial phases of production are hightly vital. While he speaks mainly of painting, his remarks are equally pertinent in regard to pictures in motion. The comprehensive range of the work may be seen from a few of the chapter headings: "Pictorial Composition and the Eye; the Real Properties of Pictures," "How the Eye Takes in Pictures," "Basic Plans of Pictorial Compositions," "Symmetrical Compositions," "Pyramidal Compositions," "Circular and Elliptical Compositions," "Tunnel-like Compositions," "Compositions of Converging Lines to a Focus," "The Silhouette," "Patterns of Light and Shade" and "Landscapes and Seascapes."

The girls on the lot at Universal City are thoroughly familiar with the maidenly art of self defense. Here are Margaret Quimby and Ena Gregory in a lively bout, with Lola Todd as a very "fair" referee

MISS MATHIS HONORED

ONE of the most interesting luncheons of the year was held April 19 at Sherry's, when First National entertained in honor of June Mathis, now a producer in her own right, and her husband, Balboni, the director. Richard A. Rowland, presiding as toastmaster, paid a tribute to Miss Mathis as seventy-five per cent. responsible for "The Four Horsemen," and predicted further great success for her.

Other speakers were: Dr. A. H. Giannini, James R. Quirk, editor of Photoplay Magazine; Jack Alicoate, Film Daily; Miss Mathis and Mr. Balboni.

Seventy-five newspaper and trade paper folk and First National executives attended.

GOES TO THE COAST

A LARGE group of her friends gave a luncheon in honor of Dorothy Cleveland, recently Director of Publicity and Advertising for Rayart, on April 19, just prior to Miss Cleveland's departure for the West Coast. Besides being a well-known publicity and advertising expert, she is a clever writer of magazine articles and feature stories and plans to engage in the latter work on the Coast.

FRED MEYER ON VISIT

THAT enterprising showman, Fred S. Meyer, managing director of the Palace Theatre, Hamilton, Ohio, was a visitor to the News office last week. The palace is an institution in the Middle West. After talking a few moments with Fred, it is easy to see why. He is a showman of great ability; he is also one of the leading citizens of his town.

C. GRAHAM BAKER SIGNS

C. GRAHAM BAKER, scenarist, recently connected with Inspiration Pictures and the Fox organization, has signed a long-term contract with Warner Brothers, to write originals and adaptations at their West Coast studios. The signing took place upon the completion of the picturization of Madge Kennedy's stage farce, "Beware of Widows," which Baker wrote for Laura La Plante at Universal.

Rin-Tin-Tin, Warner Bros. dog star, gave a tea in his suite at the Hotel Roosevelt, New York City, to the trade and newspaper reviewers while appearing at Warners Theatre with "The Night Cry." His owner and educator, Lee Duncan, is putting him through his paces

A TESTIMONIAL TO MORRIS

SAM E. MORRIS, general manager of distribution for Warner Brothers, is held in high esteen by the men of the sales organization, in proof of which, at the recent Warner convention, he was presented with a handsom Saruk rug of the finest Oriental make. The gift was made by the division managers and branch managers participating in the New York meeting and by Lloyd Willis, special home office representative and C. W. Bunn, in charge of special sales. The presentation was unusual. Morris had moved his home the day the convention opened and when he arrived at his own home that night the first thing he saw was the new rug laid out on the living-room floor. Needless to say, he is mighty proud of it.

WARREN NOLAN JOINS U. A.

VICTOR M. SHAPIRO is expanding the advertising and publicity staff of United Artists rapidly these days. The newest addition is Warren Nolan, who has taken charge of the exhibitors service department. Nolan comes to his new connection from the New York Evening Telegram, where he has been motion picture editor. He was educated at an Illinois college and at Georgetown University.

More or less "doubles" of Theodore Roosevelt frequently stop Director Victor Fleming (in the light suit) and Hermann Hagedorn (at the extreme right) for a chance to play the role in "The Rough Riders," and don a Rough Rider hat and glasses to convince them that they are "just the type"

An important group at the Educational Comedy studios in Hollywood; left to right: Jack White, in charge of production, E. W. Hammons, president of Educational, Lloyd Hamilton, comedy star, and E. H. Allen

WHERE DO EXTRAS COME FROM?

T. C. JOOS, assistant director on the Pathe serial, "The Bar-C Mystery," has had more than twelve years of experience and contact with Hollywood extras, and has some interesting data in connection with the question: "Where do the extras come from?" Recently he had occasion to hire some fifty people for a cabaret scene, and the following were included: The widow and son of a deceased star, the ex-wife of a film idol; the wife of a man now in prison charged with murder; a member of the original Weber & Fields Company; four unemployed assistant directors; a former Ziegfield chorus girl; a prominent Mexican violinist; six wives of assistant directors; a former ballerina; the headwaiter of a Los Angeles cafe, formerly an inspector in the Royal Northwest Mounted Police; several veterans of the late war; two former waiters at Delmonico's; a French dancing master; a man who rents wardrobe to other extras; and a former stage director for Wm. A. Brady. Knowing extras so intimately, Joos always tries to give the work to those who really need it, rather than to those with whom it is merely a pleasant sideline.

A WESTERN MINUS A SIX-GUN

WHETHER you believe it or not, a Western is now being made in which there will be no firearms and no gun-play. The picture is "The Galloping Cowboy," and is the first Bill Cody starring vehicle for Associated Exhibitors. Cody has mastered the technique of the Australian stock whip under the tutelage of Fred Lindsay, and this will be his only weapon in the picture. There is a real thought here. Westerns are pretty commonplace, for the most part, because of the total lack of novelty or originality, and perhaps this will lead other Western producers to seek new weapons of offence and defence other than the trusty six-gun—such as, for instance, the boomerang, the shillalah, the blow-gun, the brass knuckles, hand grenades, or what have you?

YES, WRITERS CAN DIRECT

ABOUT a year ago Bob Kane, producing for First National, made the statement that screen authors, knowing the medium so well, should make good directors. Apropos of that, he invited Howard Higgin to become a director. Higgin accepted the dare—and it would be puting it mildly to say that he has made good with a vengeance.

On Sunday evening, a week ago, he completed work on "The Wilderness Woman," and on Monday morning, bright and early, he began shooting on "The Great Deception." Prior to that he had made "The New Commandment" and "The Reckless Lady." Ask the man who's played 'em!

CANTOR TO START IN MAY

EDDIE CANTOR, according to announcement on the Coast by Jesse L. Lasky, will start work in May on "Kid Boots," his first screen vehicle, which will be filmed in Hollywood. Frank Tuttle will go West to direct this, accompanied by Lloyd Sheldon, supervising editor.

Lasky will remain on the West Coast about three weeks, conferring with B. P. Schulberg and Hector Turnbull, P. A. Powers, Marshall Neilan, Hermann Hagedorn and others. He also announced that John Monk Saunders, well known fiction writer, has been placed under contract to write one of the most ambitious efforts of Paramount in years. Bebe Daniels, he stated, will return to Hollywood at once to begin work on "The College Flirt."

PAT O'MALLEY LUNCHEONED

AN informal and highly enjoyable luncheon was given by Universal at the Tavern on Tuesday in honor of Pat O'Malley, Universal star, who is in New York for the opening of "The Midnight Sun," and Paul Leni, prominent German director and set designer signed by Laemmle.

Representatives of all the daily, trade and fan papers were on hand, as well as executives of Universal. Speeches were confined to an admirable and extreme brevity, and a good time was had all around.

FADMAN OFF FOR PARIS

EDWIN MILES FADMAN, with some unusually interesting plans in connection with short subject production abroad, sailed on the Savoie on Wednesday for Paris with his family. He will remain abroad for at least three months and will open offices in London and Berlin as well. He took with him fifty-two American features, three serials, thirty-six two-reel comedies and one hundred and four single reel novelties, which should keep him busy in addition to the short subject novelties which he will search for to bring back to this country with him.

A PAIR OF ASTERISKS

ALTHOUGH the list of subjects reviewed by the National Board this week is unusually long, only two pictures were found worthy of special mention and the little asterisk, and both were single reelers. One went to Fox for a scenic, "Canary Islands," while Pathe received the other for Pathe Review No. 17.

Seymour Zeliff and "Chief Wheeler" vs. Adolphe Milar and "Belle of Arizona" about to start a tracking contest between scenes of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," the Harry Pollard Universal production, at Plattsburg, N. Y. The dogs were brought from Universal City

Hearing on Censorship at Capitol

Pettijohn, of Hays' Office, in Three Hours Destroys Case Which Took Canon Chase and Cohorts Three Days to Build

IN an address before the House Committee on Education, which is hearing arguments on the Swoope and Upshaw censorship measures, Charles C. Pettijohn, general counsel of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors Association, in three hours completely broke down the elaborate case which took three days in preparation by the group headed by Canon Chase which came to Washington to secure legislation "so that the Chinese and Japanese cannot criticise American morals and American life."

Congressman Swoope, of Pennsylvania, and his bill passed out of the picture at an early stage in the hearing, due to repudiation by the advocates of censorship legislation, because, they said, it did not go far enough. Nothing less than the Upshaw measure, with its commissioners at $9,000 a year, who must meet absurd requirements, would satisfy the Chase group.

Bitter attacks on the movies, coupled with profuse expressions of friendship, marked the highlights of the hearing. The usual stereotyped accusations were made against the picture business and Will Hays by the supporters of the bill including Dr. Clifford Twombley, of Lancaster, Pa., who at one time was a member of the Pennsylvania censorship board, who declared one-third of all productions had a salacious sex appeal; Mrs. Howard B. Bennett, of Baltimore, president of the Maryland Citizens League for Better Motion Pictures, who delivered a vitriolic attack on the industry; Dr. Charles K. Swartz, professor of geology at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, and Dr. Charles Scanlon, of Pittsburgh, secretary of moral welfare of the Presbyterian Church and president of the Federal Council of Moving Pictures of America.

Joe Seider Wedded to New York Girl

ON Sunday afternoon, April 18th, Rabbi Thalberg married Miss Beatrice Balduzzi, of New York, and Joseph M. Seider. The couple will make the trip to the Seventh Annual Convention of the M. P. T. O. A. in Los Angeles, on the first five days of June, their honeymoon trip.

The friends of the industry came to the fore early and often. Mrs. Thomas A. McGoldrick, representing the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae, said "We feel that there is no need of Federal control of the motion picture business any more than there is need of Federal control of schools—Do you gentlemen think that a group of political office seekers at $9,000 or $10,000 a year will accomplish the purpose stated in these bills?"

"The place for censorship is in the home," the committee was advised by Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, of Atlanta, representing the Georgia Federated Women's Clubs. No producer will put out other than what the public demands, she said.

Congressman Upshaw, of Georgia, told the committee his measure is not intended to "purify" the industry but is to make unnecessary the restraints of municipal and State censorship boards now existing. Continuing he added that he hoped Will Hays would "strike off the shackles that bound the motion picture business to so much that was unclean; I think he meant to do it." "Constructive friendship for the moving picture industry" is the object of the Upshaw bill, he concluded.

Efforts by Canon Chase to explain the measure drew him into so many abstruse arguments with members of the committee that nearly an entire day was spent in dis-

(Continued on page 2085)

Coolidge Against Federal Censorship; Finds Quality of Pictures Improved and Pays Tribute to Hays

A BODY blow was dealt the agitation for Federal censorship April 20, when an official spokesman at the White House told newspaper men that President Coolidge does not look with favor upon efforts to provide a board of morals in the Federal Government.

It is the President's opinion, his spokesman said, that censorship, if exercised at all, should be left to the various States. That the President does not believe that censorship of any sort is necessary is indicated by the recalling of his action in 1921 when, as Governor of Massachusetts, he vetoed a censorship bill, which veto was the following year upheld by a large vote.

At the White House the opinion was expressed that the motion picture has been an important factor in creating better understanding among nations. It was pointed out that films exported from the United States have done much to acquaint foreign countries with America and American life, and the President feels that some of our producers, by bringing films from abroad, might serve to bring us into closer touch with foreign peoples.

It is felt that the industry has grown to such importance as a business that it should be promoted in every legitimate way by the Government.

No complaints about films in recent years have reached the President's ears, the White House spokesman said, and he feels that the producers themselves have taken up the burden of improving the quality of their productions. In this work, it is felt that Will Hays has been a very decided influence.

Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Arkansas Hold Convention

THE twelfth semi-annual convention of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Arkansas was held at Little Rock, Hotel Marion, on April 11 and 12. The first day of the meet was devoted to screening pictures of the various companies.

The second day was given to reports from the various committees and talks by the president of the organization, W. D. Jackson, labor leader, the appointment of delegates to the annual convention of the national M. P. T. O. A., and the session closed with a banquet at which addresses were made by the Governors of Texas and Arkansas and several film company executives.

The highlights of the convention were the adoption of a new constitution, the report of the audit committee showing all bills paid and a balance of six hundred dollars from dues collected and resolutions passed protesting against inclusion of foreign-made films in blocks sold by American distributors, the continued making of "costume" pictures, and the increase of parts for projection machines.

Resolutions were made condemning "guaranteed percentage bookings" and the addition by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer of four clauses permitting withdrawal of certain pictures from groups after contracts are signed.

HEARING ON CENSORSHIP

(Continued from page 2005)

cussion of the various provisions. The requirements for commissioners drew fire, members of the committee expressing their dissatisfaction with provisions for their freedom from political affiliation and requiring a knowledge of "youthful psychology" and the "laws and arts of dramatic expression" the latter, they declared, being a phrase no court could ever define. "Will you admit that you do not know what you are talking about?" the Canon was asked by Representative Black after some minutes of argument.

"No," replied the witness, "I am trying to eliminate this important commission from what is known as partisan politics."

Even the Supreme Court of the United States is not as non-partisan a body as he would have his commission, Canon Chase said, and President Coolidge would not be eligible for membership because of his affiliations with a political party.

It took three days for the reformers to build up their case; that many hours sufficed for Charles C. Pettijohn, general counsel of the M. P. P. and D., to demolish the structure which they had so laboriously erected. One by one he took up the charges made against the film industry, analyzed them, showed them in their full ridicule and dropped them into the discard.

The platform of the industry, the committee was told, is fundamentally clean pictures, pictures that will please the public. Nothing else.

The Swoope bill, with its unenforceable provision prohibiting the admission of children under 16 years of age, is but a futile gesture, it was shown. The Upshaw bill, on the other hand, is an attempt to sow the seed of a cankerous bureaucracy. It covers everything; makes the Government fix the prices to be charged for reviews and other services; amends the copyright law; defines the duties of the Federal Trade Commission; and often violates the Constitution, he asserted.

Under its requirements, President Coolidge, Will Hays and all other leaders of the land would be ineligible for the commission—only Canon Chase could meet the test. The bill would pave the way for graft and corruption, he charged.

The "gigantic" lobby of the industry, so often referred to during the hearings, he told the committee, consisted of himself and Jack S. Connolly, Washington representative of the organization. The "vast sums" of money spent to influence the referendum vote in Massachusetts in 1922, figured out at 20 cents per vote, and there were no large gobs of largesse forced upon clergymen, as had been charged.

The Federal board would not do away with the State boards, Pettijohn declared. Instead, it would add many times to the cost of putting pictures before the public, the expense being estimated at some $7,270,000 a year, all of which, he reminded his hearers, would be paid for by the public in the form of increased admission prices.

What will censorship do? he asked the committee. Chicago has exceptionally severe restrictions, cuts out pictures of guns, etc., yet is not known as a particularly moral town. Twenty-three States have defeated censorship in the past five years, he said; they do not want it. Only one out of 5,000 pictures was rejected last year by the Maryland board. The ratio in Virginia and Kansas was the same, and those figures did not coincide with statements from the other side that there had to be ruthless slashing.

"The industry should not be harassed and browbeaten by reformers," the witness declared.

Taking up the charge of lack of patriotism and disregard of the needs of children, Pettijohn explained the children's pictures which are being released. As to patriotism—not a picture was suppressed during the war, although newspapers were; pictures were our first ammunition in France, sent in to meet German propaganda; they stayed in the front lines all through the war; they are in the front lines yet because they are still in the hospitals entertaining the boys.

Stars and others in the industry personally went to Europe after the war to help Hoover save children from starvation, and are credited by Mr. Hoover with having saved 280,000 young lives. "You folks do not do that, and no wonder Mr. Upshaw withers under my remarks," he said, turning to his opponents as the author of the bill left the room after a heated protest.

"We hold in supreme contempt, with as much dignity as possible, the morbid and diseased imaginations of any and all who say here or in any other place that we 'are engaged in a deliberate attempt to corrupt youth.'

"This bill calls for the establishment of another political board or commission within the Government, to be administered by non-existent supermen described in such terms that even Canon Chase himself has been unable to interpret to your committee, but which he did say 'required such qualifications that even the President of the United States could not measure up to.'

"We are unalterably opposed to any censorship of the press, pulpit, motion picture, radio, free speech, of the individual or any other known form of human expression.

"We should be held accountable for the violation of any law, only if and when that law is violated—and we have such laws on the statute books of every one of the 48 States and in the Federal and penal code."

Proponents of the legislation will come back on April 27 for "rebuttal."

Missouri-Illinois Exhibitors in Convention

A record attendance of exhibitors from all parts of Eastern Missouri and Southern Illinois is expected for the annual convention of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Eastern Missouri and Southern Illinois, scheduled to be held at the Elks' Club, St. Louis, Mo., on Tuesday, April 27. W. W. Watts, of Springfield, Ill., is president of the organization, which is affiliated with the national organization of exhibitors.

Among the important subjects are the effort of the reform element to force national and State censorship of motion pictures on the industry, and also the Sunday-closing situation. Especially in Eastern Missouri Sunday closing is now a very live problem.

The business outlook for Southern Illinois exhibitors due to the Illinois coal-mine situation may also come before the gathering.

Buffalo Film Board Has Elections

Sydney Samson, of Bond Photoplays, has been elected president of the Film Board of Trade of Buffalo. He succeeds Frank J. A. McCarthy, of First National. This is the third time Mr. Samson has been honored with the presidency. Other new officers are: Marvin W. Kempner, Paramount, vice-president; Howard F. Brink, Educational, treasurer, and Harry Bailey, Fox, secretary. Installation of the new officers will be held in May at Stein's Hotel in Orchard Park.

Northwest Agitated Over Sunday Shows

The battle over Sunday shows continues in the Northwest. Edgerton, Minn., voted for the Sunday opening and Spencer, Iowa, goes to the polls on the subject soon. H. N. Davies, theatre owner, is bearing the expense of the latter election. There have been several fights in Spencer over blue laws.

Twenty-two More Houses for Publix

Company Acquires Control of A. H. Blank String in Nebraska and Iowa in $2,500,000 Deal; Other Theatre Expansion

INCLUDED in theatre expansion announcements this week is the news that Publix Theatres has acquired control of the A. H. Blank circuit of theatres, numbering twenty-two houses in Iowa and Nebraska, in a transaction involving $2,500,000.

Theatres included are: The Rialto, in Boone; Palace and Rialto, in Burlington; Orpheum, Rialto and Strand, in Clinton; Garden and Strand, in Council Bluffs; Capitol, Davenport and Family, in Davenport; Capitol, Des Moines, Palace, Rialto and Strand, in Des Moines; Englert and Garden, in Iowa City; Strand, in Marshalltown; Bijou and Palace, in Mason City; Rialto, in Newton, and Princess, Sioux City. The Rialto and Strand, in Omaha, and the Majestic and Spencer Square, in Rock Island. Several others are building.

Persistent rumors which, although declared to be unofficial, last week indicated that the William Fox interests had acquired a large amount of property in the heart of the business district in Seattle, Wash. The property is located at Sixth Avenue and Olive Street and is reported to have been purchased by the Fox interests for a sum in excess of $2,000,000. Fox and a party of his home office executives spent several days in Seattle and Portland early in April, and while in the Northwest city he is known to have kept several engagements with real estate representatives of Seattle and his own operators from California.

The property reported to have acquired is within one block of the site of the new $1,500,000 Orpheum Theatre, three blocks from the site of the new North American Theatre Corporation house and five blocks from the recently selected site for the mammoth new Famous Players-Lasky Theatre in Seattle.

Marcus Loew has increased his holdings in Syracuse until they now total close to $2,000,000. The other day he purchased the Griffin block and the Richards building, adjoining the Jefferson Hotel property in Jefferson and Clinton Streets. This recent deal involved $375,000 and brings the entire transaction up to 1,975,000. Loew purchased the Jefferson Hotel property from Julian Goldman for $1,600,000, and started plans to erect an office and theatre building, forming the Jefferson-Salina corporation to develop the site.

Universal, following the purchase of Capitol Enterprises theatres, now has forty theatres in the Kansas City territory, according to Harry Taylor, Universal branch manager at Kansas City. The Universal theatres and those purchased from Capitol Enterprises, twenty-two in number, will be consolidated within a few weeks, it is said.

The Butterfield interests in Michigan have completed their Spring plans, insuring the construction of the three new theatres that were decided upon at the January meeting of the Board of Directors. Contracts have been signed with John Eberson, Chicago Architect, for this work.

The Saginaw Theatre will be called the Capitol, and will be located at Baum and Federal Streets. It will have a seating capacity of 2,000. The new Flint Theatre will also be called the Capitol and will be located at Harrison and Second Street. It will have a seating capacity of 2,200. The new Kalamazoo Theatre will be called the State and will be located at Lovell and Burdick Streets. It will have a seating capacity of 2,000.

There will be some commercial space in the new buildings and the theatres will open early in 1927.

The K. & F. Amusement Company have recently closed a deal with owners of theatres in Loveland and Longmont, Colo., whereby they have acquired the ownership of all the theatres in the above towns. The theatres acquired are the Rialto and Loveland Theatres, of Loveland, Colo., and the America, Isis and Longmont Theatres, of Longmont, Colo. P. H. Hoppen was the owner involved in the transfer of the Rialto, Loveland, and the America at Longmont. J. J. Goodstein was the seller of the Isis and Longmont Theatres, of Longmont, and the D. & R. interests were the vendors of the Loveland Theatre, of Loveland, Colo.

The Kohn & Fairchild interests now control a total of eleven theatres in the Denver territory, the other theatres being located in Trinidad, Colo.; Las Vegas, N. M.; Fort Collins, Colo., and La Junta, Colo.

In one of the largest theatrical deals concluded in Seattle, Wash., in recent years John Hamrick last week too over the ownership and management of Warner Brothers' Egyptian Theatre, in the University district, and announced plans for the construction of two new neighborhood houses, to be opened early this summer.

The house in the Queen Anne district to be built by Hamrick will be known as Hamrick's Uptown Theatre and will be similar in construction features to his present Blue Mouse. It will have a seating capacity of approximately 850, as will also the house to be constructed in the Montlake district. This latter will be known as Hamrick's Montlake.

The new motion picture theatre under construction on Broadway, corner Webster street, Everett, Mass., by the Everett Building Trust, has been leased for a term of years to Moe Marks, head of the Strand Theatre interests in New York, according to announcement of E. L. Snider, managing director of the new building.

The new theatre will be ready September 1 and will seat 2,000. A new corporation, the Capitol Theatre Company, Everett, will be organized to operate the house.

The historic York Opera House and the Orpheum Theatre adjoining, in the heart of the business section of York, Pa., are to become the site of a new theatre that will have a seating capacity of 3,000 and the construction of which will be started next spring. The announcement of the enterprise was made on April 13 by Nathan Appell, head of the Nathan Appell Theatre Enterprises, which controls a number of motion picture, vaudeville and legitimate theatres in York, Lancaster and elsewhere Pennsylvania.

The Jackson Motion Picture Theatre, York, Pa., went under the control of the Nathan Appell Theatre Enterprises on Monday, April 19, the deed for the sale of the property for $205,000 having passed from Mr. and Mrs. John A. Jackson, of York, to Nathan and Louis Appel in April.

Vice-President Dawes turning over stone from the old capitol building in Washington, to Senator Wadsworth, of New York. The stone is destined for a place in the Hall of Nations of the new Paramount Theatre on Broadway

One Man N. Y. Censor Board

State Motion Picture Commission Becomes Bureau in State Education Dept.

DESPITE the fact that the New York State Motion Picture Commission becomes a bureau in the State Education Department on January 1, 1927, under the reorganization program, the censoring of all films will continue to be done in New York City, as at present. This much has virtually been decided by the head of the State Education Department, who will name the head of the commission the latter part of December, and who will naturally have a great deal to say in regard to the policy of the censorship commission from January 1 on. The bureau which the commission maintains at the present time at the State Capitol will be moved in December to the Education Deparment.

The reorganization bills which have been introduced during the last few days as a result of the report of the Hughes Commission are being passed and signed by the Governor without any great ado. The three Commissioners, who are drawing salaries of $7,500 each, are to be wiped out of existence the latter part of December and will be replaced by a single person, whose salary is yet to be fixed. While the Governor is to have the say in naming the heads of other reorganized departments, it will be the Commissioner of Education who will name the person heading the censorship commission.

The New York State Legislature concluded its annual session this week, and without any amount of motion picture legislation being enacted. In fact, the only bill to pass the Legislature and be signed by the Governor was the Webb bill, eliminating motion picture news reels from censorship. After the Governor had signed the bill, Senator Webb received a letter from Will Hays congratulating him upon the passage of the bill.

The Hackenburg bill, calling for the abolishment of the New York State Motion Picture Commission on July 1 failed to get anywhere. It was a Democratic measure and, naturally, it was opposed by the Republicans in the Assembly.

The bill placing employees of motion picture studios under the provisions of the workmen's compensation law died in committee. The same held true of the Freiberg bill, which had for its object the admission of unaccompanied children to motion picture theatres under certain definite provisions.

Blue Law Agitation Continues

Favorable Action is Taken on Lawton Sunday Bill in Rhode Island Senate

JUDGING from reports throughout the country the adherents of the Sunday closing measures are still active in trying to keep theatres closed on the Sabbath. However, the reform element received a jolt in Rhode Island when favorable action was taken on the Lawton bill which approves of allowing the theatres to stay open on Sunday excepting one city of the State.

Favorable action has been taken by the committee on Judiciary of the Rhode Island Senate on the Lawton bill, which provides for Sunday motion picture entertainments in the cities of Rhode Island excepting Pawtucket, and this bill will be reported to the Senate late in the week. If it passes the Senate, as it is expected to do, it will then go back to the House for concurrence.

The Lawton bill also provides for censorship only by the National Board of Review and the licensing authorities in the cities where the films are shown and eliminates a much more cumbersome bill at first proposed.

St. Petersburg is still worked up over the Sunday closing ordinance, recently passed by the City Commissioners and ratified by the special election. The managers applied for an injunction against the operation of the ordinance as it applied only to theatres, dance halls and caberts, while other businesses were allowed to operate on Sunday. The injunction was denied and the managers will carry their case to the Supreme Court. In the meantime the managers decided to open up on Sunday and it is stated that an agreement was reached with the city authorities that no arrests be made on Sunday, but warrants would be served on them at 11 o'clock the following morning.

The Sunday closing menace, which had Kansas City, Kans., exhibitors puzzled for a short time, has been eliminated.

The controversy with the Ku Klux Klan, arising over the showing of a Klan picture in Memorial Hall, has been settled out of court, it is said. The exhibitors objected to the showing of pictures in the hall, which was built on public subscription and to which exhibitors contributed.

Theatre Company Buys Two Houses in New York

Western New York Theatrical Enterprises, Inc., headed by Fred M. Zimmerman, of Buffalo, and Nikitas Dipson, of Batavia, have taken over the Palace and Winter Garden Theatres, in Jamestown, N. Y., which houses formerly were operated by Peterson & Woods. The same company has taken over the opera house in Fredonia, formerly operated by Charlie Tarbox, and it is rumored that they will soon build a new house in Dunkirk.

Al Kahn Preparing Miami Suburban Circuit

Al Kahn, film veteran of Kansas City, returned from Miami, Fla., this week with the announcement that he is preparing to organize and operate a circuit of suburban theatres in Miami. "There is not a suburban theatre in Miami," asserted Kahn with enthusiasm, "and I believe there is a great field in such a venture."

Companies Incorporated In Mass. and Conn.

Red Seal Film Exchanges, Inc., Boston, has been incorporated with 200 shares without par value. Incorporators are Albert L. Saunders, of West Medway, Mass., president and treasurer, and Grace J. Flye. Red Seal Film Exchanges, Inc., is also incorporated in New Haven, Conn., with $20,000 capital. Carlos S. Holcomb, of 750 Main Street, New Haven, is the head.

Consolidated Films, Inc., of 14 Piedmont Street, Boston, is capitalized at $10,000. Incorporators are George W. Allen, Jr., Abraham Montague and Timothy F. O'Brien. The Connecticut River Valley Theatre Corporation has been incorporated at Middletown, Conn., with capital of $60,000. Theodore Gubman, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and others from New York head the corporation. Capital Theatre Co., Everett, Mass., has been incorporated with $50,000 capital. Incorporators are Mary K. O'Connor, Maurice A. Silver, of Chelsea, Mass., and Benjamin Rosenthal, of Boston.

Canadian Associations Fight Copyright Act

The Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, through its newly formed Ottawa Exhibitors Branch, has thrown in its lot with various other theatre, musical and radio associations in Canada in opposition to the amendments to the Canadian Copyright Act, now before the Canadian House of Commons, to provide for a royalty system on copyrighted music played in theatres.

The organized Ottawa exhibitors held an important meeting on April 15, when the couyright situation was discussed and plans were made to co-operate with the other associations interested in the battle, including the Canadian M. P. T. O., Motion Picture Distributors and Exhibitors of Canada and others.

Five Firms Incorporated In New York During Week

Motion picture companies incorporating in New York State during the past week and engaging in the motion picture business included the following: Eugene Roder Productions, Inc., $10,000, with Eugene Roder, Albert Lefko, Jacob Shulman, New York City; Fredonia Theatres Corporation, Batavia, capitalization not specified, Nikitas Dipson, J. E. Osborne, E. B. Westcott, Batavia; Federated Theatre Owners, Inc., $500,000, L. J. Merrell, Irving Cyruli, L. E. Inkeled, Brooklyn; Emerson Theatre Corporation, capitalization not specified, Abraham L. Erlanger, L. E. Bergman, E. S. Golding, New York City; Marboro Theatre Corporation, capitalization not stated, M. C. Steinberg, Eman M. Sholemson, Alexander Aaronson, New York City.

Ontario Censor Victim of Heart Disease

Major J. S. Hamilton, chairman of the Ontario Board of Moving Picture Censors, Toronto, dropped dead from heart failure at his home in Portcredit, Ontario. He had been ill for some time. He served with distinction with the Canadian forces in France and was invalided home when he was 47 years old.

First National Holds Annual Meeting

Annual Session at Atlantic City To Be Followed by Sales Convention at Chicago; Full Attendance of Franchise Holders

THE annual meeeting of First National Pictures was opened at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, Atlantic City, Wednesday, April 21, with a full attendance of franchise holders and production and distribution executives. Most of those attending the convention left Atlantic City Friday, in order to attend the First National sales convention in Chicago, which opens on Monday, April 26.

Following is a list of those present at the meetings in Atlantic City: Robert Lieber, Richard A. Rowland, M. Finkelstein, I. H. Ruben, A. Hamm, Harry Crandall, Abe Fabian, Jacob Fabian, Moe Mark, Spyros Skouras, Charles Skouras, Mrs. Florence Strauss, J. B. Clark, Watterson R. Rothacker, John Kunsky, George Trendle, R. D. Craver, A. F. Sams, Abe Blank, Sam Katz, Ben Stapleton, Dr. A. H. Giannini, Harry T. Nolan, Tom Boland, Harry Schwalbe, John McGuirk, E. Mandelbaum, Phil Gleichman, Sam Spring, Robert Perkins, A. W. Smith, Jr., Ned Depinet, Ned Marin, Stanley Hatch, C. F. Chandler, F. E. Cahill, F. Ferrandini, W. P. Dewees, Tom Saxe, Barney Balaban, R. Hoyt, Guy Morgan, C. C. Burr, Walter Hays, Eugene Falk, June Mathis, Balboni, Oscar Brachman and Miss Mary McCaffrey.

Everything is set for the First National sales convention, which opens in Chicago, at the Drake Hotel, April 26, and will last through the two following days.

From all prospects, this will be largest convention ever held by First National. In addition to the branch managers and bookers, many salesmen from all sections of the country will attend. Home office executives will leave Atlantic City, where they have been attending the annual meeting of franchise holders, in time to be present at the opening session of the convention. A number of franchise holders also will attend the Chicago meeting.

The address of welcome to the sales managers will be delivered by A. W. Smith, Jr., Eastern sales manager. It is expected that President Robert Lieber will review something of the history of First National in his speech to the delegates. Production Manager Richard A. Rowland will talk about the new product and Secretary-Treasurer Samuel Spring will probably deal with the work of the sales cabinet. Ned E. Depinet, Southern sales manager, and Ned Marin, Western sales manager, will discuss in detail the sales plans for the coming year.

Among others scheduled to address the convention are Al Rockett and Ray Rockett, production department; S. W. Hatch, Charles M. Steele, of the sales department; C. F. Chandler, Allan S. Glenn, Gayne Dexter, Lynde Denig and Robert Hage, of the advertising and publicity department. The committee of arrangements will announce other speakers before the session convenes.

Those who will attend the First National Chicago convention include: Robert Lieber, R. A. Rowland, Samuel Spring, Ned Marin, A. W. Smith, Jr., Ned E. Depinet, Mrs. F. L. Strauss, Stanley W. Hatch, Charles M. Steele, Warren C. Boothby, R. W. Perkins, C. F. Chandler, Lynde Denig, Gayne Dexter, Allan Glenn, Robert Hage, J. M. Loeb, Al Barlow, Ralph M. Wilson, Edward Rowell, D. J. McGowan, James C. Cunniff, Fred Crosbie, Charles Kemke, Sterling Wilson, Charles A. Baily, Joseph Kelly, Al Rockett, Ray Rockett.

Merger Still Possible, Says Fairbanks

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, interviewed by a representative of The Wall Street Journal just before his departure for Europe, on the subject of the United Artists—M.G.M. situation said:

"We worked out the details of such a combine and it may go through some day. We produce a number of superpictures each year, but have not enough pictures to complete a series of block-booking. They (M.G.M.) have a lot of good theatres here and we have an excellent overseas organization. It would obviously have been to our joint interests to come together.

District managers: W. E. Gallaway, New Orleans; L. O. Lukan, San Francisco; W. A. Bach, Toronto.

Eastern District

Albany: A. J. Herman, S. E. Feld, F. C. Robke, Al. J. Marchetti. Boston: Thomas B. Spry, Adelbert P. Bibber, J. Magann, N. Ross, Max Berman, J. Byrne, F. Vine, E. Anderson, Harry L. Spingler, Carolyn C. Jones. Buffalo: F. J. A. McCarthy, J. G. Fater, M. L. Pincus, B. A. Interbitzen, E. C. Walsh, F. R. Powers. New Haven: M. Kelcher, J. Pavone, John C. Sullwinkle, Theresa Speratore. New Jersey: J. C. Vergesslich, S. J. Ullman, Harry Hummell, A. Gershwin, Wm. Osborne, Sol H. Kravitz. New York: A. W. Smith, Jr., Clive R. Waxman, E. C. Bullwinkle, H. Levy, H. Goldman, W. G. Roosevelt, W. Benson, W. G. Shields, A. F. Hickox, Sam Lefkowitz. Philadelphia: W. J. Heenan, F. A. Loftus, W. G. Mansell, W. C. Cook, F. J. Leonard, F. F. Duffy, T. N. Noble. Washington: Robert Smeltzer, G. N. Payette, Jr., W. A. Busch, F. L. Greenhalgh, H. J. Lego, Fred J. Stevens.

Southern District

Atlanta: C. R. Beacham, G. C. Almon, L. W. Carter, W. G. McCorvey, P. A. Strachan, Frank T. Sands, J. M. Young, L. H. Andrews. Charlotte: Frank F. Bryan, Dean S. House, Phelps Sasseen. Ernest E. Nedman, Jack London. Cincinnati: Roy H. Haines, Maurice White, Jack Covington, Maurice Strauss, John Eifert, G. P. Leatherbury, Foster Egner, Lenore Schmidt. Cleveland: Gradwell L. Sears, Milton A. Mooney. Walter Forster. Adolph F. Braeunig, Herbert J. Ochs, H. F. McCarthy, Walter J. Brandt, L. F. Weinez, E. A. Catlin, Leslie Wilkes, Douglas P. Rathbone, George E. Welch, Albert M. Avery, Harry A. Shaw, Hiram D. Parks, Ralph L. McCoy, Roy V. Litsey, Theo. Routt. Indianapolis: Floyd Brown, Joe Neger, Homer Knox, Robert Boland, Dewey Taute, Halbert Jones, Dorothy McManamon. Kansas City: T. O. Byerle, Wm. Warner, H. L. Cass, H. E. Schiller, J. J. Curran, J. J. McCarthy, R. J. Heft, W. A. Bukre, Edwin Behrhorst, Louisville: Paul E. Krieger, Max Bluck, Leo W. Moffitt, Henry S. Bowman, Verner W. Castleberry. New Orleans: Lucas Conner, Samuel J. Stockard, Milton C. White, Fred C. Vaeth, Jr. Oklahoma City: Eugene D. Brewer, William C. Blackstone, March Wood, L. Roy Berry, C. H. Hill, Walter A. Dolin. Pittsburgh: R. S. Wehrle, A. Parke, H. P. Underwood, E. M. Lynch, C. A. Molte, Joseph P. Lefke, E. W. Elder, Hilda M. Lissmann. St. Louis: Harry Weiss, Lester J. Bona, Harry L. Pitner, Henry Sanders, James Hill, Harry M. Moore, Mrs Frances Murphy.

Western District

Chicago: Roy C. Seery, J. N. Howland, C. M. Lesserman, E. C. Herman, W. C. Brimmer, T. R. Gilliam, J. M. Schwartz, J. M. Duncan, I. H. Parnass, J. E. Armgadt, N. H. Norvell, G. W. Taif, Harry Balaban, E. C. White, A. C. Patzlaff. Denver: J. H. Ashby, R. J. Morrison, B. L. Reynolds, Clayton Parker, Tom Wickham, C. A. Larson. Des Moines: E. J. Tilton, C. A. Pratt, W. C. Finter, Lou Elman, W. J. Hackman, Arthur Johnson. Detroit: Fred E. North, Walter B. Collins, Sidney D. Chapman, Sydney Hackford, Ray P. Harper, Fred Wilson, Fred J. Dixon. Los Angeles: N. H. Brower, Geo. Bourke, A. S. Bailey, C. E. Buchanan, Fred McClellan, Mrs. B. H. Bogart. Milwaukee: L. J. McCarthy, E. L. Wiesner, F. J. Willett, C. K. Olson, Elmer Huhnke. Minneapolis: Thomas A. Burke, L. E. Davis, Ernest Hill, J. G. Heywood, W. H. Johnson, H. L. Conway, H. W. Holmbold, E. W. Jensen, Carl Michel, Arthur Anderson. Omaha: J. G. Bower, Fritz W. Friend, F. L. Hershorn, B. J. McCarthy, Leon Mendelson. Portland: Al Oxtoby, B. F. Keller, C. W. Hudson, Wayland Taylor, Sidney S. Schulbach. Salt Lake City: Wm. F. Gordon, John J. Harrington, Vete Stewart, Claude Hawkes, C. L. Marcroft. San Francisco: Chas. H. Muehlman, Newton Levi, Gerald Hardy, F. H. Butler, V. Preston, Seattle: Fred G. Sliter, P. C. Hurst, A. A. Bruce, H. W. Boehme, A. C. Raleigh, J. W. Parry.

Iowa Theatre Owners to Meet April 27

The annual convention of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Iowa will be held at Des Moines, Tuesday, April 27. The business of the convention will include the election of officers and a complete change in by-laws.

Dues will be reduced to a nominal figure and the headquarters of officers and the business manager will be located at Des Moines, according to a wire to "Motion Picture News" from Secretary Ed. P. Smith, of Newton, Iowa. Delegates will be chosen to the national convention at Los Angeles.

No Film to Quebec After Aug. 1

New York Distributors Order Exchanges in Montreal Not to Book After Date

As a result of the drastic censoring standards set by the Board of Motion Picture Censors of the Province of Quebec and the Civic Board of Censors of the City of Quebec, distributors in New York have sent orders to their exchanges in Montreal not to close contracts for films beyond August first in the Province of Quebec. The distributors announced that, under present conditions, they preferred to withdraw from the field because the decisions of censors in Quebec made the business unprofitable.

Colonel John A. Cooper, president of the Canadian Hays organization, in a statement made this week gives reasons for the step, saying that "Motion picture censorship in Quebec is the worst in the world. We have had trouble with the Qubec Censor Board for years. Quebec has a right to make its own laws, but we reserve the right to determine whether we will live under those laws or do business under those laws.

"For years the distributors have been faced with the situation of having their films, acceptable anywhere else, coming up here and being cut by the censor board. So much has this been done that Quebec has not proved a profitable market and for that reason there is no use doing business here. Quebec represents less than one per cent. of the market for films on this continent."

Advices from Montreal indicate that exhibitors are in sympathy with the plan in order that a showdown with the authorities can be had.

Western Penn. Holds Meeting

M. P. T. O. A. Officials and Gov. Pinchot Important Figures at Sessions in Pittsburgh

Enthusiasm and a large attendance marked the convention of the M. P. T. O. of Western Pennsylvania, held at Pittsburgh this week. National importance was given the meeting by the presence of the M. P. T. O. A. administrative committee, consisting of President R. F. Woodhull, Joseph M. Seider, A. Julian Brylawski, M. J. O'Toole, Sydney S. Cohen and Harry Davis. Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, was the chief guest of honor at the convention banquet.

All of the national leaders spoke at the sessions. Mr. Woodhull condemned censorship, declared that pictures were improving by leaps and bounds and pointed out that the ultimate censors are the thousands of patrons at the theatres.

Mr. Seider urged the exhibitors present not to be hasty in booking product for next season, but to wait until all the producer announcements had appeared in the trade papers and then give them careful study, so that theatre owners may make more advantageous and intelligent purchases.

The music tax situation was fully discussed by Mr. Brylawski, who told the convention of the bill introduced by Representative Vestal, chairman of the House Committee on Patents.

One of the most striking speeches was made by Sydney S. Cohen, who received an ovation. Mr. Cohen declared that representatives of producer-owned theatres would attend the Los Angeles convention en masse, and urged independent exhibitors to turn out in full force, so that they would not be outvoted. The position of the independent theatre owner is now more secure, he said, adding that this had come about because the M. P. T. O. A. had been the barrier against encroachments.

The "battle of the giants" will take form this year, Mr. Cohen went on, with the result that the pressure on the little theatre owner will be relieved.

Mr. Cohen made the announcement that he would not again take an official position in the M. P. T. O. A., not even as a member of the board of directors. He would always be a member in the ranks and would be at Los Angeles, but the organization, he felt, was now properly officered and established, with the result that he could give his attention to other interests.

The banquet, at which Henry W. Gauding was toastmaster, was addressed by Messrs. Woodhull, Cohen, Davis, O'Toole, Brylawski and Seider.

When Mr. Seider was called upon, he read to Governor Pinchot a resolution of appreciation and good-will adopted by the convention, in which the national officers concurred heartily. The Governor's co-operation with exhibitors on censorship matters was stressed.

Governor Pinchot was then introduced and made a pleasing speech, which met with marked favor from those present. He pointed out the importance of the exhibitor by saying that the number of picture theatres in Pennsylvania, as in the United States, exceeded the number of newspapers.

Twenty delegates will go from the Western Pennsylvania unit to Los Angeles. The convention re-elected the same officers who served this year.

Theatre Employees Are Guilty of Violation

Twelve theatre employees in St. Petersburg, Fla., were fined $75 each in the City Court for violation of the Sunday-closing ordinance. One of the twelve, C. J. Clark, failed to pay the $75 and was given a jail sentence of fifty days. A writ of habeas corpus was applied for by his attorney and Judge Freeman P. Lane, of the Circuit Court, ordered his release on bonds of $100. The Judge has not set a date as yet for the hearing of the writ, but it is expected to come up next week.

Swedish Film Trust Now Less Active

According to a statement from the Department of Commerce to the Commerce Attache at Stockholm, the financial report of the Aktb Svensk Filmindustri indicates that the virtual monopoly of this Swedish film trust has been curtailed. The balance sheet for the year 1925 totalled about three times less than at the close of the previous year. Paid-in capital on the last statement date stood at 10,000,000 crowns, having been written down from 35,000,000 crowns during the course of the year. The company's surplus and undivided profits were entirely wiped out under the new financial set-up, and holdings in real estate decreased from about 25,000,000 crowns to less than 5,000,000 crowns during the fiscal year under review.

At the close of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924, the film trust owned about 51,000 shares in 33 different companies. The company's last statement indicates that shares held on last statement date totalled about 44,700 in only 21 enterprises of this kind. The 51,000 shares held on June 30, 1924, were carried at about 7,000,000 crowns on the company's balance sheet. A year later the number of shares held had been reduced by 6,300 shares, but the book value shrank by some 2,120,000 crowns.

Lawton and Easton Bills Discussed by R. I.

The Rhode Island Senate Judiciary Committee devoted nearly two hours to a discussion of the Lawton and Easton bills, enacted in the House, in an effort to determine the status of the Lawton bill, which some declare is nullified by subsequent passage of the Easton bill, while others hold that the Lawton bill is in force. The Lawton bill would permit motion picture theatres to open after three p.m. Sundays. The committee adjourned without coming to any decision. Chairman William C. Pelkey, of the Republican State Central Committee, sent a letter to the committee, declaring Sunday motion picture entertainments should be regulated uniformly throughout the State by a State law.

Kans. & Mo. Exhibitors Will Run Adv. Slides

An agreement has been reached between exhibitors of St. Joseph, Mo., a town of 80,000 population, and C. E. Cook, business manager of the M. P. T. O. Kansas-Missouri, whereby the theatre owners will run advertising slides, the revenue to go into the treasury of the organization. Such a deal recently was completed in Kansas City, Mo., and similar agreements are expected to be made in Topeka, Kans., and Wichita, Kans., which would swell the financial standing of the organization to a point where important work, which long has been contemplated, could be carried out.

Burglars Loot Safe of Mamaroneck Theatre

The Mamaroneck Playhouse in Mamaroneck, was robbed early this week of $2,000, the week-end receipts, by burglars who knocked off the combination of the safe. They entered by climbing a fire-escape to the roof and breaking through a skylight.

Paramount--Exhibitors Get Together

Two Thousand Theatre Men Hold One Day Meetings With Famous Executives to Analyze Forthcoming Productions

IN thirty-six cities throughout the United State meetings are being held this week in which 2,000 exhibitors will get together with Paramount district and branch managers in co-operation with home office executives for the purpose of analyzing the Paramount fifteenth anniversary group of pictures. Paramount officials believe these conferences will be the forerunner of national gatherings of theatre men, sales force and producers for the purpose of becoming informed regarding Paramount product.

Cities in which these conventions are being held include New Haven, Portland, Me.; Boston, New York, Brooklyn, New Jersey, Washington, Philadelphia, Wilkes-Barre, Albany, Buffalo, Charlotte, Memphis, Atlanta, Jacksonville, Columbus, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Louisville, Milwaukee, Chicago, Peoria, Detroit, Kansas City, St. Louis, Des Moines, Omaha, Salt Lake City, Denver, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Portland, Seattle, Minneapolis, Sioux Falls, New Orleans, San Antonio, Dallas, Oklahoma City.

An entire day is being devoted to each meeting, with roll call at 9:30 a.m., followed by a complete analysis of the pictures by the visiting speaker. Luncheon is being served at 1, and at 2 the exhibitors are asked to assemble again to view a twelve-reel picture prepared by the production department. Dinner is being served at 6:30, after which there are short talks by theatre men and company representatives.

In its twelve-reel subject the production department has sought to present vividly its plans for the new season. Sequences from new pictures are shown; the artists and directors are pictured in their completed features or on the sets of forthcoming product. The picture, in the minds of company executives, presents a clear and well-defined conception of Paramount's plans for 1926 and 1927, and its expansive facilities with which to produce these specials.

At the meeting in New York, Sidney R. Kent, general manager of Paramount, said, in part:

"To us men of Paramount this is one of the most momentous and significant gatherings in the history of our business. . . . This program is the greatest achievement in the history of our company, . . . but for the moment I am not going to talk about our pictures, for I want to explain to you why we are holding this meeting. This group of pictures, which we will describe later, represents an investment of $22,000,000. But it represents even more than that. It is the result of the sweat, agony and mental force of a vast organization of men and women. . . .

"These men and women of the production department of Paramount turned over to us of the distribution department at our Atlantic City convention this group of pictures and together, producers and salesmen, we sat down and analyzed this product, picture by picture.

"Now we are carrying our work one step further. . . . Whether you buy these pictures or not does not enter into this question. We feel that it is our duty to tell you what we have planned to lay down before you, what we have done and we are going to do.

"In the beginning I said that this was a momentous and significant gathering. It is significant because at last all three branches of this industry have come to a realization that so far as pictures are concerned, at least, we have a common bond and a common purpose. We come into this meeting with only one object, and that is to acquaint you with every detail concerning our production plans and achievements for next season. . . . We are proud of these pictures, and we are proud of the fact that we can come to you and meet you in a room like this and show you what you will have for your theatre next year."

"Tin Gods" to be Next for Meighan

PARAMOUNT has selected "Tin Gods," the stage play by William Anthony McGuire, as the next vehicle which Thomas Meighan will make at the Long Island studios. Paul Dickey and Howard Emmett Rogers are working on the adaptation of the play and will join Meighan who is at Sulphur Springs, W. Va., in a few days for a conference regarding the story.

Ralph Ince To Play And Direct Circus Picture

The "heavy" role in "Bigger Than Barnum's" will be played by Ralph Ince, who will also direct this first Gold Bond production to be released by Film Booking Offices during the coming season. The cast includes Viola Dana, George O'Hara and Ralph Lewis. Production on the picture is now well under way.

Rockett Picks Bartlett to Title "Puppets"

Don Bartlett, formerly scenario editor of Inspiration Pictures, Inc., having completed titling of the Robert Kane production, "The Wilderness Woman," has been signed by Al Rockett to title his First National production, "Puppets," starring Milton Sills.

Paramount executives attending exhibitor conventions, left to right: Phil Reisman, eastern sales division manager; S. R. Kent, general manager; G. W. Weeks, general manager of the department of distribution, and J. D. Clark, western sales division manager

Five in May from First Nat'l

Schedule of Releases Includes One from Colleen Moore and Barthelmess

FIRST NATIONAL announces that, in accordance with its policy of giving good pictures to the exhibitor during the summer season, it will release five productions during May, including Colleen Moore's latest, "Ella Cinders," and "Ranson's Folly," which Richard Barthelmess has just completed. The other three are "Sweet Daddies," "Miss Nobody" and "The Wise Guy."

"Ella Cinders" will be released on May 30. This production was directed by Alfred E. Green and the cast supporting Miss Moore includes Lloyd Hughes, Vera Lewis, Jed Prouty and Mike Donlin. Julian Josephson wrote the continuity.

Dorothy Mackaill has the principal role in support of Barthelmess in "Ranson's Folly," which was directed by Sidney Olcott. The story is an adaptation of Richard Harding Davis' story of army life of an earlier period. It will be released on May 2.

"Sweet Daddies," an adaptation of the "Saturday Evening Post" story, "Buccaneers of the Bahamas," is a May 9 release. Al Santell directed and the cast includes Charlie Murray, George Sidney, Vera Gordon, Kate Price, Jack Mulhall, Gaston Glass and Jobyna Ralston.

"Miss Nobody," the release for May 15, is an adaptation of the Tiffany Wells story, "Shebo." Anna Q. Nilsson plays the leading role and the cast includes Walter Pidgeon, Mitchell Lewis, Jed Prouty, Clyde Cook and Arthur Stone. Lamber Hillyer directed.

"The Wise Guy," the Frank Lloyd production, is based on a story by Jules Furthman, adapted by Adele Rogers St. John. The wise guy is James Kirkwood and he is supported by Mary Astor, George Cooper, Mary Carry, Betty Compson and others.

Pathe to Film Expeditions

News Editor Cohen Announces List of Events to be Photographed by Staff

IN an announcement of plans for the 1926-27 season, Emanuel Cohen, editor of Pathe News, this week outlined the list of exploration and scientific events which the Pathe News reel release will contain. In his statement Cohen declares that six expeditions will be filmed, including the Wilkins-Detroit Arctic exploration, the Harrison-Williams trip to Greenland, the Mann-Smithsonian expedition to Africa and the Byrd expedition to the North Pole.

The trans-Polar flight of the Wilkins-Detroit Arctic expedition, under the leadership of Capt. George H. Wilkins, Arctic explorer and war aviator, is being made with the backing of the American Geographical Society and the Detroit Aviation Society. The entire pictorial record of the flight will be photographed by Earl Rossman and Will Hudson.

The Byrd expedition to the North Pole is under the leadership of Lieut. Commander Richard E. Byrd, U. S. N., who was commander of the naval section of the recent MacMillan Arctic expedition. Cameramen Vanderveer and Donahue will film this expedition.

Emmanuel Cohen, of Pathe News, bidding farewell to Commander Byrd, leader of the Arctic expedition bearing his name, for which Pathe News has secured exclusive film rights. Left to right—Cameraman Vanderveer, Emmanuel Cohen, Commander Byrd, George Putman and Cameraman Robert Donahue

The Harrison-Williams expedition to North Greenland and Baffin Bay in June is for the purpose of collecting material for the American Museum of Natural History. Maurice Kellerman, Pathe cameraman, will make a pictorial record of the trip. George Palmer Putnam, publisher and organizer of the expedition, goes as leader; Capt. Robert Bartlett, captain of Peary's boat on his historic trip of discovery, will be master of the Greenland expedition trip.

An airplane flight over Mount Everest will be attempted by Lieutenant Callizo. Plans have been perfected whereby Pathe Cameraman Ercole will accompany Lieutenant Callizo on this airplane mission.

The record attempt to gird the world in twenty-five days will be taken in motion pictures that are to present scenes of motion with human interest from all lands. This trip will be made by Capt. Linton Wells, long a soldier of fortune, and Edward Evans, Sr., Detroit sportsman.

The Smithsonian expedition to the African jungle will be led by Dr. William M. Mann, superintendent of the National Zoo. The object of the expedition is to bring back alive, for exhibition in the National Zoological Park at Washington, approximately 100 species of wild animals never before seen in America and other African animals at present very rare in this country. Charles Charleton, representing Pathe News, will make a complete record of the trip in motion pictures.

New B. Roosevelt Feature For A. E.

"The Dangerous Dub," the screen rights of which were purchased last week from Frank L. Inghram by Lester F. Scott, will go into production shortly under the direction of Richard Thorpe as the first Buddy Roosevelt feature for Associated Exhibitors release.

Touchon, Dallas Booker for A. E., Promoted

C. D. Touchon, booker in Dallas for Associated Exhibitors, has been advanced by E. J. Smith to the position of manager of the same exchange. Touchon has spent over ten years in the Dallas territory, and at one time was connected with the Selznick organization.

Bellman Forms Hollywood Pictures Corporation

JACK BELLMAN, until recently executive head of Renown Pictures, has launched his own distributing enterprise under the name of Hollywood Pictures Corporation and will be located at 729 7th Avenue, New York City.

Bellman has signed contracts with Lumas Film Corporation for distribution of the entire product of that company, consisting of twenty pictures, and with the Ginsberg-Kann Corporation for which he will handle six Banner and twelve Sterling productions.

Bellman further announces that in addition he will also distribute special productions which prove to be of unusual merit.

Warners Announce 26 for Next Year

Schedule Outlined at Convention in Chicago By Jack Warner; Says More Money Will Be Spent on Fewer Pictures

WARNER BROTHERS' production schedule for next season calls for a program of twenty-six feature pictures based on novels and plays by well-known authors and original scripts, according to the announcement issued to the company's executives and sales heads by Jack Warner, production chief, at the company's sectional convention, held at Chicago last Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

In announcing the schedule, Jack Warner said that while the number of productions will be under the mark for last season, when forty pictures were made by Warner, more time will be spent on the production of each and more money expended on the twenty-six than was spent on the forty released during the current year.

During the course of the convention, it was announced that Harry M. Warner, president of the company, would depart for Europe in the near future to personally supervise the opening productions to be made by the company there. Warners are to produce in Germany, France and England.

The list of productions which will comprise the twenty-six Warner Winners, as the company's 1926-27 pictures will be known, follows:

Monte Blue, in "The Brute," by W. Douglas Newton, directed by Millard Webb. "My Official Wife," with Irene Rich as the star of this adaptation of Richard Henry Savage's stage play, to be directed by Millard Webb.

Dolores Costello, in "The College Widow," by George Ade. Directed by Lewis Milestone. "Hills of Kentucky" is a Rin-Tin-Tin starring vehicle, by Leroy Whitney, to be directed by Herman Raymaker. "Millionaires," from the novel, "The Inevitable Millionaires," by E. Phillips Oppenheim, in which Louise Fazenda will be starred with Willard Louis. Directed by Roy Del Ruth.

"What Happened to Father," a Patsy Ruth Miller starring vehicle, by Mary Roberts Rinehart. Lewis Milestone will direct. Another of the Dolores Costello starring vehicles will be "Irish Hearts," by Walter Morosco, to be directed by Millard Webb.

Irene Rich, in "The Climbers," by Clyde Fitch. "Bitter Apples," a Monte Blue starring vehicle, is by Harold MacGrath. James Flood will direct.

"Dearie," by Carolyn Wells, starring Louise Fazenda and Willard Louis.

Patsy Ruth Miller will be seen in an Arthur Somers Roche story, as yet untitled. "What Every Girl Should Know" will be presented with a selected cast and will have direction by James Flood. The story is by John Wagner.

What is described as the year's champion thriller will be "Across the Pacific," a Monte Blue starring vehicle, by Charles E. Blaney. Herman Raymaker will direct. "Don't Tell the Wife," starring Irene Rich. E. T. Lowe, Jr., is the author and Roy Del Ruth will direct.

"Midnight Sun" Premiere, Colony, April 23

THE world's premiere performance of "The Midnight Sun," Universal's production dealing with life in the Russian court, will be held at the Colony theatre, New York City, on Friday evening, April 23.

Laura La Plante and Pat O'Malley are starred in this picture which was directed by Dimitri Buchowetzki. The remainder of the cast consists of Arthur Hoyt, Cesare Gravina, Earl Metcalf, M. Vavitch, Nickoli Soussanin, Nina Romanol, Medea Radsina, Albert Prisco, and George B. Williams.

The story was adapted from the novel by Laurids Bruun by A. P. Younger. Edward Kilyeni is arranging a special music score for the production. Two performances a day will be given.

Educational Holds Three Sessions

Executives are Enthusiastic Over Line-Up of Product for New Season; "The Vision" is Subject of Much Discussion

EDUCATIONAL home office representatives have returned to New York and the exchange managers are already launched on an intensive selling campaign in their respective territories, after concluding what is considered by all concerned the most successful series of meets ever held by the Educational organization.

The first of the three two-day conventions was held in New York City at the McAlpin Hotel, at which all exchanges in the Eastern part of the country, as well as Canada, were represented, in addition to the home office executives. The next session was held in Chicago, at the Congress Hotel, at which all managers from the Central part of the country convened, and the last meeting, in which the far Western and Pacific Coast managers participated, was held at the Albany Hotel, Denver.

Executives from the home office who attended all three meetings included E. W. Hammons, president of Educational; A. S. Kirkpatrick, assistant general manager; J. R. Wilson, acting domestic sales manager; Gordon S. White, director of advertising and publicity, and Harvey Day, Kinograms sales manager. All three sessions were attended by Arthur Lucas, special Southern representative, and Sidney Brennecke, West Coast representative; R. L. Hoadley, Los Angeles publicity representative, was present at the Denver convention.

"The Vision," the first of six Romance productions done in Technicolor, was screened at all the meetings and was the subject of much discussion. This two-reel production will be released immediately, and the remainder of the series will be put on the market at the beginning of the new season. Plans for a large exploitation campaign and the preparation of a large assortment of exhibitor aids were discussed.

Bruno Weyers, vice-president of the company, spoke on loyalty and co-operation at the New York session, and Gordon S. White outlined plans for the most comprehensive campaign of national advertising ever undertaken by the company. Delegates were advised that plans included twenty-five full-page advertisements in the leading motion picture "fan" magazines. E. H. Allen, general manager of the Christie Studios, and Carroll Trowbridge, Christie New York representative, also spoke at the New York session.

Pat Dowling, representing the Christie Studio, attended the three meetings. Charles Christie, general manager of the Christie Film Company, and Jack White, director general of the Educational Studio, arrived in Chicago in time to address the managers there.

One of the interesting announcements made at the meetings was the fact that 750 new accounts have been added to the books of the various Educational exchanges within the last couple of months.

An outstanding feature of the conventions was the scarcity of new faces, most of the managers present having been with Educational for several years.

Weird Cast Will Appear in "Fine Manners"

The cast of Gloria Swanson's latest Paramount picture, "Fine Manners," will have the following museum and circus attractions: Red Ball, the human volcano; Ajax, king of swords; Tillie, the bearded lady; Carrie Holt, fat lady; William J. Hart, glass blower; Rubber Neck Joe, elastic-skinned man; Carl Gulliver, giant; Joe Lessing, dwarf; Achilles, strong man, and Ruhl's sixty trained circus fleas.

Ben Stoloff Signs Two-Year Fox Contract

Ben Stoloff, member of the Fox staff of comedy directors for two and one-half years, has signed a two-year contract with Fox. He has just completed "A-1 Society," his eighteenth comedy for this company.

Pathe Convention Held in New York

Home Office and Field Sales Force Enthused Over Harry Scott's New "Personal Sales Organization Plan"

HOME office and sales executives from all over the country met last week in New York City at the Hotel Roosevelt for the annual Pathe convention, which started on April 19 and lasted throughout the week. The keynote of the gathering was the unanimous approval of Sales Manager Harry Scott's new sales organization plan.

Elmer Pearson, vice-president and general manager of Pathe, delivered the opening address on Monday morning and thanked the assembled men for the part they had played in making the past year the most successful the organization has ever had. After stating his hearty approval of the new sales organization plan, Pearson outlined the product to be distributed during the coming year and prophesied an even greater volume of business over the past year's fine showing.

General Sales Manager Harry Scott delivered a high-powered sales talk in explaining the new "personal contact sales system" and its workings.

The Monday afternoon session was opened by Paul Fuller, Jr., president, followed by an address by E. C. Lynch, chairman of the board of directors of Pathe Exchange, Inc.

John C. Ragland, general sales manager of the Harold Lloyd Corporation, briefly addressed the visitors and greeted them in the name of his principal and wished them a most successful convention.

Following Mr. Ragland's address, the meeting was turned over to General Sales Manager Scott for an exhaustive discussion of future sales policies.

Tuesday's sessions were devoted to a detailed discussion of the Pathe product. In the morning, E. Oswald Brooks spoke upon Pathe serials and W. A. V. Mack discussed short subjects. At the afternoon period, Pat Campbell talked upon features and Stanley B. Waite dealt with two-reel comedies.

On Wednesday morning, the first speaker on the program was J. T. Richards, manager of the supply department. The next speaker was Mrs. Elizabeth Richey Dessez, manager of the educational department. Her talk was followed by a general discussion. S. Barret McCormick, director of exploitation and publicity, spoke on exploitation. P. A. Parsons, advertising manager, outlined the advertising plans for the year and what they aim to accomplish.

Following luncheon at the Roosevelt, the afternoon session was opened with an address by George Gray, editor of the "Pathe Sun," the organization's house organ. Harry Lewis, manager of the art department, delivered an address on the place of art in film advertising and exploitation.

Emanuel Cohen, editor of the Pathe News and Pathe Review, delivered an informative talk on the elaborate plans for these popular subjects. A sales discussion followed. W. C. Smith, comptroller of Pathe, discussed "Cutting the Overhead." L. S. Diamond, manager of the sales statistical department, delivered a talk on branch operation.

Thursday morning's activities consisted of addresses by the following executives: Paul Fuller, Jr., president; E. C. Lynch, chairman of the board of directors; Elmer Pearson, vice-president and general manager; John Humm, treasurer; Lewis Innerarity, secretary. Luncheon was held at the Roosevelt.

Mack Sennett, comedy producer, the first speaker of the afternoon, delivered a talk on the making of comedy films. He was followed by Peter L. Carroll, his Eastern representative. The producers' dinner was held at the Roosevelt Hotel on Thursday evening. President Paul Fuller, Jr., presided as toastmaster.

On Friday morning, the members of the convention visited the Studios of Fables Pictures, Inc., where Aesop's Film Fables are produced, and also the editorial offices of Timely Films, Inc., producers of Topics of the Day. Upon returning to the convention hall, the visitors were addressed by George Byrnes on Topics of the Day and by Charles MacDonald, who discussed Aesop's Film Fables. James A. FitzPatrick, producer of the Famous Melody Series, spoke on his subjects.

Oscar Price, president of Associated Exhibitors, Inc., whose product receives its physical distribution through the Pathe exchanges, gave an address. Grantland Rice, noted sports writer, spoke on Sportlights, the single-reel subject produced by Mr. Rice and J. L. Hawkinson.

Hal Roach, noted comedy producer, the first speaker Friday afternoon, explained how and why he had brought feature stars to the two-reel comedy films. He was followed by W. B. Frank, vice-president and Eastern representative of the Roach Studios.

The convention was brought to a close with an address delivered by Harry Scott.

M.-G.-M. to Release Two U. F. A. Productions

THE two U. F. A. productions, "Faust" and "The Last Waltz," will be distributed for this coming season by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

In "Faust" Emil Jannings will play the part of Mephisto, Camilla Horn will be Marguerite, Gosta Ekmann, Faust, and Yvette Guilbert will enact Martha. F. W. Murnau is the director.

"The Waltz Dream," is a version of the opera by Oscar Straus and the novel by Hans Mueller. Ludwig Berger will direct Mady Christians, Willy Fritsch and Xenia Desni in the leading roles.

M. P. T. O. A. Bill For Music Tax Relief

Introduced by Chairman of House Patents Committee Strikes Directly at Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers

CONGRESSMAN VESTAL of Indiana, Chairman of the House Committee on Patents, has introduced, in the name of the M. P. T. O. A., a bill to revise the present copyright laws with reference to the music tax.

This fact was officially announced at the convention of the M. P. T. O. of Western Pennsylvania, held in Pittsburgh this week, by A. Julian Brylawski, of the Administrative Committee of the national organization.

The amendment to the copyright bill was drawn by Fulton Brylawski, of Washington, D. C., special copyright counsel for the M. P. T. O. A. The measure introduced by Representative Vestal is not in the form prepared by Mr. Brylawski, but it embodies the general principles.

It is the intention of the sponsors of the bill, it was explained by Julian Brylawski to the Pittsburgh convention, to redraft the Vestal amendment to include the amendment as drawn by Attorney Fulton Brylawski. The latter measure strikes directly at the existence of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

The proposed Brylawski amendment would recognize the principle that the composer of a musical composition should be entitled to restrict any public performance thereof for profit, but it provides when such composition was published for public playing, that the purchaser should know at the time of purchase whether the composition could be publicly played, and, if so, the price to be charged for public playing.

Penalties were to be provided for accepting or exacting any fee or royalty other

(Continued on page 2018)

Kunsky Acquires Half More Detroit Houses

THE Kunsky Theatrical Enterprises of Detroit have this week acquired, through their general manager, George W. Trendle, a half interest in the Kramer and Martha Washington Theatres located on Michigan and Joseph Campau Avenues, respectively. A new 2,000 dollar house will also be erected shortly in the same city.

Herman Raymaker Signs Warner Contract

Raymond L. Schrock, in the absence of Jack Warner, who is busy with conventions, has announced the renewal of Herman Raymaker's contract. As soon as Rin-Tin-Tin returns from his country-wide tour Raymaker will start work on the next production, as yet untitled, in which the dog star appears. Raymaker has also been assigned one of the comedy hits on the Warner 1926-27 schedule.

In the Oppenheim story, "The Passionate Quest," which Marion Constance Blackton has adapted to the screen, Willard Louis will support May MacAvoy in an important role. William Koenig is now supervising preparations for the sets of the story, which J. Stuart Blackton will direct.

F. P. L. Appoints Wobber European Executive

Herman Wobber, Pacific Coast Paramount district manager, has been appointed by Adolph Zukor to the board of directors of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation. Wobber recently returned from Europe from a six months survey of distributing conditions. He will sail again for Europe in about a month as a member of the executive committee in charge of Paramount affairs in Europe. This committee consists of Cecil Graham, chairman in charge of finance; Herman Wobber, in charge of distribution, and Albert Kaufman in charge of exhibition.

Arnold Gray to Play Lead in Melford Production

The leading male role in "The Flame of the Yukon," which George Melford is directing for Metropolitan Pictures, will be played by Arnold Gray, who will appear with Seena Owen in its production. The late Thomas Ince produced the same picture nearly nine years ago with Kenneth Harlan in the leading role. In the present production. Matthew Betz, Jack McDonald, Winifred Greenwood and Vadin Urnoff have important parts.

Herman Wobber, who has been elected a member of the board of directors of Famous Players-Lasky Corp.

Jackie Coogan

JACKIE COOGAN'S NEXT M-G-M IS "Johnny Get Your Hair Cut"

A STORY of the race track, "Johnny Get Your Hair Cut," has been selected as the next vehicle for Jackie Coogan by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. This story, writen especially for Jackie by Gerald Beaumont, will show the child star in a more mature role, that of a young jockey at the Latonia track in Kentucky.

The title of the picture bears reference to the haircut that Jackie is soon to go through with, and much of the action in the new film centers around this incident in the life of the young star. John Coogan, Sr., will supervise the new production.

P. D. C. Meets in Los Angeles

Morgan Announces Plans for Convention to be Held May 3-8 Inclusive

PRELIMINARY plans for the Producers Distributing Corporation convention, to be held at the Ambassador Hotel, in Los Angeles, starting May 3, were announced this week by W. J. Morgan, sales manager of the corporation.

The first three days will be devoted to business discussions and addresses by the executives of both the studio and distributing branches of the company. The last two days will be given over to visiting the De Mille, Metropolitan and Christie Studios, and a big banquet and ball will be held on Thursday night.

All district and branch managers and the district representatives from every section of the country will attend the convention. These, with the delegation from the home office, will total eighty representatives from the distributing force, and this number will be augmented by representatives from the company's Canadian and foreign affiliations and all the salesmen and bookers from the Westrn branch offices, who will also attend the convention.

The executives and home office officials who will be in attendance will include F. C. Munroe, John C. Flinn, W. J. Morgan, H. O. Duke, Jim Flinn, Ralph Clark, Ralph Morrow and George Harvey. The foreign field will be represented by William Vogel, president of Producers International Corporation; Tom Brady, Canadian representative, and Phil Kaufman, sales manager of Regal Films, distributors of Producers Distributing Corporation releases in Canada.

Pathe Lists Week's Product

Schedule Includes Roach and Sennett Two Reelers and New Melody One Reel

INCLUDED in the Pathe schedule of releases for May 2nd are "Songs of the Northern States," one of the Famous Melody series, "A Yankee Doodle Duke," a Hal Roach two-reeler with Clyde Cook, a Mack Sennett two-reel comedy with Ralph Graves, "Nervous Moments," a Grantland Rice Sportlight, a chapter of the "The Bar-C Mystery," "Farm Hands," one of the Æsop's Fables, an issue of Topics of the Day, Pathe Review and two issues of Pathe News.

"Songs of the Northern States" is the first of two subjects in the Famous Melody Series devoted to the United States. Peggy Shaw is featured in these Pathe pictures produced by James A. FitzPatrick. Songs used in this release are: "Jungle Bells," "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," "Home, Sweet Home," "Pop Goes the Weasel," "Seeing Nellie Home," and "Old Dan Tucker."

"Scared Stiff" stars Clyde Cook, who is supported by Eileen Percy, Stuart Holmes, James Mack and Shirley Palmer. James W. Horne directed.

"A Yankee Doodle Duke" is a Mack Sennett two-reel comedy with Ralph Graves, supported by Ruth Taylor, Dale Fuller, Patsy O'Byrne, Marvin Lobach and Thelma Hill. Charles Lamont directed.

"Nervous Moments," a Grantland Rice Sportlight, shows that every sport has its nervous moments—moments when the players are tense as wires and the spectators are thrilling with anticipation.

"Perilous Paths" is the second chapter of the Pathe serial "The Bar-C Mystery." Dorothy Phillips is starred in this C. W. Patton production. In this chapter, a handsome cowboy rides into the life of Jane Cortelyou. He offers to become her ranch manager and is accepted. While he is away gathering an outfit, exciting adventures befall the heroine.

Pathe Review No. 18 offers: "Feathered Freaks," cockatoos and their cousins in the roles of household pets; "The Magic Eye," how the microscope reveals "The Mystery of Heat"; and Leland Stanford University scenes in Pathe color.

"Farm Hands," one of Æsop's Film Fables; Topics of the Day No. 18; and two issues of Pathe News complete the May 2nd Pathe short feature schedule.

Luther A. Reed

REED AND ROSSON ELEVATED TO

Directors of Paramount Productions

WILLIAM LE BARON, associate producer at Paramount's Long Island studio, this week announced the early promotion to directors of Luther Reed, supervising editor, and Richard Rosson, assistant director. Reed's first picture will be "Love 'Em and Leave 'Em," Esther Ralston's first starring vehicle; Rosson's first production will be started in the near future.

Reed broke into the picture business via Metro and the Ince studios on the coast, after five years on the staff of the New York Herald. He worked as script and adaption writer for these companies and then joined Cosmopolitan in New York, where he did the continuity for several Marion Davies' productions, after which he became a member of the Paramount forces. Since becoming associated with Famous, Reed has worked chiefly on the Richard Dix pictures and also assisted on the script for the W. C. Field's starring production, "It's the Old Army Game."

Rosson first worked as an actor at the Vitagraph plant for three years and then joined the Ince studios after which he went to Famous where he played a part in an Allan Dwan production. Dwan then took him to Universal as assistant director and he later became his director brother's assistant. After working for his brother and later with F. B. O. he returned to Dwan and worked as his assistant until last summer when he was appointed assistant director on the Thomas Meighan production, "Irish Luck."

United Artists Schedule Five

Fairbanks, Pickford and Valentino Vehicles listed for Autumn Release

OF the fifteen releases scheduled for release by United Artists for the new season, five have been definitely listed for distribution, the first of which, ''Stella Dallas,'' will go to the exhibitors on August 29.

Rudolph Valentino's newest picture, ''Son of the Sheik,'' with Vilma Banky, will be released September 5th, on September 12 Douglas Fairbank's ''The Black Pirate,'' will be put on the market and on September 19 ''Sparrows,'' the Mary Pickford starring production will be released.

Samuel Goldwyn's presentation of the Henry King production, ''The Winning of Barbara Worth,'' from the Harold Bell Wright novel, with Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky is listed for September 26 release.

Other productions to follow at early Fall and Winter dates will be Charlie Chaplin's feature comedy, ''The Circus''; Buster Keaton's first comedy for United Artists, ''The General''; two John Barrymore productions; another from Mary Pickford as well as a second from Rudolph Valentino, and the Samuel Goldwyn-George Fitzmaurice production, ''Beauty and the Beast,'' from the Delineator serial by Kathleen Norris, with Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky in the featured roles.

Advertising and exploitation campaigns on the five pictures already scheduled, as well as for a number of the other features have been prepared. These features will be at the disposal of the small town exhibitors as well as the metropolitan theatres, at dates closely approximating their general release dates.

Portable Radio for Warners

Broadcasting Apparatus to Tour Country; Scientific Data For Government

A PORTABLE radio broadcasting station, sent out by Warner Brothers in the interest of publicity for Warner pictures and also to study radio conditions for the Radio Division of the Department of Commerce of the United States, will be sent on a tour starting May 4, that will circle the globe before it has finished its mission.

The new station is 6XBR and it has been christened the Betty Warner in honor of H. M. Warner's daughter, whose birthday falls on the day the station departs from Hollywood. The station will be in charge of Frank Murphy, chief engineer of the Warner station in Hollywood, KFWB. It will report to the coast station every night in code from 11 to 11:30 on a 40-meter wave length.

A contest will be inaugurated for radio amateurs and $1,000 will be given in prizes to those operators who turn in the most authentic report of the conversation carried on between the portable and the coast station. The portable set will have a 250-Watt power and will be complete in every detail, enabling it to cover a thousand mile area on its own power.

Tie-ups have been arranged by Murphy, whereby the programs put on through the portable will be picked up by several outside stations and rebroadcast.

Exchanges of Warner Bros. will co-operate with local exhibitors showing Warner pictures in the arrangement of programs, which will vary in each city. The portable radio wil park in front of the theatre and the microphone will be put on the stage, from where the broadcasting will be done.

Exhibitors will be given ample time to complete all final necessary arrangements before the arrival of the portable radio in their city. The operator of the station will wire each theatre or Warner exchange the day before he is scheduled to arrive in a city so as to verify previous dates made. Numerous stunts will be arranged for the reception of the traveling station in each city. The station will spend part of the night broadcasting and proceed the next morning for the next stop.

In the main the portable station will visit all of the larger cities from coast to coast, but stops will be made at intermediate points where the necessary arrangements are completed.

Lloyd Adds Two New Gag Men to Staff

With the addition of two vaudeville and musical comedy writers to the scenario staff, preparations have been completed for the filming of Harold Lloyd's second comedy for Paramount release. While in New York, Production Manager John L. Murphy engaged Ben Burt and Seymour Brown, stage writers, for the staff which will prepare the story and gags. They have just arrived in Los Angeles and will begin work immediately.

De Mille Contract for H. B. Warner

H. B. Warner has been signed to a long-time contract by Cecil B. De Mille, according to a report from the De Mille Studio. Warner's first picture under the new arrangement has not yet been decided upon.

H. B. Warner, signed by C. B. De Mille to long term contract.

Walter Lang To Direct "The Golden Web"

Sam Sax has signed Walter Lang to a contract whereby the latter will direct "The Golden Web," the first of the Gotham 1926-27 productions. Lang had much experience in the newspaper business before he entered upon a theatrical career from which he entered the films as assistant director and production manager. His initial directorial activities were in evidence when he worked under the Cosmopolitan Banner.

Sheldon Transferred To West Coast Studio

Lloyd Sheldon, for the last year and a half senior supervising editor at the Paramount Long Island Studio, is due to arrive in Hollywood on May 1st to assume a similar office in the West Coast Studio. He will be permanently connected with the Bebe Daniel's comedy unit and will start work shortly on "The College Flirt."

Kathleen Collins Signed To Contract By Rogers

Following her work as leading woman opposite Harry Carey in the Rogers' production "Satan Town," Kathleen Collins has been signed to a five-year contract by Charles R. Rogers. Previous to her work in feature pictures, Miss Collins played comedy leads.

"The Gay Deceiver" Replaces "Toto" Title

The title of "Toto" has been changed to "The Gay Deceiver." This M-G-M production features Lew Cody and Marceline Day, Malcolm MacGregor and Dorothy Phillips in his support.

Bob Custer to Make New Series for F. B. O.

THROUGH arrangements concluded with Jesse Goldburg, producer of the Bob Custer starring vehicles, the western star will appear in a new series of eight pictures to be released through Film Booking Offices. He is now working on "The Valley of Bravery" and two more pictures are to be made to complete his present contract with F. B. O.

Goldburg plans to make the new series bigger and better than those in which the star is now appearing. More money, time and scenery will be put in the new productions and the negative cost increased accordingly.

WINFIELD SHEEHAN ANNOUNCES COMPLETE CAST FOR "WHAT PRICE GLORY"

WINFIELD R. SHEEHAN, general manager of Fox Films, this week made definite and final announcement of the assignment of players for "What Price Glory," the screen version of the successful stage play by Laurence Stallings, which Raoul Walsh will direct.

The roles and their impersonators are as follows: "Captain Flagg," Victor McLaglen; "Charmaine de la Cognac," Dolores Del Rio; "First Sergeant Quirt," Edmund Lowe; "Sergeant Ferguson," J. Farrell McDonald; "Lieutenant Moore," Leslie Fenton; "Private Mulcahy," Ted Moore; "Corporal Lipinsky," Samuel Cohen and "Private Lewisohn," Barry Reid.

Both McLaglen and McDonald have had regular army experience.

Talmadge to Make Six for "U"

Stunt Star's Productions to be Released as Specials; Sold Separately

RICHARD TALMADGE has been signed by Universal to make a series of six productions, to be released as specials. These pictures are planned on a larger scale than those made heretofore by this stunt artist. The titles selected for the six productions are "Look Who's Here," an adaptation of the Max Brand story, "The Black Rider"; "The Speed Boy," "Cheating Danger," "The Hurry-up Man," "Up and at 'Em" and "The Flash Kid."

A. Carlos, of Carlos Productions, under whose management Talmadge works, states that each production made will cost in the region of $175,000, thus insuring good stories, direction and technical work. Carlos has left New York for the Coast, where he will start work on the new series.

These productions will not be Westerns in any sense of the word, says Universal, but will be action dramas with good comedy.

Universal, in collaboration with Jules Bernstein, of Carlos Productions, is now preparing the sales drive, as these productions are aimed for the first-run houses. Universal states that the advertising, exploitation and publicity campaign on these pictures will be as intensive as that usually devoted to its super-productions.

M-G-M Has Large Writing Staff

Seventy-one Novelists, Playwrights and Scenarists Preparing Material

ONE of the largest staffs of writers ever gathered at one studio has been collected by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer at its Culver City Studio to prepare stories, continuities, and write titles for the coming seasons' program, sixty per cent. of which will be from original stories.

A total of seventy-one writers, including Ernest Pascal and John Colton, well-known authors; Marc Connelly, Broadway playwright, and a number of recognized scenarists including Waldemar Young, Elliott J. Clawson and Harvey Gates are now working at the M.G.M. plant.

Joe Farnham, Katherine Hilliker, Captain H. H. Caldwell and Ruth Cummings are among those who will write the titles for next season's product.

Among the writers may also be classed Elinor Glyn, although her work is more that of a creator of pictures since she supervises her own productions in all details.

Besides the writers on the staff, the studio controls a great number of published stories, plays and other works suitable for adaptation in the program of new productions for the screen.

Edward T. Lowe Added To M-G-M Studio Staff

Edward T. Lowe, who scenarized "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," was added last week to the M-G-M studio staff of scenarists when he signed a contract with Irving Thalberg, studio executive.

Dorothy Farnum Renews M-G-M Contract

It was announced last week by Irving Thalberg that Dorothy Farnum had renewed her contract with the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Company as scenarist.

OF INTEREST TO MOTION PICTURE PRODUCERS

I have the entire library, consisting of 120 manuscripts, the property of the late James S. Maffit, the world's greatest pantomimist, representing his life's work in the theatre, each one of which will undoubtedly make a picture of from one to six reels, thereby furnishing the infinite variety that is lacking in picture production. This includes sketches and drawings of scenes and trick stuff done by Mr. Maffit.

OPEN TO OFFERS

M. T. MIDDLETON, Sole Representative
1658 Broadway, Room 408, New York City, N. Y.

CECIL B. DE ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR THE FILMING OF "THE DELUGE" PRODUCTION

PLANS for the filming of "The Deluge," the special production to be made by Cecil B. De Mille, were announced this week just before the producer left for the coast. De Mille has estimated that the filming will occupy his time from June until December.

Jeanie Macpherson is at present at work on the first draft of the story from which the continuity will be written. Theodore Kosloff, who accompanied De Mille to New York to secure data necessary for the filming, has been assigned to do the research work and is being assisted by a corps of specialists who are reading hundreds of volumes and original manuscripts. Paul Iribe is to plan the huge sets.

Wall St. Total Is $84,687,850

Underwriting of Picture Enterprises By Bankers Reaches Striking Figure

WITHIN the past 18 months, Wall Street bankers have underwritten the amazing total of $84,687,850 in motion picture stocks and bonds, according to a compilation made by the New York "Evening Post" financial department. This, of course, does not include the enormous amount of independent financing of production and theatre construction throughout the country.

This shows, the "Post" points out, the remarkable position which the industry has come to occupy in the financial world in recent years. The same article quotes "Dodge's Reports" as authority for the statement that contracts awarded for new theatres, devoted exclusively to pictures, in 37 States east of the Rockies, were about 60 per cent. larger in the first quarter of 1926 than in the same three months of last year, the figures being 53 new theatres in the first quarter of 1925, at a valuation of $5,739,000 as against 84 at a valuation of $9,010,600 in the same period of 1926. A list of underwritings in Wall Street in the past year and a half follows:

Company	Security and Price	Amount	Offered by
Famous Players	121,715 Shares Common at 90	$10,954,350	Offered to Stockholders
Fox Film Corp.	165,000 Shares Class A at 43	7,095,000	Offered to Stockholders
Fox Theaters Corp.	500,000 Shares Class A at 25	12,500,000	Eisele and King Taylor, Thorne and Co.
*B. F. Keith	$6,000,000 20-year Bonds at 100	6,000,000	Dillon, Read and Co. Lehman Bros. Bankers Trust Co.
Loew's, Inc.	15-year Gold Debentures at 99½	15,000,000	Dillon, Read and Co. National City Co.
M. P. Capital Corp.	40,000 Shares Common at 17	680,000	Lyman D. Smith and Co.
	30,000 Shares Common at 18	540,000	Watson and White
	30,000 Shares Common at 20	600,000	Watson and White
Paramount B'way Corp.	25-year Bonds	10,000,000
Pathe	$1,060,000 10-year Bonds at 97½	1,033,500	Merrill, Lynch and Co.
Roxy Theaters Corp.	125,000 Shares Class A at 40	5,000,000	Milliken & Roberts, Inc. Howe, Snow & Bertles Henry Lindsley
	$4,250,000 Serial Bonds at 98.57 to 100.68	4,250,000	S. W. Strauss & Co.
Saenger Theaters, Inc.	$1,500,000 15-year Bonds at 99	1,485,000	Hibernia Securities Co. Hemphill, Noyes & Co. Merrill, Lynch and Co.
Universal Chain Theaters	$4,000,000 1st Preferred at 100	4,000,000	Shields & Co.
Universal Pict. Corp.	$3,000,000 1st Preferred at 100	3,000,000	Shields & Co. Dillon, Read and Co.
Warner Bros.	170,000 Shares Class A at 10	2,550,000	McClure, Jones and Reed

*Included because many Keith theaters show pictures as well as vaudeville

Warner-Bruckmann Deal Set

Established German Concern Will Both Produce and Distribute in Association

WARNER BROS. have closed a deal with the Bruckmann Film Company, with headquarters in Germany, whereby the American company will produce pictures in Germany in co-operation with the Bruckmann Company and the latter will distribute both the foreign and American made product of Warner's in that country.

This deal was consummated only this week by Gus Schlesinger, manager of the foreign department of Warners and came as the result of negotiations entered into by Harry M. Warner on his recent visit to Europe. It is the first announcement from Warner Bros. regarding their plan to produce pictures in England, France and Germany. It has been stated before that Warners would produce in these countries, but the present deal is the first actually consummated. Negotiations are also under way to start production activities in the near future in England and France.

According to the terms of the contract entered into between Warner Bros. and the Bruckmann company the latter will start with the distribution of the Warner product of the 1925-26 season. This gives Warners an entry into the German field that assures this concern the widest possible German distribution.

M. P. T. O. A. Bill For Music Tax Relief

(Continued from page 2014)

Continuing, Julian Brylawski, discussing the bill drawn by his brother, told the convention that in certain cases users of copyright music might be required to pay possibly more than the present license fee charged by the Society, but the price paid would, under this proposed arrangement, be regulated entirely to the extent the music was used. Naturally, if these royalties asked were too high, these compositions would not be played an dthis would, in a short space of time, speedily regulate itself.

But the main thing that it was hoped and expected to accomplish, Mr. Brylawski pointed out, was that such an arrangement would take every user of copyrighted music out of the power of the Society to arbitrarily fix the license fee which has, in some cases, been increased to a point almost beyond the ability of the user to pay and which practice, according to the view of the M. P. T. O. A. official, will be increasingly applied in the future.

"The position that we are willing to pay for the compositions which we use, but refuse to pay for the privilege of playing a lot of compositions that we don't want, is one that would meet with entire Congressional support and I know of no valid argument which could be presented against such an arrangement," said Mr. Brylawski.

A number of Congressmen with whom Attorney Fulton Brylawski discussed the amendment were enthusiastic, he reported.

Jessel With Warners Only Is Declaration

GEORGE JESSEL, according to a statement issued this week by Albert Lewis and Sam H. Harris, his managers and producers in the legitimate field, will make but one picture this summer and that for Warner Bros., who have arranged to start "Private Patrick Cohen" in Los Angeles on June 15.

Other producers, they declare, who were under the impression that they had secured the picture services of Jessel have permitted their verbal options to expire and have no further claim. No statement has been forthcoming from the two other companies which have announced the acquisition of Jessel.

A statement issued by Jack L. Warner before leaving for the Coast was substantially the same. He announced that shooting had commenced on the first of the Twenty-Six Warner Winners, "The Brute"; that Jessel was definitely under contract, and that Lewis Milestone continues under contract as a Warner director.

Universal Faces Theatre Shortage

Lack of Houses in Which to Put Productions for Long Run Showings Causes Call by Company for Additional Ones

WITH a number of productions on hand which it would like to give long run showings Universal at present is in a peculiar situation owing to the small amount of theatres throughout the country which it owns or controls. In New York City, for instance, the company has under lease the Colony Theatre, where it would like to show ten productions which it deems worthwhile but, owing to the fact that the lease expires on the last of August, Universal would be forced to withdraw these productions after a two weeks' run.

Conditions in other cities are analogous to that in New York, and the situation confronting the company has caused a general call for available theatres to be sent out in two principal cities of the United States.

''We could use six more theatres in New York City,'' said R. H. Cochrane, vice-president of Universal, ''than we have at present to adequately show the major productions on Universal's latest schedule. As a matter of fact, we are faced with an embarrassment of riches. Never in all the history of Universal have we had so many big productions made from Broadway plays, first-class novels, or written by authors of international reputation, as we have today. And, at the same time, the theatre situation is more restricted and difficult for a producer without theatres than it has ever been before.

More than that, the success of a picture is coming more and more to depend upon a long run showing in the principal releasing centers of the country. Exhibitors expect this, and exhibitors are prone to judge a picture's merits on the strength of its metropolitan long runs. In this situation Universal is forced to send out an S. O. S. for theatres not only in New York but in all the other first run centers for its big product.''

Golf Tournament To Be Held on June 8

THE Semi-Annual Film Golf Tournament will be held at the Winged Foot Golf Club, Mamaroneck, N. Y., one of the best courses in the country, on Tuesday, June 8. This is the course used by the New York Athletic Club. Further announcements of committees and details will be made later.

The Tournament, held under the auspices of The Film Daily, is one of the big events of the year in the industry.

Universal's announcement shows a line-up of seven pictures on the order of ''The Hunchback of Notre Dame'' and ''The Phantom of the Opera''; six Reginald Denny specials, six Richard Talmadge specials, twenty-eight Jewels, twenty-four Blue Streak Westerns, serials, comedies, news reels and other short products.

The seven Super-Pictures are ''The Flaming Frontier,'' the great Western epic picture now at the Colony Theatre in New York; ''The Midnight Sun,'' the Dimitri Buchowetzki production with Pat O'Malley and Laura LaPlante; ''Les Miserables,'' the Victor Hugo classic made in Europe in twenty-two reels; ''Love Me and the World Is Mine,'' the Mary Philbin-Norman Kerry production made from Hans Bartsch's novel, ''The Affairs of Hannerl,'' by E. A. Dupont; ''Uncle Tom's Cabin,'' Harry Pollard's production of the Harriet Beecher Stowe novel; ''Dixie,'' a story of the South, written by Frederic Arnold Kummer; and ''Romeo and Juliet,'' the love story in which Mary Philbin plays Juliet and Andre Mattoni, Romeo.

In the order of their release, the forthcoming Jewels are:

''Poker Faces,'' starring Edward Everett Horton and Laura LaPlante; ''The Old Soak,'' featuring Jean Hersholt, June Marlowe and George Lewis, etc.; ''The Texas Streak,'' starring Hoot Gibson; ''The Show World'' (formerly ''The Star Maker,'' featuring Billie Dove and Francis X. Bushman; ''The Runaway Express,'' with an all-star cast; ''Spangles,'' starring Pat O'Malley and Marian Nixon; ''The Buckaroo Kid,'' starring Hoot Gibson; ''Her Big Night,'' starring Laura LaPlante; ''Prisoners of the Storm,'' starring House Peters; ''The Whole Town's Talking,'' starring Edward Everett Horton; ''Ridin' Like Fury,'' starring Hoot Gibson; ''The Ice Flood,'' featuring Otis Harlan and Viola Dana; ''Oh Baby,'' with an all-star cast; ''Ace High,'' starring Hoot Gibson; ''Butterflies in the Rain,'' starring Laura LaPlante; ''Perch of the Devil,'' featuring Pat O'Malley and Mae Rusch; ''Too Many Women,'' starring Norman Kerry; ''The Mystery Club,'' with an all-star cast; ''The Prairie King,'' starring Hoot Gibson; ''Another Woman's Life,'' starring Mary Philbin; ''Beware of Widows,'' starring Laura LaPlante; ''The Love Thrill,'' with an all-star cast; ''A Hero on Horseback,'' starring Hoot Gibson; ''Taxi! Taxi!'' with an all-star cast; ''The Big Gun,'' with an all-star cast; ''Down the Stretch,'' starring Pat O'Malley; ''A Savage in Silks,'' starring Laura LaPlante, and ''The Silent Rider,'' starring Hoot Gibson.

Mayer Announces Studio Expansion

Increase in Physical Equipment of Twenty-five Per Cent and Personnel Raise of One Hundred Per Cent Made

LOUIS B. MAYER, producing head of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, announced upon his arrival in New York this week that the officials have just completed a program of expansion and improvement involving an increase of 25 per cent in physical equipment and nearly 100 per cent in organization personnel, to meet the schedule of productions to be released under next season's schedule.

From twenty directors a year ago, the directorial staff today numbers thirty-seven. Fifty stars and players are now under contract with M-G-M as compared to twenty-eight stock players twelve months ago.

With the plan of producing a majority of its pictures from original stories written expressly for the screen now established, the staff of writers has been increased from less than two dozen to seventy-one and includes some of the most famous novelists, playwrights, original story writers, adapters and continuity writers in the field.

In order to create and execute what is expected to prove the most ambitious producing program yet attempted by any studio the staff of two producing executives has been increased to five.

To house the enlarged program of program production the physical improvements of the studio are now nearing completion. During the last few months two enormous stages, with hundreds of thousands of square feet of floor space, have been erected, bringing the total number of stages to fourteen.

A third story has been added to the main administration building, thus adding eighteen suites to that structure alone, a second floor has been added to the principal directorial building and a number of older offices, remodeled and newly furnished.

In order to protect this plant from the hazard of fire one of the most complete fire prevention and fire-fighting systems in the history of industrial plants has been installed. Every building has been equipped with the latest water pumping apparatus. To provide water for this system an artificial lake has been constructed and a gigantic tank of one hundred thousand gallons capacity erected. This brings the normal water storage to an aggregate of 1,600,000 gallons.

Plans are now being completed for an enormous laboratory building and for a new plant for the turning out of still photographs. In addition the building plans include the proposed construction of a theatre, gymnasium and swimming pool.

Mr. Mayer has come East to attend the sales convention of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer at the Pennsylvania Hotel. Accompanying him are Clarence Brown, newest M-G-M directorial acquisition, David Bershen, Pacific Coast district manager of sales department, Joseph Rapf, head of wardrobe department, Pete Smith, director of publicity, and their families.

Studio Briefs

"The Red Mill" will go into production some time this week, since Marion Davies has returned to the Culver City studios to commence work on this next Cosmopolitan production. Frances Marion has adapted the Henry Blossom operetta (the scene of which is laid in Holland) for which Victor Herbert wrote the music.

In Florence Vidor's latest picture, written by Ernest Vajda, Lowell Sherman will have an important role. William Wellman has been assigned by B. P. Schulberg to direct the film.

In "Her Man O' War," Jetta Goudal's first starring vehicle for Cecil B. De Mille, Frank Reicher, director, has been assigned to a featured role. Frank Urson is to direct with William Boyd playing opposite Miss Goudal.

Jack Conway, who is directing "Brown of Harvard," has been given a new contract according to an announcement emanating from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

On April 15th, Sydney Algier, former assistant director to John M. Stahl, will take up the duties of unit production manager for Christy Cabanne when that director starts work on Mae Murray's latest, "Altar of Desire." Jack Cumming will be assistant director on the new production which was adapted from a magazine story by Marie Thompson Davies.

For the third time Vivien Ogden will play the role of "Miss Hazy" in "Lovely Mary," the Alice Egan Rice story which Agnes Christine Johnston has adapted to the screen. Miss Ogden played the part four years when "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" (in which the character of "Lovey Mary" is also seen, was popular on the stage. She had the same role when "Mrs. Wiggs" became a screen play and now she will be seen in "Lovey Mary," which King Baggot is directing for M-G-M.

The writing staff of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios has been strengthened with the acquisition of Ernest Pascal, novelist.

The M-G-M picture, "The Escape," featuring Conrad Nagel and Renee Adoree, has been re-titled "Heaven On Earth."

The Donn Byrne novel, "In Praise of James Carabine," which Marcel De Sano is directing for M-G-M, will bear the release title of "Blarney." The featured roles will have Ralph Graves and Renee Adoree.

Louis B. Mayer recently signed Patricia Avery as a stock player at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. Mayer pronounced her a discovery and ordered screen tests taken. The contract was the result. For the past year Miss Avery has been working at the studios as a secretary.

First National has signed Arthur Stone, comedian, to a long-term contract. It was due to his work in "Miss Nobody," in which Anna Q. Nilsson is appearing under the direction of Lambert Hillyer, that Stone was signed. He once appeared in Hal Roach comedies.

"Diplomacy," Marshall Neilan's initial production on his new Paramount contract will feature Blanche Sweet. The heavy will be portrayed by Gustrav von Seyffertitz. This stage play by Victor Sardou is being adapted to the screen by Benjamin Glazer, while Harold Grieve has designed the sets. Production is to get under way with David Kesson as first cameraman and Thomas Held, chief assistant to Neilan.

Production activities at the F. B. O. lot in Hollywood are in full swing. Scenes are being shot by Frank Hall Crane on "The Jade Cup," Evelyn Brent's latest story, and Harry Garson is completing Lefty Flynn's latest starring vehicle, "Glennister of the Mounted." The twelfth and last episode of "Fighting Hearts," with Alberta Vaughn and Larry Kent and Tom Tyler's "The Masquerade Bandit," are both near completion. Camera work on "Her Honor the Governor," with Pauline Frederick, and "The Two-Gun Man," starring Fred Thomson, is scheduled for the near future.

As soon as Bess Flowers finishes her role opposite Lefty Flynn in "Glennister of the Mounted," production will be started on the Gene Stratton-Porter story, "Laddie," in which Miss Flowers will be co-starred with John Bowers. J. Leo Meehan, the late novelist's son-in-law, will direct.

William Anthony McGuire's stage play, "Tin Gods," the next Paramount vehicle for Thomas Meighan, will be directed by Allan Dwan who arrived in New York from the West Coast. The star expressed himself as pleased with the material which will be prepared by James Shelley Hamilton. Paul Dickey and Howard Emmett Rogers will do the treatment.

Universal has signed Marion Rice, pretty Chicago girl, to a five-year contract as a result of the contest staged at the Randolph Theatre in Chicago where the audience selected Miss Rice as the pretiest girl. Exchange men staged the contest as a tribute to Carl Laemmle's twentieth anniversary.

Lois Wilson has been assigned the leading feminine role in "The Show Off," which will go into production on May 10th. Malcolm St. Clair will direct Miss Wilson and Sterling in this comedy.

Al Christie has added Bill Irving, comedian, to the cast of "Up In Mabel's Room," starring Marie Prevost. For the past year, Irving has been appearing in various Christie comedies and has averaged more than one picture a month.

"Riding Honor," a racing story adapted from "The Grappler," by Charles A. Logue, and starring Art Accord, will be directed by Willy Wyler, Universal's newest director. It was because of his work in the previous Accord vehicle, "Lazy Lightnin'," that Wyler was chosen.

Film Booking Offices wound up its sales convention at Hollywood with an elaborate banquet at the studios on one of the sets for "A Poor Girl's Romance." More than two hundred persons, including F. B. O. executi ves, visiting Division and Branch managers, members of the press and leading screen players were present

Tax Reductions Please Canadian Exhibitors

Exhibitors in Canada generally are tickled with the "Prosperity Budget" which was brought down in the Canadian House of Commons, April 15, because the sweeping reductions in income tax, postage, and other taxes will mean more spending money for everybody.

There was nothing in the Canadian budget this year that added to the burdens of exhibitors in the Dominion—even the business profits tax for incorporated companies being reduced one per cent. No new forms of taxation were introduced for theatres as a Federal measure. Income tax exemptions were increased for both married and single people and the man who formerly paid say $60 a year on his income will now hand over only $10. This will give considerable money for business generally, including theatres, it is declared.

Mayer Comes to N. Y. To Attend Convention

Louis B. Mayer, vice-president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer left the Coast April 16th accompanied by his wife and daughters, and is due to arrive in New York City on April 20th, where he will attend the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Sales Convention. Included in the party are Clarence Brown and his wife; Joseph Rapf; Pete Smith and his wife, and David Bershon.

Famous Signs Vaudeville Headliner

El Brendel, vauedville artist, has signed a long-term contract with Paramount, his first screen appearance to be in a new Ernest Vajda story which stars Florence Vidor and which is being directed by William Wellman.

Eva Novak Cast For Hal Roach Comedy

The latest feature player to join the Hal Roach comedies for Pathe is Eva Novak. She will appear opposite Glen Tryon in his latest comedy, "Say It With Babies." The supporting cast includes Martha Sleeper, Oliver Hardy and little Jackie Hanes.

Rozelle To Head Ascher Booking Combination

L. A. ROZELLE, for many years exchange manager of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in Chicago, has been engaged by Ascher Bros. to head their new booking combination in which he will be associated with Max Ascher.

In regard to Rozelle's engagement, Max Ascher said: "Our reason for bringing Rozelle into our office is because we have been approached by theatre owners in this locality, who are being sorely pressed and who have found it necessary to band together as a protection against extermination. Having been on the other side of the fence long enough to know local conditions thoroughly, Rozelle should prove a source of strength to Ascher Brothers and associate theatres in carrying out our new plans."

"Magic Garden" to Be Published as Book

CO-INCIDENT with the release of the film version of Gene Stratton-Porter's posthumous novel, "The Magic Garden," which is scheduled as a Gold Bond special on the forthcoming F. B. O. group, the publishing house of Doubleday, Page & Co. will bring out the story in book form backed by an advertising campaign. McCall's magazine will also serialize the story so that the final installment will be published at the time of the picture's release.

$15,000 Allotted for Establishing M. P. Div.

Only $15,000 is allotted the Department of Commerce for the establishment on July 1 of a motion picture division in the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Washington, D. C., under the appropriation bill for 1927 as finally passed by Congress.

The sum of $26,000 was originally asked by the department for the film division. The House of Representatives allowed only $15,000, but another $15,000 was added when the bill came before the Senate. The conference committee from the two bodies, however, in adjusting differences allowed only $15,000.

Boston Theatre Property Sold To Shawmut Trust

The real estate at 235-243 Huntington Avenue, which includes the Keith-Albee St. James Theatre Building, has been sold by Charles H. W. Foster and others to the Shawmut Real Estate Trust. In addition to the theatre the property contains two halls and four stores. It is assessed for $515,000 of which $315,000 is on the land.

Lillian Gish's Next Will Be "Annie Laurie"

The next Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer vehicle for Lillian Gish will be "Annie Laurie," an original story by Josephine Lovett, which will be put into production under the direction of John S. Robertson immediately on completion of the star's present engagement, "The Scarlet Letter."

Stage Pantomime Advances "Hands Up" Showing

Manager Harrison, of the Hippodrome, Waco, Tex., staged an ingenious pantomime to announce the showing of "Hands Up." The act was put on between scenes of an elaborate Fashion Show put on during the picture's run.

Action showed a burglar entering on a darkened stage, throwing his flashlight around until it alighted on a fake safe. Kneeling down before it, he proceeded to open it, but suddenly was interrupted by the entrance of a man, dressed like Griffith, who ordered him to throw up his hands. At the same time, two shots rang out and the spot was directed on safe door, which was printed with "Hands Up—Raymond Griffith." The words were printed on a roller-shade contrivance on the front of the safe, which the robber released by pulling a string.

Wichita "Venus" Wins Trip to California

The Miller Theatre, Wichita, has concluded what is claimed to be the biggest newspaper contest campaign ever conducted in the State of Kansas. The contest was in the interests of "The American Venus" and was carried by the Wichita "Daily Eagle." It was originated by Howard Jameyson, of the Miller enterprises, and Earl Cunningham, expliotation representative for Paramount.

A deal was made between the paper and the Rock Island and Southern Pacific Lines to award a first prize of a round-trip ticket to California to the girl possessing the figure most nearly approaching the dimensions of Fay Lamphier (Miss America).

Over 500 girls made application in the contest. Five department stores tied in and gowned the first five girls, running ads in the paper announcing that such and such a girl would appear on the stage of the Miller, gowned by their woman's department.

Blind Copy Queries Exploit "Where Was I?" Show

Open newspaper advertising of "Where Was I?" was preceded at Carthage, Mo., where the picture played the Crane Theatre, by a series of teaser ads addressed to the Mayor and other officials which developed curiosity to a high pitch. The teasers, a column in width and boxed with heavy black rules, ran like this:

"Mayor Thomas—Where Was I on June 8, 1920 Please answer quick." Signed, R. Denny, 219 East Third (the theatre's address'.

The straight advertising began several days after this teaser campaign.

Sunday Pictures Issue in Binghamton

Members of the Broad Avenue Presbyterian Sunday School have filed with the City Clerk in Binghamton a set of resolutions adopted by the school protesting against the passage of an ordinance permitting Sunday motion pictures in the city. It is expected that the ordinance recently introduced will be disposed of at an early meeting of the Council.

Universal Alleges No Right For Suit

R. C. H. COCHRANE, vice-president of Universal, issued on Tuesday of this week, the following statement in connection with the three million dollar infringement suit which Ann Nichols has brought against the company claiming infringement of "Abie's Irish Rose" through "The Cohens and the Kellys."

"The suit brought against the Universal company is entirely without foundation. When this claim was first asserted in the midst of a barrage of publicity, it was unequivocally repudiated by us. We believe the whole matter is simply a publicity drive, because many weeks before suit was filed certain newspapers were fully advised as to the details. We shall file our answer without delay."

Resume of Current News Weeklies

PATHE NEWS, NO. 33: Mexico City, Mexico—Hold fete "to bury bad humor"; San Diego, Cal.—Court martial started on famous aMrine "cocktail" case; Albany, N. Y.—Celebrate 100th anniversary of American railroads; Rome, Italy—Polar airship Norge begins flight for Arctic; Athens, Greece—Celebrate National Independence Day; Point a la Hache, La.—20 lose lives when oil tanker is destroyed by fire; Tanana, Alaska—Through Arctic wilds with Wilkins overland party; Granger, Ia.—Everybody has holiday but the poor pachyderms; Dallas, Tex.—Christen world's largest, fastest, most powerful locomotive; Grand Rapids, Mich.—All the kids in town like eggs; Bryn Mawr, Pa.—Girls grow expert with bow and arrow.

PATHE NEWS, NO. 34: Athens, Greece—Greek Dictator becomes President; Chicago, Ill.—Roosevelts present rare hunt trophies to museum; Golden, Colo.—Boy Scouts of "Rockies" honor "Buffalo Bill"; Seville, Spain—Royal welcome home greets transatlantic flyers; New York City—European soccer champions invade U. S.; Chicago, Ill.—Salvation Army international leader visits Middle West; Mexico City, Mex.—Honor ex-president Obregon with military review; Cambridge, Mass.—They fight for knowledge; Rome, Italy—Mussolini accorded Roman triumph after escape from assassination; Salinas, Cal.—Army whippet tanks in thrilling charge; Baltimore, Md.—Military welcome is accorded Virginia State Executive; Atlanta, Ga.—Circus visits the kids; San Antonio, Tex.—Rotarians of the Southwest mess with U. S. Army; Great Falls, Mont.—Hold great "Winterless Winter" celebration; Rogers, Ark.—Hold gay Apple Blossom Festival; Huntington, W. Va.—"Nine Sixty" wins Huntington Spring Derby; St. Louis, Mo.—Air Mail service opens between St. Louis and Chicago.

FOX NEWS, VOL. 7, NO. 57: Savannah, Ga.—Ten thousand persons attend wedding of Ike and Marguerite, midgets; California—Luther Burbank dies in California home; New Orleans, La.—City and State honor late Chief Justice of U. S., Edward Douglas White, at unveiling of his stature; St. Louis, Mo.—Browns and Cardinals open the spring series before crowd of 20,000; Paris, France—Girl field hockey stars of France and Belgium play for European title; Lewiston, Me.—Five score fiddlers compete for championship of world; Cape of Good Hope—New lighthouse is built on southernmost tip of Africa to warn mariners against menacing shoals; Macon, Ga.—Champion trotters and pacers complete training for season; Copenhagen, Denmark—Royal pomp marks final rites of Dowager Queen Louise; New York City—Broadway show girls organize rowing club to keep in trim; Obispo, Cal.—Huge oil tanks burn with $10,000,000 loss; Vienna, Austria—Whole city turns out to see show given by 5,000 gymnasts of the workers' party.

FOX NEWS, VOL. 7, NO. 58: Lakehurst, N. J.—Los Angeles takes to the air in first flight since disaster to the Shenandoah; Reading, Pa.—Prize police dog establishes record with 13 healthy eight-weeks-old puppies; Seattle, Wash.—University crews fight for Pacific Coast title; Dallas, Tex.—Amateurs take part in tournament given by the local Little Theatre; Washington, D. C.—Daniel F. Steck, after 2 years' contest, gains Senate seat from Iowa from S. W. Brookhart; Washington, D. C.—Champions of American League open 1926 season; Boston, Mass.—Wreckers find building hard to demolish; St. Paul, Minn.—World war veteran invents "the duffle bird"; Stroudsburg, Pa.—Opening of trout-fishing season brings influx of fly-casters to quiet pools of Broadheads Creek; Auteuil, France—Models mingle with notables at running of the President's steeplechase; U. S.—Spring finds great fleets of commercial carriers winging over continent.

KINOGRAMS, NO. 5177: Washington—President, Mrs. Coolidge and their son, John, see annual egg rolling on White House lawn; Lexington, Ky.—Man O' War and his new youngsters are shown at home; New York—Sir Thomas Lipton arrives for another try for the America's Cup; St. Louis—Eighty-three negro converts are given icy baptism in Mississippi river; New York—Exclusive pictures of William Wright declared by George Grey Barnard, noted Sculptor, to be the "perfect man."

KINOGRAMS, NO. 5178: San Luis Obispo, Cal.—Lightning starts greatest oil fire in history with loss of $10,000,000; Washington, D. C.—Army of women storm Senate chamber to defend dry laws; Santa Rosa, Cal.—Luther Burbank, plant wizard dies; Lewiston, Me.—Boston player wins international fiddlers' contest; Savannah, Ga.—World's smallest midgets are married by Mayor Hull; Baseball season opens, complete pictures of all important games.

KINOGRAMS, NO. 5179: New Orleans—28 lost as ships collide and tanker explodes; New York—Exclusive pictures of William Wright, Maine farmer, called by George Grey Barnard, noted sculptor, "The Perfect Man"; Ning Hsia, China—General Ma Hsiao Yun reviews special patrols organized to fight border bandits; Lakehurst, N. J.—Los Angeles makes first flight since last summer.

KINOGRAMS, NO. 5180: West Point, N. Y.—Cadets parade in first public dress drill of the year; Schenectady, N. Y.—New York Central celebrates its 100th birthday; Havana, Cuba—Thousands attend first historical floral pageant ever held in city; Salinas, Cal—National Guard tanks give thrilling exhibition at maneuvers; Cambridge, Mass—Students of Massachusetts Institute of Technology in annual book rush; Boston—Canadian breaks record and wins marathon.

"Three Wax Men" Handled by E. M. Fadman

IN last week's issue of The News, in the "Newspaper Opinions on New Features" department, the reviews of the New York dailies on the picture, "Three Wax Men" were printed and erroneously credited to Red Seal. This was incorrect, as this production is being handled for the United States by Edwin Miles Fadman, Inc.

Fadman this week sailed for France, to be abroad for three months in connection with the interchange of product between the two continents.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS, NO. 33: Cambridge, Mass.—No place for mamma's boys as collegians battle; Lawrence, Kans.—Hoff, vaulting champion, stars in Kansas games; Green Spring Valley, Md.—American riders in first "National" steeplechase; St. Louis, Mo.—St. Louis linked with air mail routes; Bremerton, Wash.—Submarine "Mother Ship" takes to water; Miami, Fla.—Boy diving star's playground under water; Chicago, Ill.—T. R. and Kermit inspect trophies of great hunt; Baltimore, Md.—Guns boom welcome to Southern Governors; Zuider Zee, Holland—Quaint Dutch wind mills rapidly dwindling; Chicago, Ill.—Getting babies ready for strenuous summer; Kiel, Germany—Rotor ship on first trip across the Atlantic; Berlin, Germany—Pres. Von Hindenburg honored on 60th anniversary of his entry into German army; Rome, Italy—A "game guy" is Premier Mussolini; Athens, Greece—Prime Minister Pangalos addresses enormous crowds; Salinas, Cal.—War ranks pierce barrage of "bombs."

INTERNATIONAL NEWS, NO. 32: Seattle, Wash.—West's great crews open rowing season; St. Louis, Mo.—Cardinals conquer Pirates in season's first battle; New York City—Veteran elephant enrolls as landscape gardener; London, England—Motorcycle football makes hit in England; Boston, Mass.—Wounded veterans of world war make poppies for Memorial Day; N. Y. City—4-year-old girl trains for circus career; London, England—A message to movie fans from George Bernard Shaw; Lakehurst, N. J.—Dirigible takes to skies in spring tests.

Comedy highlights of the Educational comedy release "Raisin' Cain."

Red Seal Grouping Short Subject Schedule

The Red Seal product for the forthcoming season will include some new novelties. I. R. Franklin is about to produce his series, "Carrie of the Chorus," in which Hazel Harmon, Rolland Flanders, and others wil be seen; the Inkwell cartoons, the Ko-Ko Song Car-Tunes, and the other six series will continue to be produced. A new series of cartoons is being planned and additional comedy series are expected to be purchased within the next few months.

Beatrice Van To Write Witwer Scripts

Beatrice Van, scenarist, has been engaged by Film Booking Offices to write the scripts for the new H. C. Witwer series of two-reel comedies. Miss Van is starting to whip into shape the first of the new series, which will be known as "Bill Grimm's Progress."

Production will be begun as soon as Ralph Cedar finishes directing the "Fighting Hearts" featurettes, of which the twelfth episode is now being completed.

Columbia Secures "The Lone Wolf Returns"

Harry Cohn, vice-president of Columbia Pictures Corporation, has secured the screen rights of "The Lone Wolf Returns," an E. P. Dutton publication. It will replace "Meet the Wife" on the coming season's schedule. The cast is now being selected.

Wanda Wiley in scenes from "Yearning For Love," a new Universal Comedy

Mary Brian to Play in Fox Picture

Mary Brian has been loaned to Fox Films for the leading feminine role in "More Pay, Less Work," an adaptation of Peter B. Kyne's story, "No Shennanigans," which will go into production shortly under the direction of Albert Ray. Others cast thus far for the picture are E. J. Radcliffe, Buddy Rogers and William Turner.

The members of "Our Gang" look a little different in their latest Pathe comedy, "Baby Clothes"

United States Lines Sign for Universal Pictures

The United States Lines, the trans-Atlantic transportation company, has signed with Universal for the presentation of that company's pictures on the steamships operated by United States Lines.

The contract puts the steamships in the first-run class. It will enable passengers crossing the Atlantic to see, in mid-ocean, the same Universal pictures which are being shown on Broadway.

First Hairbreadth Harry Comedy Finished

The first of the new two-reel Hairbreadth Harry comedies which are being adapted from the comic strip drawn by C. W. Kahles has been completed and shipped to New York. It was directed by Al Herman for Weiss Brothers.

Hairbreadth Harry is played by Earl McCarty and the villain by John J. Richardson, who has served for four years with Mack Sennett.

"Atta Boy" Banks' Pathe Feature Comedy

Monty Banks has announced "Atta Boy" as the title of his first Pathe feature comedy, now in the making at the Hollywood Studios. A. MacArthur is managing the Banks production unit.

Hy Mayer "Sketch Book" Series for Pathe

Elmer Pearson, vice-president of Pathe, announces that contracts have been signed with Hy Mayer, creator of the "hair cartoon" series, for a series of pictures to be known as "Hy Mayer's Sketch Book." The initial release is already in the making.

THE CHECK-UP

Weekly Edition of Exhibitors' Box Office Reports

Productions listed are new pictures on which reports were not available previously.

KEY—The first column following the name of the feature represents the number of managers that have reported the picture as "Poor." The second column gives the number who considered it "Fair"; the third the number who considered it "Good"; and the fourth column, those who considered it "Big."

The fifth column is a percentage giving the average rating on that feature, obtained by the following method: A report of "Poor" is rated at 20%; one of "Fair," 40%; "Good," 70%; and "Big," 100%. The percentage rating of all of these reports on one picture are then added together, and divided by the number of reports, giving the average percentage—a figure which represents the consensus of opinion on that picture. In the way exceptional cases, reports which might be taken alone, and such individual differences of opinion are averaged up

For ratings on current and older releases see MOTION PICTURE NEWS—first issue of each month.

Title of Picture	Reporting Poor	Reporting Fair	Reporting Good	Reporting Big	% Value	Length
ASSOCIATED EXHIBITORS
Skyrocket, The	—	—	11	—	70	7,350 Ft.
FAMOUS PLAYERS
Behind the Front	—	—	1	9	97	5,555 Ft.
Dancing Mothers	—	—	7	—	70	7,169 Ft.
Enchanted Hill	—	–	6	4	82	6,326 Ft.
Grand Duchess and the Waiter	—	6	—	6	70	6,314 Ft.
Moana	—	3	6	—	60	6,133 Ft.
New Klondike	—	—	9	—	70	7 Reels
Sea Horses	—	4	4	—	55	6,671 Ft.
Song and Dance Man, The	—	—	11	—	70	6,997 Ft.
Wanderer, The	1	2	4	3	68	8,173 Ft.
FILM BOOKING OFFICES
King of the Turf	3	3	3	—	43	6,210 Ft.
Tough Guy, The	–	4	6	6	73	5,455 Ft.
FIRST NATIONAL
Far Cry, The	—	—	11	—	70	8 Reels
Irene	—	—	1	9	97	9 Reels
Rainbow Riley	—	—	6	—	70	6,450 Ft.
Too Much Money	—	8	4	—	50	7,600 Ft.
FOX
Cowboy and the Countess	—	2	6	—	63	5,000 Ft.
Road to Glory, The	—	—	9	—	70	5,600 Ft.
METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER
Auction Block	2	2	4	—	50	6,239 Ft.
Black Bird, The	—	1	6	1	70	6,688 Ft.
Devil's Circus, The	—	—	8	—	70	6,750 Ft.
PROD. DIST. CORP.
Made for Love	—	6	—	—	40	5,700 Ft.
Million Dollar Handicap, The	—	4	4	—	55	6,117 Ft.
STATE RIGHTS
Double Fisted	—	5	5	—	55	5,000 Ft.
Ladies of Leisure	—	6	—	—	40	5,257 Ft.
UNIVERSAL
Beautiful Cheat, The	4	—	8	—	53	6,583 Ft.
Blue Blazes	—	—	10	—	70	4,659 Ft.
Cohens and Kellys, The	—	3	3	3	70	7,774 Ft.
Desperate Game, The	—	—	9	—	70	4,450 Ft.
Six Shooting Romance	—	—	8	—	70	4,837 Ft.
What Happened to Jones	1	2	5	—	64	6,700 Ft.
WARNER BROS.
Fighting Edge	2	2	8	2	63	6,369 Ft.
His Jazz Bride	2	2	4	2	60	6,420 Ft.
Night Cry, The	—	—	9	—	70	7 Reels
Sea Beast, The	—	—	—	3	100	7 Reels

FILL IN THIS BLANK AND MAIL TO—

Motion Picture News, Inc.,
729 7th Ave., New York City

Date,...

In accordance with your request we are reporting herewith the results from a box office angle, with the following pictures, same to be used in compilation of your "The Check Up." It is expressly understood that under no circumstances will you publish same over my signature.

TITLE OF PICTURE	DISTRIBUTED BY	WEATHER CONDITION	REPORT Big, Good, Fair, Poor

Class of patronage....

Theatre.............................

Population of Town.

City .... State...

The Power behind the Box-Office

BANNER GROUP

September 1926 – September 1927

52 HITS

and

7 SPECIALS

FIRST NATIONAL CALLS

SO do all showmen. Industry, Art, Business—those terms are right enough for motion pictures when you talk for publication; but when the crowds rock your box-office and the cashiers are calling for more change, when your ushers are hopping and your house is packed from the front row right back to the doors —then it's The Show-Game!

And First National knows it from the ground up, because First National is the name that the keenest exhibitors in America go by.

Now — we speak between showmen with FIFTY-TWO PICTURES AND SEVEN SPECIALS to put to the box-office test between September 1926 and September 1927.

They come as a Group; you play them one by one. You can estimate how much the stars draw — and FIRST NATIONAL'S STARS HOLD TOP-RECORDS ABSOLUTELY, JUST AS FIRST NATIONAL'S SPECIALS MEAN AS MUCH BUSINESS AS YOUR HOUSE WILL HOLD.

IT THE SHOW-GAME

You figure your profits over the year, but every week counts in the grand total. Right there First National has won exhibitor-confidence finally and indisputably.

By every test of performance First National's groups in preceding years have contained not only the biggest individual hits, but have maintained the HIGHEST AVERAGE OF DRAWING-POWER, GIVING YOU THE HIGHEST PERCENTAGE OF PROFIT, against all competition.

Grouping the greatest stars, producers and directors, these pages tell the story for 1926-1927. No group has been stronger, none more commercially sound, none so positive of profits, none so studded with box-office certainties. It is made to make money. Applying experience and show-sense, First National has eliminated speculation.

First National is set! The Banner Group is planned definitely, wisely, thoroughly. It is complete and yet elastic, as this Show-Game demands; for First National's production policy is keyed to every opportunity for sane showmanship that each new turn of public taste creates.

Norma Talmadge

presented by JOSEPH M. SCHENCK continues her triumphs for First National

WITH "Kiki" established among this season's particular successes, every effort of Joseph M. Schenck's studio organization is now turned to the preparation for Norma Talmadge of a production that truly crowns her unparalleled career.

NO announcement could mean as much to exhibitors as that. It's news! Mighty glad news to open with. The organization, wherein players and executives stand unsurpassed in their respective lines of motion-picture making, has pledged itself to one definite goal: to present Norma at her greatest during 1926-27.

NORMA TALMADGE sets the standard for the BANNER GROUP!

First National's Progress

BY ROBERT LIEBER

President, First National Pictures, Inc.

WITH the Banner Group of productions, First National rounds out ten years of growth. In May, 1917, we opened our first office in two small rooms with a staff numbering four. Today First National serves thousands of exhibitors from branches operating in all parts of the world.

It seems incredible that nearly a decade has passed since a small group of exhibitors under the name of First National Exhibitors Circuit, visioned an organization based on an idea and an ideal — the idea of mutual benefit, the ideal of service.

Developed by Men of Vision

As I look back over these years, I cannot but feel an honest pride in the achievement of the men who had the vision to see the essential unity of the three vital parts of our industry. They had the vision to accept the wisdom of close cooperation between producers, distributors and exhibitors. They realized that every organism must work harmoniously and that in the final analysis the motion picture business is a unit, each part depending upon the other.

The house of First National was made large enough to accommodate producers, distributors and exhibitors and was built upon a rock.

Robert Lieber, President First National Pictures, Inc.

All who have been closely identified with the industry during the past decade know that there have been storms aplenty. Companies have risen and flourished for brief periods and then been swept away. Reputations have been won and lost. It has been a period of destruction and creation, tearing down the old and erecting the new. This is all an inevitable part of the evolution through which any great business must pass.

Has Grown With Industry

The policy of First National has been and continues to be adaptable in the sense that it is flexible in meeting changing conditions. Our organization has grown with the industry. It has played a leading part in furthering that growth and in promoting a true understanding between producers and distributors on the one hand and exhibitors on the other.

We have sought the finest pictures made in order to give exhibitors a consistent service week by week, knowing that an exhibitor's success depends not upon an occasional sensation, but upon a reliable supply of high-class entertainment.

Reach Peak With Banner Group

That First National has lived and prospered and grown so magnificently during the decade that will come to a close with the Banner Group, is proof of the sound sense behind its policies. Speaking for my associates, I am gratified when I look at the record that is written for all to read.

When I look to the future I am confident that the coming years will surpass even our brightest dreams.

First National Featured Players. Jack Mulhall, Anna Q. Nilsson, Mary Astor, Doris Kenyon and Charlie Murray

All Set For a Banner Year

BY RICHARD A. ROWLAND

General Manager, First National Pictures, Inc.

I AM confident that the Banner Group of pictures with the seven specials to be issued during the season of 1926-27 will outsell at the box office any earlier First National program.

This confidence rests on tested facts—the facts of actual values as they have been found to exist.

Insofar as it is humanly possible, we have eliminated the element of chance in the preparation of the Banner Group. On the basis of the unit producing system, producers and directors will be given every encouragement to exercise their originality and genius to the full. And they will be working with guaranteed values in the show world.

Stars of Real Drawing Power

It is conceded that the public is first of all attracted by the name of a star. Consider then the drawing power of Norma Talmadge, Colleen Moore, Constance Talmadge, Corinne Griffith, Milton Sills, Richard Barthelmess, Harry Langdon, Johnny Hines and Leon Errol.

All of these stars are represented in the Banner Group and they are more valuable today than they ever have been in the past because of cumulative prestige gained from a succession of fine pictures.

Any exhibitor carries box office insurance in these names. Player values, secondary only to that of the stars, are offered in an impressive array of featured actors and actresses, including a long list of popular favorites. Then there will be a new type of production in what we term the Innovation series presenting Ken Maynard in thrilling pictures of the West.

Richard A. Rowland, General Manager, First National Pictures, Inc.

Stories of Tested Popularity

When it comes to stories of tested popular appeal, First National offers in the Banner Group a list of titles representing the most successful novels and plays of the day. That there is a public for these books and plays is already proven and it merely remains for the exhibitor to attract this public to his theatre by advertising the motion picture version along with the name of a favorite star. In story value, First National has never been so richly supplied as it is for the coming year.

To handle this star and story material we have enlisted the services of leading producers and directors, who, operating under the unit system, will concentrate on one picture at a time. The past season has proven beyond question the practical value of this method of production.

Success Assured

On these three counts—star, story, production—First National offers what I have already termed tested values. They assure the exhibitor a return on his investment week by week. They are a guarantee of success

The Banner Group of pictures is the crowning achievement of First National after ten years of progress toward the goal of an ideal service to exhibitors.

First National Featured Players. Philo McCullough, Aileen Pringle, Walter Pidgeon, Mae Allison, Victor McLaglen.

Sales Cabinet an Aid to Exhibitors

BY SAMUEL SPRING

Secretary-Treasurer, First National Pictures, Inc.

THAT the Sales Cabinet method marks a distinct advance over earlier plans of distribution organization, is proven by the record of the past six months during which a triumvirate of First National sales executives has functioned.

After the most thoughtful consideration, it was decided last Fall to divide the United States into three territories, Western, Eastern and Southern, and to place one executive in charge of each, granting full authority and responsibility. At that time the Sales Cabinet was formed with Ned Marin in charge of the West, A. W. Smith, Jr., of the East, and Ned E. Depinet of the South. The results sought by the new arrangement are being more than realized.

Personal contact with exhibitors, branch managers and salesmen in the field is the first objective—a closer contact than is possible when the territory to be covered is too extensive for one man. to handle properly. Figuring that there are approximately twenty thousand theatres in the United States showing pictures selected from the eight hundred or more features released yearly, and taking into consideration the rapid growth of theatre circuits and the pooling of buying power, it is obvious that distribution problems have become bigger and more involved than ever before.

When the Sales Cabinet was formed, it was decided that each of the three managers should spend half of his time in the field, meeting exhibitors and conferring with branch managers and salesmen whenever problems needing consideration arise. This plan has been followed with the result that there never has been a time when home office executives were so close to conditions in the field.

Samuel Spring, Secretary-Treasurer First National Pictures, Inc.

Messrs. Marin and Depinet have devoted many weeks to extended trips through the West and South, and Mr. Smith has spent much of his time visiting Eastern cities. In consequence, the spirit of understanding and co-operation which First National has always fostered, has been materially promoted.

What the Sales Cabinet has been able to accomplish during the first six months of its operation is only an indication of the still greater things in the way of exhibitor helpfulness that will be realized during the coming year. The wheels are now running smoothly and the entire sales organization has been geared to function at its highest capacity.

A close study is being made of each territory with a view to bettering our service to exhibitors wherever there appears to be an opportunity for improvement. When new branches are needed to meet the demands of our growing business, they will be opened, as in the recent instance of Memphis, Tenn., where Mr. Depinet found that the territory being covered by existing exchanges was too expansive.

The Production Department is supplying us with the greatest array of pictures ever assembled under the First National trademark. Every man in the organization is thoroughly sold on the quality of our product for 1926-27 and it only remains for the distribution organization to market the Banner Group to exhibitors who are looking for pictures of assured box office value.

Every man on the sales force realizes that the only deal worth making is the deal that will net a fair profit to the exhibitor. He knows that only a satisfied customer can make good the slogan "Once in Never out."

The Sales Cabinet has brought the morale of the field force to the top notch.

Members of First National's Sales Cabinet. Ned Marin, Manager Western Territory; A. W. Smith, Jr., Manager Eastern Territory, and Ned E. Depinet, Manager Southern Territory

52 Productions In Banner Group Announced by First National

FOR the season 1926-27, First National Pictures, Inc., announces fifty-two productions in the Banner Group and seven specials. It is confidently asserted by the production executives of the company that this array of feature photoplays will surpass in box office power and artistic value, any group of releases assembled by the company in past seasons.

Assured drawing cards are offered in the nine First National stars included in the Banner Group. Norma Talmadge promises something that will surpass even "Kiki," her latest box office triumph; Colleen Moore, whose popularity is increasing every year, will lead off with "Twinkletoes" to be followed by other big productions; Constance Talmadge is to be seen in a series; also Corinne Griffith, Milton Sills, Richard Barthelmess, Harry Langdon, Johnny Hines and Leon Errol.

With this list of stars as a backbone of the Banner Group program, First National enters the field with product of certain appeal. Also it may be noted that the line-up of stories thus far announced is a particularly strong one, many of them being adaptations of phenomenally successful novels and plays.

It appears that First National will adhere to the unit system of production the value of which has been proven during the past year. Joseph M. Schenck will continue to contribute to the program; John McCormick will present Colleen Moore features; Robert Kane will supply two big specials; whereas June Mathis, C. C. Burr, Earl Hudson, Al Rockett, Ray Rockett, Sam Rork, C. R. Rogers, E. M. Asher, B. P. Fineman, J. Boyce Smith and Henry Hobart all will make pictures for the Banner Group.

Recognizing the increasing importance of special productions, First National promises seven of the most noteworthy pictures ever turned out by that company in points of story, production and cast. Titles of the specials are "The Greater Glory," "Men of Steel," "Sinners in Paradise," "September Love," "The Patent Leather Kid" and two pictures to be made by the Kane organization as yet unnamed.

In support of the stars to appear in these pictures, will be featured players numbering many of the most popular actors and actresses on the screen, such as Anna Q. Nilsson, Lewis Stone, Lloyd Hughes, Mary Astor, Ben Lyon, Doris Kenyon, Dorothy Mackaill, Barbara Bedford, Charlie Murray, Jack Mulhall, Philo McCullough, Arthur Stone, Blanche Sweet, Conway Tearle, Mae Allison, Lowell Sherman, Aileen Pringle, Walter Pidgeon, Norman Kerry and James Kirkwood.

A new feature of the First National program and one that promises to be keenly interesting to exhibitors is the series of four Western adventure productions starring Ken Maynard with his horse, Tarzan. This innovation series, as it is called, is being produced by Charles R. Rogers with Al Rogell directing. The pictures will offer fast action from start to finish in the development of stirring stories.

To back up the Banner Group and the seven specials, First National has mapped out an advertising, publicity and exploitation campaign that will cover the entire country, utilizing all mediums and benefitting exhibitors both small and large. Every channel will be used in helping the exhibitor to sell his product to the public.

New Norma Talmadge Vehicle

SOMETHING bigger than "Kiki," "Graustark," "Secrets," "The Lady," "Smilin' Through" or any of her previous productions, is promised by Norma Talmadge for the 1926-27 group. The Schenck star has proven her versatility in handling supremely well comedy as well as dramatic roles and is now looking for a story in which she will be able to reveal to the fullest her varied talent.

A number of subjects are under consideration and a decision will be made as soon as Miss Talmadge and Mr. Schenck are convinced that they have found the best possible material. They will be content only with something that makes possible the excelling of any earlier achievements.

Colleen Moore Announces Two

WITH every picture designed to be of special calibre, Colleen Moore and John McCormick, who will present her in a series of Banner Group productions, have decided upon Thomas Burke's Twinkletoes" and "Naughty but Nice," an adaptation of "Daphne Grows Down" as the first two productions for the coming year.

"Twinkletoes," by the author of "Broken Blosoms" deals with the life of a girl in the famous Limehouse district of London. "Twinkletoes" is the nickname which she acquires in childhood and which clings to her through a life of sorrow and despair, touched by the flame of an irresistible spirit of gladness. "Twinkletoes" is a lovable character, pathetic, appealing and humorous by turns—just the sort of a character to inspire Miss Moore.

"Naughty but Nice," the screen title for "Daphne Grows Down," a novel by Hetty Spiers and Langford Reed, is in lighter vein and will afford Miss Moore ample scope for a clever impersonation. She will play the character of Daphne, an attractive young woman who must pretend to be a school girl of twelve, home on a vacation. This subterfuge is brought about by her mother, a young widow, who wishes to appear young in the eyes of an army officer whom she plans to attract. Daphne masquerades as a child successfully, but complications develop, particularly when a young naval officer appears on the scene

BANNER GROUP PICTURES

Norma Talmadge in a series
Colleen Moore in a series including "Twinkletoes" and "Naughty but Nice"
Constance Talmadge in a series including "Silky Anne"
Corinne Griffith in a series including "Ashes"
Milton Sills series, including "Men of the Night" and "Paradise"
Richard Barthelmess in a series including "The Amateur Gentleman" and "The Four Feathers"
Harry Langdon in a series including "The Yes Man"
Johnny Hines in a series including "Kid Gloves"
Leon Errol in a series including "The Lunatic at Large"
"The Crystal Cup" with Dorothy Mackaill
"The Sheik of Florida" with Ben Lyon
"Subway Sadie" with Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall
"The Duke of Ladies" Starring Conway Tearle
"Bed and Board" with Doris Kenyon
"Lady Be Good"
"The Charleston Kid"
"The Daring Venus"
"The Shock Absorber"
"Don Juan's Three Nights" with Lewis Stone, Shirley Mason, Malcolm McGregor, Myrtle Stedman
"Forever After" with Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes
"Hell's Kitchen"
"French Dressing" with Aileen Pringle, Ben Lyon, Lowell Sherman and Sam Hardy.
"Out of the Ruins"
"Riders of the Wind"
"The Masked Woman" with Anna Q. Nilsson
"Peacocks of Paris" with Ben Lyon, Dorothy Mackaill, Lowell Sherman and Sam Hardy
"Purple and Fine Linen" with Lewis Stone and Anna Q. Nilsson
"The Hat of Destiny"
"My Wife's Friend"
"Hounds of Spring"
"Here Y'are, Brother"
"The Blonde Saint"
"Prisoners"
"Midnight Lovers"
"The Desperate Woman"
"Jail-birds, Inc."
"Mike Donovan of Ireland"
"Senor Daredevil"
"Gun Gospel"
"The Unknown Cavalier"
"The Flame of the Border"

SPECIALS

Milton Sills in "Men of Steel"
"The Greater Glory," a June Mathis Production
"September Love"
"Sinners in Paradise"
Two Kane Specials
Another Special to be announced

Norma Talmadge Setting the Pace With Her New Vehicle

and is captivated by the make-believe school girl. The story has abundant action and amusing comedy situations.

Constance in "Silky Anne"

CONSTANCE TALMADGE'S initial production in the Banner Group will be "Silky Anne," a story by Edward Clark. It is a melodramatic comedy unfolding a series of adventures calculated to keep an audience guessing.

A newly married couple is idyllically happy until the wife's suspicions are aroused by the husband's claiming that he will be detained downtown by an urgent meeting of the board of directors of his company. The wife follows to the tryst, as she supposes, but in reality the husband is meeting a pair of blackmailers who are attempting to fleece him. The wife overhears the exposal of the blackmail plot; the pair of criminals make a break for freedom, and in the resulting confusion the wife is knocked unconscious, amnesia resulting. When she regains consciousness, she finds herself in an empty apartment with a pocketbook belonging to the woman "bait" of the blackmailers. The wife assumes the identity of the woman crook until, after a series of exciting adventures, she receives another blow on the head which restores her normal state of mind.

Corinne Griffith in "Ashes"

EMOTIONAL drama of the tensest sort will be found in the adaptation of Reginald Goode's stage play "Ashes" in which Corinne Griffith is to be starred. It is doubtful if any of Miss Griffith's previous pictures have afforded such scope for a display of feeling. "Ashes" should surpass even the wide appeal of "Classified" and "Mlle. Modiste."

The story concerns an American actress who is playing the small towns of England with her husband, Rupert Best, and reluctantly sends their child to an aunt at the seashore to be cared for. Three years later, the actress' name appears in electric lights in New York. She has been joined by her sister Grace, to whom her husband is paying undue attention without arousing the suspicions of his wife. During the opening performance, among the many telegrams of congratulations, comes a cable from the aunt announcing that the child has been drowned. The mother, though tortured by an agonizing grief, carries on her career with ever increasing success, until she learns of the affair between her husband and sister. Out of this situation there develops a human interest drama of intense appeal to the sympathies. The character of the actress sounds the depths of a woman's soul.

Miss Griffith is considering other equally notable stories for the remainder of her Banner Group series.

Big Special for Milton Sills

WHAT promises to be a most startlingly human picture, having the steel industry as a background, will be Milton Sills' first special on the coming program. It is the much talked of "Men of Steel" suggested by R. G. Kirk's story "United States Flavor" and adapted for the screen by Mr. Sills, the star of the production.

Norma Talmadge, First National Star

Many weeks were spent in perfecting this elaborate production, which strikes to the core of American life as it reacts upon foreign material.

"Men of Steel" is an Earl Hudson production directed by George Archainbaud, with Doris Kenyon featured in support of the star. In order to attain correctness in all technical details, the co-operation of Judge Gary, of the United States Steel Corporation, was secured and scenes were made at the steel mills in Birmingham, Ala. The production promises to be a smashing spectacle, but more than that it possesses the true human qualities without which a picture is lacking in the thrill of life.

"Men of the Night" has been selected as the first of a series of big productions in which Mr. Sills will be starred following "Men of Steel." It is a thrilling drama of the Foreign Legion.

Mr. Sills also will be starred in "Paradise," the first Ray Rockett production adapted from a story by Cosmo Hamilton entitled "Prisoners of Hope." This story had a wide sale in novel form and offers Mr. Sills unusual opportunities in portraying the leading character.

Barthelmess Productions

RICHARD BARTHELMESS, the Inspiration star whose productions for First National have been one of the biggest drawing cards on the program for a number of years, has the strongest lineup of his entire career for the coming season.

Since the unforgettable "Toll'able David," which placed Barthelmess in the first rank of stars, this young actor has passed from one success to another, displaying remarkable versatility in presenting a wide variety of dissimilar characterizations. During the coming season he will add to his list of unique screen portrayals.

After a careful consideration of the best available material, Inspiration Pictures decided on "The Amateur Gentleman," by Jeffrey Farnol, as the first of the Barthelmess productions. This story has proven its popularity with many thousands of readers and offers ideal material for the screen. Preparations are now being made for the filming of the picture.

A second Barthelmess production that promises great appeal is A. E. W. Mason's "The Four Feathers," which will follow "The Amateur Gentleman." In these productions and others to come, the Inspiration star is well supplied with material for the new season.

Harry Langdon As "The Yes Man"

HARRY Langdon has a way of keeping details of his stories secret until they are revealed on the screen. He did this in the case of "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," his first feature length picture for First National which immediately carried him to the forefront of screen comedians. And in the instance of "The Yes Man," the first of his series of feature comedies for the Banner Group, he is preserving the same reticence.

Langdon believes in developing comedies scene by scene without being bound too strictly to a pre-arranged continuity. Just as "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp" marked a departure in feature length comedies, so will "The Yes Man," according to reports from the Coast, become a distinct novelty in character of story and method of presentation. It is promised that the public which the comedian has created for himself through "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp" will be more than satisfied with his second contribution.

Colleen Moore's Pictures Will Be of Special Calibre

Hines Starts with "Kid Gloves"

NO comedian on the screen has been advancing more rapidly than has Johnny Hines, the C. C. Burr star, since his association with First National. Starting with "The Live Wire" and following through with "Rainbow Riley" and "The Brown Derby," Hines has scored a steady run of successes and greatly increased his following throughout the country.

"Kid Gloves" is the title of his initial offering in the Banner Group. This is a story of the prize ring in which Johnny plays a pugilist of an unusual sort. The plot allows for plenty of action and thrills; also an abundance of natural comedy in following the career of the irrepressible fighter.

"Kid Gloves" will be released early in the new season and will be followed by other pictures of strong box office appeal.

"Lunatic at Large" Stars Errol

THE choice parts of three books by J. Storer Clouston went into the making of "The Lunatic at Large," the Earl Hudson production starring Leon Errol, the unique comedian of the stage who is equally funny in pictures. Ever since Errol made his debut in "Sally" in support of Colleen Moore, exhibitors and the public have been waiting for his next appearance. They will find the comedian at his best in the screen version of the famous "Lunatic at Large" stories, produced under the supervision of Earl Hudson and directed by Fred Newmeyer.

The action transpires in a private sanitarium where Errol is mistaken for a wealthy patient. The laughs are continuous from start to finish of the picture, with Errol making the most of the embarrassing predicament in which he finds himself. Dorothy Mackaill and Kenneth McKenna are featured in the cast.

"The Greater Glory" Special

PROBABLY no picture resulting from the war approaches "The Greater Glory" in its true reflection of war conditions in Europe during the conflict and afterwards. Adapted for the screen by June Mathis from the novel by Edith O'Shaughnessy, the story is a sincere, poignant and unforgettable revelation of the tragedy of the conflict, brighted by the glory of human sacrifice and courage.

Many months were spent in the making of this picture in order to have it accurate in every detail in the matters of characterization and setting. There is a faithful depiction of events during the years of conflict as they influence the lives of those caught in the holocaust. But instead of being depressing, as most pictures dealing with the war have been, "The Greater Glory" inspires a new confidence in the inherent courage and heroism of human nature.

Colleen Moore, First National Star

One of the greatest casts ever assembled for a photoplay is seen in "The Greater Glory," including Anna Q. Nilsson and Conway Tearle in the featured roles, with Mae Allison, Ian Keith, Jean Hersholt and Lucy Beaumont among others carrying conspicuous parts.

Frances Hodgson Burnett Story

IN point of story value, "September Love" is one of the most noteworthy of the pictures offered in the Banner Group. That is the title selected for a novel by Frances Hodgson Burnett, "The Head of the House of Coombe," which for years has held a place among the best sellers.

With rare skill the author has developed several leading characters and placed them in a position whereby a story of dramatic conflict is naturally worked out as the result of conflicting emotions and ambitions. In the role of "Feather," Mrs. Burnett has created a woman who stands unique in fiction and one that offers an exceptional opportunity for an unusual screen portrayal. Other figures in the story, which is a genuine prize for motion pictures, are equally vital.

Two Robert Kane Specials

THE current year has brought no more sensational success than that of Robert Kane as a producer for First National Pictures. Working quietly and systematically and without a great flourish of preliminary boosting, Mr. Kane first startled the trade with his "New Commandment" following through with what is conceded to be one of the best comedies of the year, "Bluebeard's Seven Wives," then "The Reckless Lady" and "The Dancer of Paris" and finally "The Wilderness Woman" just completed. By actual box office reports, these pictures have proven to be among the best money-makers on the First National program.

For 1926-27 Mr. Kane is now engaged in the initial preparations for two elaborate specials which bid fair to excel even the most popular of his preceding productions. Because they contain ideas which Mr. Kane feels it best not to disclose at the present, details concerning the coming specials are withheld. Full information will be forthcoming in due time. It is understood that the producer has secured two of the most sought after stories of the day and that several of the biggest box-office names on the screen will be numbered in the casts.

"Sinners in Paradise"

JUNE MATHIS, now acting as a producer for First National in adition to her editorial work has selected a thrilling, colorful and supremely dramatic story in "Sinners in Paradise," an adaptation of a story by Clarence Buddington Kelland, originally called "Nazareth." The locale of "Sinners in Paradise" passes all the way from the low dives of a city to the flaming deserts of Arabia, where Rhoda Fair and the man she loves find an adjustment to themselves and the truths of life.

Into the story there comes a very wise old man who, in the course of time, tells them that he is the Wandering Jew, the man who was condemned by Christ to wander over the face of the earth until Christ comes again. He had the wisdom of the ages which he imparts to these young people. Through his influence Rhoda sees the light and renounces a career of crime and Paul is made to believe in the existence of a God. As in the case of "The Greater Glory," also a June Mathis production, "Sinners in Paradise" will be produced on a lavish scale.

Constance in Romance and Comedy Plays a Highlight of Group

"The Crystal Cup" With Mackaill

GERTRUDE ATHERTON has outdone her sensationally successful "Black Oxen" in "The Crystal Cup," a searching, analytical study of sex psychology, picture rights to which have been secured by First National.

Loathing men and resentful of her sex, Gita Carteret finally consents to marry Eustace Bylant, a novelist, merely for the intellectual companionship which she craves. Presently, Eustace tires of the loveless existence and one night when he seeks entrance into his wife's room, she shoots him, mistaking the intruder for a burglar. It develops that Gita as formed an emotional attachment for the young physician who saves her husband's life. Out of this triangle, Mrs. Atherton, with her intuitive sense of feminine reactions, has developed a story unusual as it is significant and pertinent to life of the day. This will be an Earl Hudson production featuring Dorothy Macknaill in the role of the mystifying Gita Carteret.

Ben Lyon a Florida Sheik

BEN LYON is a new sort of sheik in "The Sheik of Florida," adapted from a story by George F. Whorts. The popular First National leading man is only a mechanic in a garage, but with carefully oiled hair and an ingratiating manner he manages to make an impression on the girls of Miami, particularly a society beauty whom he rescues from the water. He finds that Annie has a tract of coast property, her only legacy from her father, and that an unscrupulous real estate operator is scheming to get it away from her. Then it develops that the impecunious garage attendant makes a fortune out of an investment he had almost forgotten and once more, this time financially, he comes to the rescue of Annie.

"The Sheik of Florida" offers snappy comedy and engaging romance against the colorful background of Miami.

"Subway Sadie" a New York Tale

EVERYONE who has lived in New York, visited New York or read about New York will be interested in "Subway Sadie," a story as true to the atmosphere of the metropolis as O. Henry at his best.

Sadie Hermann, employed in a New York fur store, is ambitious to progress and being a pretty girl, she has opportunities of one sort or another. But one night, in a subway jam, she is catapulted into the arms of Herbert McCarthy, subway guard. It is love at first sight and Sadie is preparing to give up her ambition for a business career when a chance comes to visit Paris as a representative of her firm. She tells Herb that she cannot be a poor man's wife after all, and is about to go abroad when she learns that her former fiance has been seriously injured and sent to a hospital. Immediately, love for Herbert becomes her one dominant emotion. She rushes to his bedside and the Paris trip is indefinitely postponed.

Constance Talmadge, First National Star

Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall will be featured in "Subway Sadie," an Alfred Santell production made under the production management of Al Rockett.

Kenyon Cast for "Bed & Board"

IN "Bed and Board," the author, Lenore Coffee, handles with uncompromising directness some of the questions most pertinent to marriage. It is a dynamic theme and one that will have particular appeal to women.

Polly Fosdick, after three years of pampered luxury as the wife of a prosperous business man, rebels at things in general because she has nothing to occupy her mind. Gleaning from a book on the subject of women's bondage the idea that she herself belongs to an army of married martyrs, she leaves her husband and joins forces with several divorcees who lead a dissatisfied existence in a fashionable New York apartment. This situation is preliminary to the experiences which awaken Polly to a realization of what freedom actually is.

Doris Kenyon is ideally cast in the role of Polly.

Tearle in Oppenheim Thriller

FLASH, dash, color, the glamour of a race track and the nerve-tingling thrill of Monte Carlo are found in E. Phillips Oppenheim's story "The Duke of Ladies" to be presented by Robert Kane with Conway Tearle in the stellar role.

This engrossing novel is made to order for picture treatment in its rush of incidents and wealth of characterization. With the debonnaire Mr. Tearle in the role of the duke, Mr. Kane is now selecting a supporting cast of players, temperamentally and physically suited to the romantic nature of the story. Howard Higgin will direct from a scenario by Julie Herne.

"Lady Be Good" a Stage Success

A BUBBLING comedy to rank with "Irene" and "Sally" will be "Lady Be Good," adapted from the musical play by Guy Bolton and Fred Thompson, which during a long run on Broadway, achieved lasting fame with a vast audience of theatre patrons.

The success "Lady Be Good" enjoyed in New York was duplicated on the road. Therefore, there is a ready-made audience for the picture version which will be replete with comedy situations and enlivened by the atmosphere of gaiety which contributed so largely to the triumph of the stage version of the play.

"The Charleston Kid"

UNDER the provocative title of "The Charleston Kid," "Even Stephen," a story by John Beaumont will be produced by Alfred Santell. The story was published in Red Book Magazine where it attracted attention because of its unusual possibilities.

The plot concerns the close friendship of two young gangsters and their love for the same girl, which, strangely enough, instead of separating them, brings them closer together. Gambling houses, amusement parks and cheap lodging house rooms provide most of the locale for the story in which the characterizations run true to form. But through all the sordidness there shines a light of friendship and love that has an ennobling and redeeming influence.

Corinne Griffith's Greatest Work Promised for Banner Group

"Daring Venus" Circus Sensation

HELGA PETERSON, porfessionally known as "Venus," one of the "Five Daring Petersons," tired of being continually pointed out as a freak because of the spectacular stunts which she has performed since childhood, determines to break away from her family and begin life anew. She applies for the position of companion and nurse to a young man of an aristocratic family who has been shell-shocked during the war and has lapses of memory. Soon she marries her patient with consequences at once dramatic and unexpected.

This situation was developed with ingenious skill in "The Daring Venus," an adaptation of "The Swinging Goddess," a novel by Marjorie Chalmers Carleton, which will be enacted by a cast comprising a number of First National's most popular players.

"The Shock Absorber"

TWO-FISTED, hard-riding cowboys of the western plains, double-crossing politicians in New York and an aggressive woman who knows how to beat men at their own game, figure in "The Shock Absorber," a story by William Dudley Pelley, whose writings have been productive of some of the best pictures of the past few years. The theme of "The Shock Absorber" is up to the moment in interest and the characters are sharply drawn, individual enough to make them distinct, yet typical of varying phases of American life. As it is planned for production by First National, "The Shock Absorber" will offer unusual variety in settings and action, all the while developing a theme to its logical conclusion.

"Don Juan's Three Nights"

WITH amusing cleverness, Ludwig Biro depicts the irony of life in "Don Juan's Three Nights," the title of his novel which will be produced as a picture by John Francis Dillon. A strong cast includes Lewis Stone, Shirley Mason, Malcolm McGregor and Myrtle Stedman.

Ninette, a quaint and unusual child, becomes acquainted with John Aradi, a great tenor and the idol of women. Aradi appoints himself the child's guardian and having instilled in her principles calculated to make an ideal woman, finds a husband for her. After she is married, he tries to assume the role of lover and then discovers what perfect job he has made of transformation in the girl. His overtures are met with the assurance that she loves her husband and proposes to remain faithful to him.

Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes

MARY ASTOR and Lloyd Hughes, one of the most popular combinations on the screen, will have roles calculated to bring out their most likable qualities in the screen version of "Forever After," the popular stage play by Owen Davis.

The spirt of college life and the self-sacrificing heroism and idealism of youth are found in this appealing story of two young people who start on the road to happiness together and find unexpected obstacles in their path. Many of the scenes transpire in a college environment where one of the big climaxes of the story revolves around the outcome of a college boat race with the hero as one of the crew. Just before the crews are called, Ted receives a telegram announcing that his father has died, but Jennie persuades him to go through with the race. After he has done his part, he returns home where he finds finances to be in bad shape and his mother ill. Accepting the job of a drug store clerk, he decides to sacrifice his love for Jennie. Then comes the war in which Ted is wounded and nursed back to health by his devoted sweetheart who does not care whether he is rich or poor.

Corinne Griffith, First National Star

Story of New York Underworld

THE underworld of New York with all its romance and thrill and glamour will be depicted in "Hell's Kitchen" by John A. Morosco, a Robert Kane production.

Because of his conspicuous success with previous pictures, Mr. Kane has selected Howard Higgin to direct this intensely dramatic story. George M. C. Fowler is writing the scenario.

Sir Philip Gibbs' Story

SIR PHILIP GIBBS, who is preeminently the authoritative author of post-war stories, wrote "Out of the Ruins," which first appeared in Cosmopolitan Magazine. While the army forms the background for this story, it is distinctly a personal drama in which the love element is the dominant motive.

With his customary fidelity to character, Sir Philip Gibbs has conceived interesting figures for the central roles in a plot that is highly novel.

Robert Kane Productions

"FRENCH DRESSING," one of the Robert Kane productions scheduled for the Banner Group, will satirize the cloak and suit industry in somewhat the same fashion that "Bluebeard's Seven Wives' satirized the making of motion pictures. Mr. Kane is planning a production based on a highly original comedy treatment of characters and conditions that will be generally familiar to the American picture-going public. The cast will include a number of those who scored conspicuously in "Bluebeard's Seven Wives," including Ben Lyon and Sam Hardy. Others already selected are Lowell Sherman and Aileen Pringle.

Another Robert Kane production will be "Peacocks of Paris," a brilliant presentation of the colorful life in the French metropolis. The cast includes Ben Lyon, Dorothy Mackaill, Lowell Sherman and Sam Hardy.

"Riders of the Wind"

AT the age of seventeen, when Alexandra Marley looked upon marriage as a Great Adventure, she became the wife of a man twice her age. Ten years of domestic struggle pass with Alexandra praying for a chance to "ride the winds of adventure." The last of her Viking line, with the blood of daring sea rovers in her veins, the constricted life in a gloomy Bloomsbury manor, overloaded with family traditions, is far from satisfying. Just at this critical moment an artist comes into the life of Alexandra with consequences as disturbing as they are interesting. Elswyth Thane is the author of ''Riders of the Wind,'' which will be adapted into a spectacular romance.

Strong Stories for Barthelmess Series for First National

Strong in Feminine Interest

''THE MASKED WOMAN'' is a play by Kate Jordan based on the French by Charles Mere. It was successfully presented by A. H. Woods at the Eltinge Theatre with a cast that included Lowell Sherman in the principal role. The story offers plenty of action and emotional conflict well suited to screen interpretation.

The unquenchable urge of mother love is the theme of ''Purple and Fine Linen,'' a story by May Edginton, which first appeared in Collier's Magazine. It offers a wonderful opportunity for the actress in the leading role who finds herself destitute in the streets of London. She steals a wallet from a man she meets by chance and spends the money on an expensive wardrobe in order that she may appear to advantage when she meets her daughter. The ensuing happenings carry a heart-rending appeal before the lonely woman finds protection and comfort.

A story of quite a different character and one that is no less true in its study of feminine psychology is ''The Hat of Destiny,'' by Mrs. T. P. O'Connor, which will be a June Mathis production.

Popular Play and Best Seller

''MY WIFE'S FRIEND'' is the title selected for a play by Sir Patrick Hastings, entitled ''The River.'' It presents some new twists to the domestic triangle at the points of which stand an English army officer, his beautiful young wife and the inevitable lover. Much of the action in this intense drama is laid on the west coast of Africa.

Another story with an English background is ''Hounds of Spring,'' a best selling novel by Sylvia Thompson, which opens a short time before the Great War and carries the characters through the hectic years that follow. The wide popularity of the book in this country as well as England has given the picture advance advertising of inestimable value.

THE power of the simple virtues of life to triumph over the greed of wealth is sympathetically revealed in a story by Dixie Wilson, entitled ''Here Y'are Brother.'' It goes to show how strangely lives are crossed and how they all may be woven into the same pattern. A wealthy, middle-aged man, who has been accustomed to buying everything he wants, decides to purchase the love of a young girl who has attracted him. For a time it appears he may be successful until the influence of a kindly and unselfish clerk who honestly loves the girl exerts itself.

"Here Y'are Brother" and "The Blonde Saint"

''The Isle of Life,'' a novel by Stephen French Whitman, is the basis for a picture entitled ''The Blonde Saint,'' who is none other than Ghirlaine Bellamy, the daughter of an aristocratic New York family. Her beauty, charm and fortune make her a prominent figure in social circles in Europe as well as America. But, strange to say, she has remained unmoved by the attentions of men. She still believes that there must be but one man for one woman and the story goes to show how she tests her theory.

Richard Barthelmess, First National Star

Popular Authors' Best Sellers

FERENC MOLNAR is the author of ''Prisoners,'' a novel translated from the Hungarian. The central character is a young girl from a provincial town in Hungary, who goes to Budapest to reform after a lurid career. Employed as a waitress in a pastry shop, she soon yields to temptation and steals from the cash register. Her defense is undertaken by a young student lawyer and there begins a friendship that has far reaching results in the working out of the drama.

''Midnight Lovers,'' a dramatic story with army life in England for its background, is another subject that promises much on the screen.

''The Desperate Woman'' is strictly modern in theme, dealing with the efforts of a young woman to fight her meddlesome and conventional family's determination to get her married.

In ''Jailbirds,'' W. H. Clifford has written an amusing comedy telling how the son of a multi-millionaire makes good, both in love and in business when thrown on his own resources.

In ''Mike Donovan of Ireland,'' by Guy Fletcher, a handsome Irishman, by profession an exhibition boxer, sets out to win fame and fortune in the prize ring. Then he falls in love with a designing young woman and between his love and his fighting, Mike Donovan experiences no end of trouble.

Ken Maynard Series

KEN MAYNARD, the cowboy actor whom First National has secured for a feature series, bids fair to become one of the big box office attractions during the coming year. The Maynard pictures will be western in character, but they will mark a great advance over the conventional western, both in story substance and treatment.

The purpose of C. R. Rogers, who is producing the Maynard pictures, is to introduce a virile type of thrilling out-of-door story that will be as suitable to the largest theatres as it is to the smaller ones, where audiences are partial to western productions.

Maynard, with his famous horse Tarzan, is now working on the first of his Innovation Series, a picture entitled ''Senor Daredevil.'' This will be followed by ''Gun Gospel,'' a fast moving story by W. D. Hoffman, ''The Unknown Cavalier'' and ''The Flame of the Border.''

The Maynard series brings a new element of entertainment to the First National program.

Elaborate Summer Schedule

FIRST NATIONAL has taken care of the Spring and Summer months with some of the best pictures on its entire program. A special effort is being made by the sales force to meet the needs of exhibitors who are preparing to beat the summer slump bugaboo.

‘‘Men of Steel’’ Stars Milton Sills In Stirring Dramatic Role

For the month of May, five productions of unusual importance are announced, including Colleen Moore in ‘‘Ella Cinders,’’ Richard Barthelmess in ‘‘Ranson’s Folly,’’ ‘‘Sweet Daddies,’’ ‘‘Miss Nobody’’ and ‘‘The Wise Guy.’’ Every one of these pictures has high box-office valuation.

In ‘‘Ella Cinders,’’ Colleen Moore has a story combining humor and pathos, based on the cartoon characterizations by William Conselman and Charlie Plumb.

Ella Cinders lived with her stepmother and two stepsisters, the fat one Lotta Pill, and the thin one Prissy Pill. Ella was merely a slavey in the Cinders house. She cooked, scrubbed, sewed, washed, tended the furnace and in between times dreamed of one day seeing a movie star in person. Her father had left Ma Cinders years before because he couldn't stand her nagging any longer.

Then came a movie contest, the winning girl to be sent to Hollywood to become a star. As a preliminary to the contest, there was a ball to which Ella longed to go, but it seemed that she would have to stay at home, until there came a fairy helper in the person of Prince Waite, who insisted that she accompany him. Through a strange turn of events, Ella is awarded the prize and lands in Hollywood where she scores an unexpected triumph. Prince Waite follows her and, of course, ends by marrying the movie queen.

‘‘Ella Cinders’’ is an important addition to Miss Moore’s long line of screen portrayals. Alfred E. Green directed the picture from a continuity by Julian Josephson. Lloyd Hughes, Vera Lewis, Jed Prouty and Mike Donlin are included in the cast.

‘‘Ranson’s Folly’’ Completed

‘‘RANSON’S FOLLY,’’ the Inspiration production adapted from the famous Richard Harding Davis story dealing with army life of an earlier period, has just been completed by Barthelmess on the Coast. As Lt. Ranson, Barthelmess gives a virile characterization in a story at once dramatic and romantic and reminiscent of a glamourous period in military history. Dorothy Mackaill has the principal role in support of the star under the direction of Sidney Olcott.

Lt. Ranson, a young officer, had joined the United States Army for the excitement and danger it offered. After a satisfying experience fighting Indians, he is transferred to Ft. Crockett, where life is dull and monotonous. He forms an attachment for Mary Cahill, daughter of the trader.

A building containing explosives catches fire and Lt. Ranson, in violation of his orders, goes in at the risk of his life, carries out the explosives, and saves the post. He is arrested for disobedience, but is later commended for his bravery.

There is a bandit operating in the neighborhood, known as the ‘‘Red Rider’’ because he is always disguised in a red bandana and poncho. Ranson hears of him from brother officers, and belittles his exploits, claiming that he could hold up a stage any day with a pair of scissors. Moreover, he decides to make good his boast, seizes a red bandana and poncho, a pair of scissors and makes off, to the dismay of his comrades.

Milton Sills, First National Star

Lt. Ranson’s holds up the stage as a harmless prank. In it are Miss Post and her aunt, coming to the Fort to visit Col. Bolland. Ranson had bragged that he would dance with Miss Post after holding up the stage. He doubles back to the Post, dons his dress uniform and claims his dance with the girl. While dancing, word arrives that the paymaster following the stage in a buckboard, has been held up and his bodyguard shot by the ‘‘Red Rider.’’ The chain of circumstances makes it appear that Ranson is guilty and what started out as a prank results in a serious situation.

‘‘Ranson’s Folly’’ is conceded to be one of the best of Richard Harding Davis’ stories and offers ideal material for a picture of adventure and romance.

‘‘Sweet Daddies’’ Colorful Story

M. C. LEVEE is the producer of ‘‘Sweet Daddies,’’ based on a story by Kenyon Gambier. Against the colorful background of the Bahama Islands, with much of the action transpiring on ships running between the isles and the United States, the director of ‘‘Sweet Daddies’’ has evolved a highly exciting narrative of unexpected adventures. The plot of the picture is rich in possibilities which have been fully utilized by the director, Alfred A. Santell. In the cast are Charlie Murray, George Sidney, Vera Gordon, Kate Price, Jack Mulhall, Gaston Glass and Jobyna Ralston.

‘‘Miss Nobody,’’ the release for May 16, is an adaptation of a story by Tiffany Wells, originally entitled ‘‘Shebo.’’ In this picture Anna Q. Nilsson plays the character of a young girl who finds herself thrust upon the world without money or friends. Her experiences, as she develops from girlhood to womanhood and finds the man of her choice, are as unusual as they are interesting.

‘‘Miss Nobody’’ is Barbara Brown, who leaves Paris for New York, only to find on her arrival that her father has died, leaving her penniless. A year later, in San Francisco, she accepts an invitation to a party only because she is hungry. She is forced to leave the house where the party is in progress by disguising herself in boy’s clothing, because of the too ardent attentions of the master of the home. She falls in with a gang of tramps who mistake her for a boy, with the exception of Bravo, who remembers a ring she is wearing and recalls having seen the young woman before.

After a time of wandering, during which Miss Nobody continues to pass as a boy, romance develops between her and Bravo. How they reinstate themselves as useful members of society is unfolded in the story.

Lamber Hillyer directed ‘‘Miss Nobody,’’ with Walter Pidgeon, Mitchell Lewis, Jed Prouty, Clyde Cook, Arthur Stone and a number of other popular players in the cast.

Strong Dramatic Production

ACCORDING to reports, Frank Lloyd has made a picture of strong, dramatic qualities in ‘‘The Wise Guy,’’ based on the story by Jules Furthman, adapted by Adele Rogers St. John.

‘‘The ‘‘Wise Guy’’ was so called because of the magnetism of his personality.

Langdon Comedies Carry a Punch Say Leading Screen Critics

He could sell anything, and he did. He sold fake medicine from a traveling medicine show's stage, while his pals, the Bozo, Hula Kate, and Ma, circulated through the crowd and picked the onlooker's pockets. The professor, Ma's husband, aided on the stage. One day a little mission took away all the customers of the medicine show. Hula Kate flipped and twirled her grass skirt in vain. So the gang decided that they, too would start a mission. Guy Watson, "The Wise Guy," knew enough about religion to preach, and Hula Kate played the organ. Their first assignment was the sermon at the funeral of an unknown man at a small country cemetary. Guy showed in his sermon that he really had a message for the world.

The daughter of the dead man, Mary, was so sold on Guy's preaching that she asked to be allowed to go along with the mission outfit. Guy did so, because he thought the girl's saintly face would lend a good atmosphere to the troupe. Hula Kate, however, was jealous of Mary, and was one day looking through her trunk when she came on an old Bible. Mary entered that moment and fiercely grabbed the Bible from Kate, saying that it was her dearest remembrance of her father. Kate had her suspicions.

The success of the "Wise Guy" was rapid, but gradually Ma and the Professor became entangled in the very net they were spreading for the gullible. They started to "get religion," with results that the author has woven into an engrossing story. Associated with Mr. Kirkwood in the cast are Mary Astor, George Cooper, Mary Carr, Betty Compson and other popular players.

Harry Langdon, First National Star

Well Supplied for June

FOR the month of June First National has four motion pictures that should mean money to the exhibitor. They are "The Savage," an Earl Hudson production; "Puppets," the first of A. L. Rockett's pictures starring Milton Sills; "The Great Reception," a Robert Kane production, and "Senor Daredevil," the first of the super-Westerns presenting Ken Maynard, the cowboy-actor.

"The Savage" is adapted from a story by Ernest Pascal, with Ben Lyon and May McAvoy in featured roles. Most of the exteriors for the production were made in Florida, under the direction of Fred Newmeyer.

Danny Terry, wild animal expert for a scientific magazine, goes to the Mariposa Islands and plays the part of a white savage to put over a hoax on a rival magazine that has representatives accompanying Professor Atwater, who is searching for the lost white savages. He is found and brought back to New York and placed on exhibition at a jungle ball which Mrs. Atwater gives to celebrate the announcement of the betrothal of her daughter to Howard Kipp.

At the ball Terry's editor appears and tries to expose the hoax, but Terry has falen in love with Ysabel and refuses to expose her father. To save exposure he escapes from the cage and leaps out the window, with the guests in pursuit. At the ball Ysabel has discovered her fiance with another girl, so breaks her engagement. She rushes after Terry and tells him she knows he is a fake. But Terry grabs her in his arms and carries her with him to a log cabin on a neighboring estate. There he tells her he loves her, and she knows that it is not in vain, but tells him to wait until he has escaped. Terry finds a razor in the cabin, shaves off his beard, and when the pursuers arrive he is lying on the floor and Ysabel has her hair down and clothing disarranged as though attacked by the savage.

They claim that the savage went through the window, and as the crowd goes on with the hunt they smile and embrace, and the picture ends with Terry and Ysabel finding their real happiness.

Milton Sills in "Puppets"

IN "Puppets" Milton Sills has an excellent opportunity in the character of the principal figure in the story adapted from a play by Frances Lightner. Gertrude Olmstead has the principal role in support of Mr. Sills, under the direction of George Archainbaud. Others in the cast are Francis McDonald, Mathilde Comont, Lucian Prival, William Ricciardi, Nicola Riccobini. The puppet master and owner of a show is a dominant fellow, whose word is law in the official family that has its living quarters in the rear of a theatre. Handsome, energetic, essentially a man of action, Nicki presents a direct contrast in temperament to Bruno, a young cousin, whom he has brought over from Italy and whom he cherishes with an almost parental affection. Bruno, ten years younger than Nicki, is of a dreamy, poetic nature, romantic in appearance but a weakling in character. There is also Sandro, the veteran handyman; Rosa, the Italian wardrobe mistress, and last, but not least, Frank Mohacz, the piano player for the show, a sinister youth, who betrays girls and sells them to white slavers.

Into this place comes a slip of a girl, Angela, an orphan, who has run away from relatives in Georgia. Angela has a certain wistful charm, blended in youth and innocence and slender frailty. Entranced by the dolls, she wanders into the theatre and Nicki falls in love with her. He asks her to marry him, which she consents to do, even as the marionettes are moved on their strings by his strong will. And within the hour, Nicki is summoned to war and leaves to join the Italian colors.

Three years pass. Nicki is reported dead. Youth calls to youth, and Angela finds herself in Bruno's arms. At this critical junction, Nicki returns, eager for the welcome of his girl-wife. This critical situation is worked into a story of intense emotional conflict.

Production From Robert Kane

IN "The Great Deception," Robert Kane has taken a story, "The Yellow Dove," by George Gibbs, and adapted it to picture purposes. Paul Bern wrote the scenario and Howard Higgin, who has been so successful with earlier Kane productions, will direct. Thus far those selected for the cast are Ben Lyon, Aileen Pringle, Charlotte Walker and Sam Hardy.

For the first Ken Maynard picture, C. R. Rogers has selected a story by Marion Jackson entitled "Senor Daredevil." It is a rapid-action drama of the West, scenes being laid in the isolated town of Sonora, which is dependent upon the freighters led by Tiger O'Flagherty for its supplies. Jesse Wilks, a politician, is secretly the man behind a gang of bandits which consistently tries to interrupt the freighters' service, so that the miners will leave Sonora and Wilks may buy the valuable mining rights at a low price. Sally Blake, ward of the "Tiger," conducts the restaurant in Sonora. The "Tiger" is wounded in one of the bandit raids and Wilks gets himself made head of the freighters.

Biggest Season for Johnny Hines Provided for in New Series

Then the Tiger's son, who has been living in Mexico, hearing that his father has ben laid low, appears upon the scene to carry out the traditions of the family.

Because of has daring exploits, he becomes known as Senor Daredevil. He falls in love with Sally Blake and, after he has routed the gang of bandits, makes the girl his wife. Carried at a fast tempo from start to finish, this picture is an ideal starter for the Ken Maynard series.

Starting with Johnny Hines, in "The Brown Derby," July 4, First National has four exceptional pictures scheduled for release during the month in which exhibitors generally have little to pick from. The other three productions announced are "Mismates," "Pals First" and "The Duchess of Buffalo."

Charles C. Burr promises that "The Brown Derby" is going to be even funnier than Hines' two preceding pictures for First National, "The Live Wire" and "Rainbow Riley." The entire company, under the direction of Charles Hines, brother of the star, spent about six weeks in Florida, getting just the right atmosphere for the story. Before production was started, associates spent a number of weeks working over the scenario and getting a choice selection of novelty gags. "The Brown Derby" is an adaptation of a musical play by Francis S. Merlin and Bryan Marlow. Two new leading women are introduced in this picture, Diana Kane and Ruth Dwyer. Others prominent in the cast are Bradley Barker, Herbert Standing and Harold Forshay.

A play by Myron C. Fagan is the basis of "Mismates," an Earl Hudson production, for which Sada Cowan wrote the scenario. Charles Brabin is directing a cast, including Doris Kenyon, Charlie Murray, Philo McCullough, Warner Baxter, Nancy Kelly, Mae Allison and Maude Turner Gordon. Scenes are now being made at the New York studios.

According to the story, Jim Winslow, son of wealth, weds Judy O'Grady, manicurist, and is cut off by his parents. Forced to earn his own living, he tires of the poverty and struggle and appeals to his parents, who demand he divorce Judy. Judy secures work when Jim proposes she allow him to divorce her and take their child, Jimmy, to his parents to be reared. She will not give up her child or allow the divorce, so hopes her earnings will help.

Unwittingly, she takes a position at a beauty establishment which is used as a blind for a gang of criminals. Judy is innocently involved and is arrested. When she is bailed out she finds her husband has taken her child, who is dangerously ill, to his mother's. Judy is convicted by false testimony of her husband and is sent to prison. Before she goes, Jim tells her their child is dead, and she vows to "get" him when she gets out. She is defended by Ted Wilson, a young lawyer, who was her former sweetheart.

Johnny Hines, First National Star

Judy escapes from prison, secures a revolver and makes her way into Jim's home during a masked ball. She gets Jim into a room and is about to shoot him when the door opens and little Jimmy, her child, toddles in. Mother love drowns out thoughts of revenge. Just then Ted Wilson arrives and announces he has secured the proof of her innocence and assures her of a pardon. When she learns Jim has divorced her, she and Wilson are united.

"Pals First" is an Edwin Carewe production, made from a story first written by Francis Perry Elliott and published in novel form. Later it was made into a play by Lee Wilson Dodd which enjoyed a successful run on Broadway. This play is the foundation of the coming picture which Carewe will present with a cast of screen favorites.

Briefly characterized, "Pals First" is a story of the South; of two jailbird tramps, one young, one old, who lost out in the shuffle of life and then play their hands to win love, liberty and happiness. For important roles in this production, the following players have been selected: Lloyd Hughes, Dolores Del Rio, George Cooper, Alec B. Francis, George Reed, Alice Nichols and Edward Earle.

Constance Talmadge will be seen in an original story by Hans Kraly, who has been so conspicuously successful in his earlier writings for the Joseph M. Schenck stars. The title of the coming picture for Constance is "The Duchess of Buffalo," which promises to be a worthy successor to her tremendously popular "Her Sister from Paris."

At the present time three of the strongest pictures on the entire program are dated for August, with Colleen Moore in "Delicatessen," Corinne Griffith in "Into Her Kingdom" and Leon Errol in "The Lunatic at Large." These pictures will take care of the first three weeks of the month.

"Delicatessen" is an adaptation of a story by Brooke Hanlon, published in the "Saturday Evening Post," and will give Miss Moore a new type of character to add to her long list of successes. Alfred E. Green has been chosen to direct the picture from a scenario by Julien Josephson. Jean Hersholt and Dorothy Seastrom are two of the players thus far selected for the cast. Having completed "Ella Cinders," Miss Moore is now starting the actual production of "Delicatessen."

The Corinne Griffith picture, "Into Her Kingdom," is taken from a story by Ruth Comfort Mitchell, the scenario for which was written by Carey Wilson. Svend Gade, the famous Swedish director, was engaged especially for this production, which deals in a romantic fashion with the affairs of Grand Duchess Tatiana, played by Miss Griffith.

Upon the death of his father, Stepan is taken by his tutor to relatives in Russia. Here he grows to manhood, influenced by the disinterest of his uncle, who never displays any concern in life other than that of bitterest contempt for the royal family. Soon the boy falls into the same category of thought and action, and when one day he sees the Grand Duchess Tatiana riding, while he is walking with his old tutor, who knows both families intimately, and is rebuked for picking up the Grand Duchess' cap, which is blown from her head, he solemnly vows to avenge the gross insult.

Leon Errol in Series of Comedies Produced on Elaborate Scale

Later, when the Romanoffs are in the hands of the Reds and about to be brought before the firing squad, Ivan, the tutor, goes to the Grand Duchess and asks to help her, but she proudly refuses. Then he goes to Stepan and asks him to save the Grand Duchess. Stepan, declines, but Ivan convinces him that he really envies the Grand Duchess rather than hates her and proposes that Stepan marry her and leave the country with her. This plan is followed, and when Stepan and his bride become established in a small New Jersey town the Grand Duchess becomes a housewife. In this phase of the story the Grand Duchess is distinctly unhappy and Stepan returns to Russia. How these two temperamental people work out their vexed careers provides an intriguing story.

New First National Plant Under Construction

WITH architects' plans completedand actual construction now under way, the new First National Studios at Burbank, Cal., to cost over $1,500,000, and designed to be the finest in the world, are close to becoming a reality.

On a site three miles from the heart of Los Angeles, but a few miles from one of the oldest California missions and nearer still to the Church of the Angels, California's ancient and picturesque place of wworship, there soon will rise a studio plant of surpassing beauty and affording every latest mechanical device that can contribute to the making of motion pictures.

As befits the tradions of this section of the country, the great studios will maintain a uniformity in Spanish architecture. While equipped with every technical improvement requisite for production efficiency, the architects plan to have the whirl of the production machinery muffled in the serene quiet of the old Spanish missions.

Harmonious Surroundings

THE studios are being erected as an ideal home for the functioning of all concerned in the making of First National pictures and due consideration is being given the need for harmonious surroundings of inspirational beauty where creative minds may work at east.

"We aim," said Richard A. Rowland, general manager of First National Pictures, "to keep the old Spanish background throughout, but within the exterior walls, everything that is modern and complete for the making of motion pictures, will be installed. Nothing will be spared in giving the players and technical workmen. the finest tools possible. The slightest detail will not be overlooked in any of the many departments.

"Under the personal supervision of C. P. Butler, one of First National's officials, the buildings are now taking shape. There will be some forty structures covering the acreage we control. Five of the main buildings will face the principal road, the others being within the walls of the plant and including ten stages, wardrobe buildings, prop buildings, dressing-room buildings, executive buildings and workships.

Leon Errol, First National Star

Largest Stage Space

"THE stage space that First National will control," continued Mr. Rowland, "will be the greatest in the world. Each stage will measure in size, approximately 155 x 250 feet or about 35,000 square feet to each stage.

"Heating will be mapped out in a unit system and will be controlled by a giant control board that will heat the largest or smallest part of any building or stage.

"Heating will be mapped out in a unit system and will be controlled by a giant control board that will heat the largest or smallest part of any building or stage.

"The main administration buildings," continued the executive, will be the last word in office efficiency and manipulation. Telephone connections for every desk are provided and one of the biggest switchboards in the West has already been ordered.

"Transportation both to the studio and within the walls of the plant has been given careful consideration. Trackless trains will be a feature. Flat card will be used to haul materials as well as players and workmen from one stage to another. Electricity will be the means of transportation.

"The stars will be housed in bungalows of Spanish design and the other players will be furnished duplex bungalows, also Spanish. A huge center court-yard will be one of the features with arcades leading from every building.

Beautiful in Design

"MUCH time is being devoted to the landscape details. A corps of the finest garden experts has been retailed for this important task. It is the purpose of the First National organization to make the new studios the most beautiful in design as well as the most perfect in equipment.

"Careful consideration is being given the rooms for the extra people to make up and dress in," continued Mr. Rowland. "The most modern buildings have been drafted for this purpose. Special mirrors and lighting equipment will be featured in these quarters. We have plans for the largest extra dressing-rooms in the world. There will be approximately 125 rooms set aside for the extra talent of the studio."

John McCormick, general manager of production activities on the West Coast, is highly enthusiastic over the new plant and is spending much time in conference with Mr. Butler and his associates on the countless details that are necessary for consideration during construction.

"Wardrobe buildings are important factors," said Mr. McCormick. The largest wardrobe buildings in the West have been outlined for the new studio. They will be equipped with wardrobes covering every period. Likewise the property buildings will be the best equipped in the country, containing period furniture and drapes and antiques, such as are constantly used in dressing the sets for our productions. There are 275,000 square feet in the property building alone, according to specifications. Hydraulic elevators will be utilized within these buildings and trackless trains will be in use in transporting the effects from the buildings to the respective stages where they will be used.

List Seven Specials For New Year

First National Featured Players. Conway Tearle, Norman Kerry, Blanche Sweet, Lowell Sherman and James Kirkwood.

Ample Room for Workers

"THE buildings for the scenario department and the directors will offer everything in comfort and convenience. Directors will be given five-room suites in which to work. These suits will house their assistants and their business offices. Such liberal space will give everyone ample room for work without confusion.

"One important item," said Mr. McCormick, "is the likht and power question. We will operate our own generator plant and this will be along the most improved lines. We will have six huge generators in service at all times.

"Our water facilities are ideal. We have more water supply on the property proper than in the entire Beverly Hills district. There are over 150 Miners inches of water with a flow of 1,350 gallons per minute. In addition, one border of our property is the Los Angeles river bed which can be utilized for many purposes in the making of films.

"Already plans for a giant water tower have been accepted. A pool that is one of the most unusual ever built, will be installed on the property. In this pool, we can film a storm of any degree. Depth bombs can be utilized with eas and any manner of water explosion can be given a full demonstration."

Summing up the new studios, both Mr. Rowland and Mr. McCormick feel they will be the last word in equipment and beauty and a show place for the entire country. Space will not permit numbering the many unique features and ingenious ideas that will be incorporated in the new plant. Among them are a special sawdust receiver which reflects heat in a vast area and makes a combination heater and incenerator. The research departments will be complete in every respect as will be the art department.

Emergency Hospital on Lot

A LIGHTING switchboard that can easily handle 30,000 volts has been ordered. An emergency hospital of the latest equipment will occupy one corner of the studio with a professional doctor and nurses in constant attendance. The cafe accommodations are to be the finest in the studio world, with a club cafe for the executives and directorial staff of the studio.

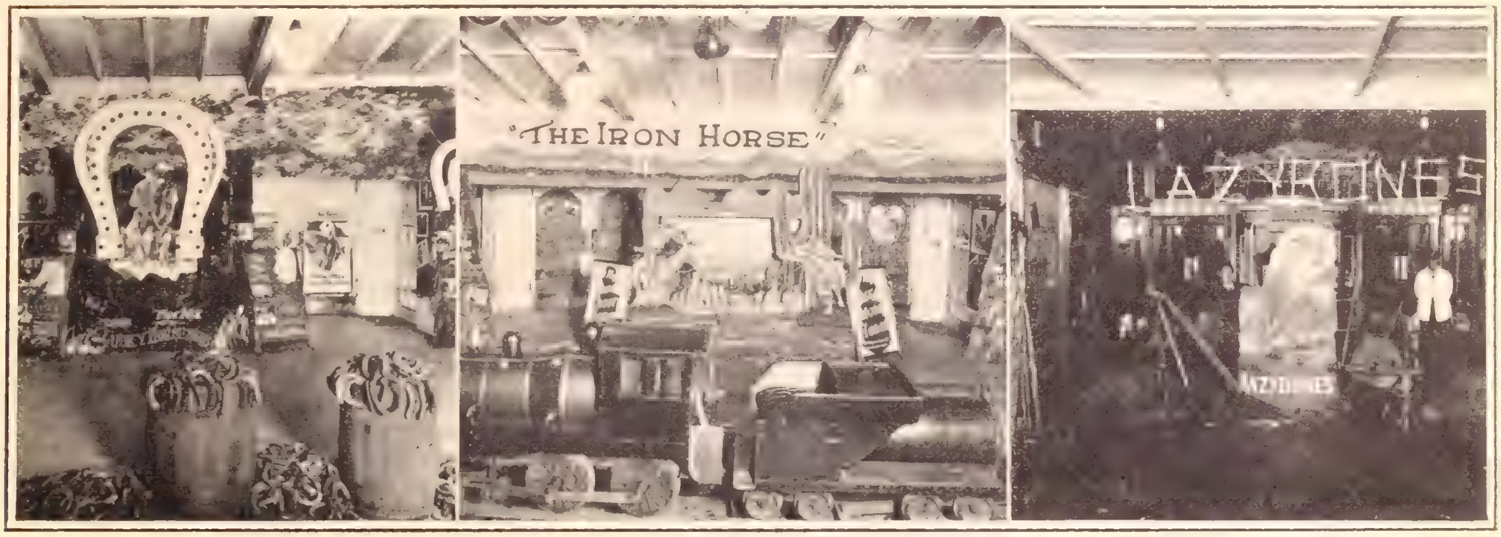
Other features include 50 trunk lines from the giant telephone switchboard, an inter-office communication system second to none, casting offices that will be comfortable for those seeking positions in the films and offices, a mill that will be the largest in the West, measuring 225 by 150 feet in size, excellent parking facilities, the latest and most convenient projection rooms and machines, a modern theatre that can be used for film previews of unreleased productions, with a regulation size screen, portrait galleries with expert operators for the stars and players, an individually owned transportation bus system operated by the studio and connecting with all car lines into the City of Los Angeles and Hollywood and surrounding towns, underground wiring, ground level stages, saving lifting and waste of time, paved streets within the studio yard reaching the main entrance of every building on the property, a modern garage and repair shop, facilities for clearing stages of smoke scenes within a few minutes time, conference rooms for executives of the Eastern offices of First National, a fully equipped still photo department, and many other special features suggested by years of actual experience.

First National Featured Players. Ben Lyon, Dorothy Mackaill, Lloyd Hughes, Barbara Bedford and Lewis Stone.

Birmingham, Ala., citizens turned out in large numbers to view the parade of the "Driverless Car" exploiting Johnny Hines' First National starring vehicles

THUR. TO SUN MAR 25 TO 28
SYD CHAPLIN
THUR. TO SUN MAR 25 TO 28
SYD CHAPLIN

"Oh What A Nurse" (Warner Bros.) was exploited in novel fashion in Union City, N. J., where the Lincoln Theatre used the frontal display and Ballyhoo shown above



How theatres featured three Fox productions in lobby displays. At the left is the "Lucky Horseshoe" arrangement at the Circle Theatre, Portland, Ore., and center the "Iron Horse" display at the same house, which is managed by Frank Hamberger. Right is the display for "Lazy Bones" at the Fifth Avenue Theatre in Nashville, Tenn.

First National's "Rainbow Riley" was widely exploited in Newark, N. J., by the management of Loew's State Theatre there. The window display, shown above, was a tie up with sporting goods of A. G. Spalding & Bros.

The racing car which ballyhooed Universal's "California Straight Ahead" in Hutchinson, Kans., is shown above. It was used by the Midland Theatre of that city and designed by Horck Ulrich, manager of that house

Campaigns for "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp"

Lively Stunts Used in Exploitation For New Langdon Feature

MODEL campaigns for "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp" have been staged in several towns where the feature has been presented at first-run theatres.

Six days before the production opened for a week's engagement at the Olympia Theater in Boston, a "Funny Fix" contest was launched by the Boston Traveller, with eight column streamers across the front pages urging readers to tell the paper what "Funny Fixes" Langdon found himself in during the course of the play.

Complimentary tickets and small cash prizes were the inducements for the contest which continued for four days and date with the picture. Shoe stores in Washington and Tremont Streets tied up with window displays.

Lou Brager, of New York, was in Cleveland, working up publicity on "Tramp, Tramp Tramp," which plays Loew's State Theatre this week. One of the things he did was to pick up a real tramp, a local product, and have him walk around in places where tramps are non persona grata. He walked into the Statler Hotel, and was promptly thrown out by the management. He wore no insignia identifying him with the picture. The following day he appeared on the streets with a vest which told his story.

Wheel Of Fortune Is Lobby Display For "Man Upstairs"

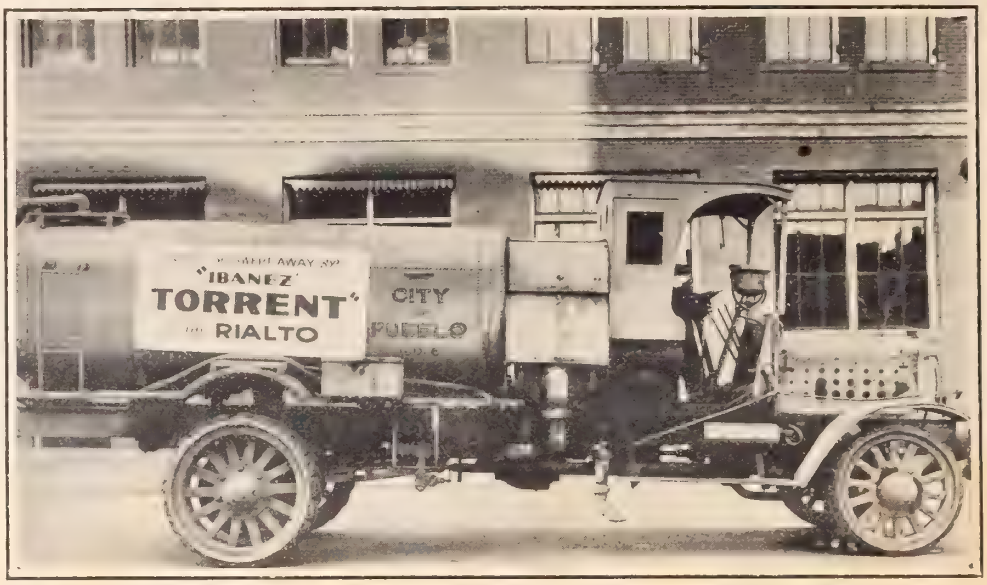
N. L. Royster, Managing Director of Warner's Broadway Theatre, Charlotte, N. C., put over a novelty stunt at a negative cost in connection with the showing of "The Man Upstairs."

Royster had a wheel of fortune rigged in his lobby three days before the opening of the picture. On this wheel were listed practically all of the Warner stars as well as some of their latest releases. Any person was privileged to play the wheel free of charge, but each one was entitled to only one turn of the wheel. If the pin stopped on Monte Blue, who is starred in "The Man Upstairs," the successful player received a free ticket to the picture showing.

"Skinner" Asks Saginaw Men For Loan of Dress Suit

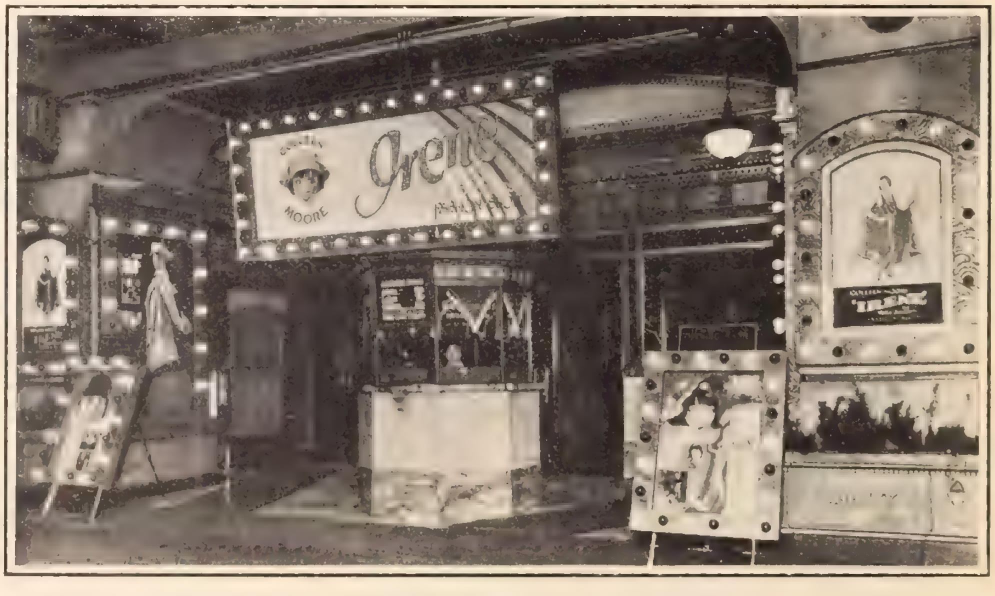
Charles Carlisle of the Mecca Theatre, Saginaw, Mich., assisted by F. Raoul Cleaver, Universal exploiteer, executed a novel and amusing campaign for "Skinner's Dress Suit." The stunt pivoted about post-cards sent to several men asking them to loan the sender, who signed himself "Skinner," a dress-suit for his appearance at the Mecca, and promising that if they did so they would receive a pass to the performance.

This was followed by an ad in the newspapers in which Carlisle signed his name to a statement that he was not responsible for the actions of this "Mr. Skinner," and that the latter would have to furnish his own dress-suit.



The management of the Rialto Theatre, Pueblo, Colo., obtained an appropriate and suggestive vehicle to ballyhoo for "The Torrent" (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer) as shown in the photo above.

Stills frozen into cakes of ice make a novel display for Pathe's "The Amundsen Polar Flight." Photo left shows suitable application of an old exploitation stunt used at the Antlers Theatre, Helena, Mont.



Display frames at the Liberty Theatre, Portland, Ore., are studded with incandescent lamps, an effective means of obtaining striking attraction value. The display shown above is for First National's "Irene"

7 big stories

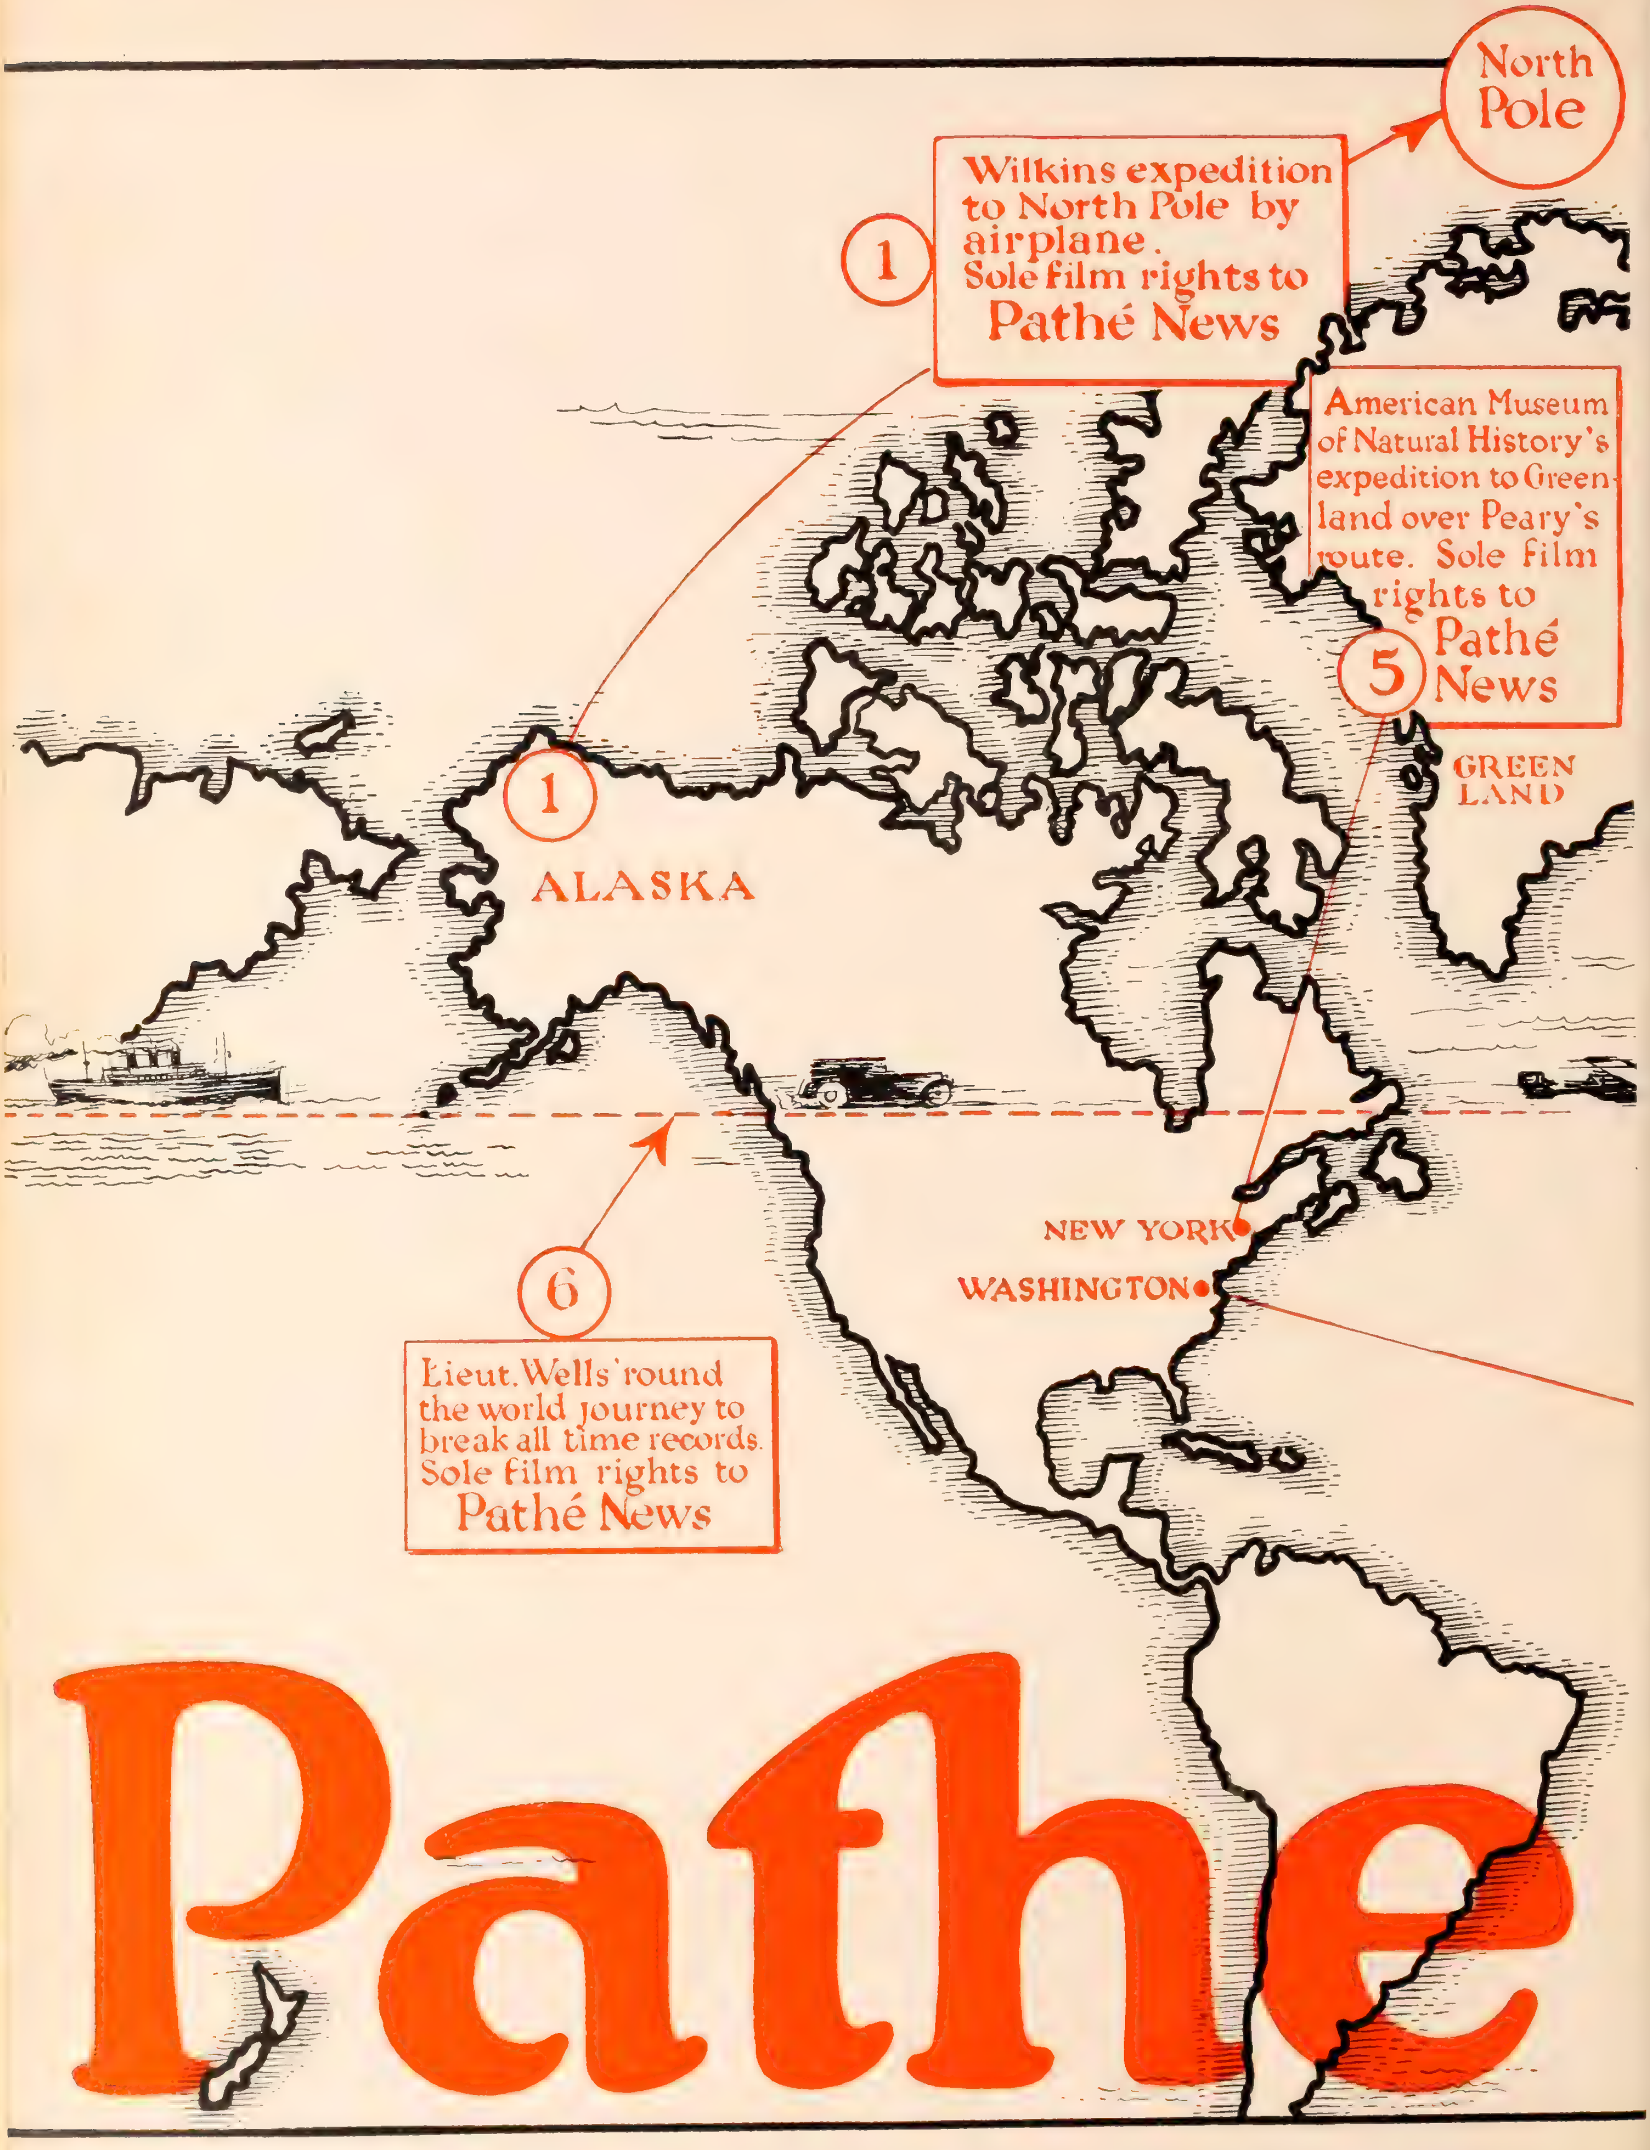
to come in

Pathé News

Blazing a new trail in News Reel Enterprise- Each a first page newspaper story today with vast future publicity assured.

Each story

Exclusive!



North Pole
1
Wilkins expedition to North Pole by airplane. Sole film rights to Pathé News
American Museum of Natural History's expedition to Greenland over Peary's route. Sole film rights to Pathé News
5
GREEN LAND
1
ALASKA
NEW YORK
WASHINGTON
6
Lieut. Wells' round the world journey to break all time records. Sole film rights to Pathé News
Pathe

Com. Richard Byrd's airplane expedition to North Pole. Sole film rights to Pathé News

Soviet Russia revealed for first time in nine years. Exclusive in Pathé News

Callizo's proposed airplane flight over Mt. Everest. Sole film rights to Pathé News

Smithsonian Institution Expedition to Africa to discover new species of wild animals. Sole rights to Pathé News

The Facts
as to the enterprise of the
PATHÉ NEWS

1. Wilkins Expedition to the North Pole by Airplane

Capt. Geo. H. Wilkins, backed by the Detroit Aviation Society, will attempt to reach the North Pole by airplane, from Alaska. Newspaper rights controlled by the North American Newspaper Alliance serving many large dailies. Already receiving much newspaper publicity. Pathe News has the sole and exclusive motion picture rights.

2. Byrd Expedition to North Pole by Airplane From Spitzbergen

Commander Richard E. Byrd, U. S. N., backed by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Edsel Ford, Vincent Astor, Thomas Fortune Ryan and others will attempt to fly to the North Pole from Spitzbergen. Newspaper rights controlled by the New York Times. Sole and exclusive rights to motion pictures controlled by Pathe News.

3. Smithsonian Institution Expedition to Africa

This expedition, headed by Dr. Wm. Mann, will seek to discover new species of wild animals, and to capture interesting specimens for the zoos of the United States. Sole Film rights to Pathe News.

4. Callizo "Ceiling of the World" Airplane Flight Over Mt. Everest

Jean Callizo, holder of the world's altitude record by airplane—39,586 feet, will try to reach the ceiling of the world by flying over unconquered Mt. Everest in the Himalayas, the highest mountain in the world, 29,002 feet. Pathe News has exclusive film rights.

5. American Museum of Natural History Expedition to Greenland

Under the leadership of George Palmer Putnam, the Harrison Williams Expedition of the American Museum of Natural History will retrace in Greenland the steps of Robert Peary, the man who reached the North Pole. With the expedition will be Capt. Bob Bartlett who accompanied Peary and Peary's own son, Robert. Pathe News has exclusive film rights.

6. The Round-the-World Record Breaking Trip of Lt. Wells

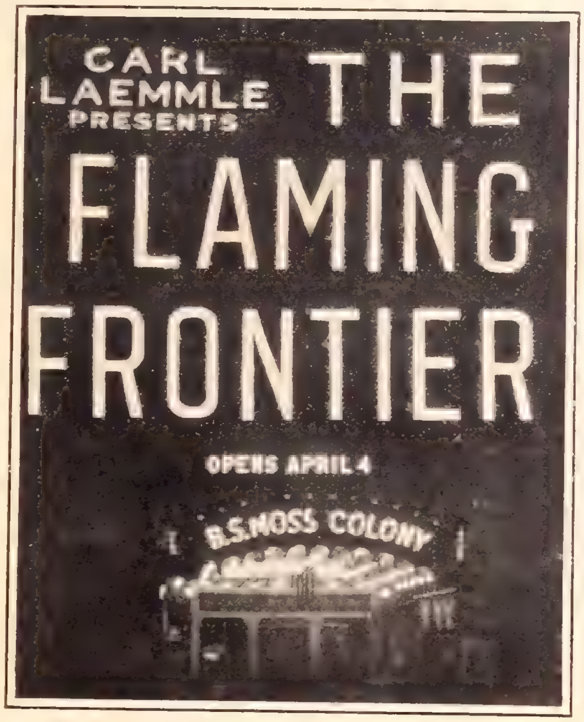
Jules Verne's hero went around the world in eighty days, then considered impossible. Lieut. Wells, U. S. N., one of the Navy's round the world fliers, will try by steamship, fast train, automobile and airplane to go round the world faster than man has ever gone before. Pathe News has exclusive film rights.

7. Soviet Russia Revealed

Since 1917 Soviet Russia has been closed by censorship to the world. Now Pathe News is selected to give to the screen the sole and exclusive pictures of the Russia of today.

As Always You Get the Best and Biggest in Pathé News

National Drive On "Flaming Frontier"



Above—Brig.-Gen. Edward S. Godfrey, survivor of the Custer massacre, guest of Universal at premier of "The Flaming Frontier" at the Colony, New York. At left—the electrical display for the picture at the Colony

Canada Exhibitor Gets Cut Mail Rate for Heralds

Through an arrangement with the Canada postal department, the New National Theatre at Winnipeg, Manitoba, obtained an inexpensive and efficient distributing agency for heralds announcing a Revival Week at which "Over the Hill" was the featured attraction. The heralds were addressed "To the Householder—Important News."

The cards did not have the regular stamp affixed, but instead bore the official cancellation stamp of the postoffice, thereby making them regular government mail. The letter carriers placed a card in every box along their routes. For this service the theatre paid the postoffice only one-half cent per card.

Winning Waltzers on Stage with "The Merry Widow"

A "Merry Widow" waltz contest, featured at a local dance hall, proved the means of attracting notice to the showing of "The Merry Widow" at the Broadway Theatre in Newburgh. The tie-up between the dance hall and the Broadway was made more direct through the offer of Manager Blitzer to give a week's engagement to the winning couple as stars of his presentation for the picture.

Other advance methods which Blitzer used with success was the presentation of "Merry Widow" music played by an Orthophonic phonograph on the stage of the Broadway for the entire week preceding the engagement of the picture. Music shops featured window displays well in advance also.

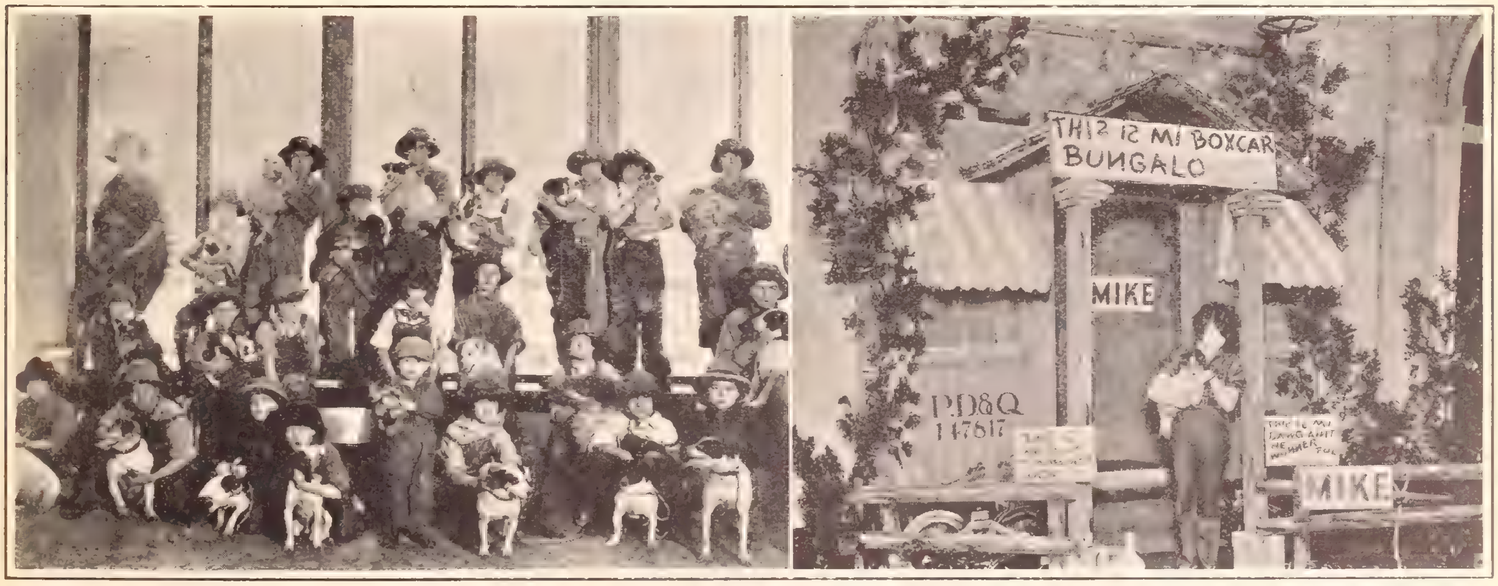
Campaign is Started With First Showing At Colony, New York

The extensive campaign put on by Universal in New York for "The Flaming Frontier" at the Colony Theatre, is serving the double purpose of exploiting the premier run of the new historical spectacle and developing a model plan to be used with the picture in other cities throughout the country.

Many efforts looking toward the future showings of "The Flaming Frontier" in theatres in towns and cities of the country have been put into execution. Among the ideas already applied on a national scale is the appeal which will be made to interest educators in the historical significance of the picture. One hundred thousand letters, descriptive of the educational and patriotic elements of the play have been sent to school principals and teachers in all quarters of the United States.

Another national stunt will be the cross-country tour which will be made by Universal's "Radiobile," a circus wagon, motor driven and equipped with a calliope and a microphone through which talks on the picture will be "broadcast" to crowds collected by the unique car carrying vivid posters for "The Flaming Frontier."

The highlights of the New York campaign start with the midnight premier. Invited guests received gold tickets and the distribution of gold coins with an Indian head and inscribed with the title of the picture at the theatre. In the stores adjoining the theatre there are "Indian Villages," where souvenirs are on sale and relics on exhibit. A balloon placed atop the Colony is illuminated with searchlights and pennants are strung across Broadway from the theatre to the buildings opposite. Buglers from a National Guard regiment appear outside the theatre several times a day and blow calls announcing the start of performances.



THIS IS MI BOXCAR BUNGALO
MIKE
P.D.&Q 147817
MIKE

Exploitation for "Mike" (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer) in St. Louis was done on an extensive scale by Loew's State Theatre there. Two highlights of the campaign are illustrated in the photos above. At left is the turnout of youngsters with their pet dogs to compete for prizes in the St. Louis Star-Loew's State Similarity Contest, and at right is the lobby display.

"The Fire Brigade" Wins Title Contest

50,000 Offer Names For Fire Feature To Be Filmed by M.G.M.

TREMENDOUS interest has been raised throughout this country and Canada among firemen by the title contest which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has just concluded in connection with the filming of the fire production shortly to be produced at the Culver City studios.

Fifty thousand titles were submitted. "The Fire Brigade," suggested by Joseph F. Barker, of 180 West 137th Street, New York, is the prize-winning title, and the picture has accordingly been given this tentative title pending final deliberations now being held by M.G.M. officials. The film has hitherto been known under the working title "Flames."

This contest brings to a climax one of the most successful exploitation campaigns waged in the industry.

Runners-up in the competition who received minor cash prizes included the following:

Mike Giddings, Eleventh and Jackson Streets, Omaha, Neb.; H. A. Nash, Fire Department, Lankershim, Cal.; William N. Wood, 865 Second Street, San Diego, Cal.; James Lane, No. 1 Fire Station, Youngstown, Ohio; J. A. Boersig, Engine House No. 1, West 4th Street and Saint Clair Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio; Art L. Headlough, Acting Captain, No. 3 Fire Station, Akron; Val Schiltz, No. 1 Fire Station, Aurora, Ill.; Frank L. Purnell, Linden and Hoffman Ave., Dayton; John L. Batnett, No. 3 Atlantic City Fire Dept., Atlantic City, N. J., and August Briew, 4877 Laurel Street, New Orleans.

The Capitol Theatre, Reading, Pa., obtained the feature window display shown above for the exploitation of "The Skyrocket" (Associated Exhibitors). The arrangement was on display in the United Cigar Stores in Reading

Cleveland News Features "Red Head" Contest In "Sandy" Tie-up

THE premiere in Cleveland of "Sandy," was ushered in at the Loew's State Theatre with an exploitation campaign that contained a number of novel ideas.

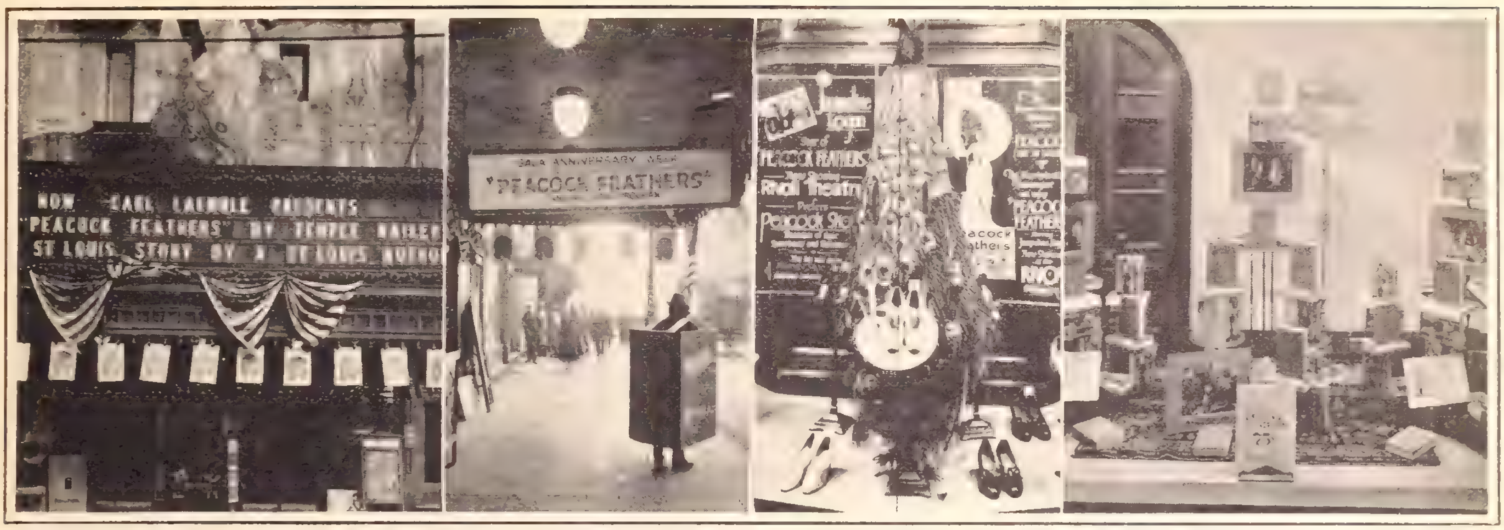
Interest was aroused by a Red Head Competition run by the Cleveland News. The competition later developed into two contests; one for the most perfectly formed red-haired girl, and the other for the most beautiful Titian-haired damsel. The prizes consisted of $100 to each winner. Photographs and physical measurements of competitors were published daily in the Cleveland News. The semi-final winners were introduced upon the stage of the State Theatre and two winners were picked.

Taking advantage of the serial publication of "Sandy" in newspapers, the Fox Exploitation staff has started several campaigns that are creating advance publicity. In Ft. Worth, Texas, and Houston, Texas, and in Little Rock, Ark., as well as in other southern cities, arrangements have been completed, whereby the newspapers will conduct "Sandy" Resemblance Contests. These contests will determine the young lady who most closely resembles Madge Bellamy in her characterization of Elenore Meherin's heroine.

A Fox exploiter on the job. Putting the finishing touches to a mechanical display for "The Johnstown Flood" for exhibit in connection with the showing of that picture at the Majestic Theatre, Fort Worth. Manager Bill Hart of the Majestic looks on as the display nears completion

Fox Issues Free Trailers and Slides for "Sandy"

The Fox company has announced that slides and trailers announcing the forthcoming screen production of "Sandy" would be issued free to exhibitors. The slides and trailers have direct tie-up with the serial publication of the story in newspapers, lines calling attention to the newspaper story and recommending it to the public being incorporated in the "billing."



NOW CARL LAEMMLE PRESENTS
"PEACOCK FEATHERS" BY TEMPLE BAILEY
ST LOUIS STORY BY A ST LOUIS AUTHOR
GALA ANNIVERSARY WEEK
"PEACOCK FEATHERS"
Rivoli Theatre

Highlights in the St. Louis campaign for "Peacock Feathers" (Universal) are shown above. The engagement of the feature at the Rivoli Theatre was exploited by Manager Jack Edwards as "Gala Anniversary Week," commemorating the 20th year of Mr. Carl Laemmle as an Exhibitor." At left is the frontal display. The center photos show the walking book ballyhoo and a shoe store window display. At the right is one of the many book store displays which featured the campaign.

Radio store display in Los Angeles, featuring "Dance Madness" (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer) and the orchestra at Loew's State Theatre in that city.

Exhibit of the prizes to be awarded in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Masked Players' Contest being conducted at Loew's State Theatre, Cleveland.

Window stunts that counted at the box office are shown above. At the left is a demonstration, by a living model, of women's apparel, staged by a store in Norfolk, in cooperation with the Wells Theatre there for the showing of "The Masked Bride." "His Secretary," another Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, was well exploited in Zanesville, O., through the window display shown at the right, a tie-up between the Liberty Theatre and a stationery store, which exhibited office furniture

"For Heaven's Sake" Heavily Exploited

Wide Range of Ideas Feature Campaigns Put on in Three Cities

OLD ideas and new are serving profitably in the exploitation of "For Heaven's Sake." The venerable ambulance stunt, used successfully with comedies many times, created a sensation in Winston-Salem, Mass., when it was put on by Miller Meriwether of the Auditorium Theatre there in connection with "For Heaven's Sake."

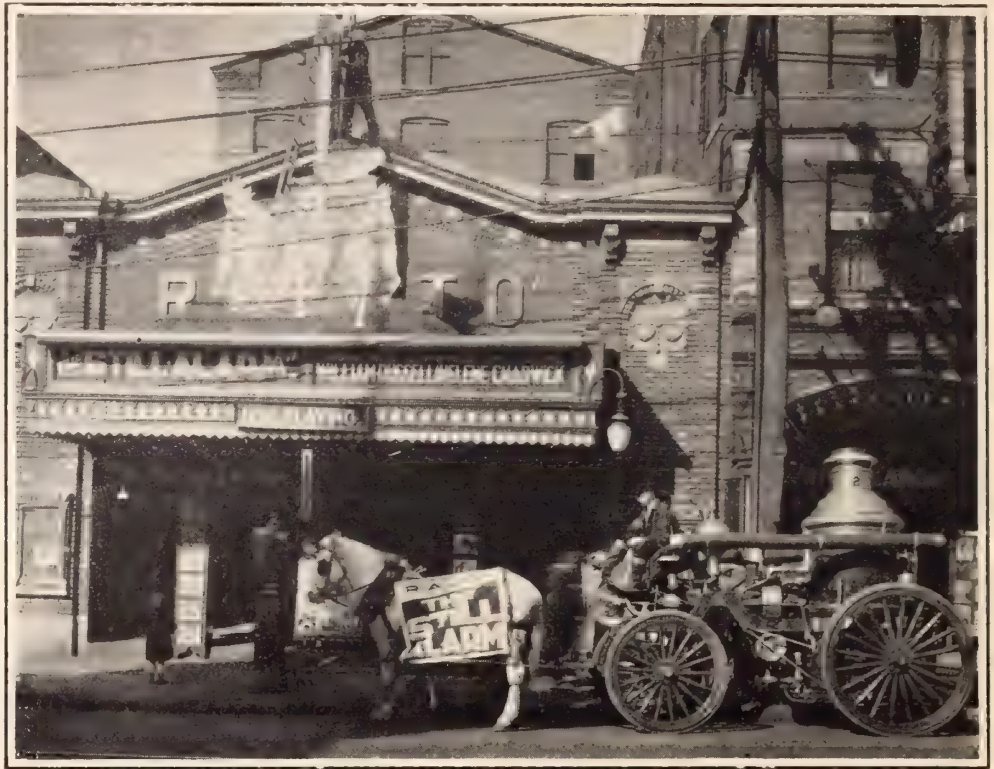
The ambulance incident was fully described in the evening editions of the Twin City Sentinel, which carried colorful accounts of the excitement caused when the ambulance drew up to the theatre and attendants carried out a man on a stretcher, banners suspended from the stretcher, explaining that the victim had laughed himself to exhaustion during a performance of "For Heaven's Sake."

Manager Salmon, of the Rialto, Macon, launched his exploitation on "For Heaven's Sake" with a splendid advance teaser campaign in the newspapers. This was supplemented by heavy billing, and several excellent publicity stunts.

Foremost among the latter was a small boy wearing overalls covered with Harold Lloyd buttons, which he distributed as he walked through the streets.

A traffic smash-up was arranged at one of the main intersections of the business district. A specially made traffic sign was placed in the middle of the road reading: "Drive Carefully" "For Heaven's Sake."

A lifelike cutout of Lloyd suspended from the third floor of the main hotel in the heart of the city caused thousands of people to stop and look.



A horse-drawn fire engine borrowed from the Waterbury, Conn., fire department, exploits Universal's "The Still Alarm" for the Rialto Theatre in that city

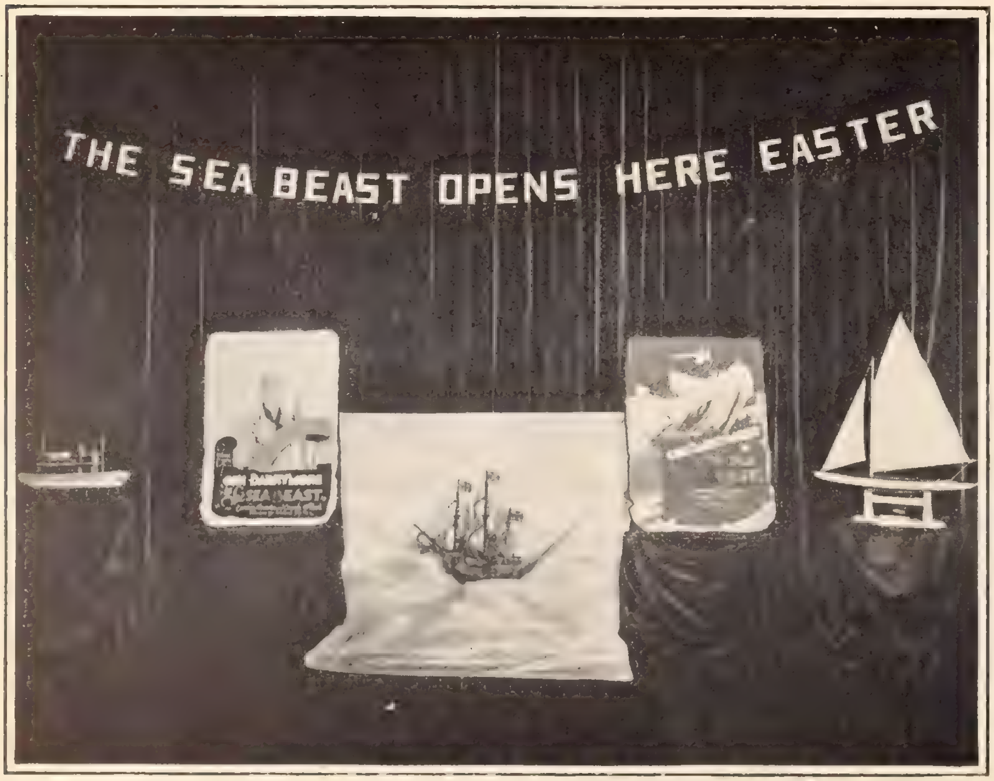
Letter Contest Features Campaign For "Kiki" In Bridgeport

AN ingenious use of a situation in "Kiki" was seized upon in a "letter" contest arranged by Poli's Majestic Theatre, Bridgeport, Conn., in conjunction with the Bridgeport Star.

Leading merchants of the city were enlisted for a double-page of co-operative advertising. Each merchant mentioned in his ad that he had letters addressed to "Kiki" by the Bridgeport Star and the Majestic Theatre. Readers were invited to call at these stores and ask for the letters—at specified hours. Some of the letters contained a single pass and some contained "Kiki" heralds.

A "Norma Talmadge Identification Contest" exploited the picture in Worcester, Mass., where it played the Olympia Theatre. The Worcester Evening Post tied-up with the theatre on the stunt. The Post ran a two-column cut and story inviting readers to guess the name of the picture in which Norma appeared as represented in the illustration. Seven of her most recent pictures were represented and each day a different still was used, with readers invited to guess the title of the picture.

An extensive dress tie-up for "Kiki," has been arranged with the Mark Erdman Dress Company, 501 Seventh Avenue, New York City, with more than 600 stores throughout the United States contracting for this new novelty. The dress, which is an attractive, stylish, seasonable costume, is identical with that worn by Miss Talmadge in the picture. Each store is given a protected territory and with a shipment of dresses suitable advertising material in mat form is enclosed along with an elaborate specimen window display and prepared newspaper publicity.



Impressive display arranged in the foyer of Warner's Cameo, Bridgeport, Conn., for the showing there of "The Sea Beast" is illustrated here. Two spotlights illuminated the setting

Opinions on Current Productions

"A Polar Baron"

(Fox-Imperial—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

GENE CAMERON and Ernie Shields are co-starred in this two-reel comedy, which is of average box office value. The latter, who, by the twinkle in his eyes, suggests something between Menjou and Tyler Brooke, is by far the most effective of the cast. His absurd antics, as well as his facial by-play, sustain interest and furnish quite a few moments of sharp and spontaneous comedy. Gene and Ernie are sworn in as members of the Neighborhood Motor Patrol, and after some slapstick complications find themselves picked up by an airship and dropped in a distant Canadian village. Here they are mistaken for the famous Mounted Police and forced to rescue a girl from a notorious Polar Baron. From the shy manner in which they handle the prisoner, however, their true identity is discovered, but they succeed in saving themselves in the airship while the heavy drowns in a fishing hole. Lex Neal directed.

The Cast

Gene Cameron, Ernie Shields, Gladys McConnell and Frank Coleman.

Summary—A very ordinary type of comedy with good acting, a first-class photography and excellent direction.

"Desperate Dan"

(Universal Mustang—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

ALTHOUGH this western is billed as one featuring the smiling Ben Corbett and Pee Wee Holmes, the comedy idea centers around "Professor Parwin" and his monk. Corbett and Holmes starring as Dirtyshirt and Magpie respectively, are cast as deputies and help at intervals to inject sparks of comedy. Professor Parwin is delivering a lecture on evolution and has an educated ape with him to help his theory. He has concealed a bankroll on the ape, but a villain known as Desperate Dan, is after this money. Hence Dirtyshirt and Magpie are ordered to catch the villain. They are told that Desperate Dan is hiding behind a crop of whiskers, so they stop every suspicious stranger and tug at his unshorn beard. Dan in the meantime in another disguise bribes them to steal the monk, which he claims belongs to him. His trick is discovered, however, and the heroic deputies capture him.

Summary—Antics of the monk, plus comedy furnished by Dirtyshirt and Magpie, will help to put this western over in all neighborhood houses.

"Fade Away Foster"

(Universal-Mustang—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

BEN CORBETT as Dirtyshirt Jones and Pee Wee Holmes as Magpie Simpkins, delight in putting one over on each other in this two-reel western in the usual manner. Despite the variety of ideas and gags displayed, however, the resulting effort is only mildly punctuated with humor. As usual both are rivals for the hand of the village beauty who is neutral in her affections. Magpie gets Dirtyshirt Jones in trouble with sheriff who mistakes him for the notorious bandit, Fade Away Foster, but Dirtyshirt redeems himself when he volunteers to capture the outlaw single-handed. In the second reel both heroes desert sheriff and his posse for Professor Rosebud and his class in natural dancing. An open air play is given in which Dirtyshirt plays the part of a wolf, and Magpie that of a hero. Prof. Rosebud is mistaken for the Fade Away Foster and the picture ends in a wild chase during which Dirtyshirt and Magpie blunder to the discovery of the real outlaw. Vin Moore directed.

Summary—A conglomeration of gags and horse-play which will provide average entertainment for the small town fans.

"Help Wanted"

(Universal-Blue Bird—One Reel)

CHARLIE PUFFY in one of those vehicles that have gone before. This comedian has the natural makeup of a laugh producer and it is a pity that he is not given to appear in comedies of the better class. Action in this story revolves around the comedian's job hunting. He copies the address of his new job on a stranger's collar, but forgets it. There are few legitimate laughs when Puffy follows the stranger all over the town trying to copy the precious address, without which he cannot get the job, and his girl won't marry him unless he gets one. Perhaps the funniest moment in the picture is on the bus when Puffy slits a lady's umbrella in effort to see the man's collar. A comedy of slender merit.—M. T. ANDREWS.

"Charleston Films"

(Cranfield and Clark—Four Half Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

NED WAYBURN, who is credited with being the originator of the Charleston, appears with his pupils in this film, the purpose of which is to teach the popular dance to the audience. Four different steps are taught, all of which can be learned while the audience remains seated. The lessons emphasize the ballroom Charleston as distinguished from the stage and jazz interpretation of the same dance. This film will go strong if run as variety, especially where heavy percentage of patronage consist of women and young people. The subject is well directed and clearly photographed. Edgar Scott Spargo directed.

"Ko-Ko Song Cartoon"

(Red Seal—One Reel)

"TRAMP, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys Are Marching," is the title of the current issue of this song cartoon. As usual, Max Fleischer introduces most ingenious tiny imps which perform gleeful acrobatics during the chorus. A pygmy soldier marking time on the last letter of the last word suddenly stepping off, is an incident big enough to make even a gouty person laugh.—M. T. ANDREWS.

WHEREVER KOKO RUNS
He Brings the Crowds
YOU SHOULD LEARN—
WHY—AT OUR NEAREST EXCHANGE!
RED SEAL PICTURES CORP.

"It's the Gate"

(Red Seal-Ko-Ko-Cartoon—One Reel)

MAX FLEISCHER guns high for laughter in his latest creation of Out of the Inkwell series of Ko-Ko Cartoons. This issue presents an excellent subject which is literally sparkling with fun. Ko-Ko, the clown, and his mut plaster the town with posters announcing a free show at the Ko-Ko Theatre. That night the theatre is crowded with scrawny but enthusiastic feline customers, some of which wear rimmed spectacles and seem to be enjoying the show in a human manner. Ko-Ko and his mut entertain their guests, but when the trained mice are trotted on the stage the cats fling their manners to the winds and the show ends in a riot. One of the finest from Max Fleischer.—M. T. ANDREWS.

"Pathe Review No. 17"

(Pathe—One Reel)

THE first part of this issue shows Uncle Sam's sailors getting a specimen of the Giant Seal for an aquarium. The Giant Seal abounds in the waters of Southern California, but in warm weather it leaves the water and prefers to loll in the sand. In the second part we see the glimpses of Saigon, French Indo-China, in color. But by far the most interesting is the last part, which is the camera record of the American excavation of ancient Carthage, led by Count De Prorok. The first relics unearthed were the four thousand urns found in the Temple of Tanit, where Carthage worshiped the pagan god Moloch. Maurice Kellermann, Pathe cameraman, will make the film record of this excavation.—M. T. ANDREWS.

"Howe's Hodge Podge, 709"

(Educational—One Reel)

SOME interesting novelties are introduced during the first part of this Lyman H. Howe release when a number of well-known examples of architecture become animated and leave their respective locations in the different parts of the world to attend a "congress of celebrities." The Egyptian Sphinx meets the Goddess of Liberty and the two discuss the tall Eiffel Tower when the latter appears with information concerning the Kanakuro Buddha of Japan. Other characters include the Westminster Clock, the cracked bell of Russia and the leaning Tower of Pisa, which totters in to express regret that it cannot stand as straight as the Woolworth Building. The Totem Pole of Alaska, the Washington Monument, the Big Tree from California and the Switzerland Alps also contribute to the "conference." While in the Alps, scenes of a huge skiing party are shown and the reel is concluded with an interesting bear hunt.—EDW. G. JOHNSTON.

"Wonderful Water"

(Service Film Corp.—One Reel)

THIS natural color novelty is beautifully filmed and a remarkably fine example of artistic camera technique. It includes a variety of water scenes, all photographed in this country, and not the least of the picture's attractive qualities is the wonderful blending of prismatic hues in colors which are true to nature, yet dazzling brilliant in their rainbow effects. Waterfalls enshrouded in mists of foam, wide stretches of tranquil lakes, mountains framed in masses of crystal ice, glorious sunsets and drifting clouds merging into tints of crimson, gold and darkling shadows float across the screen in dreamy splendor. An exceptionally charming film which registers as a welcome addition to any exhibitor's program!—GEO. T. PARDY.

Scenes from "Mr. Cinderella," an Educational release.

"Scared Stiff"

(Pathe-Roach—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

A SPOOKY, exciting slapstick, full of laughable absurdities, with most of the interest furnished by a giant gorilla whose bearing before the camera is nothing short of marvelous. Clyde Cook lacks the vehicle of his better comedies but is funny enough to fill the average bill. Cook is hired to drive the car for a villain in which the latter is eloping with a girl for whose hand Cook secretly aspired. He loses his way in a blinding rain and the three seek shelter in the nearest house, in which lives a scientist with his daughter. During the night a huge gorilla owned by the scientist, escapes from its cage and there are some nervous, thrilling moments before he is locked up again. Cooky pulls a few droll gags in his efforts to rescue the girl from the prawling monk, but when he invades the cage the beast takes exception to his presence, hands him a merry cuffing and a pair of wabbly ankles.

The Cast

Clyde Cook, Eileen Percy, Stuart Holmes, James Mack and Shirley Palmer. James W. Horne directed.

Summary: Clyde Cook in a laugh producer of average merit. Gorilla will help the picture. Good cast and direction.

"Where's My Baby"

(Universal-Bluebird—One Reel)

HERE'S one of those uncertain one-reel affairs which, while it may amuse some, it will bore others. It features Neely Edwards, supported by Thelma Hill and others. Neely is so absent-minded when late for work that he brings the shaving soap in place of coffee. His troubles begin when he finds a baby at his door with a sign, "Won't You Be A Daddy To Me?" He takes the baby to the office, but, afraid to own up to it, he conceals the kid under his coat, then in the drawer of his desk. Later, when he is trying to get rid of the newly acquired burden, he finds himself followed by a policeman, until finally he finds refuge at a baby show where his specimen wins a thousand dollar prize. Just then a mother claims the baby while Neely is left alone with his sweetheart. Richard Smith directed.—M. T. ANDREWS.

"Tonight's The Night"

(Educational-Cameo—One Reel)

CLIFF BOWES appears in this slapstick comedy which is, notwithstanding Cliff's gyrations, only a tame affair. The comedy idea centers around a masquerade for which Bowes, Estelle Bradley and Eva Thatcher dress up in ultra-provocative costumes. When the car runs out of gas, Cliff is obliged to seek the nearest filling station in his queer outfit to the great amusement of the towns-people. Later at the party there is a pogo-stick race. His aunt, who is only a pound lighter than a locomotive, falls through the floor on her first attempt, while Cliff hops out the window and into the taxi on his pogo-stick. Jules White directed.—M. T. ANDREWS.

"Rough and Ready Romeo"

(Pathe-Fable—One Reel)

PAUL TERRY has a brand new moral in this one, which reads: Ninety per cent. of men looking for argument are single. At any rate the villain in this fable, Omaha Ike, was single, that's why he became jealous over the love of the gallant cowboy, Oskulusa Pete, and his sweetheart, Minnee Hee Haw, the right pretty school teacher. Ike was the best shot in the state, but his empty magazine availed nothing against the deadly roping of Pete, whose sweetheart he tried to steal. That's why Ike met his fate from a limb of a tree, while Pete and Minnee were reunited in happiness. This cartoon is well up to the standard of those gone before.—M. T. ANDREWS.

"Hair Cartoon Issue 7"

(Red Seal—One Reel)

IN this issue, Marcus, the Times artist, provides some really interesting moments with his skilful manipulation of the human hair. He draws a likeness of Paderewski and then after a few amusing maneuvers of the patches of hair we behold Henry Cabot Lodge. John McCormick, J. P. Sousa, Victor Herbert and Mendelssohn are other subjects of this cartoon, which is entitled "Musical Hairs to Musical Airs."—M. T. ANDREWS.

"The Inside Dope"

(Pathe-Sportlight—One Reel)

INDIVIDUAL technique, which is an all important factor in mastering every line of sport, is the subject of the current issue of Grantland Rice Sportlight. Extremely interesting shots showing the mastery of riding horseback, playing billiards, golf, skiing and swimming, should prove a great attraction to the sport followers. Such well known experts as Cutler, McFarlane and Gertrude Ederle, demonstrate the "inside dope" in their respective lines of sport.—M. T. ANDREWS.

NOW BOOKING

4—SINGLE REEL LESSONS IN THE

BALLROOM

CHARLESTON

Featuring

NED WAYBURN

And

ZIEGFELD FOLLIES GIRLS

Cranfield & Clarke, Inc.

729 Seventh Avenue, N. Y. C.

Trio of stills from "The Tin Ghost," an Educational comedy

"Pathe Review No. 18"

(Pathe—One Reel)

COCKATOOS in the role of household pets, their habits and training is the subject of the first part of the current issue of Pathe Review. In the second part, Tolhurst demonstrates some really interesting facts about the changes in food during the process of cooking. The third part is the Pathecolor study on the famous American Universities. Leland Stanford is the subject. Views, student activities and sports as practiced at the University are shown in the usual artistic tone.—M. T. ANDREWS.

"Nervous Moments"

(Pathe-Sportlight—One Reel)

GRANTLAND Rice takes the tense moments in various sports for his subject here, moments when the players are tense as wires, and the spectators are held in thrilling anticipation. There is the famous kick-off in football, when the players champ the bit to be unleashed, the base runner fearing to get caught, pitcher facing a crack batter, the skii jumping, sprinting and golf are some of the other subjects. Good titling and interesting shots of the above mentioned sports will make this Sportlight highly popular.—M. T. ANDREWS.

"Lest We Forget"

(Educational—One Reel)

IN connection with the Sesqui-Centennial (150th) celebration of American Independence, the city of Philadelphia offers to the public a remarkable patriotic film called "Lest We Forget." This film contains ex scenes from D. W. Griffith's "America," with additional shots and information about the International Exposition, and is offered to exhibitors free of exhibition charge through Educational Pictures. It is the dramatic portrayal of the tremendous episodes of the struggle for Independence, and will appeal to every class of audience.—M. T. ANDREWS.

The Fighting Boob

A Whirling Western With No Let-up in Action

(Reviewed by George T. Pardy)

HERE is a Western that should stand the admirers of the open-air adventure stuff right up on the verge of their seats and keep 'em yelling from the first to the final reel! Not that there's anything particularly new about the story, but, oh, boy, what a continuous smash of rapid action and physical thrills! Bob Custer certainly "does himself proud in this one," and you've got to give it to director Jack Nelson for the nifty fashion in which he has snapped one exciting situation into another without once losing touch with the main thread of his story.

You get a novel twist to the yarn right from the beginning, when Custer assumes the identity of his wounded buddy while the latter is visiting his uncle's ranch on the border and utilizes his astounding knife-throwing ability to defeat the schemes of a rival ranch-foreman. And there's plenty of bright, straight-hitting comedy, it isn't often you get a Westerner that strikes the balance of humor and fun as this one does. Fine photography, a wealth of beautiful outdoor scenes, excellent support, a box office hit!

The Cast: Bob Custer, Frank Whitson, Sherril Tansy, Hugh Saxon, Violet Palmer, Andrew Arbuckle, Sam Lufkin, Thomas Bay, Joan Meredith, Bobby Nelson, Artic Ortega.

THEME. Western melodrama. Cowboy assumes identity of wounded buddy when latter visits uncle's ranch, defeats schemes of rival ranch owner by his knife-throwingability.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. Excellent photography, fine exteriors. Flashing, fast action. Bob Custer's great riding feats and wonderful stunt exploits, colorful atmosphere, good romantic interest.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Bill as vivid Westerner with a punch in every foot of film. Boost as Bob Custer's most sensational offering up to date.

DRAWING POWER. Will suit wherever live Westerners are popular.

Produced and Distributed by F. B. O.
Length, 5,000 feet. Released May, 1926.

"Why Girls Go Back Home" is the title of a current Warner Bros. release

Highlights from the Associated Exhibitors' release, "The Highbinders"

Silver Fingers

Great Crook Yarn, Underworld Atmosphere

(Reviewed by George T. Pardy)

A CROOK story with good underworld atmosphere and action liberally gingered up by the strenuous stunt work of George Larkin. The latter always fills the bill and something over when they start him off thug-chasing and give him plenty of battling chances. And they sure fitted him out with lots of scrapping opportunities in this picture, which is crammed with physical thrills and shows George off at his best. The star is a likeable chap, can act as well as portray a human fighting cyclone, and gives a clean-cut, vigorous performance as the Government detective who impersonates a noted criminal and gets away with it. Charlotte Morgan registers as a pensively pretty heroine and the support is adequate. This picture ought to do remarkably well in the state rights' field. It is out of the ordinary and they've kept the action speeding up to a furious pace without any slackening down. Moreover, the director has gotten a dynamic snap into every one of the many startling sensational situations after a fashion warranted to hold and thoroughly satisfy the average fan. There are many fine interiors, handsomely photographed, attractive exterior scenes and excellent lighting.

The Cast: George Larkin, Charlotte Morgan, Olive Kirby, Arthur Morrison, Colin Chase, Mack Wright, Jack Fairler. Author, J. P. McGowan. Director, J. P. McGowan.

THEME. Melodrama. A Government detective assumes the personality of a notorious criminal, trails down bad gang, is instrumental in regaining stolen diamonds, wins the girl he loves.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. The massed thrill effects, lively action, George Larkin's good work and snappy athletic stunts in the leading role. Big finale chase.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Bill as melodramatic story of the underworld, stress crook impersonation idea. Play up George Larkin and his stunts.

DRAWING POWER. Has general appeal. Suits majority of theatres.

Produced and Distributed by Elvin Film Corporation.
Length, 5,000 feet. Released April, 1926.

The Exquisite Sinner

Brilliant Romantic Comedy of French Life

(Reviewed by Maurice T. Andrews)

AFTER his first directorial effort, "The Salvation Hunters," had made an inglorious flop at the box office, Joseph von Sternberg emerges triumphant in his second picture in which he discards the drabness of the previous work for highly colorful entertainment. The story, which is an adaptation of Brooks's "Escape," is replete with sparkling humor, at times punctuated with keen satire, told in brisk tempo and has not a single dull moment in it. There is no reason why it shouldn't win a favorable reception at the box office. The picture is a high-class comedy with French locale, a romantic tale of a young millionaire and a poor gypsy maid. It deals with a soul-weary artist who yearns to escape the hateful dullness of business routine and remain a carefree Bohemian. There are moments in the picture when the drollery of George K. Arthur, Conrad Nagel and Frank Currier will force a laugh from the most rheumatic grouch. The sequences showing the association of the city-bred artist with the free-living gypsy are intelligently treated, avoiding the rubber stamp method of obvious sex appeal.

The Cast: Conrad Nagel, Renee Adoree, Frank Currier, George K. Arthur, Paulette Duval, Mathew Betz, Helena D'Algy and Claire DuBrey. Author, Alden Brooks.

THEME. Romantic Comedy. Wealthy heir feigns insanity to free himself from the trammels of civilization, while his frantic relatives and his fiancee pursue him because of his vast fortune. He defies social conventions, joins the gypsies and finds love and happiness in the love of a gypsy maid.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. Imaginative, meticulous direction, piquant comedy, good cast, charming Breton atmosphere and artistic photography. The scene where Nagel pretends madness, the burial scene, the love scenes betwen the artist and the gypsy.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Feature Conrad Nagel and Renee Adoree at their best. Bill as glamorous romance of a wealthy heir and a gypsy, and as one of the bright comedies of the year.

DRAWING POWER. Should do good business wherever people enjoy good story with plenty of comedy situations well acted Produced and Distributed by M-G-M.

Length, 5,844 feet. Released April, 1926.

Collection of highlights from "Silver Fingers," an Elvin Film Corporation picture

Some interesting scenes from the William Fox production, "The Fighting Buckaroo," in which Buck Jones is starred

Why Girls Go Back Home

Romance of "Main Street" and Broadway

(Reviewed by Frank Elliott)

ONCE again the small town girl goes to New York. In this instance she has met and become infatuated with the leading man of a road show playing her town, and when said hero returns to Gotham, the S. T. G. is right at his heels—much to his embarrassment.

It's all been done before in divers ways, but Patsy Ruth Miller helps to make this one interesting. Patsy is more beautiful than ever in this vehicle and she wears some stunning costumes, especially in the theatre episodes. And she does the Charleston. We'll say she does! The theatre scenes are well done and quite elaborate, so are the interiors of the Gotham apartments. Clive Brook is just so-so as the hero. Myrna Loy, a newcomer to the silver sheet, is the chorus girl to perfection. The remainder of the cast is adequate. The photography is exceptionally good. The backstage atmosphere is also good.

The Cast: Patsy Ruth Miller, Clive Brook, Jane Winton, Myrna Loy, George O'Hara, Joseph Dowling, Herbert Pryor, Virginia Ainsworth, Brooks Benedict. Author, Catherine Brody. Director, James Flood. (Warner Brothers).

THEME. Romantic drama. Rural belle follows matinee idol to New York. Comes disillusionment followed by own success. But real happiness comes back home with her hero as husband.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. Patsy Ruth Miller's characterization. Fine atmosphere of theatre, back stage and in front. Reception at which Great Lover razzed. Good work of support. The first night of Marie's show.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Advertise as sensational story of small town girl who had Broadway at her feet. Feature Patsy Ruth Miller and Clive Brook. Tie-up with newspaper on essay contest on title.

DRAWING POWER. Average houses catering to masses should do business with this. Good cast and title will draw.

Produced and Distributed by Warner.
Length, Six Reels. Released April, 1926.

Out of the Storm

Exciting Melodrama With All Star Cast

(Reviewed by Frank Elliott)

A RATHER diverting melodramatic romance based on one of Arthur Stringer's novels, which, because of its excellent cast, should provide entertainment for the average audience. The plot isn't a new one by any means, but Louis Gasnier has succeeded in transplanting it to the screen in a way that succeeds in holding the interest. A young newspaper man rescues the girl he loves just after she has accidentally shot a ne'er-do-well suitor. Rather than involve the girl he refuses to talk and is found guilty and sentenced to death. But, of course, the girl confesses just in time to stop the switch leading to the "chair."

Jacqueline Logan and Edmund Burns do well in the leading roles and they are ably supported by a personnel filled with names that click at the box office. There are some interesting scenes showing the getting out of a newspaper extra, a dramatic sequence dealing with the accidental shooting and rescue, the exciting moments leading up to the arrest of the hero and the strong climax dealing with the last minute reprieve. The production is fairly well mounted. The title is not so good and rather misleading.

The Cast: Jacqueline Logan, Edmund Burns, Eddie Phillips, Montague Love, Tyrone Power, Crauford Kent, Joseph Girard. Author, Arthur Stringer. Director, Louis Gasnier.

THEME. Dramatic romance in which a man barely escapes execution because he refuses to involve his wife in a murder of which he is innocent.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. The character portraits. Gasnier's direction. The struggle, shooting and rescue at inn. The arrest of hero. Getting out the newspaper extra. The climax.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Tie up with newspaper on circumstantial evidence. Stories. Play up Jacqueline Logan, Edmund Burns, Montague Love, Tyrone Power.

DRAWING POWER. Suitable for program houses, stars should attract.

Produced by Tiffany. State Rights Distribution. Length, 6,500 feet. Released May, 1926.

Dramatic Sequences from "The Only Thing," a United Artists release

Scenes and players of the Producers Distributing Corporation production, "The Volga Boatman."

The Highbinders

Melodramatic Romance of Society and Underworld

(Reviewed by Frank Elliott)

WILLIAM TILDEN, who lo, these many moons, has been swinging a mean racquet on the tennis courts of this and other nations, has tried his hand at writing and acting for the screen.

This picture offers nothing new in plot construction. We didn't expect to see Bill do a John Barrymore, so we were not disappointed on this score. The redeeming feature of the offering is the work of some of the players in the supporting cast. Ben Alexander is good as Bill's youthful brother; George Marion, of "Anna Christie" fame, is appealing as the old bookstore man. Realistic gangster portrayals are contributed by Edmund Breese, Walter Young and Tammany Young. George Hackathorne is his usual excellent self as the hunchback newsie; Marjorie Daw and Effie Shannon are acceptable in the principal feminine roles. The picture is artistically mounted, there are many handsome interiors and fine exterior shots.

The Cast: William J. Tilden, Marjorie Daw, Ben Alexander, George Hackathorne, George Marion, Walter Young, Tammany Young. Author, William T. Tilden. Director, George W. Terwilliger.

THEME. Melodramatic romance of society and underworld, when youthful novelist, scion of wealth, finds his true love in the niece of a gangster.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. David saving brother from beating. Engagement broken. Attack upon and death of Humphy. Roy's escape; gang wind-up.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Tie-ups with sports' stores on tennis angle. Get co-operation of local athletic clubs. Play up Tilden.

DRAWING POWER. Suits program houses. Cast names should sell it.

Produced and distributed by Associated Exhibitors. Length, six reels. Released May, 1926.

The Only Way

Great Heart Appeal in Famous Dickens Tale

(Reviewed by George T. Pardy)

VERY few British productions have measured up to the American screen standard, and it is a pleasure to record the fact that "The Only Way" forms a brilliant exception to the general rule. Both in direction and acting it scores 100 per cent quality and the photography is excellent.

This film adaptation follows closely along the lines of the stage play based on Charles Dickens' "A Tale of Two Cities," which won such well merited success in this country and England some twenty odd years back. Dealing with the perilous times of the French Revolution, the story of the two young lovers caught in the net of the Terror and the self-sacrifice of the noble wastrel Sidney Carton, who gives his life to save that of his rival, so that the woman he adores may be happy, is wrought out with wonderfully effective pathos, heart appeal and unabated suspense. The work of Sir John Martin Harvey as Carton is a veritable triumph of artistic endeavor and he is right royally supported by his associates. From the dramatic standpoint the feature leaves nothing to be desired; the mob scenes are splendidly handled and a tremendously powerful climax is achieved.

The Cast: Sir John Martin Harvey, Ben Webster, Jean Jay, Frederick Cooper, Fisher White, Madge Stuart, Gordon McLeod. Author, Charles Dickens. Director, Herbert Wilcox.

THEME. Drama. Deals with French Revolution and self-sacrifice of Sidney Carton who gives life for rival so that woman he loves may be happy.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. Faultless acting of star and good work of support. Vivid mob scenes, thrills, suspense, pathetic and emotional power. Capable direction and gripping, unforgettable climax.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Stress success of celebrated stage play. Stress love and self-sacrifice ideas. Bookstore tie-up on Dickens novel.

DRAWING POWER. Costume play, but should hold most patrons.

Produced by Herbert Wilcox Productions, Ltd. Distributed by United Artists
Length, 6,850 feet. Released April, 1926.

Highlights from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer release, "The Exquisite Sinner"

Scenes from "Out of the Storm," a Tiffany-Truart production.

The Volga Boatman

Powerful Love Story of the Revolution

(Reviewed by L. C. Moen)

AN entirely new Cecil B. De Mille makes his bow in "The Volga Boatman"—and a De Mille that should win fresh laurels and admiration. Throughout the greater part of its eleven reels, this takes rank as one of the powerful photoplays of all time. The scenes of the boatmen, straining at the harness, singing the haunting, rhythmic strains of "Ay Uchniem" as they tug at the tow-line, provide one of the most vivid and unforgettable pictorial motifs that the screen has had. Against this background of parasitic aristocracy is told the deep and powerful love story of the Princess Vera and Feodor, the Boatman. De Mille has chosen pulsing, human values rather than the elaborate battle scenes and boudoirs which might have been used. He has created not one but several of those "big moments" which make great pictures. "The Volga Boatman" is packed with audience stuff. Carried away by its sweep of action, audiences will forget that this is costume and see only a group of living, convincing characters in a gripping drama, well cast and superbly played and directed. Boyd is magnificent as the Boatman, and the splendid performances of Victor Varconi, Robert Edeson, Elinor Fair, Julia Faye, Theodore Kosloff and Arthur Rankin deserve more space than they can be given here.

The Cast: William Boyd, Elinor Fair, Robert Edeson, Victor Varconi, Julia Faye, Theodore Kosloff, Arthur Rankin. Adapted by Lenore J. Coffee from the novel by Konrad Bercovici. Directed by Cecil B. De MIle. Photographed by Arthur Miller, Peverell Marley and Fred Westerberg.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS: Superior direction, cast, photography, costumes and settings. Near-execution of hero and heroine. Scenes of the boatmen. Breaking into Prince's home. Soldier scenes in wine-room. Aristocrats drawing Volga barge.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES: Give this a high-class, dignified campaign, as big as you can afford. Lobby, ballyhoos, displays, and so on, suggest themselves readily.

DRAWING POWER: O. K. anywhere.

Produced by Cecil B. De Mille and distributed by Producers Distributing Corporation.
Length, 10.500 feet.

Regional News from Correspondents

Canada

THE Colonial Theatre, an independent house, of Winnipeg, Manitoba, has been redecorated and the lobby improved. Manager Jack Swartz has been gaining good business through the use of special and attractive "fronts."

The new moving picture theatre which is to be erected by Famous-Players Canadian Corporation, Toronto, at Saskatoon, Sask., will not be completed for eight months, it is announced. The house will cost, with all equipment and furnishings, about $250,000. There will be a complete stage. Famous-Players already has the Daylight Theatre in Saskatoon.

Miss Grace Hyde, popular organist at the Province Theatre, Winnipeg, Manitoba, for some years, was missing from her post recently through illness, but is now back at the console.

Manager E. P. Fields, of the Capitol Theatre, Moose Jaw, Sask., has been elected chairman of the special community committee which has been formed to arrange for the local observance of Dominion Day, July 1, Canada's national holiday.

Cincinnati

HARRY KRESS, one time premier showman of Piqua, O. was very conspicuous by his absence at the opening of the baseball season last week. This is the first time in years that Kress has missed an important game in this city.

Jack Stewart, local manager for Warner Bros. is back from the Chicago convention. Stewart recently returned from abroad, where he was special representative for First National.

Low Snitzer has disposed of his holdings in the Movie Poster Company, so that he may have more time to devote to his many theatres which are located in Hamilton, O., Cincinnati, O. and Covington, Ky.

John Vigna and Chas. Lowenburg, of the Universal office, were the chief entertainers at the Universal Joy Club party on Saturday, April 17th. The former did his famous dance, while Charlie entertained with numerous parodies on popular songs.

Gus Muller, well known in local film circles, dies as the result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident on Hollywood Boulevard on the West Coast last week. Hermann Garfield who was in the same accident is in a serious condition.

Ralph Williams and William Truog, sales manager and assistant sales manager for the Universal Southern division, spent several days in the city with Fred Strief the local branch manager.

Ed. Keene of Oxford, manager of the Oxford theatre in this college town was in the city last week booking several pictures.

Ed. Paul, general manager for the Sun Theatres of Springfield. O., was seen around the film buildings the past week.

Wm. Maddox, of the Gaiety Theatre, Ripley, O., accompanied by Mrs. Maddox, paid a visit to the local exchanges last week.

Harry Silver, of the Palace Theatre, Hamilton, O., paid a lone visit to the city last week. This is the first time within the memory of the oldest inhabitant of the film buildings that Harry came to the big city alone. Herman Thurberg and Fred Myers take notice.

George Turlukis, of the Rex and Majestic Theatres, Middletown, O., was another exhibitor who honored the local exchanges by a visit lately.

Bob Burns, for many years a member of the local Standard office, has resigned and joined the sales force of the Producers Distributing Corp. in this city.

J. R. Haseldon, of the Grand Theatre, Lancaster, Ky., spent several days in the city and reports that business in the blue grass state is very good.

J. C. Fisher, general sales manager for the Standard Film Co. was in the local offices for a few days recently.

Joe Hirshfeld, assistant booker for Famous Players has resigned and his place taken by Mike Spanagel, who was transferred here from the famous offices in Indianapolis, Ind.

L. B. Wilson and his friend, Godfrey Kotzen, manager of the Lyric Theatre, Covington, Ky., spent several days away from their city, on political business.

Seattle

J. A. GAGE, manager of the Educational Pictures exchange, last week was host to one of Educational's comedy stars in the person of Bill Dooley, a Christie Comedy favorite. Dooley was in Seattle for a week.

W. J. Murphy, exploitation and publicity specialist who has been assisting the showmen of the Northwest in the presentation of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer features, left Manager Clarence W. Hill's exchange last week and is returning to his headquarters in San Francisco.

Jack Schlaifer, assistant Western sales director for the Universal Company, spent several days in this city last week. When he left here, he was bound for the Universal Convention in Los Angeles, and he took with him Manager Jim Reilly, Al Bloom and Jack Cohen. The party expected to return within two weeks.

R. R. Pratch of the Realart Theatre in South Tacoma was a recent visitor on the local Film Row.

George Wiseman, for several seasons connected with Manager Leroy V. Johnson's Liberty Theatre as head doorman, recently joined the ranks of the city's "finest" and now displays the uniform and badge of a Seattle patrolman.

M. H. "Rex" Thompson, formerly associated with Manager A. H. Huot's local Film Booking Offices exchange, last week sent word to the effect that he is now assistant manager of the Denver office of Universal, a promotion accorded him after a few weeks at the Universal exchange in Butte.

George H. Reisner, owner and manager of several houses in Raymond and South Bend, spent a short time on Film Row last week, attending to bookings for the coming weeks.

Immediately after the opening of his new Wooodland Theatre in this city, H. W. Bruen, owner and general manager, was ordered to bed by his physicians and is now recovering from a minor attack of influenza. The Woodland is Mr. Bruen's latest venture in neighborhood houses, and is an attractive theatre with a seating capacity in excess of 750, in the North End district.

R. C. Clint "Monty" Montgomery left the city last week for the key cities in Montana, where he will visit the Northwest exhibitors through D. C. Millward's local Western Film Corporation.

Joe Allen, for a number of seasons cashier at the local Universal Exchange, last week was occupying the booker's desk in that office, with Miss Kalai Lang replacing him in the cashier's capacity.

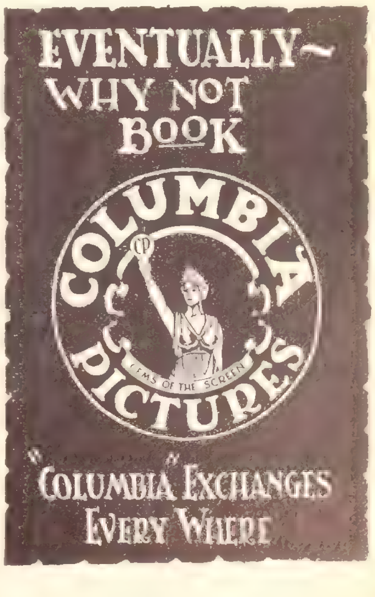
Fred Mercy, representative of the Jensen-VonHerberg group in Yakima, last week visited the local Film Row to book a few more pictures. According to reports, Mr. Mercy's house is one of the group of thirty-one that will be taken over shortly by the North American Theatres, purchasers of the Jensen-VonHerberg interests in the Northwest.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walton of Bellingham last week were hosts at a dinner party given in this city in honor of the sixtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C. W Walton. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hone, the former executive secretary of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Washington, assisted in the affair.

Chris Dale, booker for the Associated Exhibitors exchange, was confined to his home last week by a serious attack of influenza, and the booker's position was being held down by Manager R. S. Stackhouse.

Inspector Booker Savage, representing the Western district for Pathe, visited Manager L. A. Samuelson's exchange for a few days last week.

Advice received from Butte last week indicates that the Orpheum Theatre at Glasgow, Montana, has been leased to Bernard Survant of Malta. The house was formerly operated by W. L. Wharton.



Milwaukee

A large group of exhibitors from points in the Milwaukee territory adjacent to the city were the guests of the local Paramount exchange Tuesday at an informal conference between the theatre managers and members of the executive and sales forces of the Milwaukee office.

Hugo Langheinrich, manager of the Burleigh Theatre, died in a local hospital following an accident Sunday, when he fell down four steps at the home of a friend and received a fractured skull. Langheinrich, in falling, struck his head on the floor and did not regain consciousness following the accident.

S. H. Abrams, manager of the Milwaukee office of F. B. O., spent a few days this week visiting with exhibitors in the territory about Milwaukee.

Art Roberts, assistant manager at the local F. B. O. office, who was confined to his home with illness last week, is back at his desk fully recovered from the effects of an attack of influenza.

Among the out-of-town visitors who paid their respects to managers along film row this week were Harvey Hanson, manager of the Palace Theatre at Antigo, Wis.; Sufus Olson, manager of the Pastime Theatre at Delevan, Wis., and Frank Steffen, manager of the Rex Theatre at Racine.

A new motion picture for the South Side of Milwaukee is being planned by Anton Atanshoff. The new building will be erected at a cost of approximately $30,000, and will have a seating capacity of about nine hundred.

John De Lorenzo, well known in Milwaukee's film row, is recovering from an attack of illness.

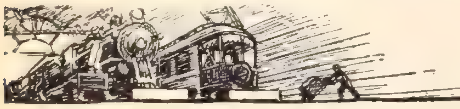
Florida

THE 900 seats are now being installed in the new Crescent Theatre at Dade City and the house is announced to open next Thursday, with a home-talent production. The Crescent was built by I. M. Austin, who is the developer of Crescent Park, and it is quite an imposing structure, with concrete walls and floors. It is reported that Mr. Austin will not operate the house himself, but will lease it, he having several offers, one of which will be accepted this week.

Another suburban theatre is planned for Tampa. Ira C. Humphrey, secretary and treasurer of the B. L. Hamner organization, which is putting on an immense development just north of Tampa, known as Golfland, announced this week that the new house would be started at once and completed within the year. According to Mr. Humphrey, the new house has already been leased to the owner of a string of theatres in Pennsylvania.

Crystal River is to have a new theatre. The house is being built by William C. Miller, a local real estate man. Horace N. Blanton, who is the city manager there and also operates the Crystalite Theatre, will be the manager of the new house. Mr. Miller and Mr. Blanton were in Tampa this week, buying some equipment, and stated that the new house would open in about two weeks.

Herbert Dunklee and William F. Wagner have recently opened a new 750-seat vaudeville and motion picture theatre at Ojus, Fla. Mr. Dunklee was for a number of years a representative out of Los Angeles, Salt Lake City and Denver, while Mr. Wagner was formerly connected with Selznick, Pathe and Famous-Players in the producing end.



Kansas City

MEMBERS of the Kansas City Film Board of Trade attended a midnight frolic in their honor at the Apollo Theatre, Kansas City, Saturday night. Special entertainment from various vaudeville theatres was obtained and the affair progressed into the wee hours of the morning.

Among the out-of-town exhibitors in the Kansas City market this week were: Ensley Barbour, Barbour Circuit, Springfield, Mo.; S. E. Wilhoit, Princess, Springfield, Mo.; George Shock, Rex, Joplin, Mo.; H. Kellermeyer, Electric, Glasgow, Mo.; Lee Jones, Sedalia, Mo.; "Curley" Wilson, Casino, Excelsior Springs, Mo.; C. R. Wilson, Liberty Theatre, Liberty, Mo.; C. M. Pattee, Pattee Theatre, Lawrence, Kans.

The hum of business continues to prevail in Kansas City exchanges. Jack Flannery, Metro-Goldwyn salesman, is helping out on a sales drive at the Des Moines office this week. Tom Byerle, First National branch manager, after 130 days in a hospital, again is back on the job, looking a bit pale of face, but hustling as much as ever.

Earl Cunningham, Paramount exploiteer, left for Indianapolis, where he was assigned to some special work.

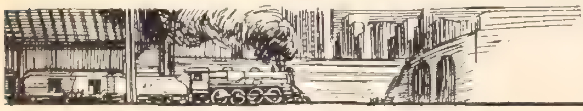
William Haines, Universal city salesman, has been promoted to special representative in the key towns.

Pathe branch officials congratulated Gene Tunney, who has signed to make a picture for that company, as he passed through Kansas City this week.

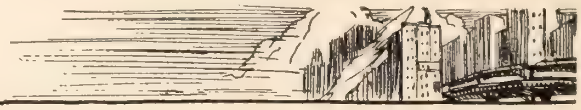
M. A. Levy and Stanley Mayer, branch manager and city salesman, respectively, of Fox, left behind them a busy office when they joined the Fox delegation which went to the West Coast sales convention.

The advertising business has tripled in the last year, according to figures compiled by C. C. Knipe, advertising accessory manager for Universal, which, he contends, proves that exhibitors are becoming better advertisers.

The new Ritz Theatre, Baxter Springs, Kas., will be completed about May 1, according to John I. Cooper, owner. The house will have 416 upholstered seats and be modern in every respect.



Chicago



Pete Schaefer and his brother, Fred, accompanied by their wives, have returned from an extensive tour of South America. The travelers have been away from Chicago for three months and bring back enthusiastic descriptions of many interesting parts of the South American Continent.

Sid Schuster is back on his old territory for Universal Film exchange and celebrated by sending out a novel postal card, bearing a photograph of himself, warning his old friends among exhibitors to "Watch for this fellow, he is headed for your city."

Business Manager Jack Miller of the Exhibitors' Association of Chicago, will represent his organization at the national convention of the M. P. T. O. of A., which will be held in Los Angeles during the month of June. A large number of Chicago exhibitors have already signified their intention of going to the coast for the convention, and both Chicago and Illinois now seem assured of strong representation.

Another Indiana ownership change is reported from Valparaiso, where Nick Pikos has taken over the Tivoli Theatre.

Extensive improvements have been completed at the Royal Theatre, Marengo, Ill., and Manager Neal Wilson now practically has a handsome new house. The new equipment includes a large stage with beautiful silk curtain, and acts are being run in connection with pictures on Saturdays and Sundays.

Sales Director Lou Metzger of Universal has returned to New York City after a visit to the Chicago office of his company.

The De Luxe Theatre at Hammond, which was wrecked by fire during the winter, was reopened Saturday, after a thorough renovation. The house has been newly equipped throughout and presents a very handsome appearance.

Gust Huth for many years owner of the Grand at Plano, has appointed Charles Dyas manager.

Manager Jack Sampson of the F. B. O. Chicago exchange is back at his desk at the local exchange, having made brief visits to San Francisco, Salt Lake City and Denver, on his trip back from the coast.

John Saunders of Culver, Ind., has purchased the Kentland Theatre at Kentland, Ind., formerly operated by Manager Kresler.

Read the News for the Regional News

Albany

R. E. BISHOP is the new manager of the Producers-Dist.-Corp. exchange in this city. He comes from New Haven and arrived in town on Friday. J. S. McHenry, who has been handling the exchange until a manager could be appointed, was advised by telephone during the week that he had been named as district manager for the Southwest, and left for Texas on Saturday.

Julius Byck, of Tannersville, was in town during the week, visiting practically all of the exchanges, and conducting his negotiations by means of pad and pencil, for he is a deaf mute. Mr. Byck announced that he was in hopes of disposing of his theatres in Tannersville and Haines Falls, but in case he did not he would open his house in the latter place on June 1, and would run his theatre in Tannersville seven days to the week, as soon as the summer guests started to arrive in the Catskills.

Howard Richardson, who has been in Florida during the past winter, will return to Schroon Lake about May 1, and again resume handling the theatre there, which has been conducted this winter by Father Blais.

Mike Freedman, formerly of Schenectady, and until recently owner of the Rialto Theatre there, is now managing a theatre in the Bronx.

The Strand Theatre in Schenectady, located on the main business street, is to lose three and one-half feet of its marquee this summer, through the widening of the street.

Miss Jane Halloran, secretary of the Albany Film Board of Trade, spent the past week-end in New York City, as the guest of friends.

Thomas H. Martell, who books pictures for the various training camps and army posts, paid one of his periodical visits to Albany last week.

Mildred Swart is the new organist at the Strand Theatre in Schenectady, replacing Arthur Labbs.

Mrs. Elizabeth V. Colbert has been elected president of the Women's Democratic Club of Albany county.

William Smalley, of Cooperstown, had two objects when he visited Albany last week. One of these was to book pictures and the other to visit an Albany oculist.

Alex Weissman, who has been a salesman in the local Metro-Goldwyn exchange for several months, has been named as manager, and as such succeeds Ted O'Shea, who left Monday for Buffalo, to become manager of the exchange there.

C. H. Buckley, of the Leland and Clinton Square theatres in Albany, was in New York City during a portion of last week.

Louis Buettner, of Cohoes, was along Film Row during the past week, but got no further at any of the exchanges, so far as can be learned, than merely saying "hello."

William Benton ran a fashion show at his Rialto Theatre in Glens Falls, for two nights last week, and played to a capacity business. He effected a tie up with several of the merchants in that city.

When the Hudson Theatre closes in Schenectady about June 1, for the summer, Harry Bond, the manager, plans to take a vacation trip of several weeks.

George Dwore, of Schenectady, who is connected with his father at the Cameo Theatre, opened a law office last week, and from now on will devote his days to legal matters and his evenings to the theatre.

Miss Betty Feuer, of the Crescent Theatre in Schenectady, returned last week from a two weeks' trip to New York.

Earl Leonard, of the Albany bureau of the New York State Motion Picture Commission, has been confined to his home in Saratoga Springs, with a relapse from the grippe.

W. W. Farley, of Albany, owner of five theatres in Schenectady, offered a bid of $300,000 last week at the auction sale of one of the state buildings in Albany, but did not win out.

Mrs. Clarence Gardner, wife of the owner of the Pine Hills Theatre in Albany, has been ill with the grippe.

Mrs. Mary O'Melia is the new booker at the Bond exchange in Albany, and succeeds Madge Stemmel, resigned. Mrs. O'Melia was formerly with the Fox exchange.

Harry Weinberg will come to Albany from Sioux Falls, S. D., on May 1 to become the manager of the F. B. O. exchange.

The Schine brothers will open their theatre in Sacandaga Park, on or about May 20, according to the weather.

Frank Breymaier, who does all the advertising and publicity for the Farash theatres in Schenectady, will find a little more time for himself after next week, when the VanCurler closes for the season and permits Mr. Breymaier to return to the Barcli.

Sidney Katz, of the F. B. O. forces, was up from New York last week, and said that he would no longer believe anything about California's beautiful weather. During the recent week he spent there, it rained every day.

The annual meeting of the Albany Film Board of Trade is scheduled for May 10. There is nothing in sight at the present time which indicates any very exciting contest. Alec Herman will be unopposed for re-election as president.

Activities along Film Row during the past week include the return from New York of Howard Morgan, manager of Education, and Harry Seed, manager for Warner Brothers, while H. C. Bissell, manager for Universal, journeyed to Utica, and Alec Herman, manager for First National, went to Poughkeepsie.

The Paramount forces in Albany gave a dinner at the Hotel Ten Eyck on Monday night, to which a number of exhibitors were invited.

The chamber of commerce in Watertown came out last week and endorsed a movement to do away with the usual carnivals as a means of providing funds for various organizations. In place of the carnivals, the theatres will do their share in the way of a benefit for the Northside Improvement League of that city.

Denver

DENVER'S ideal location and facilities as a convention city is now also being recognized by producing companies. Educational has picked Denver for one of the three places in which regional sales conventions will be held. The meeting is scheduled at the Albany Hotel, April 19 and 20. A. P. Archer, manager of the local Educational branch office, announces that the following home office executives will be in attendance: A. S. Kirkpatrick, general manager; J. R. Wilson, sales manager; Gordon S. White, director of advertising publicity; Harvey B. Day, Kinogram sales manager. Also will be in attendance: Arthur Lucas, a Southern franchise holder of Educational, and Mr. R. L. Hoadley, publicity director at the studios in Hollywood.

L. Marcus, district manager for Paramount, has arrived in Denver, preparatory to holding a meeting for exhibitors which will be held in the local Paramount office on April 19 and 20.

Sam Denbow, Jr., in charge of all bookings for Publix Theatres, is visiting Publix houses in Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo. While in Denver he assisted in establishing the district booking office in he Rialto Theatre. This will be in charge of Al Vincent, former manager of the Rialto and Victory Theatres, the Publix houses in Denver.

S. B. Rahn, Pathe branch manager, left Wednesday to attend the annual sales convention which will be held in New York City for Pathe managers and district managers.

Jack Krum has received word from T. Y. Henry, United Artists district manager for Omaha, Minneapolis, Kansas City and St. Louis, that he expects to be in Denver within a few days to spend about two weeks in taking a much-needed rest.

Livingston Lanning, former manager of the America Theatre, Universal first-run house in Denver, has accepted a position with the Publix Theatre Corporation of New York. He left to enter into his new duties early in April.

Barney B. Kean, formerly of Denver, but recently of Florida, is back with us again. He has accepted a position as salesman for the Denver branch of Associated Exhibitors.

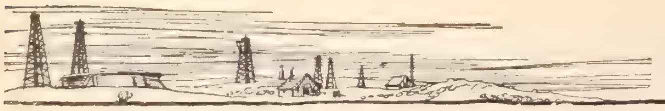
The new Legion Theatre of Alamosa, Colo., will be operated by the Alamosa Theatre Corporation, capitalized at $20,000. According to announcements, Jack Eaton, manager of the State Theatre of Denver, is the president of the new company. It is expected that all will be ready for the grand opening by June 15.

L. J. Darmour, special representative for comedies being distributed by Film Booking Offices, dropped in a few days ago for a visit with Sid Weisbaum, the popular F. B. O. branch manager.

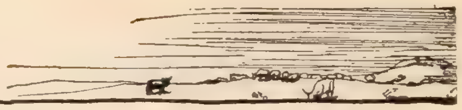
Exhibitors seen doing business along Film Row last week were Fred Bezold, manager of the Lotus Theatre, Sheridan, Wyo.; Messrs. Lucy and Wilkinson, of the new Broadway Theatre, Pueblo, Colo.; Jim Lynch, president of the Wyoming Theatre Managers' Association, of Laramie, Wyo., who also operates the theatres in Laramie, and Tom Love, operating a circuit of theatres in Hanna, McGeath and Superior, Wyo.

Homer E. Ellison, former manager of the Rialto and Victory Theatres of Denver and one of the pioneer exhibitors of this territory, is one of the sponsors and financiers of the Denver African Expedition, which has just spent a year in Africa filming native life among the various African Bushman tribes and wild animals. The expedition, composed of Dr. C. E. Cadle, scientist; Paul Hoefler, a Denver camera man, and Dr. John, physician, will return to New York on the Majestic, Monday, April 19. They are bringing back with them over 50,000 feet of film. Because of Mr. Ellison's wide acquaintance in the Denver territory, reports of the expedition have been read by all exhibitors with great interest.

DURATIZE TRADE MARK YOUR FILM
-DURA-
FILM PROTECTOR CO
INC.
220 WEST 42ND STREET
NEW YORK
PHONE
CHICKERING
2937
ALLAN A. LOWNES
PRES.



Southwest



THE neighborhood that holds the film exchanges in Oklahoma City will soon see a number of vacant buildings when four companies make their moves into the new film building at Robinson and Pottawatomie. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and First National will move first and will be followed later by Fox and Producers Distributing Corporation. Universal, also, will be in its new home at 519-521 West Main Street before the first of the month.

R. A. Morrow, district manager of Producers in this territory, was in the city last week on his way to New York to attend a district managers' meeting. Mr. Morrow, it is reported, will become assistant to W. J. Morgan, general sales manager. His successor has not been announced.

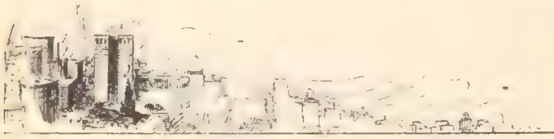
A new film bus line has recently begun operating between Oklahoma City and Muskogee. A round trip is made daily between these two cities. Other towns served by this bus are: McCloud, Shawnee, Paden, Prague, Boley, Okemah, Henryette, Morrison, Okmulgee, Boynton.

Mrs. Phil Isley of the Midwest Film Exchange has purchased a half interest in her father-in-law's theatre at Chickasha, having bought Mr. Grace's interest in it. Although the Chickasha Theatre has been running only a month or so, the business has been so favorable that more seats are to be added soon.

Guy Clark, formerly an operator at the Cozy Theatre, at Okmulgee, is putting in a theatre in McAlester. The new theatre will seat 300.

W. A. Ryan, branch manager for Fox, is attending the National Fox convention at Los Angeles.

J. P. Hudgens, former auditor for First National, is now with Producers Distributing Corporation.



Minneapolis

ROY ZIMMERMAN has been made manager of the Film Booking Offices in Sioux Falls. He has been assistant manager of the Minneapolis office under Eph Rosen and he has been with the company since it was known as Robertson-Cole. Harry Weinberg, formerly of the Sioux Falls branch, has been transferred to Albany.

C. H. Moulton, owner of the Bijou, at Beach, N. D., is dead there of a heart attack. He was one of the early settlers of the State and owned extensive farm lands.

Bennie Berger, who operates the Metropolitan and Strand Theatres, at Grand Forks, has taken over the Orpheum Theatre, thus uniting in his own hands all the opposition to Finkelstein & Ruben's Grand. Harry Olin formerly had the Orpheum.

Several Minneapolis managers are away for sales conventions or just getting back. Harry Bailey, of Pathe, has returned from New York. Tom Burke, of Warner Brothers, and G. R. Branton, of Educational, are in Chicago. A. H. Fischer, of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, is in New York.

Fred Krueger and Walter Enoch have opened a picture house at Cambria, Wis.

The Lincoln Theatre, at Stanhope, Iowa, has been reopened by F. A. Barquist.

The Crystal, at Glencoe, and the Crystal, at Norwood, have been purchased from Otto Parlitz by C. J. Novak.

The Shadowland, at Rush City, Minn., has been reopened.

After extensive remodeling to enable it to house both pictures and road shows, the Princess, at New England, N. D., has been renamed the Grand.

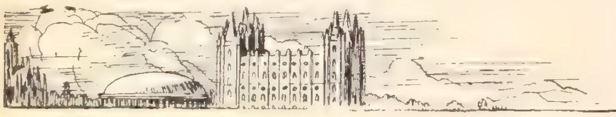
B. R. Parsons, owner of the Grand Theatre, at Springfield, Minn., has just let contracts for his new theatre.

S. R. O. week has ended on the Finkelstein & Ruben Circuit, and it was well named. Managers and chiefs were all enthusiastic.

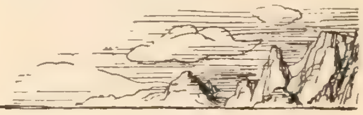
Newspapers made liberal mention of the fact that Finkelstein & Ruben co-operated in Good Will week observances in Minneapolis by including in its news reels a few shots of priest, rabbi and minister inviting the people to the second annual participation in the movement.

By diving through a window, the operator at H. J. Ludcke's Theatre, in St. Peter, Minn, saved his life when a film exploded, causing $1,000 damage. The fire was confined to the booth.

Mrs. Robbins Gilman, of the Women's Co-operative Alliance, Minneapolis, who recently spoke strongly against local or State censorship of motion pictures, is in Washington, urging Federal control of the industry.



Salt Lake City



WALTER MENDENHALL of the Boise Theatre Company has been visiting the local film mart for a few days.

Al O'Keefe, local manager for Producers Distributing Corporation, is leaving immediately for Idaho with E. L. Walton who has just arrived from Denver.

O'Keefe is reported to be driving a new Packard Coupe. C. C. McDermond is just leaving the office for an extended trip into Southern Utah.

T. M. Chesler, owner of the Gem and Princess theatres at Bingham, Utah, has been visiting film row this week.

Kenneth Hodkinson, District Manager for United Artists, is spending the week with Walter S. Rand, sales manager of the Salt Lake branch.

Milton Cohn, United Artists representative in Montana, is now making the key cities in the interest of the new fall product.

C. John Predari has been added to the sales staff of United Artists, and has been assigned the Southern Utah territory .

J. E. Ryan, operating the Liberty Theatre at Brigham, Utah, has been lining up new business for his house this week along the row.

James R. Keitz, branch manager here for Greater Features, is enjoying the glories of spring in a big new Nash Sedan.

J. A. Epperson, branch manager here for Pathe, has left for New York, to attend the Pathe managers' convention. He will return about May 1st.

The Pathe exchange is being moved into the new film building right away. The building is not entirely finished but the Pathe quarters have been completed.

Frank Hopkins, West Coast Division Manager for Associated Exhibitors, is leaving this city within a few days for Portland and Seattle.

E. J. Smith, General Sales Manager, is also leaving after having paid the local office a short visit.

L. A. Davis has just returned to his managerial desk at the local F. B. O. exchange after having been in attendance at the convention in Los Angeles. He leaves on an extended tour next week to cover Southern Utah.

P. C. Taylor, Canadian Division lyde H. Messinger, local manager of the Chicago office, also stopped off here on their way back home.

Clyde H. Messinger, local manager for Educational, leaves April 17th for the convention to be held in Denver April 19th and 20th.

Gordon Thornberg, part owner of the Orpheum Theatre at Milford, Utah, is the happy father of an eight pound baby daughter born April 13th.

Tom Kilfoil, Special Representative for Famous Players-Lasky, from the New York home office, is here supervising the installation of the new Paramount exchange in the new film building.

Mell S. Wilson, formerly branch manager here for Famous Players-Lasky and now the manager for Fox in Denver, spent a day here on his way to the Fox convention in Los Angeles.

Joseph F. Samuels, local manager for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, is making a week's trip into Montana.

C. F. Parr is up in the Yellowstone branch of Idaho, and C. M. Stern is making Southern Utah with his Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer product.

Manager George E. Carpenter of the Paramount Empress Theatre here, is intending putting in a new box office and redecorating the lobby with new lighting effects. He may close the theatre for a week or ten days while they re seat part of the house and redeco orate generally, after which they will be able to seat more people. New uniforms have been ordered for the ushers and the orchestra is going to be nicely decked out in white this summer.

W. H. Burt of the Rialto Theatre at Twin Falls, Idaho, is an exhibitor visitor here this week.

C. Allen Smith, organist at the American, has been missed at the Console the last few days as he has been confined to his bed with illness.

The Christensen School of Dancing has now moved to their new quarters in the Dansante, and it is expected that L. P. Christensen and Dave Schayer will arrange some special prologues at this theatre.

H. Bradley Fish is expected to return to his managerial desk at the local Fox exchange from the convention in Los Angeles about April 21st.

Mathew Aparton, branch manager here for Universal, is back from the convention as are all of the Universal salesmen. Aparton is leaving right away for the territory.

John Ruger, owner of the American and Orpheum theatres at Park City, Utah, has been conferring with local managers on the new season's product this week.

W. F. Gordon, manager of the local Associated First National exchange, with Clyde Marcrof, booker here, and all of the salesmen, leaves April 23rd for the convention in Chicago which will be held from the 26th to 28th.

G. C. Jones is still covering Montana for Warner Brothers. M. F. Keller is working the Utah and Nevada territory.

South East

THE Royal Theatre, Wilmington, N. C., suffered from a fire in which the booth was practically demolished, through the film igniting.

It was reported that J. A. Rowan has purchased his partner's interest in the Wanoca Theatre, at Wallace, N. C.

Francis White, of the Capitol Theatre, Asheboro, N. C., was in Charlotte Tuesday as he is an exhibitor member of the Arbitration Board.

R. A. McGuire, auditor of Universal Film Exchanges, Inc., is in the Charlotte office this week, installing a new system of handling complete service contracts.

Ernest Neiman, formerly district representative of Producers and Distributors Corporation, is now salesman for Associated First National, according to report.

E. F. Dardine, who is the oldest exchange manager in point of service in Charlotte, returned with his entire sales force from a sales convention in New Orleans.

William Conn, F. B. O. manager, has returned from the sales conference in Los Angeles. Bill states he is glad to get back, as he only had one doy of sunshine during the entire trip.

Miss Dorothy Kenney, who has been in Charlotte some time, installing new system and secretary in the Film Board of Trade, was presented with a handsome bar pin on the event of her departure for New York.

Merritt Davis, manager of Warner Brothers, is in New York at a sales convention.

J. A. Reynolds, manager of Educational Film Exchange, has resigned to accept a position as general manager of the Piedmont Theatres, Inc., circuit, of which D. M. Eaves, of Union, S. C., is president. Jim has the best wishes of the entire faculty in his new undertaking.

H. W. Marcus, formerly general manager of the Eastern Carolina Theatres, Inc., has severed his connections with this company.

Louis Olsham, black signal man for Universal Film Exchanges, Inc., has been in the Charlotte office for the past week, looking after play dates.

Nat Royster, manager of the Warner Brothers Broadway Theatre, Charlotte, N. C., is in New York at a special conference this week.

Ground has been broken on North Tryon Street, Charlotte, for the new theatre which is to be operated by the Publix Theatres and which they expect to open late in the fall.

U. K. Rice, manager of the Colonial Theatre, Winston-Salem, N. C., was along Film Row the past week.

T. G. Leitch, president of the National Amusement Company, of Greensboro, N. C., has been in New York the past week on business for his company.

A. F. (Fuller) Sams, Jr., general manager of the Piedmont Amusement Company, Winston-Salem, N. C., has been spending a week's vacation in New York City.

V. C. Schley was in Charlotte Tuesday as an exhibitor member of the Arbitration Board.

The Metro-Goldwyn trackless train has arrived in Charlotte and is creating quite a sensation.

The Lyric Theatre, of Gastonia, N. C., will open its doors to the public on April 15. This house was built by J. E. Simpson, owner of the Ideal Theatre, of this city. It will have a seating capacity of about 650 and will be the first-run house.

Jimmie Meacham, booker for Producers and Distributors, spent several days in Atlanta the past week.

Buffalo

WITH most of the cities in Western New York resuming daylight saving schedules late this month, a growing sentiment is said to be felt now in Lockport and Niagara Falls that these two towns should line up with Buffalo, Rochester and the Tonawandas. Theatre interests in both towns, of couse, are fighting the move to put the new time into effect.

Eddie Weinberg has resigned as manager of the Cataract Theatre, in Niagara Falls, and is back in Buffalo as sales representative for a local electric sign company. But they always come back for more, so we expect to see Ed back in the fold again soon.

The sixth anniversary of the Binghamton Theatre, Binghamton, N. Y., was observed this past week. Through the combined efforts of Ned Kornblite, Dave Cohen and Manager H. M. Addison, the Binghamton has enjoyed a reputation of providing a calibre of entertainment second to none.

The new Hollywood Theatre was opened in Gowanda, N. Y., Monday evening, April 19. It is one of the most attractive small-town theatres in Western New York. It is "big-town," however, in its equipment and the decorations are most artistic. Judge John M. Schatt, veteran exhibitor, was on hand to welcome the open-night audience. There was a large delegation from Buffalo. The house was built by the Gowanda Realty Company.

The Symphony Theatre, in Binghamton, has just installed a $25,000 Link orchestral organ. The management obtained C. Sharpe Minor to play the instrument the week of April 19.

A few dozen theatre and exchange men attended the stag party given the other evening in the Broadway theatre by Mein Host Benny Wallerstein. Everything was going fine until the time to collect, when Benny had to lock the doors, 'tis said, but Carl Fahrenholtz, Fox booker, tried to get out the ventilator shaft. The new event is scheduled for the Rivoli in the near future.

Ted O'Shea, formerly a member of the Buffalo Metro sales force and recently manager of the Albany M.-G.-M. office, has returned to Buffalo as manager of the same exchange, succeeding Henry W. Kahn, who has been appointed manager of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer exchange in Memphis.

Charlie Goodwin, who recently resigned as manager of the Buffalo Universal exchange, has been engaged as a salesman at the Producers Distributing Corporation office.

Charlie Bowe, of the Frontier, a Buffalo community theatre, is out to equal Harry Langdon's walking record. Charlie gets all over town and always gets to his destination "on the hoof." No wonder this jolly exhibitor is always the picture of health.

First National Manager Frank J. A. McCarthy and his sales staff are all set to advance on Chicago Sunday for the big F. N. pow-wow. Each many is carrying a sawed-off shotgun in case there is an uprising in the town while they go slumming.

Frank C. Beetson, formerly an executive of the American Sugar Refining Company, has joined the sales department of the United Artists Buffalo branch.

Indianapolis

EXCAVATION work was started here today for a new $75,000 moving picture theatre by the F. J. Rembusch Enterprise, Inc., of which Frank J. Rembusch, of this city, is president.

Plans call for a seating capacity of 1,190 and a stage that will accommodate legitimate attractions. A large lobby, highly decorated, will form the entrance to the auditorium, which will take up the greater part of a business block.

E. W. Gomersall, local manager for the Fox Film Corporation, and George Landis, special representative for Fox, are attending the Fox convention in Los Angeles, Cal.

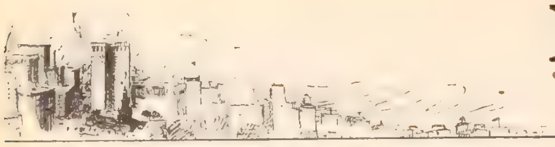
Henry Zapp, local manager for the Producers Distributing Corporation, has been transferred from the Indianapolis office to Detroit, the change to take effect April 15.

Zapp was just recently elected president of the Indianapolis Film Board of Trade and served the short term of four weeks. On account of the transfer of Zapp to Detroit, the members of the Indianapolis Film Board of Trade elected A. W. Plues, local manager of the Pathe Film exchange, president of the board to serve the unexpired term of Mr. Zapp. Mr. Plues has had a great deal of experience in the Film Board of Trade, having served on the Arbitration Board and various committees from time to time.

Ora Monger, who recently took over the Palace Theatre, at Richmond, Ind., has also taken over the Richmond Theatre. Bob Hudson operated both of these theatres. Monger will continue the same policy in both theatres as was formerly laid out by Hudson.

William Ratz, salesman for Producers Distributing Corporation and widely known in Indiana and vicinity, has been appointed local manager for the Producers Distributing Corporation, to succeed Henry Zapp.

EMPIRE LABORATORIES INC.
723 Seventh Ave., N. Y. Bryant 5437-5736
DEVELOPING AND PRINTING MOTION PICTURE FILM



New England

JOSEPH A. EMERY, manager of the Star Theatre at Bar Harbor, has returned from Florida where he spent several months. He is getting his theatre into shape for the opening of the summer season.

M. E. Loew of Loew's Circuit, with headquarters in Boston, spent several days in Portland during the week which has resulted in a revival of rumors that a Portland playhouse may be added to the circuit. No confirmation of the rumor could be secured.

Special Representative Umber of United Artists was a visitor to the Portland office of that company during the week, where he was entertained by Manager M. J. Garraghty.

James Greeley, Portland, one of the pioneer motion picture managers of Maine, announces that the old Gaiety Theatre is being extensively remodelled, that it will be made a first class house and brought up to date in equipment and will be reopened aboutt June 1st as a first run house.

Activity is reported at most of the noted summer resorts where work is under way painting and improving the motion picture theatres for a record summer business.

The Hollywood Club, formed to show motion pictures, has been opened at 106 Market street, Lynn, Mass., has been purchased by A. Cleveland. It is understood films may be produced later with New England scenes as a background.

The Playhouse at Chicopee, Mass., has been purchcased by A. L. Richmond from F. L. Frechette. The new owner will operate the Playhouse in the spring which he now controls, including the Phillips, Strand and Jefferson at Springfield, Mass.

Frank Wotten has acquired the Rialto Theatre in Westfield, Mass., from F. L. Frechette. Mr. Wotten also operates the Willow Theatre at Willimanset, Mass.

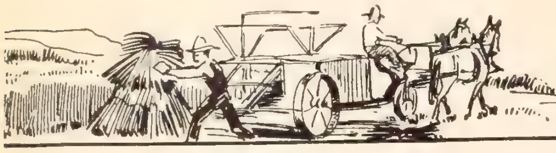
James A. Curran, assistant manager of the Pathe exchange at Boston, and Cashier D. W. Grover of the same exchange, were in New York for a few days attending the special efficiency meeting of the home office.

Manager L. J. Hacking of Producers Distributing Corp., Boston, has been in New York City for several days.

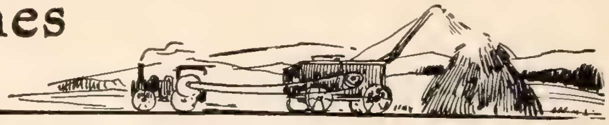
From the Boston exchange of Warner Brothers, Division Manager H. E. Elder, Branch Manager T. A. Donahue, Booker H. P. Smith and Salesmen M. E. Curran, H. C. Jewell, H. W. Erskine, H. M. Davis and Robert Murray, have returned from the Warner Brothers' convention in New York, held Saturdayi Sunday and Monday.

Branch Manager R. C. Cropper of the Pathe exchange, Boston, and Assistant Cashier E. R. Hurteau of the same exchange are back at their duties after absences of a week through illness.

E. M. Loew of the Loew Circuit has been entertaining his brother from Vienna, Austria, who has been in New England on a combination business and pleasure trip. He will return to Vienna in about two weeks.



Des Moines



FRANK CRAWFORD, manager of the Famous Players exchange, suffered from a dislocated shoulder for a week. Mr. Mr. Crawford fell on the steps to the basement of his home. While he was convalescing, A. W. Nichols, district manager, came down from Minneapolis to take charge of the local exchange office.

W. Hackman, until recently with Associated Exhibitors at the Des Moines office, is now with First National and travelling the northern part of the state.

C. Berk, Universal representative from New York, was for a week at the Des Moines office. He left here for Indianapolis.

N. C. Rice, manager of the office of F.B.O., returned from the three weeks at the national convention in Los Angeles. He was accompanied by Mrs. Rice.

Visitors at the Pathe office were Wolcott from Eldora, Stern from Corydon and Valentine from Casey.

Andre Bustanaby, from the New York office of Pathe, has been paying an official visit to the Des Moines office in his capacity as inspecting booker.

Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Lippert of Dyersville drove down to visit the city and also called at the film exchanges.

W. Miller, theatre broker, states that a number of theatres are about to change hands and that negotiations are now under way.

F. A. Van Husan, president of the Western Theatre Supply Company, from Omaha, stopped for a day at the Des Moines office.

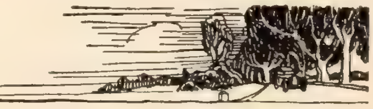
Charlie Stephens, shipper for Universal, has consoled himself in his sorrow—and has bought himself a new Ford.

J. C. Collins of Perry, Ted Bryant of Oelwein, William Youngclass of the Strand at Jefferson were registered among those who dropped in at the office of Famous Players to discuss pictures. Floyd Puffer of Webster City, G. Sterns of Corydon and Mrs. B. F. Watson of Knoxville visited the Universal exchange.

L. F. Wolcott and M. W. Morris of Eagle Grove and Eldora respectively visited the First National exchange.

F. J. Castart, travelling auditor from New York, has been visiting the office of First National.

Cleveland



MOSES SCHUMANN, father of D. L. Schumann of the Ohio Amusement Company, one of the leading local motion picture theatre circuits, died last Tuesday He was 78 years old. Out of respect for Mr. Schumann, the Cleveland Motion Picture Exhibitors' Association did not hold its monthly meeting on that day, as announced but postponed the meeting until Tuesday, April 20th.

Otto J. Motry set aside the week of April 11-18th for the tenth birthday celebration of his Lyric theatre in Tiffin, O.

J. L. Rex is the new manager of the Marvin theatre in Findley. Rex leased the house from O. E. Bollinger, owner of the building.

W. C. Walters, formerly associated with the Royal theatre at Oak Harbor, has purchased the Rialto theatre, Bellevue, from R. McIntosh.

Harold Stebbins steps into the limelight as an exhibitor with the acquisition of the Opera House in Bucyrus. Stebbens has been chief electrician with various road shows, and decided to settle down permanently. He plans to book in some road shows, some stock shows, and the big special feature picture productions.

The Cleveland Warner exchange was well represented at the Warner central convention in Chicago last week end. Attending were Nat Barach, division manager, Norman Moray, branch manager, Fred Scheuerman, office manager, and R. O. Flemm, L. B. Solether and J. S. O'Connell of the sales force.

Miss Leona Meyer, secretary to First National exchange manager Gradwell L. Sears, has just announced her engagement to William Enkler, a member of the Cleveland fire department.

Bert Botzum, prominent Akron exhibitor, has dug down into his bank roll to make alterations in his Orpheum theatre. He has built a model new screen room, where new product may be shown to the best advantage. He has also subdivided the second floor of the building into separate and elaborate private offices for himself and his associates who are Al Polonius and A. C. Kadlowac.

Howard Feigley, managing director of the Rivoli and Palace theatres in Toledo, is reported to be out of the hospital and to be on the road to recovery after an illness of several months.

George Zigiob, proprietor and manager of the Dreamland and Cozy theatres in Lorain, has been for several months and still is confined to a Cleveland hospital but he doesn't let a little thing like that interfere with his work, for last week he closed a year's contract with a local film representative. Miss Zigiob, George's sister, is running the houses during his absence from Lorain, and is said to be doing a mighty good job of it.

Allen Simmons is spending several thousand dollars to remodel his Allen theatre, Akron. The changes include a new coat of paint and new furnishings throughout. Simmons was in New York last week selecting decorations.

Bernard Kearney, assistant manager of the Colonial Theatre, Akron, is in an Akron hospital, said to be suffering from pneumonia.

W. B. Frank, vice president of the Hal Roach studios, and Stanley B. Waite, Pathe two-reel comedy sales manager, paid the local Pathe office a visit last Monday. Frank and Waite are making a tour of the central branch exchanges.

Gradwell L. Sears, First National exchange manager, spent part of last week in New York in consultation with home office representatives.

J. E. Loeffler, of the Rex Film Company, is now associated with the Fischer Film Exchange of this city in a sales capacity. Loeffler is, however, retaining his interest in the Rex Film Company.

The Film Bldg. register showed a decided pick-up last week, for visitors have been rather scarce for the past few weeks. Those noted included: George Mock, Mock's Opera House, Girard; George Scott, Market Street Theatre, Youngstown; M. Moran, Lincoln, Youngstown; Paul Mueller, Palace, Ashtabula; J. A. Martin, Pastime, Berea; W. C. Walters, Rialto, Bellevue; A. J. Buck, Colonial, Fostoria; Henry Rosenthal, Ohio, Ravenna; and Oscar Smith, Apollo, Oberlin.

Butte

W. J. HIENEMAN, manager of the local Universal exchange, has returned from Los Angeles, where he attended the big convention at Universal City. O. Henson, Universal salesman, returned with Mr. Hieneman and is equally full of inspiring messages from the film center.

William Hughardt, manager of the Pathe office here, is in Great Falls this week. Mr. Hughardt is clearing his slate to attend the big Pathe convention to be held in New York City.

Booker Claude Hall, of the Pathe office, is in charge during the absence of the executive, and incidentally he is doing a lot of work every day in fire drills. He says the staff can make an exit in less than thirty seconds now.

Frank Murphy, who heads the Famous-Players office here, has returned from the convention at Atlantic City. He has come home ready to put into action the many splendid ideas developed at the round-table talks at the convention.

Walt K. Millar, local manager for Greater Features, has just returned from a trip in the eastern part of the State.

J. J. Harrington, head salesman for the Montana district for First National, was in Butte a few days last week.

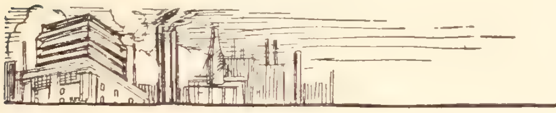
C. R. Wade, local executive for Producers Distributing Corporation, has returned from a trip over the State that included all the key cities of Montana.

Central Penn.

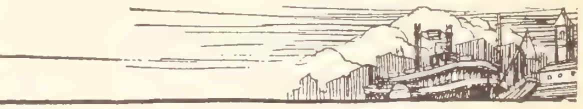
ARTHUR L. COBB, stage manager of the Majestic Theatre, Harrisburg, Pa, was severely injured when struck by an automobile as he was about to board a street car, near his home, on April 6. He will recover. Mr. Cobb is 50 years old.

A new motion picture theatre is being erected at Dry Run, Franklin County, Pa. The project is being financed by R. A. Steele, of Chambersburg, head of the Chambersburg Amusement Company, which owns the Rosedale Theatre, in that city. Dry Run is in a remote, mountainous section of the Path Valley, and the new theatre will be the first to be erected there.

The Regent Motion Picture Theatre, Beaver Falls, Pa., was considerably damaged by a fire which destroyed a drug store and tea room adjoining on the morning of April 15. Apartments above the theatre were damaged also, and the occupants of the apartments, consisting of two families, had to flee in their night attire for their lives. Firemen carried Mrs. Robert McMillan, an invalid, from one of the apartments. The total loss was placed at $50,000. The Regent is a modern theatre, equipped with a fine pipe organ.



St. Louis



HARRY ARTHUR SCHWARZOTT, 34 years old, salesman for the St. Louis office of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures Corporation, died in St. Louis on Sunday, April 11, following an illness of about six weeks' duration. Several days age he underwent an operation for appendicitis and complications set in, causing his death. The funeral was held in that city on Wednesday, April 14.

Mr. Schwarzott was a member of the Beta Phi Sigma Fraternity, Navarre Lodge, No. 142, Knights of Pythias and the B. P. O. Elks' Lodge, all of Springfield, Ill.

Henry Sanders, salesman for First National, and his seagoing hack lost a battle with mud while out after contracts the past week and sent the S O S call for Manager Harry Weiss and his trusty Hudson super. But Weiss got mired in the mud about four miles from where Sanders was stuck. Result: both cars took the open-air garage for some forty-eight hours, while Sanders and Weiss rode the cushions back to town.

Visitors to the First National office in St. Louis the past week included Jerry Marks, representing Sierra Pictures; Thomas A. Curran, of Rayart Pictures Corporation, who sold features to the St. Louis Film exchange and short subjects to Columbia, and George West, brother of Billie West, making Winnie Winkle, Hairbreadth Harry and Izzie and Lizzie comedies.

The Lyric, Bragg City, Mo., has been taken over by Y. W. Yarbro.

The Great States Theatres, Inc., is the new owner of the New Paris, Paris, Ill.

John Kizer has hold the Kozy Theatre, Pocahontas, Ark., to Robert Sanders.

Theatres reported closed include: Auxvasse Public School, Auxvasse, Mo.; Jolly, Columbus, Ky.; Gayety, Freeburg, Ill.; Bond Theatre, East St. Louis; Jacksonville, Jacksonville, Mo.; Gem Theatre, Leachville, Ark.; Braswell, Marion, Ky.; Nason, Nason, Ill.; Grand, Odin, Ill.; Ozark, Ozark, Ill.; Rex, Pittsburg, Ill.; Lyric, Salem, Mo., and Hidalgo, Ill.

Houses that have opened recently or about to reopen are Hobo, Shawneetown, Ill.; Amusu, Dupo, Ill.; Okaw, Findlay, Ill., on Saturdays only to fall.

Due to high water in Central Illinois and Northern Missouri many theatres were dark the latter part of last week. About two feet of snow melting, with a full week of rain, caused many creeks and small rivers to leave their banks. Roads became impassable, power plans put out of business temporarily and business generally interfered with. However, exhibitors are looking ahead to better things.

R. W. Hickman plans to erect a new theatre at Third Street and College Avenue, Greenville, Ill. The new structure will be two-story, 44 by 125 feet, with stores on the ground floor in front.

The theatre at Joplin, Mo., was looted by yeggmen on April 12. About $750 was secured from two safes. The combination of one was knocked off with a come-along, while the door of the other strong box was blown with nitro-glycerine.

Al Boswell has assumed his new duties as assistant manager for the St. Louis exchange of Association Exhibitors. He had been a cashier for Fox for about six years and is well known to the exhibitors of this territory. Manager Nat Steinberg also expects to announce the acquisition of two new salesmen soon.

TRAILERS SELL SEATS
NATIONAL SCREEN SERVICE

THE
ONLY
TRAILER SERVICE
WITH ACTUAL SCENES
FROM THE NEGATIVE

Chicago, Ill.
845 So. Wabash Ave.

New York City
126 West 46th St.

Los Angeles, Cal.
1922 So. Vermont Ave.

Philadelphia

AT the first election of officers of the Regional Distributors' Association held recently in New York, Philadelphia exchangemen who have been active in the formation of the organization were paid tributes of appreciation. Oscar Neufeld, president o fthe Philadelphia Film Board of Trade, was elected president and Ben Amsterdam, of Masterpiece Film Attractions, was elected vice-president. The Association also expressed great appreciation for the efforts of Gene Marcus, of the Twentieth Century Exchange, who has been an active worker for the interests of state righters.

Dave Miller, who has been a member of the Philadelphia sales force of Universal for several years, has been transferred to Buffalo to assume the management of that office.

Mike Stiefel, head of the Stiefel Amusement Company, operating a chain of theatres in Philadelphia and vicinity, sailed recently with Mrs. Stiefel on the "Leviathan" for a several months' stay in Europe. Mr. Stiefel expects to spend the greater part of his vacation in Palestine.

Charles Delavan, who has been one of the field staff of Pathe News, has been assigned permanently to the Philadelphia office under Miles Gibbons, branch manager.

Joseph Hebrew, Philadelphia branch manager for Warner Brothers, has returned from a swing around the country, including visits to New York and Chicago, where he attended Warner Brothers' sales conference.

Jack Rosenthal, chairman of the Entertainment Committee of the M. P. T. O. of Eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey and Delaware, introduced an innovation in the way of entertainment when he suggested that members of the organization attend in a body the American League base ball game between Philadelphia and Washington following the regular meeting of the M. P. T. O. held in the Hotel Vendig on April ?.? The game was played in Shibe Park and members of the association expressed themselves as pleased with the change from the usual vaudeville entertainment which has always formed part of the program provided for the meetings of the organization.

New York and New Jersey

ALL of Dave Gross' friends are congratulating him on his promotion from assistant manager of the New York Fox exchange to full charge of local branch of Producers Distributing Corporation, where he succeeds George Dillon, who now has supervision of the Eastern district.

Gross' present position indicates a steady rise for several years, his experience as special representative for First National out of the home office, assistant manager for First National's New York exchange and assistant to Harry Buxbaum at the Fox New York branch furnishing a strong foundation for his present duties. He is well known throughout the country, particularly so in the local territory where has been located for years.

According to Harmon Yaffa, prominent local exhibitor, who commented on Dave's promotion, "if all exchange managers would study exhibitors' needs as Gross has, everything would go along more smoothly."

In what manner of esteem they hold Gilbert Josephson, managing director of the Monroe Theatre, Seventy-sixth Street and First Avnue, was demonstrated last Sunday evening, when his employees held a banquet in his honor at the Hungarian Restaurant. Johnnie Fields was master of ceremonies and presented Mr. Josephson with a handsome watch and chain in behalf of those present. J. Cohen and S. Rubin are credited with being the master minds of the affair. Included among the guests were Mrs. Josephson, Jack Josephson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. H. Goldblatt, I. Goldblatt, J. Rubin, M. Nagel, I. Krulik, M. Chinsky, M. Paley, Irving Gerber, William Salkin, A. H. Levy and H. F. Farrell. Following the banquet, a reception was held at the Monroe Theatre.

HENNEGAN
Lithographed
Program Covers

New Series
ATTRACTIVE PRICES
WRITE FOR SAMPLES
THE HENNEGAN COMPANY
CINCINNATI, OHIO

Fred Faulkner, chief of the Faulkner New Jersey Circuit, has again moved to his summer home at Allenhurst, N. J., where he now plans to stay both summer and winter. Mr. Faulkner also has under consideration the removal of his business office from New York City to Newark. This latter move may be coincident with a rumor to the effect that the Faulkner-Bratter and Pollack Enterprises may combine with the strong New Jersey Fabian Circuit.

Messrs. Raynor and Stombaugh, of the Pathe New York exchange, are attending the convention at the Pathe home office this week.

Henry Blumenthal, of the Haring & Blumenthal New Jersey Circuit, dropped in to have a chat with some of the local exchange managers this last Tuesday. The promise that spring may yet appear has Henry going through the motions of swinging a golf stick. Haring & Blumenthal's new Jerome Avenue Theatre, a 2,500-seat house, is scheduled to open during the month of July.

It is rumored that Stanley Hand has resigned his post as manager of the First National New York exchange.

Dave Howell, who operates the Playhouse, at Dover, N. J., will include vaudeville in his theatre program during the latter part of the week, according to report. Dover is the home town and stronghold of Pete Woodhull, M. P. T. O. official.

Messrs. Grobe and Nobel, two enterprising local exhibitors, have two handsome theatres under way on Long Island—the latter, by the way, being a veritable beehive of theatre-building activity of late, owing to the vast real estate developments.

The Jackson Heights Theatre, located at 26 Northern Boulevard, will be ready about the latter part of August. This house will be of the stadium type and will have a seating capacity of 2,200. A few of the features will be a thirty-piece orchestra, a large Wurlitzer organ, solid bronze exit doors and a twelve-foot crystal chandelier in the main auditorium. Bert Korbel will be the managing director. The other house under construction by Grobe and Nobel is situated on Lincoln Avenue, Sunnyside, L. I., and is expected to be ready for business about Labor Day, 1926. The Sunnyside will seat 2,500 on one floor and provisions are being made for a balcony which will accommodate an additional 1,400, if conditions should warrant the change.

Morris Spewak, of Carteret, N. J., has recently purchased a site in that city where he will erect a 1,200-seat theatre.

According to report, the new theatre under construction at Englewood, N. J., although coming along slowly, is still coming along. The side walls and roof are up and the rest of the house is expected to be ready within the next couple of months or so.

Maurice Broskie, who was a well-known exchange manager before he forsook the worries of that end to shake a few plums off the tree in the way of taking over the West End Theatre at Newark, is building a new house at Nutley, N. J. Mr. Broskie states that the Nutley Theatre will be ready the latter part of the summer.

Chrisedge Theatres, Inc., of which Matthew Chrystmos and Harry Eldridge are the proprietors, will open another house at Bronxville about May 15.

One of Grobe and Nobel's Circuit theatres, the U. S., located in the Bronx, had a small fire in the projection booth a few days ago. It happened about 4 o'clock in the afternoon and Joe Hornstein, of Howell's, had two new machines installed by 5:30 the same day.

Feature pictures, with elaborate presentations, will be the policy of the new Tremont Theatre when Harry Sherman and Jack Steinman open that house during the summer. The Tremont will seat 2,000 and be in direct competition with one of the Loew Circuit. A good showman like Jack Steinman never worries about a little thing like that.

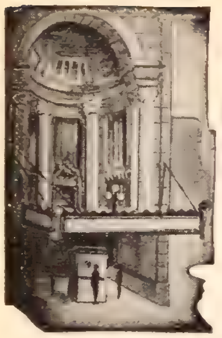
Two prominent New Jersey exhibitors have new theatres under construction at the present time. Leon Rosenblatt, of Bayonne, is building on Staten Island for a fall opening and J. Kokolis, of the Strand and Royal Theatres, Elizabeth, is also erecting another house in that city. The latter will seat about 1,000.

Harry Suchman, who, when feeling the need of a little diversion, goes into the real estate business, is reported as returning from the Florida field woth a bag full of shekels.

Calderone's new Valley Stream Theatre will have its opening the latter part of April.

According to report, Louis Rosenthal has leased his Palace Theatre, at East Orange, for a ten weeks' stock engagement to Atell, who operates the Portchester Theatre, at Mt. Vernon.

Jack Stewart, manager of Warner Bros. exchange, Cincinnati, Ohio



CONSTRUCTION & EQUIPMENT DEPARTMENT

"Tricks" That Spelled Profit for F. & R.

Presentation and Showmanship Ideas Recently Employed by Large Circuit

By EARL R. BUELL

FINKELSTEIN & RUBEN have adopted a new name and invented a new kind of stage presentation to set off some of their latest film shows. The name is synco-jazz and the show is called the Synco-jazz revue. It is built around Ackerman's singing orchestra which is well known throughout the Northwest for its radio broadcasting through WAMD, the Radisson Hotel station. Four dances, a girl and three men snap it up with ad-lib stuff from the orchestra and singers. The work is comedy throughout.

Egbert Van Alstein is another star that F. & R. is using effectively with its pictures. He is singing "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree."

Bob Brose, who directs the orchestra at the Lagoon Theater in Minneapolis, is putting over a big thing which F. & R. will undoubtedly use in many of its theatres before long in connection with Saturday children's matinees.

Matinee Clubs

With a simple little "Kiddies' Matinee Clubs," he doubled the matinee business on that day in just four weeks from the time it started.

So overwhelming has been the success of this stunt that he is showing more than 50 letters from parents commending him on it and he has the pleasure every Saturday afternoon of hearing the kids give three cheers for Finkelstein & Ruben, three cheers for the Lagoon Matinee Club, and three cheers for himself as its organizer.

The club was started with 1,000 buttons and it has already been necessary to get another thousand.

Each button is numbered and every Saturday certain numbers are posted in front of the house. These numbers mean free admission for the kids with the lucky buttons and they never miss a week.

MEMBERSHIP BADGE

The members of the Kiddies Matinee Club for youngsters in Minneapolis. Those belonging to the club receive badges like that shown above. The number is the key for the prizes distributed at these Saturday morning showings.

Prizes for Youngsters

Inside more prizes are distributed and after the first two or three presentations, merchants in the district began approaching Brose with offers of prizes in order that the names might be mentioned and the boys might have a chance to cheer the merchants.

The splendid Calhoun Terrace Theatre and dance floor operated by F. & R., in Minneapolis, has been offered by the company without charge to several worthy organizations recently, notably the United States Veterans Bureau employes putting on a benefit dance for the new chapel at Fort Snelling.

The old stunt of using a flying extra which newsboys folded into regular papers was used by F. & R. in Duluth recently in the exploitation of a film.

S. R. O. Week Success

Co-operation all down the line was successfully raised to a high pitch in the F. & R. Theatres throughout the Northwest in S. R. O. week, a special stunt just closed.

It was a week when the theatre managers were asked to concentrate special efforts on "getting them in." The booking department exercised special care in the selection of pictures. Something extra in the way of music was planned. The advertising department put on an extra head of steam.

Donation parties and every other conceivable method of inviting the public to the theatre were used in order to make the movie-going habit stick just when spring began weaning 'em away.

Equipment Serving You

By P. M. ABBOTT

"PLEASE put me in touch with reliable manufacturers of equipment.

"How should I change my present ventilating system to get better results this summer?"

These are typical of queries and requests that are coming to our desk in ever-increasing numbers. And answering these letters from exhibitors is a task we're only too glad to perform. Every letter shows that one more theatre owner is keeping up with the times —that he must add something new and better even if only in a small way is the order of the day for the progressive exhibitor.

But back again to these requests for information on where to buy equipment and advice on technical questions —when these letters start coming thick and fast we know spring is here.

PLANS for making those long contemplated changes are getting under way at this season. And we want to extend our help to any reader who has a problem or who wants to know where or what to buy. This department is always at the service of all our readers.

For answering any technical points we aren't thoroughly familiar with ourselves, we are fortunate in having a reliable staff of advisory experts. So we invite the exhibitors who will make changes in their theatres during the next few months to call on us for any help needed.

The increasing volume of mail requesting our suggestions and advice concerning the sources of supply for various kinds of equipment and technical questions related to its installation, we receive with gratification as an expression of confidence by our readers. But more than that it indicates an appreciation of values and an understanding of the equipment market of today—an era in which progress and swift development are strikingly manifest.

Keith's in Washington Slashes Prices

Cuts Admissions to Offset Competition of Picture Houses

A SHARP reduction of admission prices was instituted last week at B. F. Keith's Theatre in Washington, D. C. The new scale offers the entire orchestra at 50 cents a seat for matinees from Monday to Friday, when the entire mezzanine floor is released at 35 cents per seat, and the balcony seats sell at 25 cents.

The new evening scale from Monday to Friday offers 500 orchestra seats at $1.00, with the old $2.00 seats selling at $1.50, a reduction of 50 cents on all seats. On these nights the balcony seats sell at 35 cents as against the old price of 50 cents.

Indication that the picture theatres of Washington are providing a brand of competition too severe to be met by the B. F. Keith's at the old prices is suggested by the reduction announcement, which includes the observation that the cut means "that patrons of this home of the last word in variety will now be able to see the same big shows that are presented in the Palace Theatre, New York, and the big B. F. Keith Hippodrome, New York, at movie prices."

Among the headliners the theatre has announced for future bills are Nora Bayes, Nazimova, Ruth Chatterton, Ethel Barrymore, Willie and Eugene Howard and Percy Grainger, concert pianist who recently made his vaudeville debut under the Keith-Albee banner.

Operatic Presentation At Imperial, Ottawa

Something new in moving picture presentation was seen at the Imperial Theatre, Ottawa, Ontario, during the week of April 17, when the film feature "The Bohemian Girl" was shown along with an opera accompaniment by a company of five operatic soloists and a symphony orchestra. The arrangement was carried out under the personal direction of Basil Horsfall, of Montreal, a former film distributor of that city. The combination of feature picture and personal artists in costume singing the principal roles of the opera was called "Operafilm." Presentations were given twice daily, the solos being synchronized with the action on the screen. The manager of the Imperial Theatre is James T. Moxley.

Gayety In Kansas City Now Offers Pictures

Burlesque will give way to motion pictures in the Gayety Theatre, Kansas City, starting this week. The management is going in for the revival of the two systems of shows, in vogue years ago, the continuous performance of first-run pictures and vaudeville at 10, 15 and 25 cents.

"There are many combinations of entertainment in our plans," Park Sherlock, manager, said. "We shall in one program present vaudeville, on Sundays only, feature pictures, comedies and news weeklies."

A FRANK MILLER PRESENTATION

The photo above shows the prologue presented by Manager Miller at the Imperial Theatre, Augusta, Ga., for the showing of "Mike" (M. G. M.). The number featured "Georgia Railroad March," composed by the theatre organist, and played by the orchestra. The engine and freight car moved across the stage and the number closed with the singing of "Mike" by a tenor, shown at left, dressed in overalls.

Presentations Replace the Double Bills At Leroy

The Leroy Theatre at Pawtucket, R. I., will shortly inaugurate a change in policy and will have a feature and a stage presentation instead of the double feature bill. Manager Harry Storin is arranging the programs.

Shea's Colonial Switches From Vaudeville To Films

Shea's Colonial Theatre in Akron, now undergoing a thorough cleaning and redecorating process, will reopen with a policy of first-run feature pictures, switching from the vaudeville policy under which it has been operated by Manager L. B. Cool.

Music Novelty Presentation At Des Moines Theatre

As a presentation number on the bill with "For Heaven's Sake" at the Des Moines Theatre, Des Moines, that house is offering a music novelty entitled "A Nautical Adventure." The act was a comedy number presented by Vergne Ford and Sherwood Beasley, including piano, trombone and vocal solo.

Petite Cherie On Alhambra Bill

Music and the dance shared stage presentation honors at the Alhambra Theatre, Milwaukee, last week. Themy Georgi, tenor, appeared as soloist with the Roemheld Orchestra, featuring the overture with vocal interpolations from the opera "Martha." The other act presented Petite Cherie, a dancer. "Watch Your Wife" was the featured screen offering.

Sunday Noon Concerts New Feature At Newman

The Newman Theatre, first run downtown house of Kansas City, will adopt a new feature, beginning April 25, in the way of a Sunday noon musicale, according to Bruce Fowler, manager. Widely-known local singers, pianists and organists will appear on the program from week to week, which will be from 12 o'clock to 12:45 o'clock, featuring only the highest class music and barring jazz. No additional admittance will be charged for the musical program, those attending being permitted to remain for the regular afternoon program, which will follow immediately.

Snowshoe Dancers in Des Moines

The Nellie Sterling Company, offering their novelty snowshoe dances in a colorful setting representing the lands of the big snows appeared on the sage of the Capitol, Des Moines, last week as the chief presentation in support of the photoplay "Desert Gold."

Eva Fay at Olympic, Pittsburgh

Eva Fay in her act "telling the past, present and future" was the stage attraction last week at the Olympic, Pittsburgh. "The New Klondike" and the second issue of the Charleston lessons reel featuring Arthur Murray, were the screen offerings.

D. W. Griffith Week in Newark

The Capitol Theatre, Newark, N. J., last week featured a week of D. W. Griffith revivals. "Way Down East," "The White Rose," "Broken Blossoms," "One Exciting Night" and "Orphans of the Storm" were the attractions offered.

COSTUMES FOR HIRE PRODUCTIONS EXPLOITATIONS PRESENTATIONS BROOKS 1437 Broadway Tel. 5580 Pen.

Charleston Still Box Office Favorite

New Records Set by Contests and Other Novel Dance Stunts

THE Charleston in various forms continues to hold a leading place as the biggest box office attraction offered by theatres large and small in conjunction with their photoplay features and stage presentations. The high-water marks set up with "fiddler's contests" and "old-time dance contests" have been eclipsed with the Charleston at theatres which have featured all three of these modern showmanship stunts.

At the Rialto in New York, the all-week contests of Charleston dancing, for example, succeeded in running up a remarkable box office return during Holy Week, admittedly one of the "toughest" theatre periods in the year. This outcome of the idea worked out by Manager Max Cooper, Exploitation Director Jack McInerney and Publicity Director Louis Lusty, of the Rialto, under the direction of A. M. Botsford and Ed. Olmstead of the Publix home office, naturally proved an especially gratifying circumstance to all of those gentlemen, in view of the fact that there were many who not only smiled but laughed outright when the idea of putting on a Charleston contest at a Broadway house was first announced.

Going from Broadway to East Liverpool, Ohio, we have the same testimony of praise for the Charleston which has characterized the reports of an overwhelming majority of the showmen who have used the stunt. Bill Tollman, manager of the Ceramic Theatre in East Liverpool, says he is "sold" on the value of the Charleston in picture theatres. About a month ago Tollman ran a local contest that he claims was the biggest thing he ever put over. His house was packed, literally, with not a seat to be had, all during the contest.

BACKS "CHARLESTON"

Johnny Hines with the silver loving cup to be presented by Chris Buckley, of the Empire Theatre, Glens Falls, N. Y., to the winner of the Charleston contests held there. The cup is presented by the First National Star.

STUDY PROJECTION

Class of the Publix Theatres Managers' Training School on the roof of the factory of the International Projector Corporation, where one of the sessions in the subject of projection was held.

Publix Theatres Managers' School Includes Projection Course

THE photograph published on this page is that of the second class of the Publix Theatres Managers' Training School. The schedule of the school includes a course in projection, which is but one of the many subjects in which instruction is given during the six months of training.

It is evident from a study of the very complete courses in theatre management that it is not the purpose of the school to train projectionists. No member of the class is training for any other work except that of theatre management. However, a capable theatre manager should supervise every detail of theatre operation. This he cannot do unless he is familiar not only with the technical details of each department, but also with its common daily problems. The course in projection aims to develop in these future theatre managers an appreciation of the importance of projection and the part that it plays in successful theatre operation. It develops the realization that the projectionist is a technical expert, and that when ideal relationship and mutual understanding of each other's problems exist between the theatre manager and the projectionist, the result is beneficial to theatre operation. This ideal relationship and mutual understanding cannot exist unless the theatre manager is familiar with the work of the projectionist and can talk his language and understand his problems and be familiar with those general technical details of his work.

Consequently, the course in projection at the Publix Theatres Managers' Training School includes some thirty-odd subjects, in which instruction is given not to train projectionists, but rather to train future theatre managers who can supervise projection more effectively.

The course started with a visit to the factory of the International Projector Corporation, where the class spent the entire day of Monday, April 12th. Instruction was given in the newly equipped auditorium of the International Projection factory, at 90 Gold Street, New York City.

P. J. McGuire, of the International Projector Corp., was in charge of arrangements and built up the program of the day and introduced the different speakers, who gave instruction to the class. Through his efforts slides were used to illustrate certain of his subjects that were discussed.

At the opening session Herbert Griffin, General Sales Manager of the Powers Division of the International Projector Corp. gave very practical and very informative instruction on Powers projectors, explaining the complete mechanism, the operation of the different parts. Open forum discussions followed Mr. Griffith's lectures and this expert discussed the problems presented by members of the class.

The class was entertained at luncheon and was then taken on the roof of their factory. Mr. Schulze and Mr. Wrede of the Powers Division lectured on illuminants, repairs and replacements and general maintenance. A. Kindelman, Chief Supervisor, and J. Soons, General Electrician, of the Simplex Division then discussed the Simplex projector and the Simplex incandescent lamp. Mr. Hall, of Hall & Connolly, discussed the "HC" high intensity lamp and this was followed by an open forum discussion.

John F. Barry, Director of the Publix Theatres Managers' Training School, expressed the appreciation of the class for the courtesies extended by the executives of the International Projector Corporation.

Boxing Bouts Added Attraction

So popular has a boxing bout, as an added attraction, proved each Friday night at the Empress Theatre, Kansas City, that Fred Sears, manager, arranged a program of eight bouts this week, several of them being far above the average. The house was packed.

Board Sponsors Sunday Shows

Central Theatre, Westerly, R. I., will inaugurate Sunday evening shows starting next Sunday. The Sunday shows are sponsored by the Pawcatuck Board of Trade and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

An interesting photograph of the Alhambra Theatre, Alexandria, Egypt. Note the unusual seating arrangements which are of Opera House style. Besides being the home of United Artist pictures in Alexandria, the house is equipped to handle any type of show.

M & S Hollywood Theatre Brings Broadway to East Side

NO longer does Broadway hold the monopoly for modern and beautiful theatres. On Ave. A and 6th St., N. Y. City, quite a distance from the White Lights, the Hollywood Theatre has just been opened.

Harrison G. Wiseman, the architect, made a six months' tour of the newly opened theatres in all parts of the country and returned fully equipped with plans for a theatre that would contain all these improvements. Thus the Hollywood Theatre. This house was planned and built from a combination of ideas found in the finest theatres in the country.

The walls are of stucco, with bases of black marble. An arresting and unusual feature is immediately noticeable from a view from the rear of the theatre. Toward the front of the house on either side wall is a fair-sized crest in red and green. In the upper right-hand corner of the crest is a lion, done in gold. The idea has been carried to the decoration above the proscenium arch. With a dark green background, there is a gold design across this arch, in the center of which is another gold lion. These crests, together with the stucco decorations of the walls, give the appearance of an old castle.

While simplicity seems to have been the keynote, the effect is rich and beautiful. The arch of the stage is flanked on each side by two beautifully carved pillars in cream and brown, while between the two pillars is a panel of dark green. On each side of the stage, against the green panel, is a tall bronze lamp with a dim green light, which is left burning during the performance.

Completing the stage is a proscenium draw curtain of rich green velour, hung in heavy folds and bordered with a deep gold fringe. It is operated by a motor controlled in the picture booth. Over the curtain is a green velour valance of a scalloped design trimmed with gold braid. The proscenium treatment gives an effect of quiet dignity in keeping with the atmosphere of the architecture.

Quite in contrast is the picture curtain of green velour, with an all-over design in crushed rhinestones. The beauty of this curtain is emphasized by the alternating colors projected on it during the overture. The operator controls the travel of this curtain, too, from the booth.

Augmenting the orchestra is a large organ. The pipes are concealed beneath latticed balconies on each side of the front of the house. These balconies are of Spanish design, finished in green and antique gold. They are extremely ornate and their decorative features predominate wholly the simpler interior treatment.

Although the ceiling is painted a deep brown, there is a wide and magnificent center decoration for the chandelier. Again green and gold predominate, but there is a touch of red interspersed at different points. The chandelier is very large and is covered with crystal pendants and prisms. Colored bulbs throw a myriad of colors through the crystal. Crystal prisms hang from parchment shades adorning the wall brackets, while the foyer of the theatre contains three chandeliers, each one having eight parchment shades with elaborate crystal pendants and decorations. The orchestra beneath the balcony is illuminated by glass enclosed lights. The glass is of a deep blue with a design in green.

The stairway to the mezzanine is in the center of the foyer, and at the top step on either side is a mirror-covered door. The lounge is furnished with gray wicker chairs and table. Black and gray inlaid rubber linoleum covers the floor and has the appearance of marble. Blue-shaded lamps are placed in convenient spots for reading and small crystal chandeliers hang from the ceiling. A maid is in constant attendance in the ladies' lounge.

The balcony is large and contains 400 of the 1,500 seats in the house. It permits of a clear and unobstructed view of the stage from every angle.

A visit to the projecting room is of great interest. One of the very latest conveniences for perfect co-operation is a time clock for the benefit of the musicians. A clock is installed for the director, as well as one in the projecting room. This clock times the film so that the musician may also keep timed as to the length and change of the picture. The musician has a chart of the movements of the picture and thus knows every change and the clock times him perfectly.

The fireproof booth is equipped with every modern facility for good projection and safe operation, as well as convenience and comfort for the operator. A safety device is a pipe which runs from each of the three picture machines to the roof. This pipe not only keeps the machine clean from carbon dust but cools the machine automatically. Showers have been built in a rest room for the operators.

The heating of the theatre is entirely by oil, which is not only cleaner but safer in every way. Nothing has been overlooked in establishing perfect comfort for the patrons. The drafts which are bound to come through from under the exits have been eradicated by the addition of air holes which are built into the floor near the doors. Hot air is sent from the basement through these holes, checking the cold drafts which drift through. In the same manner, in the hot weather cold air is sent through to cool the theatre. A temperature of from 65 to 68 degrees is automatically kept at all times in the hot weather. The cooling and heating apparatus is operated on the same principle by underground and overhead ducts.

The seats are roomy and comfortable, the last word in design, upholstered in leather.

The ushers and attendants are under a military control, as in many other large theatres.

Good taste and quiet, harmony is prevalent throughout the entire interior. The draperies add refinement and richness to the general scheme of decoration and are the handiwork of the Novelty Scenic Studios of New York City.

Pittsburgh, Kansas, to Have $200,000 Theatre

Josephson & Finklestein, Kansas City, have purchased a site for $100,000 in Pittsburg, Kans., for the erection of a theatre to be known as the Orpheum, to cost $200,000. Construction of the building will be started as soon as the plans are drawn by Boller Brothers of Kansas City. The theatre will seat 1,500, and will be part of a circuit recently formed by Josephson & Finklestein.

Geo. W. Sparks Breaks Ground

The Eberhardt Construction Company, Salina, Kans., will start work immediately on the New Grand Theatre at Moberly, Mo. George W. Sparks, 207 North Clark Street, Moberly, Mo., is the owner of the building. It will cost about $50,000 and be two story and basement, 61 by 140 feet, and have seats for about 750 persons.

SILVERSHEET
K-NOBEL-BUILT

A Mark of Quality and Distinction

There was but one REMBRANDT . . . . . there is but one PADEREWSKI . . . . . there is but one THOMAS A. EDISON and there is but one J. OTTO KNOBEL Master Screen builder of all times.

To him projection screen building is not a sordid business matter—it is an art—and like all artists he is so super-critical that any product bearing his name is absolutely perfect.

Combined with his extensive knowledge of projection requisites is his ability to spread his finishing surface—be it rough or smooth—brilliant or subdued—with absolute uniformity, so that no high lights, clouds or mottled spots will appear.

Remember . . . to get a genuine KNOBEL BUILT Screen you must get a

SILVERSHEET

Backed by a guarantee of absolute satisfaction

A PERTINENT POINT

↓

Built to specification, means more than the mere showing of three or four different finishes. It means that all projection conditions of the theatre must be weighed carefully and the screen then built to fit. With the increasing improvements in projection, follows the development of new harmonizing screen surfaces. These will be found in the

SILVERSHEET

SUPPLY DEALERS

There are still a few territories available. Look into the advantages of securing a Silversheet Franchise.

AMERICAN SILVERSHEET COMPANY
915 WASH STREET -:- SAINT LOUIS, MO.

S M. P. E. Spring Convention Most Elaborate Yet Attempted

THE Society of Motion Picture Engineers will hold their spring convention May 3rd to 6th inclusive, at Washington, D. C. This meeting marks the tenth anniversary of the Call—Meeting of the Society, which took place in Washington in the spring of 1916.

In celebration of this anniversary, the Society has planned a very elaborate program of papers and social events. The meeting proper will be held at the Lee House, which is one of the better hotels in Washington.

The program in detail for the four-day session is as follows:

May 3rd, Monday: Morning—Registration; Address of Welcome by Col. J. Franklin Bell, Commissioner District Columbia; Presidential Address by Williard B. Cook, Kodascope Libraries, Inc., New York City; Unfinishes Business; New Business; Report of Committees.

Afternoon—Visit to White House to meet President Coolidge. Ladies of the Members will meet Mrs. Coolidge; Sightseeing tour for the Ladies of the Members from the Lee House.

Afternoon—Papers: ‘‘The Public and Motion Pictures,’’ by William A. Johnston, Editor, Motion Picture News; ‘‘Some New Developments in the Production of Animated Drawings,’’ by J. A. Norling, Loucks & Norling, Inc., New York City, and J. F. Leventhal; ‘‘Subtractive Color Motion Pictures on Single Coated Film,’’ by F. E. Ives; ‘‘The Handling of Motion Picture Film under Various Climatic Conditions,’’ by R. J. Flaherty, Cinematographer, New York City; ‘‘The Hypersensitizing of Panchromatic Motion Picture Film,’’ by J. I. Crabtree, Research Laboratory, Eastman Kodak Company; ‘‘Pointers on Theatre Design and Construction,’’ by H. Robins Burroughs, Architect, New York City.

Evening—Dinner: Evening session will be held in the Auditorium of the Motion Picture Division of the Department of Agriculture. Ladies are cordially invited; ‘‘The New Chronoteine Camera’’ (demonstration), by C. Francis Jenkins, Past President, S. M. P. E.; ‘‘First Production of Stereoscopic Pictures in Motion Picture Theatres’’ (film demonstration), by J. F. Leventhal; ‘‘Early History and Growth of the Motion Picture Industry’’ (film demonstration), by Otto Nelson, National Cash Register Company, Dayton, Ohio.

Tuesday Morning, May 4th—Papers: ‘‘The National Bureau of Standards and Its Possible Technical Relations to the Motion Picture Industry,’’ by George K. Burgess, Director of the Bureau of Standards; ‘‘Report of Progress in the Motion Picture Industry,’’ by Carl E. Egeler, National Lamp Works, Cleveland, Ohio; ‘‘Internal Developments in the Motion Picture Industry,’’ by Gov. Carl E. Milliken, Secretary, Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc.; ‘‘The Organization and Procedure of the Publix Theatre Managers’ Training School,’’ by John F. Barry, Director of the School; ‘‘A Twelve Year Trial of Educational Films,’’ by F. W. Perkins, Director of the Motion Picture Division of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Afternoon—Lunch: Sightseeing trip (buses). Ladies of the Members are included; Dinner: Evening at the Metropolitan Theatre, as guests of Mr. Harry M. Crandall; Special entertainment by M. P. M. O. Local 224.

Wednesday Morning, May 5th—Papers: ‘‘Film Mutilation,’’ by Hickman Price, Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc.; ‘‘The Useful Life of Motion Picture Film,’’ by F. H. Richardson, Technical Editor of the Moving Picture World; ‘‘Cleaning Used Positive Motion Picture Film,’’ by Trevor Faulkner, Famous Players-Lasky Corp.; ‘‘Some Problems of a Projectionist,’’ by L. M. Townsend, projection engineer, Eastman Theatre, Rochester, N. Y.; ‘‘Influence of the Projection Lens on the Contrast of the Picture,’’ by Clifton Tuttle and L. A. Jones, Research Laboratory, Eastman Kodak Company; ‘‘Effect on Screen Illumination of Bubbles and Striations in the Bulbs of Projection Lamps,’’ by L. C. Porter, Edison Lamp Works, Harrison, N. J.

Afternoon—Papers: ‘‘Trick Photography,’’ by C. L. Gregory, Dean, New York Institute of Photography; ‘‘An Apparatus for Time Lapse Motion Picture Photography,’’ by Howard Greene, Motion Picture Division, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture; ‘‘Lighting by Mazda Lamps for Motion Picture Photography,’’ by E. W. Beggs, Westinghouse Lamp Company, Bloomfield, N. J.; Report of Standards and Nomenclature Committee; ‘‘Painting with Lights,’’ by Harry Fischbeck, Famous Players-Lasky Corp.; The Ladies of the Members will be the guests of Mrs. Jenkins at special tea, Mrs. Trout, Mrs. Stickle and Miss Brueninger, assisting.

Evening—Banquet: Henry D. Hubbard, guest and principal speaker. Radio microphone at speaker's table.

Thursday Morning, May 6th—Papers: ‘‘Scoring a Motion Picture,’’ by Victor Wagner, musical director, Eastman Theatre, Rochester, N. Y.; ‘‘The Recovery of Silver From Exhausted Fixing Baths,’’ by J. I. Crabtree and J. F. Ross; ‘‘The Staining Properties of Motion Picture Developers,’’ by J. I. Crabtree and M. L. Dundon; ‘‘Syphons and Measuring Devices for Photographic Solutions,’’ by K. C. D. Hickman, Research Laboratory, Eastman Kodak Company; ‘‘Display Enlargements from Single Frame Motion Pictures, ’’ by K. C. D. Hickman; ‘‘The Use of Motion Pictures for Governmental Purposes,’’ by Raymond S. Peck, Dept. of Trade and Commerce, Motion Picture Bureau, Ottawa, Canada.

Afternoon—Lunch: Trip to National Museum and other public buildings.

Improvements Being Made on Kansas Theatres

Many are the remodeling plans and improvements being made for theatres in the Kansas City territory.

The Cantwell Theatre, Marceline, Mo., will be remodeled and the seating capacity enlarged to 500, according to A. B. Cantwell, manager.

The Colonial Theatre, Alma, Kans., has been reopened by W. E. Thowe and a cooling system installed.

A new Soloray electric flasher sign has been installed at the new Oak Park Theatre, Kansas City, by Jay Means, vice-president of the M. P. T. O. Kansas-Missouri.

The Hippodrome, Joplin, Mo.; New Madrid, Kansas City, and the Baier Theatre, Kansas City, have installed new Wurlitzer organs.

A Motiograph projector has been installed at the Gayety, Kansas City, while the Palace Theatre, Hoxie, Kans., has been equipped with Blizzard cooling system, according to Mrs. J. F. Menafee, manager.

New Simplex projectors have been installed in the Royal Theatre, Atchison, Kans., a Universal house.

Hertner Reports Favorable Situation in South

John H. Hertner, President of the Hertner Electric Co., manufacturers of the Hertner Transverter, has just returned from a very extensive trip through the South and reports that business in that section of the country is very promising indeed, particularly as to future development in the motion picture industry. ‘‘Business has never been as promising as it is right now,’’ says Mr. Hertner. ‘‘We are daily receiving orders from every part of the country, having received orders within the last few weeks from thirty-six theatres.

Orpheum Circuit Leases Chicago House

Lubliner & Trinz' handsome Tower Theatre, located at 63rd and Blackstone, which is rapidly nearing completion, has been leased by the Orpheum Circuit. This is the largest house on the South Side with a seating capacity of 3,600, and is one of the handsomest theatres in the city of Chicago. It is understood that the Orpheum policy will be similar to that at the State Lake. The programs will include five acts of vaudeville and feature pictures. This is the ninth Chicago house in which the Orpheum Circuit is interested.

Lubliner & Trinz to Open Two More Theatres

Another Lubliner & Trinz house which is scheduled for an early premier is the Grove, at 75th and Cottage Grove Avenue which will open its doors to the public on April 15th. This house will be operated on a straight motion picture policy.

The Belmont, at Lincoln and Belmont, which is Lubliner & Trinz's finest house, is also scheduled for opening during the month of May. It is planned to operate this house as a de luxe theatre in every sense of the world, including a large orchestra and presentations.

Box office value

When the picture is printed on Eastman Positive Film, good photography in the negative means good photography on the screen—the art of director and cinematographer is saved for your patrons to enjoy.

And photographic quality has real box office value—the house expects it.

Prints on Eastman have the black-lettered identification "Eastman" and "Kodak" in the transparent margin. Look for it.

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Projection

Optics, Electricity, Practical Ideas & advice

Inquiries and Comments

New Light on an Old Subject

Part II

The Eye and How it Works

In order to obtain a clear understanding of the action of glare, it is first necessary to learn the process whereby vision is possible.

The visual system can be divided into three parts:

1. The retina—which receives the images formed by the eye and which serves the function of a screen.

2. The optic nerve—which carries the visual sensation from the retina to the brain.

3. The cortex of the brain—which receives this sensation and renders it conscious to the brain, thereby completing the "seeing" action.

The Eye

A section of the eyeball is shown in Fig. 1. The eye itself is spherical in shape, its wall being built up of three coats, as follows:

A. The outer layer of the eye is a firm, tough, opaque membrane technically known as the sclera. The form of the eyeball is maintained by the sclera and it is the membrane to which the muscles which move the eye are attached.

The front section forms the cornea which is transparent for the admission of light. Immediately surrounding the cornea is the only visible part of this scleratic membrane, known as the "white of the eye," a term familiar to all.

B. Lying within the scleratic coat is a membrane called the choroid. To this membrane is given the important function of nourishing the eye by means of the blood vessels with which this coat is filled. The choroid does not extend entirely around the eyeball, but in the front merges into the ring-shaped ciliary body which surrounds the edge of the crystalline lens. A part of the ciliary process is connected with the iris, which is a thin opaque curtain, circular in shape, suspended in the aqueous humor.

The central hole in this curtain is well-known to all as the pupil of the eye. The function of the iris is to shield the eye from an excess quantity of light by regulating the amount of light admitted to the eye and to diminish spherical aberration.

The pupil contracts when excessive light strikes the eye and when the eye is directed to nearby objects. Expansion of the pupil occurs when there is insufficient light and when the eye is directed to distant objects.

C. The third and essential coat is the retina which is made up of a delicate and complex structure of nervous elements. The retina has ten distinct layers of light perceiving elements which are held together by a connective tissue framework. The visual impulses thrown upon the retina are picked up by inter-connecting cells in these layers and are relayed by the optic nerve to the brain. The oxial part of the retina, the fovea, is a region of high visual acuity and receives the image on which the attention is focused.

The sharpness of visual acuity decreases from the fovea outward. At any point of the retina the sensibility varies with the intensity and color of the light and duration of impression.

The interior of the eye contains the aqueous and vitreous humors which tend to maintain its shape. These two fluids as well as the arched surface of the cornea all have some refractive properties which, however, are slight in comparison with that of the lens.

The lens is of the familiar bi-convex type. It is of such consistency that its convexity may be altered by the action of the ciliary muscle which surrounds it.

The Eye as an Optical System

The action of the eye can be compared to that of a photographer's camera. The eyelid corresponds to the stop-shutter; the iris and pupil to the diaphragm regulating the quantity of light admitted; the crystalline lens to the converging lens of the camera; and finally, the retina to the sensitive film or plate. In this last comparison, however, there is one point of difference to remember, which is that the impression on the retina, unlike that of the photographer's plate, is extremely temporary in character, being replaced almost immediately by a new impression (image) as the nerve elements relay the nervous stimulus to the brain.

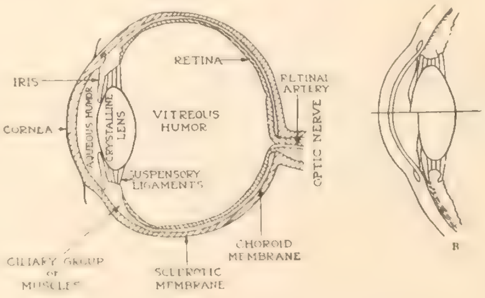
Focusing

The method of focusing is also different. The focusing of the image in the camera as is commonly known, is accomplished by adjusting the distance between the lens and the plate or film, whereas in the human eye, the distance from lens to the retina is constant, the adaptation of focus being accomplished by a change in the focal length of the lens itself due to the action of the ciliary muscle (Fig. 1-B), which regulates the shape of the lens so as to keep the images exactly upon the retina at all times.

With relaxation, the normal eye adjusts itself for parallel rays of light. Rays of light which come from a distance of twenty feet or more are practically parallel when they enter the eye.

As was noted before when considering the physiology of the eye, when we look at an object the main image is focused on the fovea, but the sensibility to vision gradually decreases outward to the periphery (edge) of the retina. This peripheral perception is called indirect vision and by means of it we are conscious of objects outside the area of direct vision. The entire area embraced by both direct and indirect vision is known as our field of vision and it varies in extent as we direct our eye on a near or far field.

(To be continued.)



The optical system of the human eye, diagrammatically shown in cross-section

---

Kliegl Brothers Issue New Lighting Catalogue

Kliegl Brothers, also known as the Universal Electric Lighting Co., Inc., have just published a new catalogue. This book is complete in every detail and presents illustrations of lighting specialties and lighting effects for the stage, theatres, studios and general displays.

The catalogue is gotten up in a form that is convenient to use and will prove helpful to any exhibitor who is contemplating changing or adding to his theatre lighting. A copy of this book can be secured gratis from the manufacturers, New York City.

Pollack, of Silversheet Co., Touring the East

A. M. Pollack, general manager of the Silversheet Company, makers of motion picture screens, has been touring the Eastern part of the country, introducing their product and lining up a chain of distributors. Mr. Pollack, who is now in New York, announces that his trip has been exceptionally successful to date and that he has secured several large orders and signed up some important dealers.

Wurlitzer Buys K. C. Music Co.

The Wunderlich Music Company of Kansas City has been sold to the Rudolph Wurlitzer Company, according to F. Brodeur, Kansas City manager of the Wurlitzer Company. The Wurlitzer Company will move into the Wunderlich Company's building on Grand Avenue at once, it was said.

Kilgen Claims Ownership of Largest Exclusive Organ Factory

THE new and modernly equipped plant where Kilgen Wonder Organs are made is an unusual building. It is claimed to be the largest plant devoted exclusively to the building of pipe organs.

The Geo. Kilgen & Son, Inc., who build the Kilgen Wonder Organs, had its incipiency in the year 1640 in Durlach, Germany. Through succeeding generations organs were built by the Kilgens, not with a factory, but its individual craftsmen. In the year 1851 the late Geo. Kilgen, Sr., came to America, started the Kilgen organization in New York City, where it remained until 1873, then moved to St. Louis where they have been for the last fifty-one years. During this long period of business activity, since moving to this country, the firm has built and outgrown four plants, and this new one is the fifth.

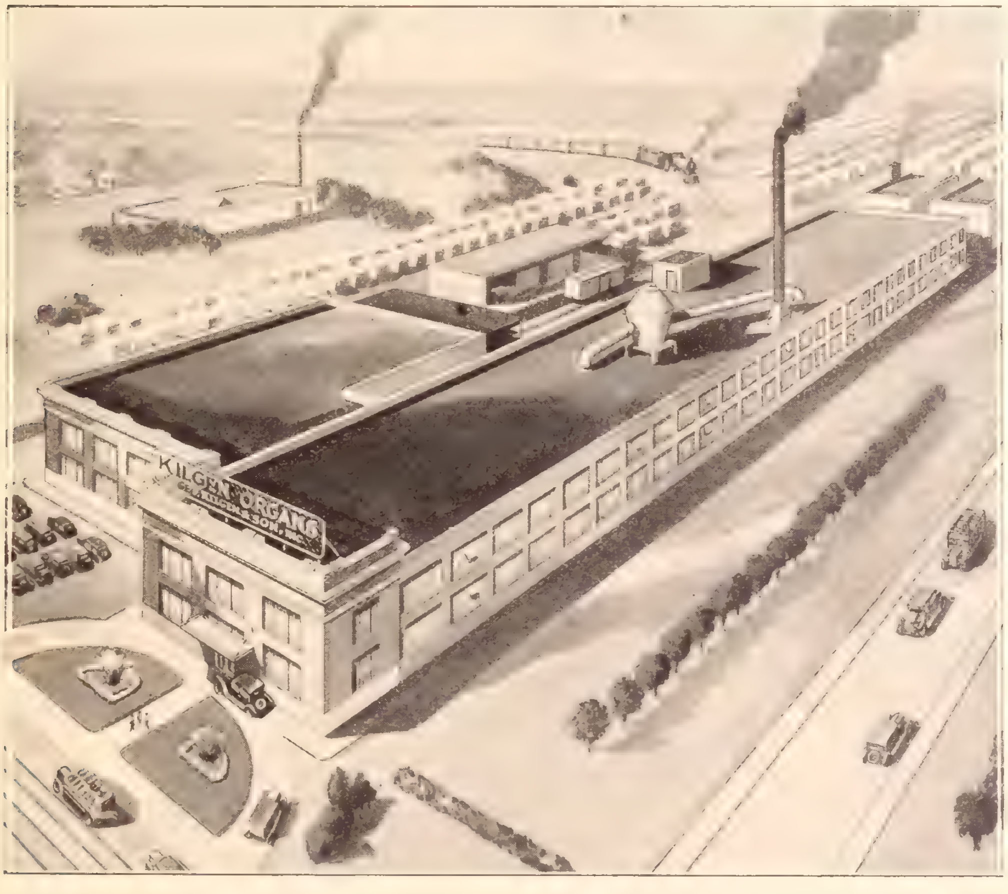
The new plant is in the shape of an "L." The upright of the "L" extends for more than two and a half blocks and is constructed of concrete and brick, on the daylight plan, where there are more of windows than wall surfaces. This section is two floors in height, and in it are located the departments of designing, engineering, research, console, magnets, wood-work and plant, all on the first floor. On the second floor, the metal and wood pine shop, the voicing-room, chest department, the pneumatic department, trap department, and others. To the rear of this building are the large, specially constructed dry kilns for the treatment of the wood to be used in the action and the pipes.

The foot of the "L" is the mammoth erecting-room, where all parts are assembled, the organ set up and thoroughly tested and inspected and gone over before it is allowed to be taken down and shipped. This erecting-room is capable of having seven large three manual organs set up at the same time.

Among the features of this factory, is the special machinery for various phases of organ work. This machinery has been invented and developed by men in the Kilgen organization.

Chas. C. Kilgen, Sr., the son of the founder of the firm in this country, is President, with his four sons as officers—Alfred G., George J., Charles C., Jr., and Eugene R. It is customary with the Kilgen family, to insist, before any member becomes a part of the firm, that he work through the several departments of the factory, and actually become an expert in the work himself, before taking an executive position. The heads of the several departments, as well as those working in those departments, have been with the Kilgen firm the greater part of their lives, some of them having terms of service of thirty, forty and forty-five years.

The Kilgen Company, through their two broadcasting stations, where they have large three manual organs being broadcast every day, that from Station WHT in the Wrigley Bldg., Chicago, and Station KMOX in the Mayfair Hotel, St. Louis, have extended an invitation to all exhibitors passing through Chicago to visit their studio there or passing through St. Louis to visit this new plant.



View of the new and modernly equipped plant of the Kilgen Organ Company, claimed to be the largest exclusively devoted to the manufacture of pipe organs.

Fight Competition of other houses with Action in your sign

Reco

Flashers
Made up to give any desired action effect. Have been leaders for 20 years. Used on 85% of the flashing electric signs. Exceptional features of adjustability

Color Hoods
Made for standard sizes of bulbs in clear, fadeless colored glass. Choice of six brilliant colors. Superior to and cheaper than dipping.

REYNOLDS ELECTRIC COMPANY
2628 W. Congress St., Chicago
Mfrs. also of Reynolds Motors, Reco Show Window Flashers, Traffic Controls, Reflectors for Poster Boards, etc.

RADIO-MAT PATENTED

TALK from your screen
WITH your quickly
TYPEWRITTEN MESSAGES.

WHITE, AMBER or GREEN.

Accept no substitute.

RADIO-MAT SLIDE CO. NEW YORK

IS THE STATIONERY OF THE SCREEN

REACH THE THEATRE BY MAIL THRU OUR UP-TO-DATE MAILING LIST SERVICE
18138 U. S. THEATRES SHOWING PICTURES

Under 250 seats, 30%; under 500, 70%; under 800, 85%; over 800, 15%.
The most economical method of reaching theatres is our ADDRESSING SERVICE. $4.00 PER M UP. Lists if desired 30 to 50% saved in postage, etc., through elimination of dead and duplicate theatres usually listed. Lists of Producers, Distributors and Supply Dealers.

MULTIGRAPHING—MIMEOGRAPHING—
FOLDING—ENCLOSING—MAILING

MOTION PICTURE DIRECTORY CO.
709 Sixth Ave. at 41st St. New York City
Phone, Pennsy. 7484-7485

The Fastest and Surest Method of Selling Tickets
Write for information on NEW Super Gold Seal Models
AUTOMATIC TICKET REGISTER CORPORATION
723 SEVENTH AVE NEW YORK
AUTOMATICKET SYSTEM USED WHEREVER TICKETS ARE SOLD

Advertising in the Equipment Department

Pays

VALLEN CURTAIN MACHINES AND NOISELESS TRACKS ARE SUPREME
Now is the time to "VALLENIZE"
E. J. VALLEN ELECTRICAL CO.
AKRON, OHIO.

CLASSIFIED AD SECTION

RATES: 10 cents a word for each insertion, in advance except Employment Wanted, on which rate is 5 cents.

Wanted

YOUNG MAN desires position in any department of film laboratory. Also projectionist. Best references. Box 700, Motion Picture News, New York City.

PIANIST, expert, desires engagement to play alone in picture theatre, within commuting distance from New York City. Box 680, Motion Picture News, New York City.

AT LIBERTY, motion picture organist, expert in synchronizing music to the picture, plays jazz and classics; will go anywhere state of California. Address Alice Smythe, 1969 Fourth St., San Diego, California.

WANTED to buy or rent theatre 500-600 seats. Country preferred. Give full particulars. A. B., Motion Picture News, 845 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

WANTED.—Used posters, photos, slides, banners and accessories of all kinds. Must be in good condition. Will allow liberal credit. Theatre Poster Supply Company and Sign Exchange, 327 E. Sixth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

WANTED.—To rent or buy motion picture theatre. Give full particulars in first letter. Mrs. J. Beucher, 2880 Elston Ave., Chicago, Ill.

FAMILY of four would take full charge of your theatre — manager, operator, musician and ticket seller. Fifteen years' experience. Will lease or buy small theatre. Box 665, Motion Picture News, New York City.

CAMERAMAN. — Open soon for local news reel, special stunts, screen prologues, exploitation, amateur photoplays, contests, etc.; want permanent place; salary basis; reliable theatre only; own camera. Address Rowe, 6855 Vinewood, Detroit, Mich.

MOTION PICTURE PHOTOGRAPHER at liberty, desires position anywhere. Have my own cameras. Write J. H. D., 159 Orchard Street, Elizabeth, N. J.

PIANIST desires engagement to play alone evenings only, in picture theatre within commuting distance from New York City. Box 680, Motion Picture News, New York City.

WANTED.—Portable stereopticon, with or without slides. Spot cash. Must be cheap. Lyric Theatre, Odell, Illinois.

WANTED.—To lease a good theatre or take job as manager. Have had twelve years' experience. Married. Can give best of reference. Address E. L. Marquet, Opera House, Richwood, Ohio.

WANT to lease movie theatre 600 seats or over; anywhere in State of Wisconsin; would consider house somewhat run down, or will buy interest in bona fide proposition where owner wishes to retire; all replies absolutely confidential. Address, Box 660, Motion Picture News, Chicago, Ill.

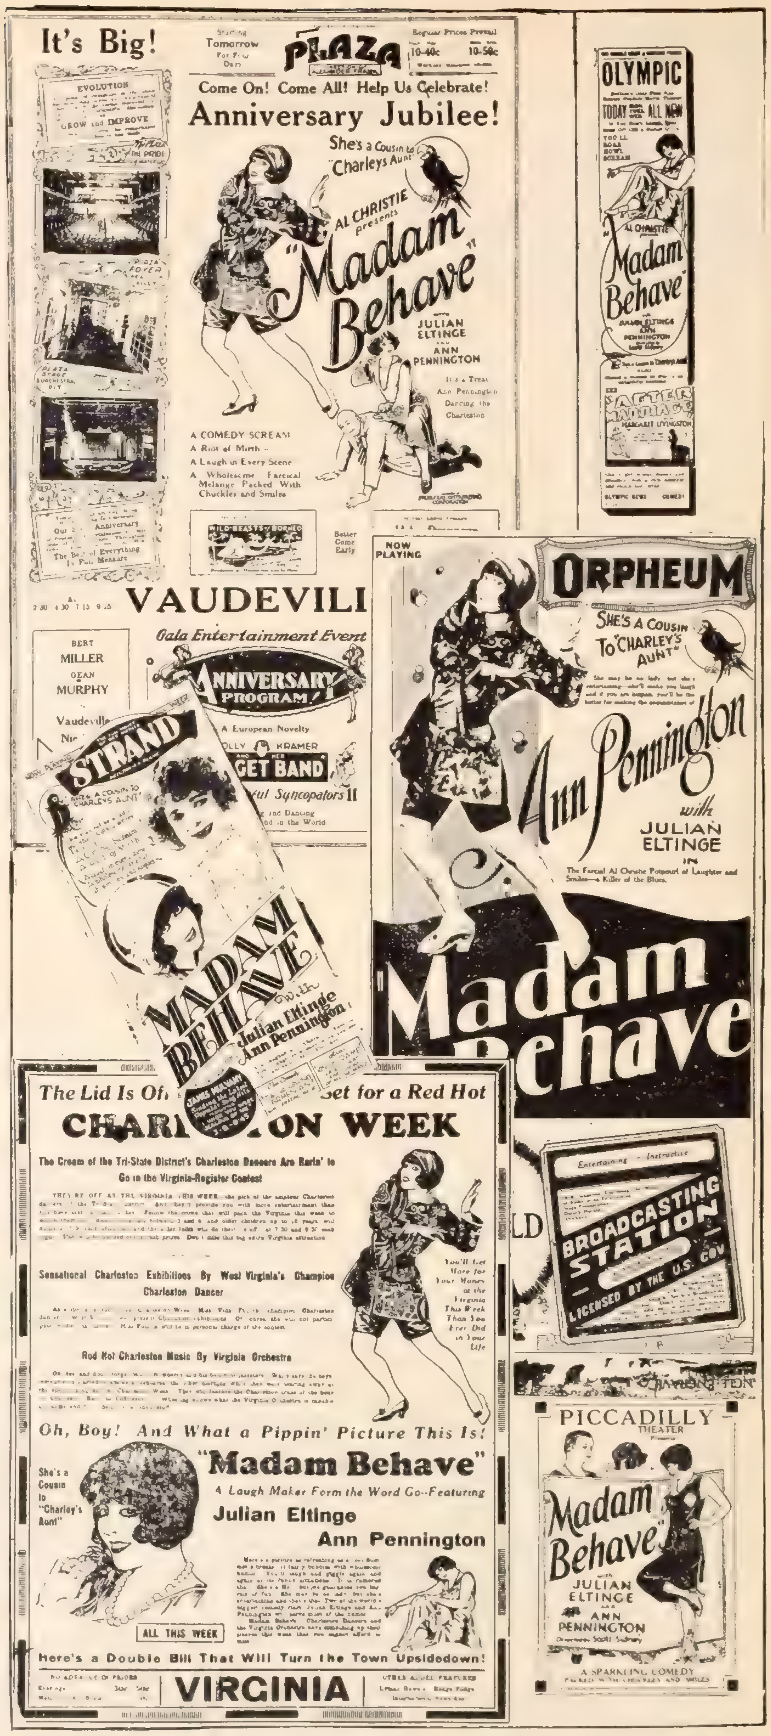
OPERATOR- and- electrician with 9 years experience in large houses; married; wants work at once. W. F. Ingalls, 313 So. "B" St., Oskaloosa, Iowa.

For Sale

SEVERAL used pipe and pit organs of standard makes, completely overhauled, traded on new Page organs; priced to sell. The Page Organ Co., Lima, Ohio.

THEATRE for long lease or sale. Fully equipped pictures or road shows. Seating capacity 900. Charels Bellinger, Findlay, Ohio.

PRICED RIGHT for quick sale. Theatre fully equipped, pictures and road shows. Four apartments, store-room. Eastern Pennsylvania town. Box 675, Motion Picture News, New York City.



It's Big!
PLAZA
Come On! Come All! Help Us Celebrate!
Anniversary Jubilee!
She's a Cousin to "Charleys Aunt"
Al Christie presents
"Madam Behave"
Julian Eltinge
Ann Pennington
A Comedy Scream
VAUDEVILLE
Gala Entertainment Event
Anniversary Program
OLYMPIC
Madam Behave
After Marriage
ORPHEUM
She's a Cousin to "Charley's Aunt"
Ann Pennington
with Julian Eltinge
STRAND
Madam Behave
Julian Eltinge
Ann Pennington
Madam Behave
The Lid Is Off
Set for a Red Hot
Charleston Week
Broadcasting Station
Licensed by the U.S. Gov.
PICCADILLY
Madam Behave
Julian Eltinge
Ann Pennington
Oh, Boy! And What a Pippin' Picture This Is!
"Madam Behave"
Julian Eltinge
Ann Pennington
All This Week
Here's a Double Bill That Will Turn the Town Upsidedown!
VIRGINIA

Charleston and Jazz and the sprightly Ann Pennington were heavily underscored in messages to the public relative to the showing of "Madame Behave" (Producers Distributing Corporation) at first run theatres. The displays reproduced in the layout above show the effective manner in which this production was sold to picture goers. Ads shown include those used by the following theatres: The Virginia, Wheeling, W. Va.; Plaza, Waterloo, Ia.; Orpheum, Duluth; Piccadilly, Birmingham; Strand, Des Moines, and Olympic, Buffalo

FEATURE RELEASE CHART

Productions are Listed Alphabetically and by Months in which Released in order that the Exhibitor may have a short-cut toward such information as he may need. Short subject and comedy release, as well as information on pictures that are coming, will be found on succeeding pages. (S. R. indicates State Right release.)

Refer to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS BOOKING GUIDE for Productions Listed Prior to March

MARCH

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Age of Indiscretion	Special Cast	Truart (S. R.)	5800 feet
Arizona Streak, The	Tom Tyler	F. B. O	4540 feet	April 3
Bar C Mystery, The	Phillips-MacDonald.	Pathe	5 reels
Barrier, The	Kerry-Barrymore	M-G-M	6840 feet	April 3
Bat, The	Special Cast	United Artists
Beverly of Graustark	Marion Davies	M-G-M
Beyond All Odds	Eileen Sedgwick	Chesterfield (S. R.)	5 reels
Big Show, The	Lowell-Russell	Assoc. Exhib
Blue Blazes	Pete Morrison	Universal	4659 feet	Jan. 23
Broadway Billy	Billy Sullivan	Rayart (S. R.)	5000 feet
Chip of the Flying U	Hoot Gibson	Universal	6596 feet	Mar. 6
Combat	House Peters	Universal	6714 feet	Feb. 20
Coming and Going	Buffalo Bill, Jr	Artclass Pictures	5000 feet
Dancing Mothers	Special Cast	Paramount	7169 feet	Feb. 27
Dangerous Virtue	Jane Novak	Lee-Bradford (S.R.)	6000 feet
Earth Woman, The	Alden-Bonner	Assoc. Exhib
Forbidden Waters	Priscilla Dean	Prod. Dist. Corp	5335 feet
Gilded Highway, The	Devore-Harron	Warner Bros	6900 feet
Happiness	Special Cast	F. B. O
Hearts and Spangles	Wanda Hawley	Lumas Film	6200 feet
Hell's Four Hundred	Margaret Livingston	Fox
Her Second Chance	Nilsson-Gordon	First National
Highbinders, The	Tilden-Daw	Assoc. Exhib
High Steppers	Hughes-Astor	First National
Let's Get Married	Richard Dix	Paramount	6800 feet	Mar. 13
Little Irish Girl, The	Dolores Costello	Warner Bros	6800 feet	April 10
Man Four Square	Buck Jones	Fox
Manhood	Special Cast	Fox
Marriage	Special Cast	Fox
Miss Brewster's Millions	Bebe Daniels	Paramount	6457 feet	Mar. 20
Mlle. Modiste	Corinne Griffith	First National
Monte Carlo	Special Cast	M-G-M	6129 feet	April 10
New Klondike, The	Thomas Meighan	Paramount	7445 feet	Mar. 27
Night Patrol, The	Richard Talmadge	F. B. O	6 reels	Mar. 20
Non-Stop Flight, The	Special Cast	F. B. O
Nutcracker, The	E. E. Horton	Assoc. Exhib
Other Women's Husbands	Blue-Prevost	Warner Bros	6700 feet	April 3
Red Dice	Rod La Rocque	Prod. Dist. Corp	6 reels	April 3
Roaring Forties, The	Special Cast	Jans (S.R.)
Sap, The	Kenneth Harlan	Warner Bros	5500 feet
Sea Horses	Special Cast	Paramount	6671 feet	Feb. 27
Secret Orders	Evelyn Brent	F. B. O	5506 feet	Mar. 27
Siberia	Special Cast	Fox	6950 feet	April 24
Six Shooting Romance	Jack Hoxie	Universal	4869 feet	Jan. 30
Social Celebrity, A	Adolphe Menjou	Paramount
Taxi Mystery, The	Roberts-Agnew	Gingsberg (S.R.)	5052 feet
Test of Donald Norton	George Walsh	Chadwick
Three Weeks in Paris	Moore-Devore	Warner Bros	6050 feet
Tramp, Tramp, Tramp	Harry Langdon	First National	5830 feet	April 10
Unknown Dangers	Frank Merrill	Hercules (S.R.)	4700 feet
Untamed Lady, The	Gloria Swanson	Paramount	6132 feet	Mar. 27
Vanishing Hoofs	Wally Wales	Artclass Pictures	5000 feet
Winning the Futurity	Landis-C, Horton	Chadwick
Yellow Fingers	Olive Borden	Fox	5594 feet	April 10

APRIL

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Ace of Hearts	Special Cast	Fox
Among Those Present	Harold Lloyd (Reissue)	Assoc Exhib
Bells, The	Lionel Barrymore	Chadwick
Blind Goddess, The	Special Cast	Paramount	7249 feet	April 3
Border Sheriff, The	Jack Hoxie	Universal	4440 feet	Mar. 13
Broadway Gallant, The	Richard Talmadge	F. B. O.
Brown of Harvard	Jack Pickford	M-G-M
Crown of Lies, The	Pola Negri	Paramount	5 reels	Mar. 17
Danger, Quest, The	Reed Howes	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Dangers of a Great City	Special Cast	Fox
Desert Gold	Special Cast	Paramount	6900 feet	Mar. 20
Fighting Boob, The	Bob Custer	F. B. O.
Fighting Shadows	Leo Maloney	Clarion Photoplays	4900 feet
Fighting Thorobreds	Billy Sullivan	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Flames	Valli-O'Brien	Assoc. Exhib
For Heaven's Sake	Harold Lloyd	Paramount	5356 feet	April 24
Hello, New York	Pringle-Sherman	First National
Hidden Way, The	Mary Carr	Assoc. Exhib
Impostor, The	Evelyn Brent	F. B. O.
Isle of Retribution, The	Special Cast	F. B. O
Kiki	Norma Talmadge	First National
Lucky Lady, The	Special Cast	Paramount
Mike	Sally ONeill	M-G-M		Jan. 23
Money Talks	Special Cast	M-G-M
Old Horses and New	L. Stone—B. Bedford	First National	6500 feet	April 24
Racing Blood	Special Cast	Lumas Film
Runaway, The	Special Cast	Paramount
Rustlers Ranch	Art Acord	Universal	5230 feet	April 24
Rustling for Cupid	George O'Brien	Fox
Sandy	Madge Bellamy	Fox	7850 feet	April 24
Savage, The	Ben Lyon	First National
Seventh Bandit, The	Harry Carey	Pathe	6 reels	Mar. 27
Shamrock Handicap, The	Special Cast	Fox
Silken Shackles	Irene Rich	Warner Bros
Sir Lumberjack	Lefty Flynn	F. B. O	5129 feet	April 10
Skinner's Dress Suit	Reginald Denny	Universal	7025 feet	Dec. 26
Somebody's Mother	Mary Carr	Rayart (S.R.)	6000 feet
Starlight's Revenge	Jack Perrin	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Streets of Sin		Fox
That's My Baby	Douglas MacLean	Paramount	6805 feet	April 24
Tony Runs Wild	Tom Mix	Fox
Twin Triggers	Buddy Roosevelt	Artclass Pictures	4800 feet
Up in Mabel's Room	Marie Prevost	Prod. Dist. Corp
Watch Your Wife	Virginia Valli	Universal	6980 feet	Feb. 27

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Western Trails	Bill Patton	Chesterfield (S.R.)	5 reels
Wild To Go	Tom Tyler	F. B. O.

MAY

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Black Paradise	M. Bellamy–E. Lowe	Fox
Chasing Trouble	Pete Morrison	Universal	5 reels
Early to Wed	M. Moore-Perry	Fox
Footloose Widow, The	Irene Rich	Warner Bros
Gentle Cyclone, The	Buck Jones	Fox
Hell Bent for Heaven	Monte Blue	Warner Bros
Honeymoon Express, The	M. Moore-Devore	Warner Bros
It's the Old Army Game	W. C. Fields	Paramount
Looking for Trouble	Jack Hoxie	Universal
Love Thief, The	Norman Kerry	Universal
Man From Oklahoma	Jack Perrin	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
My Old Dutch	O'Malley-McAvoy	Universal	7685 feet
Palm Beach Girl, The	Bebe Daniels	Paramount
Pals in Paradise	Special Cast	Fox
Perils of the Coast Guard	Special Cast	Rayart (S.R.)
Phantom Bullet, The	Hoot Gibson	Universal
Rainmaker, The	Collier-Hale	Paramount
Sally in Our Alley	Mary Philbin	Universal
Secret Spring, The	Special Cast	Paramount
The Set Up	Art Acord	Universal	4600 feet	Mar. 27
Sign of the Claw	Peter the Great (dog)	Lumas Film	5925 feet
Racing Romance	Reed Howes	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Shadows of Chinatown	Kenneth MacDonald	Bud Barsky (S.R.)	5000 feet
Take a Chance	Richard Dix	Paramount
Wet Paint	Raymond Griffith	Paramount
Windjammer, The	Billy Sullivan	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet

JUNE

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Call of the Klondike, The	Special Cast	Rayart (S.R.)
Deer Drive, The	Special Cast	Paramount
Fighting Buckaroo, The	Buck Jones	Fox
Good and Naughty	Pola Negri	Paramount
Grass		Paramount		Mar. 7,'25
Hard Boiled	Tom Mix	Fox
Hero of the Big Snows, A	Rin-tin-tin (dog)	Warner Bros
One Punch O'Day	Billy Sullivan	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Passionate Quest, The	Marie Prevost	Warner Bros
Rolling Home	Reginald Denny	Universal
Scrappin' Kid, The	Art Acord	Universal	4664 feet	Dec. 5
Self Starter, The	Reed Howes	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Social Highwayman, The	Harlan-Miller	Warner Bros
Volcano	Bebe Daniels	Paramount
Yellow Contraband	Leo Maloney	Clarion Photoplays	4900 feet

JULY

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Dangerous Dude, The	Reed Howes	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Sinister Detail, The	Kenneth MacDonald	Bud Barsky (S.R.)	5000 feet

Comedy Releases

Title	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Al's Troubles	Al Alt	Universal	2 reels	Mar. 13
At Home	"Our Gang"	Pathe	2 reels
Baby Clothes	"Our Gang"	Pathe	2 reels	April 24
Bear Cats	"Big Boy"	Educational	2 reels
Beauty Parlor, A	"Fat Men"	F. B. O	2 reels
Bedtime Story, A	Arthur Lake	Universal	1 reel
Big-Hearted Fish, A	Aesop Fables	Pathe	1 reel	April 10
Bill Grim's Progress	Short-Withers	F. B. O.
Broken China	Bobby Vernon	Educational	2 reels
Buster Be Good	Trimble-Turner	Universal	2 reels
Buster's Hunting Party	Trimble and Dog	Universal	2 reels
Buster's Mix-Up	Trimble-Turner	Universal	2 reels	April 24
Buster's Sky Rocket	Trimble and Dog	Universal	2 reels	April 24
Camel's Hump		F. B. O	1 reel
Caught in the Act	Laymon-Dorety	Tennek Film	2 reels
Circus Day		Pathe	2 reels	Mar. 13
College Yell, The	Neely Edwards	Universal	1 reel
Couple of Skates, A	Neely Edwards	Universal	1 reel
Creeps	Archer-Dunham	Educational	2 reels
Dancing Daddy	Jack Duffy	Educational	2 reels	April 10
Dizzy Daddies		Pathe	2 reels	Mar. 20
Don Key-Son of a Burro	Holmes-Davidson	Pathe
Do Your Duty	Snub Pollard	Pathe	1 reel
Dog Shy	Charles Chase	Pathe	2 reels
Dumb Friend, A	Arthur Lake	Universal	1 reel	Feb. 13
Dumb Luck	"The Gumps"	Universal	2 reels
Eight Cylinder Bull		Fox	2 reels
Family Picnic, The	"Helen and Warren"	Fox	2 reels
Farm Hands	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Felix the Cat Braves the Briny	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel
Felix the Cat in a Tale of Two Kittens	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel
Felix the Cat Laughs It Off	"Cartoon";	Educational	1 reel	Mar. 27
Felix the Cat Misses the Cue	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel
Felix the Cat Scoots Thru Scotland	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel

Title	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Felix the Cat Uses His Head	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel
Felix the Cat Weathers the Weather	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel
Fight Night		Pathe	2 reels
Fire Fighter, The	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Flivver Vacation, A	Eddie Gordon	Universal	2 reels	April 3
Flying Wheels	Wanda Wiley	Universal	2 reels	Mar. 6
Fly Time	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	2 reels
Fool's Luck	Lupino Lane	Educational	2 reels	April 3
Fraternity Mixup, A	Alice Ardell	F. B. O	2 reels
Fresh Faces	Walter Hiers	Educational	2 reels
From the Cabby's Seat	"O. Henry"	Fox	2 reels
Ghost of Folly	Alice Day	Pathe	2 reels
Gimme Strength	Jimmie Adams	Educational	2 reels
Going Crazy	Lige Conley	Educational	2 reels
Hard to Hold	Laymon-Dorety	Tennek Film	2 reels
Haunted Heiress, A	Edna Marian	Universal	2 reels
Hayfoot, Strawfoot	Bevan-Clyde	Pathe	2 reels	April 24
Hearts and Showers	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Help Wanted	Charles Puffy	Universal	1 reel
Hired and Fired	Paul Parrott	Pathe	1 reel
His Private Life	Lupino Lane	Educational	2 reels
His Taking Ways	Al St. John	Bischoff (S.R.)	2 reels
Home Cured	Johnny Arthur	Educational	2 reels	Mar. 27
Honeymoon Feet	"Fat Men"	F. B. O	2 reels
Honeymooning With Me	Charles King	Universal	2 reels
Hooked at the Altar	Ralph Graves	Pathe	2 reels
Hug Bug, The	Glenn Tryon	Pathe	2 reels	Mar. 13
Hurricane, The	Alice Ardell	F. B. O	2 reels
Ko-Ko at the Circus	"Cartoon"	Red Seal	1 reel	Mar. 27
Lickpenny Lover, A	"O. Henry"	Fox	2 reels
Light Houskeeping	Lige Conley	Educational	2 reels	Mar. 20
Love Sundae, A	Alice Day	Pathe	2 reels
Madame Mystery	Bara-Finlayson	Pathe	2 reels
Mad Racer, The	"Van Bibber"	Fox	2 reels
Meet My Girl	Ralph Graves	Pathe	2 reels	Mar. 13
Merry Blacksmith, The	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Min's Away	"The Gumps"	Universal	2 reels
Monkey Business	"Our Gang"	Pathe	2 reels	Mar. 27
Mortgaged Again	Arthur Lake	Universal	1 reel
Moving Day	Cooley-Perry	Fox	2 reels	Mar. 6
Mr. Cinderella	Johnny Arthur	Educational	2 reels
Mum's the Word	Charles Chase	Pathe	2 reels
Never Too Old		Pathe
Nobody's Business	Lloyd Hamilton	Educational	2 reels	April 24
Number One Society, A	"East Side, West Side"	Fox
Old War Yorse, The		Pathe	1 reel	April 10
On Thin Ice	"Mutt & Jeff"	Short Film Syn	1 reel	Mar. 6
Oo-La-La	Bobby Vernon	Educational	2 reels
Papa's Pest	Burns-Steadman	Educational	2 reels
Painless Pain	Wanda Wiley	Universal	2 reels
Pawnshop Politics		Fox	2 reels
Phoney Express, The	Charles Puffy	Universal	1 reel	Mar. 13
Playing the Swell	Wanda Wiley	Universal	2 reels
Polar Baron, The		Fox	2 reels
Quick Service	Cliff Bowes	Educational	1 reel	Mar. 20
Radio Mad	Lymon-Dorety	Tennek Film	2 reels
Rah, Rah, Heidelberg	"Van Bibber"	Fox	2 reels
Rain and Shines	Al St. John	Bischoff	2 reels
Reported, The	"Van Bibbers"	Fox	2 reels
Rough and Ready Romeo	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Say It With Love	Edna Marian	Universal	2 reels
Scared Stiff	Holmes-Cook	Pathe	2 reels
Scratching Through	Cliff Bowes	Educational	1 reel	April 24
Separated Sweethearts	Arthur Lake	Universal	1 reel
Shootin' Fool, The	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Shore Shy	Dooley-Joyce	Educational	2 reels
Skating Instructors	"Mutt and Jeff"	Short Film Syn	1 reel
Sky Bound	Al St. John	Educational	2 reels
Smouldering Tires	A. Vaughan-L. Kent	F. B. O.
Social Triangle, A	"O. Henry"	Fox	2 reels
Sock Me To Sleep	A. Vaughan-L. Kent	F. B. O.
Somebody's Wrong	Bowes-Newman	Educational	1 reel
So This Is Paris	Neely Edwards	Universal	1 reel
Spanish Love	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel	Mar. 13
Spanking Breezes	Alice Day	Pathe	2 reels	Mar. 20
Swell Affair, A	Arthur Lake	Universal	1 reel
Taking the Heir	Charles Puffy	Universal	1 reel	April 3
Tin Ghost, The	Lige Conley	Educational	2 reels
Tonight's the Night	Bowes-Bradley	Educational	1 reel
Too Many Babies	Darling-King	Universal	2 reels
Too Many Relations	"Helen and Warren"	Fox	2 reels
Tune Up	Charles Puffy	Universal	1 reel	Mar. 6
Two Lips in Holland		Fox	2 reels
Ukelele Shieks	Glenn Tryon	Pathe	2 reels	April 10
Up in the Air	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Wandering Willies		Pathe	2 reels	April 3
What A Life	Frank Davis	Educational	1 reel
When Hell Froze Over	"Mutt and Jeff"	Short Film Syn	1 reel	Feb. 20
Where's My Baby	Neely Edwards	Universal	1 reel
Whoa Emma	Jimmie Adams	Educational	2 reels	April 3
Who's Boss?	Cliff Bowes	Educational	1 reel
Wife Tammers	Cook-L. Barrymore	Pathe	2 reels	April 3
Wireless Lizzie	Walter Hiers	Educational	2 reels	Mar. 13
Wisecrackers	Short-Withers	F. B. O.
Wise Quacker, The	Eddie Gordon	Tennek Film	2 reels
Yearning for Love	Wanda Wiley	Universal	2 reels	April 3

Short Subjects

Title	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
American Today (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
Animated Hair Cartoons	Red Seal	1 reel
Angelus, The	Cranfield & Clarke	2 reels	April 24
Aphrodite (Novelty)	Service Film	1 reel
Bar-C Mystery (Serial)	Pathe	10 episodes
Beasts of the Veldt	Chesterfield	2 reels
Bed Time Stories	Sierra Pictures	2 reels
Belgium Today (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
Burkhardt's Plastic Film	Tiffany	1 reel	April 3
Canary Islands (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
Casey of the Coast Guard (Serial)	Pathe	10 episodes	Feb. 20
Dancing Around the World (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
Death Ray, The (Novelty)	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Dixie Doodle (Sportlight)	Pathe	1 reel	Mar. 27
Doctor, The (Famous Paintings)	Cranfield & Clarke	2 reels
Egypt	F. B. O.
Emergency Man, The Edmund Cobb	Universal	2 reels
Every Picture Tells a Story	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Fade Away Foster (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Film Facts (Series)	Red Seal	1 reel
Flashes of the Past	Pathe	2 reels
Frame Up, The (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
From A to Z Thru Filmdom (Hodge Podge)	Educational	1 reel
Fugutive Futerise (Novelty)	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Giggles (Novelty Series)	Tennek Film	1 reel
Grinning Fists (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Gunless Bad Man, The (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Happy Hunting Grounds (Sportlight)	Pathe	1 reel
Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly	Red Seal	1 reel	Mar. 6
Heavens Above (Novelty)	Service Film	1 reel
Her First Night in a Beauty Parlor	Cranfield & Clarke	2 reels
Hero Land (Color Novelty)	Service Film	1 reel
Heroes of the Sea	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Hia Pal . . . Fearless (Dog)	Chesterfield	2 reels
Homeless Husbands' Land (Novelty)	Short Film	1 reel
Honeymoon Cruises	Tennek Film	1 reel
Inside Dope, The (Sportlight)	Pathe	1 reel
International Detective Stories	Tennek Film	2 reels
King of the Beasts (Cartoon)	F. B. O.
Jungle Heroine, A	Chesterfield	2 reels
Jungle Tragedy, A	Chesterfield	2 reels
Land of Rivers (Scenic)	Service Film	1 reel
Last Man, The	Chesterfield	2 reels
Leaps and Bounds (Sportlight)	Pathe	1 reel	Mar. 13
Let's Go Fishing	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Let's Paint	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Lightning Hutch (Serial)	Arrow Film
Lion's Mate, The	Chesterfield	2 reels
Lizzie's Last Lap (Novelty)	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Love Fighter . . . Fearless (Dog)	Chesterfield	2 reels
Marvels of Motion (Series)	Red Seal	1 reel
Menace of the Alps, The	Universal	1 reel	Mar. 27
Mother, The (Famous Paintings)	Cranfield & Clarke	2 reels
Mountain Molly O (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Mountain of the Law, The (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
My Old Kentucky Home (Song Car-tune)	Red Seal	1 reel	April 10
Neptune's Domain (Hodge Podge)	Educational	1 reel
Nervous Moments (Sportlight)	Pathe	1 reel
Off Shore Trails (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
One Wild Time (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Outlaw Love (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Poland—A National Reborn (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
Quick on the Draw (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Radio Detective, The (Serial)	Universal	10 episodes
Reelieves	Red Seal	1 reel
Hidin' For Love (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Rustler's Secret, The (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Scotty of the Scouts (Serial)	Rayart (S. R.)
Searchlight (Series)	Red Seal	1 reel
Sky Skidder, The (Serial)	Bischoff	10 episodes
Songs of England (Melody Series)	Pathe	1 reel	Feb. 6
Songs of Scotland (Melody Series)	Pathe	1 reel	Feb. 6
Songs of the Northern States	Pathe	1 reel
Soul of the Cypress	Red Seal	1 reel	Feb. 27
String of Diamonds . . . Fearless (Dog)	Chesterfield	2 reels
St. Pauls	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Sweden Today (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
Tin Bronc, The (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Trails of the Gods	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Tulip Land	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Vanishing Millions (Serial)	Sierra Pictures
Vision, The	Educational	2 reels
Wire Tigers, The	Chesterfield	2 reels
Where the Silver River Gleams	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Winking Idol, The (Serial)	Universal	10 episodes	Mar. 20
Wolf, The . . . Fearless (Dog)	Chesterfield	2 reels
Wonder Book Series	Short Film	1 reel
Wooden Shoes	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel	Dec. 12

Coming Attractions

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
30 Below Zero	Buck Jones	Fox
Accused	Special Cast	Inde. Film	5000 feet	Jan. 16
Almost a Lady	Marie Prevost	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Aloma of the South Sea	Gilda Gray	Paramount
Altars of Desire	Mae Murray	M-G-M
Amateur Gentleman, The	Richard Barthelmess	First National
"Meet the Prince"
An American Tragedy		Paramount
Arizona Whirlwind, The	Bill Cody	Assoc. Exhib
Atlantis		First National
Auctioneer, The	George Sidney	Fox
Back Slapper, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Bad Habits	Special Cast	Astor Dist. (S.R.)
Bankrupt		Ginsberg-Kann
Bardelys the Magnificent	John Gilbert	M-G-M
Barrier, The	Special Cast	M-G-M	6480 feet	April 3
Barriers of Fire	Monte Blue	Warner Bros
Battling Butler	Buster Keaton	M-G-M
Beau Geste		Paramount
Beauty	Special Cast	M-G-M
Beauty and the Beast	Ronald Colman	United Artists
Behind the Screen	Special Cast	M-G-M
Behind the Wheel,	Priscilla Dean	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Bellamy the Magnificent	Ramon Navarro	M-G-M
Beloved Enemy, The	Boyd-Goudal	Prod. Dist. Corp
Beverly of Graustark	Davies-Moreno	M-G-M
Beyond the Trail	Bill Patton	Chesterfield (S.R.)	5 reels
Ben Hur	Special Cast	M-G-M	12000 feet	Jan. 16
Beyond the Trail	Bill Patton	Chesterfield-(S.R.)	5 treels
Bigger Than Barnum	G. O'Hara-V. Dana	F. B. O.
Big Night, The	Laura La Plante	Universal
Big Parade, The	John Gilbert	M-G-M	12550 feet	Nov. 28
Black Pirate, The	Douglas Fairbanks	United Artists	8200 feet	Mar. 20
Border Thunderbolt, The		Assoc. Exhib
Born to Battle	Tom Tyler	F. B. O	5100 feet	Feb. 13
Boy Friend, The	John Hamon	M-G-M
Broken Hearts	Special Cast	Jaffe Art Film (S.R.)	7500 feet	Mar. 20
Broken Hearts of Hollywood	Harlan-Miller	Warner Bros
Brown Derby, The	Johnny Hines	First National
Burning Bridges	Harry Carey	Pathe
Call in the Night, A		Truart (S.R.)
Cancelled Debt, The	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
Cat's Pajamas, The	Bronson-Cortez	Paramount

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Charity Ball. The		M-G-M
Christine of the Bip Tops	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
Cigarette Maker's Romance, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Circus, The	Charles Chaplin	United Artists
Cleaner Flame, The	Louise Carter	Arrow
Clinging Vine, The	Leatrice Joy	P. D. C
Closed Gates	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
College Widow, The	Syd Chaplin	Warner Bros
Coney Island	Special Cast	M-G-M
Corporal Kate	Vera Reynolds	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Country Doctor, The	Faye-R- Schildkraut	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Crashing Timbers	Harlan-Dana	Universal
Crazy Fool, The		M-G-M
Cruise of Jasper B, The	Rod la Roque	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Crystal Cup, The	Special Cast	First National
Cruel Truth, The		Ginsberg-Kann
Cyrano de Bergerac	Special Cast	Atlas Dist. (S.R.)	9500 feet	July 18
Danger Line, The	Special Cast	Astor Dist. (S.R.)
Dangerous Friends	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
Dark Horse, The	Harry Carey	Prod. Dist. Corp
Dead Command, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Dead Man's Gold	Tom Mix	Fox
Defend Yourself	Dorothy Drew	Dependable Films	5000 feet	Jan. 9
Deluge, The		Prod. Dist. Corp.
Detour		Prod. Dist. Corp
Devil Horse, The	Rex (Horse)	Pathe	6 reels.	April 24
Devil's Dice	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
Devil's Master, The		Fox
Dice Woman, The	Priscilla Dean	Prod. Dist. Corp
Do Clothes Make the Woman?	Mrs. Valentino	F. B. O
Don Juan	John Barrymore	Warner Bros
Don't Lie to Your Wife	Haver-McDonald	Arrow
Don Juan's Three Nights	Stone-Mason	First National
Door Mat, The		Warner Bros
Duchess of Buffalo, The	Constance Talmadge	First National
Duke of Black Butte, The	Fred Humes	Universal
Dumb Head		Tiffany (S.R.)	6500 feet
East of the Setting Sun	Constance Talmadge	First National
Ella Cinders	Colleen Moore	First National
Eve's Leaves	Leatrice Joy	Prod. Dist. Corp
Exquisite Sinner, The	Nagel-Adoree	M-G-M
False Steps	Special Cast	Paramount
Family Upstairs, The		Fox
Fascinating Youth	Junior Stars	Paramount		Mar. 13
Fast Life in New York	Special Cast	M-G-M
Fifth Horseman, The		Lee-Bradford (S.R.)
Fighting Boob, The	Bob Custer	F. B. O
Fighting Fate	Billy Sullivan	Rayart (S.R.)	4991 feet	Feb. 6
Fighting Foundling, The	Jack Hoxie	Universal
Fighting Love	Jetta Goudal	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Fighting Peacemaker, The	Jack Hoxie	Universal	4500 feet	April 10
Fig Leaves		Fox
Fine Manners	Gloria Swanson	Paramount
Finnegan's Ball	Assoc. Exhib.
Flame of the Yukon, The.	S. Owen-A. Gray.	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Flames	Special Cast	M-G-M
Flaming Forest, The		M-G-M
Flaming Frontier, The	Special Cast	Universal	8829 feet	April 17
Flashing Heels	Bill Cody	Assoc. Exhib
Flashing Steeds	Bill Cody	Assoc.Exhib.
Flashing Steeds	Bill Patton	Chesterfield (S. R.)	5000 feet	Feb. 27
Flight to the Hills, The		Paramount
Flying High	Wm. Fairbanks	Lumas (S. R.)
Flying Mail, The	Al Wilson	Asso. Exhib
Footloose Widows	Special Cast	Warner Bros.
For Alimony Only	Leatrice Joy	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Forbidden Trails	Bill Cody	Assoc. Exhib
Forest of Destiny, The		Gotham Prod. (S. R.)
Forever After	Corinne Griffith	First National
For Wives Only	Marie Prevost	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Four Feathers	Richard Barthelmess	First National
Four Flushes, The	Reginald Denny	Universal
Four Stragglers, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Friends	Special Cast	Vitagraph
Frisco Sal	Special Cast	M-G-M
Gambling Chaplain, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Galloping Cowboy, The	Bill Cody	Assoc. Exhib
Garden of Allah, The	N. Talmadge-R. Colman	United Artists
Garden of Eden, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
George Washington Cohen.	George Jessel
General, The	Buster Keaton.	United Artists
Get Off the Earth	Raymond Griffith	Paramount
Gigolo	Rod La Roque	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Getting Gertie's Garter.	Marie Prevost.	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Glorifying the American Girl		Paramount
Going Crooked	Special Cast	Fox
Goose Man, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Great Deception, The	Ben Lyon	First National
Greater Glory, The	Special Cast	First National		Apr. 17
Greatest Show on Earth		Paramount
Gulliver's Travels		Universal
Hairpin Duchess, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Hands Across the Border	Fred Thomson	F. B. O
Harem Girl, The	Special Cast	Astor Dist. (S. R.)
Harp In Hock, A	Schildkraut-Coghlan	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Haunted Lady, The	Assoc. Exhib.
Haven, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Heart Thief, The	Jos. Schildkraut
Her Big Night	Laura La Plante	Universal
Her Honor, The Governor	Pauline Frederick	F. B. O
Her Man o'War	Jetta Goudal	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Her Next Steps		Ginsberg-Kann
Here He Comes	Earle Douglas	Sierra Pictures	5000 feet
Here He Comes	Richard Talmadge	Universal
Hidden Loot	Jack Hoxie	Universal	4375 feet	Oct. 31
High Society	Tom Mix	Fox
His Dog	Rod La Roque.	Prod. Dist. Corp.
His Woman	Special Cast	Whitman Bennett	7 reels
Home, Sweet Home	Special Cast	Assoc. Exhib
Human Mill, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Hurricane, The	Special Cast	Truart (S. R.)
I Can Do It	Special Cast	M-G-M
I'll Tell the World	Olmstead-Arthur	M-G-M
Imposter, The	Evelyn Brent	F. B. O
Inevitable Millionaires, The	M. Moore-Devore	Warner Bros
In His Arms	Special Cast	M-G-M
In Praise of James Carabine	Special Cast	M-G-M
In the First Degree		Ginsberg-Kann
In to Her Kingdom	Corinne Griffith	First National
Jason	Special Cast	M-G-M
Jewels of Desire	Priscilla Dean	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Jim, The Conqueror	W. Boyd-E. Fair	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Justice of the Far North		C. B. C. (S. R.)	5500 feet
Keep Going	Earl Douglas	Sierra Pictures
Kid Boots	Eddie Cantor	Paramount
Kid Gloves	Johnny Hines	First National
Killer, The	Marilyn Mills	Davis Dist.-Vital
La Boheme	Gish-Gilbert	M-G-M	8781 feet	Mar. 13
Ladies Must Have	Rod La Roque	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Laddie	John Bowers	F. B. O.
Lady of the Harem, The	Special Cast	Paramount
Lady of Leisure	Special Cast	M-G-M
Last Chance, The	Bill Patton	Chesterfield (S.R.)
Lawless Love	Al Ferguson	Davis Dist.-Vital
Lawless Valley	Bill Cody	Assoc. Exhib
Lena Rivers	Special Cast	Arrow	6521 feet
Les Miserables		Universal
Life of a Woman		Truart (S. R.)	6500 feet
Lightnin'		Tiffany (S. R.)	6500 feet
Lily, The		Fox
Little Adventuress, The	Vera Reynolds.	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Little Journeys
Little Firebrand, The	Edith Thornton	Arrow Pictures	5007 feet	Dec. 12
Lord's Referee, The		Fox
Love—the Magician		Paramount
Lover's Oath, A	Ramon Novarro	Astor (S. R.)	5800 feet	Oct. 17
Love's Blindness	Starke-Moreno	M-G-M
Lovey Mary	Bessie Love	M-G-M
Loyalties	Special Cast	Fox
Lunatic at Large, The	Leon Errol	First National
Lure of the West	Eileen Sedgwick	Chesterfield (S. R.)
Lying Truth, The	Milton Sills	First National
Magic Garden, The		F. B. O.
Man and the Moment		M-G-M
Man Who Laughs, The.		Universal
Man With a Thousand Faces	Special Cast	M-G-M
Mantrap	Bar-Marmont	Paramount
Mare Nostrum	Special Cast	M-G-Ingram	11000 feet	Feb. 27
Married Cheats		Fox
Marrying Money		Truart (S. R.)	5800 feet
Meet the Prince	Jos. Schildkraut	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Memories	Ramon Novarro	M-G-M
Men of the Night		Ginsberg-Kann
Men of Steel	Milton Sills	First National
Message to Garcia, A	Special Cast	M-G-M
Midnight Flames		Columbia Pict. (S. R.)
Midnight Special		Truart (S. R.)
Mile a Minute Man	Wm. Fairbanks	Lumas (S. R.)
Million Dollar Doll		Assoc. Exhib
Millionaire Policemen	Special Cast	Ginsberg Dist. (S. R.)
Mismates	Doris Kenyon	First National
Miss 318	Special Cast	M-G-M
Miss Nobody	Anna Q. Nillson	First National.
Money Talks	Moore-Windsor	M-G-M
Monte Carlo	Cody-Olmsted	M-G-M	6129 feet	Apr. 10
More Pay-Less Work.	Special Cast
Morganson's Finish	Special Cast	Tiffany (S. R.)	6500 feet
Mr. Battling Butler	Buster Keaton	M-G-M
Mystery Club, The	Matt Moore	Universal
Mysterious Island	Special Cast	M-G-M
Mystery Lady, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Naughty Cinderella	Pola Negri	Paramount
Nell Gwyn	Dorothy Gish	Paramount	9 reels	Feb. 6
Nervous Wreck, The	Special Cast	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Night Bride, The	Marie Prevost.	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Night Watch, The	Special Cast	Truart (S. R.)
Nobody's Widow	Leatrice Joy	Prod. Dist. Corp.
No Control	P. Haver-H. Ford.	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Nocturne	Special Cast	M-G-M
North of Nome	Special Cast	Arrow	5491 feet
Oh! Baby	Little Billy	Universal
Old Ironsides	Special Cast	Paramount
Old Soak, The	Jean Hersholt	Universal
Open Book	Special Cast	M-G-M
Ordeal, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Padlocked	Special Cast	Paramount
Pals First	Special Cast	First National
Paradise	M. Sills-B. Bronson	First National
Pals In Paradise	Special Cast	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Paris	Chas. Ray-E. Boardman.	M-G-M
Paris at Midnight	Special Cast	Prod. Dist. Corp
Pelican, The		Fox
Perch of the Devil		Universal
Pigs	Janet Gaynor	Fox
Plumes	Special Cast	M-G-M
Poker Faces	Special Cast	Universal
Poor Girl's Romance, A	Short-Hale	Film Book. Offices
Prince of Pilsen	Special Cast	Prod. Dist. Corp.	6300 feet	April 24
Prisoners of the Storm	House Peters	Universal
Prowlers of the Night	Fred Humes	Universal
Puppets	Milton Sills	First National
Quality Street		Metro-Goldwyn
Ransom's Folly	Dick Barthelmess	First National
Rawhide	Buffalo Bill, Jr.	Assoc. Exhib.
Red Clay	William Desmond.	Universal
Red Mill, The	Marion Davies	M-G-M
Red Signals		Ginsberg-Kann
Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary, The	Special Cast	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Remember		Columbia Pictures
Return of Peter Grimm		Fox
Return of a Soldier	Special Cast	M-G-M
Revillon	Blue-Miller	Warner Bros
Rise and Fall of Jesse James		J. S. Woody
Risky Business	Vera Reynolds.	P. D. C.
Roaring Crowd, The		F. B. O
Rogue's Riches	Special Cast	Astor Dist. (S. R.)
Romance a la Carte	Richard Dix	Paramount
Ropin' Venus, The	Josie Sedgwick	Universal
Rough Riders, The		Paramount
Rubber Tires		Prod. Dist. Corp.
Rust	Special Cast	M-G-M
Sailors' Wives		First National
Salvage		Truart (S. R.)	5800 feet
Satan Town	Harry Carey	Pathe
Scarlet Letter, The	Lillian Gish	M-G-M
Sea Wolf, The	Ralph Ince	Prod. Dist. Corp	7500 feet	Dec. 19
Self Defense	Aileen Percy	Arrow Film Corp
Senor Daredevil	Ken Maynard	First National
Separate Rooms	Special Cast	Fox
Seventh Heaven	Special Cast	Fox
Seward's Folly	Special Cast	M-G-M
Shadow of the Mosque	Stewart Rome	Ufa	5750 feet	Dec. 26
Share and Share Alike	Jane Novak	Arrow	5569 feet
She's My Baby		Ginsberg-Kann
Shipwrecked	Owen-Schildkraut	Prod. Dist. Corp
Silence	H. B. Warner	Prod. Dist. Corp
Silk	Goudel-Schildkraut

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Silken Lady, The	Hulette-Hamilton	Arrow
Silk Hat Cowboy, The	Tom Mix	Fox
Silky Anne	Constance Talmadge	First National
Silver Lanterns	Special Cast	Arrow
Silver Treasure, The	Special Cast	Fox
Smith of Cornell	George Walsh	Chadwick
Son of the Sheik, The	Rudolph Valentino	United Artists
Sorrows of Satan	Adolphe Menjou	Paramount
Sparrows	Mary Pickford	United Artists
Speeding Venus, The	Priscilla Dean	P. D. C
Sporting Lover, The	Conway Tearle	First National
Star Maker, The	Dove-Bushman	Universal
Strange Bedfellows		M-G-M
Subway Sadie	MacKaill-Mulhall	First National
Sunny Side Up	Vera Reynolds	P. D. C
Sweet Daddies	Special Cast	First National
Sweet Rosie O'Grady		Columbia Pict
Take It From Me	Reginald Denny	Universal
Tale of a Vanishing People		Tiffany (S. R.)	6500 feet
Tardy Tolliver	Hale-King	Assoc. Exhib
Tavern Knight, The	John Barrymore	Warner Bros
Temptress, The	Garbo-Moreno	M-G-M
Ten to Midnight		Prod. Dist. Corp
That Old Gang of Mine	Maclyn Arbuckle	Dependable Films	4900 feet	Jan. 9
There You Are	Nagel-Roberts	M-G-M
Three Twins, The		M-G-M
Three Wax Men, The	Emil Jannings	Red Seal
Thumbs Down	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
Thundering Speed	Eileen Sedgwick	Chesterfield	5 reels
Tin Hats		M-G-M
Toilers of the Sea	Special Cast	M-G-M
Tongues of Scandal		Ginsberg-Kann
Tongo	Special Cast	M-G-M
Totem Pole Beggar, The	Special Cast	Asso. Exhibit
Toto	Lew Cody	M-G-M
Trailing Shadows	Edmond Lowe	Fox Film
Trapped	Elinor Fair	Sierra Pictures	5000 feet
Travis Coup, The		Tiffany (S. R.)	6500 feet
Trip to Chinatown, A	Special Cast	Fox
Turkish Delights		Prod. Dist. Corp
Uncle Tom's Cabin	Special Cast	Universal
Unknown Soldier, The		P. D. C
Unknown Treasures		Ginsberg-Kann
Up in Mabel's Room	Marie Prevost	Prod. Dist. Corp
Vanity	Leatrice Joy	Prod. Dist. Corp
Vengeance of Durand, The	Irene Rich	Warner Bros
Volcano, The	Bebe Daniels	Paramount
Volga Boatman, The	Elinor Fair	Prod. Dist. Corp
Waning Sex, The	Special Cast	M-G M
Wanted—A Coward	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
Way of an Eagle, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Wedding March, The		Paramount
West of Broadway	Priscilla Dean	Prod. Dist. Corp.
What Will People Say?		M-G-M
What Price Glory?	Special Cast	Fox
When We Were Twenty-One	Special Cast	M-G-M
Whispering Canyon	J. Novak-R. Ellis	Ginsberg Dist. Corp. (S. R.)
Whispering	Special Cast	P. D. C	6187 feet	Apr. 10
White Chief, The	Monte Blue	Warner Bros
White Gold	Jetta Gaudal	Prod. Dist. Corp.
White Heat	Special Cast	M-G-M
Whole Town's Talking, The	Ed. Horton	Universal
Why Girls Go Back Home	Miller-Brook	Warner Bros
Wife, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Wilderness Woman, The	A. Pringle L. Sherman	First National
Winner, The	Charles Ray	Chadwick (S. R.)
Winning of Barbara Worth	Colman-Banky	United Artists
Wise Guy, The	James Kirkwood	First National
Wives at Auction	Special Cast	Astor Dist. (S. R.)
Wolf Hunters, The	Special Cast	Rayart
Wolves of the Air		Ginsberg-Kann
Woman's Heart, A		Ginsberg-Kann
Woman Who Did Not Care		Gotham (S. R.)
Women and Wives		M-G-M
World's Illusion, The		M-G-M
Yankee Clipper, The	W. Boyd-E. Fair	Prod. Dist. Corp
Yellow Back, The	Fred Humes	Universal
Yoke, The	Special Cast	Warner Brothers
Young April	Special Cast	Prod. Dist. Corp
You Too	Special Cast	M-G-M

Newspaper Opinions on New Pictures

"Stella Dallas"—United Artists, Forum, Los Angeles

Evening Herald: "From start to finish; from story to photography; from acting to direction—'Stella Dallas' stands out as one of the finest examples of the cinematic art it has ever been the privilege of this reviewer to witness."

Examiner: "'Marvelous' and 'magnificent' may aptly be applied to the performance of Belle Bennett, who leads the cast. It is a role that demands extraordinary versatility and Miss Bennett meets every test."

Illustrated News: "'Stella Dallas' is a great picture. It is a picture that no one should miss, for it is a chunk of real life, broken into humor, pathos, drama and artistry, without room for crumbs of unfavorable criticism."

Buddy Roosevelt, star of "Action Galore," an Artclass production.

Record: "Once in a while a motion picture producer has a vision of a picture out of the beaten path that so many screen productions follow. Once in a while, too, a director comes to light who has grasped the producer's vision, bringing the dream into reality. And—but more rarely—it happens that an actress is discovered who can realize both the producer's and the director's ideal of the picture. Such an unusual combination has result in 'Stella Dallas.'"

Times: "Not within picture history, at least in this locality, has an audience been more deeply moved than that which watched with emotion the unfolding of a story of mother love—true mother love this —that is as pathetic and heart-touching as any that has ever perhaps been thought of or conceived."

"The Million Dollar Handicap"—Producers Distrib. Corp., Forum, Los Angeles

Examiner: "When the picture reaches its climax, the theatre sounds like the cheering section when the boy from home is doing a Red Grange. It's a race track picture and under Scott Sidney's direction is well told. Vera Reynolds fills the heroine's role and the jockey's costume with equal credit."

Express: "Frankly, 'The Million Dollar Handicap' is a speedy affair, it starts with a bang and finishes with whirlwind action. Good playing, too, makes the picture an out-of-the-ordinary production. Vera Reynolds makes a pert, saucy heroine, and looks attractive in her jockey garb."

Herald: "One of the most thrilling races ever filmed. This picture makes one grip his seat and yell for Dixie. It is a really human story and the interest that each player took in his or her part is manifested in every scene. Vera Reynolds shows that she is rather skillful at riding horses. The role given her brings out every bit of loveliness she is noted for."

Illustrated Daily News: "'The Million Dollar Handicap' should pack them in. The big scenes of the production are those which have to do with actual racing events—the kind that had an audience shouting with the rooting section portrayed on the film."

Record: "Thrill upon thrill, with the smell of green turf in your nostrils, keeps you on edge, and from the moment the race begins you sense the reality of action, so great is the realism of this picture. Vera Reynolds can certainly ride a horse. She shows excellent form and grit—and what a handsome, slender jockey she makes. This picture is a thriller as a whole and does not seem to lag at any point."

Times: "It has thrills, a plausible story and many beautiful scenes of equine beauty in action on the track. Vera Reynolds, Ralph Lewis, Edmund Burns and Tom Wilson all give praiseworthy performances. It's a race track thriller. The direction, by Scott Sidney, is admirable throughout."

"The Black Pirate"—United Artists, Wilkes Theatre, San Francisco

Bulletin: "The spirit of the days of the old buccaneer, the whimsical adventure and romance of the picturesque Spanish Main, have been caught by Douglas Fairbanks in his latest picture, 'The Black Pirate.' Another achievement in the world of cinema art for the screen actor and producer."

Call and Post: "If ever the adage 'A thing of beauty is a joy forever' were used with discretion it must be applied in the case of this slashing screen drama of the days of the buccaneers. It will be showing to delighted audiences long after you and I are dust."

Richard Talmadge, starred in "The Night Patrol" an F. B. O. release.

Examiner: "You breeze right into action at the outset. The narrative is everything in 'The Black Pirate' and the gory 'angels' are too intent on their business to stop for closeups and shove themselves into your attention, as if they were silly actors."

Illustrated Daily Herald: "'The Black Pirate' is to the screen what Stevenson's 'Treasure Island' is to literature. It has been made a delightful thing by means of a marvelous color process. Every boy from 6 to 60 will want to see it because of its romantic story. No girl, whether with yellow or gray hair, but will thrill with sympathy as perils beset the fair princess. It is a picture story for the entire world."

BLANCHARD PRESS, INC., N.Y.

ARTHUR J. LAMB

:-: presents :-:

ANN PENNINGTON

IN

"THE SALLY RUNS WILD SERIES"

1. Sally Runs Wild
2. Sally Runs The Alley
3. Sally Runs Into A Husband
4. Sally Runs The Ballet
5. Sally Runs To Third
6. Sally Still Running

FAST MOVING TWO-REEL COMEDIES

Direction—JOSEPH LEVERING

The Molly May Series, Inc.

Starring Violet Mersereau Produced by ARTHUR J. LAMB

1. "Her First Night in Philadelphia"
2. "Her First Night in the Jollies"
3. "Her First Night in a Beauty Parlor"
4. "Her First Night with the Night Hawks"

(Beginning in Color and Ending in Color)

TWO MORE PICTURES OF THIS SERIES NOW IN PRODUCTION

Directed by JOSEPH LEVERING

For Further Information Apply: IRA H. SIMMONS, 1476 Broadway, New York City

Rothacker-Aller Laboratories, Hollywood, Calif.

Mary Astor
and Lloyd Hughes
in
"High Steppers"

Edwin Carewe presents "High Steppers" With Lloyd Hughes and Mary Astor. Screen adaptation by Finis Fox from The novel "Heirs Apparent" by Phillip Gibbs. The scenario by Lois Leeson. Photographed by Robert B. Kurrle and Al M. Greene. The assistant director, Wallace Fox. Art director, John Schulze. Laboratory technician, Victor Presbrey. Film editor, Edward M. McDermott. Titles By George Marion, Jr. The cast includes Rita Carewe, Charles Sellon, Clarissa Selwynne, Alec Francis, Edwards Davis, Dolores del Rio and John Steppling. All Personally directed by Edwin Carewe. A First National Picture. Rothacker Prints and Service.

Rothacker

FILM MFG. CO. CHICAGO U.S.A.

Look Better —
Wear Longer!

Founded 1910
by
Watterson R. Rothacker

IN TWO SECTIONS May 8, 1926 SECTION ONE

Motion Picture News

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

AGAIN METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER!

MARION DAVIES

HELD OVER
2nd BIG WEEK at
CAPITOL (N Y.)

HELD OVER
2nd BIG WEEK at
COLUMBIA (WASH., D. C.)

HELD OVER
2nd BIG WEEK at
KUNSKY STATE (DETROIT)

HELD OVER
2 GREAT WEEKS at PARK & NEW (BALTIMORE)

BEVERLY of GRAUSTARK

With
Antonio Moreno, Creighton Hale, Roy D'Arcy. Directed by Sidney Franklin. By George Barr McCutcheon.

A COSMOPOLITAN PRODUCTION

TRY AND STOP M-G-M NOW!
TRY TO TIE M-G-M IN '26-'27!

Entered as second-class matter April 22, 1926, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y.
under act of March 3, 1879

Vol. XXXIII No. 19 Published Weekly—$2.00 a year PRICE, 20 CENTS

Los Angeles — New York - [illegible]

Prestige

is never accidental

Prestige is the reflection of Extraordinary Merit ~ the recognition of Unusual Achievement . . . . . .

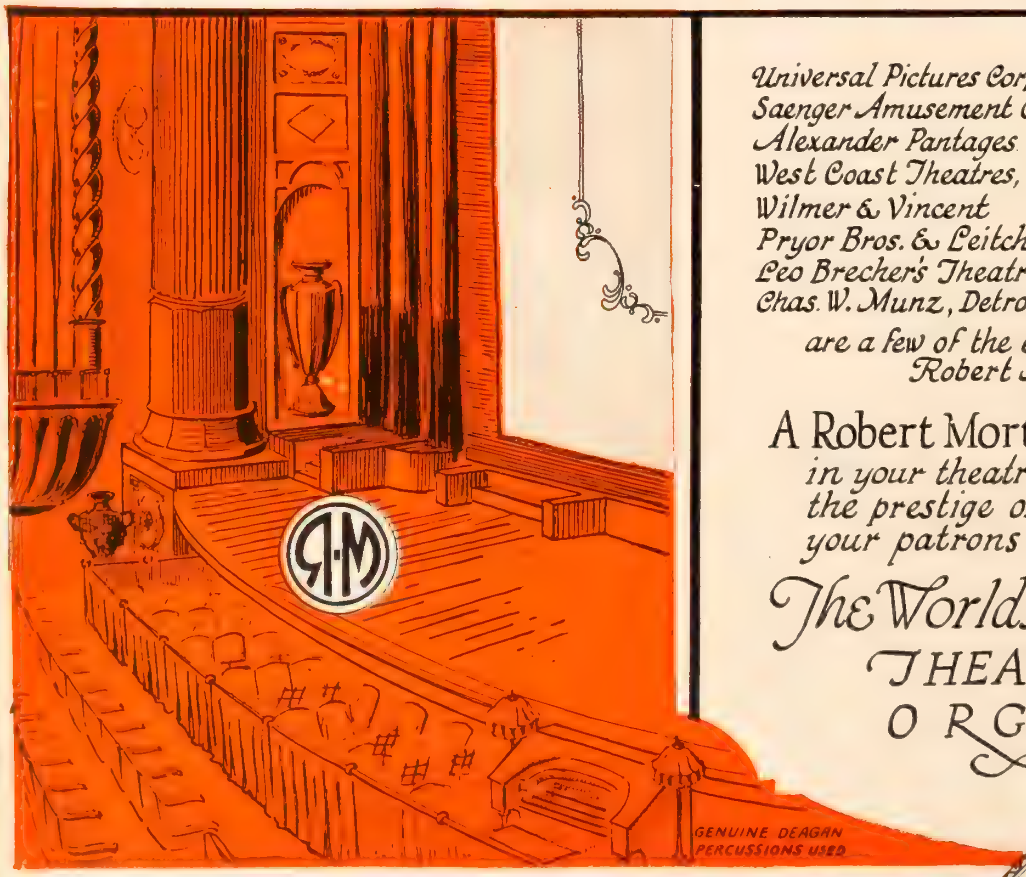
Robert Morton Prestige is evidenced in its selection by foremost Exhibitors, great Organists, great Educators, Performers and distinguished individuals in theatrical and public life –

ROBERT MORTON Unit ORGANS



Universal Pictures Corp.
Saenger Amusement Co.
Alexander Pantages
West Coast Theatres, Inc.
Wilmer & Vincent
Pryor Bros. & Leitch
Leo Brecher's Theatres
Chas. W. Munz, Detroit
Dean W. F. Skeele, Univ. of So. California
Dr. Mauro Cottone, Featured Organist, Capitol Theatre, N.Y.
John Eberson, Chicago's Architect Genius
Charles Chaplin
United Artists Corp.

are a few of the endorsers and purchasers of Robert Morton Organs –

A Robert Morton Organ in your theatre gives you the prestige of offering your patrons

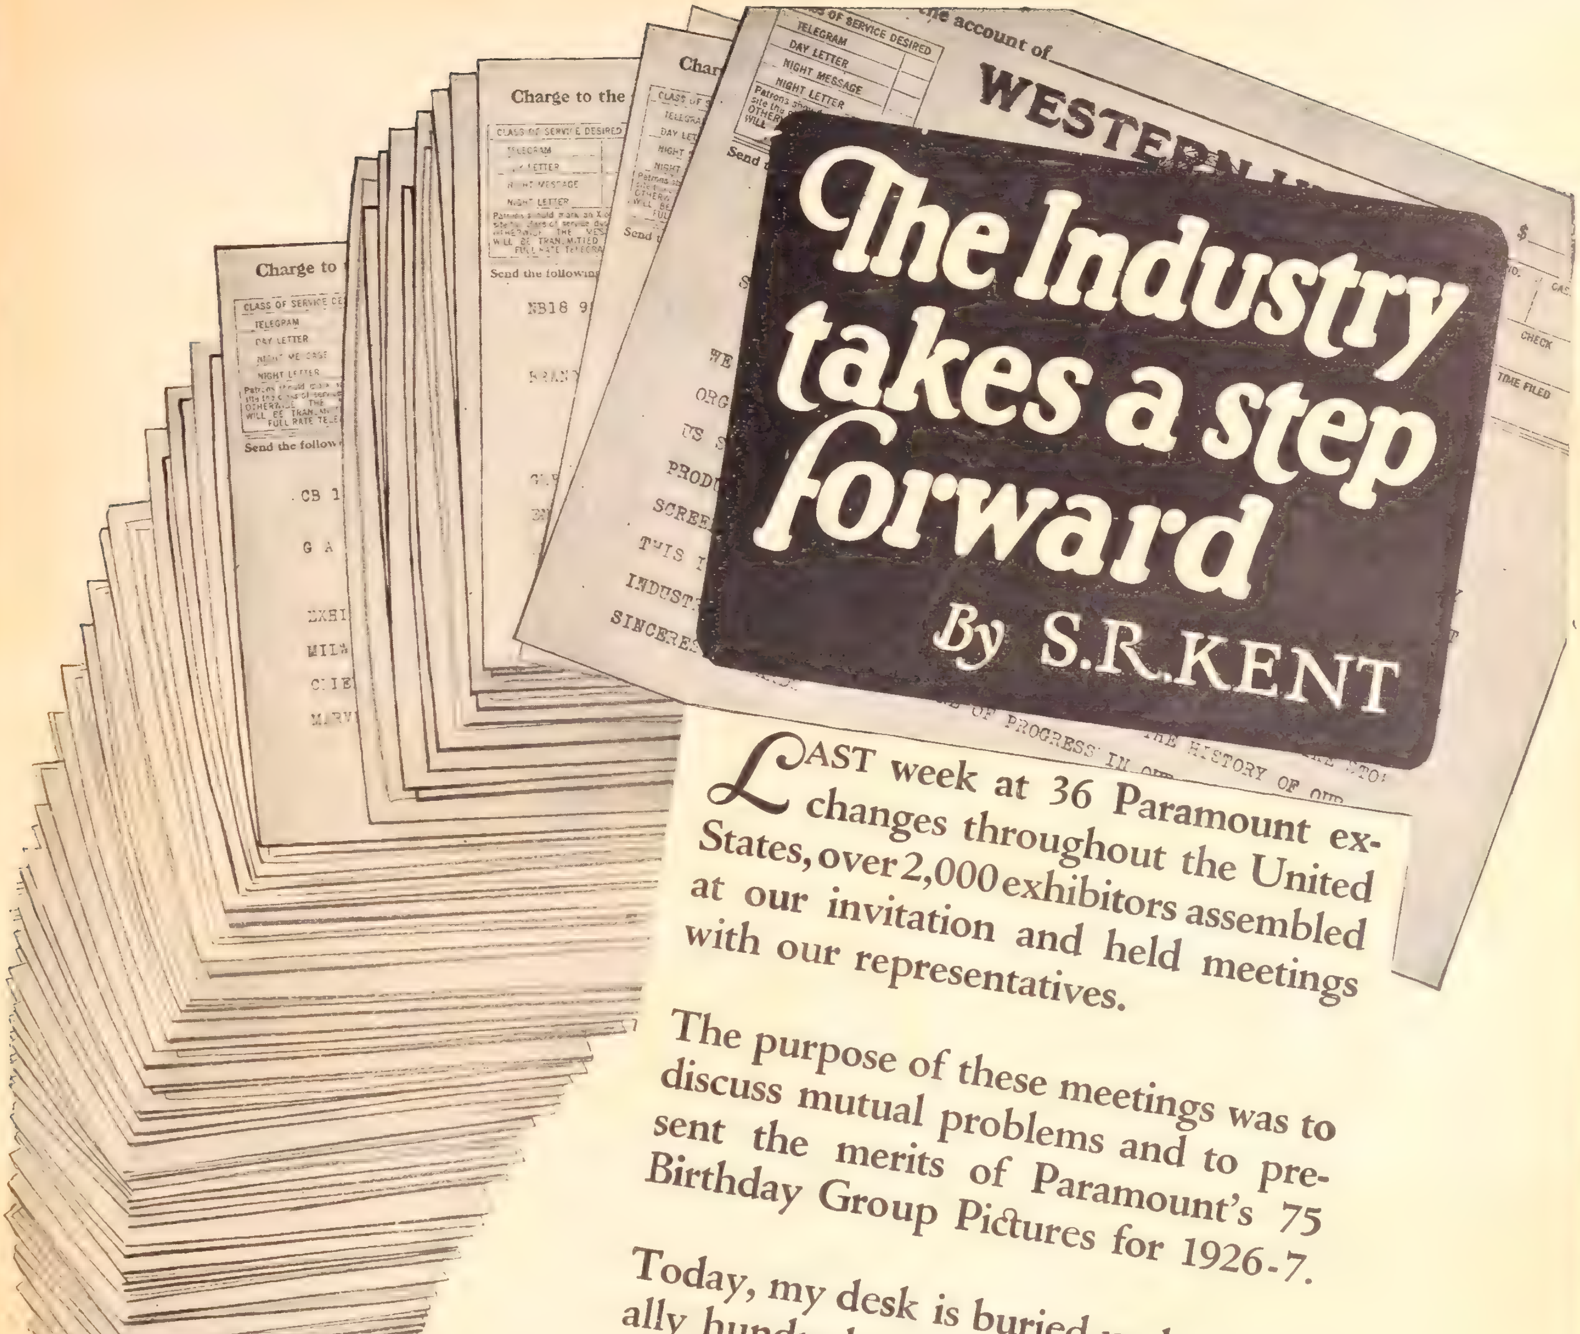
The World's Finest
THEATRE
ORGAN

MAIL TO NEAREST ADDRESS FOR NEW SELLING PLAN

New York ~ 1560 Broadw'y
Chicago ~ 845 So. Wabash
San Francisco ~ 168 Golden Gate
Los Angeles — 1914 So. Vermont

Theatre . . . .
Seating Capacity . . . .
City and State . . . .

N



The Industry takes a step forward

By S.R.KENT

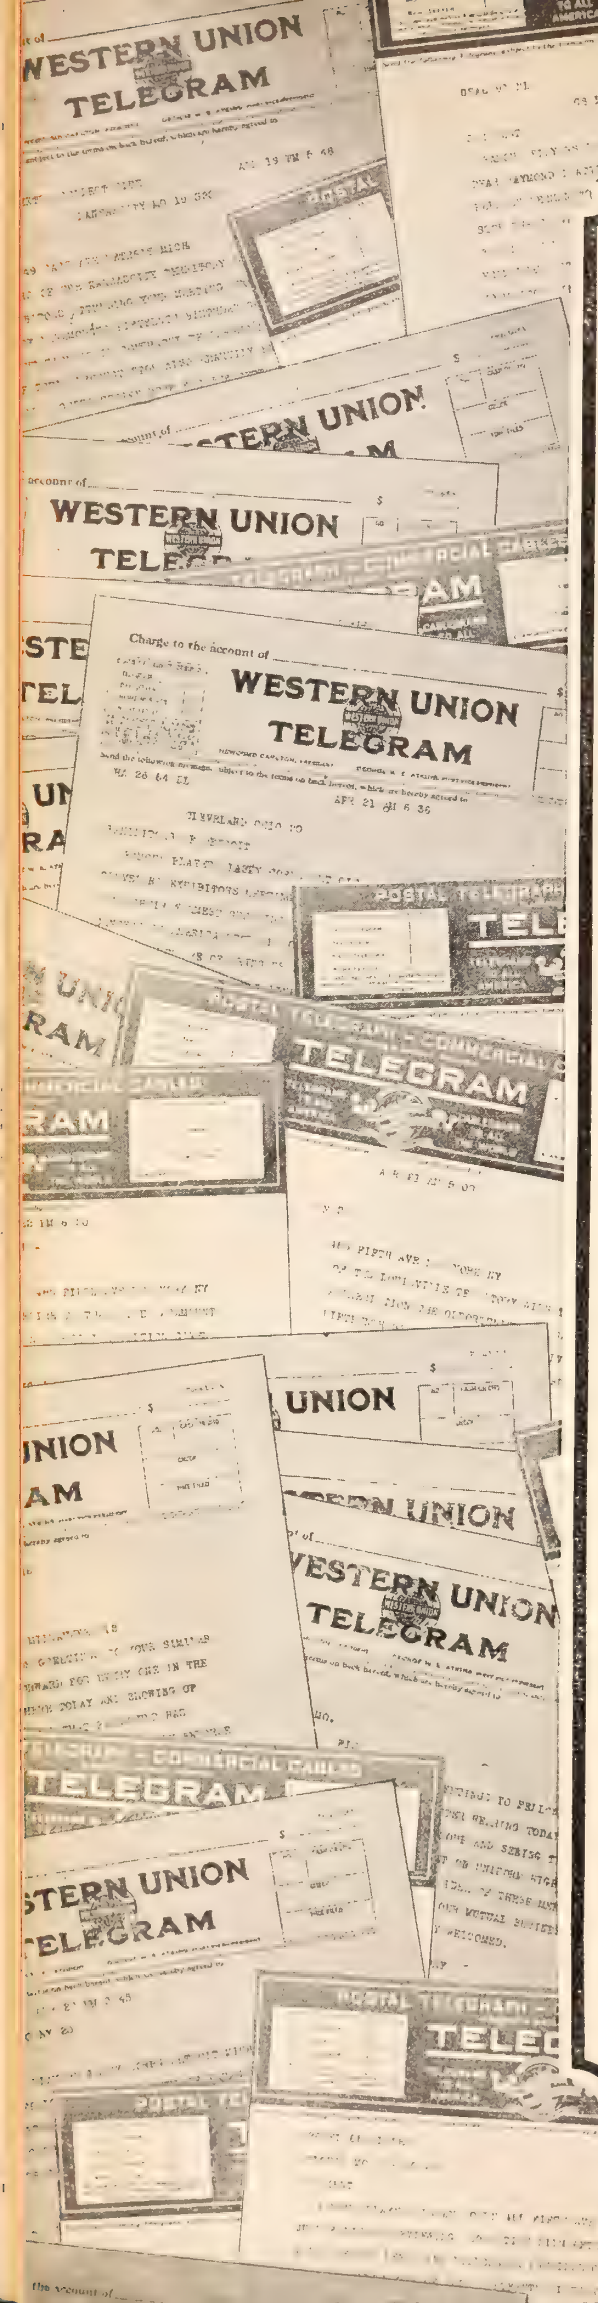
LAST week at 36 Paramount exchanges throughout the United States, over 2,000 exhibitors assembled at our invitation and held meetings with our representatives.

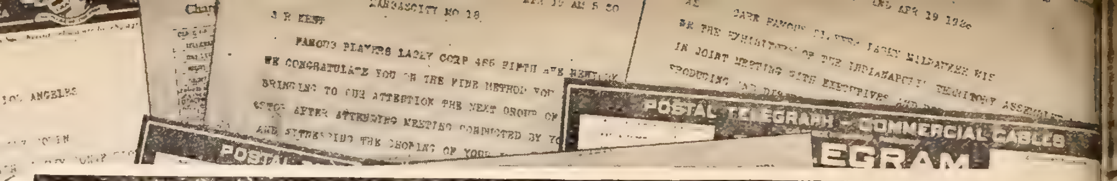
The purpose of these meetings was to discuss mutual problems and to present the merits of Paramount's 75 Birthday Group Pictures for 1926-7.

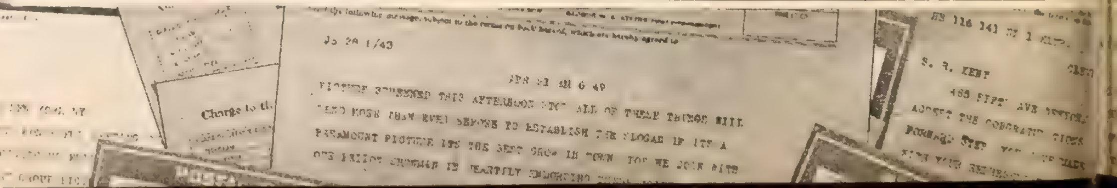
Today, my desk is buried under literally hundreds of telegrams from exhibitors — proof of the sensational coast-to-coast success of these meetings.

These exhibitor wires offer enthusiastic congratulations for this practical proof of Paramount's desire to co-operate. They praise the Fifteenth Birthday Pictures and predict marvelous box office results from them. They hail these meetings as a mighty step forward in the history of the industry and urge that they be made annual events.

(Continued on following page)







The Industry takes

Here's an Exhibitor Wire from Chicago:

"Chicago and Peoria exhibitors in attendance at Paramount's Birthday Party join in delivering to you our personal congratulations not only upon the smashing array of winners in birthday group as proven in your advance showing of product but particularly do we want to emphasize our endorsement of the get-together spirit displayed in this meeting which imposes an obligation on all parties to undertake from this day a closer understanding of common problems and a strength reliance upon everyone's intentions to carry on to a common prosperity and progress."

What 31 Pittsburgh Exhibitors Say:

"Exhibitors of Pittsburgh territory attending 15th Birthday Celebration all very enthusiastic about Birthday Group. Marvelous lineup of stars, directors and stories. Trailers indicate lavish productions of great box office power. We congratulate Paramount and wish many more such anniversaries with a continuation of such products as birthday group."

39 Indianapolis Exhibitors Wired:

"Exhibitors of Indianapolis territory extend hearty congratulations on this new and progressive idea of holding joint exhibitor and producer meetings. We have never before been sold so thoroughly on any product as on 15th Birthday Group."

A Message from Michigan Exhibitors:

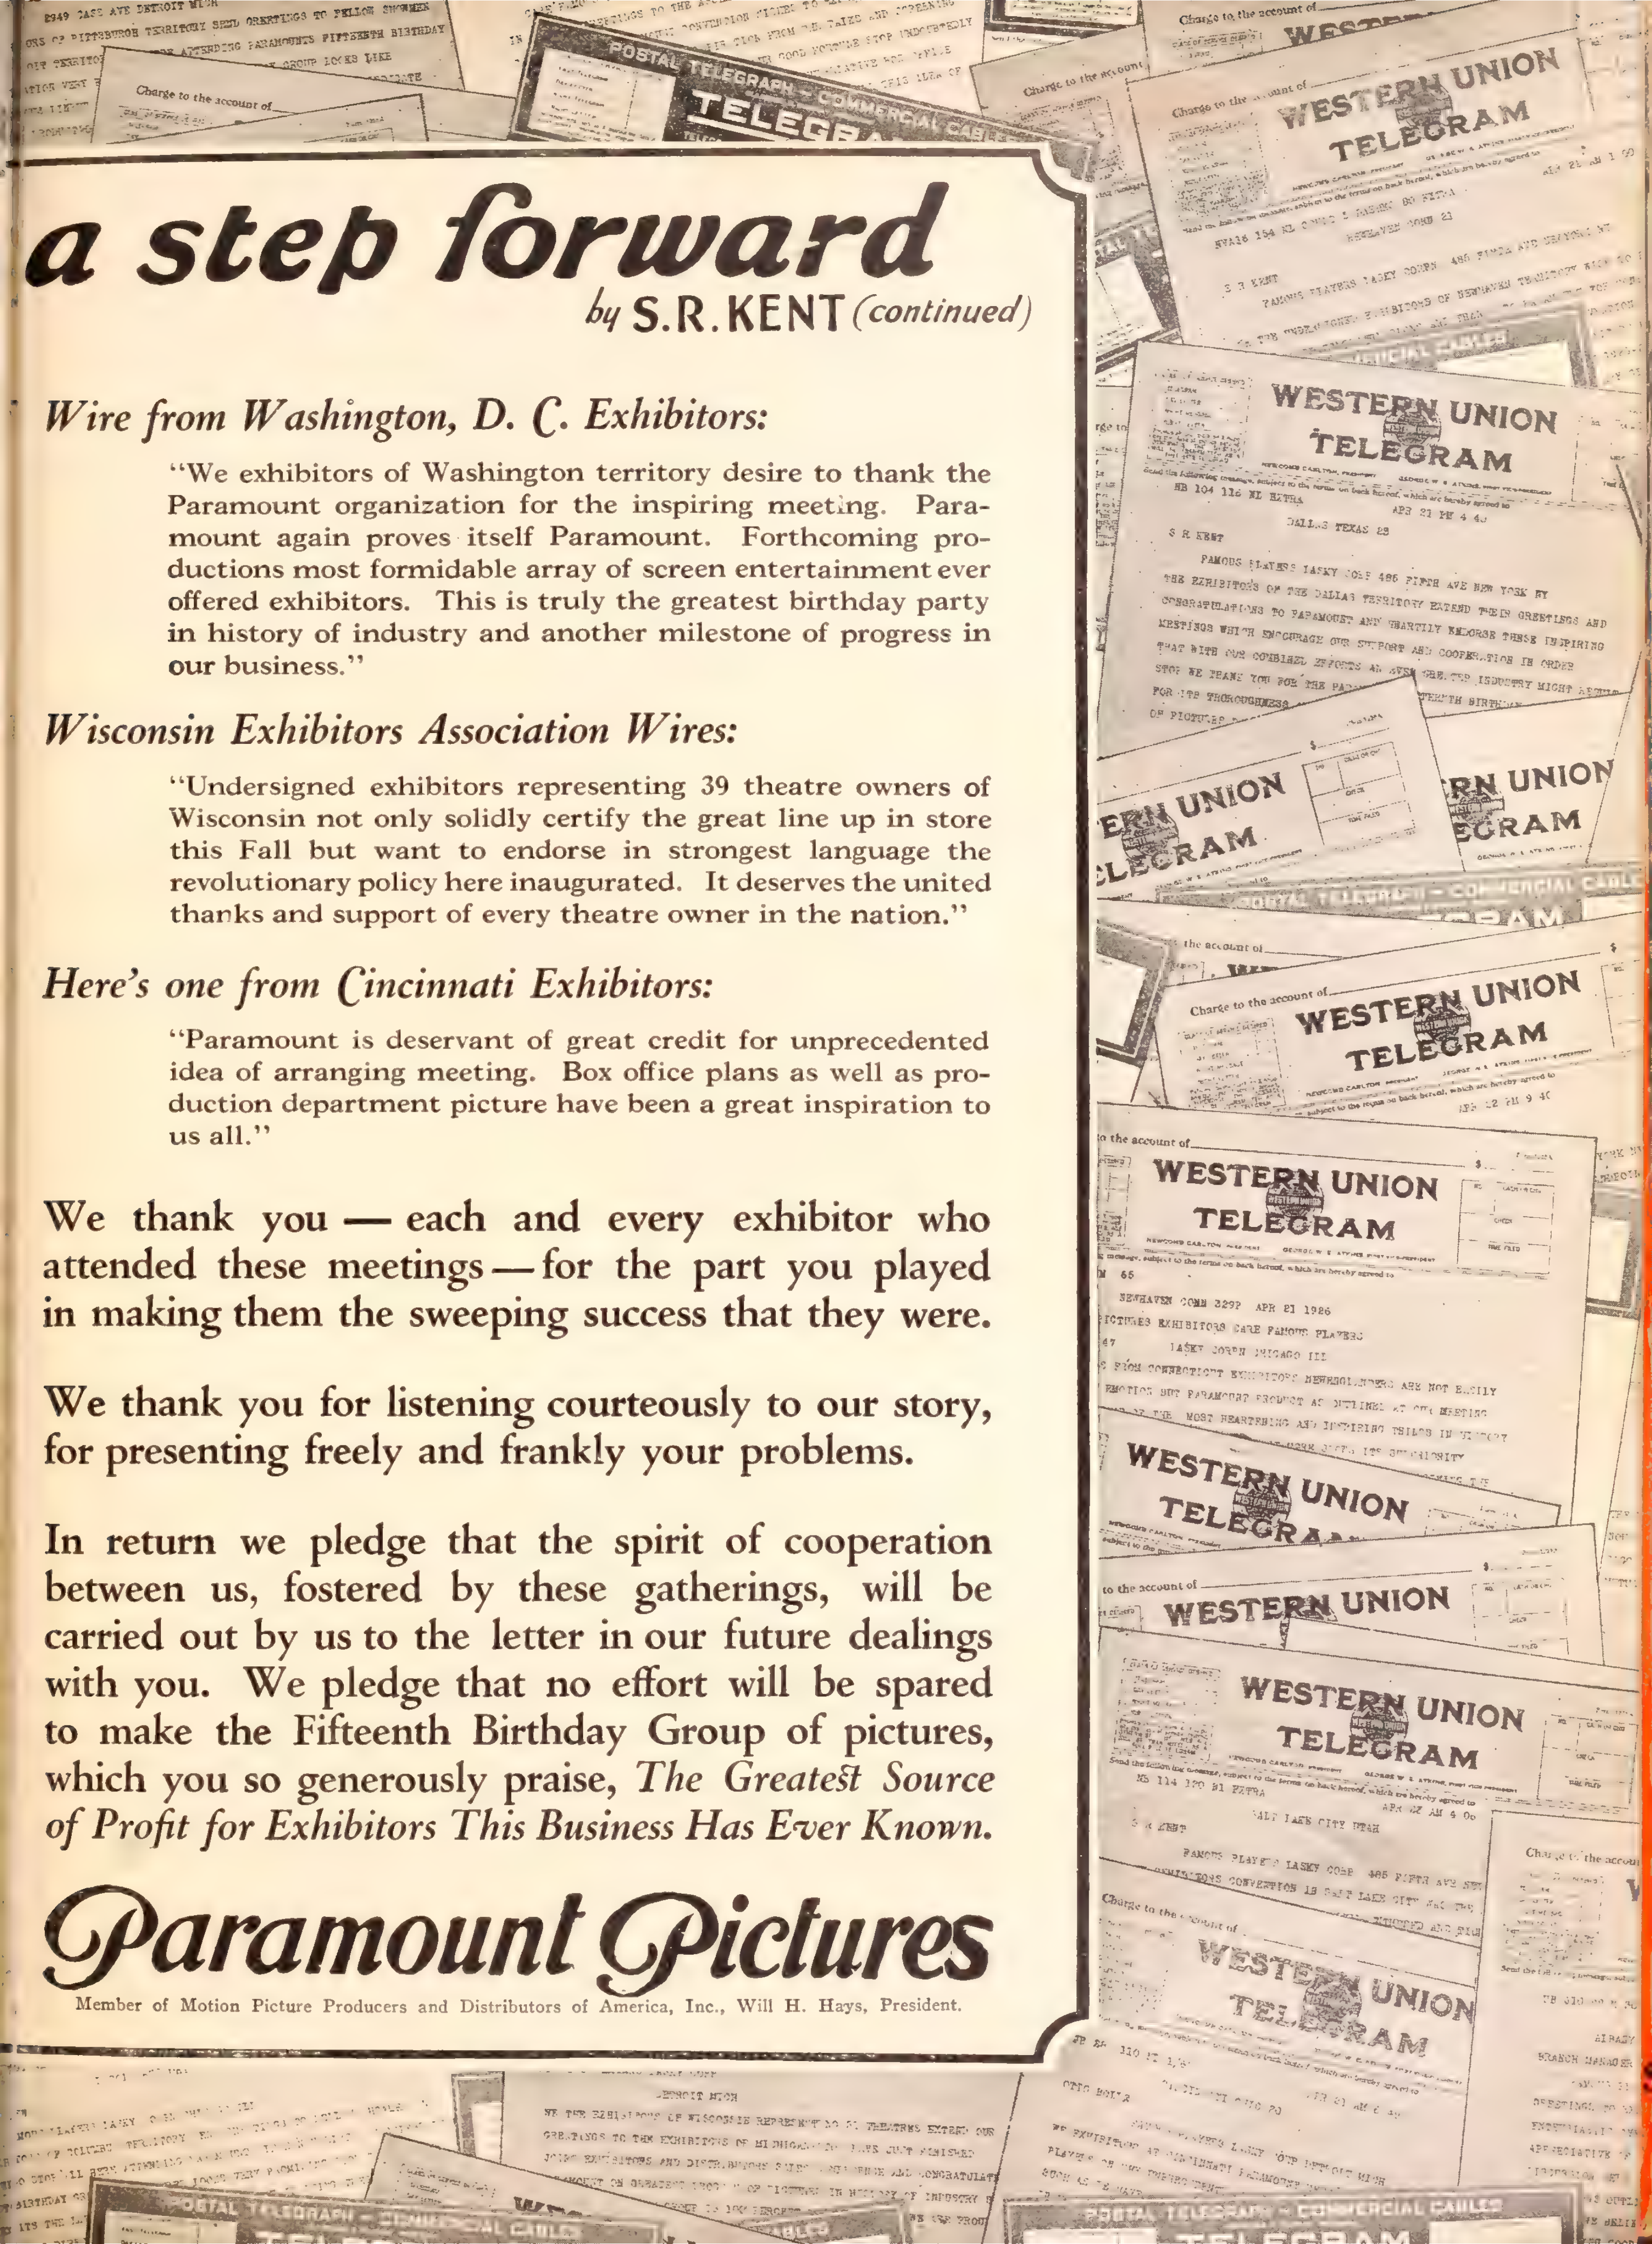
"Twenty-five Michigan exhibitors representing over one hundred theatres are undivided in gratitude for the high note of quality and cooperation sounded. Your idea of direct contact is a most welcome step. We appreciate the big spirit which has prompted the development of a new era in picture history. Coming season's product certainly fulfills every hopeful expectation."

Read what Connecticut Exhibitors Said:

"Paramount product outlined at our meeting is one of the most heartening and inspiring things in history of our industry. Paramount once more shows its superiority and lives up to its name of Paramount."

Exhibitors of Cleveland Territory Wired:

"Cleveland exhibitors congratulate Famous Players. With the fine cooperation and the wonderful line-up of stars, stories and directors, this year will be the greatest clean-up we have ever enjoyed."



a step forward

by S.R. KENT (continued)

Wire from Washington, D. C. Exhibitors:

> "We exhibitors of Washington territory desire to thank the Paramount organization for the inspiring meeting. Paramount again proves itself Paramount. Forthcoming productions most formidable array of screen entertainment ever offered exhibitors. This is truly the greatest birthday party in history of industry and another milestone of progress in our business."

Wisconsin Exhibitors Association Wires:

> "Undersigned exhibitors representing 39 theatre owners of Wisconsin not only solidly certify the great line up in store this Fall but want to endorse in strongest language the revolutionary policy here inaugurated. It deserves the united thanks and support of every theatre owner in the nation."

Here's one from Cincinnati Exhibitors:

> "Paramount is deservant of great credit for unprecedented idea of arranging meeting. Box office plans as well as production department picture have been a great inspiration to us all."

We thank you — each and every exhibitor who attended these meetings — for the part you played in making them the sweeping success that they were.

We thank you for listening courteously to our story, for presenting freely and frankly your problems.

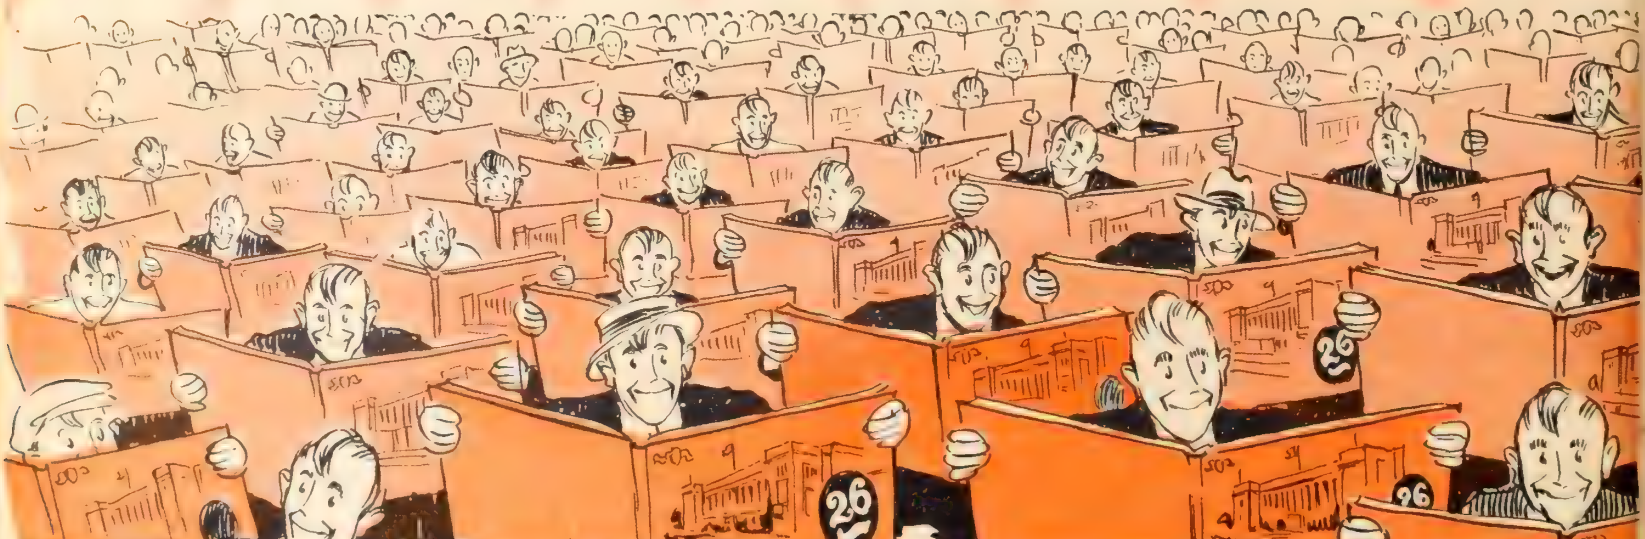
In return we pledge that the spirit of cooperation between us, fostered by these gatherings, will be carried out by us to the letter in our future dealings with you. We pledge that no effort will be spared to make the Fifteenth Birthday Group of pictures, which you so generously praise, The Greatest Source of Profit for Exhibitors This Business Has Ever Known.

Paramount Pictures

Member of Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., Will H. Hays, President.

26 WARNER WINNERS

Have you received your copy of the book that exhibitors everywhere are reading and talking about—the year's greatest announcement—26 Warner Winners! If you haven't, write Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., 1600 Broadway, N. Y., or your own Vitagraph Exchange!



Thousands of Exhibitors Are Wearing the "Sunshine and Prosperity" Smile – the $mile That Won't Come Off!

[They are reading their copy of WARNER BROS. Great Announcement Book!]

What a line-up! What a clean-up for 1926-27!
1926
WB
1927
26
Warner Winners

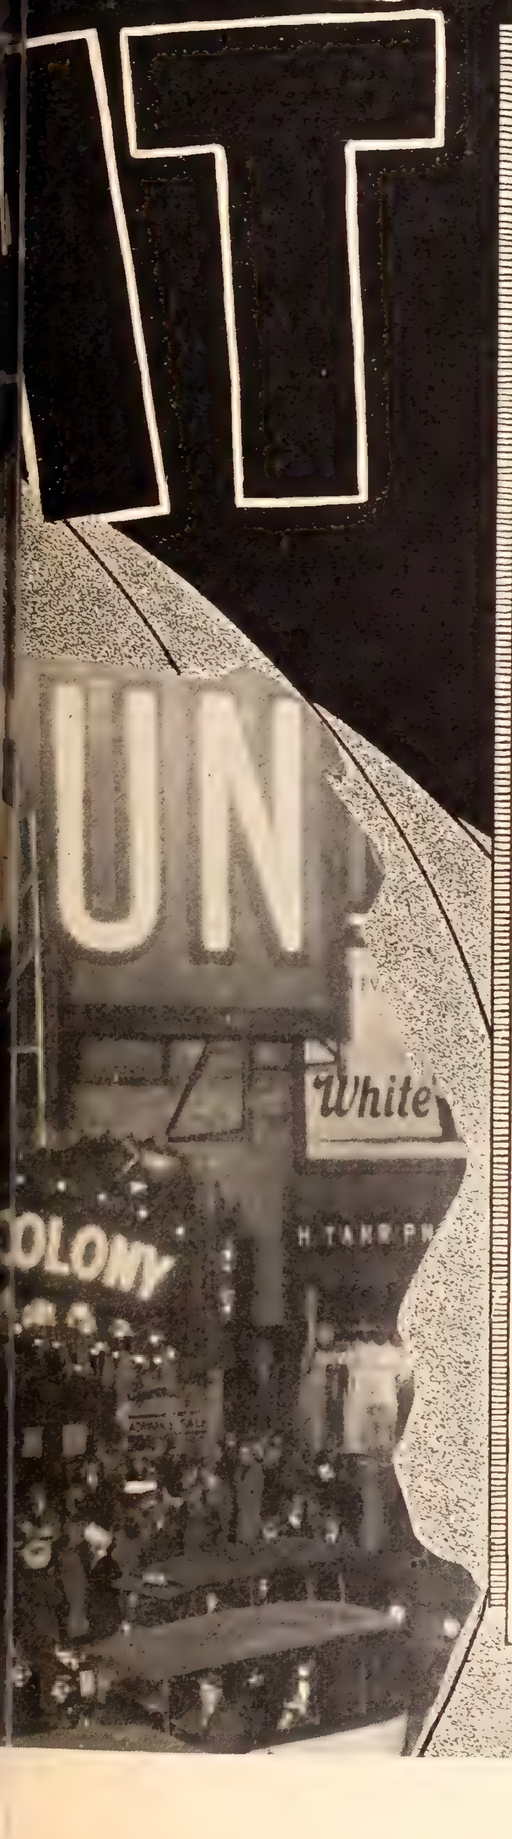
A DIMITRI BUCHOWETZKI PRODUCTION with LAURA LA PLANTE, PAT O'MALLEY, George Seigmann, Raymond Keane and a marvelous cast

A UNIVERSAL SUPER PRODUCTION
Presented by Carl Laemmle

Eclipse them all!



"WE FOUND 'THE MIDNIGHT SUN' delightful. Go to the Colony and see it." says New York Herald-Tribune

"GOOD BOX OFFICE. ALL the ingredients which satisfy at the till." says Film Daily

"THE CUSTOMERS WILL like it." says New York Daily News

This glittering, gorgeous, romantic spectacle of the Dancing Toy in all the splendor of the Imperial Russian Court is Dimming the Lights of Broadway!

NOW Playing to Capacity Crowds

at B. S. Moss' COLONY

Theatre, Broadway, New York City

Twice Daily—2:45 and 8:45 p.m. | Prices 50 cents to $1.50

YOU WANT IT!

¶ Your years of experience want for your box office.
producer and in dealing with you want. That's why, in list of pictures that gives

YOU WANT a high class comedy picture with a powerful box office star.

YOU GET IT in every picture Reginald Denny makes!

YOU WANT a gleaming, glittering, spectacular super-production.

YOU GET IT in "The Midnight Sun" starring Laura La Plante.

YOU WANT an epic melodrama which will be the talk of the town.

YOU GET IT in "The Flaming Frontier."

YOU WANT an automobile picture of racing, love and excitement.

YOU GET IT in Byron Morgan's story "The Love Thrill."

YOU WANT a heart interest picture with a famous title.

YOU GET IT in "The Old Soak" and you get it with a vengeance.

YOU WANT a novelty picture with a brand new personality.

YOU GET IT in "Oh Baby!", the laughing novelty of the year.

UNIVERSAL'S GREATER MOVIE

YOU GET IT!

have taught you what you
My years of experience as a
you have taught me what cold blood, I have planned a you exactly what you want.

—Carl Laemmle

YOU WANT a horse race picture better than you've ever seen before.

YOU GET IT in "Down the Stretch."

YOU WANT a smashing big picture of circus life.

YOU GET IT in Nellie Revell's wonderful story "Spangles."

YOU WANT a smashing navy story with all the necessary action and thrills.

YOU GET IT in "The Big Gun" and it's simply a whale!

YOU WANT a railroad melodrama packed with punch and kick.

YOU GET IT in "The Runaway Express," a real record-wrecker!

YOU WANT a flashy, sparkling picture of show life.

YOU GET IT in "The Show World!"

YOU WANT a snow picture as great as "The Storm."

YOU GET IT in "Prisoners of the Storm."

YOU WANT variety and punch in sure-fire box-office pictures.

YOU GET IT in Universal's Greater Movie List!

LIST IS MADE TO FIT YOU!

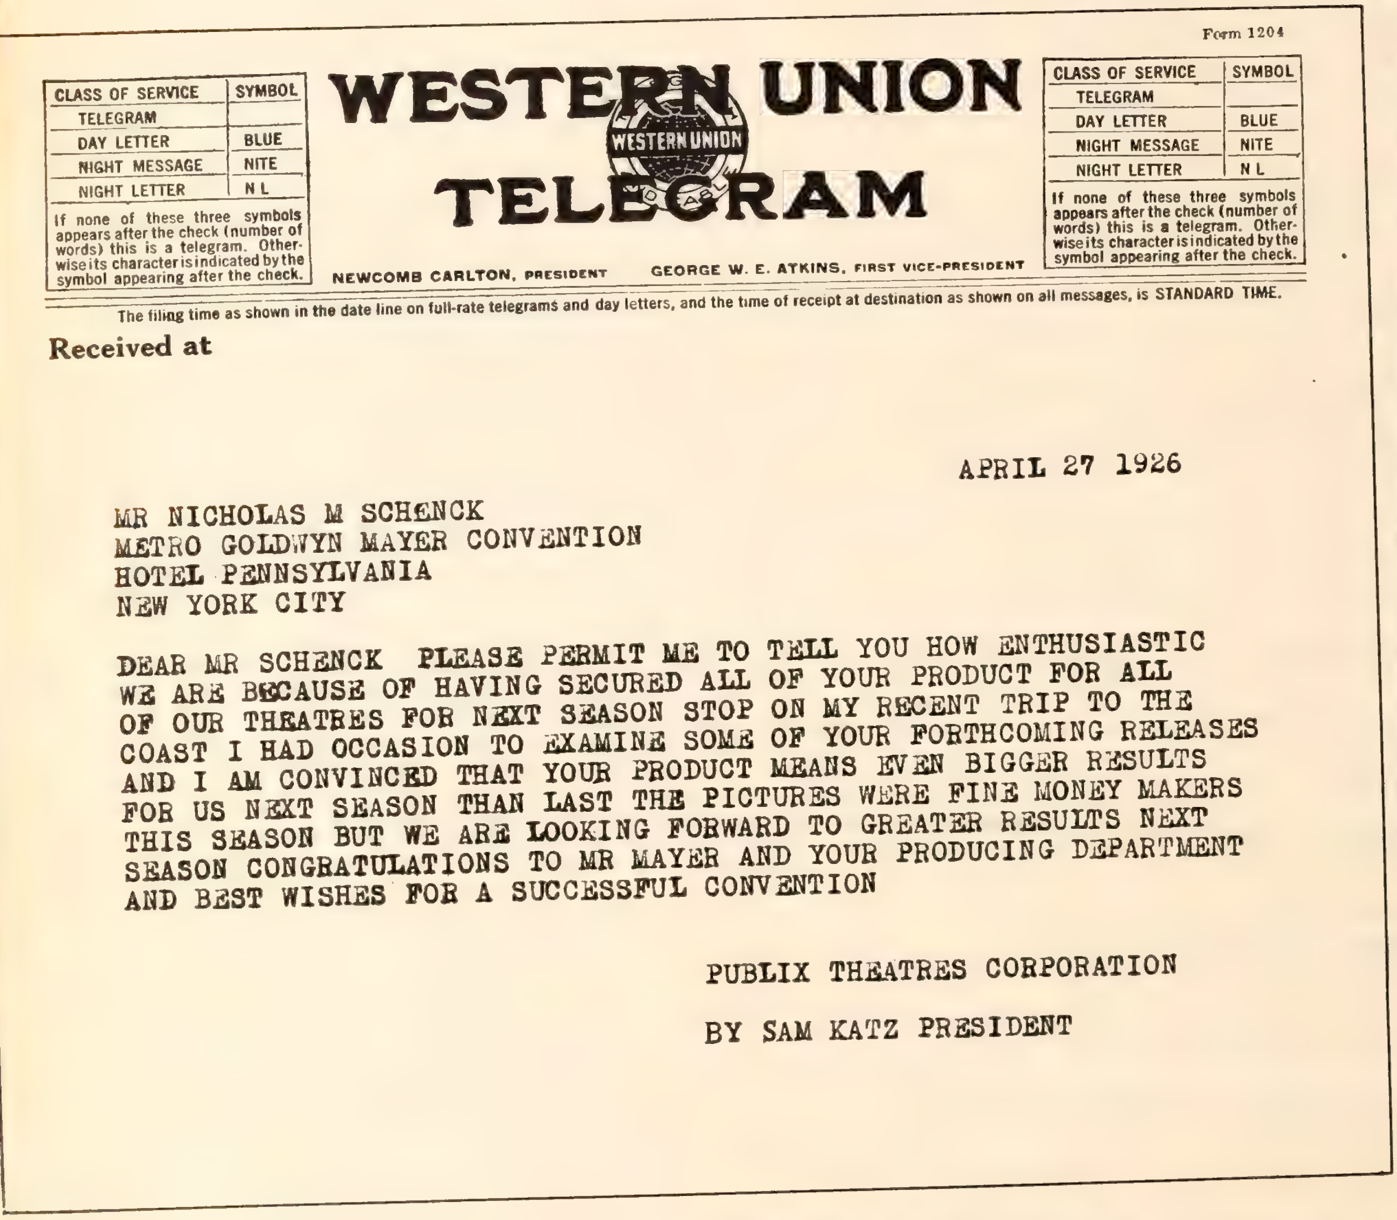
HERE'S SOMETHING THAT MEANS SOMETHING!

it's a wire from someone

WHO'LL LOVE THEM IN SEPTEMBER

AS HE DID IN MAY

JUNE
JULY
AUG.
OCT.
NOV.
DEC.
JAN.
FEB.
MAR.
APR.



Form 1204

CLASS OF SERVICE	SYMBOL TELEGRAM
DAY LETTER	BLUE
NIGHT MESSAGE	NITE
NIGHT LETTER	N L

If none of these three symbols appears after the check (number of words) this is a telegram. Otherwise its character is indicated by the symbol appearing after the check.

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAM

NEWCOMB CARLTON, PRESIDENT GEORGE W. E. ATKINS, FIRST VICE-PRESIDENT

The filing time as shown in the date line on full-rate telegrams and day letters, and the time of receipt at destination as shown on all messages, is STANDARD TIME.

Received at

APRIL 27 1926

MR NICHOLAS M SCHENCK
METRO GOLDWYN MAYER CONVENTION
HOTEL PENNSYLVANIA
NEW YORK CITY

DEAR MR SCHENCK PLEASE PERMIT ME TO TELL YOU HOW ENTHUSIASTIC WE ARE BECAUSE OF HAVING SECURED ALL OF YOUR PRODUCT FOR ALL OF OUR THEATRES FOR NEXT SEASON STOP ON MY RECENT TRIP TO THE COAST I HAD OCCASION TO EXAMINE SOME OF YOUR FORTHCOMING RELEASES AND I AM CONVINCED THAT YOUR PRODUCT MEANS EVEN BIGGER RESULTS FOR US NEXT SEASON THAN LAST THE PICTURES WERE FINE MONEY MAKERS THIS SEASON BUT WE ARE LOOKING FORWARD TO GREATER RESULTS NEXT SEASON CONGRATULATIONS TO MR MAYER AND YOUR PRODUCING DEPARTMENT AND BEST WISHES FOR A SUCCESSFUL CONVENTION

PUBLIX THEATRES CORPORATION

BY SAM KATZ PRESIDENT

ON ITS WAY!

METRO - GOLDWYN - MAYER'S PARADE OF HITS FOR 1926-27

A railroad locomotive makes a lot of noise.

But it isn't the din that makes the wheels go around.

Pretty art work, lurid engraving, and heated promises make an infernal racket—

But—

Well, at any rate, Associated has eliminated the bunk and the hokum in talking to you about next year.

What's it worth?

* * *

Associated has the financial resources, the studio facilities, the production brains, the selling organization, and the exploitation ability to make good on what it promises.

And we won't make a promise until we KNOW we can make good.

We are willing to be the Woolworth of this business. We are very apt to be.

But at the same time we know a Tiffany diamond when we have one in the shop.

We'll sell with our eyes open.

* * *

We're talking frankly to you. Hope you like it.

Here's more:

We expect every man in our organization to get a price that represents the VALUE he is selling.

We're HARD-BOILED. He has to be.

But we won't send him chasing for Tiffany prices in return for Woolworth merchandise—and we won't allow him to give the Tiffany away.

That's frank.

That's us!

* * *

Sum it up:

Associated is in business to make money. So are you!

Associated has its feet on the ground. So have you!

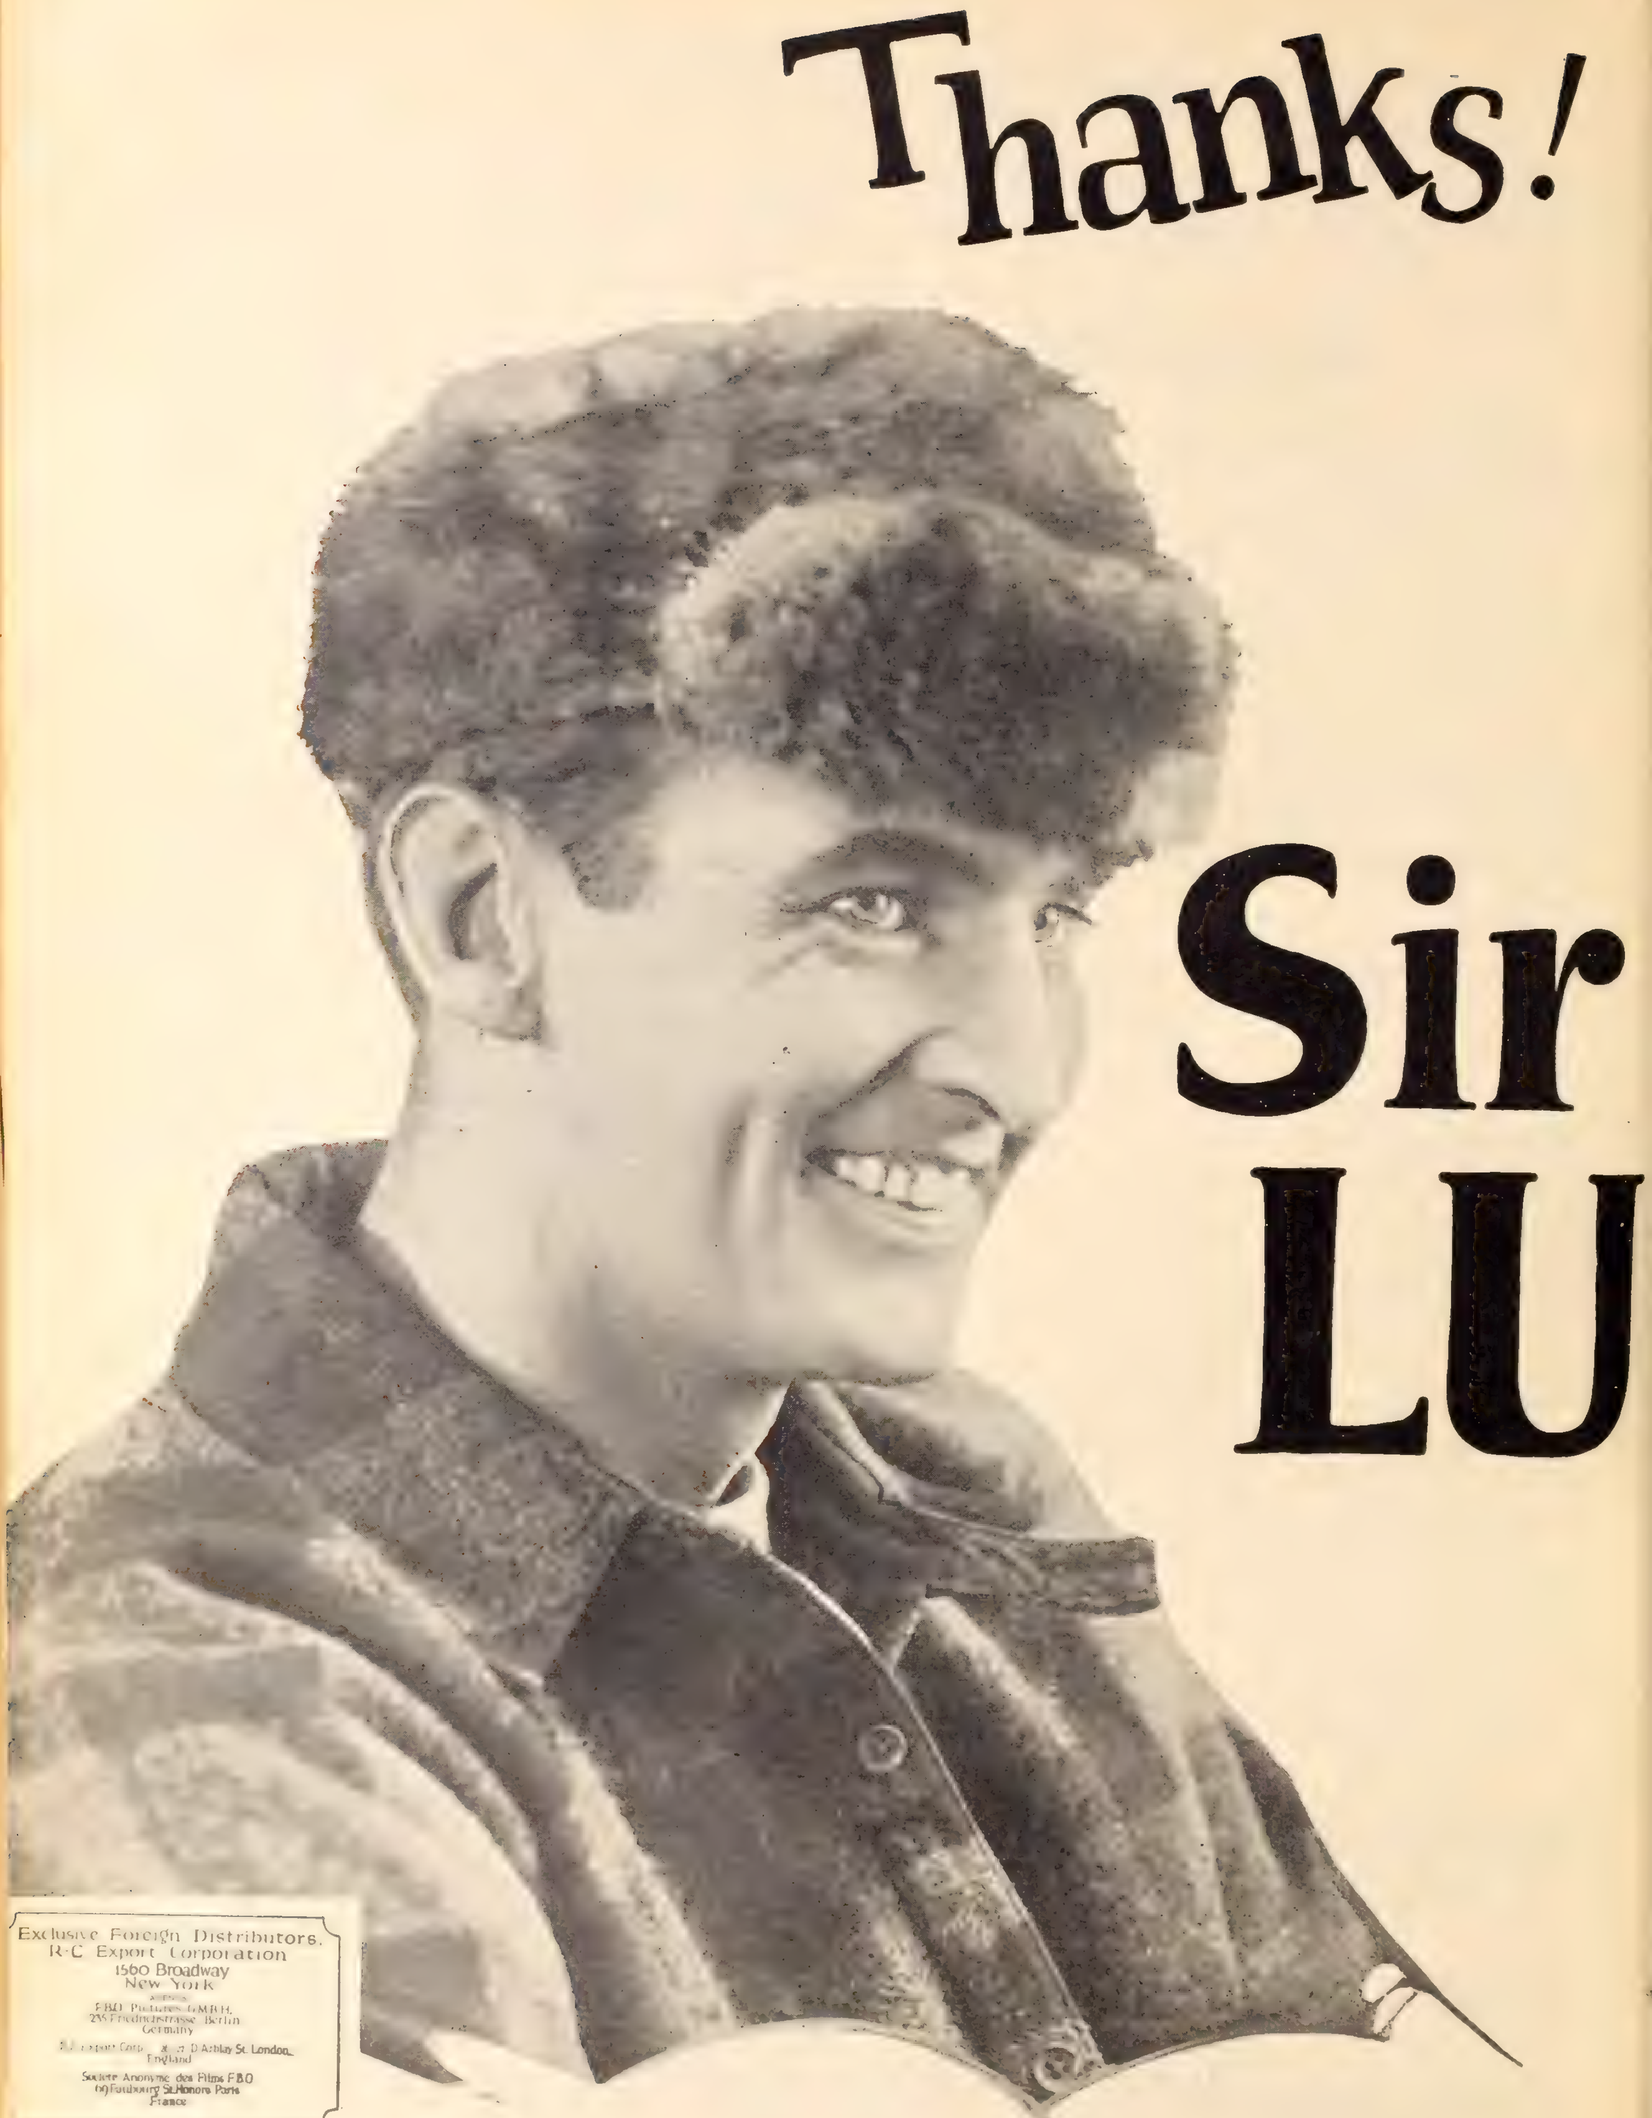
Associated is hard-boiled. So you will HAVE to be. If you want to keep on—

Selling ENTERTAINMENT for box-office PROFIT.

We're doing it.

Come along!

ASSOCIATED EXHIBITORS, Inc.
Oscar A. Price, Pres.



Exclusive Foreign Distributors.
R-C Export Corporation
1560 Broadway
New York
[illegible]
F.B.O. Pictures G.M.B.H.
235 Friedrichstrasse Berlin
Germany
[illegible] Export Corp. [illegible] 27 D Arblay St. London
England
Societe Anonyme des Films F.B.O.
69 Faubourg St. Honore Paris
France

Thanks!

Thanks!

I'm watching the trade reports on "what my pictures did for you". They're great! Your commendation peps me up like a pullet with a worm! Makes me feel like going out and making the best yet! That's exactly what I've done in

MBERJACK

You're going to like this picture! Your public's going to eat it up! I play three phases of one role—a rich man's son, a hobo and a lumberjack! Each phase kept me on my toes! Modesty forbids me saying how good I am! I've a great leading lady—a fine cast and the story rings the bell! It's a big money-getter sure as you're born! Hop to it!

Lefty Flynn

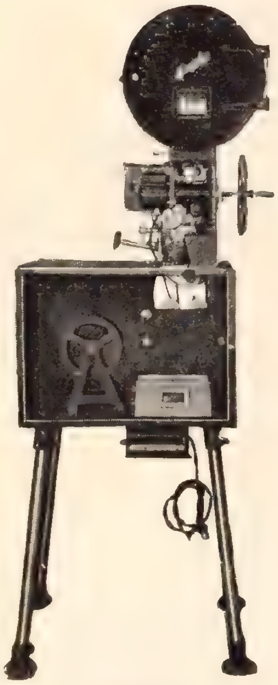
Distributed by

FBO

1560 Broadway
New York, N. Y.
EXCHANGES EVERYWHERE

Simplex

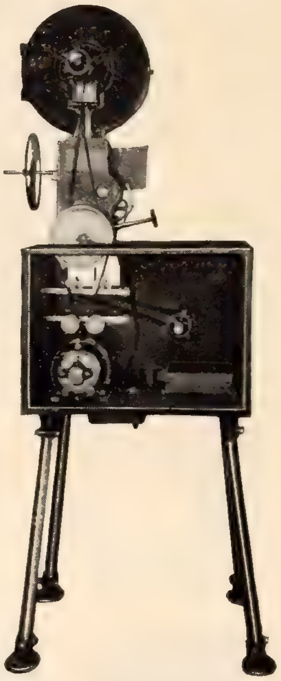
STUDIO PROJECTOR



Front view

Specifications

One or two pin movement. Reversible or regular takeup. 25 Watt 6″ tubular inspection lamp. T.M. 110 Projection lamp. 110 Volt 4 Ampere Rheostat and ammeter. Lamphouse attached to mechanism. Constant or variable speed motor drive. Three-way knife switch.



Rear view

A Projector for Every Purpose

THIS unit together with the Simplex Projector for theatres equipped with High Intensity Arc, Reflector Arc, Straight Arc or Incandescent Lamp provides a line of projection equipment adequate to every need. In the science of projection we have kept pace with the art of production and today the Simplex Projector maintains a leadership which is by no means inferior to the splendid pre-eminence of American Motion Picture Films.

SIMPLEX DIVISION

INTERNATIONAL PROJECTOR CORPORATION

90 GOLD STREET NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.

AN IMPORTANT EDITORIAL

ABOUT METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

By William A. Johnston

REPRINTED FROM MOTION PICTURE NEWS

MARCUS LOEW—great showman—will very soon celebrate his twentieth anniversary in the picture business. Twenty years of achievement about which much could be written and from many different viewpoints.

But let's take just this one point—because it's vital. Ours is the show business. It is a business all its own and all by itself.

It demands showmen.

Not steel or oil or cement men—but showmen; not necessarily great organizers and executives, but men of show ideas and experience and genius. Showmen—for a show business. That is the production chapter of today.

(continued on next page)

(continued)

MARCUS LOEW is not only a showman—he is a great showman. He has surrounded himself with showmen—at the studio; in the home office; in distribution; in the theatre.

The story of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is the story of showmen. The company has an exceptional plant. That is a big factor both for production, quality and economy. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has other large resources, including a national theatre outlet. But I believe the reader will agree with me—every reader, whatever his affiliations—that, however much these factors count in any production regime, it is the showmen that count most.

* * *

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER has showman power. Turn to Broadway for the proof.

Last week an amazing record of picture success was made. There were twelve important films—and together they grossed no less than $331,127.

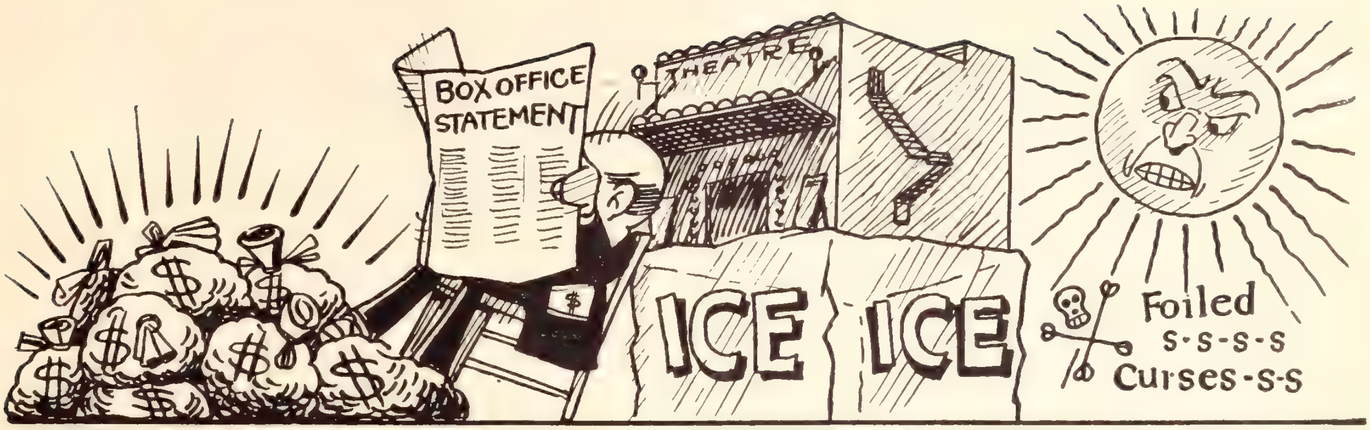
Of the twelve, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer contributed one-third: "The Big Parade," with $20,582; "Ben Hur," with $20,500; "Marē Nostrum, $12,275; and "La Boheme," $10,697.

Four pictures with an aggregate gross of some $64,000—and meeting this figure pretty steadily, not for one week only, but week in and week out as they run.

Emphatic testimony as to showman power; to M-G-M's production policy, as guided by Louis B. Mayer, Irving Thalberg and Harry Rapf, and a mighty fine anniversary present for Marcus Loew.

FROM THE TALK OF THE INDUSTRY TO

THE TOP OF THE INDUSTRY



Put your Summer Profits on Ice

ARE you thinking about the scorching days ahead? Wondering whether to run a half schedule, go "dark," or try to limp through on take-a-loss basis?

Forget it! Put your summer profits on ice—now.

Arctic Nu-Air puts "Old Sol" in the background by keeping your house filled with cool, refreshing air. It reaches every seat, every corner, with a breeze as fresh as a day at the seaside.

Arctic Nu-Air "brings 'em in"—off the hot pavements, out of the sweltering buildings, the hotter it is the faster they come.

Seven hundred users are making summer profits the Arctic Nu-Air way. Hundreds of letters testify to their enthusiasm.

Moderate down payment secures installation. Easy payments take care of the balance. "You pay as you profit." Arctic Nu-Air is not a high priced, complicated system, but it certainly does the business.

Mail the coupon today.

A Book about
Hot Weather
Profits—

Cool Breezes for Hot Weather Profits

TODAY is not a bit too soon

ARCTIC NU-AIR

ARCTIC NU-AIR CORPORATION, Dept. 1
818 State Lake Bldg.,
Chicago, Ill.

I'd like to put my "Summer Profits on Ice." Send your illustrated book along. My house seats.........

House Dimensions:
Length ......
Width ......
Height ......
Balcony?
Yes ☐ No ☐

Name ....
Theatre ....
Address ....
City .... State ....

EXCLUSIVE FOREIGN DISTRIBUTORS,
R-C EXPORT CORPORATION
1560 BROADWAY
NEW YORK
AGENTS
F B O PICTURES G M B H
235 FRIEDRICHSTRASSE BERLIN
GERMANY
R C EXPORT CORP. 26-27 D'ARBLAY ST. LONDON
ENGLAND
SOCIETE ANONYME DES FILMS F B O
60 FAUBOURG ST. HONORE PARIS
FRANCE

ually– why not today?

Eventually EVERY SHOWMAN will be playing Evelyn Brent pictures!

She is essentially a showman's star!

She has a personality, an appeal, a something that winds itself around the hearts of her audiences—that makes friends and builds patronage for theatres!

RIGHT NOW Evelyn Brent is a great favorite among picture fans! She has a very definite following—a very definite box-office value, and she's turning out a brand of pictures that is continually building this popularity!

RIGHT NOW is the time to take advantage of this popularity! To-day is the day to start allowing this star to make money for you!

RENT

The IMPOSTOR

is the kind of a picture that will grab a lot of attention! It is packed to the hilt with melodramatic incident and action! It has the appeal of the society atmosphere and the allure of the underworld! Miss Brent does the best work of her career in a dual role of tremendous possibilities!

RIGHT NOW! TO-DAY! IS THE TIME TO GET SET WITH THIS MONEY-MAKING STAR!

Distributed by

FBO

1560 Broadway
New York City

Only the Old

8,000,000 readers = 8,000 extra capacity audiences, and "Old Loves and New" is surely pulling them!

author of "The SHEIK" could write such romance in the purple and scarlet inks of life!

Loves and New

SAM E. RORK presents
A MARION FAIRFAX
PRODUCTION

with

Lewis Stone

BARBARA BEDFORD
and TULLY MARSHALL

Based on E. M. Hull's celebrated novel
"The DESERT HEALER"

Adapted by MARION FAIRFAX
Directed by MAURICE TOURNEUR

First National Pictures

A First National Picture

"but I ain't used to being treated like this!"
First National Pictures

SUMMER and HEAT don't matter

You'll make money just the same—

because First National is heading into summer with a group of heat-proof hits even bigger in earning—power than all those triumphs of winter—and fall—

Nothing can beat—these—not even the heat.

- NORMA TALMADGE in "Kiki"
- COLLEEN MOORE in "Irene"
- CORINNE GRIFFITH in "Mlle. Modiste"
- RICHARD BARTHELMESS in "Ranson's Folly"
- HARRY LANGDON in "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp"
- "THE GREATER GLORY" SPECIAL
- "OLD LOVES AND NEW" adapted from "The Desert Healer" by E. M. Hull, author of "The Sheik"
- MICHAEL ARLEN'S "THE DANCER OF PARIS"
- FRANK LLOYD'S "THE WISE GUY"
- "THE WILDERNESS WOMAN," the year's biggest comedy
- "THE SPORTING LOVER" Drury Lane sensation
- "SWEET DADDIES"
- "HER SECOND CHANCE"

and a hit a week from now until September. Then the "Banner Group" starts.

Play First National Pictures for profits all year round!

Motion Picture News

Volume XXXIII NEW YORK CITY, MAY 8, 1926 No. 19

The Strand

TWELVE years ago a new theatre threw open its doors on Broadway.

It was an entirely new kind of theatre—with a large seating capacity and motion pictures as the attraction. It was the first great motion picture theatre in the world; and as such it was a tremendous step forward into a large but very dim future.

I refer, of course, to the Mark Strand of New York.

Its program, on the opening night, carried this brave announcement:

"We have endeavored to create an institution that will reflect credit upon our city, our country and ourselves. We have the utmost faith that our judgment will be vindicated by the results—the cooperation and patronage of the people, not alone of Greater New York, but of all the nation."

* * *

There may be those today—there always are—who say that they were confident in advance that this radically new and big house would achieve its immediate and continued success. Perhaps Mitchell Mark, and, perhaps a few picture men, had this courageous and uncanny vision. But the fact is the young picture industry at large waited breathlessly and vaguely that opening night and then laid their plans to go ahead the following day. For the public came and saw a four reel dramatic picture with an orchestra of twenty-five pieces—saw and applauded in a way that any good showman knew spelled that magical word: success.

So while the Mark Strand styles itself, and deservedly so, "A National Institution," it might well claim itself to be "An Industrial Institution,"—a basic institution in the picture business.

For the day after the opening the making of dramatic features started right off on its highway, and the industry, as it stands today, began its expansion with the impetus of this theatre.

Looking backward to the files of Motion Picture News we find a detailed article on the Strand, entitled "Million Dollar Theatre Opens," and the illuminating paragraph: "in the heart of the so-called 'white-light' district, in the home of the legitimate drama, putting itself in actual daily competition with the world's greatest speaking stars, this theatre is facing close competition."

Close competition, indeed! And note the timidity of this utterance which well reflected the opinion of the trade at that time. But in the face of the solid competition of another amusement centuries old, a picture drama with orchestral accompaniment held its own; and out of its remarkable success there have been reared in this country a billion dollars' worth of picture theatres, which in number, size and beauty are beyond the wildest dreams of but twelve years ago.

Not one of these theatres has ever failed. Here and there a management has failed; but never a theatre property.

Nor has any one of these theatres ever failed to receive pictures.

Nor, except in very recent years, was any one of these million dollar (or more) enterprises built and opened with a solid guarantee of adequate product.

The production resources of the industry—and all credit to the men back of them—have met successfully the demand for show attractions incredibly great and severe.

This editorial is not written in eulogy to the industry: but rather to point out a few salient facts.

First, that picture theatre entertainment has stood squarely on its own feet from the time of the Strand's great adventure till now, when pictures are far better and far more popular than ever before.

Second, that a billion dollars' worth of theatres have had profitable product because it came from many sources, from many talents; and our constant hope and prayer should be that pictures will continue to come from even more widespread and diverse sources of ideas and enterprise.

W A Johnston

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

MAY 8
1926

Vcl. XXXIII
No. 19

Founded in September 1913

Publication Office: 729 7th Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Editorial and General Offices:
729 7th Ave., New York City

Branch Offices:
845 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.
Room 616 Security Bldg., Hollywood, Calif.

Speaking Editorially

THE announcement of Fox product for the new season appears in this issue, and it is easily one of the big stories of the year in itself. We have often remarked—and exhibitor opinions back us up year in and year out—that the advertising pages of Motion Picture News are news in themselves; mighty important news, too, because they carry vital business information to the busy theatre man.

The Fox insert—which, by the way, ranks in execution and showmanship appeal with the finest ever turned out—takes its place as a genuine news event. The exhibitor, of course, will give it his most careful attention. After looking over the announcement and studying its message, we do not see how he could do otherwise.

Forty-nine dramatic productions are listed, and the titles themselves suggest a great variety of theme and range of appeal. "What Price Glory" is placed first, and with excellent reason. There follow "The Music Master," "The Monkey Talks," "A Temperance Town," "The Devil's Master," "Whispering Wires," "The Story of Mother Machree," "Cradle Snatchers," "One Increasing Purpose," "Is Zat So," "The Return of Peter Grimm," "Seventh Heaven," —to name a few.

The Westerns again figure largely in the schedule; there will be seven from Tom Mix and seven from Buck Jones. The array of short subjects is notable, particularly for the authors represented.

In fact, the Fox product throughout represents an exceedingly high standard of literary and play material—continuing the policy which proved so successful in the past.

Fox is all set for a banner season—with Winfield R. Sheehan in command at the studios and Jimmy Grainger as field marshal of the sales forces. A word also about the physical make-up of the insert: our congratulations to Vivian Moses and his co-workers in the Fox publicity and advertising department. A fine job in every way.

WE note with great interest that there is harmony in exhibitor ranks on the eve of the Los Angeles Convention. Joe Seider and President Woodhull are going out to the Minnesota State meeting at the invitation of W. A. Steffes. This means, among other things, that the Allied group will be at Los Angeles. A fine omen for the success of the national convention. Common sense, too. Mr. Seider's regime as Business Manager is again demonstrated to be thoroughly worth-while.

* * * *

THE movies are thirty years old this year. Not a long time in the story of this old world, but long enough to make the motion picture one of the marvels of modern times. The anniversary is to be observed during Greater Movie Season; and fittingly so. All the indications are that the product for the coming season will be the best the industry has ever offered the public. And that will make the observance of the anniversary all the more pointed.

* * * *

ONE of the most important developments in the industry's history is the plan to nationalize the theatres allied with First National—of which the initial steps are set forth in this issue. This plan has been long in the making, and is now, apparently, about to be put into effect, with the East as the scene of try-out and extensions to other sections coming later.

No more revolutionary step has ever been taken. It will be watched with the greatest interest by all branches of the business.

Editorial 2163
Editor on Broadway 2165-66
Second Editorial Page 2164
Pictures and People 2167-70
Exhibitors Service Bureau 2184-88
General News and Special Features 2171-82
Short Subjects and Serials 2260-61
Pre-Release Reviews on Features 2263-68
Newspapers Opinions on New Features 2292
Construction and Equipment Department 2278-88
Regional News From Correspondents 2269-77
Features and Short Subject Release Chart 2289-92
Short Subject Reviews 2262
Classified Ads 2259
Fox Section 2189-2258

May 8, 1926 MOTION PICTURE NEWS Vol. XXXIII, No. 19

Published weekly by MOTION PICTURE NEWS, INC., William A. Johnston, President; E. Kendall Gillett, Vice-President; William A. Johnston, Editor; J. S. Dickerson, Associate Editor; Oscar Cooper, Managing Editor; Fred J. Beecroft, Advertising Manager; L. H. Mason, Chicago Representative; William McCormack, Los Angeles Representative. Subscription price, $2 per year, post paid in United States, Mexico, Hawaii, Porto Rico, Philippine Islands and some other countries; Canada, $3, foreign, $6.00. Copyright 1926, by MOTION PICTURE NEWS, INC., in the United States and Great Britain. Title registered in the United States Patent Office and foreign countries. Western Union cable address is "Picknews," New York. Entered as second-class matter April 22, 1926, at the postoffice, New York, N. Y., under the Act of March 3, 1879

AN EDITOR ON BROADWAY

The Week in Review By William A. Johnston

S. L. (Roxy) Rothafel

THE question of product for Roxy's new theatre in New York arises; and Roxy answers the queries of the street with the statement: "I shall not affiliate myself with any one film company—I shall have pictures from all the big companies and will play no favorites. It will be my policy to take only the best pictures, and this cannot be done by contracting to take all the roduct from one organization," etc.

The problem of this big theatre and the pictures it will have is a large and broad one. It concerns not merely this big theatre in New York, but big new theatres elsewhere—projected, planned and being built. And therefore it concerns the forward march and best interests of the whole industry.

* * *

THERE are, of course, two sides to this big question.

First, there's the side of the producing companies who have their own theatres or theatre affiliations. They have the product, but also they have their own theatres. They are bound to protect these theatre interests. Theatre holdings—by producing companies—have got to the point where they are no longer mere show windows for the production interests. They represent investments that have got to be taken care of; and, therefore, they require the best pictures obtainable.

On the other hand, there's Roxy's big theatre and Roxy himself, a leader in showmanship. Both are assets that assuredly are to be cherished in the best and broadest interests of motion pictures. The motion picture, as we have remarked before, is a public institution; so also is a motion picture theatre. If Roxy, in New York, or any other showman anywhere, proposes to give the public something new and better and bigger in the way of a theatre and a show—surely, we cannot say to this man, and through him to the public, that the enterprise doesn't fit into the plans and ends of the trade itself, and therefore is undesirable.

* * *

THERE is but one answer to such a situation, and that is that the producing companies themselves must be relied upon to build all the new theatres and handle the shows. But that is a pretty big undertaking. It doesn't spell progress.

We are pretty confident that the best and wisest minds in the industry today believe that worthy enterprise—from any source, whether the making of better pictures or the building of better theatres—must be encouraged to the limit. And we feel pretty sure that the fine new theatre today will not be crucified for lack of desirable pictures. It may fail in management, but it must not fail through arbitrary discrimination in the matter of product. That isn't to be thought of.

* * *

AS a matter of fact, all our finest theatres have worried about product since they first began building. All, too, have been courageous pioneer efforts—far in advance of the safety rules of the trade itself. The Strand and Capitol were laughed at as foolhardy steps. Balaban and Katz were ridiculed; Balaban and Katz worried about product, but they succeeded. And so it has been all over the country—in the large cities. Have any of these houses failed?

In conclusion—one interesting fact stands out in bold relief. As big as this question is, that is to say, the question as to whether or not a big investment should be made in a single theatre which has no tie-up in the way of product, there are some people who say that the picture doesn't count much—that the added attractions "are the thing."

* * *

THIS is the season of conventions. Sales forces and home office executives meet to discuss new product, get better acquainted and imbibe from each other fresh energy and greater enthusiasm.

All of which is usually a preamble to a banquet, and not the least of these is that held by Pathe, Thursday night of last week, at the Hotel Roosevelt, New York.

A news story of this event would not contain anything new for similar functions. Good food, excellent music and speeches, in this instance by President Fuller, Merrill Lynch, chairman of the board of directors Elmer Pearson, general manager, and others.

But even a casual observer gathered a feeling that this banquet was different, and in so observing found his feelings stirred.

* * *

FROM Mr. Fuller, as toastmaster, down each side of the horseshoe-shaped table to the men at each far end, a spirit of loyalty and devotion to and belief in Pathe was plainly in evidence.

These men were "for" Pathe, not only on the night of a banquet, but all the year round.

And perhaps in that spirit lies much of Pathe's success through the years that have passed since the "rooster" first graced the nickelodeon's screen.

Good men, well-managed, well-paid and with faith in their product, go a long way to solving any selling problem.

And that is what Pathe's sales force registers. A fine group of experienced film men, properly directed and well paid for services consistently performed.

* * *

THEY promised, Mack Sennett and Hal Roach, honor guests, to "bring home the bacon," and we think they will more than deliver.

There was one other matter of note in connection with the banquet. Rival producers, contrary to custom, went on record as endorsers of each other's product.

Hal Roach said Mack Sennett was the greatest comedy producer in the business, and Mr. Sennett, not to be outdone, testified to the ability of Mr. Roach in terms no less extravagant.

The complete sales force, all office executives and a number of guests from outside the organization were present.

* * *

IT is fortunate that the picture industry didn't get its running start in the easy-money years of 1924 and '25. Dow, Jones & Co. report that purchasers of radio stocks within the last eighteen months have lost more than $96,281,650 on their investments. In addition to the heavy shrinkages in the stock values of nineteen companies, hundreds of smaller concerns have gone out of business. Evidently there was an orgy of production and installment buying. That's another fortunate thing about the picture industry; there's no installment buying by the consumer.

WILL H. HAYS, speaking at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer sales convention in New York, pointed out again that pictures, good ones, are the basis of this industry's success and that on the continuance of first-class product depends the future of the business. It is encouraging to hear this fact—and fact it is—unequivocably stated by the official spokesman for the producers and distributors.

Not so long ago it seemed as though we must face the prospect of declining attention to pictures, with mediocre vaudeville absorbing money vitally needed for the maintenance of present standards of production, but the response to last week's editorial, "Riesenfeld," an interview with that master showman-musician, has shown clearly that the thinking men of this industry are under no illusions as to just what constitutes the drawing power of a motion picture theatre program.

* * *

AN afternoon's visit to the Eastern First National studio the other day found Charles Brabin busily at work directing "Mismates," Santell preparing to start soon on "Subway Sadie," and Ray Rockett and Irvin Willat in conference on "Paradise," to be started soon after. There is a pleasant informality and cordiality in the air at this studio not often found, which is perhaps a reflection of the men at the head of it.

We had the pleasure of a chat, during the afternoon, with Nick Barrows, a veteran filmster, who is a comedy constructor on "Mismates." Barrows has seen pictures grow from their early days. He was with De Mille on "The Squaw Man," and had charge of the early Famous laboratories. He was director and gag man with Sennett and Roach and Lloyd, and reminisced interestingly concerning their early days. Speaking of the first artificial lighting equipment, he told of the time Roach first acquired a broadside. This light was the object of great curiosity and interest—visitors were brought over to see it—the solitary light was turned on and everyone exclaimed: "See! Notice what a difference it makes!" Now a hundred broadsides would hardly create a ripple of interest.

* * *

BARROWS related, in the course of our chat, an incident which shows the trivial causes and coincidences which often lead to important consequences in this business. Not so long ago, when he was directing comedies for Hal Roach, featuring a group of beautiful girls, Barrows had occasion to take chiropractic treatment. On several of these occasions he encountered a young girl whose beauty was so striking as to be exceptional, even in Hollywood. He obtained an opportunity for her at the Roach Studios and she made good. A year ago she obtained a minor role in a feature. Today she is a star, and a rising one. Several pages devoted to her will be found in the Fox announcement elsewhere in this issue, the young lady being Olive Borden.

Joseph P. Kennedy, chairman of the Film Booking Offices of America, Inc.

THERE are several indications that before long the smaller theatres will have the opportunity of obtaining musical accompaniment for their pictures of a type that they cannot now afford or accommodate. De Forest has been working on this problem for some time, along the lines of photographing the musical accompaniment of a large orchestra on the edge of the film, using the Phono Film principle, and this week comes the announcement of the formation of a corporation by Warner Brothers, in conjunction with Western Electric and the A. T. & T., to bring out an apparatus perfected by the three companies for this purpose. This provides for sound records independent of the film itself but perfectly synchronized with the picture, by which the playing of a large orchestra can be faithfully reproduced in the theatre.

More than a year ago, members of the editoral staff of "The News" were permitted to hear the sound reproduction system developed by Western Electric, at which time the results obtained were a marvel of naturalness and freedom from all mechanical noise.

* * *

CARL E. MILLIKEN, former Governor of Maine and now secretary of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., was a speaker at the Tuesday session of the Indiana Indorsers of Photoplays in Fort Wayne, Ind., and told his listeners some valuable truths about the progress of motion pictures.

"The time has come," said Mr. Milliken, "when we who are interested in the motion picture—you and I and the rest of the great movie-going public—can say, with just pride, that the battle has been won and that the motion picture has come into its very own. And let it be remembered that what has been accomplished has been accomplished by the workers; not by the knockers. The men and women who have given constructive service to the development of the screen and left the destructive methods to those who did not understand, or who did not care to understand, are responsible for the development and deserving of the credit.

"The motion picture has arrived," Mr. Milliken continued. "It has come into its own. The current productions and those planned for the future speak for themselves—the pictures and the 130,000,000 satisfied patrons who are viewing them in this country every week."

* * *

THE work of supporting the truly good, however, must go on, Governor Milliken warned.

"Each individual, in his sphere," he said, "must work toward a greater aim. The public's work must go on, just as the work of the producer must go on, and those forces which have moved ahead must continue to move ahead with the same careful and guided footsteps."

Mr. Milliken pointed out that recent reports from Mexico had shown the moving picture was replacing bullfighting as a national pastime in that country, and he called particular attention to the broad use of American films in other countries.

"It is not too far-fetched to say that the motion picture may be the world's greatest implement against future wars and strifes. The picture is a universal language, and it helps break down prejudice and race antipathies. When we learn to know one another we do not hate one another, and when we do not hate we do not make war."

* * *

HE briefly sketched the developments in the motion picture industry since the last meeting of the Indiana Indorsers of Photoplays. He told of the recent action of the drama committee of the Federal Council of Churches in calling a conference of representatives of the stage, the silent drama and the church to devise ways and means of developing the potentialities for good in amusements. The co-operation, which is to be based on support of the best, is directly in line, he said, with the co-operation existing for more than a year between the motion picture industry and such groups as the Federal Council of Churches, the Catholic societies and historical groups.

He also told of the establishment, within the last year, of a Religious Motion Picture Foundation which is to produce and distribute special pictures for the churches, and of the important step taken by the Eastman Kodak Company, of Rochester, N. Y., a member of the Hays organization, in the development of teaching films for class-room use. The Eastman company, he said, will have the best educators available and will produce pictures correlated with selected courses of study and in accordance with a definite educational plan.

Clayton P. Sheehan, manager of Fox Films foreign Department, which, as anyone who knows the foreign field will tell you, is quite some department

Lovely Norma Shearer (the adjective is almost superfluous), now starring in "The Waning Sex" for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer poses with her pets

Vera Steadman, Christie leading lady in comedies for Educational, is not only a charming actress but the holder of numerous swimming championships

PICTURES AND PEOPLE

J. SCHNITZER DINNER

J. I. SCHNITZER, senior vice-president of Film Booking Offices, who recently returned from an extended stay at the Hollywood studios, was given a rousing welcome home last Friday night by a group in the home office which made him the guest of honor at a dinner in the Twin Oaks Restaurant in New York.

The speeches were few in number and entirely informal. Charlie Rosenzweig acted as master of ceremonies, while Lou Baum, president of Ellbee, added to the fun. Schnitzer responded appreciatively to the words of welcome.

Singing, aided by John Brownell and Harry Osborne, filled a portion of the evening. Harry threw a scare into the guests when he brought in what purported to be a fine portrait in oils of Schnitzer, painted by Leo Quanchi, stumbled and put his knee through it. Then he returned and brought in the real painting, the other having been a "double" arranged for the stunt.

Those present to welcome Schnitzer home included: Al Mayer, of Photo Reproducers; Harry Heppe, of Elco Geletone; Lou Baum, of Ellbee; Dave O'Malley, also of Ellbee; Charles Rosenzweig, Leo Quanchi, Harry Takiff, James Farrah, Dave Strumpf, Hyatt Daab, Harry Osborne, Edward McNamee, Phil Hodes, Al Tuchman, Joe Nolan, John C. Brownell, Leslie Jordan, Ed Horn, Dan Nolan, Gus Meyer, Manfred Lee and Wallace Ham.

TRIBUTE TO ABRAMS

WHEN the folks in the old home town still think you're good, you must be. The folks who "knew you when" are rarely impressed by later

Watterson R. Rothacker, who has celebrated his sixteenth film anniversary by an important consolidation of interests with another powerful group. "Watty" is the original trans-Atlantic commuter, having originated a custom now practically universal in the film industry

Hilda Ferguson, Follies dancer, who will appear in Burkhardt's Plastic Films, under arrangements made by Rudolph Flothow and M. H. Hoffman, of Tiffany

Sandow, the newest canine star, who will be featured in six Van Pelt features for Chesterfield Productions to be released through Associated Exhibitors

Lya de Putti, as Lady Sybil in D. W. Griffith's Paramount picture, "The Sorrows of Satan," wears this striking dance frock of silver lace

Director W. S. Van Dyke gives Dorothy Windsor, Mary Louise Jones, Anne Cornwell and Gareth Hughes instructions for the first scene of "The Totem Pole Beggar," in production at the H. C. Weaver Studios, Tacoma, for Associated Exhibitors achievements in the outside world. Which makes all the more remarkable a piece of splendid local recognition given Hiram Abrams, president of United Artists Corporation, in the Portland, Me., Evening Express of April 12.

This newspaper published a half-column story, treating of the recent seventh anniversary of United Artists as an event of interest to the citizens of Portland, emphasizing the success of Abrams in bringing the corporation to its present position in the industry.

Abrams began his business career in Portland, and the citizens of the Maine metropolis have watched his progress since that time with continued interest and appreciation.

MAJOR A. W. WARNER

MILITARY salutes are in order these days around the offices of Warner Bros. at 1600 Broadway. The reason is that A. W. Warner, the treasurer, has been notified officially of his appointment to the rank of Major in the Reserve Section of the Signal Corps, U. S. A. Major Warner will be assigned to the Photographic Section of the Signal Corps, and will go to Washington in a few days to confer with officials concerning his new duties.

Johnny Hines confers the Order of the Brown Derby on John C. Jones, First National representative in Sydney, Australia. By a curious coincidence, Herb Crooker informs us confidentially, the title of Johnny's next picture for First National is "The Brown Derby"

STARRING THE SHORTS

ONCE again, this week, the only asterisks to be awarded by the National Board of Review go to short subjects. The first is Educational's Pat Sullivan cartoon, "Felix the Cat Misses the Cue," while the other is Pathe Review No. 19, which includes The Danube's course through the Austrian Wachau; tumbling tricks in an outdoor gymnasium; and Ancient Greece Today, in color.

DE MILLE VS. BREASTED

UPON the return from Egypt this week of Dr. James Henry Breasted, the director of the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago announced that he had failed to find any archeological record there of the Deluge, or Great Flood. Cecil B. De Mille therefore announces that he will invite Dr. Breasted to the opening performance of "The Deluge," his next special, to witness with his own eyes conclusive proof that there was a Flood, and a whopping big one.

Little Mary Hay Barthelmess arrives in Hollywood to visit her father, Richard Barthelmess, First National star. She will remain with him during the summer

"MIDNIGHT SUN" RISES

LAST Friday evening saw one of Broadway's most crowded picture premiere's when "The Midnight Sun" rose at the Colony Theatre—not at midnight, however, but at a few minutes of nine. Broadway from 52nd to 53rd was well packed with onlookers waiting to see their screen favorites, many of them lingering until it was all over, hoping for another glimpse.

Laura LaPlante and Pat O'Malley, co-stars in the production, were present at the opening, and were enthusiastically received when they were introduced from the front boxes during the intermission. Russian tea with all the trimmings was served at the rear of the orchestra and in the tea shop next door. A colorful music score by Dr. Edward Kilenyi added much to the presentation, as did the preliminary tableau by Jack Savage.

CASTING OFFICE A SUCCESS

HOLLYWOOD'S new clearing house for extra talent, the Central Casting Corporation, sponsored by the Will Hays organization, has recently been put to a strenuous test by Famous Players and has emerged with flying colors. In one day Paramount officials asked for the following, on short notice: 1,000 extra people for "Old Ironsides," 500 well groomed men and women for a theatre audience in "Love's Magic," 200 players for the "Beau Geste" unit, 200 for "Born to the West," and 80 to go on location with the "Mantrap" company. And the Central Casting Office came through on schedule with the desired players.

UNPUBLISHED MSS.

HECTOR TURNBULL, associate Paramount producer, left Hollywood on April 28 for New York to spend three weeks in conference with famous authors and book publishers, reading unpublished story manuscripts on which Famous may want options.

The period of story purchase has steadily been pushed forward. Once stories were filmed only after the copyright had expired. Then the purchase of old established favorites still in copyright began. Competition forced the purchase dates closer and closer to publication dates, until producers began buying stories before it was established whether or not they would become best sellers. Then, in more recent times, companies have been reading stories in galley proof before publication. Now comes the final step—the purchase of an option while the story is still in manuscript form. The only further development possible is the purchase of the story before it is written—in other words, the simple and logical transition to the original screen story, conceived in terms of what the screen can do. And we venture to predict that two years will see that development far on the way.

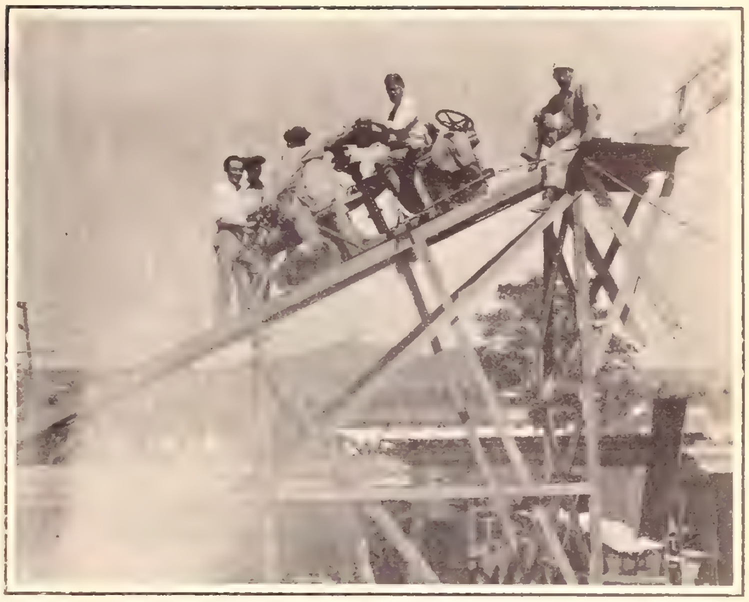
GREEN & MOORE AGAIN

FOR the fourth time, ten days will find Colleen Moore and Director Alfred E. Green working in association on a First National picture. They are just finishing "Ella Cinders," and will start "Delicatessen," which Julian Josephson is adapting. Green also directed Miss Moore in "Sally" and in "Irene," which proved definitely that he can bring out a certain comedy strain in her work which no other director has quite succeeded in doing. The combination is a happy one, and augurs well for "Delicatessen."

I. L. Walenstein, F. B. O. exchange manager at Boston, is entertained by Joe Rock, comedy producer, during his visit to Los Angeles for the F. B. O. convention; left to right, in the rear, "Fatty" Alexander, "Kewpie" Ross and "Fat" Karr; seated, Mr. Walenstein, Lois Boyd and Rock

M. P. S. M. ANNUAL BALL

MEMBERS of the Motion Picture Studio Mechanics, Local No. 52, including electricians, grips and property men, will hold their annual ball and entertainment Saturday evening, May 1, at the Commodore, beginning with a dinner at 8. John T. Doran, chairman of the ball committee, announces that a distinguished group of stars has promised to be on hand, including Gloria Swanson, Milton Sills, Thomas Meighan, Carol Dempster, Doris Kenyon, Bebe Daniels, Adolphe Menjou, Richard Dix, Ricardo Cortez, W. C. Fields and May Allison. Joseph J. Fagan is secretary of the ball committee, and others in charge are Charles O'Loughlin, chairman of the souvenir program committee, and August Kramer, chairman of the lighting committee. The proceeds will go to the union's sick and death benefit fund. Tickets may be purchased at $5 each at No. 152 East 121st Street, Room 103.



A difficult gyroscope shot on an incline for the Fox Films production, "Thirty Below Zero," which was the last made by Buck Jones before he started on his trip abroad

MADGE TO VACATION

PERHAPS the most excited young person in all Hollywood the past week has been Madge Bellamy—for after a season of triumphs that has seen her develop into a vivid, vital screen figure, she has been given her first real vacation, and left the Fox studio this week for New York, from where she will sail on the Aquitania, May 5, for a few weeks in Europe. She will just hit the high spots this time—sort of picking out the places she will go when she can take time for a real trip—including Paris, Vienna, Deauville, Monte Carlo, Rome and London. She has had a busy year, having played the featured role in nine productions, including "Sandy" and her latest, "Black Parade."

OH, TO BE IN PARIS-----

JUST now, with a hint of springtime in the air bringing thoughts of the boulevard and a restless hint of wanderlust, comes a postcard from Director Paul Scardon in Paris telling of the wonderful time he has been having. Ah, well! Someone must stay in New York. Scardon expects to sail for home about the middle of May.

Rin-Tin-Tin, the Warner Brothers dog star, was taken down to City Hall to meet the Mayor of New York, James J. Walker, and a delegation of Boy Scouts, attracting a considerable crowd. He is seen here with the Mayor and Lee Duncan, his owner and educator

Stellar personalities who will brighten the releases of Producers Distributing Corporation during the coming season; left to right: Marie Prevost and Priscilla Dean, stars in Metropolitan Productions; Jetta Goudal, Leatrice Joy, Rod La Rocque and Vera Reynolds, stars for Cecil B. De Mille

HILDA IN THE PLASTICS

AS a result of the interest shown in Burkhardt's Plastic Films, a screenless film novelty in which the illusion of stereoscopic effect is strikingly created, Rudolph Flothow advises us that a new and more ambitious series will be filmed shortly at the Tec-Art studios in New York. M. H. Hoffman of Tiffany, who brought these out in conjunction with the inventor, has signed up Hilda Ferguson, the Ziegfeld Follies featured beauty, to appear in four of her dances—and if you have ever seen Hilda dance you will follow us when we say that she should fit the "Plastic Films" like the proverbial glove.

"T. T. P. B." IS STARTED

ACTUAL shooting began last Monday on "The Totem Pole Beggar" at the H. C. Weaver studios in Tacoma, being directed by W. S. Van Dyke for Associated Exhibitors release, with a cast including Wanda Hawley, Anne Cornwall, Gareth Hughes, Tom Santschi and Dan Mason. Several important exterior scenes will be filmed in the vicinity of Longmire and Paradise Valley on Mount Tacoma, just 72 miles from the studio. In addition, many beautiful sets already stand on the big stage, awaiting their turn.

WORD FROM DAVE

THE genial manager of Universal's sales accessories department, Dave Bader, postcards greetings from Seattle, with the notation that he is out letting the world know that Universal's accessories are the best ever. Best wishes, Dave, and hurry back to Broadway!

Fred Humes, Universal Western star, makes up under the critical eyes of Del Andrews, who is directing him in "The Yellow Back" at Universal City

A NEW TABLOID

THE title of Universal's new picture, "The Midnight Sun," lent itself to an exploitation stunt last week which made New Yorkers think for a time that their three tabloid dailies, the Daily News, the Mirror and the Graphic, had been joined by a fourth, The Midnight Sun.

Issued in the precise style of the illustrated tabloids, the paper was gotten into the hands of thousands of theatre and night club patrons, notifying them, all unaware, of the opening of the picture at the Colony. In addition to stills from the picture, suitably captioned in intriguing style, lurid headlines were on every page, such as "Steel King Abducts Beautiful Dancing Girl," "Guns Roar as Warship Fires on Private Yacht," "Tyrant's Whim Dooms Innocent Youth" and "I Want No Man's Favors, Says Dancing Toy." A hundred thousand of these were distributed, in all, contributing in no small measure to the opening.

RATHBONE-BERGERE NUPTIALS

HOWARD HIGGIN, directing "The Great Deception" for Robert Kane at the Cosmopolitan Studios, put in last Sunday attending the wedding of Basil Rathbone, the actor, and Ouida Bergere, who will need no introduction in the industry. The wedding was set for Sunday, because on Monday Rathbone was under contract to start working in the Kane picture which Higgin is directing. Quite considerately, however, Higgin didn't make the Monday call for too early.

SILLS TURNS ANNOUNCER

MILTON SILLS has turned radio announcer. Have no fear, however, for he has not abandoned the screen, nor is he likely to. The occasion was the annual Actor's Equity affair at the Metropolitan Opera House last Sunday. Sills announced each Broadway and picture star over the air, and each act of the entire afternoon and evening bill, all of which was broadcast. He will start soon on "Paradise."

THE LITTLEST BARTHELMESS

RICHARD BARTHELMESS has been joined on the coast by little Mary Hay Barthelmess, whose picture is reproduced here this week, and in honor of the occasion Barthelmess has taken a house at Santa Monica for the summer. He has been vacationing for a few days at the Grand Canyon with Ronald Colman, and returns to Hollywood shortly to commence work on "The Amateur Gentleman."

MIKE SIMMONS, JR.

AN arrival in film ranks last week was Michael Simmons, Jr., born to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Simmons, Sr. Michael, Sr., is a member of the Daily Review editorial staff. Mother and son are doing unusually well, but Mike, having no chance now to make himself heard at home, has turned to radio broadcasting as an outlet for his vocal prowess.

Pool of 240 Theatres Being Formed by First Nat'l.

Merger of Stanley, Mark, Fabian and Rowland & Clark Interests First Step in Reported Nationalization Plan

FORMATION of a big theatre pool or consolidation of about 240 theatres, with Jules E. Mastbaum, Moe Mark, Jacob Fabian and James B. Clark as the leading figures, is well under way, according to authoritative information received by Motion Picture News this week. This is the first step in the long-expected nationalization of theatres allied with First National.

It is understood a holding company will be formed. The financing has already been arranged for, The News understands, and it will be handled by Edward B. Smith & Company, of Philadelphia, and Hayden, Stone & Company, New York, through Richard Hoyt, who was elected to the First National Board of Directors at the recent Atlantic City Convention.

For the present, the plan contemplates the merger of the Stanley-Fabian-Mark-Rowland & Clark holdings. Full opportunity will be given for the working out of the plan in the East. Extensions to other parts of the country are then to be made, it is expected.

If these extensions materialize, they would bring in West Coast Theatres, Inc., Finkelstein & Ruben in the Northwest, and the Saxe Brothers in Milwaukee and surrounding territory. The details of this revolutionary step are not yet clear in their entirety, but there can be no doubt, according to sources usually well-informed, that the Eastern plan is well-formulated. It received a big push forward at the Atlantic City Convention and was one of the chief topics discussed by franchiseholders there.

The pool would bring into one group the strongest single circuit in the East and one of the biggest in the country. It would solidify First National theatre interests in New York City, Newark, Albany, Buffalo, Syracuse, Washington, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, and many lesser cities, and would include New England through the Mark holdings there.

Fabian Buys 50% Interest in Pollack-Bratter

JACOB FABIAN is said to have bought this week a 50% interest in five of the Pollack-Bratter theatres in New Jersey. This deal involves property valued around $3,000,000, and Fabian announces that further deals are pending with the same company.

This is the first entry of the firm into the neighborhood field and with this purchase by Fabian goes complete management of the theatres and property purchased.

The real estate and houses include the New Roosevelt, now being built in Newark; the Oritani in Hackensack, with 17 stores and 26 offices; the Embassy in Orange, with 12 stores and 21 offices making up the real estate; the Harrison now building in East Orange, and the Hawthorne in Newark, to which six stores and 12 offices are being added and which will be opened within two months.

One of the most important key cities in the plan is Pittsburgh, where Rowland & Clark will soon begin the construction of a twenty story building which will house a 4,000 seat theatre, one of the finest in America.

After the try-out of the Eastern pool, the extensions that now seem fairly certain to other sections of the country would nationalize about 450 theatres, divided among the various interests as follows, according to the statistical records of Motion Picture News:

West Coast Theatres	162
Stanley (including Crandall)	100
Finkelstein & Ruben	75
Saxe Brothers	40
Fabian (with new acquisitions)	37
Rowland & Clark	20
Mark	18
Total	452

Considered by territorial divisions, the Far West would be represented by West Coast Theatres, which would, according to the nationalization plan, extend eastward as far as Denver. In the Middle West, the pool's interests would center about the Saxe theatres, while the East would be virtually covered complete through the Mastbaum-Mark-Rowland & Clark-Fabian deal.

The nationalization scheme has been brought about, according to the best information, through two principal causes: first, the desire of the controlling factors in First National to prevent, if possible, further defections from the ranks of original franchise-holders through mergers with interests considered more or less "outside the family"; and, second, the recent developments in circuit presentation and management which are the outstanding features of the kaleidoscopic changes in the theatre map.

The details of the financing of this gigantic deal are, naturally, not yet revealed, but it is known that they have been fully discussed, and it is quite possible, have been determined upon.

Walter Reid Acquires Red Bank House

Walter Reid, large theatre owner in New Jersey, recently purchased from Joseph Stern a new fireproof theatre, store and office building now in the course of construction at Monmouth Street, Red Bank, at a cost of $480,000.

This gives Reid thirty theatres under his personal direction and will be added to his chain in Trenton, New Brunswick, Asbury Park, Long Branch, Perth Amboy, Plainfield and Freehold.

The house is being built by Joseph Oschwald and William H. Lehman, and will be ready for occupancy about August 15 of this year.

Bank & Queen Street, Ltd. Incorporated in Ontario

The change in ownership of B. F. Keith's Theatre, Ottawa, Ontario, necessitated the organization of a new holding company to replace Ottawa Theatres, Limited, which was organized four years ago under Marcus Loew auspices. The new company, which has been incorporated under the Ontario Companies Act, is the "Bank and Queen Street Realty, Limited", the company being incorporated for $700,000. The Ottawa theatre was purchased by the Keith-Albee interests a few weeks ago for $537,000.

Golf Tournament Planned For Seattle

As a result of the success of the 1925 tournaments, plans are now under way in Seattle, Washington, for the first 1926 golf tournament between the Seattle and Portland film and theatre representatives. Seattle's team is under the direction of R. S. Stackhouse, while the Portland team is headed by Bill Grasper. The first match was scheduled for the latter part of April in Portland.

K.C. Missouri Holds Convention

Two Day Session, April 20-21, at Joplin, Mo.; Biechele Re-elected President

THE M. P. T. O. Kansas-Missouri took another progressive step forward at its eighth annual convention in Joplin, Mo., April 20 and 21. More was done to promote and preserve harmony within the ranks of the industry than at any previous meeting. In adopting a new constitution, only minor changes of a technical nature were made.

In an open meeting of exchange men and exhibitors, the exploitation men came forth with the offer to co-operate with theatre owners at all times, whether the picture being shown was one of their company's or not. This action was lauded. The convention moved that President Biechele attend the M. P. T. O. A. convention in Los Angeles.

The resolutions adopted were few, the ones of most importance being the approval of accepting managers of producer-owned theatres as members of the M. P. T. O. K-M and the approval of the M. P. O. K-M directors in having a counsel attend arbitration board meetings where technical points of law are involved.

A pointed address was delivered by the Rev. Clifford K. Titus of Joplin.

The Walter O. Burkey-Paramount case, in which the validity of the Kansas City Arbitration Board is being tested, was reviewed, but no definite action taken. The case now is in the Supreme Court of Missouri.

Subjects of discussion were the music tax and action taken to put forth every effort toward amending the act so a maximum fee of five dollars per year could be charged for copyrighted music. Producer-owned and controlled theatres were admitted to the united membership with the reservation that they be entitled to one vote but not to hold offices. Discussing of looked for ten per cent. tax at next legislature of both Kansas and Missouri for educational purposes resulted in special committee with chairman from each State to get busy on same. Representatives of insurance companies presented their propositions which will be handled bv committee appointed by incoming president.

R. R. Bechele of Kansas City, Kans., was reelected president for third term; Jay Means, Kansas City, Mo., first vice-president; Harry McClure, Emporia, Kans., elected second vice-president, and Chas. Bull, Wichita, Kans., fourth vice-president. Following elected board of directors: C. R. Wilson, Liberty, Mo.; E. E. Frazer, Pittsburg, Kans.; R. G. Liggett, Kansas City, Kans.; G. L. Hooper, Topeka, Kans.; Ben Levy, Joplin, Mo.; Barney Dubinsky, Jefferson City, Mo.; Harry McClure, Emporia, Kans.; Jack Truitt, Sedalia, Mo., and L. J. Lenhart, Kansas City, Mo. Fred Meyn was reelected treasurer and Edward Peskay, recording secretary.

Great Number From Mid-West

225 Theatre Owners from Great Lakes Region to Attend M.P.T.O. Convention

FIGURES were presented to Joseph M. Seider, business manager of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America, which show that actually 225 theatre owners from the Mid-West will attend the Los Angeles convention, by E. Thornton Kelly, head of the contact bureau of the organization, upon his return to National headquarters this week after a week spent in a tour of the Mid-Western capitols.

Kelly says that the main reason for the strong showing to be made by these exhibitors is because they are apprehensive for their box offices during the ensuing year because of ever-increasing theatre encroachments.

"These men are going to the Coast with pleasure in a secondary capacity," Kelly reported to the Business Manager. "Most of the leaders I interviewed and those of the rank and file whom I addressed stated frankly that they would go to the Coast on June 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 for the chief purpose of trying to work out some solution to the Independent Theatre Owners' predicament and seeking advice from the Convention. Wherever I went the subjects of importance sounded home to me were about encroachments and contract."

Announcements from national headquarters of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners' Association this week convey news of the perfecting of plans for the national convention, which will be held in Los Angeles on June 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5, at the Ambassador Hotel. One of the results expected of this, the seventh annual convention, is the affiliation of five new States with the national organization. States included are Virginia, Oklahoma, Louisiana and New Mexico.

Due to the pleas of many theatre owners that a thirty-two-day excursion of the country, including the direct passage to the seventh annual convention of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America in Los Angeles, would require too much time and that such an absence would have a reactionary effect in many box offices, Business Manager Joseph M. Seider at national headquarters announces that the country-wide tour of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners' special has been cut down to exactly twenty days.

While national headquarters is busy arranging train and hotel accommodations for the conventionees, Glenn Harper is busy in Los Angeles arranging novel surprises for the visitors.

Film Conditions in Far Off Sudan

A report received by the Department of Commerce from R. A. May, Trade Commissioner, Alexandria, has some interesting things to say concerning film conditions in far off Sudan.

There are but two motion picture houses in this part of Egypt, the "Cinema Skating Rink and Theatre," which seats about five hundred, and the "Cinema Omdurman" at Omdurman, which has a seating capacity of two hundred. Both are open air houses and are generally open but once a week for the showing of pictures.

The British garrison in the Sudan, the Coptic Church at Khartoum and a few other private organizations form the small market for the distribution of films by Cairo film agencies and distributors. Films are usually only rented with the rentals fluctuating between $25 and $50 according to the picture and its popularity. American adventure films are the most popular with the natives, love dramas running second.

Boylan May Become Chairman of Ontario Board

Time and consideration will be given to the appointment of a censor to the vacancy on the Ontario Board of Moving Picture Censors caused by the death of Major A. S. Hamilton, chairman, it was declared by Hon. W. H. Price, Ontario Provincial Treasurer, at Toronto, April 24.

J. C. Boylan, vice-chairman of the board, who had been acting chairman during Major Hamilton's absence in recent weeks, will probably be appointed chairman, it was intimated by Col. Price.

Steel Work Begun on New Roxy Theatre

On Thursday morning, April 22nd, the first steel columns for the new Roxy Theatre were erected with Roxy himself attending the ceremony. Approximately forty-seven tons of steel will be used for the framework of the theatre which is being rushed for completion late next fall.

The Chanin Construction Co. are the builders and Walter W. Ahlschlager is the architect.

Rittenberg to Sever Jersey City Connections

Arnold S. Rittenberg, secretary of the A. M. P. A. and advertising man, has resigned from his Jersey City connections, effective May 15th. He has been director of publicity and advertising for the Fulton Theatre company since its inception five years ago and for the past three years has also been treasurer of the Culmert Theatre company, an affiliated. His future plans have not been disclosed.

Warner Relinquishes Lease on Cleveland Circle

The Warner Bros. lease on the Circle Theatre has been relinquished and ownership of the theatre reverts back to the original owners with Martin Printz as general manager.

Harmony Reigns in Exhibitor Ranks

Seider and Woodhull to Attend Northwest Convention on Invitation of Steffes---Allied Bloc at Los Angeles

HARMONY again reigns in the ranks of organized exhibitors. The outward proof is found in the announcement this week that, upon the urgent request of W. A. Steffes, president of the M. P. T. O. of the Northwest, President R. F. Woodhull and Business Manager Joseph M. Seider, of the national organization, will attend the Northwest convention at Minneapolis, May 4 and 5. Their attendance has been authorized by the M. P. T. O. A. administrative committee.

The Northwest convention will elect delegates to attend the national convention of the M. P. T. O. A. Other States which belong to the allied group will also be represented and will form a bloc at Los Angeles. They will come with their own program and will participate fully in the convention, which, Business Manager Seider has declared, will be wide open to all delegates.

Back of the new peace pact which the exhibitor leaders have entered is a story of steady determination to secure harmony in which Mr. Seider has been engaged ever since he took office as business manager. The fruits of this effort are now apparent, and they will have a vital bearing on the Los Angeles convention.

"I am satisfied the organization means business and can accomplish something at the convention," Mr. Steffes declared in Minneapolis this week.

Mr. Steffes is bending every effort to secure a big delegation of theatre owners from the Northwest, and a large turnout is also expected from the other States in the allied bloc: Michigan, Texas, Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois and Kansas-Missouri.

The Minneapolis convention will take on a national aspect because of the presence of Messrs. Seider and Woodhull. It is expected that a group of Western leaders from other States will also be on hand.

From a national angle, the other big development of the week in organization affairs was the special session of the M. P. T. O. A. administrative committee, held at Pittsburgh, April 19, and lasting fourteen hours. At the same time members of the Western Pennsylvania unit of the national organization were in State convention. The executive committee took no action on the booking plan suggested by Frank Rembusch, of Indiana. This action was attributed to insufficient information on the subject. The committee, however, went on record as protesting Rembusch's use of the term, "Monroe Doctrine of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America," because of the fact that such description was unauthorized by the national organization.

The stand taken by Business Manager Seider and national headquarters against the promiscuous adding of clauses to the standard exhibition contract was unanimously endorsed by the administrative commitee, which included A. J. Brylawski, Harry Davis, R. F. Woodhull, S. S. Cohen, M. J. O'Toole and J. M. Seider.

The leaders, while at Pittsburgh, appointed an official convention committee, which comprises Joseph M. Seider, chairman; R. F. Woodhull, Sydney S. Cohen and A. J. Brylawski. It was determined that one session of the Los Angeles convention on June 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 will be devoted to the discussion of producers' product. Through the official bulletin, exhibitors who will not be able to attend the seventh annual convention of the national organization are urged to submit thir ideas and questions on classes of pictures to the business manager as soon as possible, so that he may be able to present such data in the convention hall for the consideration of conventionees.

The administrative committee, while at Pittsburgh, also directed that invitations to the Los Angeles convention be extended Will H. Hays and Mayor James Walker, of the City of New York.

Fox to Hold Six Regional Conventions

Sessions Over Week-end in New York, Washington, D. C., Cleveland, Chicago, Kansas City and Memphis; Grainger Issues Statement

IN accordance with plans formulated at the Fox Films national convention in Los Angeles recently, six regional conventions, covering twenty-five exchange centers, will be held over the week-end. James R. Grainger, general sales manager, and Fred C. Quimby, short subject sales manager, will preside at the eastern district meeting at the Hotel Astor, New York, on Saturday at which forces in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Albany and New Haven will be represented.

Washington, Charlotte and Pittsburgh representatives will attend the session at the Hotel Washington in the Capitol over which District Manager George W. Fuller and George Roberts, assistant short subject sales manager, will preside. E. C. Grainger will meet the Cincinnati, Buffalo, Detroit and Cleveland representatives at the Hotel Statler, Cleveland.

The Chicago meeting will be at the Hotel Drake, in charge of District Manager Clyde W. Eckhardt, with Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis and Indianapolis men present. Omaha, St. Louis, and Kansas City forces will gather at the Hotel Muelbach, Kansas City, with Max Milder of the home office in charge. The other meeting will be at Memphis, with representations from that city, New Orleans, Dallas, Oklahoma City and Atlanta in charge of District Manager Lou Remy.

James R. Grainger has returned to his office in New York filled with enthusiasm at the general outlook, as set before him in Los Angeles. Plans that he put in operation in the various branches throughout the country are well along. Before leaving San Francisco Grainger issued the following statement:

"We are meeting with an enthusiastic reception all along the line. I am convinced that the Fox sales organization is more enthusiastic for the new season's product than ever before in the history of the organization."

"We have come in contact with our studio executives, stars and directors and every man on leaving Hollywood is sold 100 per cent. They all prophesy tthe greatest season in the history of the company.

"During the convention, William Fox made the declaration to all managers present that in large cities where a monopoly of exhibition existed and where Fox product was not rightfully placed, he would build theatres to insure proper presentation."

Grainger expressed himself as being especially pleased at the comprehensive grasp of his plans shown by all managers, and the suggestions made during the Los Angeles convention. Grainger feels that the deadwood has been eliminated and that high-powered efficiency is in evidence throughout the organization.

Winfield R. Sheehan, general manager, now being able to devote all of his time to production matters, has systematized that department to such an extent that all product "would be out on time" and in some cases ahead of schedule.

According to the Fox forces the receptions in Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco and every stop-over proved the high regard in whiih the company is held. The banquet at the Hotel Ambassador, Los Angeles, was described in the daily newspapers as "the biggest ever held in Los Angeles."

It was at San Francisco however that the Fox men were accorded such a wholehearted reception as to cause them to wonder if they hadn't been mistaken for "heroes home from war," as one of the party put it.

Chief of Police O'Brien sent a squadron of his bluecoats and motorcycle cops to escort the party from train to hotel. The freedom of the city in the truest sense was given them. "There are no cautionary words" a city father declared, "because we know there is no need for any. You all can do as you please—and you all, we are sure, will please us by so doing."

In many sight-seeing tours in the Golden Gate city the party always was accompanied by motorcycle escort.

H. M. Richey

RICHEY AGAINST OVERSEATING;

Calls Special Exhibitor Meeting

ON top of more than a score of announcements regarding new theatres to be built in Detroit this spring comes an official warning from the M. P. T. O. of Michigan regarding the danger of overseating.

A special meeting was called by H. M. Richey, manager of the association, last week, to discuss means of enlightening the public about the danger of over speculation in theatre holdings and especially in investing money on propositions where builders have had no theatrical experience. One of the embryo plans is a campaign through the newspapers apprising the public of local conditions.

"Do you know that if the present situation keeps up, Detroit will be as much or more overseated than Chicago?" queried Mr. Richey in a bulletin letter to his membership.

"Plans are now under way," he continued, "for some 25 new theatres totalling 45,000 seats, to be built in Detroit this spring.

"If this condition continues, an unhealthy condition is bound to result to the discredit of the industry in general. No one can stand in the way of healthy expansion of the business. No one wants to, but when theatres are built without regard as to where the tenant is going to get the proper film service, vaudeville, etc., then it becomes dangerous."

Active Theatre Construction

In New England Territory Record Breaking Business of Past Season Causes Fervid Theatre Boom

CONSTRUCTION of new motion picture theatres throughout New England apparently has not reached its peak, for there appears to be an increasingly greater number week by week. The past season's business has broken all records despite depressions in some of the larger industries of New England, and the result is that additional playhouses are to be made available for next season.

E. R. Daniels and C. W. Hodgdon are erecting a new theatre on Franklin Street, Worcester, Mass., next door to the Bancroft Hotel, which will have a seating capacity in excess of 2,000.

Providence has under construction a new theatre, the Columbus, which is located on Broadway and will have a seating capacity of 2,000, to be opened early in the Fall.

Famous Players are to operate a new theatre in Pawtucket which will be known as the Stadium Theatre. This playhouse is somewhat out of the ordinary, in that it is being modelled after the Yale Bowl and Harvard Stadium and similar football fields.

The new Community Theatre, East Greenwich, R. I., is rapidly nearing completion and will soon be opened.

Ground was broken at North Adams, Mass., this week for a new theatre to be built by Mrs. G. M. Briggs who runs the Tyler Theatre at Pittsfield. The theatre will be erected in the rear of one of the city's principal business blocks and Mrs. Briggs has purchased a permanent right of way to the theatre from Main Street through one of these blocks. The house will seat about 2,000.

Work started this week on Owen Thornton's new theatre at Rocky Point, R. I.

In Olneyville, R. I., construction has started on a new theatre for Jake Cohn, who also operates Cohn's City Theatre.

S. Z. Poli has under construction a new theatre in Worcester, Mass., to be known as the Grand Theatre and which will seat upwards of 2,000.

A new theatre, which it is understood will be operated by Paramount interests, is nearing completion in Woonsocket, R. I., and will probably be opened early in the summer.

The Strand Theatre at Woonsocket, R. I., which was badly damaged by fire on New Year's day, is to be remodelled and practically rebuilt by its owners. It is to be made fireproof.

"U" Adds Omaha and Atlanta

Theatre Deals Closed; Net Earnings For 16 Weeks Reach $246,945 Figure

ANNOUNCEMENT was made this week, and confirmed by Universal, of the consummation of important deals by Universal Chain Theatres Corp. for first-run houses in Atlanta and Omaha, to be added to the 121 theatres understood to comprise the chain. A new house has also been opened at Orlando, Fla.

The Omaha deal, arranged through Isidore Ziegler and C. W. Hawkins, involves one of the most valuable sites in Omaha, known as the Reddick property, at Sixteenth and Harney streets. On this site Universal plans to erect Omaha's first motion picture theatre, to seat more than three thousand and to cost about $1,150,000. About fifty of the Universal theatres are located in the surrounding territory, and the new house will be the leader of this group.

The Atlanta arrangement is a 21-year lease on the theatre being erected by Asa Candler, Inc., in connection with the Macy business block under construction at Peachtree and Ellis streets. The location is a highly advantageous one. The theatre proper will be on Ellis Street, but will have an entrance also on Peachtree, Atlanta's chief thoroughfare.

The house is to cost about $400,000, and it is expected that Universal will expend another $200,000 on equipment. The seating capacity will be approximately 2,500. The contract calls for completion by March 1, 1927, and it is expected that both the theatre and the Macy store will open on April 15. A nursery, a playroom for children and smoking lounges will be included. The average yearly rental is understood to be $60,000. Stage and dressing room facilities will permit of handling any type of theatrical attraction.

On April 19, Universal opened the new Rialto Theatre at Orlanda, Fla., under 99-year lease, which replaces the American. This is an 820 seat house, leased at a yearly rental of $20,000 and equipped at a cost of $80,000. Universal also has the Beacham at Orlando.

The profit and loss statement for the first 16 weeks of operation of Universal Chain Theatres Corp., ending April 3, shows net earnings, before provision for Federal taxes, to be $246,945. After deduction for taxes this is at the rate of better than 2.1 times annual dividend requirements on the $4,000,000 first preferred stock outstanding. It is exclusive of income from 16 additional theatres since acquired.

Total assets were listed at $6,614,505, of which cash and money on call made up $4,277,705. Current assets were $4,295,961 and current liabilities, $440,525.

The Universal Chain Theatre Corporation announced another important deal late this week which marked the first entrance of this company into the Pacific Northwest, with the exception of the Columbia theatres in Seattle and Portland, acquired by Universal some years ago. The new deal is the acquisition of a half interest in the Multnomah Theatres Corporation of Portland, Ore., involving a reorganization which makes Carl Laemmle head of the company and places him in virtual control, especially as regards booking arrangements.

The Multnomah chain consists of eleven neighborhood houses of a high type, including the Egyptian, recently completed and the largest, the Venetian, the Granada, the Tivoli, the Gay, the Chaldean, the Echo, the Clint, the Alhambra, the Moreland and the Bob White.

Sunday Opening Defeated in Binghamton, N. Y.

The ordinance permitting the operation of moving picture theatres in Binghamton, N. Y., on Sunday after 2 o'clock in the afternoon was defeated in the Common Council, at its regular meeting, Monday, April 19, by a vote of 7 to 6, after acrimonious debate in which charges and counter-charges were flung about promiscuously.

Second Greater Movie Season Planned

Thirtieth Birthday of Moving Picture Industry to be Observed in Movement Sponsored by Hays Organization

SPONSORED by the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, the Hays organization, as it is commonly called, the thirtieth birthday of the motion picture will be observed this year throughout the United States in the second Greater Movie Season Celebration which will take place in August.

Greater Movie Season is being repeated because of the demand of thousands of exhibitors who took part last year and who benefitted substantially, says the Hays office, ranging from an increase in business of 10 per cent. in Baltimore to 60 per cent. in Colorado Springs.

Endorsement of the movement has been received from President Coolidge, who wrote:

"My attention has been called to the fact that you are taking the twenty-ninth anniversary of the moving picture industry as an occasion to inaugurate a Greater Movie Season Campaign. Such a movement to emphasize the desirability of worthy motion pictures will be of real public value.

"The progress that has been made in both education and entertainment in this tremendous enterprise is an outstanding achievement of the opening years of this century. I congratulate you and wish you a continuation of your success."

Due to the financial benefits accruing to newspapers through additional advertising during the first season a number of the dailies throughout the country voluntarily reported that they believe the season should be supported by all newspapers.

A number of letters have already been received this year from members of the Cabinet, governors, presidents of bodies of national importance and from other state and national officials congratulating the industry upon its thirtieth birthday and promising cooperation in the coming Greater Movie Season.

As was planned last year, the celebration will begin in August. The definite date for starting the celebration will be set by the local exhibitors who may hold their celebration in August, which was done in most of the communities last year, or in September, as was done in several of the Southern cities.

The service given to exhibitors this year will be similar to that of last year. A press book as complete as that issued last year is now being prepared under the direction of Jerome Beatty, who directed last year's campaign. A national contest will be conducted in newspapers throughout the country along the lines of that carried on during the first season.

A canvass of exhibitors shows that a great majority believes that the campaign should be conducted exactly as it was handled last year, says the Hays office. A number of exhibitors feel that the use of the same style of posters, banners, etc., is desirable each year, and for them last year's designs will be available. New designs will be on hand for exhibitors who want to use new material.

The press book and all accessories will be ready for exhibitors on June 1. At that time ten exploitation men will start out to help exhibitors to organize and to exploit Greater Movie Season.

Marcus Loew Buys Two in Baltimore

THE end of the deal between Marcus Loew and the Century Theatre Company for the purchase of the Century and Parkway theatres, controlled by that company and operated by the Whitehurst Theatrical Interests of Baltimore, Md., was closed on Tuesday, April 27, with the purchase price being $1,800,000.

The two playhouses, it is said, will be operated by the present management until September 1826; but after that complete control of the two theatres will be taken over by Loew.

New Music Program Device Perfected

Western Electric Company and Warner Brothers Announce Synchronization of Pictures with Reproduced Sound

AFTER years of research in the Bell Telephone Laboratories, the laboratories of the American Telephone and Telegraph company and the Western Electric Company announcement was made this week of the perfection of a system for the synchronization of motion pictures with reproduced sound and that is calculated to revolutionize the presentation of films in the largest as well as the smallest theatres.

A corporation has been formed by the Western Electric Company and Warner Brothers to manufacture and distribute the invention among theatre owners. The Board of Directors of this corporation are: Albert Warner, Waddill Catchings, Sam L. Warner, Eugene C. Rich, Walter J. Rich. The officers are: Walter J. Rich, President; Albert Warner, Treasurer; Sam L. Warner, First Vice-president; Eugene C. C. Rich, Second Vice-president; Abel Cary Thomas, Secretary. Thomas and Friedman, attorneys, acted as counsel in the organization of the corporation.

This new recording system is not confined to the presentation of pictures for it will be also available for use in the educational, commercial and religious fields as well as that of amusement. The invention will make possible in all theatres a full orchestration accompaniment to the picture regardless of the size or character of the house. The apparatus by which this new method of presentation is accomplished is said to offer no more complications from the standpoint of operation than an ordinary motion picture projector.

The system is reported to represent successful combination and conversion to film use of three major research developments, the electrical system of recording, the electrical reproducer which converts the movements of a needle in the grooves of a sound record into electrical vibrations, the electrical currents passing into an amplifier and operating a loud speaker, and the link between the reproducer and the audience which is an adaptation of the public address system.

Both film and sound device are set in their respective machines with a given marker in the proper place and the two machines are then speeded up from rest, together, by the simple method of having them coupled to opposite ends of the same motor. Two motors, however, are used for taking pictures. In developing the system it was necessary to perfect a method of making sound records which would run at least fifteen minutes without distortion of either the high or the low notes. Through the use of two reproducing machines alternately there will be no interruption, just as the reels of film are changed at the present time.

An important use of the new system will be in providing musical programs for motion pictures already taken. This is accomplished by projecting the picture in the usual way and recording the music, as previously cued, in synchronism with the projection instead of in synchronism with the photographing. Any picture which has ever been produced can be orchestrated and synchronized. The sound synchronization is not dependent on recording at the time of the exposure of the film.

Bill Introduced in St. Louis Would Tax Theatres

Alderman Samuel Wimer of St. Louis, Mo., has presented a bill to the Board of Aldermen to tax amusement receipts for city purposes. Restaurants and hotels would be taxed on cover charges.

Wimer seeks to substitute a tax of one mill on each 50 cents of gross admissions for the present flat tax of $150 a year charged theatres regardless of seating capacity. He estimates his measure will net the city $50,000 annual additional revenue.

Sunday Movies in Rhode Island

Passage of Lawton Bill Assures Open Houses on Sabbath; Easton Bill Killed

With Governor Pothier affixing his signature to the Lawton bill, permitting Sunday motion pictures in the theatres in all of the cities of Rhode Island except Pawtucket, the bill has become law. Gov. Pothier signed it Friday morning but there were no Sunday pictures in Rhode Island on Sunday because of the rush of business handled by the legislative clerks.

Boards of Police Commissioners or others having the licensing authority under the new bill were unable to secure attested or certified copies of the new bill in time to issue licenses before Sunday, hence they declined to issue such licenses and the first of the Sunday movies will thus take place the first Sunday in May.

The Lawton bill was passed by the Rhode Island Senate during the closing hours of the session of the Legislature late Friday night. It had already been passed by the House.

The Senate killed the Easton Bill, which the House had adopted after passing the Lawton bill, provisions of the Easton bill having the effect of nullifying the Lawton bill.

Spencer, Iowa, now has Sunday shows. The vote of the people decided that the theatre should show pictures on Sunday since the business interests suffered with the closed show. The Sunday show is expected to prove the most effective way to keep the people from leaving town on Sunday.

Urbana, Ill., on April 20, by a vote of 2,427 to 1,929, defeated Sunday movies. It was the heaviest vote in the history of the city. Boxing was legalized 1,952 to 1,864. Many University of Illinois students were challenged when they appeared to vote.

Prof. Shotwell Speaks on "What Price Glory"

In the opinion of Professor James T. Shotwell, editor of the history of the Great War which will be brought out by the Carnegie Endowment of International Peace, a print of "What Price Glory" will furnish a remarkable historical record. In a letter to Fox Films Professor Shotwell states:

"I am glad to learn that the Fox Film Corporation has undertaken to make a screened version of 'What Price Glory'. A print of that story, when completed, will furnish a remarkable record, as it deals with those parts of war history which have generally escaped the historian.

Barry Norton, Phyllis Haver, Emily Barrie and Matilda Comont have been added to the cast of the production according to word just received at the home office of Fox Films.

Hudson Sees Scenario Change

Believes Time is Coming When Continuity Writer Can Take as Much Time as Author

Motion pictures will be better when producers profit from the parallel that exists between the methods of scenario preparation and the methods employed by novelists and stage dramatists in so far as their objectives are concerned, according to Earl Hudson, who is now producing for First National on a four-picture-a-year basis.

Hudson, who in the past thirty-six months has turned out the record number of thirty-five productions, including such notable successes as "Flaming Youth," "So Big" and "The Lost World," makes some interesting observations based on his own experiences and those of others with whom he has been associated on present day production methods.

"The novelist," he says, "will take three months, six months or even a year in which to write a novel, employing with the most painstaking care his best literary technique in plot construction and character development.

"As a result of his six months or a year or more of intensive mental work and concentration, employing all of the artifices at his command, he produces something that becomes a best seller, and it is such because he has devoted all the time necessary and has gotten into it the values that are required in a best seller. Because it is a best seller, the public is interested in it, and discusses it, and it attains a popularity and publicity value that makes it very desirable as a motion picture vehicle.

"But now comes one of the greatest deterrents of present day scenario construction. The scenario writer is expected to take that novel and translate it into terms of action and do in from four to six weeks a visualization of the author's theme thought on which the novelist has spent months or longer in writing.

"The time is coming," continued Hudson, "when real writers will be permitted, by the very nature of the public demand for screen stories and screen story values that compare with the best published literary values, to have the same advantages in developing a scenario, in so far as time for revision again and again is concerned, that the author has in writing the book. Scenarios, like books or plays, should not be written; they should be re-written—and re-written again and again."

As to original stories for the screen, most of those available nowadays are pot boilers, according to Hudson. "The average person who writes an original," he says, "gets an idea and forthwith puts it down on a piece of paper and hurries it off to the producer in the next mail. Great stories are not developed that way. Successful novelists have tried their hand at scenario writing—and failed. This was because they did not take the screen seriously. But systems are changing, and there is every indication of a growing improvement and a better understanding of the requirements of the screen."

Earl Hudson, of First National

Clyde Cook has some odd moments in his current Pathe comedy, "Scared Stiff"

The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer convention in session at the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York City. At the speakers' table may be seen Felix Feist, Marcus Loew, Nicholas M. Schenck and Major Edward M. Bowes. In the ovals, left, Marcus Loew; right, Louis B. Mayer

M-G-M Lists Product at Convention

Fifty-two Pictures Announced for Coming Season, Including Eleven Specials; Marcus Loew Presides at Sessions

A THREE day convention of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer sales forces was held this week starting Monday, at the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York City, at which Marcus Loew, president of the company, presided. A program of fifty-two pictures, including eleven specials, was announced for the coming season at the opening session together with a statement detailing the changes made in physical improvements at the Culver City studios, an increase of twenty-five per cent in equipment and an increase of nearly one hundred per cent in organization personnel.

Emphasis was laid on the fact that three quarters of the year's output is to be written directly for the screen, and another point stressed is the plan of the company to continue production of films in cooperation with the United States Government.

The special eleven pictures referred to above, for national distribution during the coming year, will include "La Boheme" and "Mare Nostrum," and do not include "Ben Hur" and "The Big Parade," which will continue to circulate throughout the country on a road-show basis, and "Faust," the German U. F. A. production, which will also be given special treatment.

The others will be "The Mysterious Island," which will be done in Technicolor, with the submarine scenes described by Jules Verne directed by J. E. Williamson, and will be directed in the whole by Maurice Tourneur. "The Scarlet Letter," starring Lillian Gish, directed by Victor Seastrom, and "Annie Laurie," starring Lillian Gish.

"The Cossacks," starring John Gilbert, for which a company of 250 Cossacks will be imported from their native land and which is intended to be one of the most stirring and epic films ever done.

"Tell It to the Marines," starring Lon Chaney, a tale of the famous U. S. Marine Corps with that organization's cooperation and indorsement. Rex Ingram's "The Magician," from the story by Somerset Maugham, with Alice Terry and Paul Waegner. "The Trail of '98," adapted from the novel by Robert W. Service, to be directed by Clarence Brown with Karl Dane, Tully Marshall and Pauline Starke already selected for the cast.

"The Fire Brigade," made in cooperation with the thousands of fire chiefs of the United States and Canada, directed by William Nigh, with Charles Ray, Lionel Barrymore, Tom O'Brien, Marceline Day, Bert Woodruff and also Irene Butler and Joyce Coad. "Old Heidelberg," starring Ramon Novarro, a glamorous and swaggering romance.

The burden of the M-G-M program will emphasize the company's outstanding stars, which are Lillian Gish, Ramon Novarro, Marion Davies, Lon Chaney, Norma Shearer, John Gilbert, Buster Keaton and Mae Murray.

Following are the pictures which have either been completed, or are now in production at the studios or scheduled for production shortly:

Ramon Novarro in "Romance," a novel by Joseph Conrad; Norma Shearer in "The Waning Sex," from the play by Frederic and Fanny Hatton, directed by Robert Z. Leonard. Norma Shearer also will appear in "Free Souls," by Adela Rogers St. John, directed by John M. Stahl; in "Polly of the Circus," by Margaret Mayo, directed by Tod Browning; and in "Upstage," a story of vaudeville life by Walter de Leon; Mae Murray will appear in "Puppets," by Benjamin Glazer.

"Altars of Desire," by Maria Thompson Davies, directed by Christy Cabanne, and in "Show Business," by Thyra Samter Winslow as well as "Laurels," by Ernest Pascal; John Gilbert will star in "Twelve Miles Out"; Lon Chaney to star in three pictures to be selected; Buster Keaton starring in "Battling Butler," directed by Buster Keaton, with Sally O'Neil; Marion Davies starring in "The Red Mill," famous operetta, music by Victor Herbert, adaptation and continuity by Frances Marion; Marion Davies in "Naughty Marietta," from the stage play; Marion Davies in "Polly Preferred," by Guy Bolton; John Gilbert in "The Flesh and the Devil," with Greta Garbo, directed by Clarence Brown from Herman Sudermann's novel, "The Undying Past," and "Mary of Vassar."

Other Cosmopolitan productions besides those starring Miss Davies will be "The Flaming Forest," from the novel by James Oliver Curwood, continuity by Waldemar Young, directed by Reginald Barker; "The Understanding Heart," by Peter Kyne; "Captain Salvation," by Frederick William Wallace.

All Star Pictures: "The Little Journey," by Rachel Crothers, directed by Harry Millarde; "The Boy Friend," adapted from John Alexander Kirkpatrick's play, "The Book of Charm," directed by Monta Bell, with Marceline Day and John Harron; "Blarney," adapted from the story, "In Praise of James Carabine," by Don Byrne, adaptation by Albert Lewin, directed by Marcel de Sano, with Renee Adoree and Ralph Graves.

"There You Are," based on the novel by F. Hugh Herbert, directed by Edward Sedgwick, with Conrad Nagel, Edith Roberts and George Fawcett; "Ordeal," a novel by Dale Collins; "I Can Do It," an original by Max Marcin; "Heaven on Earth," directed by Phil Rosen, with Renee Adoree, Conrad Nagel and Antonio D'Algy; "Women Love Diamonds," by Carey Wilson, adaptation and continuity by Willis Goldbeck, directed by Monta Bell; "Frisco Sal," an original by Edmund Goulding; "Three Twins," by Charles Dickson, directed by Lew Lipton.

"Tin Hats," an original by Edward Sedgwick, directed by Sedgwick, with Owen Moore, Bert Roach and Claire Windsor; "Shadow Lane," written and directed by Edmund Goulding; "The Gay Deceiver," adapted by Benjamin Glazer, based on Leo Ditrichstein's stage success, "Toto," adapted from "Patachon," written by Maurice Hennequin and Felix Duquesnel, directed by John M. Stahl, with Cody, Cormel Myers, Roy D'Arcy, Dorothy Phillips and Marceline Day; "Love's Blindness," an Elinor Glyn production, story, scenario and personal supervision by Elinor Glyn, with Pauline Starke, Antonio Moreno, Lilyan Tashman and Sam de Grasse, and "The Callahans and the Murphys," from the story by Kathleen Norris.

U. F. A. productions: "A Waltz Dream," adapted from the famous comic opera by Leopold Jacobsohn and Felix Deermann, music by Oscar Strauss and from the novel, "Nux, the Prince Consort," by Dr. Hans Mueller, directed by Ludwig Berger, with Nady Christians, Willy Fritsch and Xenia Dosni; "Faust," based on Goethe's epic drama, directed by F. W. Murnau, with Emil Jannings, Gosta Ekmann, Camilla Horn and Yvette Guilbert.

Directors back of this array of pictures are, in alphabetical order: Tod Browning, Reginald Barker, Dimitri Buchowetzki, Monta Bell, King Baggot, Clarence Brown, Christy Cabanne, Benjamin Christianson, Jack Conway, Marcel de Sano, H. D'Abbadie D'Arrast, Edmund Goulding, Hobart Henley, George Hill, Rex Ingram, Robert Z. Leonard, Lew Lipton, Harry Millard, Archie Mayo, Fred Niblo, William Nigh, John S. Robertson, Alfred Raboch, Jess Robbins, Phil Rosen, John Stahl, Victor Seastrom, Mauritz Stiller, Edward Sedgwick, Sam Taylor, Maurice Tourneur and King Vidor.

Other players in the permanent stock company of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, not listed above, are, in alphabetical order: Renee Adoree, George K. Arthur, Lionel Barrymore, Eleanor Boardman, Mae Busch, Lew Cody, Estelle Clarke, Joan Crawford, Frank Currier, Edward Connelly, Roy D'Arcy, Karl Dane, Marceline Day, Antonio D'Algy, Greta Garbo, Douglas Gilmore, William Haines, Lars Hanson, Cecil Holland, Gwen Lee, Owen Moore, Carmel Myers, Conrad Nagel, Sally O'Neil, Gertrude Olmsted, Aileen Pringle, Dorothy Phillips, Charles Ray, Bert Roach, Dorothy Sebastian, Pauline Starke, and Claire Windsor.

Executives and representatives of the company in attendance at the sessions include: Nicholas M. Schenck, vice-president and general manager; David Loew, vice-president; J. Robert Rubin, vice-president and counsel, and Major Edward Bowes, vice-president, are the major executives of the organization representing the home office, while Louis B. Mayer, vice-president in charge of production, is on hand to represent the West Coast studios.

Other officials of the home office who will participate in the deliberations are Felix F. Feist, W. F. Rodgers, Paul Burger, E. W. Aaron, J. S. MacLeod, E. M. Saunders, T. J. Connors, Sam Burger, A. F. Cummings, F. E. McRoy, Howard Dietz, C. K. Stern, Charles Sonin, E. A. Schiller, W. R. Ferguson, S. Seadler and Frank Roehrenbeck, Pete Smith, publicity director of the West Coast offices, reinforces the Culver City delegation.

District managers who are on hand include: Samuel Eckman, Jr., Geo. A. Hickey, J. E. Flynn, David Bershon, Samuel Shirley, C. E. Kessnich and Seth Perkins.

Resident managers at the Convention are L. Amacher, Portland; W. C. Bachmeyer, Cincinnati; W. E. Banford, Des Moines; R. Berger, Washington; L. Bickel, Dallas; C. J. Briant, New Orleans; A. H. Fischer, Minneapolis; R. J. Garland, Denver; C. E. Gregory, Kansas City; J. W. Hanlon, Atlanta; F. C. Hensler, Omaha; C. M. Hill, Seattle; W. H. Kahn, Memphis; A. B. Lamb, Los Angeles; Robt. Lynch, Philadelphia; Jay Emanuel, Philadelphia; C. T. Lynch, St. Louis; J. J. Maloney, Pittsburgh; F. Mendelssohn, Chicago; E. K. O'Shea, Buffalo; G. C. Parsons, San Francisco; F. C. Pollock, Charlotte; D. Rosengarten, New York; J. Samuels, Salt Lake; W. A. Scully, New Haven; S. Shurman, Milwaukee; L. Sturm, Detroit; Alex Weissman, Albany; W. W. Willman, Indianapolis; M. N. Wolf, Boston; H. P. Wolfberg, Cleveland; W. B. Zoellner, Oklahoma.

From Canada, representing Regal Films, Ltd.: Arthur Cohen, Phil Kauffman, Henry L. Nathanson, Henry O'Connor, Maurice Davis, T. J. Gould, A. E. Smith, A. B. Cass, C. C. Kenning, B. R. Kauffman.

Foreign Department: Morten Spring, H. F. Krecke, Arthur Feidelbaum, David Lewis, Joseph Freeman, David Blum.

Special Representatives: Herbert Hayman, E. J. McIvor, Carl Sonin, Seymour Stone, W. H. Workman, Joseph Wolf.

P. D. C. Executives Off For Convention

Representatives from Home Office and Eastern Branches Go to Los Angeles for National Meet Held May 3-8

EXECUTIVES of Producers Distributing Corporation accompanied by Charles Christie, Carroll Trowbridge, Christie Brothers representative; A. H. Sebastian, of Belasco Productions; William Flynn, of the Globe Theatre, Kansas City, and representatives from the home office and eastern branches, left New York on Wednesday of last week for the company's national convention, which opens in Los Angeles on May 3 to 8 inclusive.

Business is tabooed during the trip to the coast, arrangements having been made for dinners, musical programs and diversified pastimes to fill in the time. A dinner party will be given in the Hotel Congress, Chicago, to fill in the three-hour wait for train connections, and another event is a whole day of sightseeing at the Grand Canyon where the trains will be sidetracked about twelve hours before leaving on the last lap of the trip. A reception and a dinner will be given the travelers on their arrival at the coast.

The home office party includes: F. C. Munroe, John C. Flinn, W. J. Morgan, H. O. Duke, R. H. Clark, R. A. Morrow, Geo. W. Harvey, James M. Flinn, J. N. Naulty, Frank Pope, and Frank Wilstach.

Thomas Brady and Phil Kaufman are the representatives from Canada, and the divisions of the United States are represented in the following order:

District No. 1 — L. J. Hacking, C. W. Sawin, Harry Kirchgessner, Boston; Harry I. Goldman, New Haven; R. E. Bishop, Albany; Fred Zimmerman, Buffalo.

Mass. Film Men in Arms Against Tax

EXHIBITORS in Massachusetts are up in arms against a proposed $5 inspection tax which Col. Alfred F. Foote has submitted in keeping with the recommendation of Governor Alvan T. Fuller that all departments be made self-supporting where possible.

The proposed tax would be paid for inspections under the department now required by law. Under the proposed bill there could be as many or as few inspections as the department or the inspector deemed advisable. No charge is made or proposed for similar inspections in factories, halls and similar places where large numbers of people gather.

District No. 2—George M. Dillon, Frank Drumm, Dave Gross, New York; Robert Wolff, New Jersey; W. G. Humphries, Philadelphia; Robert Mochrie, Pittsburgh.

District No. 3—George F. Lenehan, L. F. Ribnitzki, C. Eiseman, Washington; Wm. F. Lenehan, Charlotte; Thomas A. Little, Atlanta.

District No. 4—Robert Cotton, Chester J. Loewe, G. W. Erdman, Cleveland; J. E. Beck, Cincinnati; Harry Zapp, Detroit; W. A. Ratz, Indianapolis.

District No. 5—C. E. Maberry, Fred H. Knispel, Harry Lorch, Chicago; Daniel Roche, Chicago; Frank De Lorenzo, Milwaukee; J. E. O'Toole, Minneapolis.

District No. 6—C. D. Hill, R. L. McLean, L. A. La Plante, St. Louis; C. A. Schultz, Kansas City; Albert Danke, Omaha; L. L. Phillipps, Des Moines.

District No. 7—Frank E. Stuart, J. S. MacHenry, E. C. Leeves, Dallas; G. C. Brown, New Orleans; E. C. Oldsmith, Oklahoma City.

District No. 8—L. W. Weir, Donald Smith, J. S. Stout, Jas. C. Quinn, S. W. Whitehead, J. W. Drum, M. Hossfeld, Los Angeles; M. E. Cory, Frank Galvin, Harry Carney, Jack Rue, H. M. Hollandsworth, San Francisco; Harry Percy, W. A. Adamson, R. C. Hudson, Portland; Dave Frazer, E. S. Wagner, A. Singelow, Seattle; Allen O'Keefe, C. C. McDermond, D. Barnholtz, Salt Lake City; C. R. Wave, Butte; A. G. Edwards, G. W. Whitney, Denver.

Seattle Movie Festival a Success

Following the plan inaugurated in Seattle, Washington, recently, the Tacoma Theatre Board of Trade last week staged a mammoth Movie Frolic that attracted a crowd of more than 3,000 persons to the Tacoma Armory, where it was staged. As a feature of the Frolic, Miss Anna Demick of Walter McNeish's Bijou Theatre was crowned "queen."

300 Attend First National Convention

President Lieber's Leadership Strikes Keynote at Four Days' Enthusiastic Sessions Held in Chicago

First National Franchise Holders Close Meeting With Election of Officers

THE annual meeting of franchise holders of First National Pictures closed at Atlantic City last week with the election of an Executive Committee and officers for the ensuing year.

The new Board of Directors comprises Robert Lieber, Indianapolis, Ind.; Richard A. Rowland, New York City; Fred Levy, Louisville, Ky.; Harry M. Crandall, Washington, D. C.; George W. Trendle, Detroit, Mich.; E. V. Richards, New Orleans, La.; Barney Balaban, Chicago, Ill.; Moe Mark, New York City; A. M. Fabian, Newark, N. J.; I. H. Ruben, Minneapolis, Minn.; A. H. Blank, Des Moines, Iowa; John McGuirk, Philadelphia, Pa.; Richard F. Hoyt, of Hayden, Stone & Co., New York City.

The Executive Committee comprises A. H. Blank, Harry Crandall, A. M. Fabian, Richard A. Rowland, George W. Trendle and E. V. Richards.

Officers for the coming year are as follows: Robert Lieber, President; Richard A. Rowland, First Vice-President and General Manager; Jacob Fabian, Second Vice-President; John H. Kunsky, Third Vice-President, and Samuel Spring, Secretary-Treasurer.

THE leadership of Robert Lieber, who is starting on his tenth year as president, struck the keynote of First National Sales Convention which closed at the Drake Hotel, Chicago, April thirtieth, after four days of enthusiastic sessions. More than three hundred delegates, including supervisors, branch managers, bookers and salesmen from all of First National's thirty-nine branches in the United States and Canada were on hand to listen to detailed explanations of the selling plans for the coming year and receive inspiration from talks by First National production heads and sales executives.

The formal sessions came to a close Wednesday noon after President Lieber had made a final and remarkably eloquent appeal to the sales force to make the tenth year of First National the greatest in the history of the organization. Lieber, Richard A. Rowland and representatives of the production units contributing to the First National program, declared that the banner group and specials for the coming season would surpass any group of pictures heretofore issued by the company.

Wednesday night the sales force found relaxation after four days of business meetings at a banquet attended by all of the executives, also Leon Errol, who came to Chicago to attend the convention. Thursday morning the sales managers, A. W. Smith, Jr., Eastern; Ned E. Depinet, Southern, and Ned Marin, Western, conducted divisional meetings, after which the salesmen returned to their territories prepared for the biggest drive in the history of the company.

The convention opened Monday morning with A. W. Smith presiding. Francis X. Busch, Corporation Counsel and Acting Mayor of Chicago, welcomed the delegates to the City, promising every co-operation. Smith delivered the opening address in which, after paying a high tribute to the inspiration provided by Mr. Lieber as the leader of First National since its inception, he dealt briefly with high points in the history of the company.

Enthusiasm touched a high mark when Lieber arrived from Indianapolis in time for the afternoon session. He was met at the station by a large reception committee headed by Samuel Spring and escorted to the Drake by a squadron of motor-cycle officers. The delegates gathered in front of the hotel to greet Lieber and with cheers and songs escorted him to the convention hall, where he stirred the gathering by a stirring message expressing full confidence in the ability of First National as a production and distributing organization. Mr. Lieber referred to the recent meeting of Franchise holders at Atlantic City and declared that the meeting showed First National to be in an impregnable position.

Samuel Spring spoke at length on the opportunity offered to the distribution force. He referred in detail to the values of the different star series and other pictures included in the banner group. Others who spoke at the afternoon session were Depinet, Marin, S. W. Hatch and Gayne Dexter, who read a report from C. F. Chandler, director of advertising and publicity. Following an informal dinner, Frank Lloyd's "The Wise Guy," was screened. The second day of the convention was marked by the arrival of Milton Sills and a delegation of First National Production Executives from New York. Those who arrived on the Twentieth Century were, in addition to Mr. Sills, Richard A. Rowland, June Mathis, Florence Strauss, Balboni, Al. and Ray Rockett and Spyros Skouras.

Ned Marin opened the afternoon meeting, then turned it over to Rowland who, acting as chairman, introduced all of the production executives and Sills, who delivered one of the most inspiring address of the convention. He was cheered for several minutes by the delegates. The speakers introduced by Rowland were Florence Strauss, Harry Wilson, representing John McCormick, Al. Rockett, June Mathis, Ray Rockett and Balboni and Sills.

Others who addressed the convention during the afternoon were Floyd Brockell, of Publix Theatres; George Dembow, representing Robert Kane; E. C. Jensen, representing Joseph M. Schenck; Harry Nolan, Denver, and Joe Skirboll, representing Frank Lloyd.

In the evening "Ranson's Folly" was shown, also "The Wilderness Woman" and parts of "Ella Cinders" and the first Ken Maynard Production.

Ned Depinet took the chair for the Wednesday morning session. He analyzed in detail the selling program for the year. Other speakers were Spring, George Landy, of the West Coast; Guy Morgan, representing Johnny Hines, and Allen Glenn. Lieber closed the session with an eloquent summary of the situation as it confronts First National during the coming season. He was cheered for five minutes.

In the afternoon the delegates were taken in buses on a sight-seeing tour of Chicago.

Fire Partially Razes House in Ontario

The Grand theatre in Ontario street, St. Catharines, Ont., was destroyed by fire on Saturday, April 24, with an estimated loss of $100,000. The fire was discovered about 2:05 A. M. Despite efforts of firemen the blaze ate its way through the ceiling, sweeping rapidly through the gallery of the theatre. Only the walls and front portion of the theatre remained intact. Loss to the building partially is covered by insurance.

Associated Theatres Is Formed in New Haven

Associated Theatres, Inc., New Haven, Conn., has incorporated with capital of $50,000. Barnett Cohen of New Haven, heads the new corporation.

Dept. of Commerce Issues Export Figures

FEBRUARY exports of motion pictures totaled nearly 19,000,000 feet with a value of over $600,000, it is shown by the monthly report of the Department of Commerce in Washington.

Exports of positive film totaled 15,666,218 feet, valued at $485,779, the heaviest purchasers being Canada, which took 1,968,764 feet, valued at $72,022; Australia, 1,639,981 feet valued at $48,564, and Argentina, 1,612,480 feet, valued at $54,055.

Negative exports totaled 495,929 feet, valued at $78,064, more than half of which—277,100 feet, valued at $45,577—went to England. Raw stock exports amounted to 2,810,758 feet, valued at $65,851, France being the largest market and taking 897,229 feet, valued at $8,397.

In addition to the foreign exports, 345,000 feet of film, valued at $3,897, was shipped to Alaska; 434,768 feet, valued at $4,397, to Hawaii, and 166,500 feet, valued at $12,576, to Porto Rico.

New England exhibitors gathered at Boston

Peoria and Chicago theatre owners met at Drake Hotel

The meeting at Atlanta brought out large attendance

A GROUP OF PARAMOUNT REGIONAL CONVENTIONS

NEARLY 2,000 exhibitors attended meetings held last week by Paramount in thirty-six key cities of the country. These meetings brought together theatre owners, home office representatives of Famous Players-Lasky, district and branch managers, exploitation men and salesmen. Sidney R. Kent, Paramount general manager, has since received hundreds of telegrams from exhibitors welcoming the innovation.

New York and New Jersey exhibitors assembled at the Paramount convention at Hotel Astor

Phyllis Haver Signed by Metropolitan Pict.

PHYLLIS HAVER, graduate of the Sennett School, who recently completed a featured role in "Up In Mabel's Room," has been signed by Metropolitan Pictures to a long-term contract.

Phyllis Haver

Miss Haver's first assignment under the new agreement will soon be announced, meanwhile she is receiving congratulations from all her friends and admirers.

Geraghty and Halsey Renew Contract With Paramount

Long time contracts with Famous Players-Lasky corporation have just been renewed by Forrest Halsey, scenario writer, and Thomas J. Geraghty, supervising editor of the Long Island studio, of Paramount. Geraghty is at present working on another W. C. Field's story, ''So Is Your Old-Man.'' Halsey recently made the screen version of the D. W. Griffith production, ''The Sorrows of Satan.''

Columbia Appoints New Sales Manager

Columbia Pictures Corporation has appointed Howard S. Hummell as general sales manager. Hummell is at present on an extended trip throughout the country, visiting Columbia franchise holders, whom he will assist in organizing field forces and exploitation departments.

Two Warner Sales Managers Appointed

Two new appointments in the field staff have been made by Sam E. Morris, of Warner Brothers. Herbert Kaufman has been assigned the branch managership of the New York Exchange, and T. B. Wildman will assume his duties as branch manager at Oklahoma City.

Adela Buffington to Do Bill Cody Series

Adela Buffington, who wrote the story and continuity for ''The Galloping Cowboy,'' has been signed by Western Star Productions to write the balance of the series starring Bill Cody. Miss Buffington is now at work on another of the series ''Arizona Whirlwind.''

Virginia Morris With Famous Attractions Corp.

J. G. Bachmann has appointed Virginia Morris as advertising and publicity head of Famous Attractions Corporation. Similar positions have been held by Miss Morris in the past with Al Lichtman and B. P. Schulberg productions.

Smith Announces New Product

Associated Exhibitors Sales Manager States Approximately 60 to be Made

BACK from an extended tour of the western exchanges of Associated Exhibitors, whither he went with the two-fold object of establishing greater coordination between the home office and the exchanges and to help in the formation of production plans for the new season, E. J. Smith, general sales manager of the company, this week announced part of the schedule of productions contemplated for the coming year.

Smith states that negotiations have been completed with the Van Pelt brothers, owners of the canine star Sandow, to make six features for Associated through Chesterfield Productions, the Van Pelt production concern. His first vehicle for A. E. will be ''The Code of the Northwest,'' which is now ready for release. Tom London and Lorraine Lamont play the leading human roles in this production and the supporting cast includes Jack Richardson and Bill Franey. Frank S. Mattison wrote the continuity and directed the picture.

Commenting on production matters at the West Coast Associated plant, Smith says:

''This year's program marks the most important stride made by Associated Exhibitors in the history of the organization. Between 50 and 60 pictures are to be produced at the Los Angeles studios by eight different producing units. Among these there will be three S. S. Hutchinson comedy specials starring Edward Everett Horton, the first of which is ''Lord Hokum,'' which has just been completed under the direction of Lloyd Ingraham.

''Bill Cody is to appear in six outdoor features. I have just seen the first one, ''The Galloping Cowboy,'' and am greatly enthused over the promise made by this young star.

''John Gorman is to contribute four all star productions to our program. The first of these will be 'Home Sweet Home,' for which he has already cast Vola Vale, Gladys Brockwell, Huntly Gordon, Charles Emmett Mack and Lincoln Steadman. Four pictures each, will also be presented by Paul J. Brady, S. E. V. Taylor. Brady's first will be ''The Haunted Lady,'' a story by Adela Rogers St. Johns, which appeared in the Cosmopolitan Magazine.

''Lester Scott's organization, Action Productions, has three units, each of which will make six pictures for us. These will be headed by Buffalo Bill, Jr., Buddy Roosevelt and Wally Wales. In addition there will be eight airplane features starring Al. Wilson. And added to all this, I am conferring with Mr. Offeman regarding the production of from four to six special productions that will be produced on a tremendous scale.''

E. J. Smith, general sales managers for Associated Exhibitors

"Home, Sweet Home," for Associated Exhibitors

The first John Gorman production for Associated Exhibitors release will be ''Home, Sweet Home,'' an original story by Gorman, who will also direct the picture. In the cast will be Viola Vane, Charles Emmett Mack, Huntley Gordon, Myrtle Steadman and Lincoln Steadman.

Columbia Signs Bert Lytell for Two Features

Bert Lytell has been signed for two pictures by Columbia Pictures Corporation. The first feature to be filmed will be ''The Lone Wolf Returns'' taken from the book, by Louis Joseph Vance.

CAMERAS & PROJECTORS at a BARGAIN

In order to devote our entire energies to the narrow-width film industry, we are disposing of the last of our 35 M/M equipment at prices representing about

Half their real value

1-UNIVERSAL CAMERA new, with dissolve	$250.
1-UNIVERSAL CAMERA shelfworn, but in good condition, without dissolve	$150.
Both have B and L Lenses, F 3.5
1-$40.00 CAMERA CASE	$20.00
1-$125.00 TRIPOD and CASE	$60.00

PEERLESS PROJECTORS the finest for editing and cutting in the studio, formerly $300. . . Now $100. each

The PATHESCOPE CO. of AMERICA, Inc.
35 West 42nd Street, New York

THE FOX CONVENTION GROUP AT LOS ANGELES

ABOUT 200 Fox district, branch managers and foreign representatives attended the Fox national convention, which was held recently at the Hotel Ambassador, Los Angeles. James R. Grainger, general sales manager of the company, headed the delegation from New York.

At top: Tom Mix, Fox Films Western star, stops work to welcome the delegates. In the group below may be seen James R. Grainger, general sales manager of Fox Films, and city officials of San Bernardino, who, in conjunction with Miss San Bernardino, welcomed the Fox forces. The scene below shows Acting Mayor Royal Worthman, of Los Angeles, presenting Grainger with the key to the city. The view at the bottom of the page shows the delegates in an informal pose on the lown of the Fox Studios.

Rudolph Schildkraut to Appear With Son

RUDOLPH SCHILDKRAUT, German actor and producer of foreign plays, is now enroute for Los Angeles, having closed his theatre in New York City. Under the terms of his contract with Cecil B. De Mille he will appear in pictures for a period of from one to five years. He will be seen with his son, Joseph Schildkraut, in an adaptation of Egerton Castle's story "Young April," which will be produced under the direction of Donald Crisp.

Rudolph Schildkraut

M-G-M Renews Contract with Lon Chaney

Lon Chaney has been signed to a new long term contract by the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. He is now at work on "The Road to Mandalay" a Tod Browning production in which will be seen Lois Moran, Owen Moore, Henry B. Walthall and Kamyiyouma Sojin.

The story was written by Browning in collaboration with Herman J. Mackiewicz and scenarized by Ed Clauson. As in many of the recent Chaney pictures Browning will direct.

M-G-M Buys "Callahans and the Murphys" Stories

Kathleen Norris' book of short stories, "The Callahans and the Murphys," has been purchased by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for screen production. Under the contract twelve of the stories are purchased, one of them, "The Kelly Kid" being excluded from the purchase. They were originally published in the Cosmopolitan magazine.

Raoul Everria To Produce "The Autocrat"

Raoul Everria, now working for Famous Players in Richard Dix's new picture is completing plans to produce "The Autocrat" by Pearl Doles Bell. Everria is one of the few stars who will head his own producing unit.

Tearle Engaged for Lead in "Altars of Desire"

Conway Tearle has been signed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to play the leading male role in Mae Murray's next starring vehicle, "Altars of Desire," a story by Maria Thompson Davies upon which Christy Cabanne began work this week.

Aileen Pringle, Norman Trevor Added to "Tin Gods"

In Thomas Meighan's next starring vehicle, "Tin Gods" the featured supporting cast has been augmented by the addition of Aileen Pringle and Norman Trevor. Production is scheduled to begin under Allan Dwan's direction next month.

Six P. D. C. Features in Work

First Vera Reynolds Picture Completed; "Up in Mabel's Room" Has Been Finished

THE De Mille and Metropolitan studios are off to a flying start on the new pictures scheduled for release through Producers Distributing Corporation, six now being in actual course of production with the first on the 1926-27 program complete. "Sunny Side Up," the picturization of the Henry St. John Cooper's novel "Sunny Ducrow," in which Vera Reynolds is starred, is now in the cutting room where Donald Crisp, who directed, is now personally supervising the editing.

At the De Mille studios Director William K. Howard has started work on "Gigolo," the first of the new Rod La Rocque starring vehicles, which will be an adaptation of Edna Ferber's novel. Jobyna Ralston and Louise Dresser are featured in support of the star.

"The Clinging Vine" is now in production under the direction of Paul Sloane. Leatrice Joy is starred with Tom Moore and Robert Edeson in the supporting cast. This is an adaptation of the Henry W. Savage musical comedy success from the pen of Zelda Sears.

"Her Man O' War," an adaptation of Fred Jackson's story, "Black Marriage," adapted by Jeanie Macpherson and Garret Fort has Jetta Goudal starred with William Boyd playing opposite. Charles Logue wrote the continuity and Gardner Sullivan will edit the film.

Joseph Henaberry is at work on "Meet the Prince," in which Joseph Schildkraut is being featured with Marguerite De La Motte as leading lady, at the Metropolitan studios. The story is an adaptation of the Frank R. Adams Munsey Magazine fiction.

Priscilla Dean, under the direction of Robert Thornby, has completed exterior scenes for "The Speeding Venus," and is now working on one of the stages at the Metropolitan studios. Robert Frazer is cast in the leading male role.

The sixth feature in production is "The Flame of the Yukon," a new version of the Monte Katterjohn story. Seena Owen is starred and Arnold Gray plays opposite in the new version as adapted by Finis Fox and Will M. Ritchey.

Warners Rush Current Films

Production of Last of 1925-26 Pictures Now Under Way; First on New List Started

WITH a number of pictures in varying stages of production and the last three on the 1925-26 program now in work, Warner Brothers are in a fair way to cleanup on the current schedule and get the new twenty-six Warner Winners under way, the first of which, "The Brute," a Monte Blue starring vehicle, has already been started.

"The Passionate Quest," one of the three now being produced, has had a number of additions to the cast within the past week and the line-up of players now consists of May McAvoy, Willard Louis, Gardner James, Holmes Herbert, De Witt Jennings and Vera Lewis. J. Stuart Blackton is directing.

"The Social Highwayman," the second, is now being completed and the company expects to have prints in all its exchanges about May 15. It is a May release. Broken Hearts of Hollywood, in which all of the Warner stars appear, is rapidly nearing completion.

Among the first of the pictures of the new season will be the initial starring vehicle of George Jessel, "Private Izzy Murphy." Jessel is due to arrive in Hollywood early in June, following the close of the musical comedy, "The Jazz Singer" in which he is now appearing on Broadway, New York. The story is now in preparation and will be ready for shooting with the arrival of the comedian.

F. B. O. Finishes Last Gold Bond Special

THE schedule of twelve F. B. O. Gold Bond productions current for the season will have been completed when the Laura Jean Libbey story, "A Poor Girl's Romance," emerges from the cutting room.

The release date for "The Non-Stop Flight" was March 28th. This was followed by "The Isle of Retribution" on April 25th. The fourth of the late winter releases was "The King of the Turf." The Laura Jean Libbey story will be released on May 23rd.

NOW BOOKING

4—SINGLE REEL LESSONS IN THE BALLROOM
CHARLESTON
Featuring
NED WAYBURN
And
ZIEGFELD FOLLIES GIRLS

Cranfield & Clarke, Inc.
729 Seventh Avenue, N. Y. C.

Quebec Boycott Plan Denied

Stories Last Week Apparently False; Issue Principally an Economic Matter

STORIES printed last week in the daily newspapers and in the trade press to the effect that no U. S. films would be shipped to the Province of Quebec after August 1, at which time a boycott would go into effect, were denied in official circles this week, indicating that previous reports misquoted Canadian leaders.

"There is no threat of a boycott in Quebec," declared N. L. Nathanson, managing director of Famous Players Canadian Corporation at Toronto.

President John Cooper of the Motion Picture Distributors of Canada, Toronto, said: "I have stated distinctly that there is not a boycott against Quebec. Beyond that I have no comment to make."

Chas. C. Pettijohn, of the Will Hays office, who is closely in touch with the Quebec situation, was wired at Washington concerning the various conflicting stories, to which he replied: "No occasion for conflicting stories about Quebec situation. I never heard anyone discuss, suggest or even use the word 'boycott' in connection with the economic question there involved."

The economic question to which he refers is the fact that censorship in Quebec has been so stringent as to make the distribution of films in the province unprofitable, distributors declare.

Premier Taschereau of the Province of Quebec has come out in defense of the Quebec censors, while the Marquis R. de Roussy de Sales, chairman of the board at Montreal, has announced that all attempts of the film distributors to bring about amendments of the censorship standards in Quebec would be opposed. Mr. Justice Choquette of the Quebec Court of Sessions declared that the Quebec Board of Censors was not even severe enough.

Gest to Make Pictures for U. A.

Will Produce Six in Six Years; "The Darling of the Gods" First Spectacle

MORRIS GEST has contracted to make six pictures in as many years for United Artists. The first of these Morris Gest Spectacles, by which name they will be known, will be a screen version of the play by David Belasco and John Luther Long, "The Darling of the Gods," which drama of old Japan was produced on the stage nearly twenty-five years ago.

Though no definite information regarding the cast has as yet been given out, actual work upon the production is scheduled to begin no later than March, 1927. Japan will be the location for some scenes, while studio and further exterior work will be done in California. It is understood that David Belasco will extend his cooperation in direction since he has held the screen rights for his play many years with the ultimate intention of screening it himself.

Morris Gest is already acquainted with the motion picture field though this will be his first experience in active production. Ten years ago he induced Geraldine Fararr to embark upon her first motion picture vehicle, "Carmen." He also presented D. W. Griffith's "Hearts of the World," and became associated with Douglas Fairbanks in the same capacity with "The Thief of Bagdad."

Morris Gest, who has contracted to make six pictures for United Artists

F. B. O. Engages Vera Gordon for "Kosher Kitty Kelly"

In the screen version of the stage play, "Kosher Kitty Kelly" will be seen Vera Gordon, well known for her portrayal of a Jewish mother, and Nat Carr, stage and screen comedian. As soon as the remainder of the cast has been selected production will begin on the picture which will be a Gold Bond production for the coming season.

First National Buys Crothers Play for Screen

The Rachel Crothers play "A Lady's Virtue" in which Florence and Mary Nash appeared for a long engagement has been purchased by First National and will be produced for the screen in the near future. Production plans will be announced later.

F. B. O. Acquires Screen Rights to Kyne Story

FILM Booking Offices have acquired the screen rights to the Peter B. Kyne story, "Breed of the Sea," which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post under the title of Blue Blood and Pirates." It is another tale of the inimitable "Cappy Ricks" and will be a Gold Bond production for the season of 1925-27.

Changes in M-G-M Branch Managerial Personnel

There have been several changes in the managerial personnel of the M-G-M branch offices which went into effect April 19th.

Henry Kahn, former manager of the Buffalo exchange, now manages the recently established Memphis office; E. K. O'Shea has been transferred to the Buffalo office as manager; Alexander Weissman manages the Albany office, and W. A. Scully has been re-appointed manager of tthe New Haven office.

The new M-G-M Oklahoma City headquarters are at present located at 513 South Robinson Street.

"U" Buys "Michael Strogoff" for Distribution

Universal has purchased for American distribution, the Societe des Cineromans production, "Michael Strogoff," which stars Ivan Mosjoukine. With the film Universal also engaged the services of Mosjoukine to star in pictures for that company.

The book, "Michael Strogoff," by Jules Verne has been converted into a play has been exceedingly popular both as a stage production and a novel.

More Companies Granted Charters in N. Y. State

Newly incorporated motion picture companies, entering the business in New York State, and filing the necessary papers with the secretary of state during the past week, included the following: Russell Fanning, Inc., capitalization not stated, Russell Fanning, Edith Fanning, Frank Holt, New York City; The Vitaphone Corporation, capitalization not stated, Abel Thomas, Stanleigh P. Friedman, Harold S. Bareford, New York City; Visual Test Sales Company, of New York, Inc., $10,000, Edward T. Symonds, Los Angeles, Cal.; Ilsley Boone, W. A. Yorke, New York City; Playhouse Theatres, Inc., $20,000, Florence Lane, Anne Kessler, Lillian Hotchkiss, Brooklyn; A. S. Friend Companies, $750,000, Arthur S. Friend, Elizabeth Fingeroth, Thelma M. Kleiman, New York City.

Motorized Covered Wagon Sells "Tumbleweeds"

A Ford car in "covered wagon" make-up was the street demonstrator used in Augusta, Ga., for the showing of "Tumbleweeds," at the Modjeska Theatre, managed by F. J. Miller. The prairie-schooner top on the car made it a conspicuous object in the streets of Augusta. Draped over the canvas covering were flashy posters advertising "Tumbleweeds."

Grant Withers Chosen for Lead in "Wisecrackers"

Film Booking Offices announces that Grant Withers will play the leading role in ''Wisecrackers,'' the second of the H. C. Witwer series, for the coming season. Withers also plays the juvenile lead in the other Witwer featurettes, ''Bill Grim's Progress''. In both series Gertrude Short is the heroine with Kit Guard and Al Cooke supplying the comedy.

Jack Gilbert, Greta Garbo to Appear Together

John Gilbert and Greta Garbo will have the leads in the screen version of Herman Sudermann's novel, ''The Undying Past'' which has been groomed for the screen by Benjamin Glazer and which will be known as ''The Flesh and the Devil.'' Irving Thalberg will be in charge of production and Clarence Brown will do the directing.

Fox Signs Follies Girl to Long Term Contract

Reta Hoyt, Follies girl, has been added by Winifred R. Sheehan to the Fox list of players. She will appear in the picturization of David Belasco's play, ''The Lily'' which Victor Schertzinger is directing.

Miss Hoyt made her theatrical debut in the Greenwich Follies.

Solomon Appointed Warner West Coast Studio Head

Doc Solomon, for the last eight years head of the property department of the Warner Bros. West Coast studios, has been appointed by Jack L. Warner as studio superintendent of the Warner and Vitagraph lots.

New Columbia Studio Head Appointed

George W. Stout has been appointed studio manager of Columbia Pictures Corporation by Harry Cohn, Vice-President of the organization. He will assume his new position at once.

Tiffany to Have Ten Exchanges

TEN Tiffany exchanges, comprising the territories of New York, Buffalo, Chicago, Indianapolis, Boston, New Haven, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Detroit, are soon to be established to handle the Tiffany product for the coming season. These exchanges will be either owned outright or with a franchise.

The Twenty Tiffany Gems will consist of "That Model From Paris," "Flaming Timber," "Fools of Fashion," "The Tempest," "One Hour of Love," "Wives," "Sin Cargo," "Squads Right," "The Steeplechase," "The Tiger," "Lightning," "The Song of Steel," "The Enchanted Island," "Husband Hunters," "Snowbound," "The Life of a Woman," "Raging Seas," "Top of the World," "The Squared Ring" and "Tale of a Vanishing People."

Seitz is Chosen to Direct "The Last Frontier"

GEORGE B. SEITZ has been signed to direct "The Last Frontier," recently acquired by Metropolitan from the Thomas H. Ince Corporation. Upon his return from a location expedition in the Nojave Desert, Seitze will start work on the studio filming. Courtney Ryley Cooper is theauthor of the story.

George B. Seitz

Certain portions of this film were photographed before the death of Thomas H. Ince, including a buffalo drive which may never again be duplicated, and these will no doubt be an important part of the finished picture.

Jessel Said to Have Signed Three Year Contract

Warner Bros. claim that the contract which George Jessel signed with them calls for his exclusive screen services for the next three years. The number of pictures he will make has not as yet been determined but he will start work on the first of them, ''Private Izzy Murphy,'' as soon as he has completed his present engagement in ''The Jazz Singer,'' which will be shortly after the first of June.

Bebe Daniels Completes "The Palm Beach Girl"

''The Palm Beach Girl'' has been completed by Bebe Daniels, under the direction of Erle Kenton. Lynn Shores and Lee Garmes assisted Kenton in the filming of this adaptation of the play, ''Please Help Emily,'' by H. M. Harwood. Lawrence Gray, Josephine Drake, Marguerite Clayton, John Patrick, Armand Cortez and Roy Byron were in the cast.

Crinley Appointed Universal Studio Executive

William Crinley, former director, will in the future take charge of all western and serials at Universal City, according to an announcement from Martin Murphy, general manager of the studio. At present he is in charge of the production and business affairs of five different units and is working under the supervision of William Lord Wright.

Oscar Beregi Signs a Five-Year Universal Contract

Oscar Beregi, European actor who played ''Danton'' abroad, has been signed by Carl Laemmle to a five-year contract. Beregi has just completed a role in the Norman Kerry vehicle, ''The Love Thief,'' which John McDermott directed.

"Say It Again," New Title of Dix Feature

''Say It Again'' has been chosen as the final title of the new Richard Dix vehicle previously announced as ''Take A Chance.'' Alyce Mills plays the feminine lead with Gregory La Cava directing.

Ginsburg Purchases "The Great Gatsby"

It is reported that Henry Ginsberg has bought the screen rights of one of the season's most successful Broadway plays, ''The Great Gatsby,'' dramatized by Owen Davis from F. Scott Fitzgerald's successful novel of the same title and produced by William A. Brady. Mr. Ginsberg has not yet made distribution arrangements for the production.

Charles Ray, Marceline Day Head "Fire Brigade" Cast

The leading roles in ''The Fire Brigade'' have been entrusted to Charles Ray and Marceline Day. Other parts will be taken care of by Lionel Barrymore, Tom O'Brien, Bert Woodruff, and two child contest winners, Joyce Coad and Irene Butler. This Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture will be directed by Will Nigh and Hunt Stromberg will produce the story.

W. O. McGeehan Engaged to Write "The Quarterback"

W. O. McGeehan, famous for his syndicated feature, ''Down the Line'' which appears daily in the New York Herald of which he is sporting editor, has been engaged by Paramount to write the script of Richard Dix's next starring vehicle, ''The Quarterback''. Thomas J. Geraghty and J. Clarkson Miller are preparing the screen treatment in collaboration with McGeehan.

Ginsberg-Kann Corporation Changes Address

On Thursday of this week the Ginsberg-Kann Distributing Corporation moved its offices from the old quarters in the Loew State Theatre Building, 1540 Broadway, to more commodious quarters on the fourth floor of the new building at 1650 Broadway, on the corner of Broadway and Fifty-first Street.

GOERZ

Negative

Raw Stock

More gradation more definition
no grain

Sole Distributors:

Fish-Schurman Corp.

45 West 45th St. New York City
1050 Cahuenga Ave. Hollywood, Cal.

In Canada
John A. Chantler & Co.
200 Bay St., Toronto, Ont.

"The Heavy Parade" is a tale of three fat men in the army. F. B. O. releases this Standard comedy

J. G. Bachmann will Film Thirteen Pictures

J. G. BACHMANN, president and general manager of Famous Attractions Corporation, will begin work immediately on the production of thirteen Preferred Pictures, the first of which "Lew Tyler's Wives" will be directed by Harley Knoles from a script prepared by Eugene Clifford.

The other twelve are: "Shenandoah," "The Romance of a Million Dollars," which is scheduled to go into production upon completion of the first picture, "Horses and Women," "Studies in Wives," "The Aristocrat," "Shopworn," "Exclusive Rights," "Shameful Behavior," "Eden's Fruit," "The Worst Woman," "Dancing Days" and "His New York Wife."

These thirteen productions will be produced in the East. Famous Attraction's office is at 117 West 45th street, New York City.

WarnersCompleteConventions

President of Company Pays Tribute to Hays Organization; Pleased with Meetings

A LOT of the progress during the past year in the motion picture business is due to the remarkably efficient work of the Hays organization, says Harry Warner, president of Warner Brothers, in commenting on the three regional conventions just finished by the company.

The Warner Brothers and Sam E. Morris, general manager of distribution, expressed themselves as being entirely satisfied with the outcome of the three gatherings. In their statements made after the last convention these executives reviewed the highlights of the meetings. ''There has been a synchronization of forces and we are prepared for the greatest season of productions we have ever had,'' says the Warner president. Continuing, he states: ''While we will produce but twenty-six pictures, these will be made from the best stories obtainable and will incur an expenditure exceeding that of any year in the past.'' Abe Warner emphasized the fact that more money would be spent on the twenty-six than on the forty pictures released during the past year.

Sam Morris paid tribute to the sales force, stating that they were men of high type and he also commented on the enthusiasm displayed at the meetings. Watts L. Parker, director of advertising and publicity for the Warners, was praised by executives for his personally conceived sales plan book, executives and field men alike stating it is the best sales argument ever advanced in the industry.

Toronto Famous-Shea, Loew

Three Cornered Transaction Reported Carr and Schad Lease Reading Theatres

A THEATRE transaction has just taken place in Toronto, Ontario, it is reported, the deal involving big houses of Famous Players Canadian Corporation, Loew's Toronto theatres and those owned by Jerry Shea. The move takes the form of an amalgamation of interests of Famous Players and Jerry Shea, involving property valued in the millions.

The deal includes the taking over of the Uptown Theatre from the Marcus Loew company by Famous Players, the Uptown with its 3,700 seats being one of the largest houses in the Dominion. Famous Players performances now presented at the big Hippodrome, in the downtown business area, are to be transferred to the Uptown Theatre this summer, and the shows now playing Shea's Theatre will be transferred to the Hippodrome. The Shea performances comprise B. F. Keith big time vaudeville and pictures. The Vaughan Glaser Players, presenting stock company attractions, will move to Shea's Theatre, which is the smallest house of the three.

The Hippodrome, which is now the leading theatre of the Famous Players chain of almost 100 theatres in Canada, seats over 3,000 persons. It was built by Jerry Shea about 10 years ago but was acquired by Famous Players on a lease basis a few years later. Famous Players also controls two other large downtown houses, the Regent and the Tivoli, which are not affected.

Ben Amsterdam and Lewis Korson, of Masterpiece Film Attractions, have acquired a long-term lease with an option to buy on the five theatres owned and operated by Carr & Schad in Reading, as follows: Strand, Santoy, Arcadia, Princess and Schuylkill Avenues, with a total seating capacity of approximately 6,000. The lease calls for total rentals of $1,600,000. The Strand, it is understood, will be converted into a house where legitimate road shows will be played. The new lessees, known as the Franklin Theatre Company,

The Stanley Company of America has acquired a large plot of ground at the northeast corner of 21st and Market streets, Philadelphia, on which it intends to erect a legitimate house which will have a seating capacity of approximately 6,000. Ground will be broken for the new house within the next few months. This theatre will be only two squares from the Stanley Theatre and three squares from the Aldine in a practically undeveloped section of Market Street.

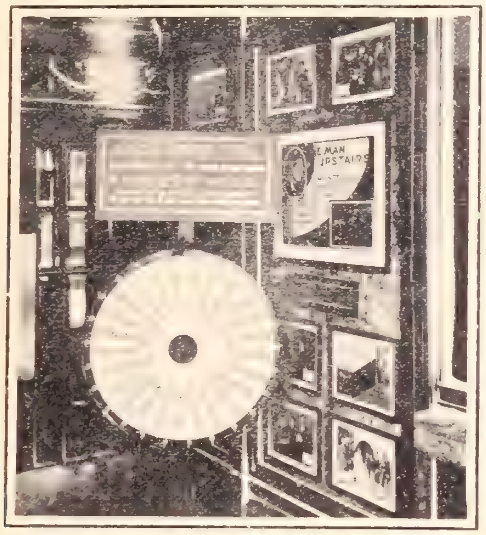
Reports received from Portland, although denied by both parties concerned, are said to indicate that the Universal Pictures Corporation is attempting to purchase a string of five neighborhood houses owned by the Multnomah Theatre Corporation, a group of suburban exhibitors in Oregon.

The theatre building now under construction at Main, Lamar and Travis Streets, Houston, has been leased by Jesse H. Jones to the Southern Enterprises, nc., of Texas (Publix Theatre Corporation). The lease is for a period of 25 years for $1,900,000.

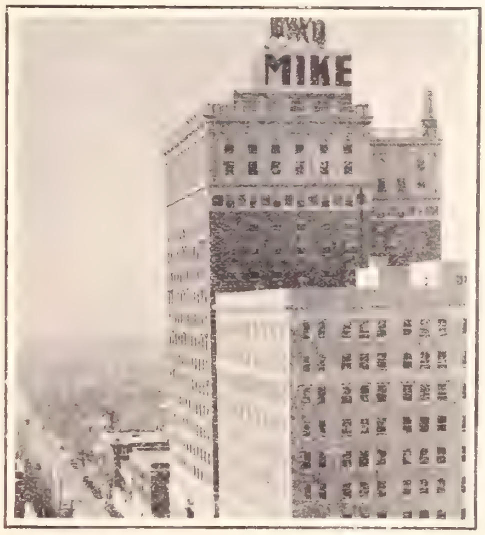
Gotham Transfers Units to Universal City

The Gotham productions for the coming season, for release through Lumas Film corporation, will be made in Universal City. This move transfers all the production units under Sam Sax's control from the Metropolitan studios to the Universal plant. Renaud Hoffan will continue his personal supervision of the production units.

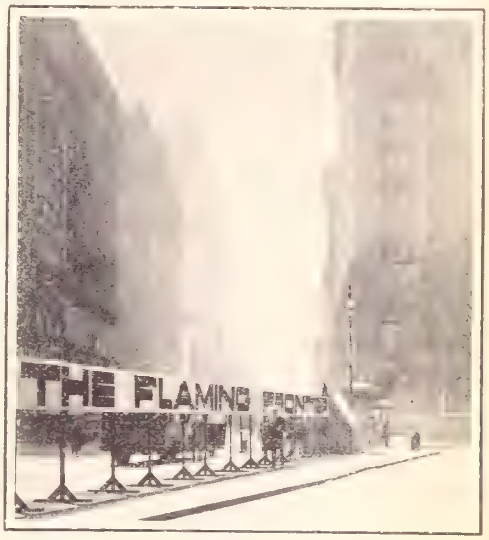
Exhibitors Service Bureau



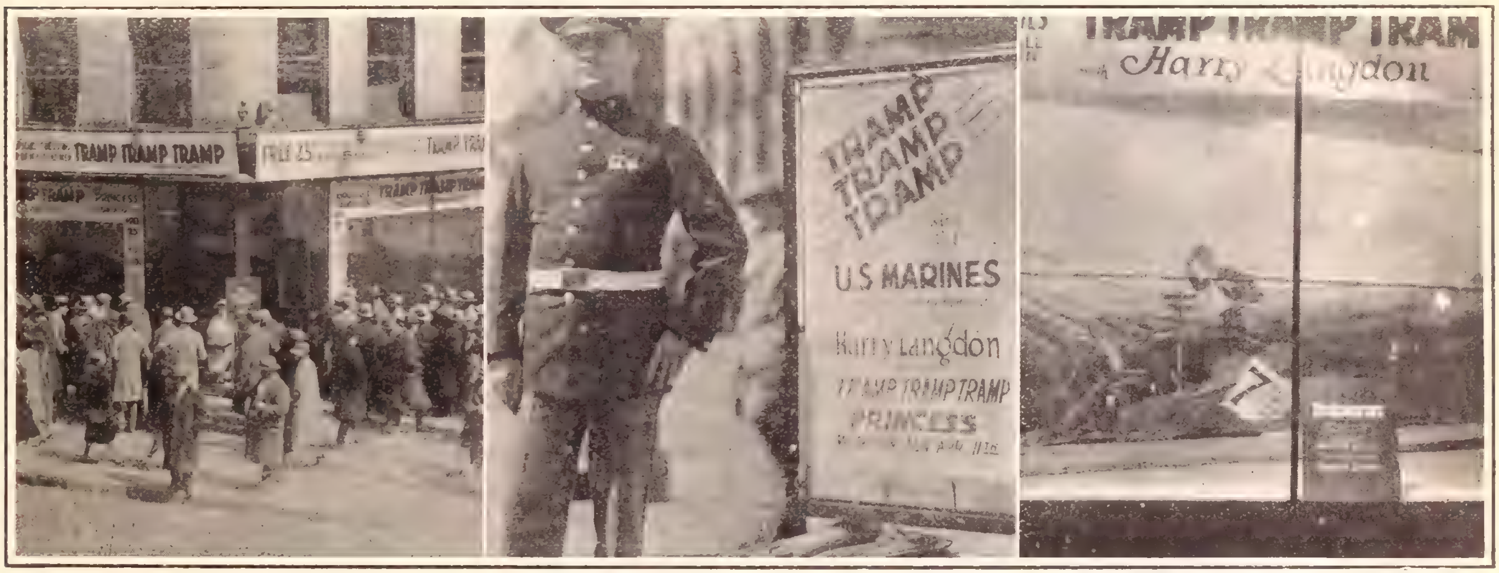
Wheel of Fortune used to exploit showing of Warner Bros.' "The Man Up Stairs" at the Broadway, Charlotte, N. C.



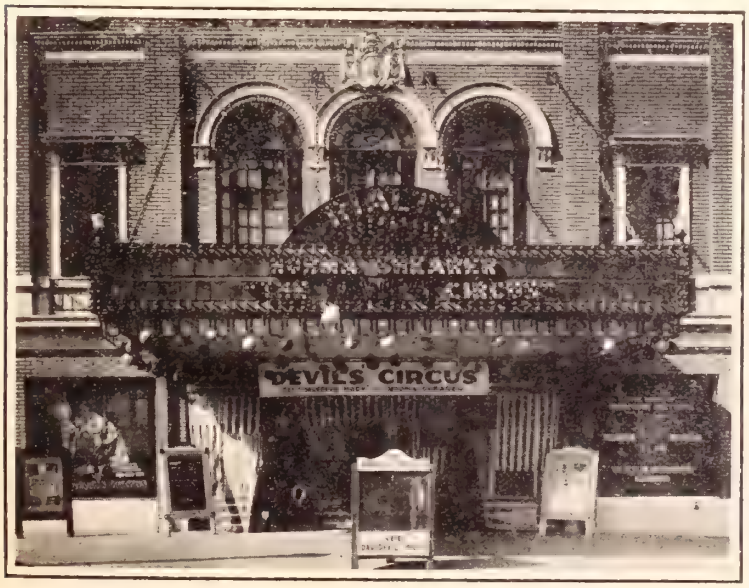
A banner exploiting "Mike" (M.G.M.) dominates the skyline in Tulsa for the showing of the picture at the Majestic Theatre in that city



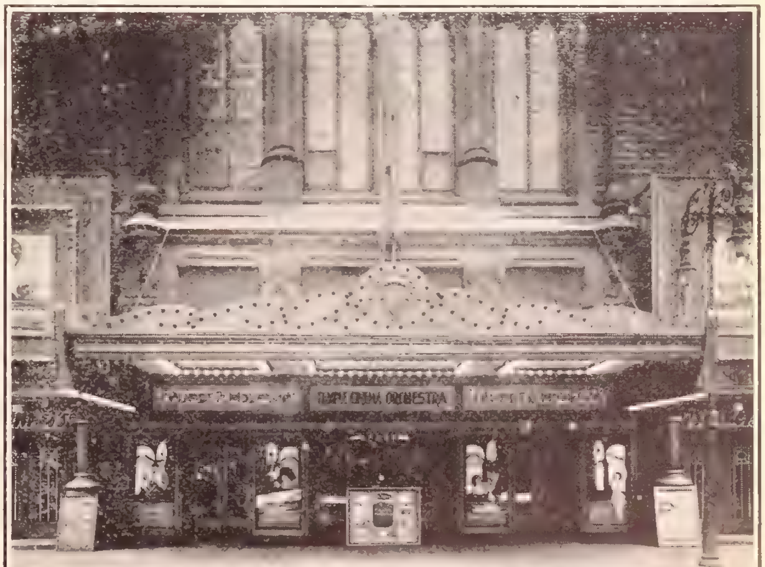
The island at Forty-third Street and Broadway becomes a Ballyhoo Land for the showing of Universal's "Flaming Frontier" at the Colony, New York City



First National's "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp" had the benefit of a sensational campaign for its showing at the Princess, Hartford, Conn. The drive featured a newspaper tie-up on a contest with prizes for those guessing most closely the number of miles tramped by men in a window display and a tie-up with the Marine Corps recruiting service, as shown in the photos above

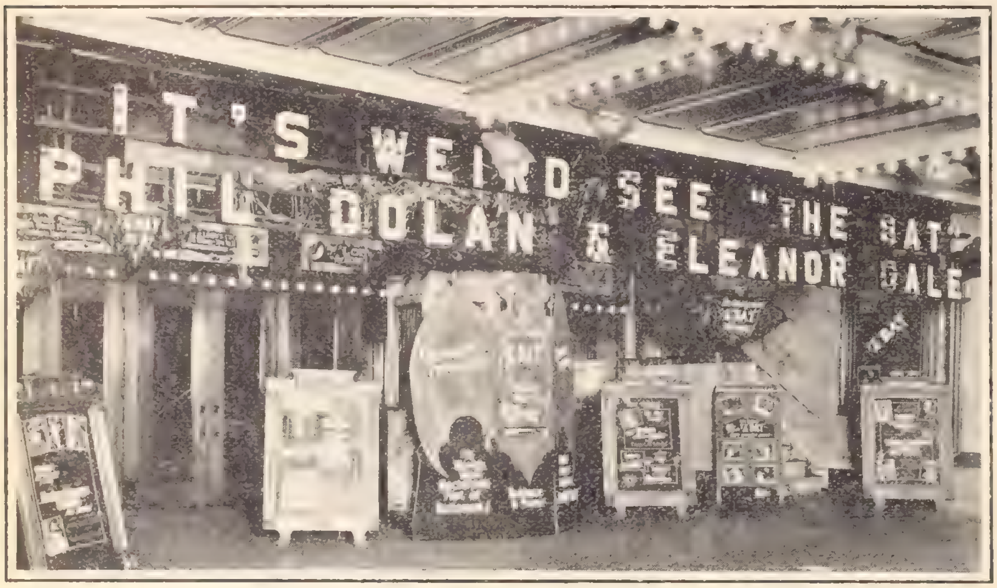


Lobby display for "The Devil's Circus" (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer) used at the Rialto Theatre



Shadow box designs set in wall cases were features of the display for "Thunder Mountain" (Fox) at the Temple Theatre, Toledo

Matrimonial Bureau Exploits Show



"The Bat" (United Artists) was attractively billed in the frontal display at the Loew's Colonial Theatre, Reading, Pa.

LOEW'S COLONIAL THEATRE AND OVERLAND Welcome
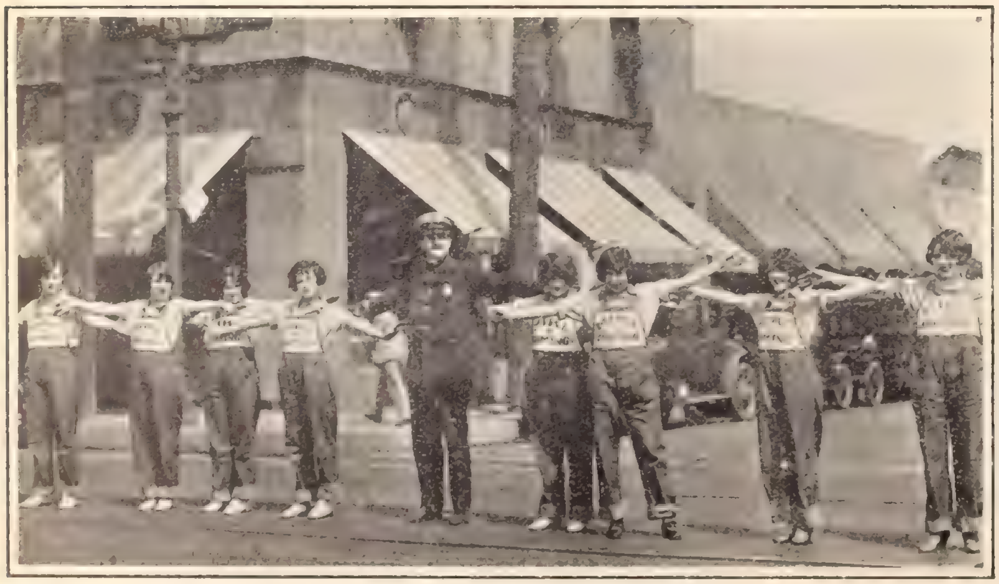
WALTER HIERS
TO READING & LOEWS THEATRE
1 O'clock TODAY

Harold Shadbolt, manager of the Colonial in Reading, and designer of the lobby shown above, appears in photo at right with Walter Heirs, Educational Comedy star, whom he greeted and entertained during the comedian's visit in Reading



Stopping traffic with a stunt for the showing of "Mike" (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer) at Loew's State in Los Angeles. Usherettes of the theatre spent their spare time exploiting the picture about Los Angeles town

"Let's Get Married" Idea Stirs Interest For Criterion Show

MANAGER Pat McGee of the Criterion established a Matrimonial Bureau in Oklahoma City, sufficiently in advance of the showing of "Let's Get Married" to insure the public's interest in the stunt.

Twenty-five hundred photos of Lois Wilson, and a like amount of Richard Dix, were sent to men and women throughout the city. Each carried a description of the star, together with copy directly tying up with picture title. This was supplemented by a green card, written in longhand, urging persons interested in the new bureau to call W-0274 for further information.

At this period of the campaign a teaser campaign was started in the newspapers, pointing out the advantages and disadvantages of matrimony, all copy carrying a humorous appeal.

Clergyman Praises Theatre Showing Biblical Picture

An exploitation idea which attracted wide attention was tried out with success by M. W. Larmour, manager of the National Theatre, Graham, Tex., when, in conjunction with the showing of "Bethlehem," one of the numbers in "Pilgrimage to Palestine" series, a local minister, Dr. Klingham, lectured on phases of Biblical history covered in this short subject.

In his talk, Dr. Klingham stated that the producers of motion pictures made the sort of films that the majority of people wanted to see and in recommending pictures of the class of the "Pilgrimage to Palestine" series he based his plea on the fact that the more popular they proved the more of them would be produced.

Marbles As Souvenirs For "Go West" In Sandusky

Spring time is marble time in every city, but the first city where this child's pastime has been used for promotional purposes is Sandusky, Ohio, where Mr. Schade, of the Schade Theatre, gave away bags of marbles to boom the showing of "Go West."

Sacks of marbles, containing two large "shooters," and twelve "aggies" were given away. On the paper sack was printed an announcement of the feature. This stunt proved to be a fine bit of propaganda work, for all the kids in the town were taking about "Go West."

"Bat" Puzzle Contest Put On in Cleveland

A "Bat Puzzle Contest," run by the "Cleveland News" in co-operation with the Stillman Theatre, in Cleveland, proved mutually profitable for the theatre's presentation of "The Bat" and the circulation department of the newspaper. The contest was in the form of drawings containing a half hundred objects, the name of each beginning with the letters BAT. Those identifying the greatest number of words were awarded prizes which totalled $120 in cash.

23rd ANNUAL ANNOUNCEMENT

SEASON 1926-1927

COURAGE and CONFIDENCE

Throughout the history of the world, courage has inspired confidence. Only by courage—and the confidence it has created—has the world moved forward. Civilization is simply the chronicle of those leaders who have possessed the courage of their convictions and who have won therefrom the confidence of their fellow-men.

The first quarter of the twentieth century has witnessed the foundation and development of many imperishable institutions. The motion picture is one—and it has been perfected by the courage of pioneers and perpetuated by the confidence of the public.

FOX FILM CORPORATION, setting the pace of progress for nearly a quarter of a century in motion pictures, still clings to the courage of its first convictions—independence, strength and fair dealing.

With the accompanying announcement of our 23rd season, we wish to express our appreciation of the confidence bestowed upon FOX FILM CORPORATION by the industry and the public.

Fox Film Corporation

Dull Care Tak

BRING-'EM-IN-BA
BOX-OFFI

IS ZA

YES IT

Still packing 'em in after 2 years' continuous run on Broadway.

William Fox Stages a Screen Battle of Wits and Fists With Beauty and Fortune as Prizes—

With a cast including
VIRGINIA VALLI

Scenario by Bradley King

es the Count!

BY gets decision over
CE BLUES

T SO?

s!

A whirlwind success on tour!
The sensation of the London stage!

Known to You All as the International Stage Success by James Gleason and Richard Taber.

A Pug and His Pal
in the Seats of Society—
With Two Peaches on the Side!

THE LILY

The Soul of the Spinster Revealed by Great French Dramatists—

A David Belasco Stage Success

WILLIAM FOX presents Pierre Wolff and Gaston Leroux's Drama of Passion Repressed and Revealed—Adapted by David Belasco

with

EDMUND LOWE BELLE BENNETT LOU TELLEGEN

By Arrangement with Samuel Goldwyn.

Scenario by Eve Unsell

VICTOR SCHERTZINGER Production

WILLIAM FOX announces

JOHN
FORD'S Supreme Achievement—
A Year
in the Making!

3 BAD MEN

The Latest, Greatest and Most Elaborate of All Epic Pictures of the West! Destined to Make History in Theatre Box-Offices.

WILLIAM FOX presents

3 BAD MEN

Based on Herman Whittaker's novel "Over the Border"

The romance of a girl in the land of promise—Civilization marches West—Homeseekers in search of gold, liberty and happiness.

Cast of 25,000

with

GEORGE O'BRIEN OLIVE BORDEN

J. FARRELL MACDONALD TOM SANTSCHI FRANK CAMPEAU

LOU TELLEGEN ALEC B. FRANCIS

PRISCILLA BONNER and the Prairie Beauties

JOHN FORD Production

WOMEN, WOMEN, WOMEN—here's a picture full of charmers!

The Average Man Cannot Say "No" to a Pretty Woman!
This Man Said "Yes" to Many Females and Found Himself

MARRIED ALIVE

Based on the novel by
RALPH STRAUS

A WILLIAM FOX Picture
with
EDMUND LOWE, MARGARET LIVINGSTON,
OLIVE BORDEN, FLORENCE GILBERT,
KATHRYN PERRY

Scenario by L. G. Rigby

HOWARD HAWKS Production

HE BOUGHT WEDDING RINGS
BY THE CARLOAD!

A THRILLER FOR JADED THEATRE-GOERS!

Science—a Crook and a Girl Compound
a Revenge Mystery!

WILLIAM FOX presents

Whispering Wires

with
OLIVE BORDEN
LOU TELLEGEN
JANET GAYNOR
EARLE FOXE
HALLAM COOLEY

Play by Kate McLaurin
Based on novel by Henry Leverage

Scenario by BRADLEY KING

IRVING CUMMINGS Producti

At Last! The Genuine Article!

WILLIAM FOX announces

WHAT PRICE GLORY

By Maxwell Anderson and
Laurence Stallings

Scenario by J. T. O'Donohue

On the Screen as a Supreme Box-Office Attraction

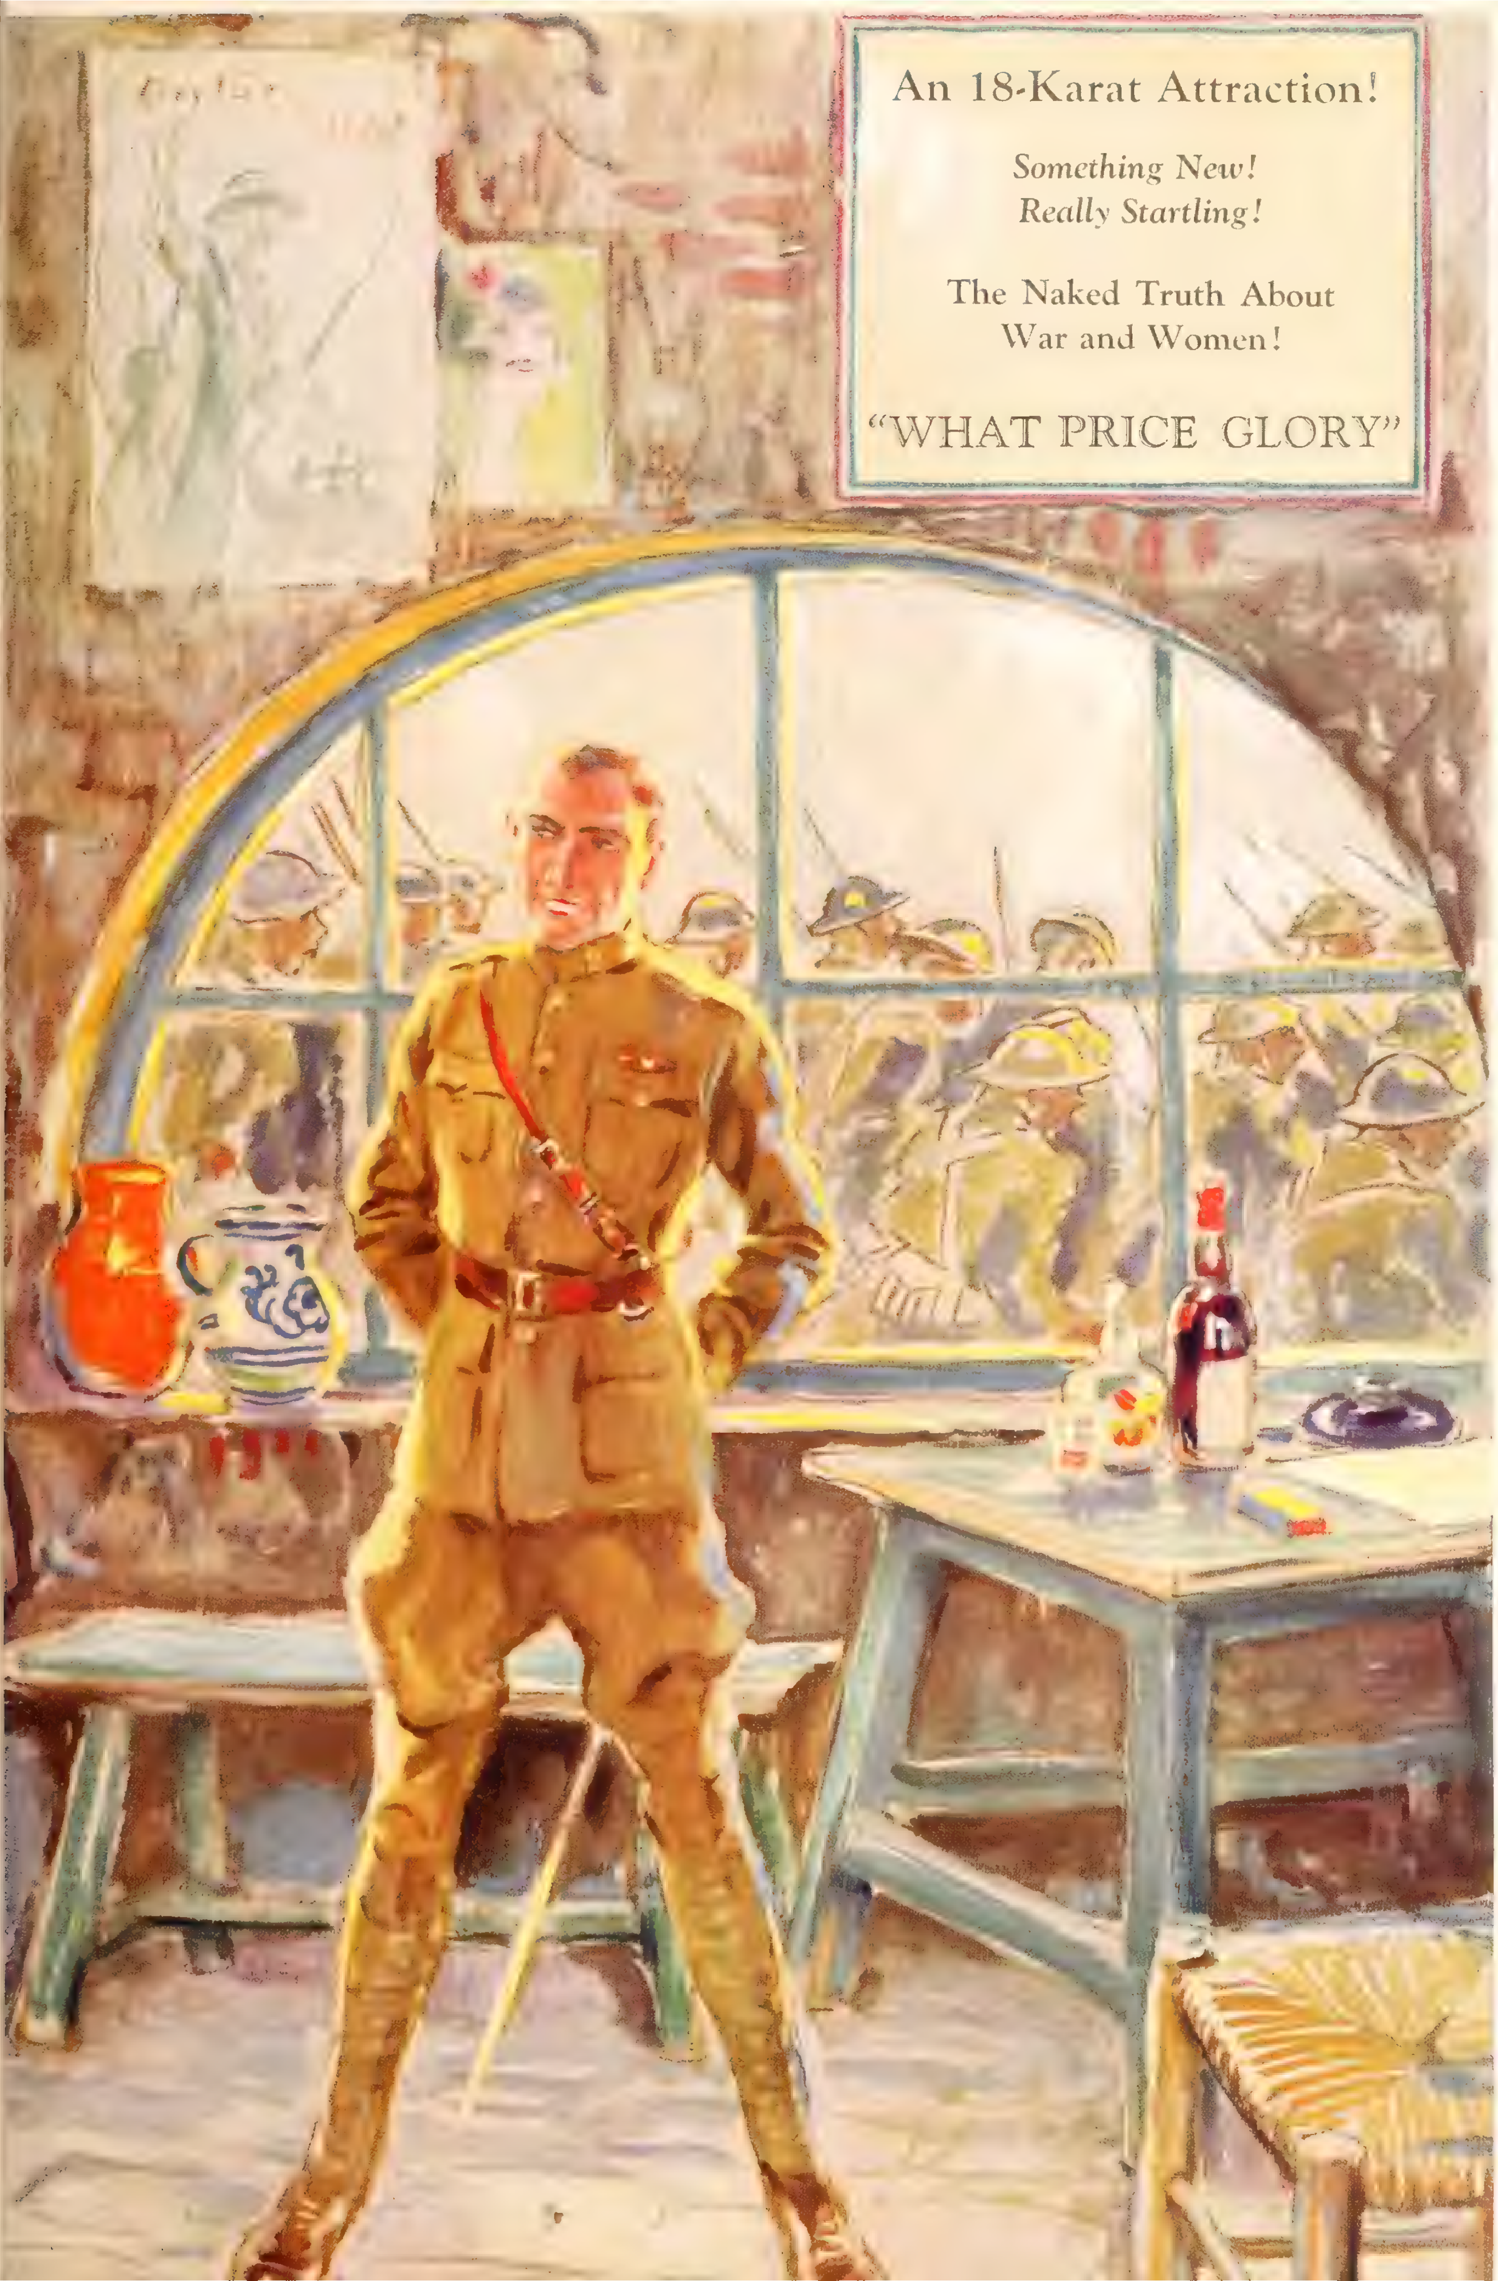
With three great artists as

Captain Flagg
Charmaine, the French girl
Sergeant Quirt

RAOUL WALSH
Production

The Satisfaction of Packed Houses Will be the Answer to
"WHAT PRICE GLORY"



An 18-Karat Attraction!
Something New!
Really Startling!
The Naked Truth About War and Women!
"WHAT PRICE GLORY"

England's greatest writer ears the veil from the narriage mystery!

WILLIAM FOX
presents

WEDLOCK

Based on the novel "Marriage"
by H. G. WELLS

Aroused to Primitive
Passions, a Woman
Fights for Her Mate!

with
EDMUND LOWE
ARGARET LIVINGSTON
KATHRYN PERRY

Scenario by Eve Unsell

JOHN
GRIFFITH
WRAY
Production

LOVE, HATE and the LAW—in the ARCTIC CIRCLE!

There is Box-Office Bigness in This Powerful Story of White Man's Vice and an Icelander's Answer

FROZEN JUSTICE

An Epic Story of the Great Ice Floes

A William Fox Outstanding Attraction

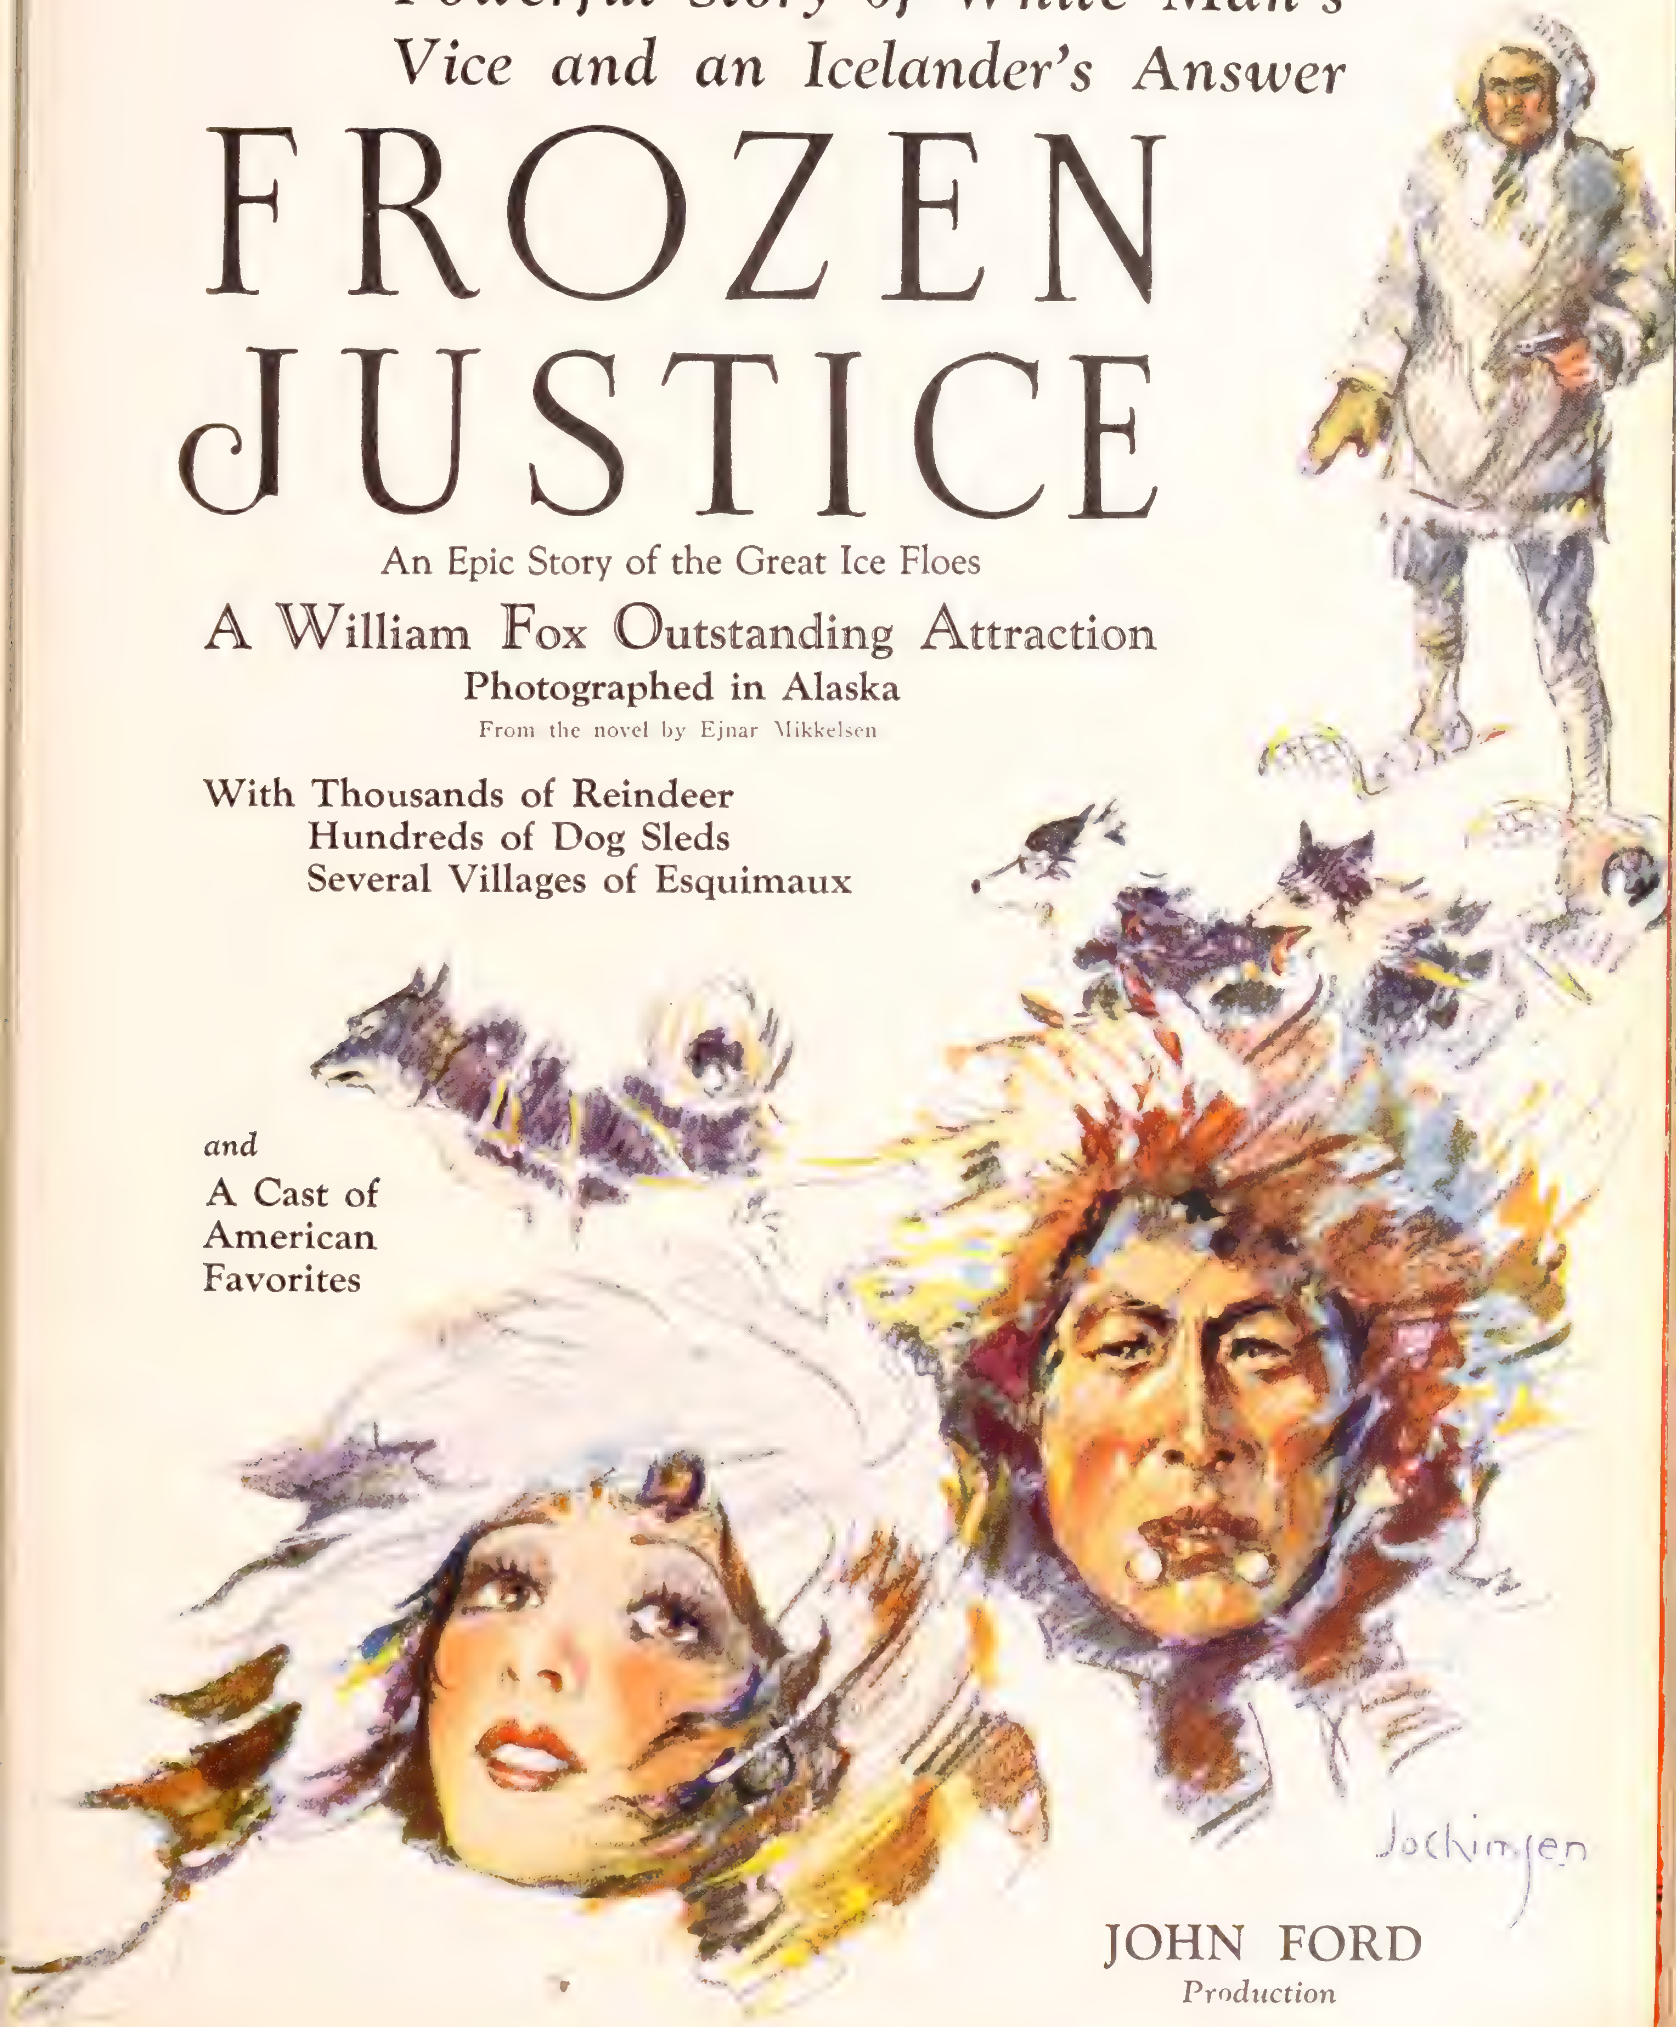
Photographed in Alaska

From the novel by Ejnar Mikkelsen

With Thousands of Reindeer
Hundreds of Dog Sleds
Several Villages of Esquimaux

and

A Cast of American Favorites



JOHN FORD
Production

A LESSON IN HUSBAND-TAMING THAT WILL
THE LADIES and BRING GALES of LAUGHTER
MALE AUDIENCE

PLEASE FROM YOUR

The William Fox screen version of this season's huge stage hit by Russell Medcraft and Norma Mitchell

The Smartest and Sauciest Drama of To-day—

Makes even the Flapper Gasp!

CRADLE SNATCHERS

How the Wife of To-day Cures Her Wayward Husband

AN EARTHQUAKE
OF LAUGHS

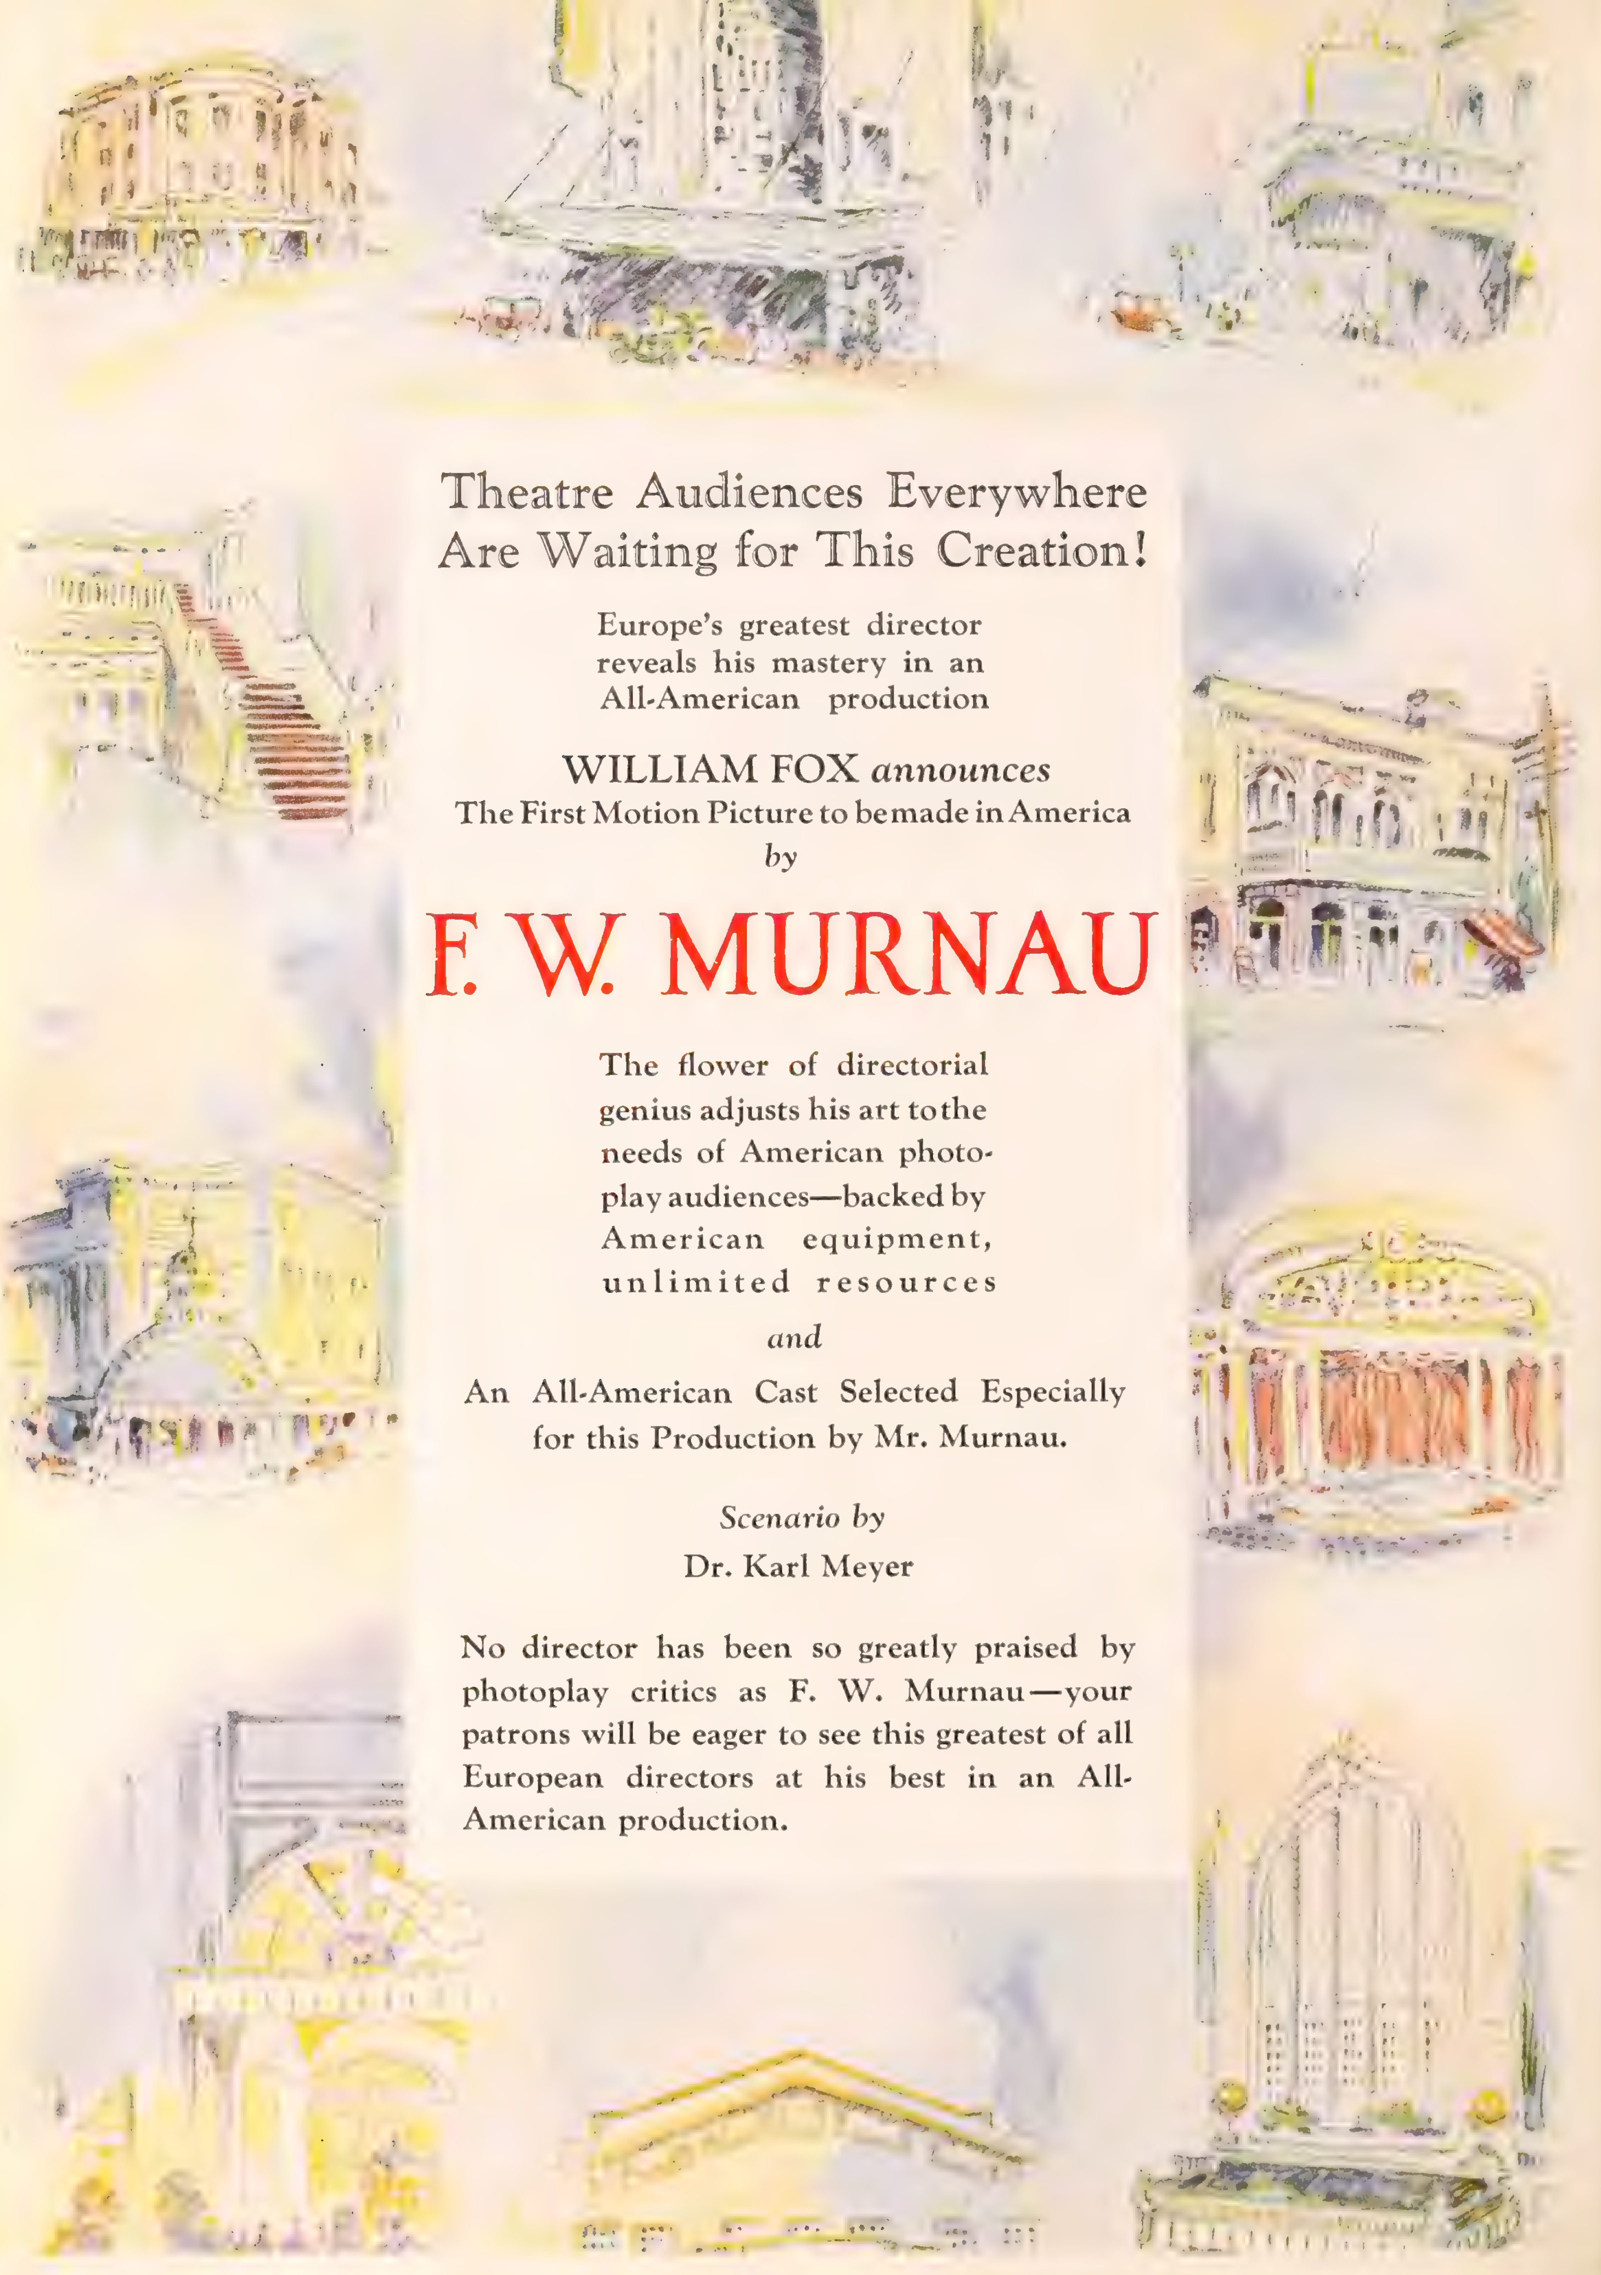
HOWARD HAWKS
Production

Scenario by EVE UNSELL



Theatre Audiences Everywhere Are Waiting for This Creation!

Europe's greatest director reveals his mastery in an
All-American production

WILLIAM FOX announces
The First Motion Picture to be made in America
by

F. W. MURNAU

The flower of directorial genius adjusts his art to the needs of American photoplay audiences—backed by American equipment, unlimited resources

and

An All-American Cast Selected Especially for this Production by Mr. Murnau.

Scenario by
Dr. Karl Meyer

No director has been so greatly praised by photoplay critics as F. W. Murnau—your patrons will be eager to see this greatest of all European directors at his best in an All-American production.

FIG LEAVES

The WILLIAM FOX novelty offering which takes you

Behind the Scenes
With a Successful
Parisian Coutourier!

A riot of Beauty and Luxury on the Screen!

A riot of Women
at Your Box-Office!

A rush of Mere Men not to get left!

An original screen story by Howard Hawks in which a Modern Eve revolts against love without luxury up-to-date.

presenting

GEORGE O'BRIEN

as Adam

OLIVE BORDEN

as Eve

Andre de Beranger — Phyllis Haver

HOWARD HAWKS PRODUCTION

Scenario
by Hope Loring
and
Louis D. Lighton

FIG LEAVES

A WILLIAM FOX BOX-OFFICE ATTRACTION

from the story by HOWARD HAWKS

OLIVE BORDEN as Eve
HOWARD HAWKS
PRODUCTION

WILLIAM FOX
announces

THE CITY

Based on the play by

CLYDE
FITCH

A Drama of Life Today and
Its Frenzy!

The Lure of Love and Ambition in the Whirl of Modern Progress—

For City, Neighborhood and Country Patronage!
CLYDE FITCH, Leading American Playwright, Wrote

THE CITY

A WILLIAM FOX SCREEN ATTRACTION with

EDMUND LOWE
MARGARET LIVINGSTON
Leslie Fenton
Florence Gilbert
Hallam Cooley

Scenario by Robert Lord
JOHN GRIFFITH WRAY
Production

The MUSIC MASTER

In this WILLIAM FOX attraction your patrons will See on the screen the complete life of The MUSIC MASTER—from the days of his early triumphs—scenes only hinted at on the stage.

Scenario by
Eve Unsell

VICTOR
SCHERTZINGER
Production

Learn from
"The Music Master"
the tune of busy
ticket choppers

Welcomed to the Screen by a Thousand Press Writers

when

WILLIAM FOX announced
he had bought

The MUSIC MASTER

The Greatest Drama
In 50 Years

DAVID
WARFIELD
DAVID
BELASCO
Triumph!

Based on the play by
Charles Klein

A Drama That Touched the Heartstrings of the World

A LITTER of LAUGHS!

—said John Golden, who produced the stage play.

A BREEDER of DOLLARS!

—says the Box-office Barometer.

JOHN GOLDEN
UNIT

Presented by
WILLIAM FOX

PIGS

How a boy brought home the bacon, and won love and success!

From the play by Anne Morrison and Patterson McNutt

with

JANET GAYNOR
LESLIE FENTON
KATHRYN PERRY
J. FARRELL MacDONALD

Scenario by Louis D. Lighton and Hope Loring

IRVING CUMMINGS PRODUCTION

PARFUMERIE
DUPUI
USABAL

After Years of Waiting for

JOHN GOLDEN'S Greatest Success of All Time!

WILLIAM FOX presents

7th HEAVEN

Austin Strong's drama of spiritual awakening through love and courage—An inspired story of the Paris underworld—One of the world's truly great plays—Now in the fourth season of its popularity with theatre audiences everywhere.

Exterior scenes
photographed in France

Studio scenes in Hollywood, California

Cast of American box-office favorites

Scenario by Frances Marion

JOHN GOLDEN
UNIT

FRANK BORZAGE Production

WILLIAM FOX BRINGS "7th HEAVEN" TO THE BOX-OFFICE!

BY EVERY TEST—HERE'S A STORY WITH REAL 100 PER CENT. AUDIENCE VALUE!

A Heart-twister for Every Man and His Girl!

The William Fox screen version of Gerald Beaumont's magazine story "The Lord's Referee."

They fought it out in the parish gym—
The Michigan Kid and Rough-house Tim—
Fought for the girl, with none to see
But the Devil's Master—their referee!

THE DEVIL'S
MASTER

With

GEORGE O'BRIEN

OLIVE BORDEN

Alec B. Francis Florence Gilbert
Frank Beal Charles Farrell

Scenario by Agnes Leahy

JOHN FORD
Production

WILLIAM FOX presentation

The PELICAN

Based on the new play success by F. Tennyson Jesse and
H. M. Harwood

with

ALMA RUBENS
LOU TELLEGEN
LESLIE FENTON

FRANK BORZAGE
Production

The story of a mother who sacrificed love and happiness to establish a career for the son she adored

"An old legend has it that the female Pelican will pluck her breast to feed her young with her own blood"

It is a beautiful young woman who rivals—

The PELICAN

in the WILLIAM FOX screen presentation
Based on the new play success by
F. Tennyson Jesse
and
H. M. Harwood

with

ALMA RUBENS
LOU TELLEGEN
LESLIE FENTON

FRANK BORZAGE
Production

WILLIAM FOX presents

The RETURN of PETER GRIMM

Sensationally Debated
When First Presented
by David Belasco—

An Even Greater Play
Theme for Today's Audiences.

From the play by

DAVID BELASCO

The RETURN of PETER GRIMM

A love story with an unseen star

From the play by

DAVID BELASCO

Scenario by Bradley King

JOHN GRIFFITH WRAY

Production

The return of Peter Grimm to the world of entertainment in the William Fox screen production marks
another great achievement in the field of motion pictures.

an the dead return commune with e living?

FOR A STRAIGHT
STEER TO GOOD
ENTERTAINMENT play

GOING CROOKED

JOHN GOLDEN'S COMEDY HIT
Presented on the screen by William Fox
Based on the play by Winchell Smith,
William Collier and Aaron Hoffman

The story of a young pair who got mixed up in a great international mystery

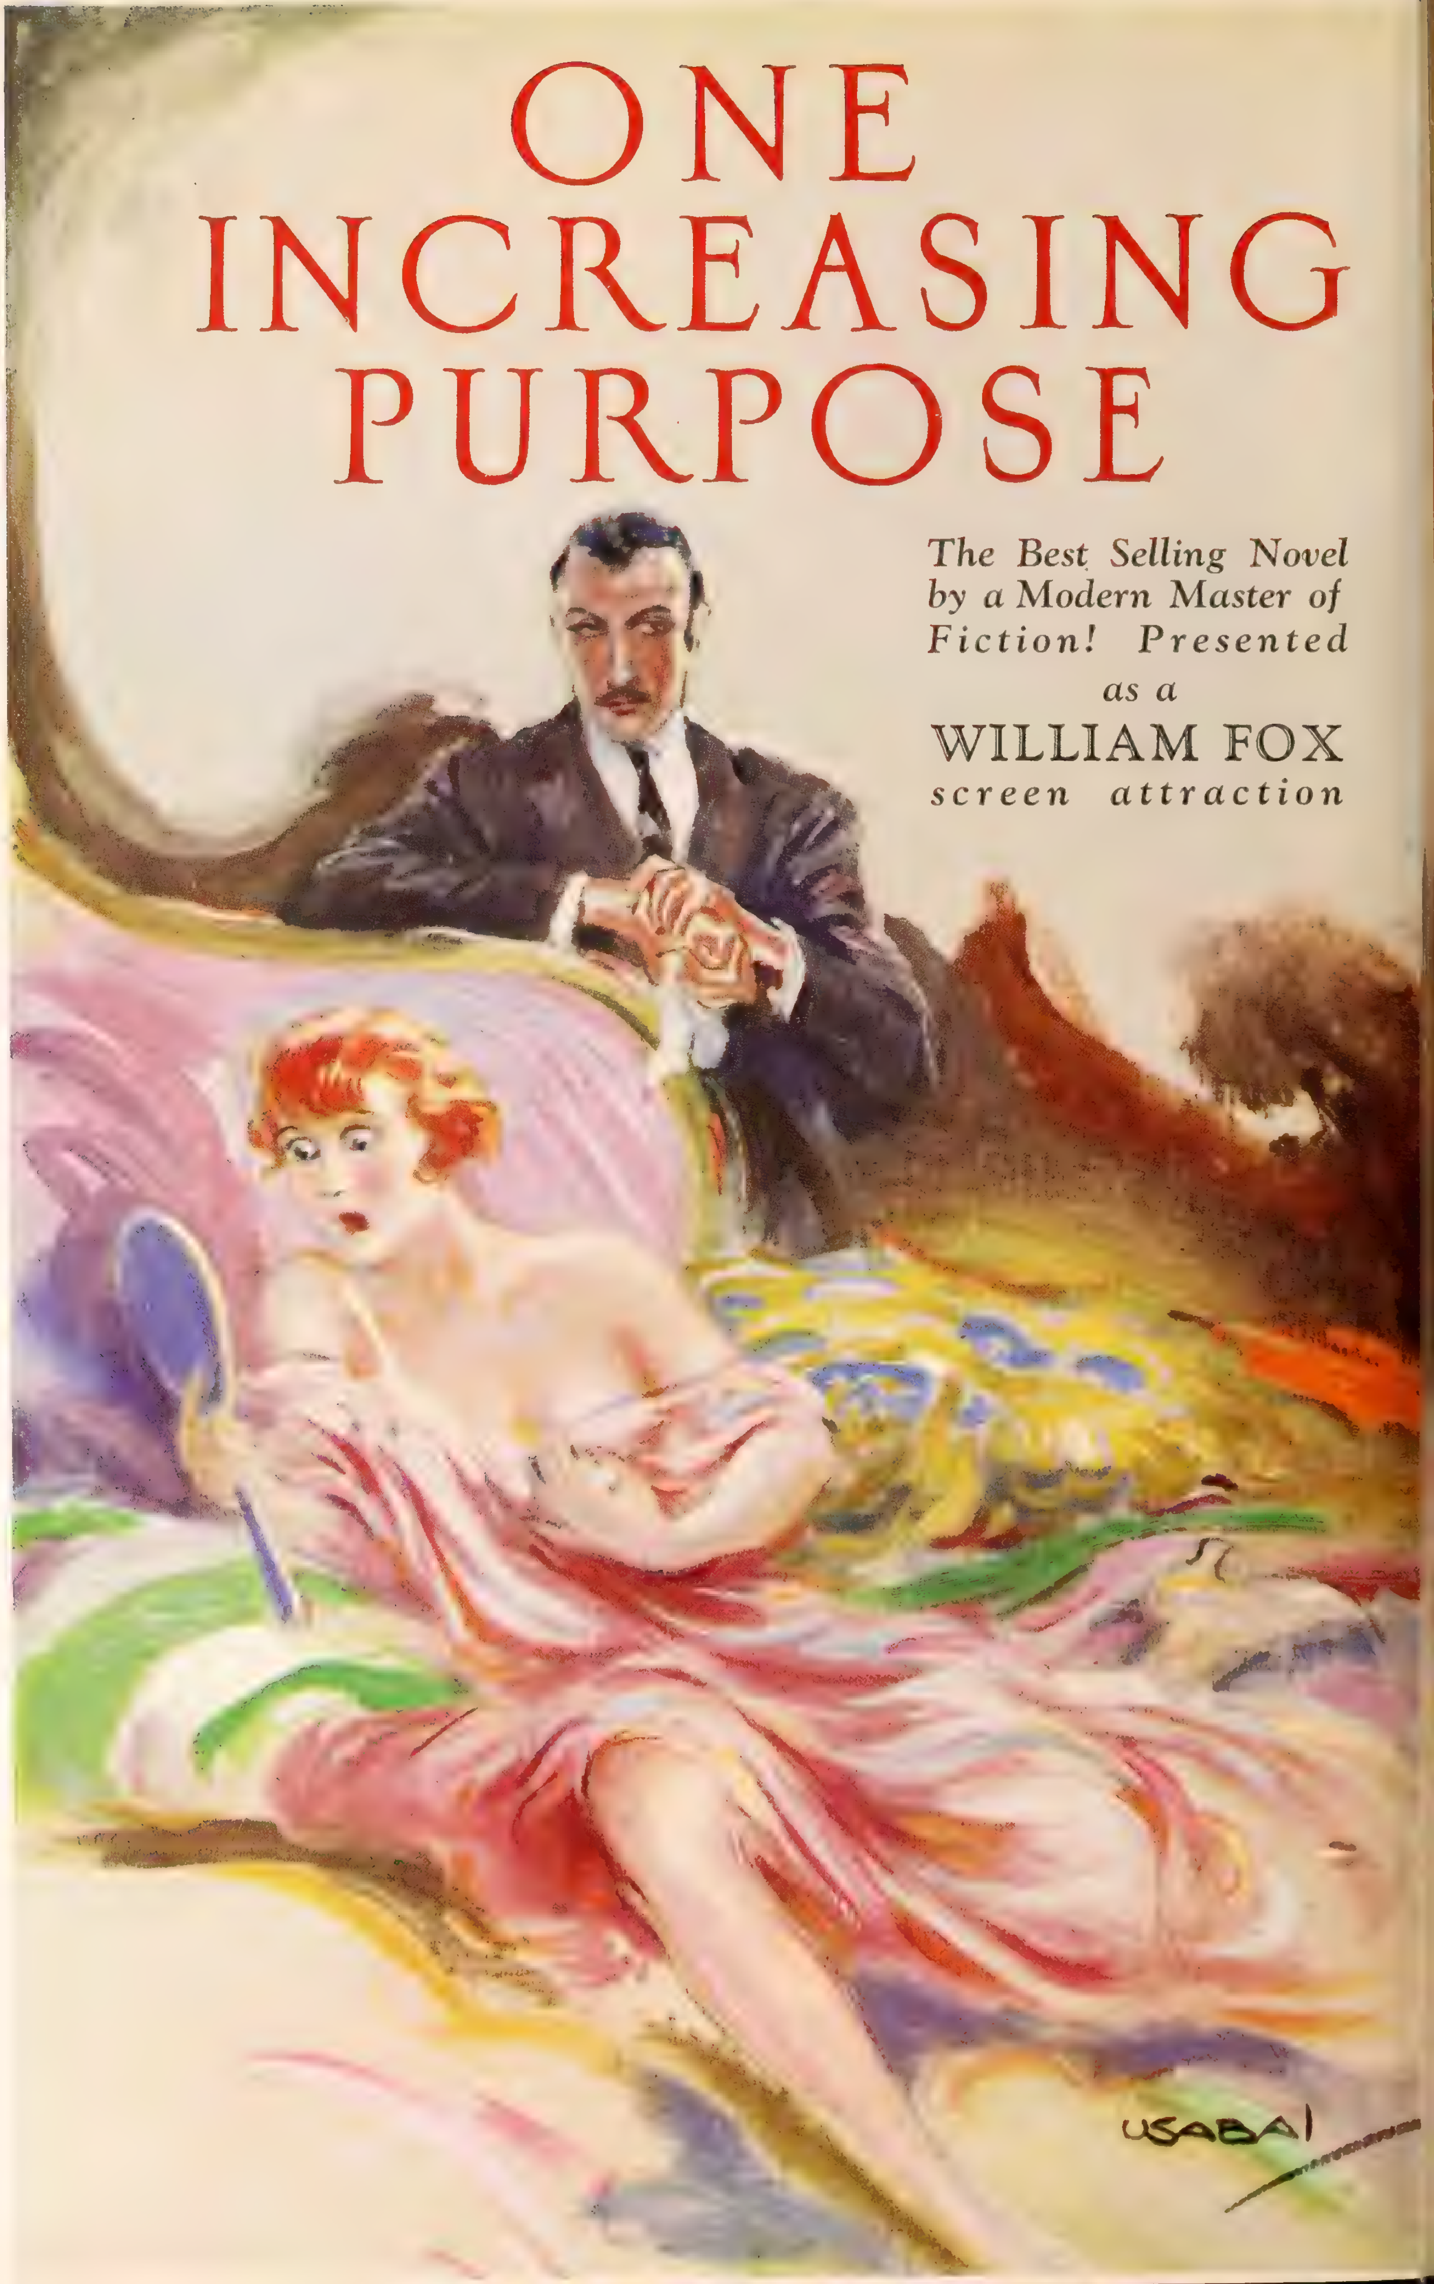
with

VIRGINIA VALLI
EARLE FOXE
KATHRYN PERRY

Scenario by Bradley King

EMMETT FLYNN
Production

JOHN GOLDEN
UNIT



ONE INCREASING PURPOSE

The Best Selling Novel by a Modern Master of Fiction! Presented as a screen attraction

WILLIAM FOX

A. S. M. HUTCHINSON'S

Latest, Greatest and Most Debatable Story

Bigger Than

IF WINTER COMES

Exterior scenes photographed in England
Studio scenes in Hollywood, California

Cast of American favorites

Scenario by Kenneth Clarke

FRANK BORZAGE
Production

Life baffled him—but love showed him the way

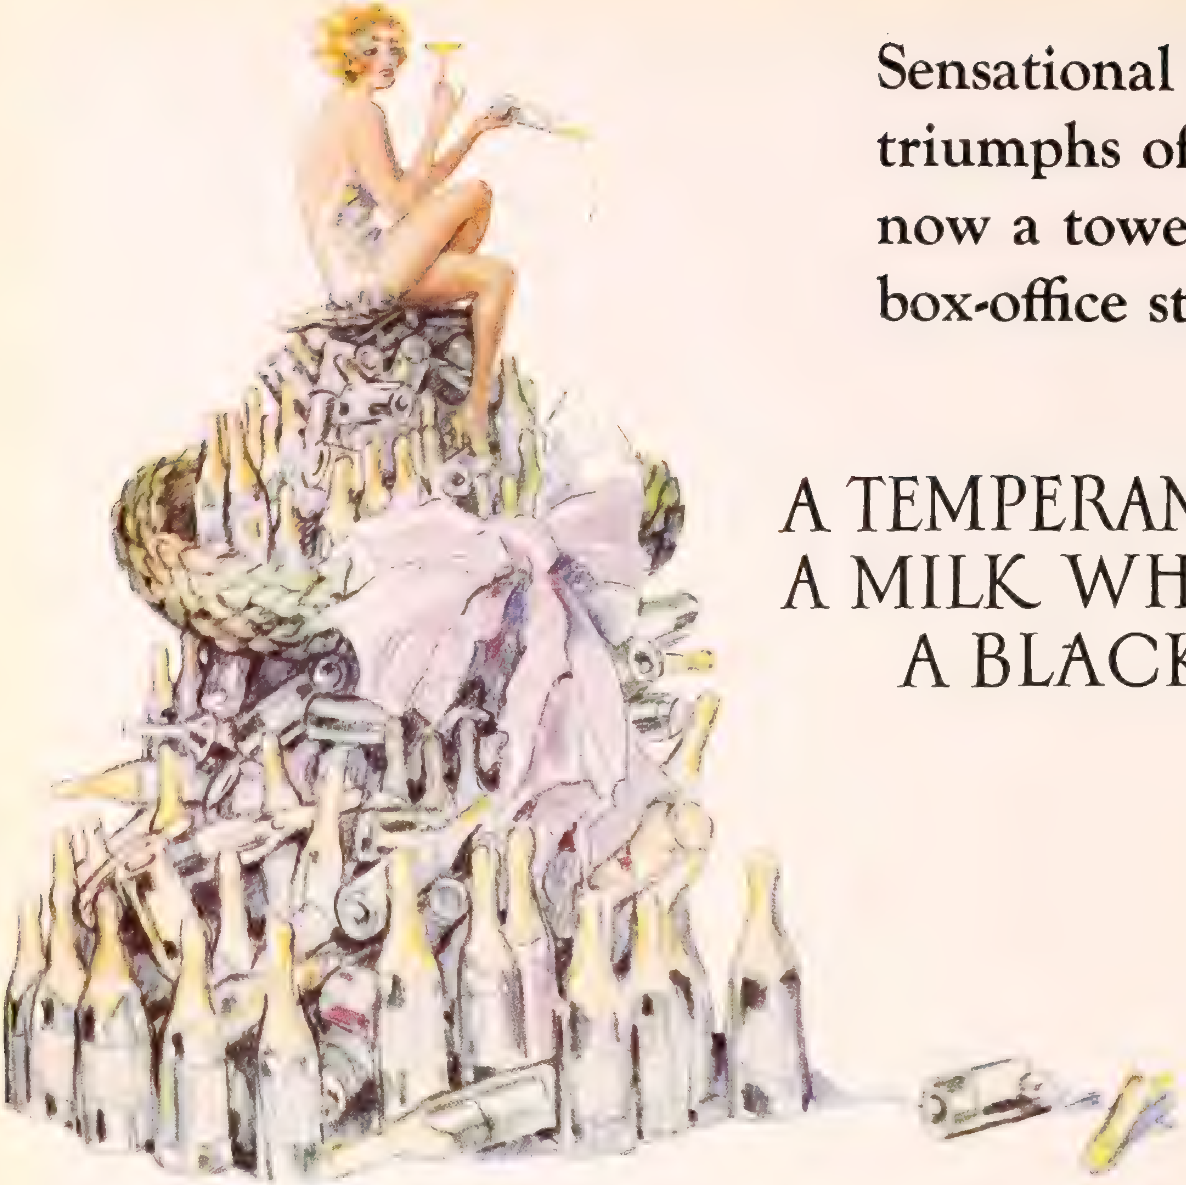
Sensational stage triumphs of yesterday now a tower of box-office strength!

A TEMPERANCE TOWN
A MILK WHITE FLAG–
A BLACK SHEEP



Charles H. Hoyt's
A TEMPERANCE TOWN
Prohibition and petticoats served with pep à la Hoyt

Charles H. Hoyt's
A MILK WHITE FLAG
How society's pets fought it out with champagne corks and powder puffs.

Fox Resources and Fox Enterprise Bring to the Screen Its First Presentation of the Celebrated

Charles H. Hoyt plays

Again the laugh-stirring genius of Charles H. Hoyt rocks the world with mirth. The crackling, sparkling wit and humor of America's greatest writer of farce-comedy visualized on the screen for the entertainment of millions.

Directorial Supervision of
GEORGE E. MARSHAL

Charles H. Hoyt's

A BLACK SHEEP

The roaring comedy success of the wild westerner who swapped millions for a stage flapper.

JOHN GOLDEN'S PLAY OF THE VIRGINIA HILLS
in which Love Tames a Fighting Two-Gun Man
WILLIAM FOX presents

A HOLY TERROR

Based on the play by Winchell Smith and George Abbott with MARGARET LIVINGSTON
LESLIE FENTON JANET GAYNOR
Frank Beal Gladys McConnell Charles Farrell

JOHN GOLDEN UNIT

Scenario by J. T. O'Donohue

RAOUL WALSH
Production

No Blarney—This Is a Gem from the EMERALD ISLE!

WILLIAM FOX announces

The STORY of
MOTHER MACHREE

From the Novelette by Rida Johnson Young

The Touching Story of a Mother's Love
and Self-Denial

with

GEORGE O'BRIEN

JANET GAYNOR

J. FARRELL MACDONALD

PEGGY O'REILLY

SHAMUS DUFFY

HANNAH SULLIVAN

ELLEN CASEY

MOLLY MACSWEENEY

and a cast of Irish Beauties

JOHN FORD

Tom Mix
The Super-Western Star!
USABAL

will be presented by

WILLIAM FOX

with

TONY

the Wonder Horse

in

7

Western Dramas De Luxe

including

DEAD MAN'S GOLD

From the novel by J. Allan Dunn
Thomas Buckingham Production

SILK HAT COWBOY

By Gerald Beaumont
J. G. Blystone Production

WESTERN SOCIETY

By Adela Rogers St. Johns
Thomas Buckingham Production

TOM MIX and TONY
the surest box-office bet!

IT TAKES YEARS OF EXPERIENCE TO MAKE GREAT "WESTERNS"

FOX HAS THE WESTERNS!

THE AUCTIONEER

The William Fox screen presentation of the DAVID BELASCO—
DAVID WARFIELD stage triumph

Beloved by all—
the charm of his wonderful character spread from the democratic atmosphere of the Bronx through the gates of exclusiveness of Riverside Drive.

From the play
by Charles Klein
and Lee Arthur

THE AUCTIONEER

with

GEORGE SIDNEY

as the Auctioneer

and a noted cast including

MADGE BELLAMY

JANET GAYNOR
CHARLES FARRELL
J. FARRELL MacDONALD
GLADYS McCONNELL

A 1926 Version of a great American Character Drama

A Sensational Dramatic Novelty Hit in New York, London and Paris!
WILLIAM FOX presents
A Screen elaboration of the international stage success

The MONKEY TALKS

By Rene Fauchois

Monkey or Man—love was his ruling passion!
with
Edmund Lowe   Olive Borden   J. Farrell MacDonald and JACQUES LERNER

The world's foremost animal impersonator—first appearance on the screen—creator of the title role in the New York, London and Paris stage productions.

Adapted by Gladys Unger
Scenario by J. T. O'Donohue

RAOUL WALSH
Production

It's Different! It's a New Thrill!
Three Big Shows Rolled Into One!

The Romance of the Circus Ring!
The Glamour of the Folies Bergeres!
The Mystery of the Monkey who talked!

FOR HIS VAST FOLLOWING OF FANS

William Fox
announces

Ace of the Great Outdoors—

BUCK JON

including

DARK ROSALEEN
Max Brand's latest novel
R. WILLIAM NEILL Production

30 BELOW ZERO
By John Stone
ROBERT P. KERR Production

The BRONCHO TWISTER
THOMAS BUCKINGHAM Production

DESERT VALLEY
Novel by Jackson Gregory
R. WILLIAM NEILL Production

It Takes Years of Experience to Make Great "Westerns"

EVER-INCREASING IN NUMBERS

A Series of 7
Virile Western Stories

Starring

Scene from "30 Below Zero"

ES

OX
AS THE
WESTERNS!

Here's a picture will start many a controversy! Was the girl right? Your audience will have a lot to say about—

The WAY THINGS HAPPEN

As presented by
WILLIAM FOX
Based on the play
by Clemence Dane
Scenario by
L. G. Rigby

She gave youth, beauty and all life held . . . . .
to save the man
she loved!

R. WILLIAM NEILL
Production
with
MADGE BELLAMY
LESLIE FENTON
and
LOU TELLEGEN

A Celebrated Novelist Mixes
High Society in the Drama of a Hold-up—

Paul Leicester Ford's
Love and Mystery Romance

The GREAT K and A TRAIN ROBBERY is presented by

WILLIAM FOX

A breath-taking tale of looted mails and stolen hearts

A NEW NOTE IN WESTERN THRILLERS ON THE SCREEN!

Scenario by Bradley King

IRVING CUMMINGS

Production

THEY'RE ALL IN THE AUDIENCE!

You screen your patrons in

The FAMILY UPSTAIRS

The WILLIAM FOX Picture from the play by Harry Delf

Shows How the Family Skeleton Stepped Between the Family Hope and Her Boy Friend

with
VIRGINIA VALLI
J. FARRELL MacDONALD
LESLIE FENTON
HARRY BEAUMONT
Production

What Happens Behind
the Closed Doors of Half the Homes in America.

Scenario by
EVE UNSELL

FOX NEWS

SCREEN JOURNALISM, or the recording of the course of human events in motion pictures, is today a world-wide institution—performing an indispensable service for all mankind and constituting one of the great factors of the horizons of modern civilization.

The public today depends upon the newsreel for a timely, truthful and entertaining pictorial summary of the world's current events. The public today relies upon the newsreel for the straight-forward, unbiased presentation of visual fact and information which enables it to shape a clear and honest opinion of the world at work and at play.

With a keen sense of these responsibilities and with a deep appreciation of its ever increasing patronage of thoughtful, intelligent people, FOX NEWS is endeavoring consistently to fulfill the obligations a newsreel owes the public—honesty, impartiality, enterprise and entertainment.

MIGHTIEST OF ALL

FOX VARIETIES

THE WORLD WE LIVE IN

From the far corners of the earth, from our own great land, and perhaps just around the corner from you, our cameramen have been bringing material to make this great series of single reel pictures. Here are just a few of the twenty-six:

DOWN TO DAMASCUS
Wandering through byways charged with the spirit and mystery of the Orient.

AROUND THE WORLD IN TEN MINUTES
A novelty picture that took five cameramen a year to photograph.

THE AUSTRIAN ALPS
A visit to one of Europe's most out-of-the-way, yet beautiful spots.

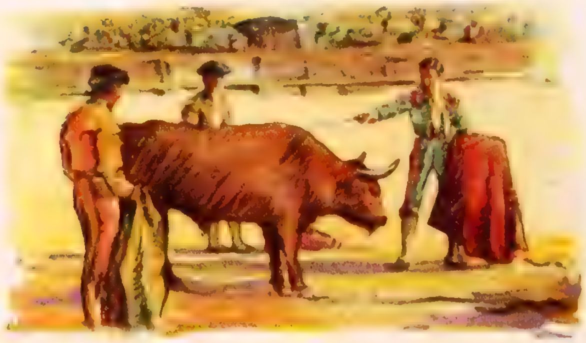
A SPANISH HOLIDAY
Unique and thrilling. Filled with laughing, cheering crowds of merrymakers.

TRAVELS IN TOYLAND
A novelty for the youngsters to enjoy, and a smile for their elders.

AN INLAND VOYAGE
Sailing over our own great inland seas on a voyage of pictorial discovery.

FOX VARIETIES

26 for the Season.



FOX HAS
THE COMEDIES

William Fox

announces that the huge FOX SHORT SUBJECT PROGRAM for 1926-1927 will include a new series to be known as the

FOX ANIMAL COMEDIES

8

Ingenious, unusual, sparkling laugh-makers with animals of all descriptions composing the casts.

This means

52

BOX-OFFICE FOX
COMEDIES for the
SEASON

ONE POPULAR
FOX COMEDY
EVERY WEEK
during 1926-
1927

WILLIAM FOX presents
A new series of 8 two-reel comedies based on

The MARRIED LIFE of HELEN and WARREN

By Mabel Herbert Urner

Now running serially in 500 daily newspapers

Including
EASY PAYMENTS
BACK TO MOTHER
NOT TO BE TRUSTED
THE MOTHER-IN-LAW
THE LAST WORD

Supervised by
GEORGE E. MARSHALL

with
KATHRYN
PERRY
HALLAM
COOLEY
America's best known couple

FOX
HAS THE COMEDIES

FOX
HAS THE COMEDIES

WILLIAM
FOX presents

A new series of
20 for 1926-1927

Imperial Comedies

Each Laden With Laughter, Beautiful Girls and the Screen's Best Laugh Makers

Heading the list are

KING OF THE KITCHEN and MONEY SCREAMS

Supervised by
GEORGE E. MARSHALL

FOX HAS THE COMEDIES!

WILLIAM FOX presents

EARLE FOXE

in a new series of 8
two-reel
comedies

The Adventures of

VAN BIBBER
in Society

based on stories by

RICHARD HARDING
DAVIS

including
THE CLOWN
and
THE SWIMMING
INSTRUCTOR

Supervised by
GEORGE E. MARSHALL

FOX HAS THE COMEDIES!

WILLIAM FOX
presents a new series of 8 two-reel comedies
based on stories by

O. HENRY

America's greatest short story writer

from Babes
in the Jungle

from Masters of Arts

from Caliph
Cupid

from Marry Month of May

from Diamond of Kali

including—

Babes in the Jungle
The Caliph, Cupid and the Clock
Complete Life of John Hopkins
Diamond of Kali
Girl
Marry Month of May
Masters of Arts
Psyche and the Pskyscraper

Supervised by
GEORGE E. MARSHALL

Fast Action is Their Keynote!

FOX PRODUCT

for 1926-1927 will be composed of

49 Dramatic Productions

---

35 HIGH-POWERED MONEY MAKERS INCLUDING

WHAT PRICE GLORY
THE MUSIC MASTER
THE MONKEY TALKS
A TEMPERANCE TOWN
THE DEVIL'S MASTER
WHISPERING WIRES
THE STORY OF MOTHER MACHREE
CRADLE SNATCHERS
ONE INCREASING PURPOSE
IS ZAT SO?
FIG LEAVES
THE LILY
PIGS
THE CITY
THE RETURN OF PETER GRIMM
A BLACK SHEEP
WEDLOCK Based on "Marriage"
THE PELICAN
7th HEAVEN
3 BAD MEN
THE AUCTIONEER
A MILK WHITE FLAG
THE WAY THINGS HAPPEN
One Production Staged by F. W. MURNAU
MARRIED ALIVE
A HOLY TERROR
THE FAMILY UPSTAIRS
GOING CROOKED
FROZEN JUSTICE

and 14 mighty Westerns including

7 TOM MIX Pictures—Screen's greatest and most popular Western star.

7 BUCK JONES Productions—Whirlwind pictures of the West with a mighty star at his best.

SHORT SUBJECTS

LITTLE GIANTS OF THE SCREEN

52 TWO-REEL COMEDIES

8 of those popular comedies starring EARLE FOXE as VAN BIBBER, the diverting character created by RICHARD HARDING DAVIS.

8 New Brand comedies, to be known as FOX ANIMAL Comedies. The best and funniest of their kind ever produced.

8 of the big-selling comedies based on the MARRIED LIFE OF HELEN AND WARREN by Mabel Herbert Urner, with Kathryn Perry and Hallam Cooley.

8 of the captivating comedy dramas based on gems of fiction by O. HENRY, greatest of all short story writers.

20 IMPERIAL COMEDIES whose reputation for being the greatest laugh makers on the market is an established fact.

26 FOX VARIETIES—Those wonderful single reel subjects which bring delightful romance from all the far places of the earth to your screen, in great demand everywhere.

104

FOX NEWS

The leader in screen journalism

FOX FILM CORPORATION

Head Office—850 Tenth Avenue, New York City
Studios—New York City and Hollywood, California

BRANCHES
THROUGHOUT THE WORLD

Printed in U.S.A.
Prospect Press, Inc., New York

Fox Films Corporation Looks Forward to Most Successful Season

TWENTY-TWO years of experimentation, progress and achievement have placed Fox Film Corporation on the threshold of what undoubtedly will prove the greatest year in its history. Virtually since the birth of the industry Fox Films has marched ahead, leaving its line of accomplishments as milestones.

For the season of 1926-27 it is evident to even the most casual observer that this company plans its greatest individual step up the ladder of achievement. For more than two years, the entire official organization of Fox Films has been at work, constructing the most solid foundation for a season's output of motion picture attractions that the industry has ever witnessed.

It has conducted a spectacular raid on the stage hits of the country. The cream of some of the mightiest works of fiction from the pens of the world's most widely-known authors has been purchased for the new season's screen material. Original screen stories by some of the best writers of popular stories in America to-day also will contribute their share of the scenarios for the 1926-27 film entertainments.

William Fox, president Fox Film Corporation

With the purchase of some of the biggest theatrical hits on Broadway, and a number of the best-known and most widely-read novels by the most renowned writers, the Fox Company has laid the solid basis for its production plans of the coming season. Since that time every official of the organization has been hard at work to build up from the foundation laid by the purchase of the plays and books mentioned.

With the acquisition of James R. Grainger as general sales manager, W. R. Sheehan, vice-president and general manager of Fox Films was able to transfer his activities to the West Coast studios where he could personally supervise the making of the productions. For nearly a year, he has been devoting his time almost exclusively to the making of the new season's pictures, injecting his showmanship ideas and the benefit of his long experience in the production of every new screen play.

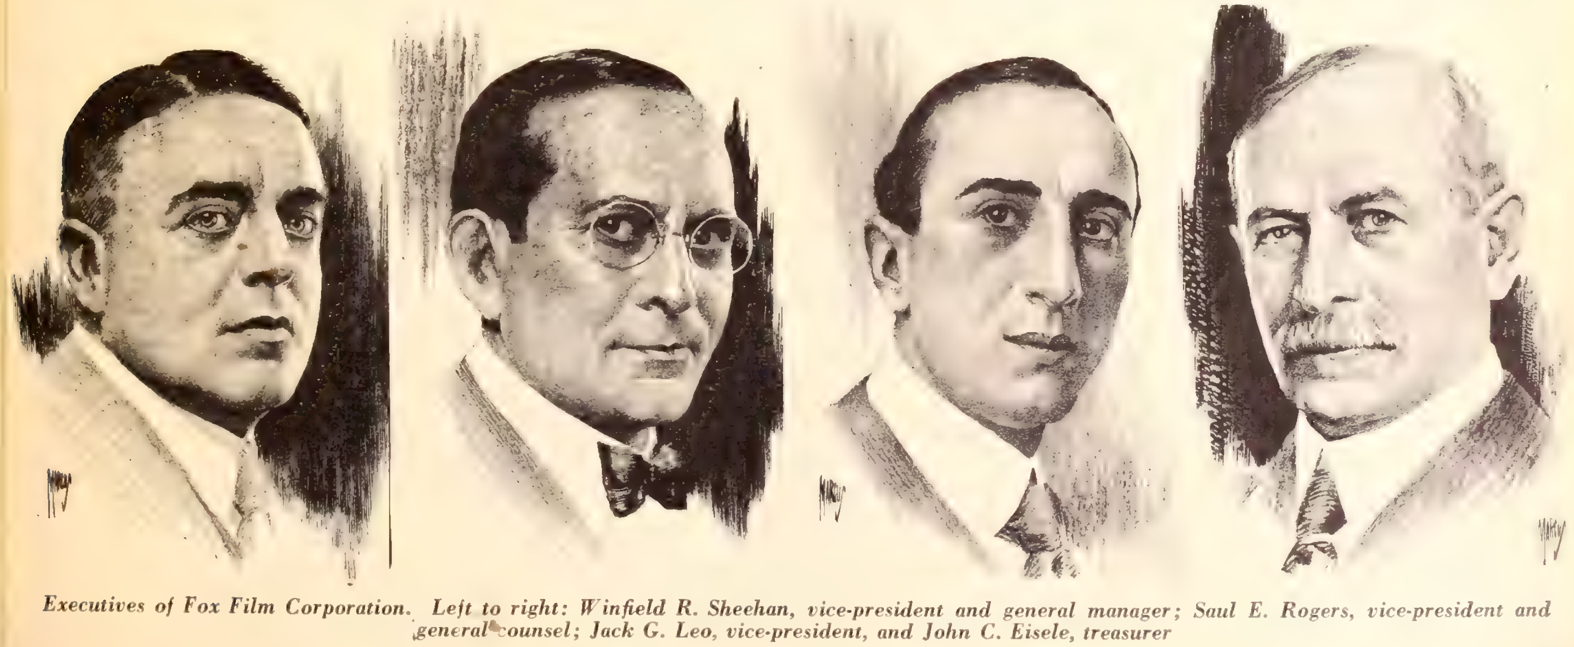
Surrounding himself with men whose ability and experience is known, not only throughout the motion picture industry, but by the press and public as well, Sheehan has developed his production units along lines that are considered by many the most efficient the photoplay has ever known.

Sol M. Wurtzel continues in his capacity of general superintendent of the Fox West Coast Studios and as one of the dominant, guiding hands in the staging of all special productions. His accomplishments are well-known in the industry and with the added facilities now at his command, he expects to surpass any previous season's pictures from the Fox studios.

Edwin C. Hill, formerly head of the scenario department and previous to that time known as "America's foremost newspaper writer," has been placed in charge by Sheehan of all Fox Western productions, which includes all the Tom Mix and all the Buck Jones releases. Although Fox always has been one of the leaders in the production of Western dramas, there can be no question but that, during the coming season, this reputation will be enhanced a hundredfold. The works of the greatest writers of virile outdoor stories in America have been purchased for both Mix and Jones and added facilities will make it possible to achieve the absolute utmost from these stories produced.

George E. Marshall has been appointed by Sheehan as a supervisor of all comedies. The superiority of Fox short subjects during the past season has been a recognized fact, but with the new plans proposed by Marshall for the coming season it is a certainty that all his previous efforts will be excelled.

Ned Holmes, well-known both in the theatrical profession and in the motion picture business as a showman of the highest calibre, has succeeded Hill as head of the scenario department. He is ably assisted by the best-known



Executives of Fox Film Corporation. Left to right: Winfield R. Sheehan, vice-president and general manager; Saul E. Rogers, vice-president and general counsel; Jack G. Leo, vice-president, and John C. Eisele, treasurer scenario writers obtainable, men and women holding enviable records for adapting plays and books to the screen.

Half Million Dollars Spent on West Coast Studio Reconstruction

Sheehan has contracted for the services of more than twenty-five noted directors to produce the attractions for the new season, men whose records of staging box-offices successes are unsurpassed. Ten well-known comedy directors already are also working under the Fox banner and additions undoubtedly will be made from time to time.

Nearly fifty noted stars and featured players already have been cast for forthcoming Fox releases, and negotiations are under way for the signing of numerous other well-known players, whose names spell success at the box office. Further announcements in this respect are expected in the near future.

With such a basis for a season's schedule of productions, there can be no question but that Fox Films has taken its biggest step forward.

Studio Remodelled

TEN years ago, at the corner of Sunset boulevard and Western Avenue in Hollywood, there stood a small, glass-covered stage, built into a structure which housed a few unpretentious offices, dressing-rooms and a laboratory. A modest sign above its entrance proclaimed it the William Fox Studio. That studio is now one of the largest and most modern motion picture plants in the world!

Since 1916 it has so increased its capacity to meet greater and greater demands for Fox pictures that it now occupies thirteen and one-half acres in the heart of the rapidly-growing business district it has fostered.

In addition to this, an appropriation of a half million dollars was made recently for the purchase of a four hundred-acre outdoor location lot in Westwood, and an extensive program of reconstruction and equipment on the Hollywood site.

Among the first things to be built at the old studio lot, was a new administration building to contain the offices of the directors and other executives. In another new building are located the reception room and the departments of the auditor and the cashier. In a third are the casting offices and the publicity department.

All the architecture is of the early Spanish type.

All the old buildings have been refaced to harmonize with the new, and each department has been remodeled and fitted with the best equipment obtainable.

James R. Grainger, General Sales Manager of Fox Film Corporation

In the new carpenter and machine shops is made everything necessary to scenes in any sort of production. In the property and wardrobe rooms are originals or replicas of articles in use in all parts of the world, dating from the reign of the Pharaohs down to modern times.

The technical department has a corps of experts, each a specialist in his own field, while a huge research library furnishes data for their most intricate work.

One of the highlights of the new construction program is an enormous stage, measuring 300 x 100 feet and fitted with every technical accessory known to science. Upon this will be produced all the big indoor scenes, and it is said that no pageant yet conceived for the films would be beyond its capacity. Six ordinary stages were wrecked to make way for this vast structure.

Its lighting system was devised by Calvin Hoffner, and is the first of its kind to be used anywhere in the world. All the lamps are operated overhead, thereby eliminating the "octopi" or "spider" fuse boxes which have formerly cluttered studio floors with their tentacles of electrical cables. They are handled by remote control from simple switches, and shift on overhead runways operated from the floor. Hoffner has gradually perfected this new system, through years of engineering experience.

Along the west wall of the stage are three tiers containing eighty-three dressing-rooms which supplement the bungalow dressing-rooms assigned to the stars and featured players.

Other interesting details of the new studio equipment include three centrifugal pumps with a capacity of forty thousand gallons of water per minute, operated by a 350-horsepower motor. These are for use in the taking of elaborate water scenes, which previously have had to be made outside the studio.

New cameras were installed at great expense, and the old cameras were re-equipped. Thirty cameras, of various types, are in constant use, employing 120 cameramen.

A gyroscopic camera car, designed by Armin Fried, was first used in making "3 Bad Men." It is a platform on wheels, so constructed that the operator can follow action from room to room, upstairs and down, and into any outdoor location where actors can go.

Like a miniature of an old California mission is the new Little Theatre, designed for the previewing of pictures by the executives of the company. Its interior is fifty-nine by twenty-five feet, and large enough to seat three hundred spectators. It is finished in dark colors and beautifully decorated. The beamed ceiling conceals the indirect lighting system, and ornamental grills provide ventilation. An electrical furnace supplies the heat. All films are presented with orchestra accompaniment, and under the same conditions that exist in a regular theatre.

Ground Purchased

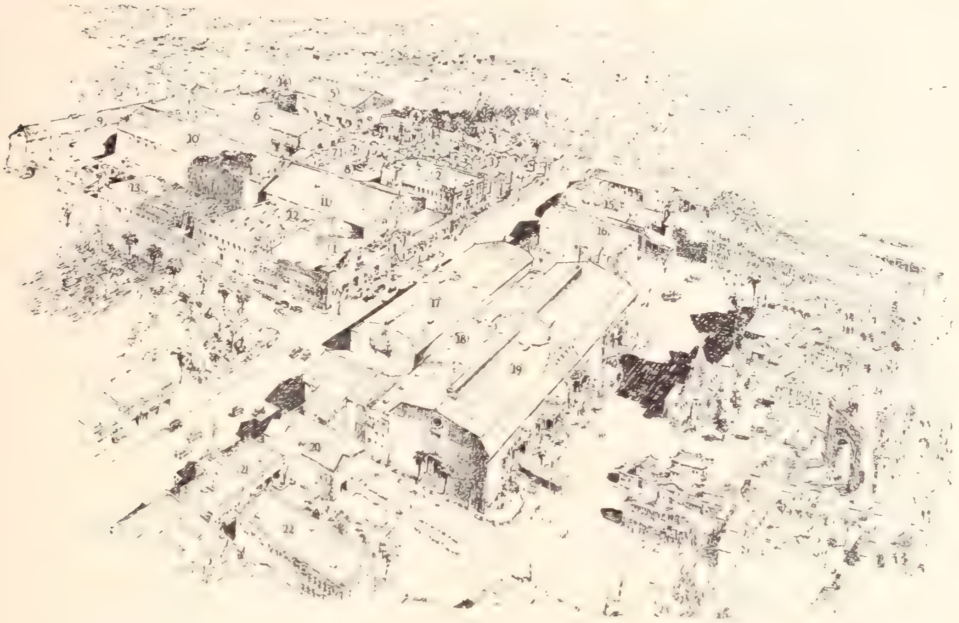
With the purchase of the four-hundred-acre site in Westwood, it seems that ample provision for a prosperous future has at last been made. It lies midway between Hollywood and Santa Monica Beach in a beautiful section of the Fox Hills district.

Located there are the Mix Rancho and the Buck Jones "Outpost" with kennels, corrals and stables for thoroughbreds. There, also, are barns and sheds for housing the old stage coaches.

The great outdoor stages are lighted by the same system installed at the Hollywood studio, and equipped with the same modern accessories. There is a huge sky backing erected on a steel frame, and there is a treadmill for use in outdoor action scenes. The location has an elaborate system of intersecting highways, and a stream of water winds its way through the whole property.

Outstanding features of the new location are a Spanish village, a factory district, a Siamese village and temple, an Irish village, an Aztec temple in Mexico, a replica of the Arc de Triomphe and an exact reproduction of a typical French village for use in the making of "What Price Glory."

View of Remodelled Studio



BIRD'S-EYE view of Fox Studios, on Western Avenue, in the heart of the Hollywood district of Southern California and located in a beautiful, natural setting, with the Hollywood Hills in the background. The two studios are situated on both sides of Western Avenue, which is shown running thorugh the center of the drawing at the top of the page. Within the two enclosures, which are screened from public view by attractively decorated walls and buildings, the varied units involved in the production of Fox Films are housed.

These units are indicated by the following key numbers:

No. 1—The new reception room and departments occupied by the auditor, cashier and their staff.s

No. 2 — The new Administration Building, where officials, directors and other executives are located.

No. 3—The attractive bungalows in which the various stars are quartered.

No. 4—The new Preview Theatre, seating 300 people, where, with orchestra accompaniment, executives preview Fox pictures.

No. 5—One of the great enclosed stages.

No. 6—Another large stage.

No. 7—Where the electrical power for the studio is created.

No. 8—A patio banked with a profusion of the tropical plants and shrubs and surrounding a beautiful fountain.

No. 9—The drapery and property department, the finest of its kind.

No. 10—A huge stage known as Light No. 1.

No. 11—A stage designated as Dark No. 1.

No. 12—The modern and completely equipped laboratories.

No. 13—The transportation department.

No. 14—Where the supervisor of Fox comedies and his staff are located.

No. 15—The mill on the east side of Western Avenue.

No. 16—One of the smaller stages.

No. 17—A large stage stretching along Western Avenue.

No. 18—One of the finest dressing-room buildings in the industry.

No. 19—Largest stage ever built for picture producing.

No. 20—Still another big stage.

No. 21—The casting offices and publicity department.

No. 22—The wardrobe department.

No. 23—The studio devoted entirely to the making of portraits.

No. 24—Some outdoor sets, showing a Chinese village, and old Spanish village, a replica of the Arc de Triomphe, with outdoor set in the immediate background.

Drawing, right center: This picture shows an elaborate ballroom scene on one of the great interior stages of the Fox Studios, at Hollywood, Cal., during the process of filming a picture.

Drawing, left center. This shows a very fine architecture of the main entrance of Fox Studios, in Hollywood. It is of early Spanish style and in keeping with the style and architecture of the balance of the buildings.

Drawing, bottom: This is a drawing of the new Preview Theatre situated on the Fox lot in Hollywood. It is especially built for the previewing of pictures made at the Fox Studios, and they are presented here under the same conditions as in a theatre, with orchestra, etc.

It seats 300 people, is beautifully decorated and equipped in a most modern manner. The architecture is of old Californian mission style. It is one of the most charming little buildings in Hollywood.

Forty-Nine Feature Productions Are Scheduled on New Program

BOX-OFFICE value is represented in the dramatic production and short subject to be released by Fox Films during the 1926-27 season. The public is familiar with the title of virtually every feature attraction to be released, while the short subject groups are tied up with names and titles which are bywords.

There will be forty-nine feature length releases, thirty-five of them being regular dramatic productions and fourteen Westerns.

The short subject releases will be divided as follows: fifty-two two-reel comedies, twenty-six one-reel Fox Varieties and one hundred and four issues of Fox News. The two-reel comedies include eight of a new series of the popular Van Bibber comedies, another series of eight O. Henry comedies, a new series of eight Helen and Warren Married Life comedies, twenty mirth-provoking Imperial comedies, and eight Fox Animal comedies, bringing to the screen comic productions which can be classified as "different."

Included in the forty-nine feature releases are: Four plays which were produced on the stage by David Belasco. Three of them were starring vehicles for David Warfield: "The Music Master," "The Auctioneer" and "The Return of Peter Grimm." The fourth is "The Lily," in which Nance O'Neill had the featured role on the stage.

"The Music Master"

"The Music Master" is a drama of a heart hungry man. It was this play that immortalized David Warfield. It was written by Charles Klein. Eve Unsell of the Fox scenario staff has been assigned to write the script for the motion picture version, which will be produced under the direction of Victor Schertzinger.

The Fox picture version will show the life of the music master from the days of his early triumph, scenes only hinted at on the stage. From this point the dramatic development becomes increasingly more gripping and it is fair to expect that as a completed production, "The Music Master" will be one of the memorable screen dramas.

"The Auctioneer"

This Fox production will be a 1926, up-to-date story and characterization. The location has been changed from the East Side to a typical present-day section of the Bronx and Riverside Drive.

George C. Sidney will enact the title role which brought fame to David Warfield. "The Auctioneer" was written by Charles Klein and Lee Arthur. Featured with Sidney in the cast will be Madge Bellamy. Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, J. Farrell MacDonald and Gladys McConnell will play important roles.

Sol Wurtzel, Superintendent of Fox Films West Coast Studios

"The Return of Peter Grimm"

This was the first play to present the theory of the soul's immortality. David Warfield won new laurels in the role of Peter Grimm, a cultivator of rare flowers, who dies yet lives. With the case of spiritualism a great deal more in the public eye than it was in the days when Warfield was acting on the legitimate stage, it is easy to see that this film will cause a greater stir.

David Belasco is the author of this play. Bradley King will adapt it to the screen and John Griffith Wray will direct its production. The play breathes a spirit of happiness in spite of its dealing with death and nowhere does the morbid enter.

"The Lily"

Belle Bennett (by arrangement with Samuel Goldwyn) has been selected by the Fox Films to play the role of Odette de Maigmy, created on the stage by Nance O'Neill.

This play was adapted from the French success by Pierre Wolff and Gaston Leroux by David Belasco. Eve Unsell will adapt it to the screen and Victor Schertzinger is the director selected to film it. Ian Keith, Reata Hoyt, John Sainpolis and Gertrude Short are in the supporting cast of this production. This is a "straight" drama of men and women, love and life, selfishness pitted against self-denial—it will be a film with appeal to both sexes.

The Golden Plays

Four John Golden plays are being produced for the screen by Fox Films during the coming season: "7th Heaven," "Pigs," "A Holy Terror," and "Going Crooked."

"7th Heaven"

This is a drama of the spiritual awakening of love and courage by Austin Strong. The scenario will be the work of Frances Marion and Frank Borzage is scheduled to direct. The exterior scenes of this production will be photographed in France and the studio scenes at the Fox West Coast Studio in Hollywood. A thrilling incident in this story of the Paris underworld shows the fleet of 11,000 taxis which carried the French soldiers to the first Battle of the Marne.

"Pigs"

New York is still chuckling from memories of this delightful comedy by Ann Morrison and Patterson McNutt about how a boy brought home the bacon, and won love and success. Alfred A. Cohn has completed the scenario to be used by Irving Cummings, who will direct the picturization. The cast selected for this production includes Richard Walling, son of William Walling; Janet Gaynor, Gladys McConnell, George Irving, Gene Cameron, Arthur Housman, Herbert Prior, Doris Lloyd and Tempte Pigott.

"A Holy Terror"

This is a drama of a feud in the coal mining district of West Virginia in which love tames a fighting two-gun man. Winchell Smith and George Abbott are the authors. Raoul Walsh will direct this production from the scenario by J. T. O'Donohue.

"Going Crooked"

Winchell Smith, William Collier and Aaron Hoffman collaborated in the writing of this John Golden stage play. Emmett Flynn will direct this story of a young pair who become involved in a great international mystery, from a scenario by Bradley King. Virginia Valli, Earle Foxe and Kathryn Perry head the cast that has been selected.

Trio of dramatic and comedy highlights from the William Fox production, "Early to Wed"

Group of highlights from the William Fox production "3 Bad Men" featuring George O'Brien and Olive Borden

Scenes from a picture version of a Van Bibber story titled, "The Mad Racer." Produced by Fox Film Corporation

Scenes from "Fig Leaves," one of the Fox Films 1926-27 productions featuring Olive Borden

Many Successful Stage Plays Listed in Releases for New Season

"What Price Glory?"

Maxwell Anderson and Laurence Stallings collaborated in the writing of this realistic drama. Raoul Walsh is the director selected to bring it to the screen. The scenario was prepared by J. T. O'Donohue. To play the bombastic Captain Flagg, Victor McLaglen was engaged. Edmund Lowe of the Fox Company will play the part of the case-hardened Sergeant Quirt. For the only featured feminine role, that of Charmaine, Dolores Del Rio was chosen. J. Farrell MacDonald, Leslie Fenton, Ted McNamara, Barry Norton, Phyllis Haver, Emily Barrie and Matilda Comont make up the balance of the cast selected to date. The production will not deviate in telling the truth about the life of the fighting Americans on the front and in the French villages back of the line.

"3 Bad Men"

This John Ford production is one of the pretentious offerings to be released during the coming season. It is based on Herman Whittaker's novel, "Over the Border." The plot is based on the romance of a girl in the land of promise. It has a large cast, including George O'Brien, Olive Borden, J. Farrell MacDonald, Tom Santschi, Frank Campeau, Lou Tellegen, Alec B. Francis and Priscilla Bonner.

The high point is the land rush when the hordes of settlers thunder into newly-opened territory. In this sequence, the frenzy of the pioneers to obtain choice sections of land, the battle for possession, the tricks of sharpers to cheat honest folks out of their claims, is revealed in this drama of the Old West.

"One Increasing Purpose"

In "One Increasing Purpise," Hutchinson has told a stirring tale full of action and romance. Like "If Winter Comes," it is a popular and highly controversial novel, with an underlying seriousness that will appeal to all motion picture fans. The exteriors of this production will be "shot" in England, but the interiors will be made at the Fox Hollywood studios. The task of adapting this story to the screen has fallen to Kenneth Clarke. Frank Borzage will direct. An all-star cast will be selected for this production.

"Is Zat So?"

A pug and his pal in the seats of society with two peaches on the side—that's "Is Zat So?" James Gleason and Richard Taber are the authors of this comedy. There is thrilling melodrama and romance, too, along with the comedy. Bradley King will write the scenario for this one. To date Virginia Valli is the only actress to be selected for one of the four leading roles.

"Cradle Snatchers"

Fox bought the screen rights to the Sam H. Harris production, because it had the popular brand of surefire humor that theatregoers pay to see. The play was written by Russell Medcraft and Norma Mitchell. The plot briefly:

Three husbands have planned a hunting trip. After their departure the wives become suspicious of the kind of game being sought by their consorts. One of the ladies believes her husband has found female divertissement and she retaliates by taking unto herself a boy companion. The other two wives follow her lead. When the ladies and the college boys are in the midst of a party, the husbands indignantly interrupt the proceedings. The husbands' advantage is lost when their flapper companions enter. Thereafter the wives sweep out on the arms of their boy friends. Howard Hawks will direct the picture from a scenario by Eve Unsell.

"Frozen Justice"

There is bigness in this story of white man's vice and an Icelander's answer. John Ford will take a company to Alaska and spend a year, if necessary, to make this a photoplay of epic proportions. No expense will be spared to put into the picture all the dynamic conflict, masterful narrative and dramatic power which the author, Ejnar Mikkelsen, created in his book.

The plot centers around the love of a white man for the wife of an Eskimo chief. One of the high points of the picture is an exciting capture of a whale which the Eskimo hero does with a hand harpoon.

"The Story of Mother Machree"

"The Story of Mother Machree," was the subject of a short novel by Rida Johnson Young, published in the Munsey Magazine. John Ford will direct the picture from a scenario by Patrick Burke. The cast includes George O'Brien, Janet Gaynor, J. Farrell MacDonald, Peggy O'Reilly, Shamus Duffy, Hannah Sullivan, Ellen Casey and Molly MacSweeney. Irish, or not, the audiences that see the screen offering will go away praising it. For it has that human quality which appeals to the deeper emotions.

"Married Alive"

Based on the novel by Ralph Straus, "Married Alive," will attempt to prove that the average man cannot say "No" to a pretty woman. The hero in this picture is a man who said "Yes" to many charmers. Howard Hawks will direct this production from the scenario by Gertrude Orr with Margaret Livingston, Matt Moore, Lou Tellegen, Claire Adams and Gertrude Claire playing important roles.

"The Family Upstairs"

This is the story of what goes on in 90 per cent. of the homes of America. Sam H. Harris produced the stage play. It is a story of how the family skeleton stepped between the family hope and her boy friend. Virginia Valli, Allan Simpson, J. Farrell MacDonald have been selected for some of the important roles to date. L. G. Rigby will do the scenario and J. G. Blystone will direct. The box-office angles of this picture are many.

"The Monkey Talks"

This is a love story of the circus, with thrills, laughs and action dramatically interwoven. It is fast moving, dramatic and events follow one another swiftly. Circus life flows vividly as the background. Jacques Lerner, the animal impersonator, who created the role on the stage, has been secured to portray the talking monkey in the screen production. Edmund Lowe, Olive Borden and J. Farrell MacDonald have important roles. Raoul Walsh will direct from a scenario written by J. T. O'Donohue. "The Monkey Talks" is by Rene Fauchois and was adapted to English by Gladys Unger. It combines the romance of the circus ring, the glamor of the Folies Bergeres and the mystery of the monkey who talked.

"The City"

Because of his last play, "The City," Clyde Fitch was favorable compared by the foremost critics of the day with outstanding playwrights of the caliber of Henrik Ibsen, Victorien Sardou and Henri Bernstein.

The point of this play, which Fox will produce for the screen next season, is that the city is not responsible for the downfall of men, but that it puts each man's mettle to the test. What he is, good, or bad, flames to the surface in the city's crucible.

The plot is highly dramatic, and the climax is as powerful as anything that has come to the screen.

The prominent players are Edmund Lowe, Margaret Livingston, Florence Gilbert, Hallam Cooley and Leslie Fenton. The director will be John Griffith Wray and the scenarist Robert Lord.

Fox Film Corporation short subject executives. Left to right: George E. Marshall, Supervisor of comedies; Fred C. Quimby, short subject Sales Manager; Truman Talley, Managing Director of Fox News, and Ray Hall, Managing Director of Fox Varieties.

"Dead Man's Gold"

"Dead Man's Gold," the first Tom Mix picture to be released by Fox during the coming season, is adapted from a novel of the same name written by J. Allan Dunn. Thomas Buckingham will direct the production. The story is one of romantic search for a hidden gold mine and a lost girl. Supporting Mix in this production are Eva Novak, Frank Campeau, Forrest Taylor, Harry Gripp, Mickey Moore and Malcolm Waite. A battle for the treasure, a flood scene and the rescue of a girl by Mix provide a triple climax to this production.

"The Great K & A Train Robbery"

This is another Mix starring vehicle and the Western star and his wonder horse, Tony, will be right at home. It is a mystery of looted mails and stolen hearts and is adapted from the mystery novel by Paul Leicester Ford, celebrated American novelist and historian. It is a totally different type of train hold-up and train robbery—it might be called a high class western. Irving Cummings will direct this production from a scenario by Bradley King.

"Western Society"

This is a Thomas Buckingham production in which Tom Mix stars, supported by Tony, the wonder horse. It is from an original story written especially for Mix by Adela Rogers St. Johns. Tom is called upon to do a lot of stunts, but the feats of intelligence and prowess that are mapped out for Tony shows that the author has faith in the great little horse.

"The Devil's Master"

"The Devil's Master," based on "The Lord's Referee," a story by Gerald Beaumont, one of the large number published in the Red Book, is a tale of an underworld feud, which will be released by Fox Films. The climax is reached in a ring battle between the Michigan Kid and Rough-house Tim Ryan—the prize to be the Lily of Hope Mission. Dominating the district is Old Joe—an unusual personality, tall, broad of shoulder, blue of eye. His kindliness, good sense and squareness have gained for him the confidence of the Tenderloin denizens, who have become his sworn defenders.

The cast includes George O'Brien, Olive Borden, Alec B. Francis, Florence Gilbert, Frank Beal and Charles Farrell. John Ford will direct the picture, for which Agnes Leahy wrote the scenario.

"30 Below Zero"

This Buck Jones starring vehicle takes the Western star up into the far north and affords him numerous opportunities for new and thrilling stunts. It has a crashing climax in a thundering avalanche. It is an original story written especially for Buck Jones by John Stone. Robert P. Kerr directed. Supporting the star in this production are Eva Novak, E. J. Radcliffe, Frank Butler, Paul Panzer, Harry Woods, Fred Walton, Henry Murdock and Vincent Howard.

"Dark Rosaleen"

This is a western racing story adapted from Max Brand's novel of the same name. A prison also plays an important part in this picture. The hero role is enacted by Buck Jones.

"Desert Valley"

Jackson Gregory is the author of this Buck Jones starring vehicle. It contains a romantic love story, calls for hardriding and fighting.

R. William Neill, who has wielded the megaphone over a number of Buck's pictures in the past, will direct this production. An all-star cast will be selected to support the star.

"The Pelican"

The theme of "The Pelican" is based on an old legend that the female Pelican will pluck her breast to feed her young with her own blood. The parallel in the picture is the sacrifice that a mother makes for her son. The situation resolves itself into a choice by a mother between her son's career and her love for a second man. The climax shows her torn with doubt as to whether she should marry this other man and destroy her son's chances, or whether she should go back to her former husband in order to raise the shadow over her son's paternity. It is a tremendous story and will appeal to both sexes.

F. Tennyson Jesse and H. M. Har-

Authors of stories for Fox Films short subject productions. Left to right: O. Henry, Richard Harding Davis and Mabel Herbert Urner

Stories From Well Known Authors for Comedy Short Subjects

wood collaborated on the play. Bradley King will write the screen adaptation and Frank Borzage will direct. Alma Rubens, Lou Tellegen, Leslie Fenton are scheduled for leading roles.

"Fig Leaves"

"Fig Leaves" was written by Howard Hawks, who will also direct it. It is a story of a modern Eve, who nearly threw away love in the age-old desire for beautiful clothes. The prologue opens in the Garden of Eden where Adam hears the well-known feminine wail—she hasn't a thing to wear. The story wings into a modern sequence with a twentieth century Eve voicing a similar complaint. George O'Brien and Olive Borden have the leading roles in this production, supported by Phyllis Haver, Andre deBeranger, Eulalie Jensen, William Austin, Dorothy Dunbar, Chester Conklin and J. Clifford Rice. The scenario is by Hope Loring and Louis Lighton.

"Wedlock"

"Wedlock," is based on the novel, "Marriage," by H. G. Wells. In "Wedlock" the veil is torn from the marriage mystery. John Griffith Wray will direct this production from a scenario by Eve Unsell with an all-star cast which includes Edmund Lowe, Kathryn Perry and Margaret Livingston.

"Whispering Wires"

This is from the play by Kate McLaurin, based on the novel by Henry Leverage. Science gives an unusual twist to this drama. It's a thriller, combining the elements that go to attract every type of movie fan which assures its success at the box-office. Bradley King will write the scenario for the screen production which will be directed by Irving Cummings. It will be headed by Olive Borden, Janet Gaynor, Earle Foxe, Hallam Cooley and Lou Tellegen.

"The Way Things Happen"

The pivotal episode in this drama is the great sacrifice the woman makes to save the man she loves from disgrace. L. G. Rigby will do the scenario. It will be a R. William Neill production with a cast headed by such favorites as Madge Bellamy, Leslie Fenton and Lou Tellegen.

THE last word about Fox Films productions for 1926-27 has not been said until the virtues of the short subject product it will release have been most thoroughly expounded.

In making its comedies the works of the best of humorous writers have been secured for a basis. Locations, sets, casts, title writers and directors are considered as carefully and from every box-office showmanship angle as the dramatic releases of the company.

Fox News represents in the film world a pictorial organization with representatives in every part of the globe comparable with any of the great news-gathering agencies for the written word.

Fox Varieties, presenting, as they do, the world we live in, is another producing unit of the main organization which considers no country so far away as not to be part of its territory. From the far corners of the earth, from our own United States, Fox Varieties' cameramen have been gathering material to make the series of single reel pictures to be released during the 1926-27 season.

With the comedy production department of Fox Films West Coast Studio completely reorganized under the supervision of George E. Marshall, comedy director-general, everything is in readiness to carry out his announced policy for the 1926-27 season of "more and better comedies."

A notable array of directors have been gathered for the making of comedies. The roster includes Bunny Dull, Benjamin Stoloff, Albert Ray, Max Gold, Andrew Bennison, Lewis Seiler, Lloyd Bacon, Lex Neal and Alfred Davis.

With the works of such authors as O. Henry, Richard Harding Davis, Mabel Herbert Urner and the best humorous brains of the world supplying original screen tales, it is easily understood that Fox is again prepared for the production of the better type of short comedies.

The whimsical stories of O. Henry and the Van Bibber tales by Richard Harding Davis are admirably adapted to the screen. Every O. Henry tale is a condensed novel in which satire is the dominant note. There is plenty of action, a surprise climax and best of all, "they hold the mirror up to nature."

Earle Foxe, the droll young man who brought Van Bibber to life on the screen, will continue in the role. The lavish manner in which the Van Bibber comedies are produced compares favorably with the feature productions.

The success of the Helen and Warren married life series, based on the newspaper stories by Mabel Herbert Urner, seemed assured from the first picture. Each is a miniature farce in which the everyday problems of domestic life are humorously treated. The role of Helen is capably filled by charming Kathryn Perry, and Hallam Cooley is a very convincing husband.

In addition to the three series already described, there is the Imperial brand. These are much broader, to meet an insistent demand for this type of entertainment. However, Marshall and his staff are determined, so far as possible, to eliminate slapstick and substitute humor of a more refined sort. A small army of gagmen are constantly at work devising new situations and ideas to make the Imperials sure fire in their appeal.

The newest addition to the Fox list is a series of animal comedies, which makes in all fifty-two two-reel laughing films for the season of 1926-27, with a range wide enough to delight every taste.

News Reel Issues

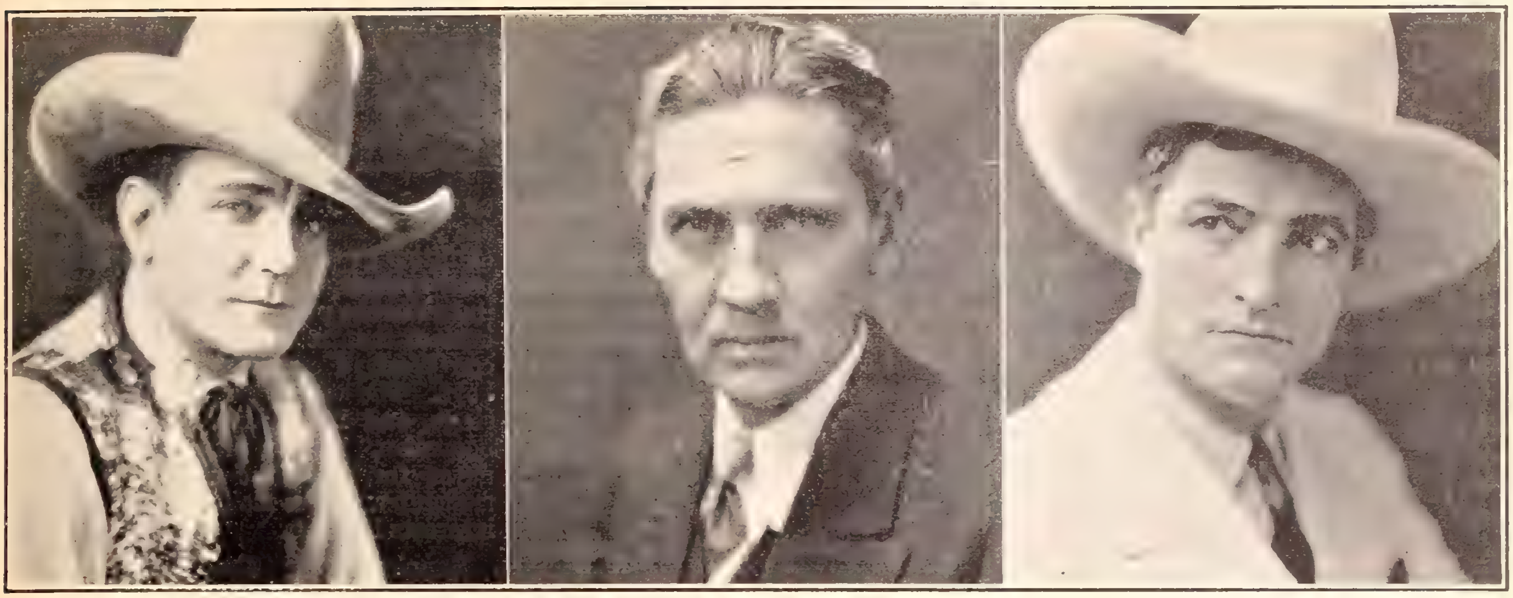
ALMOST every exhibitor takes one of the four national news reels. The larger houses on Broadway contract for all four reels from which they select subjects to make one composite reel. In the period from March 1, 1925, to March 1, 1926, New York's palaces making up a composite newsreel presented a total of 1,787 subjects. One-third of that total, 654 by actual count, were selected from Fox News.

Special trains, boats and airplanes are commonly used so that Fox News may present the pictorial news of the day soon after it happens. Cutters and Laboratory experts are of the best in the motion picture field.

Truman H. Talley, Director-in-Chief of Fox News is a veteran newspaper man with a long record of service on Metropolitan papers and abroad. The editorial staff is composed of former editors and writers from the greatest dailies and magazines in the Nation, each a specialist. With new staff cameramen scattered all over the world and field representatives in every key city from Tokyo to Madrid and new additions in cameramen and editors, it is a foregone conclusion that Fox News will cover the newsreel field more strongly than ever before.

Fox Varieties

THE schedule for Fox Varieties pictures for 1926-27 has been very carefully arranged to give the widest possible selection of subjects for the year and to better the product in every way. It has been prepared in an effort to provide pictures of a type



Fox Western Stars and supervisor of Western productions, left to right: Buck Jones, Edwin C. Hill, in charge of all Fox Western productions, and Tom Mix. Mix and Jones will make seven Westerns each this season which have proven most popular with theatres and exhibitors.

Not only has Fox continued its policy of foreign expeditions which resulted in so many pictures on last year's program, but a special effort this year is being made to obtain pictures of exceptional interest from the United States.

The pictures from the foreign field include travel and adventure material from Syria, France, Austria, Spain, Norway, Turkey, Greece, Portugal and South America. Other pictures on the schedule are composed of scenes made in a score of other countries combined to show a single phase of life or a single feature of activity.

To gather material for this year's program, a Varieties cameraman is mushing through the snows of Alaska in search of pictorial novelty from the Arctic Circle. Another, who has been basking in the sunny lands of Spain, has just set sail for a trip which will carry him into every country in South America, a trip which means thousands of miles by sea and by the crude means of inland transportation of countries of the South, and which will twice carry him across the heights of the Andes. It will require many months to complete this journey.

Scenes made far underground, as well as on the highest peak of our own Rocky Mountains; scenes showing real lightning manufactured by man; scenes showing how a chemist with a test tube in his laboratory moves a mountain, are a few of the things which the Varieties program will bring from the United States. Quaint interest and amusing

A number of the dramatic and comedy scenes from the Buck Jones starring Fox production, "30 Below Zero"

Tom Mix in action scenes from "Dead Man's Gold," his new starring vehicle for Fox

Tom Mix and Buck Jones Will Make Seven Westerns Each

bits of life from everywhere have been selected to make up four units of a distinct novelty type. Throughout the whole program the same quality of beauty and wonderful photography, characteristic of Varieties series, have been maintained.

Hill to Supervise

EDWIN C. HILL, supervisor of all Fox Films Western Productions, is one of the most widely-known newspaper men in the United States. For the last year and a half, he has been scenario editor of Fox Films.

Prior to that Hill was identified with the Fox Corporation in New York. Characterized by the Saturday Evening Post as "the best all-around newspaper man in America," Hill, as a member of the staffs of the New Work Sun and the New York Herald, had enjoyed wide experience in world affairs.

His first work with Fox Films was as editor-in-chief of Fox News. Following a tour of Europe and America, he installed a system whereby airplanes became a vital factor in film news-gathering.

Hill has always felt that western pictures, with men like Tom Mix, Buck Jones and other popular stars must fill an increasingly large part of the amusement schedule of men, women and children in all sections of the world. For this reason, he feels a keen and appreciative interest in his new position as supervisor of western production. New and better stories, broad and more elaborate settings and a livelier interest in these productions as a whole will be the keynote of his new activities.

Western Program

RECOGNIZING that the western has maintained its audience appeal, which is exhibitor security from Maine to Mexico, Fox Films has launched a western production program of fourteen pictures for next season, starring two outstanding cowboy personalities of the screen—Tom Mix and Buck Jones.

Facilities at the Tom Mix Rancho and the Buck Jones Outpost at Fox Hills have been considerably expanded for the important activities of the 1926-27 schedule. Edwin C. Hill, skilled interpreter of what the public wants, has been made supervisor of all Tom Mix and Buck Jones pictures.

Analysis of what makes Tom Mix a sure box-office bet is not difficult. The answer is that this star embodies those qualities of physical strength and human sympathy which are inseparably linked in the public mind with the ideal hero of the great and enduring American West. He's the idol of American boys. The whole vast outdoors is his stage, and Mix is more than a great horseman. He is a picture expert who never forgets the demands of showmanship and who makes the exhibitor's interests his own.

Supplementing the keen interest which Mix personally has contributed to the making of his pictures are technical facilities. A substantial fortune has been spent in building the Mix Rancho. The ranchhouse, the stables, the corrals, the kennels, the western town complete in every detail, fulfill a two-fold purpose: they create for Mix the western atmosphere he loves and at the same time provide a perfectly-appointed location spot where it is possible to film at least a portion of each starring vehicle in which he appears.

This western colony set down in the midst of the big Fox lot in Westwood

Stars and featured players in Fox comedies. Left to right, top row: Gladys McConnell, Earle Foxe, Georgie Harris, and Florence Gilbert; bottom row: Barbara Luddy, Hallam Cooley, Leo Leonine, and Kathryn Perry

Authors of stories which Fox will picturize. Left to right: Austin Strong, A. S. M. Hutchinson, Max Brand, Winchell Smith, Jackson Gregory and H. G. Wells are included in the list is the home of fifty cowboys who make up Tom's permanent staff, Tony and the other horses and dogs that are used in Mix pictures. A machine shop and a blacksmith establishment are maintained. All the equipment necessary for making a feature-length picture is kept in a special production shed. There are no hurried calls to the Los Angeles studio when a Mix film is in the making, for emergency material of every description is stored on the property.

The winning personality of Buck Jones has gained for him a following of fans, ever increasing in numbers. It is not merely that Buck is a superb horseman, skilled in feats of daring, that has brought him his present eminence. In addition to securing youthful admirers, he has demonstrated that he is a real actor.

Not far from the Mix Ranch lies The Outpost, Buck Jones' ranch. Here is the bustling center of activity that brings together authors, directors and technical experts in the preparations of the seven pictures which Jones will contribute to next season's schedule. Recently the stables and kennels have been expanded to shelter the increasing number of horses and dogs that are the companions of Silver Buck and White Eagle. Here, too, is a complete plant, with everything required to make westerns.

The units producing Fox Westerns do not work on a restricted schedule. The same care is applied to their technical perfection as is given the most pretentious super-special. Scenarists are ever on the alert for new angles of outdoor action. Tom Mix and Buck Jones personally devote much of their time to working out new stunts to thrill their admirers. A staff of location experts travels fifty-two weeks in the year, scouring and surveying the wild unexplored corners of the West to find the unusual in nature's beauties.

Authors

THE array of authors and playwrights, whose brain children will be put on the screen by Fox Films during the 1926-27 season, contains names that are bywords with the motion picture devotees. Equally prominent in their fields are the directors and scenarists, who will take the literary and stage successes and fashion them for film production.

Among the celebrated authors and playwrights whose names are attached to the forthcoming Fox product are: H. G. Wells, A. S. M. Hutchinson, David Belasco, Laurence Stallings, Maxwell Anderson, Herman Whittaker, Clyde Fitch, James Gleason, Winchell Smith, Clemence Dane, Pierre Wolff, O. Henry, Richard Harding Davis, John Stone, Gaston Leroux, Charles Klein, Lee Arthur, Rida Johnson Young, Harry Delf, Mabel Herbert Urner, Russell Medcraft, Norma Mitchell, Austin Strong, Patterson McNutt, Anne Morrison, Kate McLaurin, Henry Leverage, F. Tennyson Jesse, H. M. Harwood, Gerald Beaumont, Adela Rogers St. John, Jackson Gregory, Max Brand, Paul Leicester Ford, Ejnar Mikkelsen, J. Allan Dunn, Ralph Strauss, Rene Fauchois and Gladys Unger.

Scenario Writers

The scenario writers, who Fox has aligned to work under the direction of scenario editor Ned Holmes, are Eve Unsell, Bradley King, Julian LaMothe, John Stone, Adela Rogers St. Johns, J. T. O'Donohue, Patrick Burke, Robert Lord, L. G. Rigby, Alfred A. Cohn, the team of Hope Loring and Louis Lighton, Agnes Leahy and Kenneth Clark. Frances Marion will be represented with "7th Heaven," already completed.

Fox Film Corporation Scenarists. Left to right: Frances Marion, Ned Holmes (Scenario Editor), Eve Unsell, John Stone and Bradley King

Large Number of Popular Stars Will Appear in Fox Productions

The directors under contract to Fox Films to wield the megaphone over the Supreme Attractions for the coming season are John Ford, Raoul Walsh, Emmett Flynn, Robert P. Kerr, Irving Cummings, Thomas Buckingham, Victor Schertzinger, J. G. Blystone, Frank Borzage, R. William Neill, John Griffith Wray and Howard Hawks.

Lists Stars

GREAT numbers of stars and featured players are enrolled under Fox Films Banner for the 1926-1927 schedule of releases. New faces to win new friends, familiar appearances which are known the wide world over—all these are gathered together at the Fox West Coast Studios to give the public what it wants.

Leading the impressive list, is the one and only Tom Mix, whose popularity increases with every picture and of whom it is said, "He never loses a fan." His horsemanship, virility and strength have won for him the admiration of fans in every country of the civilized world, and seven great stories by the most successful of western screen writers will be transferred into films by him to please the huge audience he has never disappointed.

Colorful Alma Rubens will continue to bring to the screen under the Fox direction her convincing and accurate interpretations of difficult portrayals. Her refined and unusual type of beauty qualifies her for many roles that no other living actress could portray. Miss Rubens' first 1926-27 release will be based on "The Pelican," international stage success.

Charles (Buck) Jones has won his way to stardom by his manliness and athletic ability on horseback and off. "30 Below Zero," which he completed before he sailed for Europe on a two-months' vacation tour, will be Buck's first 1926-27 release. This will be followed by "Dark Rosaleen" from a story by Max Brand; "Desert Valley," by Jackson Gregory, and "The Broncho Twister."

Bellamy and O'Brien

Madge Bellamy, one of the loveliest of screen actresses, will play the leading role in "The Way Things Happen," from the stage play by Clemence Dane, and "The Auctioneer," the Belasco-Warfield triumph.

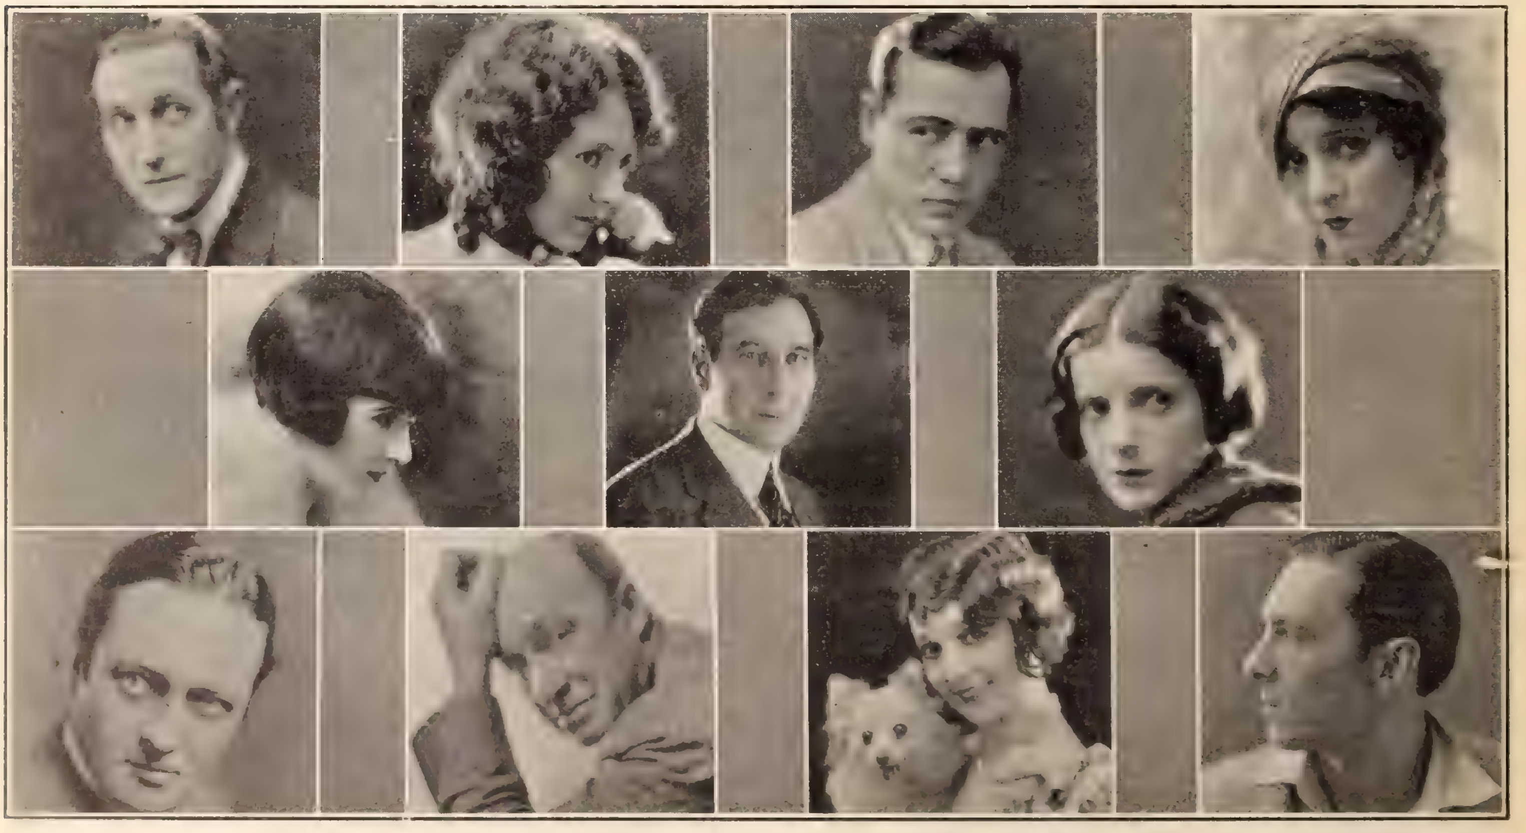
George O'Brien, the smiling and athletic native son of California, will further increase his popularity with the film followers in the roles he will have with the coming year. George has one picture to his credit even at this writing, and it is one of the biggest on the Fox release schedule, namely, "3 Bad Men." Others in which he will appear are "Fig Leaves," now in work, "The Devil's Master," and "Whispering Wires."

Livingston-Lowe

The new style attractive temptress is epitomized in the dainty person of Margaret Livingston, who has come far up the ladder of screen success in the last year. Many important roles are scheduled for Miss Livingston and to date she is cast in the following pictures on the Fox 1926-27 schedule, "Married Alive," "The City," and "Wedlock."

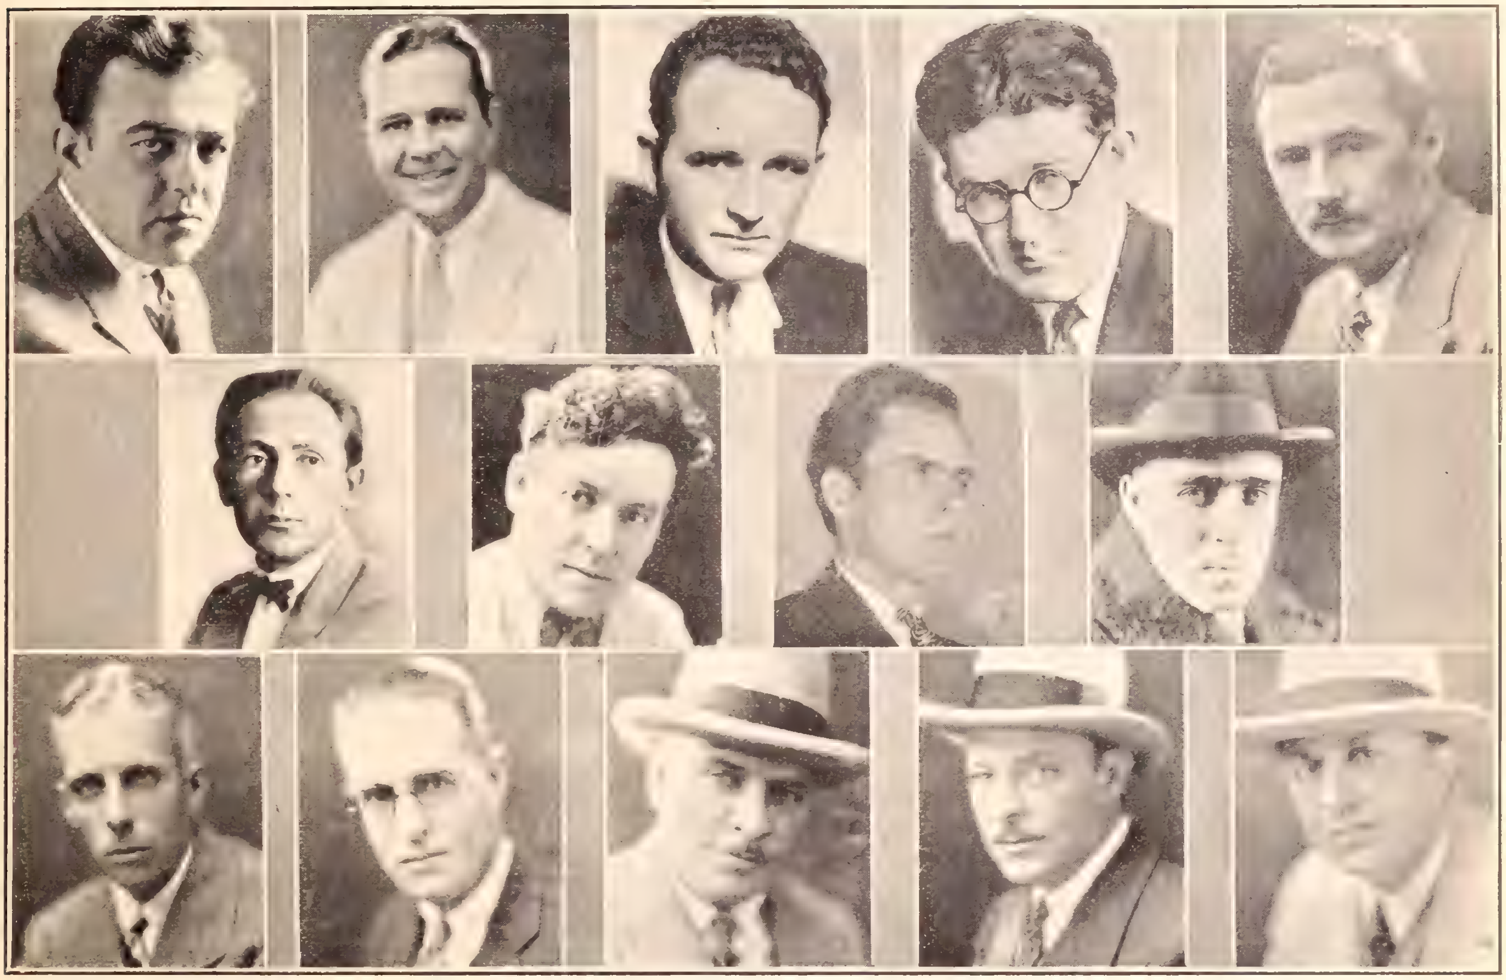
Edmund Lowe has become one of the best-known and best-liked of the leading man in filmdom and he is cast in many suitable parts in the 1926-27 releases. Some of the films in which he will appear are "The Monkey Talks," "The City," "What Price Glory?" and "Wedlock."

Janet Gaynor is one of the new stars, a sweet and unsophisticated girl with a talent for subtle and delicate charac-

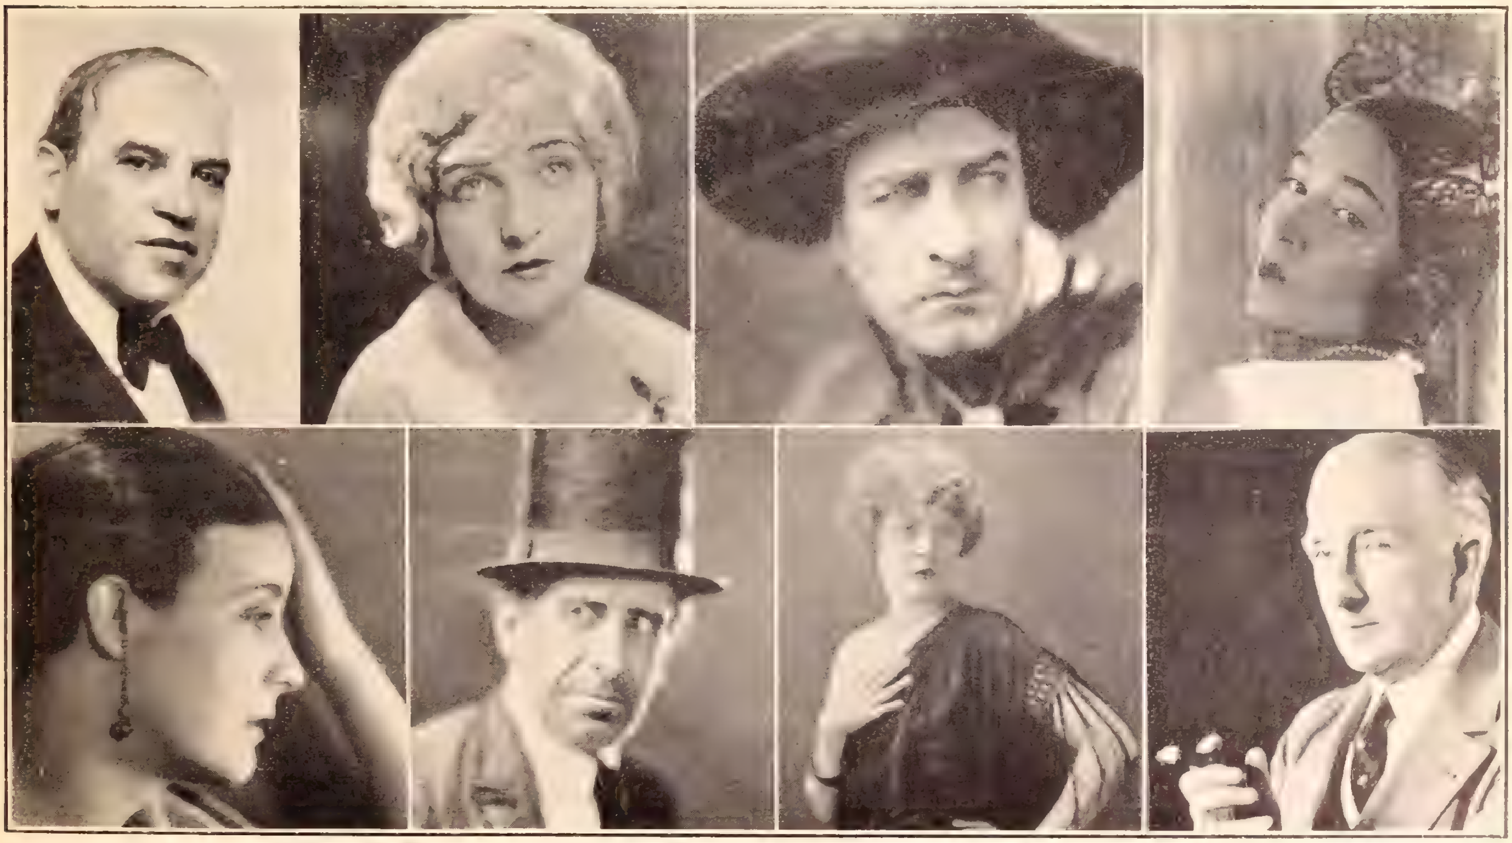


Stars and players appearing in Fox productions. Left to right—top row—Lou Tellegen, Janet Gaynor, Leslie Fenton and Olive Borden (star); second row Margaret Livingston (star); Paul Panzer and Alma Rubens (star); bottom row Edmund Lowe (star); J. Farrell MacDonald, Madge Bellamy (star); George O'Brien, (star)

Fox Directors and Borrowed Players



Directors of Fox productions. Left to right, top row: Victor Schertzinger, Thomas Buckingham, Frank Borzage, John Ford, and R. William Neill; second row: F. W. Murnau, John Griffith Wray, Emmett Flynn and Raoul Walsh; bottom row: Howard Hawks, Robert P. Kerr, J. G. Blystone, Harry Beaumont, and Irving Cummings



Stars and featured players in Fox productions borrowed from other companies. Left to right, top row: George Sidney, Belle Bennett, Tom Santschi, Dolores Del Rio; bottom row: Virginia Valli, Frank Campeau, Phyllis Haver and Alec B. Francis

Players Drawn From Other Companies to Fill Special Roles

terization. One of the Wampas choices, her work in several of the big Fox smashes will bear close watching by those who delight in finding a star in its ascendancy. She will be seen in "The Story of Mother Machree," "A Holy Terror," "Pigs," and "Whispering Wires."

Leslie Fenton is rapidly becoming one of the screen's finest juveniles. He will find many opportunities for his honest and convincing work in "A Holy Terror," "The City," "Pigs," "The Way Things Happen," "The Pelican," and "What Price Glory?"

Olive Borden is another of the new faces brought to the screen in starring roles by Fox Films. Miss Borden will be seen next season in "Fig Leaves," "3 Bad Men," "Married Alive," "The Monkey Talks,""The Devil's Master," and "Whispering Wires."

J. Farrell MacDonald's keen and clever characterizations have made him famous and his future is as bright as any actor can boast. The pictures in which he will be seen next season are: "3 Bad Men," "What Price Glory?" and "The Monkey Talks."

Kathryn Perry has become the acknowledged type of young American wife. In addition to playing the role of Helen in the Mabel Herbert Urner Married Life Comedies, she has been cast for a part in the feature production "Wedlock."

Earle Foxe, short comedy star, handsome, tall, and very capable, is one of the standard bearers of Fox comedies. He will also be seen in "Going Crooked," and "Whispering Wires."

Florence Gilbert is another of the leading ladies of Fox comedies who will be seen in feature film roles. She has been cast in "The Devil's Master."

Hallam Cooley has acted with marked success opposite Kathryn Perry and will continue to work in the clever domestic comedies and also in the following features: "The City," "Going Crooked," and "Whispering Wires."

Gladys McConnell is still another of the comedy ladies who will work in the feature films. She has been assigned a role in "The Holy Terror."

George Harris, Fox Films comedian, imported from England, a talented actor, continues to shake the sides of the nation with real laughter.

Barbara Luddy is the little Irish girl who plays opposite Harris with such effective results. She is cute and winsome, with a confiding smile.

Sid Smith is the comedian who continually faces a series of embarrassing situations. His methods of extrication are productive of wholesale laughter from any audience.

Of the heavies, Lou Teliegen has swept into prominence from the days when he was known as "the great lover." His classic profile and hard eyes, combined with his fine physique, make him one of the best-hated villains of the screen.

Paul Panzer, one of the most versatile of motion picture character actors, under contract to Fox, will be seen in "30 Below Zero," and other Fox supreme attractions.

Jay Hunt, who was the Lightnin' Bill Jones of the screen, broke into pictures as a director for Ince, is well-established among the character actors who can be depended upon and, being under contract to Fox, will therefor be kept busy in many of the forthcoming productions.

ALTHOUGH wedded to the wise policy of maintaining a line of brilliant stars under contract for its numerous productions, Fox Films does not hesitate to step out and employ unattached players when circumstances make it necessary to do so. Within the past few months Fox executives have signed up for special work Victor McLaglen, Belle Bennett (borrowed from Sam Goldwyn), Dolores Del Rio, George Sidney, Virginia Valli and Jacques Lerner, among others, in order to insure good production.

Players Borrowed

The role of Captain Flagg in the screen version of "What Price Glory" was given to McLaglen because he fits the part so perfectly, both as a screen artist and as a man in the world of reality. His life as an adventurer and Lieutenant of the Royal Irish Fusileers in France, as well as his physique, recommended him for the role.

The quandry about filling the feminine lead for "The Lily" was solved by borrowing Belle Bennett from Sam Goldwyn on the strength of her remarkable work in "Stella Dallas."

George Sidney was selected to play "The Auctioneer" after a search covering the whole film industry. Very few of the present generation of stars are as competent to handle the highly specialized role of this old Warfield creation as is Sidney, who gave a hint of his dramatic powers in the Potash and Perlmutter pictures.

Virginia Valli has few peers in her profession on the basis of finished work and she was therefore signed to play the feminine leads in three important pictures during the coming season—"Is Zat So?" "The Family Upstairs" and "Going Crooked," three stage hits.

No other actor but Jacques Lerner was considered to play the part of the monkey in the screen version of the play in which his acting was such an important factor, "The Monkey Talks." Lerner, the clever "animal impersonator," will now have a chance to give his art permanent recording on celluloid.

Tom Santschi, who played one of the title trio in "3 Bad Men," as well as two other heavies, Frank Campeau and Frank Beal, will be used in Fox productions during the season, having been signed for special parts, as have Alec B. Francis, popular and lovable character actor, and Andre deBeranger, who gives up directing to play leading masculine roles. On the feminine side Priscilla Bonner, Phyllis Haver and Eva Novak have also been signed for specific parts.

"Legitimate" Producers

NAME the leading stage producers who are putting out successes year after year—David Belasco, John Golden, Sam H. Harris, the Shuberts, Arch Selwyn, A. H. Woods and Arthur Hopkins—the makers of hits and the makers of money. Fox Films has purchased for production during the 1926-27 season the most successful plays of these outstanding showmen.

Those bought from Belasco include the three plays in which David Warfield won the applause of the Nation, "The Music Master," "The Auctioneer," and "The Return of Peter Grimm," as well as the Belasco adaptation of the French play, "The Lily."

The John Golden hits include "Pigs," "7th Heaven," "A Holy Terror," and "Going Crooked.". "The Cradle Snatchers," a Sam Harris hit, has been running in New York since last August. Another Harris comedy is "The Family Upstairs," which presents the amusing side of American home life and the entertaining high lights that surround an engaged couple.

From the Shuberts have been obtained the comedy "Is Zat So?" the mystery play, "Whispering Wires," and the drama, "The City."

Arch Selwyn produced "The Monkey Talks," in New York after its exceptional success in Paris and London. The screen will give the play added scope for the unusual treatment demanded by its theme.

A. H. Woods staged "The Pelican" and "The Way Things Happen," both of them dramas.

Studio Briefs

William Bakewell, the printer's devil of "The Last Edition," has been assigned an important part in the "The Waning Sex," Norma Shearer's latest starring vehicle, which Robert Leonard is directing for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Mikhael Vavitch has been cast for an important role in Jetta Goudal's first starring vehicle, "Her Man O' War," which Frank Urson is directing at the De Mille studio. Vavitch recently appeared in "Siberia" and "The Midnight Sun." Ray Deslys and Jimmie Adams have also been added to the cast of "Her Man O' War."

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has signed Dimitri Buchowetzki to a contract whereby he will direct a production at the Culver City studios this fall.

Production on "Meet the Prince," in which Joseph Schildkraut is featured, has been gotten under way at the De Mille studios under the direction of Joseph Henabery.

Patricia Avery, newly signed Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer stock player, will make her first screen role in Hobart Henley's production of "Bellamy the Magnificent," in which Ramon Novarro is starred. Willard Louis has also been assigned an important role in this adaptation of the stage play and novel by Roy L. Horniman.

Chester Conklin affixed his name this week to a long term Paramount contract. His first appearance under his new contract will be in "The Ace of Cads," adapted from Michael Arlen's story in which Adolphe Menjou will be starred.

Because of a serious illness which has overtaken Mack Swain, the role allotted to him in the "Son of the Sheik" has been assigned to Karl Dane. "The Son of the Sheik" is the forthcoming Rudolph Valentino vehicle.

Jobyna Ralston has been borrowed from the Harold Lloyd corporation for the feminine lead opposite Rod La Roque in "Gigolo," Garrett Fort's adaptation of the story by Edna Ferber. Louise Dresser and Cyril Chadwick also appear in "Gigolo," which will be made at the De Mille studio.

Samuel Goldwyn, producer of pictures for United Artists release, has changed the addresses of his New York office and his studio center in Hollywood. In New York his business headquarters are now located at 729 Seventh Avenue, with Mulvey in charge of Eastern operations. In California he is now using the Cecil De Mille studios in Culver City.

Associated with Joseph Schildkraut in his first featured role in "Meet the Prince" are Marguerite De La Motte, David Butler, Julia Fay, Vera Steadman and Helen Dunbar. Jane Murftan and Harold Shumate wrote the continuity under the supervision of Jack Cunningham.

Production on the Constance Talmadge comedy drama, "Silky Anne," is well under way at the Fairbanks-Pickford studio. Recent additions to the cast are Rose Dion and Chester Conklin.

Through the courtesy of F. B. O. Dorothy Dunbar has been loaned to Inspiration Pictures to play opposite Richard Barthelmess in "The Amateur Gentleman," which will go into production on May 3 at the Clune studio in Hollywood. This is a screen intrepretation of the novel Jeffrey Farnol and it will be directed by Sidney Olcott.

Wesley Ruggles has been selected to direct the "The Kick-Off" the first of a series of athletic pictures starring George Walsh, which Excellent Pictures are planning to make. The supporting cast is now being assembled and shooting is scheduled within ten days or so.

"It's the Old Army Game," the first W. C. Field starring vehicle, has been completed under the direction of Edward Sutherland at the Long Island Paramount studio. J. P. McAvoy's play, in which Field appeared in his last Follies engagement, serves as the basic plot in this screen version by Tom Geraghty and J. Clarkson Miller. Supporting Field are Louise Brooks, Blanche Ring and William Gaxton. Others in the cast are Mary Foy, George Currie, Josephine Dunn and Jack Luden.

Scenes from "A Flivver Vacation," Universal

The screen adaptation of Myron Fagan's stage play, "Mismates," which Earl Hudson is producing for First National with Doris Kenyon and Warner Baxter in the leads, is now in its third week of production.

In "Tin Gods," Thomas Meighan's next starring picture for Paramount, Renee Adoree will have the leading feminine part, as a result of an arrangement with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Production will start on May 3 with Allan Dwan at the megapho

Al Rockett's second production for First National, "Subway Sadie," for which Paul Scoffield did continuity, will have for its featured players Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall. Alfred Santell will direct.

Bebe Daniels, who has just completed "The Palm Beach Girl," will leave New York on May 1 for the West Coast where she will begin work on her new starring picture, "The College Flirt," in which she will be directed by Clarence Badger.

The popular dog star, Rin-Tin-Tin, will be seen in "A Hero of the Big Snows," a story written for him by Ewart Adamson. Herman Raymaker again directs the dog star and the humans in the cast include Alice Calhoun, Don Alvarado, Leo Willis and Mary Jane Milliker.

Cosmo Hamilton's novel, "Paradise," which Ray Rockett plans to get under way about May 15, will star Milton Sills with Betty Bronson in the leading feminine role, Irwin Willat has been chosen to direct and Paul Scoffield is doing the continuity.

Johnny Hines' latest comedy for First National, C. C. Burr production called "The Brown Derby," was completed this week under the direction of Charles Hines at the Tec Art studio in the Bronx. Diana Kane plays opposite the star and the supporting players include Ruth Dwyer, Flora Finch, Edmund Breese, Bradley Parker, Herbert Standing and Bob Slater.

Actual camera work was started this week at Universal City on Walter Lang's first directorial effort for Gotham, "The Golden Web." This is an adaptation by James Bell Smith of the E. Phillips Oppenheim novel. Hutnley Gordon and Lillian Rich have been cast for the leading parts.

Three First National Pictures are in the cutting room. They are, "The Savage," "Puppets," and "Men of Steel."

George Melford this week completed the casting for the new version of "The Flame of the Yukon," in which Seena Owen has the title role with Arnold Gray as the hero. The recent additions to the picture are Matthew Betz and Winifred Greenwood.

Having completed camera work on his Paramount production, "Beau Geste," Herbert Brenon is due to arrive in New York to edit, cut and assist in the titling of his picture, Julian Johnson is also in the East with some of the film.

Short Subjects and Serials

A sailor comedy is "Shore Shy," an Educational release featuring Billy Dooley

First Al Joy Comedy Being Completed by Basil

Joe Basil, directing Al Joy in a series of two-reel comedies, is now completing the first of the unit which has been retitled from ''The Hick Parade'' to ''Over There.'' Besides Joy the cast consists of Rose Mass, Thomas Burrello and George Du Count. The production staff are S. B. Moss, assistant to Basil; Anthony Trigili, photographer, and Arnold Hansen, production manager. M. H. Harper is in charge of publicity.

Mabel Normand Busy With Roach Comedy

Mabel Normand is busily engaged in the filming of her first Hal Roach Comedy, ''Comrades-in-Work''. Richard Wallace and Stan Laurel are the directors. Wallace is handling the scenes directly involving the star and Laurel is shotting those in which other members of the cast, Carl Miller, Alta Allen, Laura La Verne and Max Davidson, are seen.

Ethlyn Gibson Signs for Winnie Winkle Series

Billy West, of West Brothers' Productions, has signed Ethlyn Gibson to a long-term contract and has assigned her for the lead in his first series of two-reel comedies, Winnie Winkle, which are now being produced under the direction of Arvid Gilstrom at the Fine Arts Studio.

F. B. O. Has New Comedy Series

Two-Reel Subjects to be Made With New Process Invented by Charles Bowers

FILM Booking Offices will introduce a new series of two-reel comedies next season to be known as ''Whirlwinds,'' which will be produced by Charles Bowers who has been working for a number of years on a new process by means of which he is able to make both animate and inanimate objects do anything conceivable on the screen.

These are not animated drawings, says F. B. O., but real people and objects which are made to do the seemingly impossible though the inventor does not resort to double exposure, superimposing or drawings.

Bowers was a former newspaper cartoonist, later becoming an actor and stage director in the ''legitimate.'' He then got into the picture business, and having perfected his process, built a studio in Long Island City and made a six-reel picture for one of the big oil companies using his process for gushers and other effects. Bowers then made a two-reel comedy, ''Egged On,'' which will be the first to be shown by Film Booking Offices.

Patheserial, "Snowed In" on Schedule

AN outdoor mystery serial, "Snowed In," is scheduled to follow "The Bar-C Mystery" on the Pathe program. The serial team of Walter Miller and Allene Ray will again be seen in this Pathe serial. The supporting cast includes Frank Austin, Tom London, John Dillon, Natalie Warfield, Charles H. West, Walter Cettel, Ben Walker, Bert Alping and George Magrill.

First "Newlywed" Comedy Gets Under Way

Camerawork started this week on the new Stern Brothers Comedy series, ''The Newlyweds and Their Baby,'' adapted from the newspaper cartoons by George McManus and is expected to be the principal offering for the coming season from the Stern Brothers studios.

Sonny, a fifteen-months-old youngster, whose real identity has not yet been made public, will be the baby while the roles of Mr. and Mrs. Newlywed will be played by Ted Dooley and Ethlyne Clair.

Scenes from the Pathecomedy, 'The Yankee Doodle Duke"

Resume of Current News Weeklies

KINOGRAMS NO. 5181: Boston — Nautical Training Ship Nantucket returns from foreign cruise, cadets get diplomas; New York City—Police Reservists end training with an exhibition of daring feats of rough riding; Pulham, England—Amundsen's airship "Norge" arrives after non-stop flight from Rome; Fairbanks, Alaska—Captain Wilkins and his pilot Ben Eielson arrived from Point Barrow; New York City—Chauncey M. Depew praises motion pictures on his ninety-second birthday; El Monte, Cal.—Jazz artists go into lions' den to amuse the King of Beasts; Guantanamo, Cuba—Great guns of the Atlantic fleet bark as U. S. warships hold Spring maneuvers: Boston—Boston Braves hand their guests, Philadelphia Nationals, a 2 to 1 beating; New York City—Denver expedition to Africa is back after nine months trip.

KINOGRAMS NO. 5182: Oslo, Norway—Amundsen and Ellsworth greeat tehir airship as it arrives from England; New York City—All-Jewish champion Hakoah sport team from Vienna wins first soccer game; Washington—Jack Caves who is pushing barrow around world for $30,000 arrives after completing 99,906 miles; New York City — Camera catches unusually thrilling picture of fire heroes trapped on roof; Fort Worth, Texas —Tex Rickard adds Dempsey's autograph to his collection; Paris—East Indian "Durbar" that Mahajara of Kashmir might envy visits French capital; Philadelphia—Records crash in big Penn relay carnival; Des Moines—Hoff breaks American pole vault record in Drake relay games; Cushing, Oklahoma—Six hurt when big oil refining plant blows up and rocks town.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS NO. 35: Philadelphia, Pa. — Leading college stars in stirring competition for field and track honors; Lakewood, N. J.—Homes destroyed as fire sweeps forest; Glendale, Cal.—Dedicate tribute to first and greatest law-giver; Atlanta, Ga.—Completes design for great memorial to Confederacy; San Francisco, Cal.—Folks, meet Long Duck, plenty big boy from China land; Oslo, Norway—Capt. Roald Amundsen leaves Norway for Spitzbergen to fly over the Pole; New York City—Spring training begins for some new Zoo arrivals; Charleston, S. C.—World's most beautiful gardens in full bloom; Ne wYork City—Jewish invaders win first soccer battle; Inglewood, Cal.—California Editors treated today on stone pile; Indianapolis, Ind.—Kiddies enlist in tooth-brush army; Atlanta, Ga.—Grand Opera stars enjoy old time Dixie Barbecue; Los Angeles, Cal.—New parachute coat for airplane riders; Tripoli, Africa—African natives greet Mussolini like king.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS, NO. 34: Scapa Flow—German dreadnaught raised from sea grave; Boston, Mass.—Boston Braves defeat Phillies, 2-1, in first "home game" of year; Fresno, Cal.—Golden State revels in raisin-day fiesta; Detroit, Mich.—"Safety first" is motto of marching legions; Philadelphia, Pa.—Athletics open home season with stinging victory over Bucky Harris' champion nine; New York City—Yankee sluggers bat out victory in opening game; Chicago, Ill.—Interesting personalities at women's world fair; Nome, Alaska—Alaska cowboys round up great reindeer herds; Paris, France—Hindu touring world with "wonder" elephant; Philadelphia, Pa.—Pan-American journalists inspect sesqui site; Cambridge, Mass.—Crimson lacrosse team defeats English visitors; Mikesa, Japan—"Sacred paint" keeps Jap babies from all evil; Silver Springs, Fla.—Diver explores floor of picturesque springs; Italy, England—Polar dirigible flies from Italy to England; New York City—Champion jumping horses in thrilling exhibition.

Amiable Walter Heirs frolics his way through his latest comedy, "Fresh Faces," an Educational release

PATHE NEWS, NO. 35: Annapolis, Md.—Train midshipmen as expert sailors; Shanghai, China—Chinese coolie strikers learning to drill; Rome, Italy--Norge completes first hop in dash to North Pole; New York City—Work keeps him young; New York City—Children show a great big heart; Manila, P. I. —Hold high mass in prayer for independence; Newark, N. J.—State Executive opens new industrial building; Washington, D. C.—Guests at White House; Charleston, S. C.—Oh, how they Charleston the Charleston on Charleston; Tokio, Japan—Great fire again brings devastation to Japanese capital; Unexplored Arctic—First flight every made over the uncharted area of Northern Alaska; Detroit, Mich—Hold great parade for "safety first"; Philadelphia, Pa.—Train women doctors exclusively; Huntingdon, Pa.—Juniata College celebrates "Golden Jubilee"; Lawrence, Kan.—World's pole vault champion shows fine form in Kansas relays; Phoenix, Ariz.—Old-timers gather for jolly celebration; New York City—Denver African Expedition returns from trip to "Mystery Land"; Newark, N. J.—War monument by famous sculptor on view.

PATHE NEWS NO. 36: New York City—"Dr. Circus" pays annual call at Belleveue Hospital; Oslo, Norway—Norge completes second lap of trip to North Pole; Philadelphia, Pa.—Track stars score brilliant triumphs in Penn Relays; Fort Worth, Texas—Heavyweight champion signs with Tex Rickard to defend his title in bout this autumn; Tripoli, Africa—Mussolini accorded royal honors on visit to enhance national prestige; New York City—Hakoah soccer players win in U. S. debut; With the U. S. Artillery—Pathe News presents exclusive pictures of 2d Battalion, 76th Field Artillery, in maneuvers at their camp at Monterey, California; Langley Field, Va.—Observe Uncle Sam's airmen in action. National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics gets first-hand information at great Army flying field.

FOX NEWS, VOL. 7, NO. 60: Philadelphia, Pa.—Marine unit is rated best fancy-drill team o fnation; Provo, Utah—Care of Timpanogos, a gem-like beauty spot; Stone Mountain, Ga.—Committee accepts model for a memorial to Confederacy; Hannibal, Mo.—Crowd of 35,000 attends children's candy egg hunt given by Lions Club; Pittsburgh, Pa.—Most unusual ferry is this odd contrivance that saves time and hill-climbing; Ormond Beach, Fla.—Two John D.'s, father and son, are caught by camera as they leave church; New York City—Artist introduces new idea to foil bandits; Rome, Italy—Airship Norge leaves on first leg of journey; Marlboro, Mass.—Tabby cat hires out as nurse to family of setter; Haarlem, Holland—Crack cavalry troop of the Dutch Army displays expert horsemanship; St. Louis, Mo.—Camera study of Trick Shot Champion Charles Paterson; Carribean Sea—U. S. Utah goes into action in climax of winter manuevers.

FOX NEWS, VOL. 7, NO. 59: Miami, Fla. —Society seeks diversion by riding to the hounds; Florence, Italy—Tourists gather to see odd religious ceremony; Bremerton, Wash.—Salvage ship for sunken submarines launched at Puget Sound Yard; New York City—The champion all-Jewish Hakoah soccer team of Vienna arrives to play the best elevens in the United States; Rogers, Ark.—30,000 people from twenty cities join in festival to welcome apple blooms in Northern Arkansas; Port Arthur, Texas—Thirty-two seamen die when explosion sweeps decks of oil tanker; Germany—Two sailors on an odd land voyage roll barrel for 10,000 kilometers; Gloucester, Mass.—Most famous fishing fleet of Atlantic Coast gets ready for active season; Washington, D. C.—Eight women are among starters in fifty-mile hike; Millbrook, N. Y.—Old Chubby is retired after twenty-five years' faithful service; Salinas, Cal. —Whippet tanks advance through barrage of phosphoros bombs.

Opinions on Current Productions

"Too Many Babies"

(Universal-Century—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

THAT venerable social institution, mother-in-law, is the subject of this comedy in which Charles King and Blanche Payson are starred. Charlie and his wife are unexpectedly visited by mother-in-law who has been led to believe that they had two lovely children. Naturally, her first question after arrival was where are the youngsters hiding, whereupon Charlie volunteered with a reply that they are playing in the park. He goes out bent upon kidnapping a couple of kids in order to stave off mother-in-law's ill humor, but being unable to achieve his purpose within short time, his wife goes out and steals two kiddies from neighbor's yard. Shortly after Charlie returns with two more, but the old lady, perceiving that she has been duped, proceeds to administer a drubbing to the henpecked Charlie, until a friendly policeman saves him from the strong arm. Scott Pembroke directed.

Summary—Lacks gags and ideas for a story which has been overworked in better comedies.

"The Tin Ghost"

(Educational-Mermaid—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

ANOTHER good slapstick comedy from Lige Conley with some dandy gags in the tin soldier episode. Some tried and true stuff like sitting on a lighted cigar, and spilling ink over a clean white vest, is introduced in the initial scenes. But just when you are ready to yawn, in comes the scientist with his marvelous invention, a tin automatic soldier that can do anything but chew tobacco and swear. The scientist holds a demonstration before a group of financiers, when a villain cuts the connecting wires by means of which the invention operates, and the automat refuses to work. Lige agrees to animate the tin skeleton, but accidentally the automat begins to operate, keeping Lige and the darky porter in a riot of stunts as they try to get out of its way. Directed by Stephen Roberts.

The Cast

Lige Conley, Estelle Bradley, Jack Lloyd, Otto Fries, Phil Dunham.

Summary—Lige, the colored porter, and the tin soldier furnish enough merriment to please the average comedy fans.

"The Mad Racer"

(Fox—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

ANOTHER splendid comedy in which the quibbling Van Bibber blunders himself to victory in the usual grand style. Van runs into many new complications in this one, with a result that the fans will get more than their money's worth of laughs. The hero is spending a vacation with Colonel Paddock's party at a ranch owned by the latter's friend. Now it happens that the peaceful atmosphere of this ranch is disturbed from time to time by a desperado known as the Mad Racer, the terror of the countryside. Ranch foreman hires him to dispose of Van in order that he may win the annual buggy race and possess himself of Sylvia Paddock, in whom he is infatuated. By a trick of fate, however, Van is forced in the race, and after having been dragged by a runaway vehicle, stumbles into a leading chariot in which the Mad Racer lies stunned. And so once again Van is proclaimed hero of the day. Benjamin Stoloff directed.

The Cast

Reginald Van Bibber	Earle Foxe
Sylvia Paddock	Florence Gilbert
Bertie De Puyster	Lyn Cowan
Colonel Paddock	Frank Beal
The Heavy	Lawford Davidson
Mad Racer	Patrick Rooney

Summary—Well up to the standard of Van Bibber comedies. Has clever subtitles and many novel situations. Should please all patrons.

"The Doctor"

(Cranfield & Clark—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

THIS is No. 5 of the two-reel comedy series, "Smouldering Tires," starring Alducers, Inc., under supervision of David Horsley. The picture is inspired by the famous painting bearing that name, by Sir Luke Fildes, which now hangs in Tate Gallery, London. The author has built a dramatic story around this painting, dealing with life of a young couple who have separated after their initial quarrel. He lives alone with their boy in a lonely cabin, while unknown to him she lives on the other border of the woods. The boy strays into her cottage and she becomes fond of him, but one day he gets hurt and she goes to fetch his father only to discover that he is her abandoned husband. Reconciliation follows at the boy's bedside.

Summary—Quite colorful and fairly entertaining film, with a touch of human interest and beautiful photography.

"Painless Pain"

(Universal-Century—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

WANDA WILEY is featured in a faint vehicle in which she will have to depend on her popularity and whatever stunts she pulls in this one, to put it over. The action here centers around her sweetheart's dental parlor. His business is so poor that he admits his inability to marry her. Wanda immediately gets a trick hunch; she hires a tough guy to walk up the street knocking down the passersby to whom she distributes her sweetie's business cards. Business picks up marvelously with Wanda taking charge of the dental chair. She demonstrates some new ways of pulling teeth by means of guy ropes and a trap door. The results are highly gratifying to her customers and she collects a handsome fortune thus insuring her marriage to the boy she loves.

Summary—Not very promising, unless the novel idea of pulling teeth and the hired bouncer will make them laugh.

"Broken China"

(Educational-Christie—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

BOBBY VERNON cast in a story that suits him exceedingly well, that of a timid boy in a rough and tumble affair, where speedy action and his acrobatics supply most of the comedy. Bobby attends a policemen's ball in a rented uniform, in order to be near his sweetie who is the hostess. But alack the wicked fate, he is mistaken for a real policeman and sent with a squad to raid Chinatown. There he falls in the hands of Wun Lung, the notorious smuggler, and a battle of wits follows, our hero getting the worst of it. The episodes in Chinatown's underworld are quite spontaneous in legitimate fun, with Bobby and Bill Blaisdell pulling the lion's share of it.

The Cast

Bobby Vernon, Frances Lee, William Irving and Bill Blaisdell. Directed by Earle Rodney.

Summary—Nothing startlingly new in this one, but it will ring the bell nevertheless. Good direction and a different background will help the picture a great deal.

"Felix the Cat Uses His Head"

(Educational-Cartoon—One Reel)

FELIX has starvation blues and in his search for food runs into many rib-tickling situations. First he stumbles over a quarter with which he goes to the delicatessen, but a Hebrew sign tells him that the store is closed on account of St. Patrick's Day. In another store he buys a can of sardines, but after he opens the can they all hop out and leave Felix still hungry. He gets a cold chicken next which he loses in an icy pond. The climax of fun is reached when a hen and her brood tug at Felix's tail mistaking it for a huge worm. Felix frees himself at last but mourns the shape of his appendix which now is ten times its normal size. This is a snappy one-reel comedy.—M. T. ANDREWS.

"Wooden Shoes"

(Cranfield & Clark—One Reel)

THIS is a one-reel scenic film showing the alluring beauty of Holland. It is presented in a light story form, a pair of wooden shoes abandoned at the doorway takes us for a stroll through Holland's beauty spots. There are magnificent shots of the expansive quilt-patched tulip fields, the rugged cities where the streets are silver ribbons of water, the quaint windmills, the dog-carts and the picturesque costumes of Dutch people. The subject is beautifully photographed and interesting one-reel novelty.—M. T. ANDREWS.

Silken Shackles

Not So Good for Irene Rich

(Reviewed by Laurence Reid)

A GREAT deal has been said about Irene Rich needing a different kind of story than that of the neglected wife who suffers and suffers and suffers. In taking advantage of the opportunity to give her a change, her sponsors haven't done very well by her. While she makes a complete about face in the part of a flirtatious woman who isn't quite true to her husband, the absurd story doesn't add to her histrionic stature as she is unable to make the role convincing.

The star should have been given a plot with some consistency in its characterization—and then a director should have been chosen who would understand the characters he is presenting. Frankly in this picture we weren't sure whether she loved her husband or whether he loved her and we didn't have the question settled for us when she goes back to him after she has left him for a violinist in Budapest.

The piece needed a light touch—a touch of satire. There seemed to be something lacking in the portrayals—something that is needed to make plausible the development of the plot. We do believe that the deficiency is more with the authors and the director than with the cast which includes in addition to Miss Rich, Huntly Gordon, as her husband, and Victor Varconi, as the violinist. Photography is uneven.

The Cast: Irene Rich, Huntly Gordon, Bert Marburgh, Victor Varconi, Evylyn Selbie, Robert Schable, Kalla Pasha. Director, Walter Morosco.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. Star's effective acting. Scene when wife's flirtation is developed at restaurant. The expose of interloper as a fraud. The good work by Gordon and Varconi.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Boost Irene Rich as one of the most convincing actresses on the screen. Tell that she has been given the chance to appear in something else than the role of the neglected wife. Tell of the power of music to influence imaginative people.

DRAWING POWER. Satisfactory for program theatres, though not substantial nor convincing enough for large theatres with sophisticated audiences.

Produced and distributed by Warner Brothers.

Length, 6,061 feet. Released April, 1926.

Series of stills from a Gotham release, "Hearts and Spangles"

"The Danger Quest" is a current Rayart release. These scenes were taken from the picture

Three Weeks in Paris

Parisian Flavored Farce Comedy

(Reviewed by Frank Elliott)

A FAIR program picture which exhibitors should find suitable for early warm weather audiences. It is really much ado about nothing and will not tax the gray matter of patrons. Matt Moore, who seemed to strike a responsive chord through his work in "The Cave Man," is again given opportunity to put over a risible-tickling role—that of a bridegroom, who immediately following his wedding is called to Paris on important business. But he gets mixed up with a flirtatious demoiselle, is forced to fight a duel, lands in a French hoosegow and then when his ship, on which he was supposed to return to America, is lost at sea, he is also listed as missing. The bride collects a fat insurance policy and "the other man," is about to take advantage of this fact by marrying her, when up pops friend husband, who disguises himself as a chef and gets a job in the household to learn how he stands. Of course it all comes out O. Keh. Moore is supported by Willard Louis, who is equally prominent in the cast with the star and gives valuable aid in putting over most of the comedy situations, many of which, however, are overdone. Dorothy Devore has the leading feminine role but is not called on for much acting. Helen Lynch is convincing and attractive as the eye-rolling Parisienne. The photography is good.

The Cast: Matt Moore, Dorothy Devore, Willard Louis, Helen Lynch, Gayne Whitman, John Patrick, Frank Bond, Nora Cecil. Director, Roy del Ruth.

THEME. Comedy. Adventures of bridegroom who goes to Paris without bride on wedding day. Becomes involved in wiles of city. Jailed. Returns home to stop payment of insurance to wife.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. The duel. The scenes in jail and aboard ship. The Par-farce episodes. The acting. Direction.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Put over a Paris Week tie-up with stores. Stage Parisian night. Boost Matt Moore, Willard Lewis and Dorothy Devore. Tie-up with paper offering prizes for essays on "How Would You Spend Three Weeks in Paris?"

DRAWING POWER. O. K. for program houses. Will appeal to the masses.

Produced and distributed by Warner Brothers.

Length,* 6,050 feet. Released, May, 1926.

The Danger Quest

Reed Howes Stars in Amusing Stunt Feature

(Reviewed by George T. Pardy)

WHILE not to be classed as the best of the rapid action Reed Howes series produced by Harry J. Brown, "The Danger Quest" shows the energetic, agile hero in a few new stunts that will make observers wonder how he did 'em and is amusing entertainment as a whole. The yarn takes Reed into the interior of Africa this time, wearing a talisman by which a certain chief will recognize him while proceeding on his quest for the great Starfire diamond. Of course, he has adventures enough and to spare and the action is fast.

One curious stunt is that in which the hero swings his horse back suddenly, dashes between two mounted pursuers and upsets them both as he gallops through. But the picture's main fault seems to be a tendency on the director's part to slam in a lot of unnecessary detail, stuff filmed at a speedy clip enough, but which wasn't wanted in the story and should have been cut out altogether. However, the ardent admirers of Mr. Howes, especially those of the feminine contingent, will probably be so well satisfied with the star's work and appearance that the picture's minor defects won't annoy them. Still, he is worthy of better material.

The Cast: Reed Howes, Ethel Shannon, J. P. McGowan, David Kirby, Billy Francy, Fred Kohler. Author, Henry Roberts Symonds. Director, Harry J. Brown.

THEME. Comedy Drama in which adventurous young American explores interior of Africa, obtains huge diamond, mystifies natives, rescues and carries off girl he loves.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. Reed Howe's athletic stunts, rapid action, comedy shots, melodramatic thrills. The good photography, excellent tropical atmosphere. Acting of Ethel Shannon and J. P. McGown.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Feature the star. Tell 'em about Reed's wonderful new stunts and his battling stuff.

DRAWING POWER. Suitable for average house.

Harry J. Brown Production. Distributed by Rayart Pictures. Length, 5,000 feet. Released March, 1926.

Scenes from Warner Brothers' "Silken Shackles," in which Irene Rich is starred Scenes from the Warner Bros. picture, "Three Weeks in Paris"

Hearts and Spangles

Nippy Tale of Behind the Scenes in a Circus

(Reviewed by George T. Pardy)

HAS a good box office title and several bully points of appeal for the average fan. They never grow tired of the circus-life stuff, when properly handled and presented, and this picture meets all requirements, both from commercial and artistic standpoints. There are few people who from childhood have not been interested in the doings of the folk of the sawdust ring, and memories of our first circus are hard to eliminate.

"Hearts and Spangles" has universal lure, it was really made with a tent show and the backgrounds are not sets. With these realistic surroundings a melodramatic romance has been craftily interwoven that gets across great, considerable skill having been shown in interlocking situations smoothly, creating suspense, putting the thrills over snappily and shaping comedy relief. The scenario writer did a good job and it's a sure case of fine cooperation between director Frank O'Connor and players. Every member of the cast does splendidly. Wanda Hawley is a particularly petite, fascinating figure as heroine Peg Palmer, riding star, Robert Gordon, a most likable lover, and juvenile Frankie Darrow so good, there are times he steals the picture.

The Cast: Wanda Hawley, Robert Gordon, Barbara Tennant, Eric Mayme, Frankie Darrow, Larry Steers, George Cheeseboro. Author, Norman Houston. Director, Fran O'Connor.

THEME. Melodrama. Treats of circus life and romance wherein cast-off son of good family joins sawdust folks, makes good, wins girl-rider.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. The realistic circus atmosphere, excellent acting by entire cast. Good comedy. Big punch scene when ringmaster turns lions loose and hero averts panic.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Bill as great circus melodrama with real backgrounds. Boost romance thrills and heart appeal. Feature principals.

DRAWING POWER. Suits any theatre where sterling melo attracts.

Produced by Gotham Pictures. Distributed by Lumas Film Corp.
Length, 5,980 feet. Released March, 1926.

The Runaway

Fair Qualities In This Hill Billy Picture

(Reviewed by Lawrence Reid)

HAVING a sound knowledge of what constitutes restraint in action melodramas it was good judgment on the part of Famous to give this "hill billy" story to William de Mille. This isn't to say that the director has created something new or distinctive. In reality the plot has gone to the movie well many, many times. What we do establish is de Mille's flair for getting down to the rock-bottom of characterization and humanizing it. Some directors would have gone the limit in painting the villain as a bad "furriner" impossible of registering a single redeeming virtue. By bringing forth that he is merely subject to the law of jealousy the same as any of us, de Mille has made him recognizably real.

The plot is no great shakes at all. It's a tale of the hills—with the heroine finding refuge and protection from a mountaineer when she believes she has killed her city suitor. The action establishes their romance and villainy is dispensed with when the disappointed man acknowledges the good luck of the "hill billy" in winning the girl. There is a quiet force in the acting which makes the action much more genuine than what would have been the case if it had been treated with heavy melodrama. The portrayals are ably taken care of by Warner Baxter, as the mountaineer, Clara Bow, as the girl, and William Powell as the city friend. The atmosphere is well suggested.

The Cast: Clara Bow, Warner Baxter, William Powell, George Bancroft, Edythe Chapman.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. The moment when mountaineer discovers heroine; scene when rival returns after he is believed dead; the suspense when men confront one another; the sympathy extended the villain; the restrained acting; the atmosphere.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Bill as a different type of mountain story. Emphasize the restrained acting by principals. Feature William de Mille as a director who puts over the human values. Boost it as human story of them thar hills. Emphasize the fine romantic quality.

DRAWING POWER. Has enough good points to draw, but needs heavy exploitation of first-rate direction and acting to put it over. Suitable for large and small theatres.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Length, six reels. Released April, 1926.

Episodes from "Brown of Harvard," released by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

Marion Davies in scenes from "Beverly of Graustark" (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer)

Paris at Midnight

Brilliant Drama with Latin Quarter Atmosphere

(Reviewed by George T. Pardy)

THIS has all the earmarks of a box-office winner, a picture aglow with fervid love scenes, two girls who ruin their devoted father by attempting to reign as social queens of the Latin Quarter, his uncomplaining sacrifice, the dash and whirl of Parisian smart set life—the story has loads of human appeal as well as thrills. Also, it is produced on a lavishly splendid scale, the settings are magnificent, women patrons will enthuse over the gorgeous gown displays.

But the acting is undoubtedly the picture's strong point. Jetta Goudal, Lionel Barrymore, Mary Brian, Edmund Burns, Emile Chautard, distinguish themselves particularly, but for that matter, everyone in the cast may be said to have contributed heavily to the film's success. Perhaps one of the most unique situations ever developed on the screen is that in which the honest Pere Goriot, accused of leading a double life, astounds the investigators by confessing that the two ladies under suspicion are his daughters. Yet there is nothing to offend the moralists in this deft adaptation of a Balzac novel, so delicately has the director handled his material, and that is a feat worth mentioning.

The Cast: Jetta Goudal, Lionel Barrymore, Mary Brian, Edmund Burns, Emile Chautard, Brandon Hurst, Jocelyn Lee, Mathilde Comont. Author, Honore de Blazac. Director, E. Mason Hopper.

THEME. Drama with Parisian settings, depicting the struggles of two girls to become social queens and their father's sacrifices for them.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. Brilliant atmosphere, students' masked ball, exquisite costumes, thrills, emotional sequences, swift action, fine acting of whole cast, good direction and story values.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Arrange tieups on gowns with modistes, also with book stores on Balzac novel, "Pere Goriot."

DRAWING POWER. First run calibre, has universal appeal.

Produced by Metropolitan Pictures Corp. Distributed by Producers Distributing Corp.

Length, 6,995 feet. Released April, 1926.

Beverly of Graustark

Romantic Comedy Drama Is Snappy Entertainment

(Reviewed by George T. Pardy)

THIS adaptation of George Barr McCutcheon's oldtime-best-seller novel shapes up as a real success on the screen and should hit the high box-office score most anywhere. The yarn of a mythical kingdom, with vivacious Marion Davies a cutely alluring sight masquerading as a prince, travels with tremendous vim and hasn't a dull moment in it.

The star is certainly O. K. in male attire and works with her usual sprightly appeal, giving a versatile performance. She is well supported, Antonio Moreno, a gallant hero, Creighton Hale very effective as the genuine prince and Roy D'Arcy as melodramatic, a full-dyed villain as the exigencies of the story demands. They have produced the feature lavishly, the backgrounds and settings are undeniably gorgeous and the costumes are things of beauty, even the mere males appearing in uniforms that enchant the artistic eye. There's a real eye-compelling sequence in color which winds up the film in great style, with the star appearing in feminine garments and looking all the more bewitching for the change. Sidney Franklin has made a capital job of the direction; photography and lighting effects admirable.

The Cast: Marion Davies, Antonio Moreno, Creighton Hale, Roy D'Arcy, Albert Grau, Paulette Duval, Charles Clary. Author, George Barr McCutcheon. Director, Sidney Franklin.

THEME. Comedy-drama. American girl masquerades as Prince in European kingdom to save throne for real heir. Is won by man she loves.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. Marion Davies' versatile work in lead. Lively comedy hits, skilled direction, suspense, gorgeous settings and magnificent color sequence. Cleverly developed climax.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Play up Miss Davies in male attire, tell 'em how good she looks. Bill as crackerjack comedy-drama.

DRAWING POWER. Has universal appeal. Good anywhere.

Produced by Cosmopolitan. Distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Length, 6,977 feet. Released March, 1926.

Production stills from the Producers Distributing Corporation picture, "Paris At Midnight"

Dramatic highlights from "The Runaway," a new Paramount offering

Brown of Harvard

College Romance Has Its Moments

(Reviewed by William Campbell)

A FAIR enough job has been done by Rida Johnson Young's play which was favorably received everywhere in its original presentation except in the vicinity of Harvard Yard. The gentle sons of Harvard will not have to turn thumbs down upon the screen version—even if the central figure gets out of character occasionally. Some of the collegians will argue that Brown is altogether too playful—even for a freshman and that he would be tamed in quick order. It does strike us that he is too much the college cut-up. A little more dignity on his part would have engendered more sympathy for him.

The picture is romance all the way and builds on the idea that a youth must go through the mill in college as he goes through the mill in life if he would be successful. He has his ups and downs here—and Harvard loses until he appreciates that he isn't playing the game on the level.

One must taken into consideration that Harvard didn't sanction a picture camera on the campus or in the stadium. Naturally, much of the realistic atmosphere and detail is missing. But the director has injected plenty of spirit into his athletic climaxes and the players have been picked with an eye upon their collegiate similarity.

The Cast: William Haines, Jack Pickford, Francis X. Bushman, Jr., Mary Brian, Edward Connelly, David Torrence, Mary Alden. Director, Jack Conway.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. Jack Pickford's study of the hero-worshipping room-mate. Scene when latter saves hero from being dismissed by coach. The football game—with the attendant atmosphere in the stands and on the field. The moment of Brown's triumph and his final appreciation of his room-mate's great sacrifice.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Bill as adaptation of successful play. Dress lobby in college atmosphere with Harvard banners, etc., predominating. Play up the crew race and the football game. Tell of the college spirit which goads the boys to do the utmost for their alma mater.

DRAWING POWER. Should please the youth of the land everywhere. Satisfactory for large and small theatres.

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Length, 7,600 feet. Released April, 1926.

My Old Dutch

Deep Human Interest in London Coster Story

(Reviewed by George T. Pardy)

SUGGESTED by one of the late Albert Chevalier's most popular ballads, this picture is remarkably strong in the human rest and sympathetic factors. Chevalier, in his day a celebrated British music-hall songster and character-portrayer of international renown, devoted much of his art to playing up the London costermonger folk, purveyors of vegetables, etc., clad, both men and women, in colorful if extraordinary clothing, and during his stage career made these cheerful cockney types known at all points of the compass.

In the present instance the plot deals with a coster husband and wife who come in for a fortune, resolve to have their baby boy brought up as a gentleman away from them in ignorance of his parentage so that he can have every advantage in life that has been denied them. The result is pathetic, as the young chap turns out wild, father and mother, old and poverty-stricken, reach the workhouse. But there's a bright ending after all, many fine dramatic moments occur, May McAvoy, Pat O'Malley, Cullen Landis are excellent, the support is capable and the British atmosphere admirably produced. The feature's appeal is very emotional, direction good.

Cast: May McAvoy, Pat O'Malley, Cullen Landis, Jean Hersholt, Patsy O'Bryne, Edgar Kennedy, Frank Crane, Rolfe Sedan. Author, Arthur Shirley. Director, Laurence Trimble.

THEME. Heart interest drama. Deals with coster husband and wife who sacrificed all for son. In the end, old couple find happiness with him.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. The realistic English atmosphere. Early comedy touches. Careful building-up of heart interest sequences and sustained pathos. Principal's fine acting, pleasing climax.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Boost as sympathetic heart drama, stress parental love idea. Refer to Chevalier's great fame. Play up leads.

DRAWING POWER. Good stuff for average audience.

Produced and Distributed by Universal. Length, 7,750 feet. Released March, 1926.

Scenes from "Her Second Chance," a First National production

Tom Tyler is starred in "Wild To Go." These scenes are taken from the F. B. O. picture

A Social Celebrity

Light, Bright Comedy with Touch of Pathos

(Reviewed by George T. Pardy)

A COMEDY with a bit of suggested pathos leavening the laughs, plot of extremely light texture and not startling original! But Adolphe Menjou's name will draw them in and once in they will be well pleased with the excellent acting of that versatile gentleman and his clever associates. In connection with which it is worthy of remark that Chester Conklin, erstwhile broad comedian of the rough-'em-up order, furnishes a character sketch of the old Long Island barber, whose business flops hopelessly when his handsome son leaves for New York, that is a wonderful mingling of the comic and sentimental.

If Conklin isn't cast in roles of more subtlety after this performance, his admirers will surely resent it, for he has certainly delivered the goods. As for the star, Menjou, while his forte is considered the blase, sophisticated types, is mighty capable as the good-looking young chap from the rustic burg who adventures in Gotham, coming back sadder, wiser, but richer in the possession of a pretty girl who loves him. Director Malcolm St. Clair got the picture away to a rather slow start, but it picked up speed early and spun merrily to the end.

The Cast: Adolphe Menjou, Louise Brooks, Chester Conklin, Elsie Lawson, Roger Davis, Freeman Jones. Author, Monte M. Katterjohn. Director, Malcolm St. Clair.

THEME. Comedy. Son of small town barber goes to New York, impersonates Count, after many amusing adventures returns home with manicure girl who loves him.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. Excellent acting of star and supporting players, fine photography, New York views. Good direction, comedy hits and moments of pathos, latter very cleverly suggested.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Best bet is playing up Menjou. Praise as highly laughable comedy with heart appeal. Support worth billing.

DRAWING POWER. Will satisfy fans in general.

Produced by Malcolm St. Clair. Distributed by Paramount. Length, 6,025 feet. Released March, 1926.

Wild To Go

Thrills, Comedy, Bathing Girls in Live Western

(Reviewed By George T. Pardy)

BIG, handsome, athletic Tom Tyler and his trained horse and dog are a winning combination in this Western which, besides the melodramatic wallops one looks for in this style of picture, is strong on the comedy side. Also it jumps into the unique class by introducing a bunch of bathing girl beauties, this being a new trick in a Western, but it's legitimate enough so far as the plot goes.

For Tom, escaping from a cattle boat on which he was shanghaied, swims to a beach where some school misses are paddling around, gets a call-down from a life-guard for landing there and the pair battle viciously, much to the delight of the feminine spectators. After which the action buzzes along furiously, with one exciting episode following another, an alluring love romance developing and plunging into a dandy wind-up. Tom Tyler has never appeared to better advantage than in this peppy feature, nor have they ever given him such good support. Little Frankie Darro deserves especial mention for his masterly performance; Eugenie Gilbert is great as Marjorie. Photography, direction, first-chop!

THEME. Western melodrama with comedy relief. Big cowboy is shanghaied, has extraordinary adventures, gets back to ranch, defeats foes, wins girl he loves.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. Tom Tyler's fearless athletic stunts, riding, battling. Fast action maintained all through, melodramatic sweep of plot and neatly injected humorous shots. Good direction.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Feature Tom Tyler. Tell 'em this is a ripping comedy-melo., a Westerner that will fascinate them.

DRAWING POWER. Sure to score if they like Westerns.

Robert De Lacey Production. Distributed by F. B. O.
Length, 4,570 feet. Released April, 1926.

Scenes from the Paramount picture, "A Social Celebrity"

Scenes from "My Old Dutch," a Universal release

Her Second Chance

Love and Revenge With Racing Background

(Reviewed by Frank Elliott)

LAMBERT HILLYER has transplanted this colorful story by Mrs. Wilson Woodrow to the screen in such a way that it is sure to afford entertainment for all except the highbrows who will not perhaps readily accept the too sudden transformation of the crude mountain girl into a brilliant, beautiful young lady. The girl of the hills is sent to a reformatory for shooting a trespasser on her land. She vows revenge on the judge and consents to aid in a scheme through which a "ringer" is substituted for the judge's horse in a race. However, love enters and the girl returns from her Kentucky retreat just in time to clear the judge and bring about the arrest of the guilty parties who had been seeking also to annihilate the judge politically.

Anna Q. Nilsson is particularly attractive in the leading role and gives a telling performance. A lot of fun is contributed by Charlie Murray, as a would-be detective. Huntly Gordon registers well as the judge. Corliss Palmer makes her debut in an unimportant bit. The racing atmosphere is excellent and the race itself thrillingly photographed. There is an indoor bathing party to provide the jazz.

THEME: Drama. Mountain girl swears revenge on judge who jails her. Promises to aid in his ruin when love interferes. She goes to rescue, forgets revenge, and weds him.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. The trial. Meeting between judge and girl in later years. The indoor bathing party. The race. The climax. Comedy element. Acting.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Play up a thrilling drama of love and revenge. Boost Anna Nilsson, Huntly Gordon and Charles Murray. Book tie-up. Mounted jockey as ballyhoo.

DRAWING POWER. Excellent cast and action-packed story should please most folks and attract business for average house.

Produced and Distributed by First National.
Length, 7,000 feet. Released March, 1926.

CLASSIFIED AD SECTION

RATES: 10 cents a word for each insertion, in advance except Employment Wanted, on which rate is 5 cents.

Wanted

PROJECTIONIST.—7 years' experience. Best reference. Wants position. James Convey, 33 West 65th Street, New York City.

EXPERIENCED projectionist.—Young man wishes position anywhere. Write or wire stating salary in first letter. Julio Fernandez. 2606 14th Street, Tampa, Florida.

WANTED. — Exploitation man wants change. A-1 ad man. Prefers New York State. R. T. H., General Delivery, Uhrichsville, Ohio.

YOUNG MAN desires position in any department of film laboratory. Also projectionist. Best references. Box 700, Motion Picture News, New York City.

WANTED.—Used posters, photos, slides, banners and accessories of all kinds. Must be in good condition. Will allow liberal credit. Theatre Poster Supply Company and Sign Exchange, 327 E. Sixth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

WANTED.—To rent or buy motion picture theatre. Give full particulars in first letter. Mrs. J. Beucher, 2880 Elston Ave., Chicago, Ill.

FAMILY of four would take full charge of your theatre — manager, operator, musician and ticket seller. Fifteen years' experience. Will lease or buy small theatre. Box 665, Motion Picture News, New York City.

CAMERAMAN. — Open soon for local news reel, special stunts, screen prologues, exploitation, amateur photoplays, contests, etc.; want permanent place; salary basis; reliable theatre only; own camera. Address Rowe, 6855 Vinewood, Detroit, Mich.

PIANIST, expert, desires engagement to play alone in picture theatre, within commuting distance from New York City. Box 680, Motion Picture News, New York City.

AT LIBERTY, motion picture organist, expert in synchronizing music to the picture, plays jazz and classics; will go anywhere state of California. Address Alice Smythe, 1969 Fourth St., San Diego, California.

MOTION PICTURE PHOTOGRAPHER at liberty, desires position anywhere. Have my own cameras. Write J. H. D., 159 Orchard Street, Elizabeth, N. J.

WANTED.—Portable stereopticon, with or without slides. Spot cash. Must be cheap. Lyric Theatre, Odell, Illinois.

WANTED.—To lease a good theatre or take job as manager. Have had twelve years' experience. Married. Can give best of reference. Address E. L. Marquet, Opera House, Richwood, Ohio.

WANT to lease movie theatre 600 seats or over; anywhere in State of Wisconsin; would consider house somewhat run down, or will buy interest in bona fide proposition where owner wishes to retire; all replies absolutely confidential. Address, Box 660, Motion Picture News, Chicago, Ill.

OPERATOR- and- electrician with 9 years experience in large houses; married; wants work at once. W. F. Ingalls, 313 So. "B" St., Oskaloosa, Iowa.

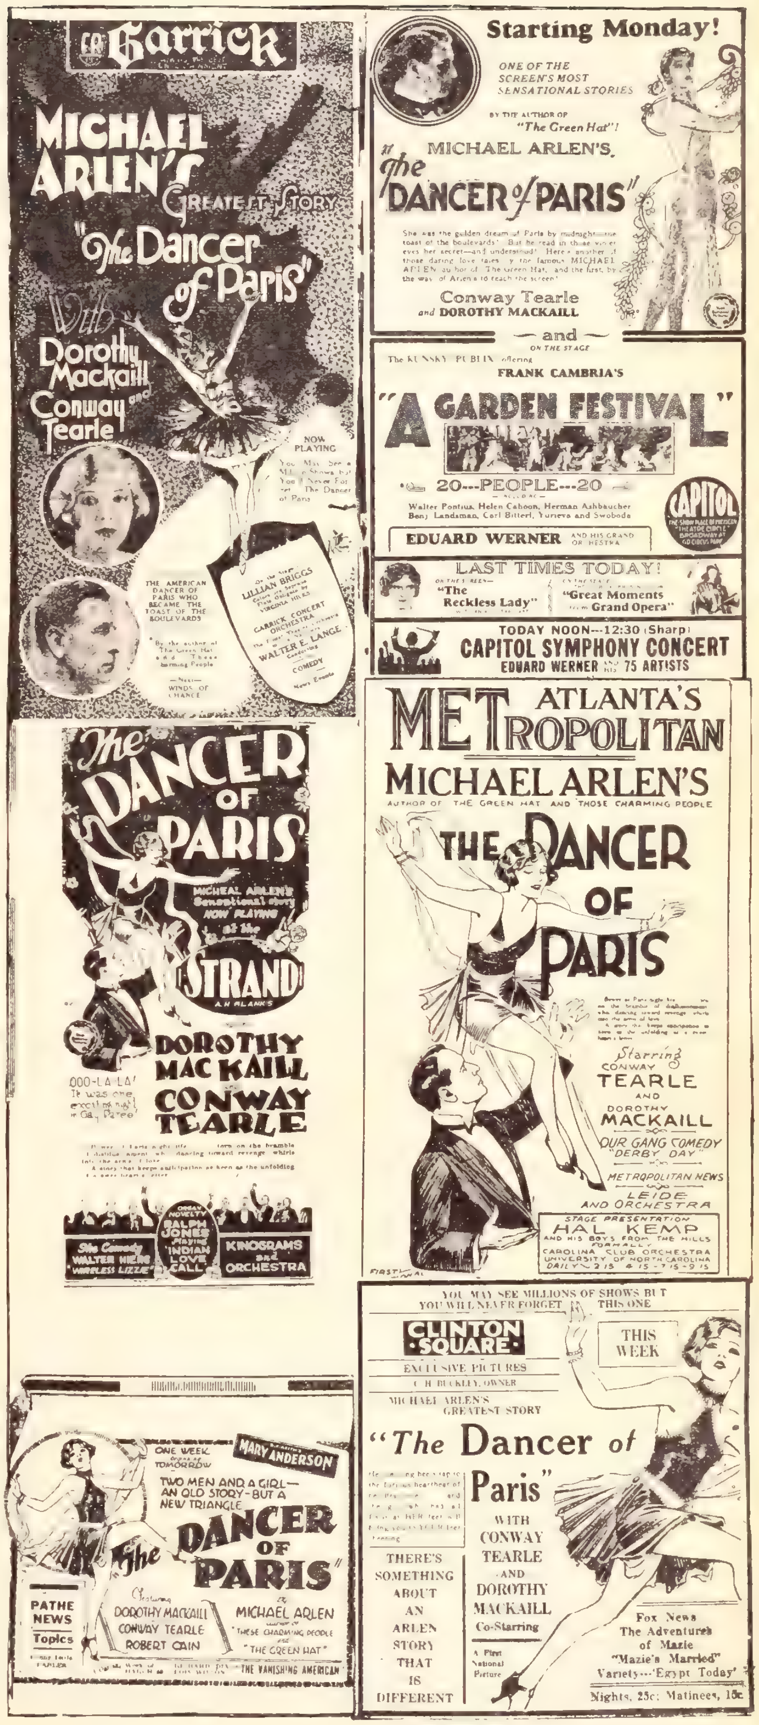
WANTED to buy or rent theatre 500-600 seats. Country preferred. Give full particulars. A. B., Motion Picture News, 845 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

For Sale

CLOTH BANNERS. — $1.40. 3 x 10 feet, 3 colors, any copy up to 15 words; one day service; sent anywhere; also Bargain Paper Banners. Associated Advertisers, 111 W. 18th Street, Kansas City, Mo.

SEVERAL used pipe and pit organs of standard makes, completely overhauled, traded on new Page organs; priced to sell. The Page Organ Co., Lima, Ohio.

THEATRE for long lease or sale. Fully equipped pictures or road shows. Seating capacity 900. Charels Bellinger, Findlay, Ohio.



Garrick

MICHAEL ARLEN'S GREATEST STORY

"The Dancer of Paris"

With Dorothy Mackaill and Conway Tearle

NOW PLAYING

You May See a Million Shows but You'll Never Forget The Dancer of Paris

THE AMERICAN DANCER OF PARIS WHO BECAME THE TOAST OF THE BOULEVARDS

By the author of The Green Hat and These Charming People

—Next— WINDS OF CHANCE

On the Stage LILLIAN BRIGGS

GARRICK CONCERT ORCHESTRA

WALTER E. LANGE Conducting

COMEDY

News Events

Starting Monday!

ONE OF THE SCREEN'S MOST SENSATIONAL STORIES

BY THE AUTHOR OF "The Green Hat"!

MICHAEL ARLEN'S "The DANCER of PARIS"

Conway Tearle and DOROTHY MACKAILL

— and —

ON THE STAGE

FRANK CAMBRIA'S

"A GARDEN FESTIVAL"

20---PEOPLE---20

Walter Pontius, Helen Cahoon, Herman Ashbaucher, Benj. Landsman, Carl Bitterl, Yurieva and Swoboda

EDUARD WERNER AND HIS GRAND ORCHESTRA

CAPITOL

LAST TIMES TODAY!

"The Reckless Lady"

"Great Moments from Grand Opera"

TODAY NOON---12:30 (Sharp)

CAPITOL SYMPHONY CONCERT

EDUARD WERNER AND HIS 75 ARTISTS

The DANCER OF PARIS

MICHEAL ARLEN'S Sensational story NOW PLAYING at the

STRAND

A. H. BLANK'S

DOROTHY MACKAILL

CONWAY TEARLE

OOO-LA-LA! It was one exciting night in Gay Paree

ORGAN NOVELTY RALPH JONES Playing 'INDIAN LOVE CALL'

The Comedy WALTER HIERS "WIRELESS LIZZIE"

KINOGRAMS and ORCHESTRA

ATLANTA'S METROPOLITAN

MICHAEL ARLEN'S

AUTHOR OF THE GREEN HAT AND THOSE CHARMING PEOPLE

THE DANCER OF PARIS

Starring CONWAY TEARLE AND DOROTHY MACKAILL

OUR GANG COMEDY "DERBY DAY"

METROPOLITAN NEWS

LEIDE AND ORCHESTRA

STAGE PRESENTATION

HAL KEMP

AND HIS BOYS FROM THE HILLS FORMALLY CAROLINA CLUB ORCHESTRA UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

DAILY 2 15 4 15 - 7 15 - 9 15

ONE WEEK TOMORROW

MARY ANDERSON

TWO MEN AND A GIRL— AN OLD STORY-BUT A NEW TRIANGLE

The "DANCER OF PARIS"

Featuring DOROTHY MACKAILL CONWAY TEARLE ROBERT CAIN

By MICHAEL ARLEN

"THESE CHARMING PEOPLE" and "THE GREEN HAT"

PATHE NEWS Topics

"THE VANISHING AMERICAN"

YOU MAY SEE MILLIONS OF SHOWS BUT YOU WILL NEVER FORGET THIS ONE

CLINTON SQUARE

EXCLUSIVE PICTURES

C. H. BUCKLEY, OWNER

THIS WEEK

MICHAEL ARLEN'S GREATEST STORY

"The Dancer of Paris"

WITH CONWAY TEARLE AND DOROTHY MACKAILL Co-Starring

A First National Picture

THERE'S SOMETHING ABOUT AN ARLEN STORY THAT IS DIFFERENT

Fox News

The Adventures of Mazie "Mazie's Married"

Variety---'Egypt Today'

Nights, 25c; Matinees, 15c.

Stock cuts prepared by the First National Advertising Department for "The Dancer of Paris" are especially good and therefore they have been widely used by first run theatres in layouts for this picture. A representative group of displays used for "The Dancer of Paris" show an ingenious use of the press book suggestions. The displays shown were used by the following theatres Metropolitan, Atlanta; Strand, Des Moines; Clinton Square, Albany; Mary Anderson, Louisville; Capitol, Detroit, and Garrick, Duluth

Regional News from Correspondents

Cleveland

THE Circle Theatre, Euclid Avenue and East 101st Street, reverts back to its original owners on May 1. For the past nine months the theatre has been leased and operated by the Warner Brothers. Martin Printz has returned from California to manage the house, from which he withdrew when the Warner management went into effect. Although Printz has not announced whether he will continue the combination vaudeville-picture policy as instituted under the Warner regime, it has been announced that the Circle Theatre will continue to run Warner feature productions until September 1, the date on which the contract expires.

Sam Schachtel has returned from a several months' vocation trip through the West and has taken up his usual duties as owner-manager of the "Y" Theatre.

Bert Botzum, proprietor and manager of the Orpheum Theatre, Akron, and a whole-herated exhibitor in the winter time, is now dividing his interest between his theatre and his race track, the Northampton Race Course, which opened its season last week.

John Kessler retires from active service as an exhibitor in this territory with the sale of his Alhambra Theatre, Canton, to the Silverman Brothers. Kessler has been prominent in the exhibition field for very many years. He has been in poor health of late, however, and will try travel as a cure. The Silverman Brothers own theatres in Cleveland and Pennsylvania.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer, leading daily newspaper, is co-operating with the motion picture industry to the extent of establishing a resident representative in the Film Exchange Building. He is Harvey F. Noss, and he is always on hand to take care of exhibitor newspaper advertising and publicity.

The spring changes in the local Paramount exchange have been announced. Aaron Wayne, city salesman, has been transferred to the Pittsburgh office, where he will continue to answer to the title of city salesman; R. H. Ramsey, who has been covering the sales in the Canton territory, has been transferred to Indianapolis, and Art Grimes has come to Cleveland from the Cincinnati branch.

Clif Almy, believed through his nine years tenure as Cleveland Metro-Goldwyn exchange manager to be a local fixture, has moved his wife, daughter and household goods to Buffalo, where he is duly installed as manager of the Warner exchange.

Sam Gorrell, for the past three years in charge of city sales for the Progress Pictures Company, is now receiving his mail at the local Associated Exhibitors exchange. Gorrell moved last Monday.

Frank Genee, who has been office manager at the local F. B. O. exchange for the past three and a half years, has accepted a post as office manager in Pittsburgh for Producers Distributing Corporation. J. Levin, who had charge of the booking division, has been promoted to office manager, and James Wilson, formerly with Paramount in Los Angeles, is booker.

The Cleveland First National family attending the First National convention in Chicago included: G. L. Sears, branch manager; L. F. Weinz, office manager; H. J. Ochs, city salesman; E. A. Catlin, booker; and W. J. Brandt, M. A. Mooney, H. F. McCarthy and Adolph Braeunig, of the sales force.

J. E. Beck, Cincinnati P. D. C. branch manager, has moved into elegant new quarters in the Broadway Film Building.

Robert Cotton, central division manager for P. D. C., Chester Loewe, division representative, and George W. Erdmann, Cleveland exchange manager, joined the New York P. D. C. group on Thursday en route to California and the P. D. C. national convention.

Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS Paramount celebrated its fifteenth birthday here Monday with the largest exhibitor party in the memory of man.

Seventy-two exhibitors and theatre owners from all over the Northwest actually came in at company expense and were given the freedom of the plant and much special entertainment.

Leon J. Bamberger and James A. Clark, of the home office force, were here to present the product of the year.

A special show was screened. It included views about the company's producing plant and cuttings from a few of the new features, together with much information about the forty new releases.

That evening a banquet was held in the Flame Room of the Radisson Hotel. Speakers were Theodore Hays, of Finkelstein & Ruben; Sol Lebedoff, Homewood Theatre, Minneapolis; William Miller, Leb Theatre, Cloquet; H. J. Peterson, of the Opera House, Jamestown, N. D.; John Pillar, of the Pillar Theatre, Valley City, N. D.; E. R. Ruben, of Finkelstein & Ruben; Bob Henkel, of Cando, N. D.; William Rudd, Granite Falls, and Glen Harding, of Bemidji.

There was no selling throughout the entire session.

A. J. Hand, former owner of the Lyric, Little Falls, Minn., bid in his theatre at a sheriff's sale recently for $819.55. Ben A. Neitzel bought the business in January.

The Gem and Princess Theatres, of Oconto, Wis., formerly operated by E. Pellittieri, have been taken over by A. J. Merritt, of Holland, Mich.

B. W. Merrill, of the Lyric Theatre, Edgar, Neb., is putting in a new screen.

A new theatre is about to open at Gascoyne, N. D.

The Gem Theatre, Granville, N. D., which has been closed under an attachment, is about to be opened by J. E. Osborn, who has taken it over.

C. E. Lyons has bought the Moveum Building at Aitkin, Minn., and will remodel it.

The Palm Theatre, owned by a church at Two Harbors, Minn., has been reopened one night a week. It has been closed since Clinton-Meyers dropped the lease.

Frank Smoleski, owner of the Stockholm Theatre in Minneapolis, is building a new theatre at 245 Thirteenth Avenue, N. E., Minneapolis.

E. B. Eells is turning a business building into a theatre at Grundy City, Iowa.

H. E. Norton is now running the Victor at Sheffield, Iowa.

Rugby, N. D., will have a new theatre in August. J. A. Troyer, of the Lyric Theatre there, and his brother, O. O. Troyer, who has a theatre at Dickinson, are building the house.

J. A. Lane will remodel an Iowa City building for a theatre. The Englert, formerly operated by A. H. Blank, was recently destroyed by fire.

Remodeling has been begun by Frank Pennington at Clarinda, Iowa, for turning a business building into a theatre.

Repairs are being rushed at the Orpheum Theatre at Williston, N. D., after a fire.

Phil Dunas, Universal's Minneapolis manager, has been laid up for a while, but is recovering.

George Hannon is the new house manager at the Grand in Green Bay, recently taken over by Saxe.

Consolidating their interests, Charles Perrigo and Melvin Phillipson closed Perrigo's Star Theatre at Argyle, Wis., and will concentrate on the Opera House, which Phillipson handled.

The Melrose Opera House has been purchased by Dr. J. H. Fogarty from A. H. Blank.

B. C. Marcus, formerly of Omaha and Minneapolis, lately a salesman in Minnesota territory for Film Booking Offices, has been made assistant manager of the Minneapolis branch, taking the place of Roy Zimmerman, who was recently installed as Sioux Falls manager by M. J. Weisfeldt, district director.

Larry Caulfield, a Minneapolis tire salesman of considerable acquaintance, has been taken on for the F. B. O. sales position from which Mr. Marcus is promoted.

Al Peterson, of the Grand Theatre, International Falls, paid another visit to Minneapolis recently.

So did George Young, of the Rex Theatre, Chaska, Minn.

Fred Boll, of the Majestic and Auditorium, Stillwater, Minn., and Benny Berger, of the Metropolitan, Strand and Orpheum in Grand Forks, were greeted along Film Row here recently as budding magnates.

Lou Deutsch and Arny Edelstein, of the Garden Theatre, South Hibbing, are reported among the visitors to F. B. O. last week.

R. A. Volk, of the Opera House at Strassberg, N. D., came in for a few days.

A. Behrndt has been in town booking for his Cozy Theatre at Cambridge, Minn.

Saw J. Joffe, of the Lyric at Kenyon the other day.

Bert Beyerstedt of the new Apollo Theatre at Winona which Beyerstedt Brothers opened only a few months ago, was doing his early summer booking in Minneapolis this week.

Otto Parlitz, of the Crystal Theatres at Glencoe and Norwood, Minn., came in last week from his headquarters at Glencoe.

Alf Cusick was down from Forest Lake.

H. E. McCauley, owner of the Opera House at Glenwood, Minn., and L. F. Heitzig, of the State Theatre at Belle Plain, Minn., were also visitors here recently.

EMPIRE LABORATORIES INC.
723 Seventh Ave., N. Y. Bryant 5437-5736
DEVELOPING AND PRINTING MOTION PICTURE FILM

New England

OFFICIALS of the Associated Thteatres, Inc., have given assurance to residents in the vicinty of Whalley Avenue and Norton Street, New Haven, that they will co-operate with community enterprises in every way if permitted to erect a proposed theatre at that point. There has been some opposition to the theatre from residents in the neighborhood.

The Empire Theatre at Palmer, Mass., after having been operated by various managers during the past few years, is to open under the direction of Mrs. Blanche Yetten, who has so successfully conducted the Strand Theatre in Pittsfield, Mass.

The Majestic Theatre in Brockton has been sold by L. Rothenberg, who also conducts the Strand Theatre in the same city, to M. Pearlstein.

H. E. Elder, division manager for Warner Brothers, is in Chicago attending the Warner Brothers national convention.

Division Manager L. J. Hacking and Field Representative C. W. Sawin of Producers are en route for the coast to attend the annual convention of that organization. They will be away about four weeks.

Harry Decker of Decker's Transfer has added another Cadillac to his fleet for speedy handling of films for the Row.

Miss Florence Scully, booker for Educational, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis, has returned to her home from St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Boston, and is expected back at her desk within a short time.

Sam Krellberg of Excellent Pictures, New York City, was in Boston several days during the week in the interest of distribution.

L. J. Hacking, who has been manager of the Boston exchange for Producers Distributing Corporation, has been promoted to division manager and has had Albany and Buffalo added to his territory, so that he will now be in charge of these two northern New York districts in addition to the entire New England territory.

R. C. Cropper, branch manager of Pathe exchange in Boston, has been in New York City for several days attending the sales convention of Pathe.

R. S. Coyle, inspector-booker for Pathe, with headquarters in New York, has been in Boston for the past few days at the Pathe exchange.

Jack Kline, formerly branch manager for Warner Brothers in Boston, has gone to the West Coast, where he is said to have been made a special representative for Associated Exhibitors.

Edward McAvoy, formerly an exhibitor at Norwich, Conn., who recently resigned, has been made special representative for United Artists. Ed is one of the best known exhibitors in the Nutmeg State.

New York and New Jersey

RUMOR persists concerning the merger of the Fabian Jersey circuit with the houses under the control of Faulkner, Bratter and Pollack, and Golding. The latest report is that the deal is expected to go through about May 1 and involves some twenty New Jersey theatres. If this merger takes place, it is understood that the Fabian Enterprises will probably be ranked as the strongest of the Jersey circuits. While not possessing as many theatres as another leading chain of theatres, it is reported that the merger will involve first-run houses which have a greater seating capacity than any other New Jersey circuit.

The reported sale of Charlie Goldreyer's Cameo, McLean Avenue, Yonkers, to Charles O'Reilly, last week, was probably true enough, although the facts of the matter seem to be that Mr. O'Reilly held this piece of property for just about one hour and then sold it to Matty Chrystmos and Harry Eldridge, who have placed it under the banner of Chrisedge Theatres, Inc.

Two more of Goldreyer and Fleischman's houses—the Manor at Avenue K and Coney Island Avenue, Brooklyn, and the Embassy in Mr. Vernon—are reported to have been sold to R. H. Clark and an associate. Mr. Clark's brother-in-law will be in charge, according to the information received.

Irving Lesser continues to expand his theatre circuit. According to report, the latest house to be taken over by him is the Mayfield, Great Neck, L. I. This is number five in the chain, the others being the Great Neck Playhouse, the Strand at Rockville Centre, Memorial Hall, Beacon, N. Y., and the Capitol at Haverstraw.

The Premier Theatre, one of the most pretentious in the East New York section, is reported to have been taken over by the Loew Circuit. No scarehead sales of a dozen or more houses at one clip features the expansion of this circuit, but step by step a great hand reaches out here and there at intervals and secures an advantageous house or site. Herman Rachmil and Sam Lesselbaul were the former owners.

John Hammell, district manager for Paramount's New York exchange, after a four months' absence from his duties on account of sickness, is expected to return to his desk about May 1. Mr. Hammell has of late been recuperating at Southern Pines, N. C. His forced vacation was due to the effects of a very serious operation and he has been greatly missed by his many friends. During his absence the responsibility of the office has fallen on the shoulders of his two able assistants, J. J. Unger and Milton Kussell.

R. S. "Bob" Wolff, formerly assistant sales manager of the New York exchange of Producers Distributing Corporation, has recently been appointed branch manager of the newly formed New Jersey exchange of P. D. C.

I. Bromowitz, who operates the Alhambra Theatre, Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn, has a 600-seat house under construction just west of the Bowery. The new theatre will open about the middle of May.

The opening of Calderone's new Valley Stream Theatre has been postponed until some time during the first week in May.

The Broadway Photoplay Theatre, 103rd Street and Broadway, New York City, is reported as having been taken over by J. Springer, who operates several theatres in the near-by neighborhood.

Too much competition is the reason given for the closing of the Colonial Theatre, Willis Avenue, Bronx. The doors were closed last Sunday, according to report.

On the other hand, the Woodrow Theatre, Wilson Avenue, Brooklyn, after having been out of the running for several months, will reopen under new managament.

The Blake Theatre, Blake Avenue, Brooklyn, is rushing the season on its change of schedule. It will only show three days a week until further notice.

There is a report out to the effect that three Brooklyn theatres have entered into a booking arrangement with a fast-growing local circuit—and a further rumor that they were purchased outright. Names of the houses reported as having gone over are the New Atlantic, National and Terminal Theatres, all of Brooklyn, the Terminal being questionable, as it is a Small & Strausberg house and part of one of the largest neighborhood circuits in this locality.

Al Moley, widely known among the film shippers and local exhibitors as being able to talk faster over a phone than anyone else in the trade, is a rabid baseball fan. If anyone wants to witness some fireworks, get near him some day when there is a Brooklyn-New York game on.

The Chamber of Commerce of Tuckahoe, N. Y., recently went on record, at their regular meeting at the Village Hall, as being in favor of the village board making the zoning change on Cameron Place that which will allow the erection of a modern theatre.

According to a recent announcement by the chairman of the advertisement committee in Riverton, N. J., a well-known local circuit has signified its intention of opening a theatre at that point early in the fall. The name of the company has not been divulged, nor was the amount to be expended on the construction of the new house.

Walter R. Seaman, owner and manager of the United Triangle Corporation of New York, has announced acquisition of a seven-year lease on the Cameo and Advance Theatres at Highland, across the river from Poughkeepsie. The amount involved is said to be $50,000. The theatres are to be altered and vaudeville added to the regular picture program. Seaman has also announced the taking over of the lease of the Newport Opera

David Selikopf and Isaac Mandel, owners of the Arcadia Theatre, located at Fifty-ninth Street and Third Avenue, and the New Theatre, Rockaway Beach, have purchased another new theatre site at Brooklyn and Eagle Avenues, Lakeview, L. I., where they will erect a 1,500-seat house.

N. M. Ayers, of West Englewood, N. J., is planning a new theatre and store building to be located between Market and State Streets, Main Square. According to reports, construction is to start immediately.

Joseph Parascandala, Brooklyn exhibitor at Tompkins Place, is having his troubles these days. Parascandala has endeavored to enlarge his house for the past two years and has run against strong neighborhood opposition. He has recently made reapplication to the Bureau of Standards and Appea's. It is said that forty-four of the forty-eight property owners on the block, including the Hebrew synagogue and the Lutheran church, are joining in the protest.

I. Orlando, with Bates & Franklin as architects, have recently filed plans for a two-story theatre, office and store building, to be built by the Broadway and Dyckman Building Corporation on the northeast corner of Broadway and Dyckman Street. The amount said to be involved is $750 000 and the plot measures 241 by 128.3 feet.

David Gross, newly appointed manager of New York branch of Producers' Distributing Corporation.

Buffalo

OVER sixty exhibitors attended the meeting held in the Hotel Statler Tuesday, April 20, by Manager Marvin W. Kempner and his staff to introduce the Paramount fifteenth birthday group of pictures. Following Acting Mayor Moore's welcome and a talk by Mel Shauer of the home office, they gathered in the Chinese room for luncheon. Screening began at two o'clock and lasted for almost three hours.

Mr. Kempner was toastmaster at the banquet in the evening. He read congratulatory messages from Assemblyman Charles A. Freiberg, State Senator Leonard R. Lipowicz, Congressmen Clarence MacGregor, James M. Mead and S. Wallace Dempsey, as well as many Paramount branch offices throughout the country. Short talks followed by J. H. Michael chairman of Buffalo zone, M. P. T. O. of N. Y.; Harry Berinstein of Elmira, George T. Cruzen of the Palace, Lockport, and William A. Calihan of the Eastman interests in Rochester. The event was somewhat marred by the announcement that "Ernie" Williams, local and sales manager, had been suddenly stricken ill ,had been operated upon in a hospital and was in a serious condition. However, at this writing, "Ernie" is reported in a favorable condition and will recover. Dave Cohen of Binghamton proposed that everyone contribute to a fund to send flowers to "Ernie." Every one present "kicked in," and there will be enough flowers to last for many weeks. "Ernie" is the brother of George E. Williams, Paramount exploiter. Those present at the meetings and banquet included:

Ned Kornblite, Binghamton; Harry Still, Cortland; George T. Cruzen, Lockport; Dave Cohen, Binghamton; Ben and Harry Berinstein, Elmira; A. C. Hayman, Niagara Falls; William Calihan, Rochester; Dave and Jerry Harrison, Syracuse; Fred Rice, Warsaw; E. B. Hendricks, Corning; Meyer Schine, Gloversville; Joseph Schwartzwalder, Auburn; Allan S. Moritz, Niagara Falls; Chester and Paul Fenyvessy, Rochester; Phil Smith, Syracuse; Harry Gilbert, Syracuse; Robert Hornung, Jamestown; Ben and Mitchel Fitzer, Syracuse; Frank Martin, Syracuse; W. Goodman, Binghamton; Ross McVoy, Seneca Falls; J. C. Hillman, Binghamton; George Tooker, Watkins; J. A. Troy, Oswego; Sidney C. Allen, Medina, and the following Buffalo exhibitors: Vincent McFaul, John Carr, Robert T. Murphy, Max Rosing, George Keating, Charles Riehl, Joseph Schuchert, Sr. and Jr., Tom Downing, Arthur L. Skinner, Nick Vassiliadis, A. C. Behling, Louis Eisenberg, J. H. Michael, George Hanny, Dewey Michaels, Jake Rappaport, Mike Michaels. Mr. Kempner was given valuable aid in preparing for the meeting by George and Ernie Williams, both of whom worked into the wee sma' hours of the morning preceding the event, decorating the hall and taking care of many other details.

Everyone who attended the meeting was enthusiastic in their praise of the idea and Mr. Kempner was showered with congratulations. It was an auspicious celebration of Paramount's fifteenth birthday.

The William Berinstein Theatres, headed by Benjamin and Harry Berinstein, of Elmira, have purchased the Capitol and Regent theatres in Dunkirk, N. Y., formerly operated by the Lally Brothers. Dalton B. Burgett, formerly manager of the Regent, Elmira, has been appointed resident manager of the two Dunkirk houses. The theatres will be operated as part of the chain now controlled by the Berinstein interests, which include the Lyceum, Majestic, Strand and Regent in Albany, Colonial and Hudson in Albany, Palace in Troy and Strand in Newburg. The Lally brothers are retiring from the theatre business.

The Hi-Art Theatre in Lockport, N. Y., has been closed by Publix for the summer, during which time it will be remodeled, redecorated and a large orchestral organ installed. Elmer Levine, formerly assistant manager at the Palace in Lockport, also a Publix house, has been assigned to the management of the Stratford in Poughkeepsie.

"Mickey" Rose, Paramount Southern Tier plugger, crossed the hot sands at the recent ceremonial of Kalurah Temple in Binghamton and Dave Cohen of the Binghamton Theatre is authority for the statement that "Mickey" got the works. It is said that Dave reported "Mickey" is in excellent health, strong of heart and in splendid shape generally. Result—well, he's alive, at that.

Harry T. Dixon, Buffalo manager for F. B. O., is back from the coast convention in all his glory and is now sporting a new sedan, with a special paint job. Soon Harry will be pulling the first straw hat of the season and the loudest tie of the summer season. Meanwhile he is hustling for contracts.

So many flowers arrived during the opening week of the new Hollywood Theatre in Gowanda, N. Y., that Judge John W. Schatt was almost buried in them. He sent most of them to the Perrysburg hospital at the end of the week.

Al Beckerich has been re-elected president of the Buffalo Theatre Managers' Association for the third term. Other officers elected at a meeting held in the Buffalo Catering Club on April 22 are: Fred M. Shafer, Lafayette Square, vice-president; William W. Bradley, secretary-treasurer; directors, Michael Shea, Dr. P. C. Cornell, Frank Cruikshank, Morris Slotkin, Vincent R. McFaul, John Carr, Frank Parry and Roy Van.

The Southwestern New York Theatres Corporation has been formed to take over the ownership of the Palace in Jamestown from Peterson & Woods and to obtain a long-term lease of the Wintergarden from Mr. Woods. Nikitas P. Dipson of Batavia is one of the officers of the new corporation and Fred M. Zimmerman of Buffalo and John R. Osborne of Batavia are associated with him. The vaudeville-picture policy of the Palace will be continued. Extensive improvements will be made in the Winter Garden. Messrs. Peterson & Woods embarked in the theatrical business in 1907, when they opened the Bijou, now the Strand, in Jamestown.

Marvin W. Kempner, Buffalo Paramount exchange manager, who acted as toastmaster at recent regional convention held in that city

Buffalo Film Board of Trade honor Henry W. Kahn, retiring treasurer and manager of the Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer exchange. Former President Frank McCarthy is at the head table in foreground; behind him is Mr. Kahn. Next to Kahn is Sydney Samson, new president. Colonel Howard Brink, new treasurer, is the first at left, with glasses. Others, left to right: Basil Brady, Pathe; Harry Dixon, F.B.O.; John Sitterly, Assoc. Ex.; Fred Zimmerman, P.D.C.; Joe Miller, Renown; Jim Savage, Chase; Richard Fox, Freedom; Almy, Warner Bros.; William Sherry, U.A.; Marvin Kempner, Paramount

Jim Cardina, who operated the Varsity and Kensington community houses in Buffalo and the remodeled Glen in Williamsville, is about to open Glen Park in the latter town with a host of attractions and a big dance hall.

Canada

THE second annual banquet of the Montreal Theatrical Bowling League was held at the Mount Royal Hotel, Montreal, April 21, with over 250 persons present. F. H. Warnicker, manager of the Strand Theatre, was particularly commended for his work as president of the league. The winning team for the season was the Papineau Theatre entry, the manager of the Papineau being J. E. Ledden. The Imperial Theatre took second position. The Imperial Theatre manager is Howard Conover.

The Acadia Theatre at Minto, N. B., owned by E. H. Cady, was burned to the ground recently, this being the third moving picture structure to be destroyed by fire in the Maritime Provinces in recent weeks. The Acadia had a capacity of 300 seats. Mr. Cady announces that he will rebuild the house on a larger scale at once.

James Quarrington, manager of the Beaver Theatre, Toronto, has returned to his post of duty after a strenuous siege of illness.

G. Denoid, of Toronto, has been appointed assistant manager of the Tivoli Theatre, a large downtown house. The manager is Thomas Daley.

E. J. Sullivan, former manager of the Orpheum Theatre, Winnipeg, Manitoba, has recovered the use of his arms and legs after having suffered a stroke of apoplexy last September.

Butte

W. J. HIENEMAN, manager for the local Universal exchange, has returned from a trip to Los Angeles, where he attended the sales conference.

O. B. Henson, Universal salesman, attended the convention at Los Angeles as a delegate from Montana, but did not return to Butte. While in California he resigned from the staff to accept the management of a Portland theatre.

Harry Kreiter, of Los Angeles, joins the Universal staff here and comes to Butte well heralded.

Walt. K. Millar, who has had charge of the Greater Features exchange in Butte, was all lined up for Universal service, having resigned from Greater Features, due to an offer he felt financially he could not afford to pass up, and just when the deal was practically closed a wire called him to Seattle for immediate service with Greater Features.

William F. Gordon, manager of the Associated First National in this section, with headquarters in Salt Lake, but who is in charge of the Butte sub branch, won third prize in the Leiber Drive. The contest covered a period of twenty weeks.

In Butte John J. Harrington, salesman, is noted as a winner of $125; also, Vete Stewart, salesman in the Montana territory, comes in for $125 of the prize money.

Julia Shae, F. N.'s charming and efficient stenographer, is sharing honors, too, on a 50 per cent. week's salary basis.

James Griffin, the energetic shipping manager for the Butte exchange, is wearing an honor smile that won't wear off, because he won a 50 per cent. salary increase, too.

J. J. Harrington, salesman for the Montana territory, has gone to Chicago to attend the sales conference for the Western division of Associated First National.

E. C. Shaffer, former exploitation manager of Greater Features' Seattle exchange, has arrived in Butte to take charge of the company's branch office, due to the resignation of Manager Walt. K. Millar.

Merrill T. Denton, booker for Greater Features, has the misfortune to be nursing an infected hand, and it is serious enough to be carried in splints. It being his left hand, he is not losing any time at the office.

Howard T. Brown, exhibitor for the new town of Zurich, has opened his new theatre and is showing a splendid program of pictures.

Albert Nadeau, exhibitor from the Bluebird Theatre of Anaconda, was in Butte during the week, visiting and shopping on Film Row.

Frank Boedecker, exhibitor of the Helen Theatre in Bozeman, was a Butte visitor recently and from here went on to Deer Lodge to call on a brother who lives there.

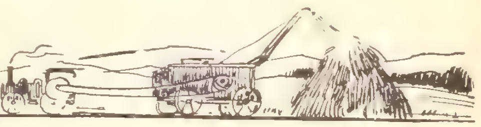
Merle Davis, lessee of the Ansonia, Orpheum and Broadway Theatres, is getting a big business at his Broadway house by combining vaudeville with pictures.

The Princess Theatre, formerly a stock company playhouse, is now open to picture program with some vaudeville features.

William Hughardt, Pathe manager in Butte, is in New York City this week, attending the managerial convention there for all Pathe managers and salesmen.

C. R. Wade, manager for Producing Distributors Corporation Butte branch, is out of the city this week on a big drive. Wade is better known here as "Buck" and is one of the best ballplayers in Butte.

Des Moines



SOME seventy managers attended a conference recently held at the Hotel Fort Des Moines by officials of the Famous Playes-Lasky company to gauge trend in public opinion in relation to Motion Pictures. M. H. Lewis and A. O. Dillenbeck of Paramount interests were in charge.

Among those who gave short talks were J. C. Collins of Perry, Eller Metzger of Creston, N. C. Rice of Algona, Fred Honds of Cresco, and A. G. Stolte of the A. H. Blank Enterprises.

Exhibitors who were present included P. D. Alleman of the Strand at Clinton, H. D. Barnes of the Rialto at Burlington, K. C. Breeding of the Strand at Mystic, Roy Brown of the Rialto at Boone, Jack Bauma of the Rialto at Pocahontas, G. A. Cecil of the Rialto at Bedford, J. C. Collins of the Rex Theatre at Perry, E. O. Cummings of the Fort Armstrong at Rock Island, A. R. Cunningham of the Capitol Theatre, Des Moines, F. W. Curtis of the Peoples Theatre at Redfield, A. L. Davis of the Strand at Cedar Rapids, Mr. Dawson of the Gem at Iowa City; Wayne Dutton of the Plaza at Muscatine, E. A. Easterly of the Rialto at Clinton, D. R. Goldy of the American at Cherokee, H. B. Groves of the Des Moines at Des Moines, E. W. Haight of the Opera House at North Wood, J. N. Heefner of the Palace at Mason City, L. D. Anderson of the Strand at Mount Vernon, H. C. Hines of the Cresco at Cresco, Jack B. Howard of the Capitol at Rock Island, H. D. Hundling of the Rialto at Newton, E. B. Johnson of the Crescent at Audubon, A. R. Kermer of the Princess at Mount Ayr, Ted Larson of the Strand at Lake City, J. A. Liercke of the Empire at Storm Lake, John McCawley of the Grand at Dubuque, Eller Metzger of the Strand at Creston, J. E. Mitchell of the Idle Hour at Tama, J. H. Michael of the Strand at Leon, Walter Peterson of Rockwell City, N. C. Rice of Algona, G. E. Potter, H. H. Russell of the Opera House at Humboldt, F. O. Senker of the Spemcer Square at Rock Island, H. Stanley of the Gem at Corning, A. G. Stolte of the Blank Enterprises, Des Moines, P. R. Cowney of the Rialto and Majestic at Fort Dodge, M. R. Tourneur of the Iowa Theatre Company at Mason City, Byron Watson of the Grand at Knoxville, John Waller of the Lyric at Osceola, H. F. Ward of the Crystal at Waterloo, W. T. Waugh of the King at Albia, Harry Weinberg of the Blank Enterprises, A. E. Weld of the Strand at Waterloo, F. G. Williams of the Gem at Marion, and William Youngclas of the Strand at Jefferson.

W. E. Banford, manager for Metro-Goldwyn, left for the national convention in New York.

West and Son, who own the theatre at Diagonal, have closed the house for the time being.

The New Lyric Theatre at Boone, owned by H. H. Pine, will be closed for a while for remodeling and redecorating. It is Mr. Pine's plan to buy a new organ for the thertre and his complete plan for changes in the theatre will amount to an outlay of more than three thousand dollars.

E. T. Pedersen, who ran the theatre at Fulton, Ill., has sold to G. L. DeNune. DeNune, who owns the Majestic Theatre at DeWitt, will also operate the Fulton, Ill., house. Pedersen is retiring from the film trade to go into railroading.

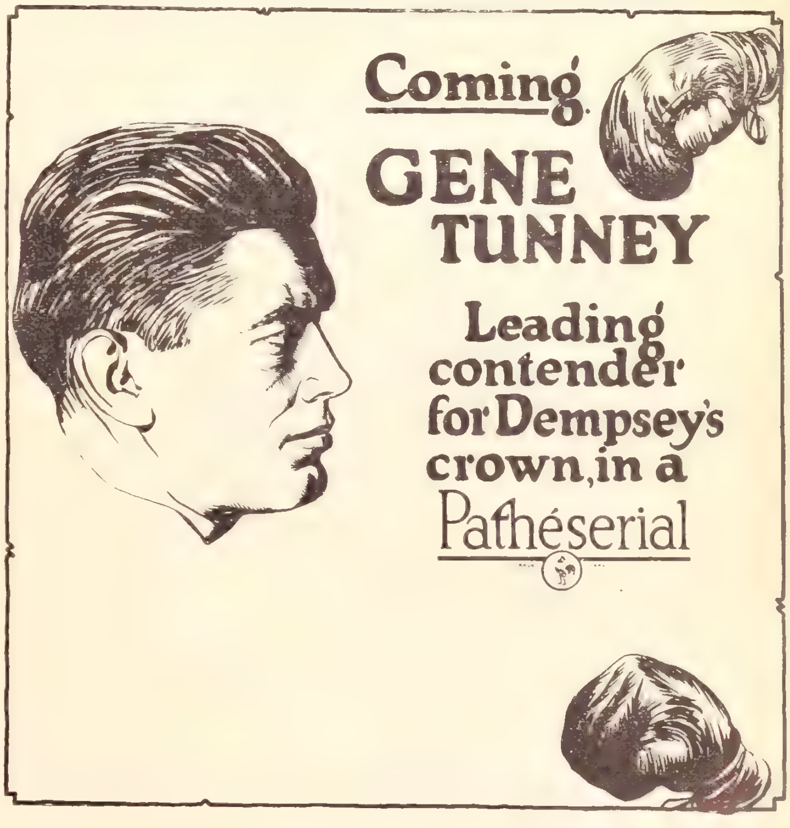
A. C. Dunkel of the Past Time Theatre at Iowa City was in town for the relays and called at the office of Exhibitors Supply Company. Alexander Frank was also a purchaser and has equipped the Rialto Theatre at Waterloo, one of his chain of houses, with two complete Mazda units and machine.

Herbert Grove of the Des Moines Theatre was host at a preshowing at midnight of his current feature. Members of the Little Theatre Society, Women's clubs and representatives of the newspapers were the guests.

Mr. Cramer, owner of the Kellerton Theatre, is closing the house for the summer months. Mr. Cramer is also owner of the theatre at Mount Ayr.

Tom Smith from the Omaha office of the Exhibitors Supply Company, visited the Des Moines exchange.

M. H. Haggerman, who is opening up a new theatre in Waverly, Iowa, bought complete equipment for the theatre from the Exhibitors Supply Company. Equipment included a machine, complete Mazda units, lighting fixtures, screen, lobby frames, etc. The 500 seats for the theatre were bought through the same company. Mr. Haggerman, who is an attorney at Waverly, will not take active charge of the theatre but will have a manager for the theatre.



Kansas City

HIS Circle Theatre having been sold, Adolph Eisner of Kansas City took the cashier and "general manager," Mrs. Eisner, on a vacation to Chicago. Mr. Eisner contemplates mixing a bit of business with pleasure by extending his trip to New York.

Billy Andlauer, Newman Theatre and Pathe cameraman, made what is believed to be record time on the opening game of the baseball season in Kansas City. On the night of the day of the game Andlauer had prints in four Kansas City theatres.

The Midland Circuit of Theatres has purchased the Colonial and Klock theatres of Pittsburg, Kans., from the Pittsburg Amusement, according to M. B. Shanberg, general manager of the Midland Circuit. More than $50,000 will be spent on the two houses in improvements, it was said. The Strand Theatre, Pittsburg, still remains in possession of the Pittsburg Amusement, of which A. Besse is president.

Among the out-of-town exhibitors in the Kansas City territory this week were Frank Weary, Farris, Richmond, Mo.; J. C. Perry, Columbia, Coffeyville, Kans.; L. Bruenninger, Lawrance Amusement Company, Topeka, Kans.; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gardner, Orpheum, Neosho, Mo.; "Curley" Wilson, Casino, Excelsior Springs, Mo.; Roy Fuhrer, Temple Theatre, Yates Center, Kans.; F. A. Robinson, Whiteway, LeRoy, Kans. Charles Goodell, Pastime, Ottawa, Kans.; Tom MacGruder, Elite, Iola, Kans.; S. E. Wilhoit, Jefferson, Springfield, Mo.

A new theatre will be constructed on the site of the present Novelty Theatre, Eighth Avenue and Quincy Street, Topeka, Kans., it is rumored, although the name of the prospective builder, or builders, has not been disclosed.

Convention week of the M. P. T. O. of Kansas-Missouri did not slow up things any along Kansas City's movie row.

E. J. Smith, general sales manager for Associated Exhibitors, asserted he never had seen a brighter prospect for business of the industry than the present time.

An unorganized "welcoming committee" greeted Tom Byerle, First National branch manager, who has been confined in a hospital with illness for three months, when he was removed to his home.

C. D. Hill, P. D. C. district manager, left a busy office behind him when he departed for New York.

A Kansas City branch of the West Coast Studios will be opened up on the second floor of 115 West Eighteenth Street, about May 15, occupying the room formerly occupied by the Kansas City Film Board of Trade.

"Marty" Williams, Educational salesman, returned from his territory this week.

C. A. Schultz, P. D. C. branch manager, held a sales meeting of his staff Saturday. Joe Levy, Warner Brothers branch manager, in closing up the ol' desk to leave for the Warner sales convention in Chicago last week, left behind him a hustling office force.

Salt Lake City

A CONVENTION of all of the Paramount exhibitors from the intermountain territory is being held here April 22 and 23.

The process of redecorating has been started at the Paramount Empress Theatre of this city.

H. Bradley Fish, local branch manager for Fox, just returned from the convention.

The Peery Brothers of the Egyptian Theatre, Ogden, Utah, were conferring with local managers on the new season's product this week.

B. Jacocks, Universal home office representative, is here for a few days, visiting the local office.

Mathew Aparton, Universal branch manager, is leaving for the territory this week. Shipper, N. C. Savage has resigned from this office to accept a position with the Bailey Stores, Inc. Miss Baratte is now in charge of the sales control department in the place of Miss Dora Stares, who has resigned.

L. A. Davis, local manager of the F. B. O. Exchange, is traveling with Joe K. Soloman in the Idaho territory in Soloman's new Packard.

E. M. Gibson, assistant office manager here for F. B. O., is leaving this week for a vacation trip to Los Angeles which will cover a period of about two weeks. Miss Angie Windsor will hold the position of booker during Gibson's absence.

Sid Hirshberg, owner of the Orpheum Theatre at Havre, Mont., stopped in this city for a few days on a business and social trip.

Frank Knots, of Vancouver, B. C., owner and former manager of the Orpheum and American theatres at Park City, Utah, has been visiting this city on a business trip.

John Ruger, manager of the Orpheum and American Theatre of Park City, was also visiting film row this week.

W. F. Gordon, local manager for Associated First National, and all of the boys are getting ready to leave for Chicago to attend the annual sales convention. Salesman John H. Harrington from the Butte office is in Salt Lake going over matters in connection with summer play dates in Montana. He will accompany the boys of this city to Chicago.

W. H. Rankin has left his managerial desk at the local Warner Brothers exchange, for the convention. M. F. Keller, sales representative, has also left, and G. C. Jones, Montana salesman out of this office is returning from his territory within a few days and will leave immediately for the convention.

J. A. Epperson, local Pathe manager, is still in New York attending the Pathe managers' convention.

R. D. Boomer, Associated Exhibitors' branch manager here, is leaving for a two weeks trip into the Idaho branch.

J. T. Sheffield, Greater Features general manager, is expected in this city to spend a few days at the local exchange on his way to the Denver office. James R. Keitz, local manager at this office, just returned from a trip into Cache Valley, Utah.

Ott Schmidt, owner of the Colonial Theatre at Idaho Falls, has been lining up new business for his house along film row this week.

Dad Rand, owner of the Isis Theatre here, and Mrs. Rand have returned from their pleasure trip to California.

T. M. Chesler, operating the Princess and Gem theatres at Bingham, Utah, is now visiting the local film mart.

S. B. Beck, owner of the Lyceum Theatre at Ogden, Utah, has been checking over contracts along the row this week, as has L. F. Brown of the Isis Theatre at Preston, Idaho.

Al O'Keefe, branch manager here for Producers Distributing Corporation, is returning from a trip over the entire state of Idaho with E. L. Walton, new sales representative for Producers.

L. W. Weir, division manager for Producers Distributing Corporation, is here for a few days on his way back to New York.

Manager Rand has returned from a trp into Northern Utah and is leaving again for a few of the larger towns in southern Utah.

Harry Larsen, former house manager of the Kinema, is back at his old post after a four weeks trip through Idaho checking Seigfried engagements.

Clyde H. Messinger, manager of the Educational exchange of this city, has just returned to the office from the convention in Denver.

Chas. Dillard, assistant office manager at the local Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer exchange, is reported to be severing his connections in this capacity to manage the Hyland Theatre at Sugar House.

Jos. K. Sammuels, local manager for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, left for the convention in New York and will be back about the first of May.

TRAILERS SELL SEATS
NATIONAL SCREEN SERVICE

THE
ONLY
TRAILER SERVICE
WITH ACTUAL SCENES
FROM THE NEGATIVE

Chicago, Ill. 845 So. Wabash Ave.
New York City 126 West 46th St..
Los Angeles, Cal. 1922 So. Vermont Ave.

Southwest

A NEW theatre in Lawton, Okla., opened recently to capacity houses. The owners of the Rialto are both well known to film people in this State. Fred Massey has a theatre at Tipton, Okla., which he will continue to operate. Max Brock, the active manager of the Rialto, has recently been on the road for Producers Distributing Corporation, selling film.

Truly B. Wildman has arrived to take up his duties as branch manager of the local Warner Brothers exchange. Both he and J. M. Byrd, the former manager, attended the Warner Brothers convention at Chicago in April. Byrd has been made manager of the Dallas office. Wildman, previous to joining W.-B., was acting as special representative for Producers Distributing Corporation.

A. R. T. Young, traveling auditor for Famous Players-Lasky, is visiting the local office here. Young is on his way to Seattle, where he will be married some time in June.

Frank Stuart, newly appointed Southern divisional manager of Producers Distributing Corporation, together with Ralph A. Morrow, former manager, visited Oklahoma City Film Row upon his return from the P. D. C. divisional managers' convention in New York City. Stuart was branch manager of the Detroit exchange when this advancement was given him. Morrow, much to the regret of his friends in this territory, has been transferred to New York, where he is assistant to General Sales Manager Morgan.

William B. Zoellner, the new branch manager of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, is now in New York, attending the M-G-M convention.

The "Driverless Car," exploiting Johnny Hines features of First National, stopped through Oklahoma City, Bartlesville and Tulsa on its way across the continent. This unique ballyhoo drew a great deal of attention with its "stunts."

Arthur Koebrick, well-known Famous Players-Lasky salesman, has been made sales manager of the Dallas exchange. N. B. Houston, salesman from Dallas, will fill Mr. Koebrick's place in this territory. W. A. Ford is another Texas salesman to join the F. P.-L. office here. Ford comes from San Antonio.

Fred Morley, who has been managing the Griffith Brothers theatre at Cromwell, has been sent to Panhandle and Borger, Texas, to look after the new theatres being built there by Griffith Brothers. Ralph Leachman will manage the Rex at Cromwell. Leachman was formerly operating a theatre at Woodward, but more recently has been on the road for F. P.-L.

Tom Boland, manager of the Empress Theatre at Oklahoma City, has left to attend the First National franchise holders' meeting at Atlantic City. He will go to Chicago from there to the First National convention.

The M. P. T. O. of Oklahoma held a directors' meeting at the Liberty Theatre Building in Oklahoma City, April 19. W. Z. Spearman, vice-president, it is announced, will continue his trip through the State to get memberships for this association.

Finis Fox, scenario writer, is visiting his native State here, with his wife. Mr. Fox is an Oklahoma-born Chickasaw Indian, and previous to his present occupation was a newspaper man, both in Ardmore and Oklahoma City. Fox, who was born near Purcell, Okla., in Indian Territory days, is a son of F. M. Fox, a territorial lawyer.

South East

CONTRACT has been let and the building started for E. D. Turner's new theatre in Rock Hill. This is a new addition to the rapidly growing chain of houses of the Carolina Theatres, Inc. It is also reported that the contract for Turner's new house in Statesville, N. C., will be let this coming week.

Rumor has it that W. H. Blades, of Newbern, has purchased the Athens Show Shop from the former owners, Messrs. Lovick, Kehoe and Bourdelais. This house will be remodeled and a new $10,000 Wurlitzer pipe organ installed. The interior will be redecorated and the seating capacity enlarged to 1,000. The Athens Show Shop will be a first-run house and will endeavor to show pictures at the same time or earlier than other sections of North Carolina or Virginia, and will also handle road shows. T. B. Kehoe, one of the former owners, has been engaged to manage the theatre. Should the new policies of the Athens Show Shop prove successful, the management will branch out and enter the amusement fields of other towns of Eastern North Carolina.

Ben Caplon, who represents the Wells interests in Hendersonville, N. C., spent Tuesday in Charlotte buying new productions and arranging bookings.

J. M. Highsmith, of the Trio Theatre, Robersonville, N. C., was a Charlotte visitor the past week and states he is opening the new theatre in Windsor, N. C., which has been closed for some time.

The film companies in Charlotte have received advice that P. A. Boone has purchased the lease and the Victory Theatre in its entirety, at Mount Airy, N. C. This house was formerly owned by Mr. W. H. Marion.

Charles Picquet, president of the M. P. T. O. of North Carolina, was in Charlotte Wednesday of the past week conferring with the Secretary of the Film Board of Trade as to his appointing of the exhibitor members of the Arbitration Board.

M. W. Smith, booking director of the U. S. Army Motion Picture Service, out of Washington, D. C., arrived in Charlotte Tuesday to take care of bookings for the camps in this vicinity.

E. H. Heller, formerly manager of Pathe office in Charlotte, is now traveling representative for Producers and Distributors Corporation in western North Carolina.

C. A. Peppiatt, who is manager of the United Aritsts' office in Charlotte, will import two salesmen from Atlanta, J. S. Carscallen and Bill Harwell. He will bring a cashier from Cincinnati, Ohio.

F. K. Watkins, colored, owner of the Wonderland Theatre, Durham, N. C., and also president of the First National Negro Theatre Corporation of America, met with an accident the past week. His car skidded from the highway between Greensboro and Danville and went down an embankment. Watkins was only slightly injured, but his chauffeur was badly cut about face and head. Watkins says that the corporation of which he is president has offices in Washington, D. C., and Durham, N. C., and has built or will build motion picture theatres in Winston-Salem, Greensboro, Durham, N. C., Martinsville and Petersburg, Va.

Rufus Davis, manager of the local office of Liberty Exchange spent last week at his home office in Atlanta, Ga.

J. W. Medlin, who has opened the Westminster Theatre in Westminster, S. C., was in Charlotte the past week.

H. R. Berry, owner of the Temple Theatre, Hartsville, S. C., was along Film Row the past week.

A new theatre has been opened at Davidson, N. C., by Stough Brothers. This is a college town and we understand this theatre is doing a very nice business since its opening.

Fred Pollock, manager of the local Metro office, will leave for a sales convention in New York the coming week.

Floyd Hanks, Jr., of the Universal Theatre, Lenoir, N. C., was a Charlotte visitor Monday. Hanks had just returned from a visit to his father, who has been in Pinehurst, N. C., for his health the last three months. Mr. Hanks stated that his father is greatly improved and expects to return home shortly.

R. W. Early, of the Strand Theatre, Tryon, N. C., arrived in Charlotte along Film Row the past week, looking over product for his theatre.

George Parr, of the Star Theatre, Lancaster, S. C., and Mrs. Parr, motored to Charlottee the past week.

Frank Bryan, manager of First National, is making every preparation getting his force ready to leave for a sales convention the coming weeks in Chicago. Sales conventions seem very seasonable around Charlotte at the present time.

Coming
GENE
TUNNEY
Big, handsome, popular, famous, in a Pathéserial
TRADE MARK

Detroit

FRANK STUART, who for the past year has been branch manager of the Detroit P. D. C. office, has been appointed Southern District Manager, where he will supervise P. D. C. activities in Dallas, New Orleans, Kansas City and Omaha territories.

Henry Zapp has been transferred from the Indianapolis office of Producers Dist. Corp. to Detroit, succeeding Frank Stuart, as Detroit manager.

Bill Schulte has leased the Crescent Theatre on West Fort Street, Detroit, giving him four theatres—the others being the Empire, the Dreamland and the Clay.

Ben and Lew Cohen, in association with their father, A. Cohen, have decided to build a million dollar theatre at the corner of West Fort and Ferdinand streets, Detroit. They have purchased the property, which fronts 150 feet on West Fort and runs back 200 feet on Ferdinand. The new house will seat 4,000 people and the policy will be pictures and vaudeville. The building will also contain stores and offices. Work is to start at once on the new structure, which is planned to be completed by January 1, 1927. The Cohens already operate the Colonial, Rex, Globe, Coliseum, and Grand Victory theatres, and this new million dollar theatre is only the first announcement of their building expansion. We understand they have a number of other sites on which they expect to build houses seating not less than 2,500, up to 4,000.

A. L. Merritt, William C. Vandenberg, H. G. Vandenberg and M. E. Hanna have formed the Holland Theatrical Corporation, with a capital stock of $60,000 to operate theatres in Michigan. They have already leased the Strand in Holland, and plan to expand their theatre holdings to near-by towns. A. L. Merritt of this company recently purchased two theatres in Oconto, Wisconsin, and will divide his time between there and Holland.

J. L. Kauffman, of Syracuse, New York, has joined the sales staff of the local Metro force.

Harry Silverberg, formerly with Metro, has accepted a position with Warner Bros. in this territory.

Lester Sturm, manager of the local Metro exchange, will make a trip to the New York office this week.

Lee Reaper, formerly salesman for Producers Distributing Corp. in Indianapolis, has been transferred to the Detroit office.

Although definitely decided to sublease the Majestic Theatre in Detroit, which Henry S. Koppin took over some time ago, this house will continue to operate under this management until further notice.

Seymour Simons, well-known song writer and composer, will direct the State Theatre orchestra in Detroit during the absence of Herbert Straub, who will start a tour shortly as guest conductor at a number of Eastern theatres.

Frank Drew, Detroit manager for Fox, has gone to Hollywood to attend the annual Fox convention.

Fred Nugent, former Detroit manager for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, opened a sandwich shop in Toledo, Ohio, about a year ago. It proved so successful that today Fred has three such places and is doing well in all of them.

Ralph E. Peckham has taken a position with the American Booking Corporation as sales manager of this Michigan State right organization.

Fred Phillips, from the Broadway Theatre in Flint, Mich., dropped in this week to book pictures and tell the boys that he has plans under way to enlarge his theatre shortly.

The first convention at which virtually the entire new product of a motion picture producing organization was shown to exhibitors before selling the same was held at the Statler Hotel last Friday. "Shots" or portions of twenty-five or thirty of the films that are completed or in the process of completion were shown to about twenty-five of the leading Michigan exhibitors. Among the Michigan exhibitors who were present at the Detroit convention were: Ed. Beatty, of the Bijou Theatrical Enterprises; Henry S. Koppin, from the Woodward Theatre Company; William Watson, of Bay City; Paul Schlossman, Muskegon; Bob Peltier, Mt. Clements; J. Dennisston, Monroe; George Sampson, from the Robertson Theatrical Enterprises; Harry Lush, Plymouth; Bob Sheehan, Detroit; Bob Codd, Niles; O. Brooks, Detroit; C. Beechler, Charlotte; P. S. Raven, Holland; Mr. Chapman, Caro; W. B. Ward, Mt. Pleasant; L. M. Carley, South Haven, and C. O. Miller, Alma, Mich. In addition to these were all the salesmen and branch manager of the local Paramount exchange, Claud Saunders, New York; Mr. Clark, New York; Mr. Ross, Chicago; Mr. Allison, New York; Mr. Agnew, Chicago; Mr. Smith, Milwaukee. It is the intention of Paramount to hold another convention shortly, inviting more Michigan exhibitors.

Harlan Starr, Detroit manager for Educational, is back from Chicago, where he attended the annual sales convention.

Joe Friedman, from the New York office of Universal, was in town last week, on his way back from California.

Bill Kent, who has been engaged in the State right exchange business for some time in Michigan, has left this business to join Warner Brothers as a salesman, covering the Grand Rapids territory.

E. B. Dudley, better known as "Dud" around the Film Building, who for years managed the Koppin Theatre in Detroit, has resigned to take over the Circle Theatre, which he has redecorated and renamed Dunbar. He caters entirely to colored patronage and has a combination of pictures and vaudeville to offer and, from latest reports, he is doing a very fine business.

Bill Robson, for many years exploiter for Paramount, is now affiliated with Metro and will be seen often in and around Michigan and Ohio.

Henry S. Koppin still further augmented his Detroit circuit last week when he purchased from M. A. Slepski the White Star Theatre. This house seats 400. Mr. Koppin bought the entire property and building.

Frank Drew, Fox manager in Detroit, is in Los Angeles, attending the annual Fox sales con-

Leo Sanshie resigns this week as booker for Metro to do similar work for Warner Brothers exchange. He is succeeded by Mrs. Ruby Rice, who has been with the local Metro exchange for some time.

Jack Daly, former city salesman for Associated Exhibitors, resigned this week to take over the management of the Fairmont Theatre in Detroit.

Jim Allen returned from Chicago last week, where he has been attending Warner Brothers mid-West sales convention.

Seattle

PAUL R. AUST, former manager of the local Associated Exhibitors exchange in this city, and one of the best-liked film men of the Northwest, returned last week from California, where he has been spending a vacation of several weeks since his resignation with Associated.

Pacific Beach, Wash., is soon to have a new motion picture house that will have a seating capacity of only 250, but which will represent entirely modern construction and style throughout. It is being erected by Mr. Haskett, and is expected to be ready for opening about the first of July.

H. H. Randall, associated with B. F. Shearer in the B. F. Shearer Theatre Equipment Company of Seattle and Portland, left last week with Mrs. Randall for a trip to California. Mr. Randall has spent the better part of the last two months in the hospital as a result of an operation, and his trip is a recuperative one, prior to his return to the vice-president's office.

Jack Sullivan, manager of the local Fox exchange, last week played host to a number of Canadian maangers for his company, and after a short time in this city the entire group left for the Fox convention in Los Angeles. Included in the group that left with Mr. Sullivan were Managers Ballantyne of Vancouver, Huber of Calgary and Dippie of Winnipeg. They expected to be gone for approximately two weeks.

George P. Endert, manager of the local Famous Players-Lasky exchange, returned to this city last week from the convention in Atlantic City and was immediately consigned to his bed by his physician. His illness is not serious, however, and it is expected that he will return to his office within a few days.

Joe Danz, second run theatre owner and manager of this city, last week announced that his new house at Third Avenue and Pike Street, now in the course of construction, will be christened the Third Avenue Theatre. It will be a 750-seat second-run theatre, and replaces a former structure of smaller proportions in a building that is now being entirely remodeled.

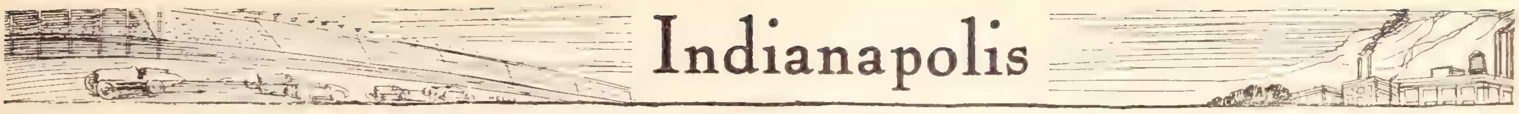
Claude S. Jensen, head of the Jense-Von Herberg organization in the Portland territory, spent a few days in this city last week, accompanied by Mrs. Jensen. They were the guests at several social affairs during their stay in this city.

Benjamin Wallace Rucker, often referred to as the "sartorially perfect" salesman for Manager J. A. Gage's local Educational Pictures exchange, returned to this city last week after two months of absence on the road in Oregon and Montana.

Harry C. Arthur, Jr., the guiding light of the North American Theatres Corporation, spent several days here last week looking over the new house now under construction for his company. From here he returned to California by way of Portland, with the announcement that he would not return again until the latter part of July, just prior to the tentative opening date for the new theatre.

Word was received last week from Lame Deer, Mont., to the effect that the Lame Deer Theatre has been closed until the first week in September. Manager Carl Wheeler's house is forbidden by U. S. Government Reservation Rules to operate during the summer months.

A. J. Miller, formerly the owner and manager of the Columbian Theatre in Columbia City, a suburb of Seattle, last week announced that he has sold his interests to Bob Mayea, who takes immediate charge of the house. Mr. Mayea was formerly connected with J. W. LaVigne at the Madison Theatre, a local neighborhood theatre.



Indianapolis

T. C. CONNER, of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer home office, was a visitor at the local Metro office in Indianapolis this week.

Al Lachnit has been assigned sales representative for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing Corp. to cover the southwestern part of Indiana.

Wade Willman, local manager for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing Corp., is leaving Indianapolis on April 24th to attend the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer convention in New York City on April 26th, 27th and 28th.

The Royal Theatre at Albany, Indiana, has been taken over by W. A. Schmid of Muncie, Indiana.

The Famous Playes Lasky Corp. are holding a get-together meeting at the Lincoln Hotel, Indianapolis, with about fifty leading exhibitors throughout the State for the purpose of discussing and presenting future policies regarding the new product. The meeting was opened by Charles Reagen, Famous Players district manager for Louisville, Cincinnati and Indianapolis.

Dudley Williston, local manager for Warner Bros., Indianapolis, is attending the convention of Warner Bros. in Chicago. Perry, assistant manager; C. Brinkmann and B. B. Barber, sales representatives for Warner Bros., are also attending this convention.

W. B. Frank, vice-president of the Hal Roach Studios, Inc., visited the Pathe Office at Indianapolis this week. Mr. Frank's visit was in the nature of a home-coming, as it was from the Indianapolis branch of Pathe Exchange, Inc., that was launched his meteoric career.

Plans have recently been announced for the erection of a new theatre to be located on Main St., Rock Hill, S. C.

The Columbia Amusement Company of Paducah, Ky., has purchased the Elite and Cozy theatres at Metropolis, according to a recent announcement by company officials. The two houses which were taken over from A. J. Gibbons of Metropolis, will be redecorated and first-class features will be provided for each.

Theodore and Gustavos Chifos have recently purchased interest in the Strand Theatre at Middletown, Ky. The amount involved is said to be in the neighborhood of $100,000.

The Motion Picture Theatre at Dawson Springs, Ky., is being remodeled and will reopen some time during April.

Plans have been prepared for a new motion picture theatre to be erected by the Koblenz interests on Glass Street, East Chattanooga, Tenn., according to a recent announcement. In addition to the theatre, which will seat 650 people, the building will also house a department store.

A new theatre project is under way at Louisville, Ky., where the building at 621 South Fourth Street will be replaced by the Princess Theatre, to be built at a cost of $200,000.

At Burkesville, Ky., Jim Lewis has recently purchased the F. T. Brake building, where he will install a modern motion picture theatre.

C. H. Wells of Liberty, Ky., has announced that he has taken over the management of the Royal Theatre at that point and the house will be known in the future as the Rex.

The Holy Trinity Church of Covington, Ky., has purchased the Tivoli Theatre at 2108 Vine Street for a reported sum of $30,000.

Milwaukee

SAM ABRAMS, manager of Film Booking Office's Milwaukee exchange, has returned to the city, following a week spent with exhibitors in the copper country of Michigan. The spring revival of the mining industry about Calumet, Hancock and other cities and towns in this district promises a prosperous season.

Charles Koehler, assistant manager of the Progress Pictures exchange in Milwaukee, has returned to the city, following a visit to Sheboygan. With him came a new Boston bulldog, which he secured from his friend, Manager Radke, of the Butterfly Theatre at Sheboygan.

Negotiations for the purchase of the Garden Theatre in downtown Milwaukee by the Saxe Amusement Enterprises, were reported this week to have been practically completed, but officials at the Saxe office refused to either confirm or deny this report. Ed Tundstall has been appointed manager of this theatre to succeed O. J. Wooden, former manager of the house, and he took over his new duties the latter part of last week.

"Appreciation Night," an innovation in theatrical circles in this locality, was conceived by A. J. Meininger, manager of the Saxe-Retlaw Theatre at Fond Du Lac. As an expression of the appreciation of the theatre officials for the manner in which movie and presentation offerings at the Retlaw have been received, patrons of the theatre were presented with tickets to the Retlaw Roof Garden, a popular dancing place.

Miss Pearl Nadolmy, booker at the Film Booking Office and one of the few girls holding this position in Milwaukee exchanges, is quite an attraction at the local exchange, judging by the number of exhibitors who appear at her desk for "dates," according to officials of the Milwaukee F. B. O. branch.

Sam Miller, of Chicago, buyer for Fisher's Paramount Theatres, was in Milwaukee recently and attended the last sporting event, a boxing match, held at the Milwaukee Auditorium.

Sam Sherman, of the local Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer exchange, has left the city to be in attendance at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer convention.

Steve Bauer, well known among local exhibitors and along Film Row, has recovered from an attack of rheumatism and is again able to dispose of his duties as manager of the Avenue Theatre.

Jack Lorentz, manager of the Fox film office in Milwaukee, has returned from the Pacific Coast, where he attended the annual Fox convention.

Frank Wolcott, manager of the Majestic Theatre at Racine, more generally known as "Daddy" Wolcott, was in Milwaukee during the past week. M. Peterson, manager of the Strand at Kenosha, and Frank Oasis, manager of the Grand at Racine, were also among the out-of-town exhibitors to visit Milwaukee film offices on business during the past week.

Philadelphia

MORE than 150 exhibitors attended the all-day conference held at the Hotel Sylvania by Famous Players-Lasky. Eugene Zukor, Sidney R. Kent, general manager, Phil Reisman, division sales manager, and Russell Holman, manager of advertising, were present at the conference. Famous Players executives spoke in the morning, a ten-reel trailer on Famous product was shown in the afternoon and the following were the principal speakers in the evening: H. J. Schad, president of the M. P. T. O. A. of Eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey and Delaware, also president of Carr & Schad, Inc., of Reading; Harry L. Knapp, chairman of the Pennsylvania State Board of Motion Picture Censors; M. Walker, representing the Comerford Circuit; Jacob Fox, who controls a chain of theatres in Jersey; Sam Stiefel, of the Poplar Theatre, Henry Starr Richardson, of the Pennsylvania Board of Motion Picture Censors, William Hunt, of Hunt's Theatres, Inc., Wildwood, N. J., Marcus Benn, of the Stanley Company of America, Harlan Woehrle, of Easton, and S. R. Kent.

The following exchangemen have been appointed by the Film Board of Trade to serve as members of the General Arbitration Board for the month of May: Jerry Saffron, of F. B. O., Jay Emanuel, of Metro-Goldwyn, and Joseph Hebrew, of Warner Brothers.

Max Gilles, who has been a salesman for the Independent Film Corporation for several years, has joined the Philadelphia office of Producers Distributing Corporation and will cover the Easton, Allentown and Bethlehem territory.

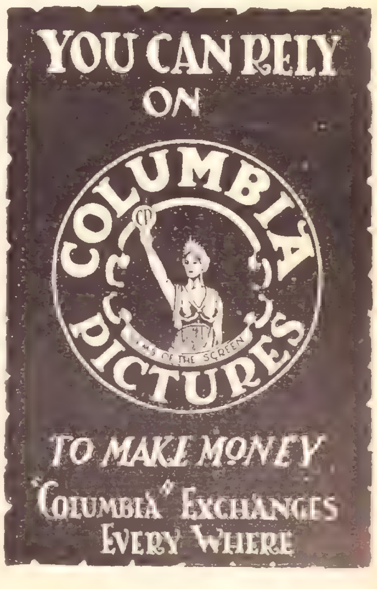
The Casino Theatre closed last week for a period of several weeks. The manager, Robert M. Simons, announced that both the interior and the exterior would be painted and new draperies and seats installed.

The Oxford Theatre, Oxford, Pa., formerly operated by Tom Larkin, is now being run by Harry A. Goren.

Joseph Pasterneck, who was formerly conductor of the orchestra at the Stanley Theatre, will return to the theatre as guest conductor for one week beginning May 3.

The Palace Theatre, Schuylkill Haven, Pa., which was recently sold, has been closed permanently and will be converted into a gas filling station.

Art Lewis, general manager for the Comerford interests in West Scranton, left recently with his mother for California. Prior to his departure, Sam Freeman, of the Strand Theatre, and a number of other friends tendered him a dinner.



"The projectionist with his projection equipment is largely the master of our photographic destinies"

Richard Barthelmess

REPRINTED BY PERMISSION OF THE AMERICAN CINEMATOGRAPHER

The spirit that inspired this splendid tribute is gratefully acknowledged by the manufacturers of

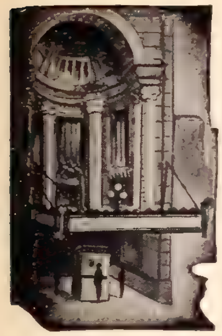
POWER'S PROJECTORS

"The projector has been developed to a point approaching perfection. I cannot think of anything that might be done additionally, except perhaps to induce the smaller theatres to install the style and quality of equipment in use in our finer theatres.

"The picture may approach a masterpiece, but if the projection fails, the picture itself can hardly help failing. The projectionist with his projection equipment is largely the master of our photographic destinies."

RICHARD BARTHELMESS.

POWER'S DIVISION
INTERNATIONAL PROJECTOR CORPORATION
90 GOLD STREET, NEW YORK, N.Y.



CONSTRUCTION & EQUIPMENT DEPARTMENT

Train Future Managers at Ushers' School

Instruction Course for House Attaches New Feature of Saxe Service

By LARRY LANE

CONVINCED that the patron's impression of a theatre's service policy is based almost entirely on the treatment accorded by the ushers, a special Ushers' Training School, believed to be the only one of its kind in the country, has been established at Saxe's Wisconsin Theatre at Milwaukee to train ushers and house attaches for the entire Saxe circuit of thirty theatres throughout the state.

The school is under the direction of Roland Waterson, house manager of the Wisconsin, and is the natural outgrowth of Waterson's efforts at the mammoth picture house. In accordance with Waterson's theory that among ushers only he who contemplates some day becoming a house manager will give maximum service, the school is open only to boys with theatre executive ambitions and the curriculum is designed to give a general look-in on all angles of house administration.

Like many other usher systems, the military atmosphere is strictly adhered to, but Waterson, who formerly was a faculty member at one of the country's best known military academies, has added many new slants in "boy development" quite unusual in a theatre. Psychological principles for inducing self-reliance, resourcefulness, loyalty and other desired qualities, are freely and intelligently employed.

STUDENT USHERS

Members of the Saxe Wisconsin Theatre training school receiving instruction in service before taking posts in the theatre

The training of a capable house attache, according to the Waterson theory, begins with the selection of the applicant. Good character and a clean record and a consuming desire to "be somebody" in the theatre world, must be proven before the prospective usher is given a place on the staff.

The next step is to teach him the rudiments of service as it has come to be defined in the theatre. These underlying principles are explained by advanced students of senior rank, and as soon as the applicant has a knowledge of what it's all about, he is called in for the first of a long series of personal interviews with the house manager.

At first these interviews are of a personal nature, merely a matter of getting acquainted and establishing mutual understanding. Once a basis has been established the confidential talks delve into the intricacies of house management primarily as pertaining to the work of ushers and their responsibility in co-operating with their superiors.

Class instruction then takes up details, which are again stressed in further personal interviews. Military drill for the purpose of fostering correct carriage and impressive appearance has meantime been undertaken and the neophyte is soon ready to take a post of minor responsibility on the house floor. As his qualifications increase he advances to more important posts until he is finally ready to be placed in the very front of the house or transferred to one of the other theatres on the circuit.

In the later instance, his departure from the Wisconsin Theatre, "flagship" of the circuit, is preceded by a long interview with Waterson, who outlines to him what characteristics he needs to develop in order to advance at the fastest possible rate. Problems of house management, which have been the subject of numerous lectures in the development of the course, are discussed on a personal basis and the usher's thorough understanding insured.

At this stage of the game the student has

(Continued on next page)

Equipment

Ten Years

By P. M. ABBOTT

A GROUP of engineers will gather, on Monday of next week, to present and talk over the results of their research and experimentation for the betterment of the technical phases of the motion picture industry. This meeting will be the tenth anniversary of the Call-Meeting of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers, held in Washington in the spring of 1916.

This convention will be a noteworthy occasion. It marks the growth of the Society from the mere handful of founders to nearly two hundred actively participating members. Ten years have seen the S. M. P. E. given the fullest recognition by this industry for the valuable work it has performed toward the advancement of motion pictures. And this anniversary finds the organization on the threshold of even greater achievement—destined to play a role of ever increasing importance in developing the future of motion pictures.

THE S. M. P. E. offers a pattern that other organizations would do well to follow. Remarkably free from any of the common evils that often permeate cooperative organizations, this body of engineers ably demonstrates the great good that can come from cooperative endeavor.

Unselfishly giving from their individual sources of knowledge and experiences in these ten years, the members of this Society have given the industry a library of authentic data and information, serving an invaluable function in guiding the trend of developments in picture making and presentation.

The motion picture industry offers its congratulations to the Society of Motion Picture Engineers, on its tenth anniversary, and hopes that their future will be one of even greater success.

Conduct School for House Staffs

"Home Office" Trains Ushers For Theatres Throughout Circuit

(Continued from preceding page)

not only attained proficiency in carrying out the famed "Saxe Service," which has grown to be a by-word among Milwaukee theatre patrons (throughout the state, in fact), but has also become highly familiar with managerial problems. His instruction has included a thorough analysis of projection-room problems, exploitation methods and even the creation of suitable stage presentations. The latter phase is taught by demonstrations by Ed J. Weisfeldt, production manager of the Wisconsin, who has earned a national reputation in his field.

Unlike many places where the military system is employed, discipline at the Wisconsin Theatre is based entirely on mutual understanding and loyalty. "Bawling out" the boys is carefully avoided, on the principle that it destroys something within the youth and furthermore engenders his holding a grude.

"Keeping the boys happy is one of my greatest responsibilities," asserts Waterson on this point. Rigid adherence to the merit point system on which all promotions or demotions are based is a sufficiently big stick to hold over the heads of any whose ambition may wane. On the other hand, every effort is made to make the boys not only enjoy but love their work.

The club rooms for ushers at the Wisconsin are models of their kind, and a less elaborate reproduction of these has been inaugurated at each of the houses where Waterson trained ushers are employed. At the Wisconsin the boys have every conceivable recreational facility. Their lounge is luxurious and decidedly exclusive. Billiard tables and other games are provided in the playroom and every inducement is offered for the boys to spend their leisure moments in their "club." Theatrical literature of a constructive nature is abundently provided.

Waterson's thorough understanding of the "boy problem" is further employed in arranging social affairs for the youths. Stag parties are periodical, with dances in the spacious main lobby of the Wisconsin thrown in for good measure. Waterson encourages the boys to bring their girl chums around on the theory that this will encourage them in the selection of the right kind of girls to associate with.

Stage Atmosphere Prologue for "Stella Dallas"

"Lullabies" was the title of the atmospheric prologue staged with "Stella Dallas" at Loew's State, St. Louis. The stage bill also offered operatic selections sung by Bernard Ferguson, barytone who appeared with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra as soloist; Helen Phillips, soprano of the San Carlo company, and Helen Newitt, lyric soprano, also familiar in St. Louis through her appearance with the Symphony Orchestra.

SETTING FOR "PETROUCHKA"

Above is a photo showing the stage setting used as a background for the Fanchon and Marco "Idea" based on "Petrouchka," staged for West Coast Theatres

Snub Pollard Heads Stage Bill at Fox Washington

The vaudeville bill at the Fox Washington, St. Louis, last week was headed by Snub Pollard, famous screen and stage comedian, and his company presenting "Say Uncle", a comedy sketch. The four other units of the stage program were the Tanglefoot Steppers, Holt and Gladden, Herbert Crowley and his Six Sailors, and Cortez and Ryan. "Sandy" was the photoplay feature.

Gilda Gray Star of Bill at Circle, Indianapolis

Gilda Gray with her miniature Follies Bergere played a six days engagement at the Circle Theatre, Indianapolis, last week. The engagement was Miss Gray's first in the city. The act was presented at three performances a day.

Aaronson and Prologue at Loew's Aldine

Irving Aaronson and his Commanders and a Spanish Prologue, produced by Louis K. Sidney, division manager, were the stage attractions at Loew's Aldine, Pittsburgh, supplementing the feature "Ibnez' Torrent" last week.

The prologue featured Vera Kaighn, a local soprano formerly soloist in the First Presbyterian Church.

"The Game of Love" Staged at Eastman Theatre

The musical stage offering at the Eastman, Rochester, last week was presented under the title of "The Game of Love," in which a group of singers glorified the American Girl. The bulk of the selections were from Herbert's "Sweethearts," with Charles Hedley appearing as the Wooer who had the choice of a variety of feminine types, including Mary Stephan as the Coquettish Girl; Winifred Goldsborough as the Romantic Girl; Mary Bell as the Disdainful Girl; Lenore Coleman as the Village Maid, and Marion Howard as the Dream Girl.

Des Moines Offers College Four

"The Atlantic Four," a quartet of college boys were the stage offering at the Des Moines Theatre, Des Moines, last week. Their act, "Billowy Sea of Music," featured popular songs, rendered in good style, and closed with a violin solo, "Moonlight and Roses."

Stafford And Louise at Capitol

Lee Stafford and Mlle. Louise presenting "International Personalities from Musical Comedy" were the featured stage attraction at the Capitol in Des Moines last week, in conjunction with Paramount's "The Blind Goddess."

Ruth Etting at Grand Central

Ruth Etting, "Sweetheart of the Air," and Britt Wood, in his act, "The Boob and His Harmonica," were the featured performers appearing last week at the Grand Central, St. Louis, with Gene Rodemich and his orchestra. The photoplay attraction was "Too Much Money."

Wainwright Sisters Play Rialto

The Wainwright Sisters, billed as appearing with permission of Irving Berlin and direct from the 1926 Music Box Revue, appeared at the Rialto, Omaha, last week on the program headed by Harold Lloyd in "For Heaven's Sake."

Belle Story Branford Feature

Belle Story and B. A. Rolfe and his orchestra were the features of the stage presentations offered at the Branford, Newark, last week in conjunction with "Dancing Mothers."

COSTUMES FOR HIRE PRODUCTIONS EXPLOITATIONS PRESENTATIONS BROOKS 1437 Broadway Tel. 5580 Pen.

A Nation-Wide Seating Service

AMERICAN Seating Company Service—nation wide—is prompt, efficient—satisfactory. Built up through fifty years of ever enlarging activity. Sustained by 15,000,000 chairs in the leading auditoriums and theatres from coast to coast. Further approved at the rate of thousands upon thousands of new chairs, sold, manufactured and installed every thirty days. Every theatre, large or small, receives appropriate consideration.

American Seating Company

NEW YORK	CHICAGO	BOSTON	PHILADELPHIA
113 W. 40th Street	10 E. Jackson Blvd.	77-D Canal Street	1211-K Chestnut St.

All Shorts Noonday Program at Mall

Novelty Program is Introduced by Loew House in Cleveland

Loew's Mall theatre, Cleveland, has started to serve short ration movie fare during the lunch hour. Starting last week, a complete program of short films will be shown daily from 11-1 o'clock.

This is the first time any of the Loew houses have offered this noonday novelty program, and it is being presented now by popular request of thousands who have expressed their desire to see a short show during the lunch hour.

The Mall lends itself to this because it is a double deck theatre, one complete theatre superimposed upon another complete theatre. This was accomplished through the great disparity of levels on Euclid Ave., which gives entrance to the Euclid Ave. Mall Theatre, and the Superior Ave. level, which opens into the Superior Mall. And while a program of short subjects is being shown in one of the theatres, the feature program is being shown simultaneously in the other.

The first noonday short program offered consisted of: an Educational comedy, "Framed" with Lloyd Hamilton; Mutt & Jeff cartoon; Topics of the Day; Travelogue, "Garden Glories of Victoria" in natural colors. These short programs will be changed every Sunday, Wednesday and Friday.

S. R. O. At Midnight Matinee

A special midnight showing of "For Heaven's Sake" at the Imperial Theatre, Charlotte, N. C., proved a huge success for Manager Warren Irving. The theatre opened one minute after twelve Sunday night to a packed house.

The MANAGER'S OFFICE

LEROY SHERMAN will be transferred from the management of Crandall's Savoy, Washington, D. C., to the new Colony, which the Crandall forces will open to the public on May 1. The promotion, it is announced, is in recognition for Sherman's meritorious work at the Savoy. Ashley Abendschein, formerly assistant manager at the Metropolitan, will succeed Mr. Sherman at the Savoy.

SAMUEL L. LEVIN, recently manager of Grauman's Million Dollar in Los Angeles, will return to Chicago to take up the management of the new Ascher Brothers house, the Highland—scheduled to open May 12th.

HERBERT SOBTTKA, formerly connected with the Jansen-Von Herberg advertising department in Seattle, will succeed W. L. Doudlah as manager of the J. & V. theatres in Wanatchee. Doudlah resigned recently.

RAY GRISWOLD, formerly booker and assistant manager of the Fox exchange in Charlotte, N. C., has been engaged by V. C. Schley, owner of the Crescent and Broadway theatres in Statesville, N. C., to manage his theatres in that city.

"VENETIAN ISLES"

Effective lighting was the feature of the presentation, shown above, produced at the Tivoli, Chattanooga, by Manager E. R. Rogers; palm tree and gondolier were shown in silhouette, with the boatman's face picked out by a spot during his song

Presentation Greatest New Development in Pictures

"The greatest development in the picture field in recent times has been on the side of presentation," Arthur P. Kelly, director of publicity for the Eastman Theatre, Rochester, told members of the Optimist Club in that city last week during the course of an address on "What's Good and What's Bad in the Movies."

"People today are demanding greater variety in their motion picture performances," he continued. "Two short acts, and if possible three, help tremendously in making a program more attractive. As much attention is being paid today to the creation of the proper supporting program as to the choice of the picture itself."

Mr. Kelly said that the chief fault with pictures is the length of many of the features. "Seventy-five per cent. of them run too long and would be just as effective a thousand or two feet shorter," he said.

Summer Policy for Keith's in Cleveland Undecided

John F. Royal, manager of Keith's Palace theatre, Cleveland, stated that he does not know when or if the Palace will go into the combination vaudeville and picture policy for the summer months. Last summer the Palace played the Fox feature specials. Royal says so far as he knows, nothing definite has been decided regarding the Palace summer policy.

Offers Theatre for Noon Hour Religious Service

Manager Walter F. Davis of the Empress Theatre, Edmonton, Alberta, has been dubbed the "Billy Sunday of the Movies" as a result of his proffer of the theatre for noon hour religious services for downtown workers. Davis' offer was announced to local pastors and service clubs, and was accepted.

Davis then obtained the cooperation of the Retail Merchants Association of Edmonton in requesting business houses to allow employes an extra half hour at midday for the purpose of attending the special services, which were conducted along non-sectarian lines.

To Provide Parking Space for Granada Patrons

Marks Brothers Theatres, Inc., whose Granada Theatre on Sheridan Road, Chicago, will be opened shortly, have leased three vacant lots across from the theatre where patrons of the house will be given parking space for a nominal fee. The other three Marks theatres under construction will also have parking space for their patrons. Even when rented upon large valuation of these properties, the lessees foresee a profit both in increased theatre attendance and from the small parking fee to be charged.

Continuous Picture Shows Columbia Summer Policy

Manager R. C. Jones of the Columbia theatre, one of the leading vaudeville houses in Cleveland, has started his summer motion picture policy. He has announced that his program will include two features, one 2-reel comedy, and one-reel novelty subject. Changes will be made daily in the complete program, shows will be continuous from 11 A. M. to 11 P. M. and admission prices will be ten and twenty cents. Manager Jones played pictures in the Columbia last summer also.

Royal Summons for Rich Hayes

Rich Hayes, an elongated juggler appearing at the Orpheum theatre, Kansas City, received the thrill that comes once in a lifetime last week. A cablegram from London informed him he had been "commanded" to appear on a program, June 26, which would be given before the royal family. "It's the greatest honor that can come to an Englishman," he commented.

EXPERIMENTS WITH CARBONS AS LIGHT SCREEN SUBSTITUTE

SPECIAL studies and experiments are now being conducted by Victor Milner, veteran Paramount cameraman whose unusually beautiful photographic effects are seen in several recent productions on the actenic, or photographic, value of carbon light. The experiments are being conducted at the request of, and in co-operation with, the National Carbon Company, manufacturer of most of the carbons used in the kleig lights of the studios.

The experiments are likely to have an important effect not only in black and white photography, but in color photography as well.

In actinic or photographic values, the colors at one end of the spectroscope have very high values, especially ultraviolet and blue. From there down the light values begin to fail, with the result that red is non-photographic, and yellow barely so.

Milner's experiments are an effort to develop, through materials used in the manufacture of carbons, more sensitiveness down in the spectrum lines, so that the values of reds and yellows which are now lost many have more photographic quality, without losing the values of the violet, ultra-violet and blue.

"It is possible that color carbons may in time take the place of light screens," says Milner. "Thus we could obtain different color lighting values through changing carbons." The carbons contain salts, iron and carbon, but are inclined to vary to some extent in values.

MINUSA
De Luxe Special

Good Projection is worth any price you pay

There is no excuse for shoddy and deficient pictures. If you have faulty reproduction, your screen is poor in quality or wrong in type. The right screen is an absolute essential to good reproduction.

—If you haven't a—
Minusa De Luxe Special
—Get One , , NOW!—

MINUSA CINÉ SCREEN CO.
Bomont at Morgan , , St. Louis, Mo.

THE IMPROVED BUTTER-KIST

Four merchants in four different towns increased their PROFITS an average of $3130.00 a year with this machine . . . Read the story of these four men.

H. W. Fair of Cleveland, John Rice of Barre, Mass., Fred Salvione of Amsterdam, N. Y., and O. M. Donnahue of Asheville, N. C., are among the thousands of aggressive merchants who have seen the opportunity of greatly increasing their profits with the Butter-Kist machine. These four men actually increased their individual PROFITS an average of $3130.00 a year with Butter-Kist.

Not so long ago they were faced with the same problem that now faces you—the desire to EARN MORE MONEY and without making any large investment in order to do so.

Butter-Kist equipment is the way you can do it. Thousands of letters in our files give positive proof of the profits which Butter-Kist is making all over the country—in great cities and in small towns.

If you will add this single unit of profit-making equipment to your business, the same opportunities are open to you. Remember, with Butter-Kist 65c out of every dollar is profit—more profit by far than can be made in any other one item in your store. Best of all, the Butter-Kist machine, because of its ceaseless light, motion and aroma, attracts trade. Every one likes popcorn made the Butter-Kist way—and only a Butter-Kist machine can make it the way they like it.

Don't you feel it well worth while to at least investigate how Butter-Kist can make profits for you? Just find out—that's all we ask.

HOLCOMB & HOKE MFG. COMPANY
Indianapolis

COUPON

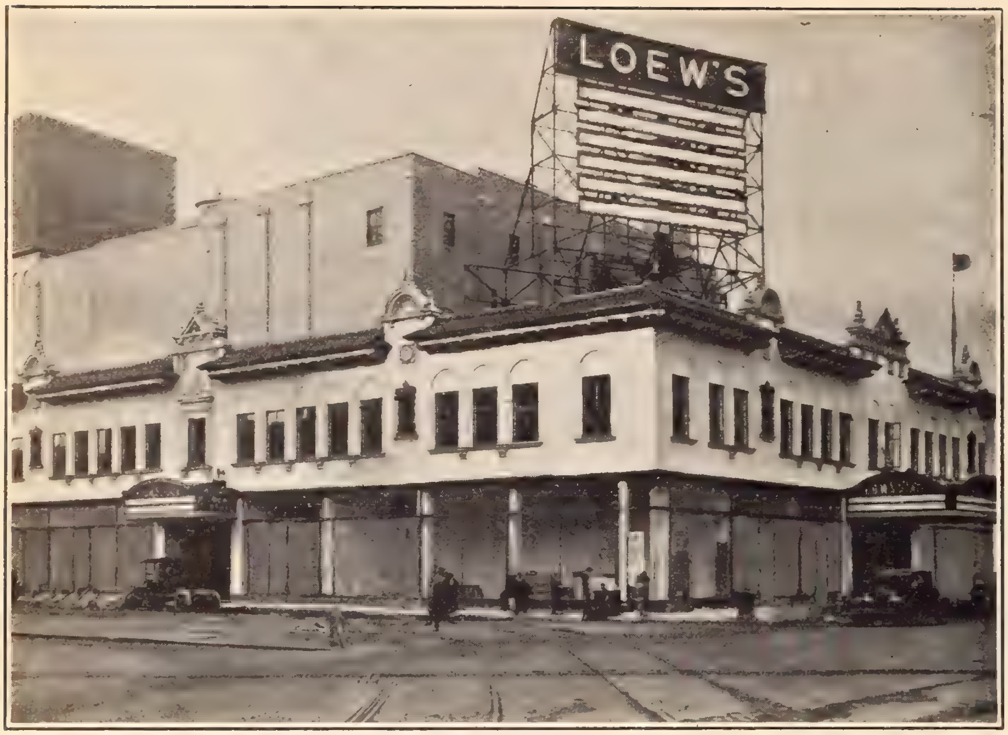
HOLCOMB & HOKE MFG. CO.,
3302 Van Buren Street,
Indianapolis, Indiana.

Please send your plan for analyzing the profit-making possibilities of my particular location.

Name ....

Address ....

Town and State ....



View of the recently opened Loew's State Theatre, New Orleans, La. Spanish type of architecture has been closely followed by Thomas W. Lamb. The new State has a seating capacity of 3,500

Loew's State at New Orleans, Opens; One of the Finest in South

ERECTED at a reported cost of $1,500,000 with a seating capacity of 3,500 persons, Loew's magnificent State Theatre at Canal and Elk's Place, opened its doors for the first time on Saturday, April 3, with a galaxy of screen, stage and radio stars appearing in person.

The building was designed by Thomas W. Lamb, rated as a foremost architect. Spanish type architecture has been followed closely in the planning of the theatre. It was erected under the personal supervision of Miss Anne H. Dornin, architect-representative of the Loew interests. Construction was handled by George J. Glover Company, of New Orleans.

Facing Canal Street, occupying the entire frontage between Canal and Elk's Place, Loew's State Theatre is as high as the average seven-story building. The main entrance is on Canal Street.

Behind the ticket office one enters the lobby, 60 feet long and 30 feet wide, which is constructed of marble walls and pillars upon which hang large mirrors of panel glass. Four crystal chandeliers hang from the ceiling of the lobby. Large arches extend on both sides of the lobby. From the promenade and lobby, one enters the foyer to then, for the first time, view the splendor of the theatre proper. Of course, the first thing to catch the eye is the stage. From edge to edge, the stage is sixty-six feet wide. On each side massive columns rise and form a huge arch over the whole.

Running along each side of the massive house are boxes and loges, all made of black and white marble. Spacious arm chairs, well cushioned, furnish them. Two immense arches, in harmony with the proscenium arch over the stage, are built on each side of the interior. Painted within the arches are two beautiful frescoes, by Henri Robert, French decorative artist, depicting two mediæval garden scenes.

The whole interior of the theatre is of the Renaissance period. The ceiling is covered with an infinite variety of interlacing woodwork, designs on curving panels and painted in the dominant color scheme of orchid, jade green and gold. The designs picture shields, scrolls, conventional flowers and plaques.

On the orchestra floor are approximately 1,500 seats, all well padded with leather cushions and built for comfort with wide row spacing. Boxes and loges take care of an additional 200 persons.

In the balcony are four rows of loge seats. Approximately 900 other seats are located just behind the four rows of loges. The gallery, for colored patrons only, seats about 700 persons.

In the building of Loew's State Theatre great attention was stressed on making the house comfortable for women. "The Rose Petal Room," on the mezzanine, is furnished lavishly with dressing tables, multinumbered mirrors and includes cosmetic and smoking quarters. It is draped with frosted ivory silks and hoods of American Beauty roses. Soft, rose-colored lights on exquisite French poudresses add to the effect. The room is furnished in French walnut and gold furniture upholstered in American Beauty taffeta.

In the mezzanine is placed a priceless antique in the form of a black desk, inlaid with mother of pearl, made in France and brought to Louisiana when it was a province of France long before the American Revolution.

A smoking room for gentlemen is also one of the innovations of the new playhouse.

The Spanish style of furnishing is much in evidence here with reading lamps, desks, sofas and chairs for the convenience of male patrons.

The largest orchestra pit in the South is found in the State Theatre. Accommodations for 50 musicians, enough to hold an entire symphony orchestra, are found here.

The organ console is on a separate elevating unit and one of the largest theatrical organs in the world. It is the work of the Robert Morton Company, of California. In the orchestra pit is a baby grand piano instead of the usual upright style.

For the stage fixtures, forty drops are used, all regulated from the ground by the use of counter weights. A triple row of footlights insures perfect stage lighting.

The color scheme of faint tint lighting is carried throughout the entire theatre. The draperies of festooned orchid color velour, edged with gold ropes and tassels, carry out the general scheme. The lobby, vestibule and mezzanine are of broche violet marble wainscoting set off with terazzo marble on the floors.

The main chandelier suspended above the orchestra is a huge eight-foot beaded crystal bowl reflecting from its myriad of prismatic glasses the soft delicate lights within it. Over the boxes on both sides hang crystal chandeliers somewhat smaller than the main one. The vaulted ceiling of the theatre gives a wonderful feeling of spaciousness, and the lines of ornamentation are the acme of grace and beauty.

One of the features in the State is the modern ventilation and heating system employed in keeping the house at mean temperature throughout the year.

Mathis Opens New Avalon at Bellingham, Wash.

The new Avalon Theatre in Bellingham, Wash., an entirely modern and attractive house with a large seating capacity, was opened last week by the Standard Theatre Company. The house is managed by E. T. Mathis, well-known Northwest showman, and its owners include Albert Finkelstein, manager of Jensen-Von Herberg's Strand Theatre in Seattle. First run film programs, with appropriate musical features and presentations mark the policy of the Avalon.

Announce House for McCook, Neb.

The World Realty Company of Omaha, Neb., has recently announced that they will build a $50,000 theatre at McCook, Neb. Actual construction will start at an early date and this house will be part of a theatre expansion program planned to extend throughout the state.

Cosmetic room in Loew's State Theatre, New Orleans, La., where Milady may powder her nose amid Mid-Victorian surroundings

Connecticut House Holds Successful Opening

The new Brooklyn Capitol Theatre, across the bridge from Waterbury, Conn., opened its doors to an excited populace on the evening of April 3, and the house is one of which Brooklyn residents may justly feel proud. Every detail, which has been masterly carried out, represents the finest type of construction.

Alphonso Sirica is the owner and builder, and he has also owned both the Star and and Lyric Theatres, which are well known to Waterbury citizens.

The Capitol is of single-floor design, with a seating capacity of 850. Ample knee space has been provided between the rows to insure the comfort of the patrons. An elaborate ventilation system, which claims to automatically change the air every six minutes, is another feature installed by Mr. Sirica. The dimensions of the theatre are 146 by 50 and the construction is absolutely fireproof throughout.

The policy of the house at present calls for other feature pictures—however, according to Andrew Sirica, who will assist his father in his managerial capacity—a program of vaudeville will be introduced one night a week—and continued, if it proves to be popular.

Push Work on St. Louis Theatre

Work on the Greater Gravois Theatre, Gravois Avenue at Ellenwood Avenue, is being pushed. This house is being erected by the Reuben Levine organization of Chicago. It will seat about 2,000 persons and will be strictly up-to-the-minute in every respect.

Oscar Markum Announces Plan for New Indianapolis Suburban House

CONSTRUCTION of a 2,000-seat motion picture theatre, costing $250,000, will be started within the next ten days at 3432-36 North Illinois Street, according to the announcement last night by Oscar Markum, head of the Oscar Markum & Son Company, which owns four other neighborhood picture houses in Indianapolis. Purchase of the site, which is 82 feet on Illinois Street and has a depth of 136 feet, was completed yesterday from Lena Weghorst.

This theatre, which will be known as the Ritz, is the third large North side theatre to be erected within the last year, giving that section of the city a trio of motion picture houses almost as large as the downtown theatres. The other two theatres are Zaring's Egyptian at Central Avenue and Fall Creek Boulevard, and the Tivoli Theatre, now under construction at Forty-second Street and College Avenue.

The Ritz will be of terra cotta and brick with two stories along Illinois Street. There will be two storerooms in the front of the building. Plans for the theatre are nearly completed and excavation for the structure is expected to begin this week. There will be a large stage at the rear of the theatre of sufficient size to accommodate attractions with large casts.

Installation of a large pipe organ will be one of the features of the new theatre. Interior decorations will be luxurious and the lighting scheme will be something new in theatre illumination, bringing a beauty and novel appearance to the interior. There will be 1,600 seats on the first floor and 400 in a balcony.

Invasion of the North Side with these costly theatres is viewed as indicative of the continuing growth of the city and its prosperity. Mr. Markum expects to open the theatre about the middle of August.

Other theatres owned and operated by Mr. Markum and his son, Louis R. Markum, are the Tuxedo, 4020 East New York Street; Dream, 2351 Station Street; Belmont, Belmont Avenue and Washington Street, and the Sheldon, 1502 Roosevelt Avenue. The new theatre will be under the management of Mr. Markum and his son.

Mr. Markum announced that only the best of feature and program pictures would be shown at the Ritz.

Break Ground at Bunnell, Fla.

Construction is well under way on a new theatre to be erected by George F. Gonia, at Bunnell, Fla. The new house will cost in the neighborhood of $25,000 and in all probability will be completed about May 1st. The equipment for the theatre will cost around $6,000. The stage will be equipped with scenery and lighting effects to permit the presentation of vaudeville, should the management decide to add this feature to the regular picture program.

Beauty Spots
in Modern Theatres
are all of those where Netschert natural prepared ruscus trees, palms, ferns and artificial flowers have a place. Low cost and long life.

ASK FOR OUR ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE No. 7, mailed free for the asking.

Frank Netschert, Inc.
61 Barclay Street, New York, N.Y.

Advertising
in the Equipment Department
Pays

Super-Lite Screens are better

Pictures that on the average screen are dull, shadowy and tiresome, snap out clear, lively and bright on a Super-Lite Screen.

That is because practically all the light that falls on the silvery surface of a Super-Lite Screen is reflected.

Super-Lite Screens give the equivalent of higher intensity light sources at a fraction of their cost. They are made from fine, sturdy material and last for years.

For full description, sizes, prices, etc., and name of nearest supply dealer, write

C. S. Wertsner & Son
Manufacturers
221 North 13th Street,
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Distributors in principal cities throughout the country

MAIL THIS COUPON

C. S. WERTSNER & SON
221 North 13th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Send me details on Super-Lite Screens.

Name.................................... Theatre. ....

Address ....

Projection

Optics, Electricity, Practical Ideas & advice

Inquiries and Comments

New Light on an Old Problem

Part III

The Problem of Glare

THE entire problem of glare is rather clearly summed up in a paper by Brunon A. Nowakowski, titled "The Measurement of Glare," published in the January last issue of The American Journal of Hygiene.

The facts brought out in this work are so pertinent that we shall quote rather liberally from the paper as originally printed.

General Aspects

"Glare, as a problem in engineering practice, has been dealt with in a practical manner without an accurate knowledge of the underlying principles. Without the guidance of a physiological explanation of the phenomenon the illuminating engineer is rather inclined to consider glare as a peculiarity of the light source itself, and, relying on the sensation of discomfort associated with lamps of high intrinsic brilliancy, he attacks the problem for the most part by reducing the intrinsic brilliancy of light sources by means of frosted bulbs and dense opal globes.

"The lack of real knowledge as to the physiology or pathology of glare is reflected in the definition of glare as 'a brightness within the field of view of such an excessive character as to cause discomfort or interference with vision.'

"This is more a description of a situation in which glare occurs than a precise statement of the nature of the phenomenon we are dealing with. This is due to the fact that glare effects are sensations and, therefore, subjective, variable with the individual and difficult to measure.

"Over-illumination, which is considered to be the chief factor in producing glare, is a relative term, the eye being able to adjust itself to difference in illumination ranging from less than 1 up to 4,000 foot-candles, and we do not know of any measurable physiological effect of over-illumination.

Definition of Glare

"For such reasons it seems important to define as clearly as possible, from the physiological viewpoint, the special problem to which this study is devoted. Reflected glare has been left out of consideration.

"Direct glare can be divided into 'central' and 'peripheral' (edge) glare, which are distinct, both in the conditions that cause them, and in the resulting disturbance produced in the eye.

"In the case of 'central' glare, one looks directly at the light source, so that central vision is affected directly, peripheral vision indirectly, and the eye is accommodated to the distance of the glaring light.

"In the case of 'peripheral' glare, the eye is fixed on some object of interest, probably at reading distance, and the beam of light from the glaring light source forms an angle with the visual axis, so that peripheral vision is affected directly, central vision indirectly, and the eye is not accommodated to the distance of the glaring light.

Central Glare

"In the case of central glare we expose the most sensitive part of the retina, the fovea, which we use for the fine discrimination of objects, to a stimulus, which is relatively very great as compared with the general illumination to which the eye is adapted.

"The result is a marked sensation of discomfort, even pain, and a blinding effect, which is probably due to an over stimulation of the light-sensitive cells of the fovea, and which lasts for some time, depending on the intensity of the stimulus and the length of exposure.

"This is combined with a depression of the peripheral vision, due probably to irradiation (the effect which makes a lighted source appear larger than it really is—Ed.) and contrast, which is restored to normal as soon as the stimulus is removed.

Peripheral Glare

"In the case of peripheral glare we have to deal with a simultaneous multiple stimulation, the fovea being stimulated by the object looked at, while the periphery of the retina is stimulated by the glaring light source, or sources, in the field of vision.

"The discomfort is less marked and, though the blinding effect is probably present, we are unconscious of it in the same way as we are of the blind spot. The most important effect is the depression of central vision, due probably to contrast. Here intensity and time of exposure play a role also, but a new factor, angular position, comes into play.

View of the stage of the Alhambra Theatre, Alexandria, Egypt. Note the depth and modern presentation equipment

"The total effect is a relative decrease in eye efficiency and a peripheral scotoma (dimness of sight—Ed.) Although less alarming than central glare, the peripheral form is the condition most frequently met with at home, in schools, offices, theatres, etc., and is therefore very important. It is believed that the division of direct glare into central and peripheral glare is a fundamental one, since it is determined by the mechanism of the eye itself, where the glare is actually produced.

Other Forms of Glare

"The terms 'veiling' glare, 'dazzle' glare and 'blinding' glare, at present current in the glare literature, are largely descriptive of the light source and therefore not of fundamental importance in the physiology of glare.

"Luckiesh states that 'the decrease in visibility, due to a veiling brightness or a dazzling light source near the line of vision seems to be due to the same phenomena in the visual process.' Since it is the visual process itself which is of supreme importance in the problem of glare, it would perhaps clarify the subject to dispense, as far as possible, with terms which are not clearly descriptive of the visual process alone.

"What is usually defined as veiling glare is probably a general peripheral glare, while dazzle glare is a peripheral glare from a more intense source, localized on a smaller area of the retina. Blinding glare is associated primarily with what is here defined as central glare.

"As far as is known, the problem of direct peripheral glare, as defined above, has not yet been fully investigated. The object of these experiments has been to put this type of glare on a quantitative basis.

"The drop in visual acuity of the fovea, as the result of simultaneous stimulation of the periphery, was chosen as the basis of measurement, since it is more easily and accurately determined than the accompanying sensation of discomfort."

Of Importance to Theatres

The work presented in this paper (partly quoted above) was done at the School of Hygiene and Public Health, John Hopkins University, Baltimore, Maryland, in the Department of Physiological Hygiene, under Dr. Janet H. Clark.

It is of direct interest and importance to persons in any way interested in the projection of motion pictures since it brings much light upon a subject which has long been a source of constant irritation if not actual harm, to both theatre patrons and the industry at large.

The work presented applies with equal force to all phases of illumination and as far as is known, for the first time clearly indicates the factors which affect glare.

(To be continued)

Announce Community Theatre for Atlanta, Ga.

According to a recent announcement by the North Side Theatre Company of Atlanta, construction will start immediately on a handsome new house to be erected on a highly advantageous site at the intersection of Tenth Street and Peachtree, Atlanta, Ga. The new theatre will be in the center of the commercial district and have its front on Tenth Street.

Lease of the site has been signed by the North Side Theatre Company and plans for the structure are being rapidly completed by Burge and Stevens, Atlanta architects. The development will represent an investment of $75,000, it is said.

As reported from the officials of the company, the new house will be called "The North Side" and will be as finely equipped and furnished as any community theatre in the South. It will seat from 500 to 750 people; will be furnished with a pipe organ and an adequate stage for the presentation of a prologue or vaudeville. "The policy of 'The North Side' will be to show the very best type of screen entertainment available," said one of the company officials in making the announcement.

Kravetz to Build Theatre at Cheyenne, Wyo.

By the terms of a lease signed between the Cheyenne Securities Company and Max M. Kravetz, of Ft. Collins, Colo., a new theatre is to be built in Cheyenne at a cost of approximately $175,000. The new house will show Paramount products and will seat 1,200 persons. It is to be of brick and concrete in Italian Renaissance. Equipment will include everything necessary to handling large road shows.

Max Kravetz is at present the owner and operator of the American Theatre, Loveland, Colo. He has been in the distributing and exhibiting end of the business for a number of years. It is expected the new building will be ready for occupancy about October 1, 1926.

Balaban & Katz Announce New Michigan House

Announcement is made of an 1,800-seat theatre in Birmingham, Mich. The theatre will occupy the southeast corner of Woodward Avenue and Maple Road, Birmingham, and will be erected by the Briggs Investment Corporation. Plans were drawn by Rapp & Rapp, architects. The building of this theatre in Birmingham is the first step in the expansion scheme by the Balaban & Katz interests, "The Michigan," in the process of construction and to be Michigan's finest, being the first theatre to be erected by them. The Birmingham Theatre will be a duplicate of the "People's" Theatre, in Chicago.

H. R. Dutton Undergoes Operation

H. A. R. Dutton, President of Exhibitors Supply Company, who underwent a serious operation at the West Suburban Hospital last week, is reported to have come through the operation successfully and to be improving rapidly. It will be good news to his many friends in the trade that Mr. Dutton expects to be back at his desk within a month.

Looking toward the stage from the loge of Loew's State Theatre, New Orleans, La. Note the size of the stage and the heavy velour curtains

Calderone Opens New Hempstead House with Pictures and Vaudeville

CALDERONE'S new Rivoli Theatre, the latest addition to the Calderone Circuit of Theatres and located at Main and Columbia Streets, Hempstead, L. I., recently held its opening, with an elaborate program consisting of a feature picture, several short subjects and five acts of vaudeville. As in all of his theatres, it is Calderone's aim to bring to his patrons a program which will compare favorably with the best of metropolitan houses.

The Rivoli building is of fireproof construction throughout and is provided with every modern fire appliance. The staircases are large and are of Italian marble and terrazo, heavily carpeted, as the rest of the theatre. The aisles are particularly wide and the house has been provided with twenty-five fireproof doors. There are also fire tunnels in the rear of the building for exit purposes.

The entrance to the Rivoli is unusually large and flanked on either side by dainty shops, the arcade leading into the spacious inner lobby decorated to conform with the rest of the theatre. In providing a foyer of this size the management had in mind the comfort of those patrons who gather before and after performances.

The ceiling of the auditorium is in the form of a huge dome, with a chandelier which measures 14 by 8 feet hanging from its center. This large lighting fixture has been done in wrought iron, with polychrome and crystal, and is strikingly beautiful. The same motif has been carried out with the rest of the fixtures.

The auditorium has a seating capacity of 2,500, with the ample provision of space between the rows that present-day builders are paying more and more attention to. One of the most interesting features of the interior is the marble proscenium arch, draped with cardinal red and gold, and the matching draperies of the proscenium boxes on either side. The archways in back of the latter are finished in Circassian walnut, appliqued with filigree. The walls of the theatre have been finished in travertine stone, which blends well with the general scheme of the ceiling and fixtures.

A Midmer-Losh Grand organ has been installed which involves a reported investment of $32,000, and this instrument was designed to conform with all requirements of this particular theatre.

Ample rest rooms, smoking rooms and all the facilities which go with them have been provided. There is also a lounge on the mezzanine floor—the usual sort of a social center where patrons may meet and have a tete-a-tete.

The projection room and stage equipment represent the most modern obtainable, the stage being capable of receiving any kind of production. Howell's Cine Equipment Company furnished the projection apparatus. Other contributors to the Rivoli were the Greater New York Export House, Rothe & Layman, who furnished the attractive drapes; the Automatic Ticket Register Corporation, stage rigging by J. H. Welsh, art frames by S. Markendorf and heating equipment by L. H. Eggert.

M. Masem & Sons, of Brooklyn, were the builders of the Rivoli and Harrison G. Wiseman is credited with the fine example of architecture.

Other theatres of which S. Calderone is the managing director are the Hempstead, at Hempstead; the Lynbroook, at Lynbrook; the Valley Stream, at Valley Stream (under construction), and the Westbury, at Westbury (under construction).

Motion

Use the Two Greatest Attention-Getters in Your Sign

Motion and Color, the two greatest eye-catching influences in the world, are secured most effectively with Reco Flashers and Color Hoods.

REYNOLDS
ELECTRIC COMPANY
2628 W. Congress St., Chicago

Write for complete information.

Color

Also mfrs. Reynolds Motors, Reco Show Window Flashers, Traffic Controls, Reflectors for Poster Boards, etc.

Theatre Construction

We are in a position to analyze any theatre proposition from every angle. If you contemplate building a theatre, get in touch with us before you arrange for plans and specifications; we can save you money, due to our special knowledge of theatre construction. We are prepared to analyze your proposition, prepare sketches, submit an estimated cost, prepare plans and specifications and supervise construction, so that the ultimate cost will not exceed the estimated. We will prepare you a statement showing the probable net returns on the investment and advise as to methods of finance. We can handle your proposition from inception to completion, turning the theatre over to you complete in every detail, ready to operate. Send us your proposition for analysis.

Our Motto is Efficiency with Economy

H. Robins Burroughs Co.
Engineers
70 East 45th St. New York City

The Fastest and Surest Method of Selling Tickets

Write for information on NEW Super Gold Seal Models

AUTOMATIC TICKET REGISTER CORPORATION
723 SEVENTH AVE NEW YORK

AUTOMATICKET SYSTEM USED WHEREVER TICKETS ARE SOLD

Hertner Elec. Co. Announces Multiple Unit for Smaller Theatres

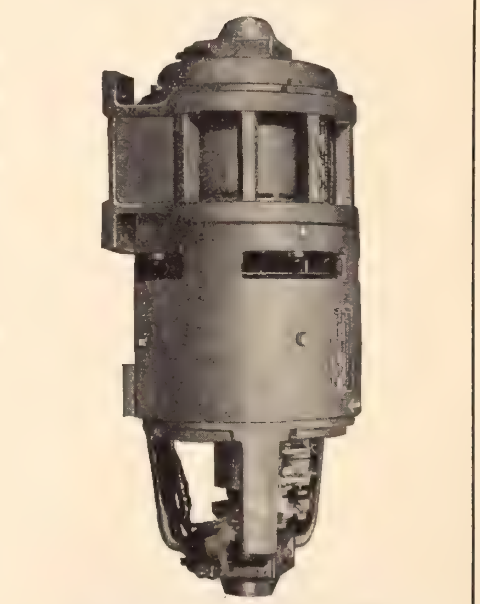
THE Hertner Electric Company, manufacturers of the Transverter, announce the production of a small multiple unit to be known as M. A. 20-40, an eighty-five volt set for mirror arc projection.

As the above designation indicates, this machine is intended to carry one arc at 20 amperes or less with both arcs in multiple at a total of double the amperes during changeover.

For projection purposes no source of direct current has been found that can convert alternating current and compare with the motor generator set in steadiness, reliability and ease of operation.

This unit is intended for use in the smaller theatres and is built only in the horizontal type with oil bearings. Owing to the fact that in these houses it is sometimes difficult to find an ideal location for the set, special care has been taken to secure quiet operation both in the mechanical and electrical design and inasmuch as the difference in losses between ball and oil bearings in such a small unit is but very little, the bearings are of the ring oiler type, contributing to quiet operation.

The motor is of the conventional squirrel cage design with large overload capacity, operating at 1800 R. P. M. on 60 cycles. The generator is a four pole unit with a compound winding so as to give a flat performance and has abundant commutator capacity. It is close coupled to the motor securing a compact two bearing construction.



Hertner small horizontal multiple unit M. A. 20-40 eighty-five-volt set for mirror arc projection in the smaller theatres

REACH THE THEATRE BY MAIL THRU OUR UP-TO-DATE MAILING LIST SERVICE
18138 U. S. THEATRES SHOWING PICTURES

Under 250 seats, 30%; under 500, 70%; under 800, 85%; over 800, 15%
The most economical method of reaching theatres is our ADDRESSING SERVICE. $4.00 PER M UP. Lists if desired. 30 to 50% saved in postage, etc., through elimination of dead and duplicate theatres usually listed. Lists of Producers, Distributors and Supply Dealers.

MULTIGRAPHING—MIMEOGRAPHING—
FOLDING—ENCLOSING—MAILING

MOTION PICTURE DIRECTORY CO.
709 Sixth Ave. at 41st St. New York City
Phone, Pennsy. 7484-7485

Accompanying this machine is the usual panel "A" arranged for multiple operation and fitted throughout in the same manner as the panels of the larger units.

This new unit is the latest addition to the large family of Hertner sets ranging from the 20-40 to the 200-400 in the multiple type and from 20-20 to 150-150 in the series or Transverter type, with intermediate sizes so as to be equipped to take care of the exact requirements of any theatre. The Company feels justly proud of this extensive line.

Thomasville, Ga., to Have New Playhouse

Thomasville, Ga., is to have a new theatre, one that will be modern in every respect and capable of seating over 1,200 people.

Manager Nat Williams, who has charge of the Grand, is authority for the announcement and further states that one of the best architects in the country has been employed to draw the plans. Interstate Enterprise is handling the matter and will finance the building itself. In all probability the new house will be ready for occupancy during the earliest winter months and in addition to a picture program, will be equipped to handle road shows. Williams will retain management of the Grand until his lease expires, using it for pictures.

Excavation Started on South Jersey Playhouse

Excavation has started for a new theatre on Westville Avenue, North Merchantville, N. J., where a structure will be erected at a reported cost of $500,000. According to the proposed plans the building will be one of the most imposing in any of the South Jersey suburbs.

"Walt Whitman" is the name selected for the new playhouse and Assistant Prosecutor Varbelow, one of the organizers of the company, has stated that the opening date has been set for about Sept. 1.

Features of the new theatre will be a place where children may be left in charge of experienced women attendants during performances and a large free parking space in the rear of the building.

Ames, Ia., to Have New Theatre

H. A. and "Joe" Gerbracht, who operate the Princess, Ames and Twin Star Theatres at Ames, Iowa, have another 1,000 seat theatre under construction which will be completed about October 1st. Although the house will be primarily devoted to Motion Pictures, complete stage equipment will be installed in order to handle vaudeville and road shows. Cost of construction is estimated at $120,000.

Plan Large Chicago Theatre

The Symphony Theatre Building Corporation, of which Ruben Levine is head, is planning to erect a large motion picture theatre on the site 3923-27 W. Chicago Avenue. The building will contain eight stores and twenty apartments, besides the theatre. Architect William P. Whitney is drawing the plans for the new theatre.

FEATURE RELEASE CHART

Productions are Listed Alphabetically and by Months in which Released in order that the Exhibitor may have a short-cut toward such information as he may need. Short subject and comedy release, as well as information on pictures that are coming, will be found on succeeding pages. (S. R. indicates State Right release.)

Refer to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS BOOKING GUIDE for Productions Listed Prior to March

MARCH

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Age of Indiscretion	Special Cast	Truart (S. R.)	5800 feet
Arizona Streak, The	Tom Tyler	F. B. O	4540 feet	April 3
Bar C Mystery, The	Phillips-MacDonald	Pathe	5 reels
Barrier, The	Kerry-Barrymore	M-G-M	6840 feet	April 3
Bat, The	Special Cast	United Artists
Beverly of Graustark	Marion Davies	M-G-M
Beyond All Odds	Eileen Sedgwick	Chesterfield (S. R.)	5 reels
Big Show, The	Lowell-Russell	Assoc. Exhib
Blue Blazes	Pete Morrison	Universal	4659 feet	Jan. 23
Broadway Billy	Billy Sullivan	Rayart (S. R.)	5000 feet
Chip of the Flying U	Hoot Gibson	Universal	6596 feet	Mar. 6
Combat	House Peters	Universal	6714 feet	Feb. 20
Coming and Going	Buffalo Bill, Jr	Artclass Pictures	5000 feet
Dancing Mothers	Special Cast	Paramount	7169 feet	Feb. 27
Dangerous Virtue	Jane Novak	Lee-Bradford (S.R.)	6000 feet
Earth Woman, The	Alden-Bonner	Assoc. Exhib
Forbidden Waters	Priscilla Dean	Prod. Dist. Corp	5335 feet
Gilded Highway, The	Devore-Harron	Warner Bros	6900 feet
Happiness	Special Cast	F. B. O
Hearts and Spangles	Wanda Hawley	Lumas Film	6200 feet
Hell's Four Hundred	Margaret Livingston	Fox
Her Second Chance	Nilsson-Gordon	First National
Highbinders, The	Tilden-Daw	Assoc. Exhib
High Steppers	Hughes-Astor	First National
Let's Get Married	Richard Dix	Paramount	6800 feet	Mar. 13
Little Irish Girl, The	Dolores Costello	Warner Bros	6800 feet	April 10
Man Four Square	Buck Jones	Fox
Manhood	Special Cast	Fox
Marriage	Special Cast	Fox
Miss Brewster's Millions	Bebe Daniels	Paramount	6457 feet	Mar. 20
Mlle. Modiste	Corinne Griffith	First National
Monte Carlo	Special Cast	M-G-M	6129 feet	April 10
New Klondike, The	Thomas Meighan	Paramount	7445 feet	Mar. 27
Night Patrol, The	Richard Talmadge	F. B. O	6 reels	Mar. 20
Non-Stop Flight, The	Special Cast	F. B. O
Nutcracker, The	E. E. Horton	Assoc. Exhib
Other Women's Husbands	Blue-Prevost	Warner Bros	6700 feet	April 3
Red Dice	Rod La Rocque	Prod. Dist. Corp	6 reels	April 3
Roaring Forties, The	Special Cast	Jans (S.R.)
Sap, The	Kenneth Harlan	Warner Bros	5500 feet
Sea Horses	Special Cast	Paramount	6671 feet	Feb. 27
Secret Orders	Evelyn Brent	F. B. O	5506 feet	Mar. 27
Siberia	Special Cast	Fox	6950 feet	April 24
Six Shooting Romance	Jack Hoxie	Universal	4869 feet	Jan. 30
Social Celebrity, A	Adolphe Menjou	Paramount
Taxi Mystery, The	Roberts-Agnew	Gingsberg (S.R.)	5052 feet
Test of Donald Norton	George Walsh	Chadwick
Three Weeks in Paris	Moore-Devore	Warner Bros	6050 feet
Tramp, Tramp, Tramp	Harry Langdon	First National	5830 feet	April 10
Unknown Dangers	Frank Merrill	Hercules (S.R.)	4700 feet
Untamed Lady, The	Gloria Swanson	Paramount	6132 feet	Mar. 27
Vanishing Hoofs	Wally Wales	Artclass Pictures	5000 feet
Winning the Futurity	Landis-C. Horton	Chadwick
Yellow Fingers	Olive Borden	Fox	5594 feet	April 10

APRIL

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Ace of Hearts	Special Cast	Fox
Among Those Present	Harold Lloyd (Reissue)	Assoc Exhib
Bells, The	Lionel Barrymore	Chadwick
Blind Goddess, The	Special Cast	Paramount	7249 feet	April 3
Border Sheriff, The	Jack Hoxie	Universal	4440 feet	Mar. 13
Broadway Gallant, The	Richard Talmadge	F. B. O.
Brown of Harvard	Jack Pickford	M-G-M
Crown of Lies, The	Pola Negri	Paramount	5 reels	Mar. 17
Danger, Quest, The	Reed Howes	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Dangers of a Great City	Special Cast	Fox
Desert Gold	Special Cast	Paramount	6900 feet	Mar. 20
Fighting Boob, The	Bob Custer	F. B. O.
Fighting Shadows	Leo Maloney	Clarion Photoplays	4900 feet
Fighting Thorobreds	Billy Sullivan	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Flames	Valli-O'Brien	Assoc. Exhib
For Heaven's Sake	Harold Lloyd	Paramount	5356 feet	April 24
Hello, New York	Pringle-Sherman	First National
Hidden Way, The	Mary Carr	Assoc. Exhib
Impostor, The	Evelyn Brent	F. B. O.
Isle of Retribution, The	Special Cast	F. B. O
Kiki	Norma Talmadge	First National
Lucky Lady, The	Special Cast	Paramount
Mike	Sally ONeill	M-G-M		Jan. 23
Money Talks	Special Cast	M-G-M
Old Horses and New	L. Stone—B. Bedford	First National	6500 feet	April 24
Racing Blood	Special Cast	Lumas Film
Runaway, The	Special Cast	Paramount
Rustlers Ranch	Art Acord	Universal	5230 feet	April 24
Rustling for Cupid	George O'Brien	Fox
Sandy	Madge Bellamy	Fox	7850 feet	April 24
Savage, The	Ben Lyon	First National
Seventh Bandit, The	Harry Carey	Pathe	6 reels	Mar. 27
Shamrock Handicap, The	Special Cast	Fox
Silken Shackles	Irene Rich	Warner Bros
Sir Lumberjack	Lefty Flynn	F. B. O	5129 feet	April 10
Skinner's Dress Suit	Reginald Denny	Universal	7025 feet	Dec. 26
Somebody's Mother	Mary Carr	Rayart (S.R.)	6000 feet
Starlight's Revenge	Jack Perrin	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Streets of Sin		Fox
That's My Baby	Douglas MacLean	Paramount	6805 feet	April 24
Tony Runs Wild	Tom Mix	Fox
Twin Triggers	Buddy Roosevelt	Artclass Pictures	4800 feet
Up in Mabel's Room	Marie Prevost	Prod. Dist. Corp
Watch Your Wife	Virginia Valli	Universal	6980 feet	Feb. 27
Western Trails	Bill Patton	Chesterfield (S.R.)	5 reels
Wild To Go	Tom Tyler	F. B. O.

MAY

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Black Paradise	M. Bellamy–E. Lowe	Fox
Chasing Trouble	Pete Morrison	Universal	5 reels
Early to Wed	M. Moore-Perry	Fox
Ella Cinders	Colleen Moore	First National
Footloose Widow, The	Irene Rich	Warner Bros
Gentle Cyclone, The	Buck Jones	Fox
Hell Bent for Heaven	Monte Blue	Warner Bros
Honeymoon Express, The	M. Moore-Devore	Warner Bros
It's the Old Army Game	W. C. Fields	Paramount
Looking for Trouble	Jack Hoxie	Universal
Love Thief, The	Norman Kerry	Universal
Man From Oklahoma	Jack Perrin	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Miss Nobody	Anna Q. Nilsson	First National
My Old Dutch	O'Malley-McAvoy	Universal	7685 feet
Palm Beach Girl, The	Bebe Daniels	Paramount
Pals in Paradise	Special Cast	Fox
Perils of the Coast Guard	Special Cast	Rayart (S.R.)
Phantom Bullet, The	Hoot Gibson	Universal
Racing Romance	Reed Howes	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Rainmaker, The	Collier-Hale	Paramount
Ranson's Folly	Richard Barthelmess	First National
Sally in Our Alley	Mary Philbin	Universal
Secret Spring, The	Special Cast	Paramount
Shadows of Chinatown	Kenneth MacDonald	Bud Barsky (S.R.)	5000 feet
Sign of the Claw	Peter the Great (dog)	Lumas Film	5925 feet
Sweet Daddies	Special Cast	First National
Take a Chance	Richard Dix	Paramount
The Set Up	Art Acord	Universal	4600 feet	Mar. 27
Wet Paint	Raymond Griffith	Paramount
Windjammer, The	Billy Sullivan	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Wise Guy, The	James Kirkwood	First National

JUNE

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Call of the Klondike, The	Special Cast	Rayart (S.R.)
Deer Drive, The	Special Cast	Paramount
Fighting Buckaroo, The	Buck Jones	Fox
Good and Naughty	Pola Negri	Paramount
Grass		Paramount		Mar. 7,'25
Hard Boiled	Tom Mix	Fox
Hero of the Big Snows, A	Rin-tin-tin (dog)	Warner Bros
One Punch O'Day	Billy Sullivan	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Passionate Quest, The	Marie Prevost	Warner Bros
Rolling Home	Reginald Denny	Universal
Scrappin' Kid, The	Art Acord	Universal	4664 feet	Dec. 5
Self Starter, The	Reed Howes	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Social Highwayman, The	Harlan-Miller	Warner Bros
Volcano	Bebe Daniels	Paramount
Yellow Contraband	Leo Maloney	Clarion Photoplays	4900 feet

JULY

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Dangerous Dude, The	Reed Howes	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Sinister Detail, The	KennethMacDonald	Bud Barsky (S.R.)	5000 feet

Comedy Releases

Title	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
A-1 Society		Fox
Al's Troubles	Al Alt	Universal	2 reels	Mar. 13
Atta Boy	Monty Banks	Pathe
At Home	"Our Gang"	Pathe	2 reels
Baby Clothes	"Our Gang"	Pathe	2 reels	April 24
Bear Cats	"Big Boy"	Educational	2 reels
Beauty Parlor, A	"Fat Men"	F. B. O	2 reels
Bedtime Story, A	Arthur Lake	Universal	1 reel
Big-Hearted Fish, A	Aesop Fables	Pathe	1 reel	April 10
Bill Grim's Progress	Short-Withers	F. B. O.
Broken China	Bobby Vernon	Educational	2 reels
Buster Be Good	Trimble-Turner	Universal	2 reels
Buster's Hunting Party	Trimble and Dog	Universal	2 reels
Buster's Mix-Up	Trimble-Turner	Universal	2 reels	April 24
Buster's Sky Rocket	Trimble and Dog	Universal	2 reels	April 24
Camel's Hump		F. B. O	1 reel
Caught in the Act	Laymon-Dorety	Tennek Film	2 reels
Circus Day		Pathe	2 reels	Mar. 13
College Yell, The	Neely Edwards	Universal	1 reel
Couple of Skates, A	Neely Edwards	Universal	1 reel
Creeps	Archer-Dunham	Educational	2 reels
Dancing Daddy	Jack Duffy	Educational	2 reels	April 10
Dizzy Daddies		Pathe	2 reels	Mar. 20
Don Key-Son of a Burro	Holmes-Davidson	Pathe
Do Your Duty	Snub Pollard	Pathe	1 reel
Dog Shy	Charles Chase	Pathe	2 reels
Dumb Friend, A	Arthur Lake	Universal	1 reel	Feb. 13
Dumb Luck	"The Gumps"	Universal	2 reels
Eight Cylinder Bull		Fox	2 reels
Family Picnic, The	"Helen and Warren"	Fox	2 reels
Farm Hands	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel

Title	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Felix the Cat Braves the Briny	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel
Felix the Cat in a Tale of Two Kittens	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel
Felix the Cat Laughs It Off	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel	Mar. 27
Felix the Cat Misses the Cue	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel
Felix the Cat Scoots Thru Scotland	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel
Felix the Cat Uses His Head	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel
Felix the Cat Weathers the Weather	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel
Fight Night		Pathe	2 reels
Fire Fighter, The	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Flivver Vacation, A	Eddie Gordon	Universal	2 reels	April 3
Flying Wheels	Wanda Wiley	Universal	2 reels	Mar. 6
Fly Time	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	2 reels
Fool's Luck	Lupino Lane	Educational	2 reels	April 3
Fraternity Mixup, A	Alice Ardell	F. B. O	2 reels
Fresh Faces	Walter Hiers	Educational	2 reels
From the Cabby's Seat	"O. Henry"	Fox	2 reels
Ghost of Folly	Alice Day	Pathe	2 reels
Gimme Strength	Jimmie Adams	Educational	2 reels
Going Crazy	Lige Conley	Educational	2 reels
Hard to Hold	Laymon-Dorety	Tennek Film	2 reels
Haunted Heiress, A	Edna Marian	Universal	2 reels
Hayfoot, Strawfoot	Bevan-Clyde	Pathe	2 reels	April 24
Hearts and Showers	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Help Wanted	Charles Puffy	Universal	1 reel
Hired and Fired	Paul Parrott	Pathe	1 reel
His Private Life	Lupino Lane	Educational	2 reels
His Taking Ways	Al St. John	Bischoff (S.R.)	2 reels
Home Cured	Johnny Arthur	Educational	2 reels	Mar. 27
Honeymoon Feet	"Fat Men"	F. B. O	2 reels
Honeymooning With Me	Charles King	Universal	2 reels
Hooked at the Altar	Ralph Graves	Pathe	2 reels
Hug Bug, The	Glenn Tryon	Pathe	2 reels	Mar. 13
Hurricane, The	Alice Ardell	F. B. O	2 reels
Ko-Ko at the Circus	"Cartoon"	Red Seal	1 reel	Mar. 27
Lickpenny Lover, A	"O. Henry"	Fox	2 reels
Light Houskeeping	Lige Conley	Educational	2 reels	Mar. 20
Love Sundae, A	Alice Day	Pathe	2 reels
Madame Mystery	Bara-Finlayson	Pathe	2 reels
Mad Racer, The	"Van Bibber"	Fox	2 reels
Meet My Girl	Ralph Graves	Pathe	2 reels	Mar. 13
Merry Blacksmith, The	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Min's Away	"The Gumps"	Universal	2 reels
Monkey Business	"Our Gang"	Pathe	2 reels	Mar. 27
Mortgaged Again	Arthur Lake	Universal	1 reel
Moving Day	Cooley-Perry	Fox	2 reels	Mar. 6
Mr. Cinderella	Johnny Arthur	Educational	2 reels
Nervous Moments	Ralph Graves	Pathe	2 reels
Mum's the Word	Charles Chase	Pathe	2 reels
Never Too Old		Pathe
Nobody's Business	Lloyd Hamilton	Educational	2 reels	April 24
Number One Society, A	"East Side, West Side"	Fox
Old War Yorse, The		Pathe	1 reel	April 10
On Thin Ice	"Mutt & Jeff"	Short Film Syn	1 reel	Mar. 6
Oo-La-La	Bobby Vernon	Educational	2 reels
Papa's Pest	Burns-Steadman	Educational	2 reels
Painless Pain	Wanda Wiley	Universal	2 reels
Pawnshop Politics		Fox	2 reels
Phoney Express, The	Charles Puffy	Universal	1 reel	Mar. 13
Playing the Swell	Wanda Wiley	Universal	2 reels
Polar Baron, The		Fox	2 reels
Quick Service	Cliff Bowes	Educational	1 reel	Mar. 20
Radio Mad	Lymon-Dorety	Tennek Film	2 reels
Rah, Rah, Heidelberg	"Van Bibber"	Fox	2 reels
Rain and Shines	Al St. John	Bischoff	2 reels
Reported, The	"Van Bibbers"	Fox	2 reels
Rough and Ready Romeo	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Say It With Love	Edna Marian	Universal	2 reels
Scared Stiff	Holmes-Cook	Pathe	2 reels
Scratching Through	Cliff Bowes	Educational	1 reel	April 24
Separated Sweethearts	Arthur Lake	Universal	1 reel
Shootin' Fool, The	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Shore Shy	Dooley-Joyce	Educational	2 reels
Skating Instructors	"Mutt and Jeff"	Short Film Syn	1 reel
Sky Bound	Al St. John	Educational	2 reels
Smouldering Tires	A. Vaughan-L. Kent	F. B. O.
Social Triangle, A	"O. Henry"	Fox	2 reels
Sock Me To Sleep	A. Vaughan-L. Kent	F. B. O.
Somebody's Wrong	Bowes-Newman	Educational	1 reel
So This Is Paris	Neely Edwards	Universal	1 reel
Spanish Love	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel	Mar. 13
Spanking Breezes	Alice Day	Pathe	2 reels	Mar. 20
Swell Affair, A	Arthur Lake	Universal	1 reel
Taking the Heir	Charles Puffy	Universal	1 reel	April 3
Tin Ghost, The	Lige Conley	Educational	2 reels
Tonight's the Night	Bowes-Bradley	Educational	1 reel
Too Many Babies	Darling-King	Universal	2 reels
Too Many Relations	"Helen and Warren"	Fox	2 reels
Tune Up	Charles Puffy	Universal	1 reel	Mar. 6
Two Lips in Holland		Fox	2 reels
Ukelele Shieks	Glenn Tryon	Pathe	2 reels	April 10
Up in the Air	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Wandering Willies		Pathe	2 reels	April 3
What A Life	Frank Davis	Educational	1 reel
When Hell Froze Over	"Mutt and Jeff"	Short Film Syn	1 reel	Feb. 20
Where's My Baby	Neely Edwards	Universal	1 reel
Whoa Emma	Jimmie Adams	Educational	2 reels	April 3
Who's Boss?	Cliff Bowes	Educational	1 reel
Wife Tammers	Cook-L. Barrymore	Pathe	2 reels	April 3
Wireless Lizzie	Walter Hiers	Educational	2 reels	Mar. 13
Wisecrackers	Short-Withers	F. B. O.
Wise Quacker, The	Eddie Gordon	Tennek Film	2 reels
Yankee Doodle Duke, A	Clyde Cook	Pathe	2 reels
Yearning for Love	Wanda Wiley	Universal	2 reels	April 3

Short Subjects

Title	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
American Today (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
Animated Hair Cartoons	Red Seal	1 reel
Angelus, The	Cranfield & Clarke	2 reels	April 24
Aphrodite (Novelty)	Service Film	1 reel
Bar-C Mystery (Serial)	Pathe	10 episodes
Beasts of the Veldt	Chesterfield	2 reels
Bed Time Stories	Sierra Pictures	2 reels
Belgium Today (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
Burkhardt's Plastic Film	Tiffany	1 reel	April 3
Canary Islands (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
Casey of the Coast Guard (Serial)	Pathe	10 episodes	Feb. 20
Dancing Around the World (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
Death Ray, The (Novelty)	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Dixie Doodle (Sportlight)	Pathe	1 reel	Mar. 27
Doctor, The (Famous Paintings)	Cranfield & Clarke	2 reels
Egypt	F. B. O.
Emergency Man, The . . Edmund Cobb	Universal	2 reels
Every Picture Tells a Story	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Fade Away Foster (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Film Facts (Series)	Red Seal	1 reel
Flashes of the Past	Pathe	2 reels
Frame Up, The (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
From A to Z Thru Filmdom (Hodge Podge)	Educational	1 reel
Fugutive Futerise (Novelty)	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Giggles (Novelty Series)	Tennek Film	1 reel
Grinning Fists (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Gunless Bad Man, The (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Happy Hunting Grounds (Sportlight)	Pathe	1 reel
Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly	Red Seal	1 reel	Mar. 6
Heavens Above (Novelty)	Service Film	1 reel
Her First Night in a Beauty Parlor	Cranfield & Clarke	2 reels
Hero Land (Color Novelty)	Service Film	1 reel
Heroes of the Sea	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Hia Pal . . . Fearless (Dog)	Chesterfield	2 reels
Homeless Husbands' Land (Novelty)	Short Film	1 reel
Honeymoon Cruises	Tennek Film	1 reel
Inside Dope, The (Sportlight)	Pathe	1 reel
International Detective Stories	Tennek Film	2 reels
King of the Beasts (Cartoon)	F. B. O.
Jungle Heroine, A	Chesterfield	2 reels
Jungle Tragedy, A	Chesterfield	2 reels
Land of Rivers (Scenic)	Service Film	1 reel
Last Man, The	Chesterfield	2 reels
Leaps and Bounds (Sportlight)	Pathe	1 reel	Mar. 13
Let's Go Fishing	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Let's Paint	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Lightning Hutch (Serial)	Arrow Film
Lion's Mate, The	Chesterfield	2 reels
Lizzie's Last Lap (Novelty)	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Love Fighter . . . Fearless (Dog)	Chesterfield	2 reels
Marvels of Motion (Series)	Red Seal	1 reel
Menace of the Alps, The	Universal	1 reel	Mar. 27
Mother, The (Famous Paintings)	Cranfield & Clarke	2 reels
Mountain Molly O (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Mountain of the Law, The (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
My Old Kentucky Home (Song Car-tune)	Red Seal	1 reel	April 10
Neptune's Domain (Hodge Podge)	Educational	1 reel
Nervous Moments (Sportlight)	Pathe	1 reel
Off Shore Trails (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
One Wild Time (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Outlaw Love (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Poland—A National Reborn (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
Quick on the Draw (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Radio Detective, The (Serial)	Universal	10 episodes
Reelieves	Red Seal	1 reel
Hidin' For Love (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Rustler's Secret, The (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Scotty of the Scouts (Serial)	Rayart (S. R.)
Searchlight (Series)	Red Seal	1 reel
Sketch Book	Pathe
Sky Skidder, The (Serial)	Bischoff	10 episodes
Songs of England (Melody Series)	Pathe	1 reel	Feb 6
Songs of Scotland (Melody Series)	Pathe	1 reel	Feb. 6
Songs of the Northern States	Pathe	1 reel
Soul of the Cypress	Red Seal	1 reel	F b. 27
String of Diamonds . . . Fearless (Dog)	Chesterfield	2 reels
St. Pauls	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Sweden Today (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
Tin Bronc, The (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Trails of the Gods	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Tulip Land	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Vanishing Millions (Serial)	Sierra Pictures
Vision, The	Educational	2 reels
Wire Tigers, The	Chesterfield	2 reels
Where the Silver River Gleams	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Winking Idol, The (Serial)	Universal	10 episodes	Mar. 20
Wolf, The . . . Fearless (Dog)	Chesterfield	2 reels
Wonder Book Series	Short Film	1 reel
Wooden Shoes	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel	Dec. 12

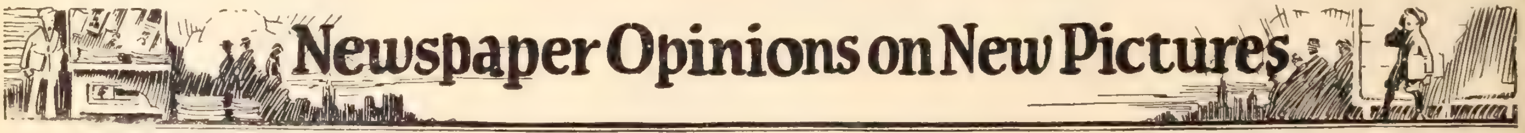
Coming Attractions

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
30 Below Zero	Buck Jones	Fox
Accused	Special Cast	Inde. Film	5000 feet	Jan. 16
Ace High	Hoot Gibson	Universal
Across the Pacific	Monte Blue	Warner Bros.
Almost a Lady	Marie Prevost	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Aloma of the South Sea	Gilda Gray	Paramount
Annie Laurie	Lilian Gish	M-G-M
Another Woman's Life	Mary Philbin	Universal
Altars of Desire	Mae Murray	M-G-M
Amateur Gentleman, The	Richard Barthelmess	First National
"Meet the Prince"
An American Tragedy		Paramount
Arizona Whirlwind, The	Bill Cody	Assoc. Exhib
Atlantis		First National
Auctioneer, The	George Sidney	Fox
Back Slapper, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Bad Habits	Special Cast	Astor Dist. (S.R.)
Bankrupt		Ginsberg-Kann
Bardelys the Magnificent	John Gilbert	M-G-M
Barrier, The	Special Cast	M-G-M	6480 feet	April 3
Barriers of Fire	Monte Blue	Warner Bros
Battling Butler	Buster Keaton	M-G-M
Beau Geste		Paramount
Beauty	Special Cast	M-G-M
Beauty and the Beast	Coleman-Banky	United Artists
Behind the Screen	Special Cast	M-G-M
Behind the Wheel,	Priscilla Dean	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Bellamy the Magnificent	Ramon Navarro	M-G-M
Beloved Enemy, The	Boyd-Goudal	Prod. Dist. Corp
Beverly of Graustark	Davies-Moreno	M-G-M
Beyond the Trail	Bill Patton	Chesterfield (S.R.)	5 reels
Ben Hur	Special Cast	M-G-M	12000 feet	Jan. 16
Beware of Widows	Laura La Plante	Universal

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Beyond the Trail	Bill Patton	Chesterfield-(S.R.)	5 treels
Bigger Than Barnum's	G. O'Hara-V. Dana	F. B. O.
Big Gun, The	Special Cast	Universal
Big Night, The	Laura La Plante	Universal
Big Parade, The	John Gilbert	M-G-M	12550 feet	Nov. 28
Bitter Apples	Monte Blue	Warner Bros.
Black Pirate, The	Douglas Fairbanks	United Artists	8200 feet	Mar. 20
Blarney	Special Cast	M-G-M
Border Thunderbolt, The		Assoc. Exhib
Born to Battle	Tom Tyler	F. B. O	5100 feet	Feb. 13
Boy Friend, The	John Hamon	M-G-M
Broken Hearts	Special Cast	Jaffe Art Film (S.R.)	7500 feet	Mar. 20
Broken Hearts of Hollywood	Harlan-Miller	Warner Bros
Brown Derby, The	Johnny Hines	First National
Brown of Harvard	William Haines	M-G-M
Brute, The	Monte Blue	Warner Bros.
Buckaroo Kid, The	Hoot Gibson	Universal
Burning Bridges	Harry Carey	Pathe
Butterflies in the Rain	Laura La Plante	Universal
Call in the Night, A		Truart (S.R.)
Cancelled Debt, The	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
Cat's Pajamas, The	Bronson-Cortez	Paramount
Charity Ball, The		M-G-M
Cheating Danger	Dick Talmadge	Universal
Christine of the Bip Tops	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
Cigarette Maker's Romance, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Circus, The	Charles Chaplin	United Artists
Cleaner Flame, The	Louise Carter	Arrow
Climbers, The	Irene Rich	Warner Bros.
Clinging Vine, The	Leatrice Joy	P. D. C
Closed Gates	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
College Flirt, The	Bebe Daniels	Paramount
College Widow, The	Dolores Costello	Warner Bros.
Coney Island	Special Cast	M-G-M
Corporal Kate	Vera Reynolds	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Country Doctor, The	Faye-R- Schildkraut	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Crashing Timbers	Harlan-Dana	Universal
Crazy Fool, The		M-G-M
Cruise of Jasper B, The	Rod La Roque	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Crystal Cup, The	Special Cast	First National
Cruel Truth, The		Ginsberg-Kann
Cyrano de Bergerac	Special Cast	Atlas Dist. (S.R.)	9500 feet	July 18
Danger Line, The	Special Cast	Astor Dist. (S.R.)
Dangerous Dub, The	Buddy Roosevelt	Assoc. Exhib.
Dangerous Friends	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
Dark Horse, The	Harry Carey	Prod. Dist. Corp
Dead Command, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Dead Man's Gold	Tom Mix	Fox
Dearie	L. Fazenda-W. Louis	Warner Bros.
Defend Yourself	Dorothy Drew	Dependable Films	5000 feet	Jan. 9
Deluge, The		Prod. Dist. Corp.
Detour		Prod. Dist. Corp
Devil Horse, The	Rex (Horse)	Pathe	6 reels.	April 24
Devil's Dice	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
Devil's Master, The		Fox
Dice Woman, The	Priscilla Dean	Prod. Dist. Corp
Dixie		Universal
Diplomacy	Blanche Sweet	Paramount
Do Clothes Make the Woman?	Mrs. Valentino	F. B. O
Don Juan	John Barrymore	Warner Bros
Don't Lie to Your Wife	Haver-McDonald	Arrow
Don Juan's Three Nights	Stone-Mason	First National
Don't Tell the Wife	Irene Rich	Warner Bros.
Door Mat, The		Warner Bros
Down the Stretch	Pat O'Malley	Universal
Duchess of Buffalo, The	Constance Talmadge	First National
Duke of Black Butte, The	Fred Humes	Universal
Dumb Head		Tiffany (S.R.)	6500 feet
East of the Setting Sun	Constance Talmadge	First National
Eve's Leaves	Leatrice Joy	Prod. Dist. Corp
Exquisite Sinner, The	Nagel-Adoree	M-G-M	5844 feet	May 1
False Steps	Special Cast	Paramount
Family Upstairs, The		Fox
Fascinating Youth	Junior Stars	Paramount		Mar. 13
Fast Life in New York	Special Cast	M-G-M
Faust	Emil Jannings	M-G-M
Fifth Horseman, The		Lee-Bradford (S.R.)
Fighting Boob, The	Bob Custer	F. B. O.	5000 feet	May 1
Fighting Fate	Billy Sullivan	Rayart (S.R.)	4991 feet	Feb. 6
Fighting Foundling, The	Jack Hoxie	Universal
Fighting Love	Jetta Goudal	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Fighting Peacemaker, The	Jack Hoxie	Universal	4500 feet	April 10
Fig Leaves		Fox
Fine Manners	Gloria Swanson	Paramount
Finnegan's Ball	Assoc. Exhib.
Flame of the Yukon, The	S. Owen-A. Gray	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Flames	Special Cast	M-G-M
Flaming Forest, The		M-G-M
Flaming Frontier, The	Special Cast	Universal	8829 feet	April 17
Flashing Heels	Bill Cody	Assoc. Exhib
Flashing Steeds	Bill Cody	Assoc.Exhib.
Flashing Steeds	Bill Patton	Chesterfield (S. R.)	5000 feet	Feb. 27
Flash Kid, The	Dick Talmadge	Universal
Flight to the Hills, The		Paramount
Flying High	Wm. Fairbanks	Lumas (S. R.)
Flying Mail, The	Al Wilson	Asso. Exhib
Footloose Widows	Special Cast	Warner Bros.
For Alimony Only	Leatrice Joy	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Forbidden Trails	Bill Cody	Assoc. Exhib
Forest of Destiny, The		Gotham Prod. (S. R.)
Forever After	Corinne Griffith	First National
For Wives Only	Marie Prevost	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Four Feathers	Richard Barthelmess	First National
Four Flushes, The	Reginald Denny	Universal
Four Stragglers, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Friends	Special Cast	Vitagraph
Frisco Sal	Special Cast	M-G-M
Gambling Chaplain, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Galloping Cowboy, The	Bill Cody	Assoc. Exhib
Garden of Allah, The	N. Talmadge-R. Colman	United Artists
Garden of Eden, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Gay Deceiver, The	Lew Cody	M-G-M
General, The	Buster Keaton	United Artists
George Washington Cohen	George Jessel
Get Off the Earth	Raymond Griffith	Paramount
Gigolo	Rod La Roque	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Getting Gertie's Garter	Marie Prevost.	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Glennister of the Mounted	Lefty Flynn	F. B. O.
Glorifying the American Girl		Paramount
Going Crooked	Special Cast	Fox
Golden Web, The		Gotham
Goose Man, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Great Deception, The	Ben Lyon	First National
Greater Glory, The	Special Cast	First National		Apr. 17
Greatest Show on Earth		Paramount
Gulliver's Travels		Universal
Hairpin Duchess, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Hands Across the Border	Fred Thomson	F. B. O
Harem Girl, The	Special Cast	Astor Dist. (S. R.)
Harp In Hock, A	Schildkraut-Coghlan	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Haunted Lady, The	Assoc. Exhib.
Haven, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Heart Thief, The	Jos. Schildkraut
Heaven on Earth	C. Nagel-R. Adoree	M-G-M
Her Big Night	Laura La Plante	Universal
Here He Comes	Earle Douglas	Sierra Pictures	5000 feet
Here He Comes	Richard Talmadge	Universal
Her Honor, The Governor	Pauline Frederick	F. B. O
Her Man o'War	Jetta Goudal	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Her Next Steps		Ginsberg-Kann
Hero on Horseback, A	Hoot Gibson	Universal
Hidden Loot	Jack Hoxie	Universal	4375 feet	Oct. 31
High Society	Tom Mix	Fox
Highbinders, The	Special Cast	Assoc. Exhib.	6 reels	May 1
Hills of Kentucky	Rin-Tin-Tin	Warner Bros.
His Dog	Rod La Roque	Prod. Dist. Corp.
His Woman	Special Cast	Whitman Bennett	7 reels
Home, Sweet Home	Special Cast	Assoc. Exhib
Human Mill, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Hurricane, The	Special Cast	Truart (S. R.)
Hurry Up Man, The	Dick Talmadge	Universal
I Can Do It	Special Cast	M-G-M
Ice Flood, The	O. Harlan-V. Dana	Universal
I'll Tell the World	Olmstead-Arthur	M-G-M
Imposter, The	Evelyn Brent	F. B. O
In His Arms	Special Cast	M-G-M
In the First Degree		Ginsberg-Kann
In to Her Kingdom	Corinne Griffith	First National
Irish Hearts	Dolores Costello	Warner Bros.
Jade Cup, The	Evelyn Brent	F. B. O.
Jason	Special Cast	M-G-M
Jewels of Desire	Priscilla Dean	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Jim, The Conqueror	W. Boyd-E. Fair	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Johnny Get Your Hair Cut	Jackie Coogan	M-G-M
Justice of the Far North		C. B. C. (S. R.)	5500 feet
Keep Going	Earl Douglas	Sierra Pictures
Kid Boots	Eddie Cantor	Paramount
Kid Gloves	Johnny Hines	First National
Killer, The	Marilyn Mills	Davis Dist.-Vital
La Boheme	Gish-Gilbert	M-G-M	8781 feet	Mar. 13
Ladies Must Have	Rod La Roque	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Laddie	J. Bowers-B. Flowers	F. B. O.
Lady of the Harem, The	Special Cast	Paramount
Lady of Leisure	Special Cast	M-G-M
Last Chance, The	Bill Patton	Chesterfield (S.R.)
Lawless Love	Al Ferguson	Davis Dist.-Vital
Lawless Valley	Bill Cody	Assoc. Exhib
Lena Rivers	Special Cast	Arrow	6521 feet
Les Miserables		Universal
Life of a Woman		Truart (S. R.)	6500 feet
Lightnin'		Tiffany (S. R.)	6500 feet
Lily, The		Fox
Little Adventuress, The	Vera Reynolds	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Little Journeys
Little Firebrand, The	Edith Thornton	Arrow Pictures	5007 feet	Dec. 12
Lone Wolf Returns, The		Columbia
Look Who's Here	Dick Talmadge	Universal
Lord's Referee, The		Fox
Love Me and the World Is Mine	Philbin-Kerry	Universal
Love 'Em and Leave 'Em	Esther Ralston	Paramount
Love—the Magician		Paramount
Love Thrill, The	Special Cast	Universal
Lover's Oath, A	Ramon Novarro	Astor (S. R.)	5800 feet	Oct. 17
Love's Blindness	Starke-Moreno	M-G-M
Lovey Mary	Bessie Love	M-G-M
Loyalties	Special Cast	Fox
Lunatic at Large, The	Leon Errol	First National
Lure of the West	Eileen Sedgwick	Chesterfield (S. R.)
Lying Truth, The	Milton Sills	First National
Magic Garden, The		F. B. O.
Man and the Moment		M-G-M
Man Who Laughs, The		Universal
Man With a Thousand Faces	Special Cast	M-G-M
Mantrap	Bar-Marmont	Paramount
Mare Nostrum	Special Cast	M-G-Ingram	11000 feet	Feb. 27
Married Cheats		Fox
Marrying Money		Truart (S. R.)	5800 feet
Masquerade Bandit, The	Tom Tyler	F. B. O.
Meet the Prince	Jos. Schildkraut	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Meet the Wife		Columbia
Memories	Ramon Novarro	M-G-M
Men of the Night		Ginsberg-Kann
Men of Steel	Milton Sills	First National
Message to Garcia, A	Special Cast	M-G-M
Midnight Flames		Columbia Pict. (S. R.)
Midnight Special		Truart (S. R.)
Midnight Sun, The	Special Cast	Universal
Mile a Minute Man	Wm. Fairbanks	Lumas (S. R.)
Millionaire Policemen	Special Cast	Ginsberg Dist. (S. R.)
Millionaires	L. Fazenda-W. Louis	Warner Bros.
Million Dollar Doll		Assoc. Exhib
Mismates	Doris Kenyon	First National
Miss 318	Special Cast	M-G-M
Money Talks	Moore-Windsor	M-G-M
Monte Carlo	Cody-Olmsted	M-G-M	6129 feet	Apr. 10
More Pay-Less Work	Mary Brian
Morganson's Finish	Special Cast	Tiffany (S. R.)	6500 feet
Mr. Battling Butler	Buster Keaton	M-G-M
My Official Wife	Irene Rich	Warner Bros.
Mysterious Island	Special Cast	M-G-M
Mystery Club, The	Special Cast	Universal
Mystery Lady, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Naughty Cinderella	Pola Negri	Paramount
Nell Gwyn	Dorothy Gish	Paramount	9 reels	Feb. 6
Nervous Wreck, The	Special Cast	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Night Bride, The	Marie Prevost	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Night Watch, The	Special Cast	Truart (S. R.)
Nobody's Widow	Leatrice Joy	Prod. Dist. Corp.
No Control	P. Haver-H. Ford	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Nocturne	Special Cast	M-G-M
North of Nome	Special Cast	Arrow	5491 feet
Oh! Baby	Special Cast	Universal
Old Ironsides	Special Cast	Paramount
Old Soak, The	Jean Hersholt	Universal
Only Way, The	Special Cast	United Artists	6850 feet	May 1
Open Book	Special Cast	M-G-M

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Ordeal, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Out of the Storm	Logan-Burns	Tiffany	6500 feet	May 1
Padlocked	Special Cast	Paramount
Pals First	Special Cast	First National
Paradise	M. Sills-B. Bronson	First National
Pals In Paradise	Special Cast	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Paris	Chas. Ray-E. Boardman	M-G-M
Paris at Midnight	Special Cast	Prod. Dist. Corp
Passionate Quest, The	M. MacAvoy-W. Louis	Warner Bros.
Pelican, The		Fox
Perch of the Devil	P. O'Malley-M. Busch	Universal
Pigs	Janet Gaynor	Fox
Plumes	Special Cast	M-G-M
Poker Faces	E. Horton-L. La Plante	Universal
Poor Girl's Romance, A	Short-Hale	Film Book. Offices
Prairie King, The	Hoot Gibson	Universal
Prince of Pilsen	Special Cast	Prod. Dist. Corp.	6300 feet	April 24
Prisoners of the Storm	House Peters	Universal
Private Patrick Cohen	George Jessel	Warner Bros.
Prowlers of the Night	Fred Humes	Universal
Puppets	Milton Sills	First National
Quality Street		Metro-Goldwyn
Rawhide	Buffalo Bill, Jr.	Assoc. Exhib.
Red Clay	William Desmond	Universal
Red Mill, The	Marion Davies	M-G-M
Red Signals		Ginsberg-Kann
Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary, The	Special Cast	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Remember		Columbia Pictures
Return of Peter Grimm		Fox
Return of a Soldier	Special Cast	M-G-M
Revillon	Blue-Miller	Warner Bros
Riding Honor	Art Accord	Universal
Ridin' Like Fury	Hoot Gibson	Universal
Rise and Fall of Jesse James		J. S. Woody
Risky Business	Vera Reynolds	P. D. C.
Roaring Crowd, The		F. B. O
Rogue's Riches	Special Cast	Astor Dist. (S. R.)
Romance a la Carte	Richard Dix	Paramount
Romeo and Juliet	M. Philbin-A. Mattoni	Universal
Ropin' Venus, The	Josie Sedgwick	Universal
Rough Riders, The		Paramount
Rubber Tires		Prod. Dist. Corp.
Runaway Express, The	Special Cast	Universal
Rust	Special Cast	M-G-M
Sailors' Wives		First National
Salvage		Truart (S. R.)	5800 feet
Satan Town	Harry Carey	Pathe
Savage in Silks, A	Laura La Plante	Universal
Scarlet Letter, The	Lillian Gish	M-G-M
Sea Wolf, The	Ralph Ince	Prod. Dist. Corp	7500 feet	Dec. 19
Self Defense	Aileen Percy	Arrow Film Corp
Senor Daredevil	Ken Maynard	First National
Separate Rooms	Special Cast	Fox
Seventh Heaven	Special Cast	Fox
Seward's Folly	Special Cast	M-G-M
Shadow of the Mosque	Stewart Rome	Ufa	5750 feet	Dec. 26
Share and Share Alike	Jane Novak	Arrow	5569 feet
She's My Baby		Ginsberg-Kann
Shipwrecked	Owen-Schildkraut	Prod. Dist. Corp
Show Off, The	Ford Sterling	Paramount
Show World, The	B. Dove-F. Bushman	Universal
Silence	H. B. Warner	Prod. Dist. Corp
Silent Rider, The	Hoot Gibson	Universal
Silk	Goudel-Schildkraut
Silken Lady, The	Hulette-Hamilton	Arrow
Silk Hat Cowboy, The	Tom Mix	Fox
Silky Anne	Constance Talmadge	First National
Silver Fingers	George Larkin	Elvin Film	5000 feet	May 1
Silver Lanterns	Special Cast	Arrow
Silver Treasure, The	Special Cast	Fox
Smith of Cornell	George Walsh	Chadwick
Son of the Sheik, The	Rudolph Valentino	United Artists
Sorrows of Satan	Adolphe Menjou	Paramount
Spangles	P. O'Malley-M. Nixon	Universal
Sparrows	Mary Pickford	United Artists
Speed Boy, The	Dick Talmadge	Universal
Speeding Venus, The	Priscilla Dean	P. D. C
Sporting Lover, The	Conway Tearle	First National

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Stella Dallas	Special Cast	United Artists
Strange Bedfellows		M-G-M
Subway Sadie	MacKaill-Mulhall	First National
Sunny Side Up	Vera Reynolds	P. D. C.
Sweet Rosie O'Grady		Columbia Pict
Take It From Me	Reginald Denny	Universal
Tale of a Vanishing People		Tiffany (S. R.)	6500 feet
Tardy Tolliver	Hale-King	Assoc. Exhib
Tavern Knight, The	John Barrymore	Warner Bros
Taxi, Taxi	Special Cast	Universal
Temptress, The	Garbo-Moreno	M-G-M
Ten to Midnight		Prod. Dist. Corp
Texas Streak, The	Hoot Gibson	Universal
That Old Gang of Mine	Maclyn Arbuckle	Dependable Films	4900 feet	Jan. 9
There You Are	Nagel-Roberts	M-G-M
Three Twins, The		M-G-M
Three Wax Men, The	Emil Jannings	E. M. Fadman, Inc.
Thumbs Down	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
Thundering Speed	Eileen Sedgwick	Chesterfield	5 reels
Tin Gods	Thomas Meighan	Paramount
Tin Hats		M-G-M
Toilers of the Sea	Special Cast	M-G-M
Tongues of Scandal		Ginsberg-Kann
Tongo	Special Cast	M-G-M
Too Many Women	Norman Kerry	Universal
Totem Pole Beggar, The	Special Cast	Asso. Exhibit
Trailing Shadows	Edmond Lowe	Fox Film
Trapped	Elinor Fair	Sierra Pictures	5000 feet
Travis Coup, The		Tiffany (S. R.)	6500 feet
Trip to Chinatown, A	Special Cast	Fox
Turkish Delights		Prod. Dist. Corp.
Twinkletoes	Colleen Moore
Two Gun-Man, The	Fred Thomson	F. B. O.
Uncle Tom's Cabin	Special Cast	Universal
Unknown Soldier, The		P. D. C
Unknown Treasures		Ginsberg-Kann
Up and at 'Em	Dick Talmadge	Universal
Up in Mabel's Room	Marie Prevost	Prod. Dist. Corp
Valley of Bravery, The	Bob Custer	F. B. O.
Vanity	Leatrice Joy	Prod. Dist. Corp
Vengeance of Durand, The	Irene Rich	Warner Bros
Volcano, The	Bebe Daniels	Paramount
Volga Boatman, The	Elinor Fair	Prod. Dist. Corp	10050 feet	May 1
Waltz Dream, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Waning Sex, The	Special Cast	M-G M.
Wanted—A Coward	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
Way of an Eagle, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Wedding March, The		Paramount
West of Broadway	Priscilla Dean	Prod. Dist. Corp.
What Every Girl Should Know	Patsy Ruth Miller	Warner Bros.
What Happened to Father	Patsy Ruth Miller	Warner Bros.
What Price Glory?	Special Cast	Fox
What Will People Say?		M-G-M
When We Were Twenty-One	Special Cast	M-G-M
Whispering Canyon	J. Novak-R. Ellis	Ginsberg Dist. Corp. (S. R.)
Whispering	Special Cast	P. D. C	6187 feet	Apr. 10
White Chief, The	Monte Blue	Warner Bros
White Gold	Jetta Gaudal	Prod. Dist. Corp.
White Heat	Special Cast	M-G-M
Whole Town's Talking, The	Ed. Horton	Universal
Why Girls Go Back Home	Miller-Brook	Warner Bros.	6 reels	May 1
Wife, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Wilderness Woman, The	A. Pringle L. Sherman	First National
Winner, The	Charles Ray	Chadwick (S. R.)
Winning of Barbara Worth	Colman-Banky	United Artists
Wives at Auction	Special Cast	Astor Dist. (S. R.)
Wolf Hunters, The	Special Cast	Rayart
Wolves of the Air		Ginsberg-Kann
Woman's Heart, A		Ginsberg-Kann
Woman Who Did Not Care		Gotham (S. R.)
Women and Wives		M-G-M
World's Illusion, The		M-G-M
Yankee Clipper, The	W. Boyd-E. Fair	Prod. Dist. Corp
Yellow Back, The	Fred Humes	Universal
Yoke, The	Special Cast	Warner Brothers
Young April	Special Cast	Prod. Dist. Corp
You Too	Special Cast	M-G-M



Newspaper Opinions on New Pictures

"Beverly of Graustark"—Cosmopolitan, Capitol, New York

AMERICAN: "'Beverly of Graustark' will be a popular box office attraction, both because of the bold touches of melodrama and the exceptional brand of comedy. The superlative note is the performance given by the star. Her comedy is irresistible."

Brooklyn Daily Eagle: "Marion Davies contributes a performance that is consistently amusing."

Daily Mirror: "Miss Davies gives an infectious, delightful account of herself. With a deft aptitude for comedy that has skyrocketed her to a foremost position among picture comediennes, she injects laughter into her characterization from beginning to end."

Daily News: "Marion Davies is really funny in 'Beverly of Graustark.' In royal male raiment she bears marked resemblance to the Prince of Wales."

Evening Graphic: "Marion is more like a prince than the Prince of Wales—if you know what we mean. Effective settings, beautiful photography, the subtitles are witty and bright, and Sidney Franklin, who directed, managed to interpolate some novel and interestting touches into the gay romance. Miss Davies is our candidate for Queen of Screen Cemediennes.

Evening Journal: "The roars of the audience proved that Marion Davies is the most adorable comedienne on the screen. The love sttory is delightful. The photoplay is excellently directed by Sidney Franklin and well acted by the supporting cast. A beautifully staged production with lavish settings."

Evening World: "A lively comedy of romance and manners . . . Good entertainment from first to last."

Herald Tribune: "If there is anyone left who thinks Marion Davies isn't a gorgeous actress, let him go to the Capitol and be convinced. She makes the best looking boy you ever saw; in fact, she looks just like the Prince of Wales. We recommend 'Beverly of Graustark' without any misgivings."

Morning Telegraph: "Marion Davies' impersonation of a boy is remarkable. She is convincing and far more charming than is usually the case when a girl tries to be 'manly.'"

Times: "This picture is produced with stunning uniforms and costumes, compelling scenic effects and elaborate settings. In the part of 'Beverly of Graustark' Miss Davies is in her element and she displays no mean ability in the handling of the role.

World: "Miss Davies, a natural comedienne, has soared to her loftiest heights as a girl possessing a sense of humor. . . . 'Beverly of Graustark' is of the better things. The wholesome good taste expended upon the proceedings is refreshing. All leading parts are done with remarkable competence."

Peggy Hopkins Joyce, star of "The Sky Rocket," Associated Exhibitors

BLANCHARD PRESS, INC., N.Y.

Box office value

When the picture is printed on Eastman Positive Film, good photography in the negative means good photography on the screen—the art of director and cinematographer is saved for your patrons to enjoy.

And photographic quality has real box office value—the house expects it.

Prints on Eastman have the black-lettered identification "Eastman" and "Kodak" in the transparent margin. Look for it.

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY

ROCHESTER, N. Y.

16 years ago this organization was established by Watterson R. Rothacker. Today—everywhere—Rothacker Prints are recognized as the utmost in screen brilliancy and security.

Rothacker

FILM MFG. CO. CHICAGO, U.S.A.
TRADE MARK REG.

Look Better—
Wear Longer!

Founded 1910
by
Watterson R. Rothacker

N TWO SECTIONS

SECTION TWO

Motion Picture News

BOOKING GUIDE

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

HAS DARED TO

PRESENT NEW IDEAS

in production

SUPPLANTING WORN-OUT IDEAS

OF OTHER PRODUCERS

THE BIGGEST HITS

ARE M-G-M HITS

THE LIVEST PRODUCERS

The Talk of the Industry

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Vol. XXXIII No. 19

May 8, 1926

Pathecomedies

HAL ROACH

TWO REELS EACH

OUR GANG COMEDIES

The most popular two reel comedies ever made

CHARLIE CHASE COMEDIES

Chase is climbing faster than any comedian we know

"STAR" COMEDIES

A new departure. Feature comedies with feature stars, in two reels. Mabel Normand, Lionel Barrymore, Theda Bara, Gertrude Astor, Eileen Percy, Mildred Harris, Stuart Holmes and others

GLENN TRYON COMEDIES

Consistently good

MACK SENNETT

TWO REELS EACH

MACK SENNETT

Girls, gags and laughs

BEN TURPIN

Real box office merit, attested by years of success

THE SMITHS

Much fun from a family of three and a dog

ALICE DAY

The spirit of youth revealed in laughter

Each One a True Feature In Any Show

give you the biggest profits and the best show all the time!

First Nation

As you go through the Booking Guide, check up the box only scored the biggest hits, but maintained you the biggest pe

al Pictures

ffice records and you find that First National Pictures not the highest average of drawing power, giving entage of profit

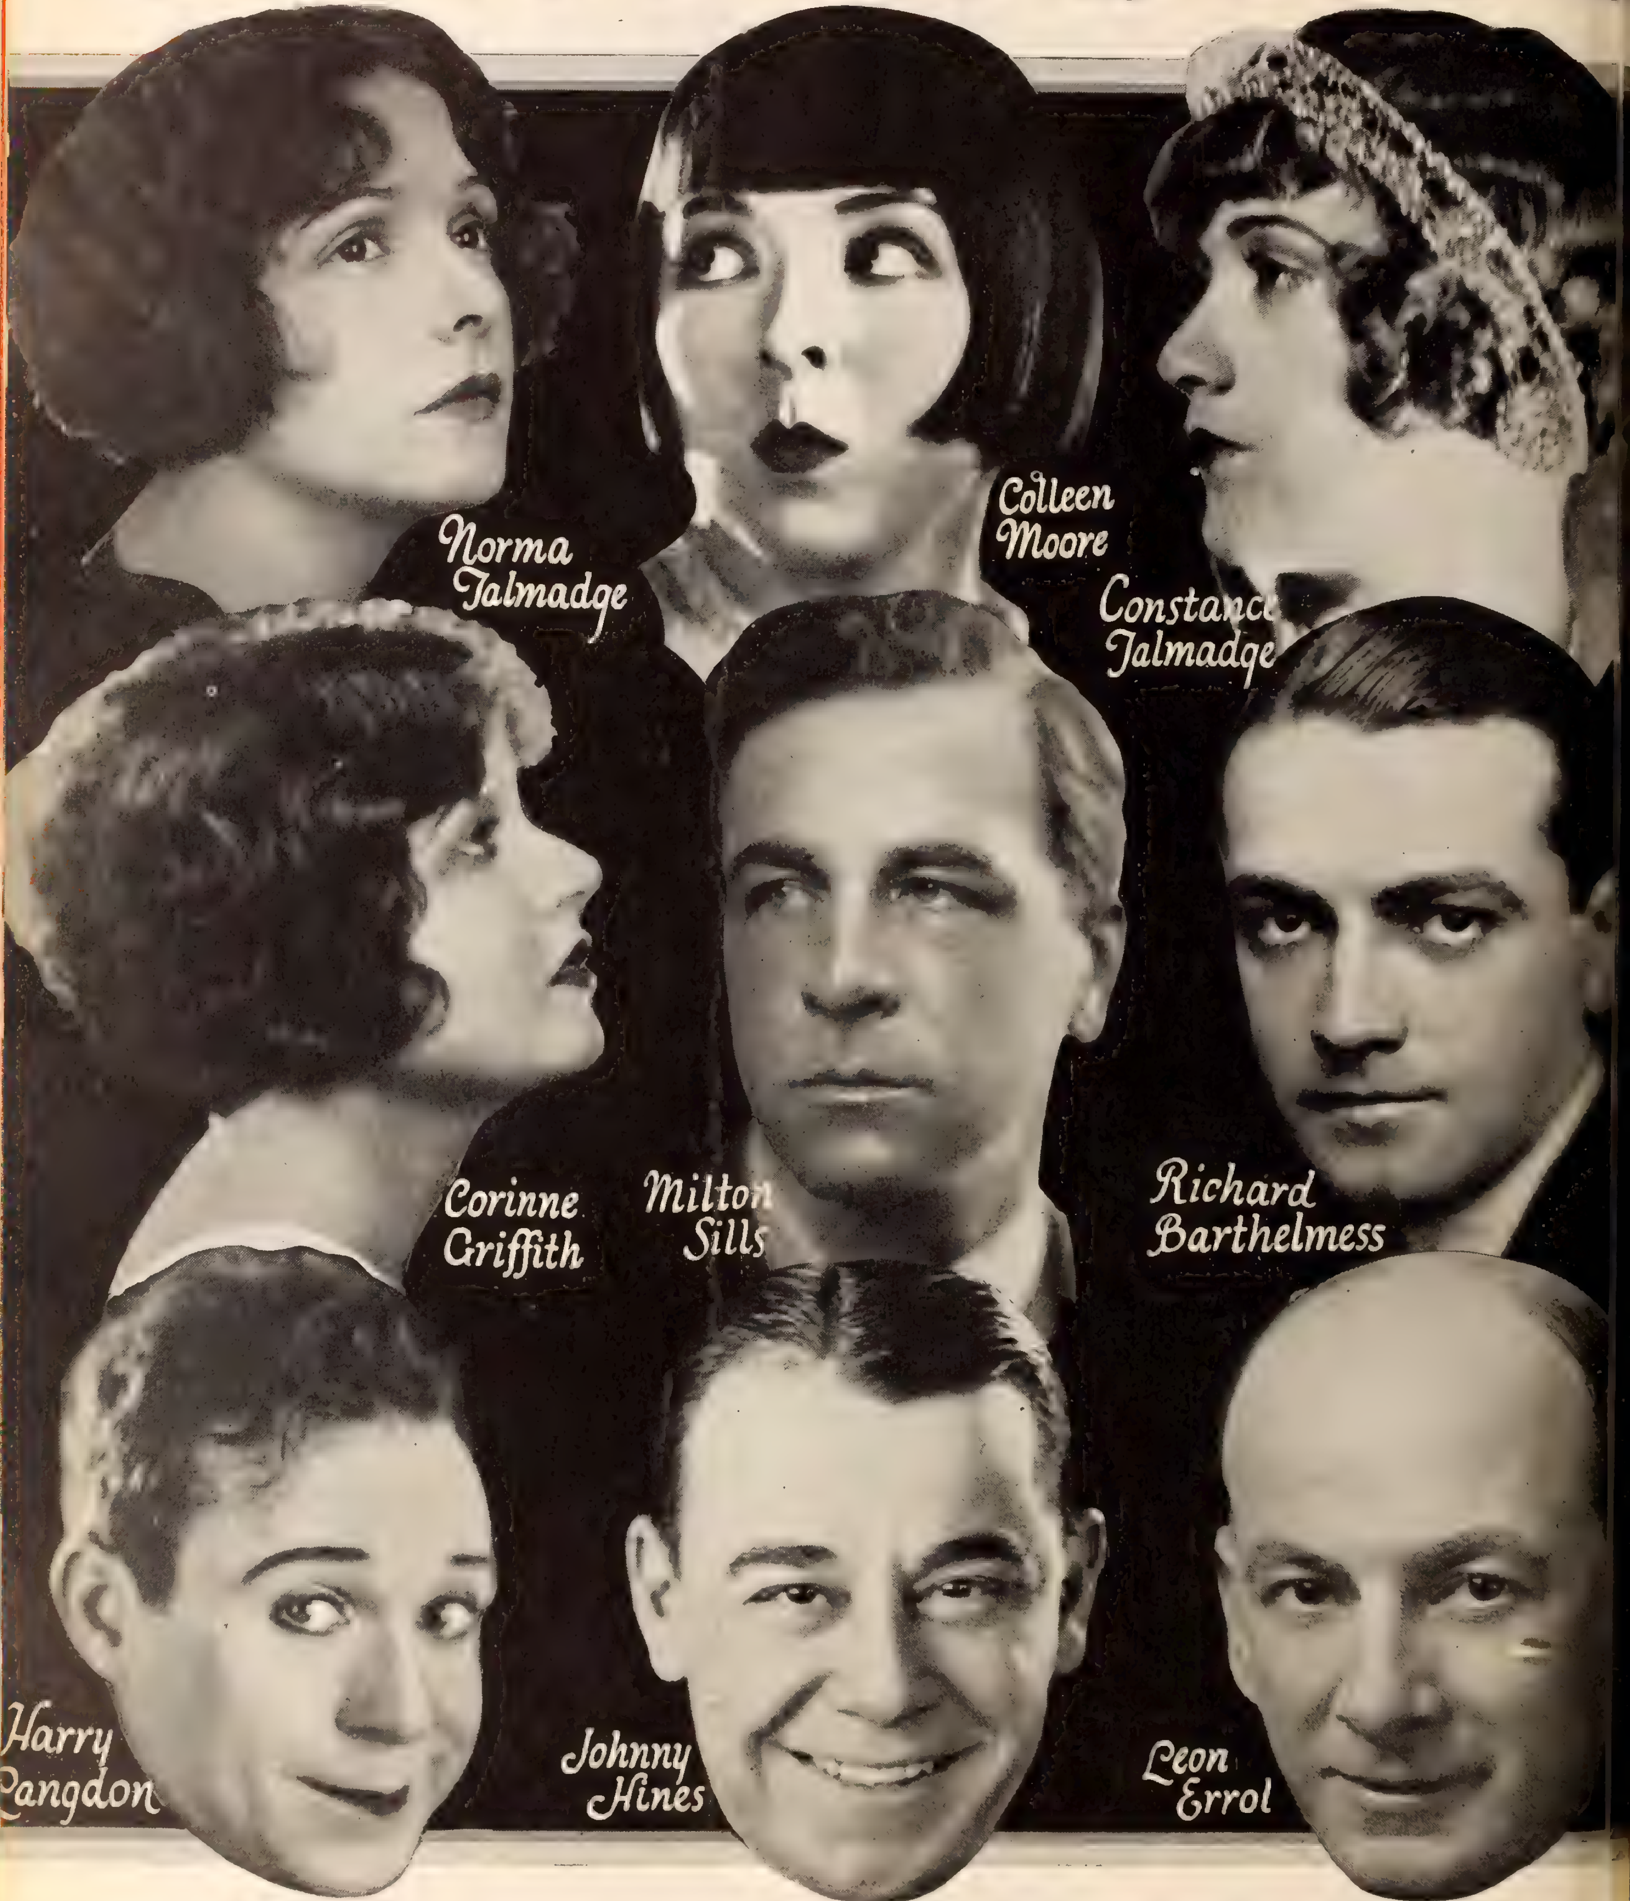
First Natio



Stars with unparalleled drawing power; titles that spell dollars at the in the business — these are the guarantees behind the l Pictures

52 BIG PICTURES and 7 SPECIALS

Here are just a few of the BANNER GROUP hits!

NORMA TALMADGE'S GREATEST

COLLEEN MOORE in "TWINKLE TOES"
And a series including
"NAUGHTY BUT NICE"
Adapted from "Daphne Grows Down"

CONSTANCE TALMADGE
in "SILKY ANNE"
And a series

CORINNE GRIFFITH in "ASHES"
And a series

MILTON SILLS in "MEN OF STEEL"
Special with Doris Kenyon
And a series including
"MEN OF THE NIGHT"

RICHARD BARTHELMESS
in
"THE AMATEUR GENTLEMAN"
"FOUR FEATHERS"

HARRY LANGDON in "THE YES MAN"
And a series

JOHNNY HINES in "KID GLOVES"
And a series

LEON ERROL in "LUNATIC AT LARGE"
And a series

"THE GREATER GLORY"—SPECIAL
Conway Tearle, Anna Q. Nilsson
June Mathis Production

"SEPTEMBER LOVE"—SPECIAL
From Frances Hodgson Burnett's
"The Head of the House of Coombe"

"SINNERS IN PARADISE"—SPECIAL
June Mathis Production

TWO STUPENDOUS SPECIALS
By ROBERT KANE

First National Pictures

BANNER GROUP

September 1926 — September 1927

cket window; a great line-up of featured players; directors, the best ig hits in First National's 1926-27 Banner Group!

and FIRST NATIONAL'S BIG INNOVATION

"SENOR DAREDEVIL"
"GUN GOSPEL"
"FLAME of the BORDER"
"The UNKNOWN CAVALIER"

Starring KEN MAYNARD

with TARZAN his horse in FOUR SMASHING WESTERNS

Presented by CHARLES R. ROGERS Directed by AL. ROGEL

WEST — over the range; away where the ranches end and Painted Desert stretches into a grand adventure. Along the hills where raiders ide. Prairies and peaks; echoing hoofs and lariats reaching further han the law. That's West; and today its lure surrounds big-theatre udiences as well as small.

First National's Outdoor Dramas meet a unanimous demand. Ken Maynard has forged to the head of adventure stars. Now he omes to you in thrilling action roles, in stories by writers famous or dramatic pace, produced with the thoroughness, spirit and knowledge of popular taste that exhibitors everywhere expect of First National.

First National Pictures

F.B.O. promised!
F.B.O. delivered!

F.B.O. promised a corking line of box-office pictures for 1925-26!
RECORDS SPEAK LOUDER THAN WORDS!
And the records prove that F.B.O. delivered the most consistent line of big-business pictures ever offered to exhibitors!

Twelve Wonderful Gold Bond Productions

Drusilla with A Million
Elizabeth Cooper's famous novel. The big money attraction of the year!

Flaming Waters
Hitting now with a resounding smash!

The Midnight Flyer
It's grinding out record performances!

The Non-Stop Flight
Emory Johnson's aviation scoop!

The Keeper of The Bees
A Gene Stratton-Porter story. Smashing records everywhere!

If Marriage Fails?
A showman's natural by C. Gardner Sullivan.

Parisian Nights
Performance written in dollar signs all over it!

The Isle of Retribution
Edison Marshall's famous novel with Lillian Rich, Robert Frazer and Victor McLaglen.

The Last Edition
Emory Johnson's exploitation champion!

When Love Grows Cold
Natacha Rambova (Mrs. Rudolph Valentino) in Laura Jean Libbey's surefire box-office bet!

The King of the Turf
Clicking merrily everywhere!

A Poor Girl's Romance
An audience of scattered millions awaiting this Laura Jean Libbey story!

A Bang-Up List of Popular Star Productions

Fred Thomson
PRODUCTIONS

Evelyn Brent
PRODUCTIONS

Dick Talmadge
PRODUCTIONS

Tom Tyler
PRODUCTIONS

Lefty Flynn
PRODUCTIONS

Bob Custer
PRODUCTIONS

A Profit-Making Lineup of Featurettes

ALBERTA VAUGHN in "Adventures of Maisie" and "Fighting Hearts"
Standard and Blue Ribbon Comedies—Bray Cartoons

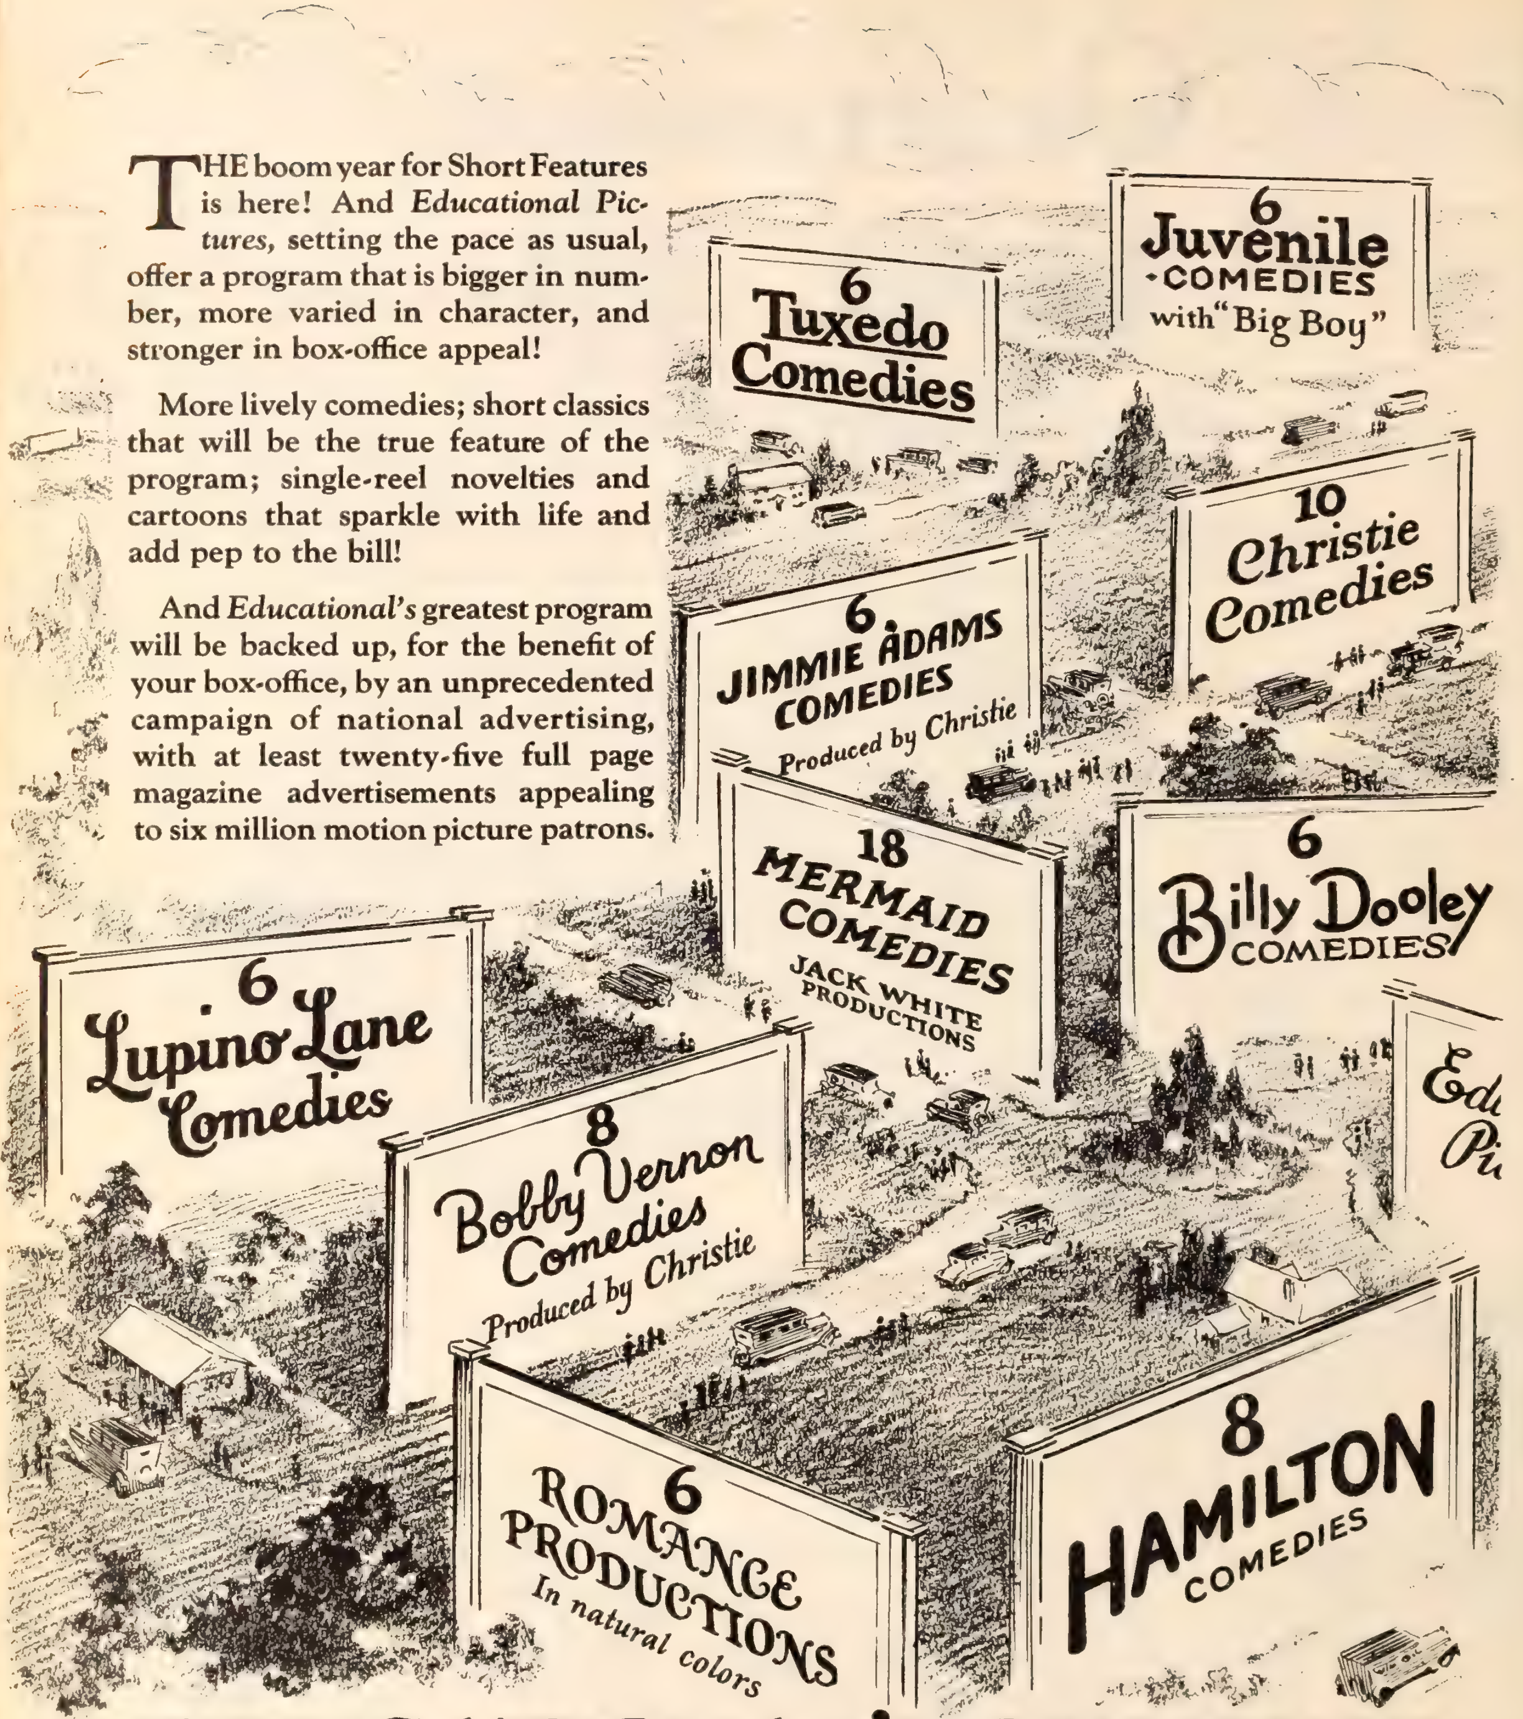
FBO

34 Exchanges in the 34 principal cities in the U.S.A. and Canada

THE boom year for Short Features is here! And Educational Pictures, setting the pace as usual, offer a program that is bigger in number, more varied in character, and stronger in box-office appeal!

More lively comedies; short classics that will be the true feature of the program; single-reel novelties and cartoons that sparkle with life and add pep to the bill!

And Educational's greatest program will be backed up, for the benefit of your box-office, by an unprecedented campaign of national advertising, with at least twenty-five full page magazine advertisements appealing to six million motion picture patrons.



6 Tuxedo Comedies
6 Juvenile Comedies with "Big Boy"
6 Jimmie Adams Comedies Produced by Christie
10 Christie Comedies
18 Mermaid Comedies Jack White Productions
6 Billy Dooley Comedies
6 Lupino Lane Comedies
8 Bobby Vernon Comedies Produced by Christie
Ed
Pi
6 Romance Productions In natural colors
8 Hamilton Comedies

EDUCATIONAL'S GREATEST TWO-REEL LINE-UP!

Featuring Educational's popular comedy stars in brand new sparkling hits—and magnificent new classic features in glorious natural colors.

Educational Pictures
"THE SPICE OF THE PROGRAM"

Every one of Educational's single-reel subjects is real entertainment—never a "filler."

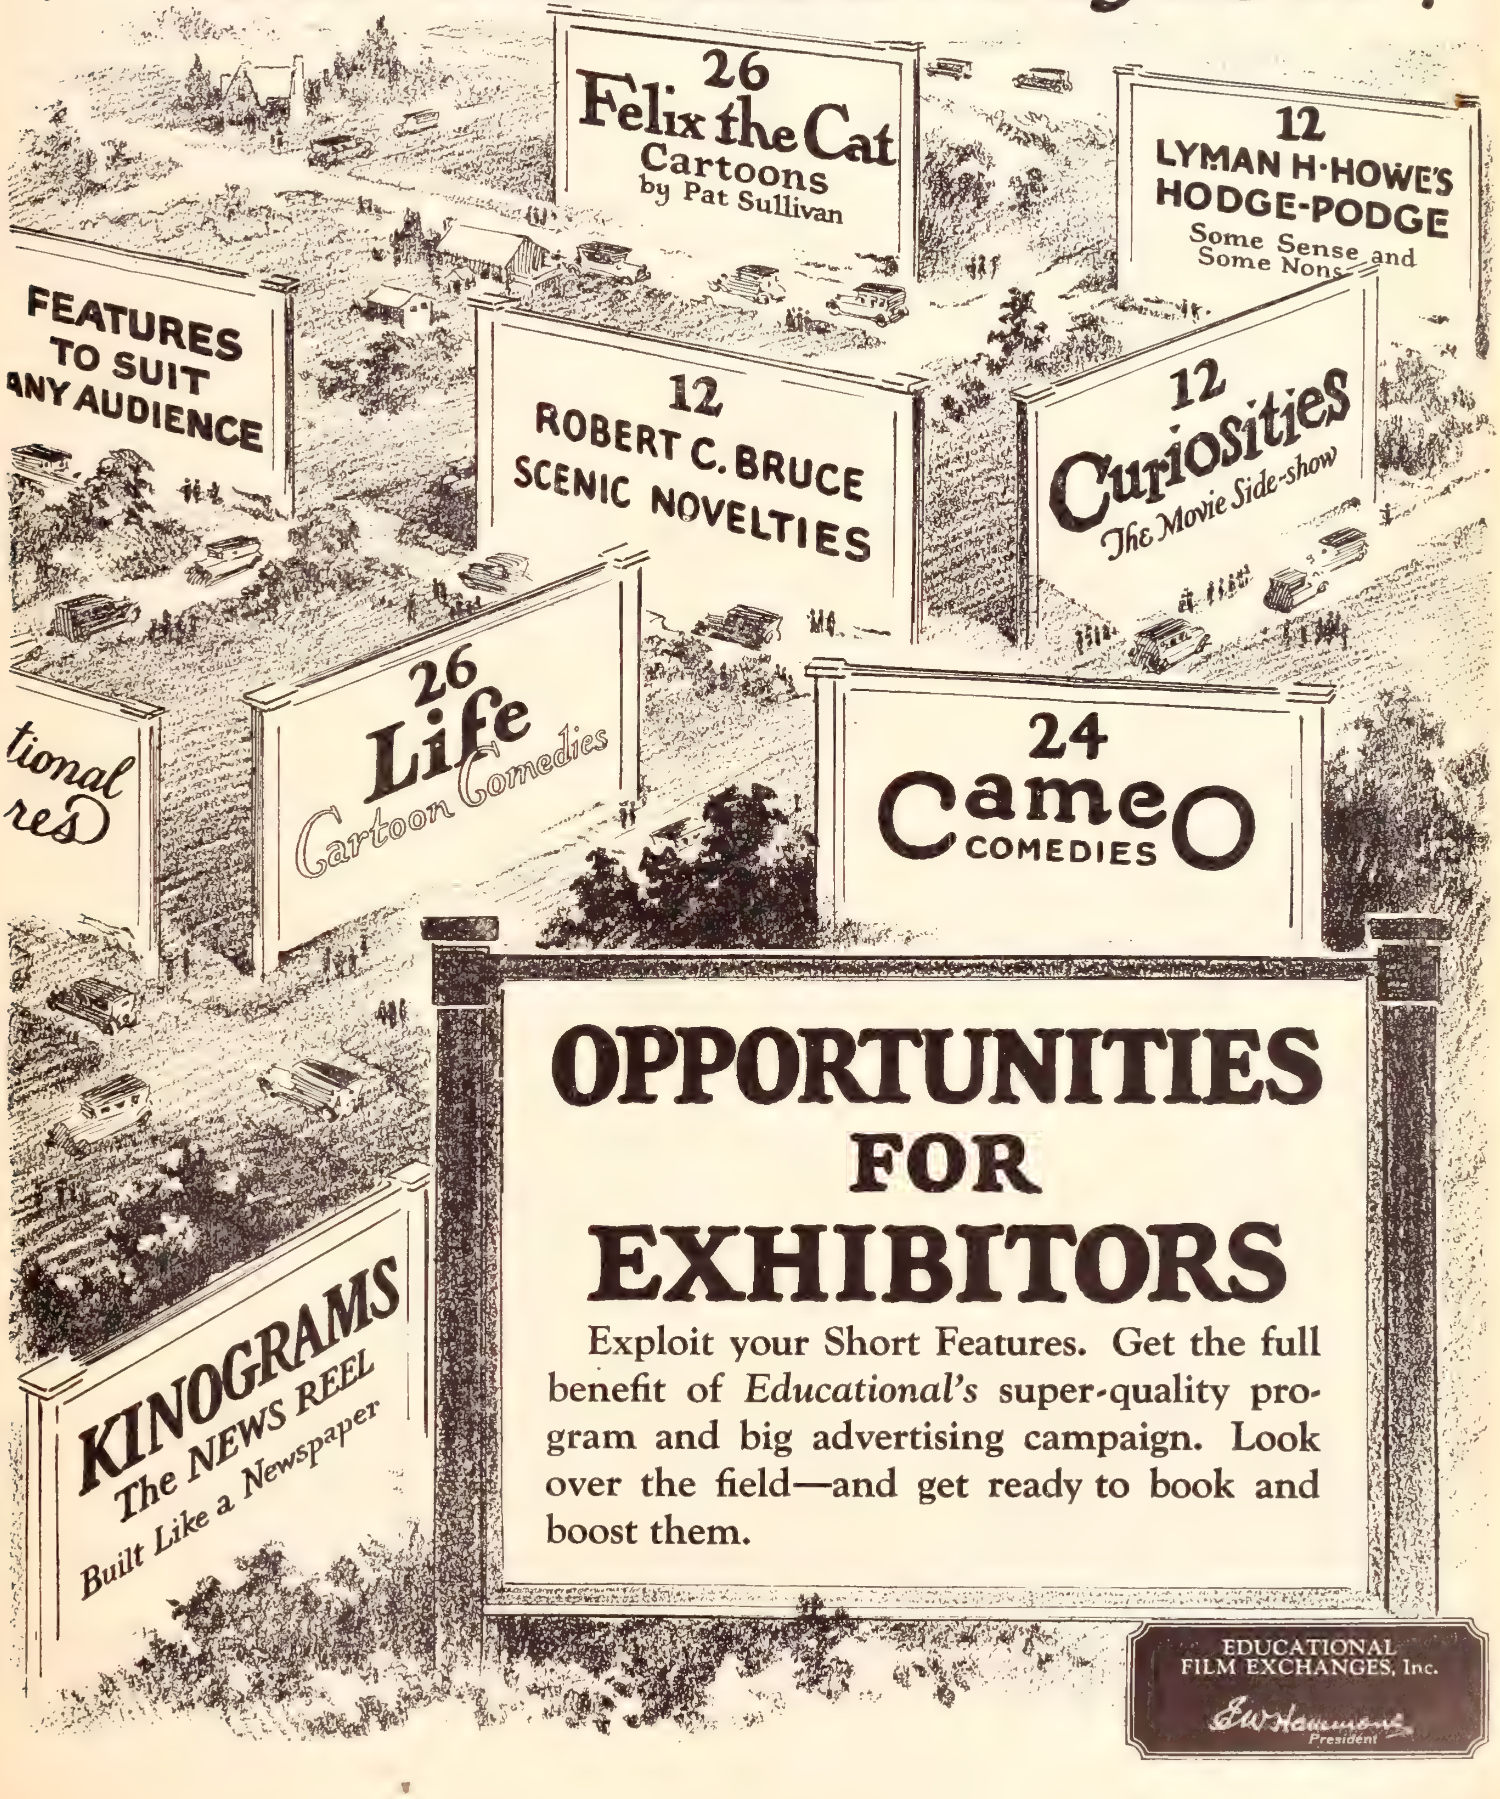
Here is a galaxy of snappy cartoons, comedies, novelties and news reels that is even greater in variety and finer in quality.

— AND ONE-REEL SUBJECTS !



OPPORTUNITIES FOR EXHIBITORS

Exploit your Short Features. Get the full benefit of Educational's super-quality program and big advertising campaign. Look over the field—and get ready to book and boost them.

EDUCATIONAL
FILM EXCHANGES, Inc.

E W Hammons
President

Universal's 2nd White Lis

Check Unplayed Films	TITLE	CAST AND DIRECTOR	TYPE OF STORY	WHAT THEY SAY
	California Straight Ahead	REGINALD DENNY A Harry Pollard Production	A trans-continental joyride made for laughter	"They eat it up. Sends them out happy. Appeal, one hundr percent here." Liberty Theatre, Saltsburg, "One of the finest comedies I ever used. More funny twists a situations than most." Rylander Theatre, Americus, "Denny pulls 'em in for me, and this one sure pleased." Blue Mouse Theatre, Davenport, Wa
	Rex Beach's The Goose Woman	JACK PICKFORD LOUISE DRESSER CONSTANCE BENNETT A Clarence Brown Production	Powerful drama	"Congratulate you upon this most excellent screen drama!" Ideal Theatre, Wisconsin Rapids, "Have never seen a more perfect picture than 'The Go Woman'." Lyric Theatre, Simcoe, Onta "Contains every element that makes good entertainment." Blake Theatre, Webb City,
	Spook Ranch	Hoot GIBSON An Edward Laemmle Production	Action and thrills	"If any exhibitor finds some one who doesn't like this pictu put them in a cage and ship them to me collect." Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Ok
	Siege	Virginia Valli Eugene O'Brien A Svend Gade Production	Stirring drama	"Splendid drama and pleased large crowd." Estee Theatre, Parker, S. "Very good picture which satisfies." Royal Theatre, Kimball, S.
	Chip of the Flying "U"	HOOT GIBSON A Lynn Reynolds Production	Wild-eyed action in Western Romance	"Opened to greatest business in history of this theatre. Turn people away, five shows straight. Finest picture Hoot has e made." Rubidoux Theatre, Riverside, Ca "Entertaining and well acted." Motion Pictures Tod "Going over exceptionally well. Many favorable comme from our patrons. Unanimous in their praise of Hoot Gibso performance." West Coast Theatres, Los Angeles,
	Lorraine of the Lions	Norman KERRY PATSY RUTH MILLER An Edward Sedgwick Production	A sensational romantic novelty	"Was well liked and it went over big." Central Theatre, Ephrata, "Oh, boy, another Babe Ruth from Universal. We cramm them in until their feet stuck out of the window." Osage Theatre, Osage, Ok
	The Teaser	Laura LaPlante PAT O'MALLEY. A William A. Seiter Production	A smart comedy	"Here is a good comedy-drama. They sure liked this one." Strand Theatre, Patonsburg, "One of the finest little light comedies you can treat y patrons to. They chased me for blocks to tell me how they joyed it." Pastime Theatre, Mason, Mi
	The Storm Breaker	House PETERS RUTH CLIFFORD An Edward Sloman Production	A rugged drama of the sea	"Should please almost any audience. House Peters is alw good. Should do well anywhere." Florence Theatre, West Coast-Langley Circuit, Pasadena, Ca "A good attraction at the box office." Moving Picture Wo
	Where Was I?	Reginald DENNY A William A. Seiter Production	Comedy drama	"If you have any mortgages you want to lift, play Denny as is one of the best drawing cards in the business." Kleeman & Fobbin, Ashton,
	The Arizona Sweepstakes	Hoot GIBSON A Clifford Smith Production	Wild and wooly action with the greatest horse race on the screen	"Ought to get the money wherever Westerns are in deman M. P. N "One of the Westerns worth seeing." Motion Pictures To "One that will satisfy newcomers as well." Exhibitors Trade Rev
	The Still Alarm	Helene Chadwick William Russell An Edward Laemmle Production	The greatest fire drama ever made	"Of all the melodramas of fires and fire-fighters 'The S Alarm' is the best." Harrison's Repo "Smashing, exciting melodrama. The most realistic fire sce ever pictured. Rare treat for lovers of melodrama." Motion Pictures To "Has box office pulling power. Will thrill and satisfy eve where." Film D
	Dorothy Canfield's The Home Maker	Alice Joyce Clive Brook A King Baggot Production	Most sensational drama of the year	"Bet your shirt on it to get over big. We did and it did." B. S. Moss' Colony Theatre, New York "Those who saw it were satisfied." Royal Theatre, Kimball, S.
	The Little Giant	Glenn Hunter A Will Nigh Production	Sparkling comedy drama	"Keep on making more 'Little Giants' and I am sure public will enjoy them." Rialto Theatre, Whitestone, N.
	The Beautiful Cheat	Laura LaPlante An Edward Sloman Production	Scintillating comedy	The famous author has written a story which was made for movies and Laura LaPlante. It's a merry, hilarious come romance of fashionable Long Island society. It is Laura LaPla at her best.
	Skinner's Dress Suit	Reginald DENNY Laura LaPlante A William Seiter Production	Delightful domestic comedy	"Undoubtedly will prove one of the most attractive comed of the season. Will make any audience scream." Florence Theatre, Pasadena, Ca "Another knockout! Another sure-fire box office hit!" Film Da "One of the year's best comedies. Should pull them in a house." Motion Picture N

Universal Miles and Guide To Greater Profit!

TITLE	CAST AND DIRECTOR	TYPE OF STORY	WHAT THEY SAY
What Happened to Jones	REGINALD DENNY A William A. Seiter Production	From great Broadway comedy stage success	"Laughed their heads off. Universal sure has the pictures." Egyptian Theatre, Ogden, Utah "This picture did the biggest gross business of any Denny picture. National Theatres of California, San Diego, Calif. "If Universal continues to make pictures like 'What Happened to Jones' their product will be at the top of the heap." Fischer Paramount Theatres, Madison, Wis.
Stella Maris	Mary PHILBIN A Charles Brabin Production	A startling drama	"Should give satisfaction at all houses large and small." M. P. News "Should prove a good attraction for the average audience." M. P. World
My Old Dutch	May McAvoy Pat O'Malley A Lawrence Trimble Production	From the famous song and stage play	"'My Old Dutch' is a dramatic gem. Unique, tense, holds audience. Masterpiece of drama." De Luxe Theatre Westcoast Langley Theatre Circuit "Fine array of good performers. Much to please many. Tells its story with original twist." Exhibitors Daily Review
The Man in the Saddle	Hoot GIBSON A Clifford Smith Production	Western adventure	Hoot Gibson at his very best—in the most thrilling comedy-cyclone of his entire career. Wait until you see him ride in this one.
The Love Thief	Norman KERRY A John McDermott Production	Adventure romance of East and West	Written especially for Kerry, this story takes full advantage of the popular screen star's appearance in "The Phantom of the Opera" and "The Merry Go Round." In "The Love Thief" we are shooting straight at the heart of feminine America.
Peacock Feathers	Jacqueline Logan Cullen Landis A Svend Gade Production	Drama from the famous novel of the same name	"Good direction and production. It is absorbing and a good production to talk about." Film Daily "Excellent direction. A story that holds the interest and furnishes pleasing entertainment for the majority." M. P. World
The Phantom Bullet	Hoot GIBSON A Clifford Smith Production	Western mystery thriller	The popular Hoot uncorks a few new ones in his latest wild-riding, hell-bent-for-leather Western. "Box-office" is written all over it.
His People	Rudolph Schildkraut George Lewis Blanche Mehaffey Virginia Brown Faire An Edward Sloman Production	Great heart-throb pictures	"Congratulations on your wonder picture! Exhibitors will be able to spread the butter a little thicker on their bread." Liberty Theatre, Plainfield, N. J. "Without question or doubt the finest feature that I have looked at this year." Jules Berinstein, William Berinstein Theatres, Elmira, N. Y. "It has been some time since we have played a picture on which we received so many favorable comments." Elite Theatre, Appleton, Wis.
Combat	House PETERS A Lynn Reynolds Production	A rugged dramatic romance	A surging melodrama of the Big Woods rising to a terrific climax in the biggest forest fire ever screened.
Watch Your Wife	Virginia Valli Pat O'Malley A Svend Gade Production	A romance for the whole world	A smart comedy-drama of a loving pair who had to divorce each other and promptly fell in love again. "Bully comedy-drama. High speed from the beginning. Humorous batteries score without miss." Motion Picture News.
Rolling Home	Reginald DENNY A William A. Seiter Production	Rollicking comedy	A rousingly hilarious story — the infectious humor of Denny — the charm of Marian Nixon — the expert direction of William A. Seiter.
Under Western Skies	Norman KERRY An Edward Sedgwick Production	Society western with scenes from Pendleton Roundup	"All round good picture. Fine race. Splendid cast. Enjoyed it myself, so did everyone else." Palace Theatre, Rockmart, Ga. "Something unusual in Western pictures. Provides excellent entertainment." Morning Telegraph, N. Y.
Sporting Life	Bert Lytell Marian Nixon A Maurice Tourneur Production	Drury Lane melodrama	"An extra good picture and pleased 100%." Reliance Theatre, Clermond, Fla. "This picture went over with a 'bang' at the Florence," Tom F. McDonald, Florence Theatre, Pasadena, Calif.
The Calgary Stampede	Hoot GIBSON A Herbert Blache Production	Gorgeous western with thrills and stunts of Calgary Rodeo	"Mr. Exhibitor can't go wrong on dating this picture." Capitol Theatre, Glen Rose, Texas. "Broke all house records against a new show with free admissions." Princess Theatre, Olney, Texas. "Here's a real box office attraction. It's a sure fire business getter and will please." Star Theatre, Erskine, Minn.
The Cohens and Kellys	George Sidney Charles Murray Vera Gordon A Harry Pollard Production	The greatest comedy of the age	No picture in fifteen years created so much favorable comment. Every patron was delighted. Capacity and turn-away business. House was chock full. Long line extending clear to next block waited in rain to get in, Hippodrome Theatre, Williamsport, Pa. "There isn't a box-office that won't rock with laughter and profits when they play this one." Rialto Theatre, Whitestone, L.I. "The Cohens and Kellys is the only natural box office attraction. In a class by itself as a money maker." Capito and Empire Theatres, Pekin, Ill.

Miles Ahead of All

Twenty Tiffany Gems

1926–1927

TIFFANY" IN MOTION PICTURES REPRESENTS
VHAT "TIFFANY" STANDS FOR IN PRECIOUS JEWELS.

Famous Authors, Playwrights, Directors and Players --- All Tiffany Quality.

20 20

Announcing the Twenty Tiffany Gems

- That Model From Paris
- Flaming Timber
- Fools of Fashion
- The Tempest
- One Hour of Love
- Wives
- Sin Cargo
- Squads Right
- The Steeplechase
- The Tiger
- Lightning
- The Song of Steel
- The Enchanted Island
- Husband Hunters
- Snowbound
- The Life of a Woman
- Raging Seas
- Top of the World
- The Squared Ring
- Tale of a Vanishing People

Franchised and Distributed Nationally
Through Tiffany Exchanges Everywhere

TIFFANY PRODUCTIONS, INC.
IT'S A GEM

20 20

Tiffany Productions, Inc.

M. H. HOFFMAN, Vice President

1540 BROADWAY NEW YORK, N.Y.

Soon everybody will be saying:

"HE'S A NUT!"

Samuel S. Hutchinson
presents

EDWARD EVERETT HORTON

in

"The NUT-CRACKER"

with

MAE BUSCH

IT'S A HUTCHINSON COMEDY!

From the Popular Novel
by FREDERICK S. ISHAM
Directed by
LLOYD INGRAHAM

You Can Get 54 Good Pictures From Associated NOW

The Triumphant

30

"KEEP SMILING"	— Monty Banks
"HEADLINES"	— Alice Joyce
"UNDER THE ROUGE"	—Tom Moore Eileen Percy
"FIFTY-FIFTY"	— Lionel Barrymore Hope Hampton
"CAMILLE OF THE BARBARY COAST	— Mae Busch Owen Moore
"HIS BUDDY'S WIFE"	— Glenn Hunter Edna Murphy
"NEVER WEAKEN"	— Harold Lloyd
"MANHATTAN MADNESS"	— Jack Dempsey Estelle Taylor
"COUNSEL FOR THE DEFENSE"	— Betty Compson House Peters Jay Hunt
"THE PINCH HITTER"	— Glenn Hunter Constance Bennett
"NORTH STAR"	— Strongheart
"LOVERS' ISLAND"	— Hope Hampton James Kirkwood
"HEARTS AND FISTS"	— Marguerite De La Motte John Bowers
"I DO"	— Harold Lloyd
"LADY FROM HELL"	— Blanche Sweet
"SHADOW OF THE LAW"	— Clara Bow
"WHITE MICE"	— Jacqueline Logan
"SHIP OF SOULS"	— Lillian Rich Bert Lytell
"BROADWAY BOOB"	— Glenn Hunter Mildred Ryan
"TWO CAN PLAY"	— Clara Bow
"MIRACLE OF LIFE"	— Mae Busch Percy Marmont Nita Naldi
"THE HIGHBINDERS"	— Marjorie Daw Wm. T. Tilden
"THE NUT-CRACKER"	— Edward Everett Horton Mae Busch
"THE EARTH WOMAN"	— Mary Alden Priscilla Bonner
"THE BIG SHOW"	— John Lowell Evangeline Russell
"AMONG THOSE PRESENT"	— Harold Lloyd
"THE HIDDEN WAY"	— Mary Carr
"FLAMES"	— Virginia Valli
"THE WHIP SAW"	(Tentative title)

and

24 Westerns

6 Starring BILL CODY~ 6 Starring BUFFALO BILL, Jr.
6 Starring BUDDY ROOSEVELT~ 6 Starring WALLY WALES

Associated Exhibitors Inc.

WILLIAM FOX
$3,000,000
SHORT SUBJECT PROGRAM
FOR SEASON 1926-1927

ONE A WEEK!
52 A YEAR!

Supervised by
GEORGE E. MARSHALL

EARLE FOXE

in a new series of 8 hilarious two-reel comedies

Adventures of VAN BIBBER in Society

From Stories by RICHARD HARDING DAVIS

A new series of 8 sparkling two-reel comedies based on gems of fiction by

O. HENRY

America's greatest short story writer

A new series of 8 two-reel comedies based on

The MARRIED LIFE of HELEN and WARREN

By Mabel Herbert Urner
with KATHERINE PERRY and HALLAM COOLEY

New Joy for the Box-Office!

FOX ANIMAL COMEDIES

8 for the Season!

A New Series of 20 Rollicking

Imperial Comedies

Funnier than ever!

FOX VARIETIES

26 One-Reel Novelties

FOX NEWS

Mightiest of All—104 Issues Annually

Fox Film Corporation.

UNITED ARTISTS CORPORATION

Exchanges

Atlanta, Ga.	T. E. Dillard, 106 Walton Street
Boston, Mass.	H. T. Scully, 69 Church Street
Buffalo, N. Y.	Wm. Sherry, 265 Franklin Street
Charlotte, N. C.	C. E. Peppiat, 505 W. Fourth Street
Chicago, Ill.	C. C. Wallace, 804 Wabash Avenue, South
Cincinnati, Ohio	Harry Gold, 503 Broadway Film Building
Cleveland, Ohio	W. A. Shalit, 2143 Prospect Avenue
Dallas, Texas	J. E. Luckett, 308 So. Harwood Street
Denver, Colo.	J. A. Krum, 2044 Broadway
Detroit, Mich.	H. W. Traver, 344 Insurance Exchange Building
Indianapolis, Ind.	E. W. MacLean, 408 N. Illinois Street
Kansas City, Mo.	Guy. F. Navarre, 1706 Baltimore Avenue
Los Angeles, Calif.	F. E. Benson, 922 So. Olive Street
Minneapolis, Minn.	T. J. MacEvoy, 503 Loeb Arcade Building
New Haven, Conn.	H. M. Masters, 134 Meadow Street
New York, N. Y.	M. Streimer, 729 Seventh Avenue
Omaha, Neb.	T. Y. Henry, 1508 Davenport Street
Philadelphia, Pa.	Jno. Hennessy, 1323 Vine Street
Pittsburgh, Pa.	C. E. Moore, 1014-1016 Forbes St.—Uptown P. O.
Portland, Maine	M. G. Garrity, 614 Fidelity Building
St. Louis, Mo.	Wm. A. Barron, 3328 Olive Street
Salt Lake City, Utah	Wm. S. Rand, 58 East 4th South Street
San Francisco, Calif.	M. C. Coyne, 229 Golden Gate Avenue
Seattle, Wash.	C. W. Harden, 1913 Third Avenue
Washington, D. C.	J. T. Cunningham, 801 Mather Building
Calgary, Alta.	L. C. Smart, Traders' Building
Montreal, Canada	C. M. Weiner, 12 Mayor Street
St. John, N. B.	W. H. Golding, 162 Union Street
Toronto, Canada	J. Berman, Hermant Bldg., 21 Wilton Square
Winnipeg, Canada	L. C. Smart, 403 Film Exchange Building
Havana, Cuba	Enrique Baez, R. M. De Labra 39 & 41
Mexico, D. F.	Harvey Sheahan, Desp. 110-115, Calle de San Juan de Letran No. 6

HOME OFFICE: 729 Seventh Avenue, New York City

MARY PICKFORD CHARLIE CHAPLIN
DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS D. W. GRIFFITH

Joseph M. Schenck, Chairman Board of Directors Hiram Abrams, President

GENERAL INDEX TO COMPANIES AND DEPARTMENTS

Company ... Pictures Listed Page

Arrow Film Corporation ... 58
Associated Exhibitors, Inc. ... 58
Bischoff, Inc. ... 58
Bud Barsky Corporation ... 58
Chadwick Pictures Corporation ... 58
Chesterfield Motion Picture Corporation ... 58
Clarion Photoplays, Inc. ... 58
Colunbia Pictures Corporation ... 58
Educational Film Exchanges, Inc. ... 58
Film Booking Offices of America ... 58
First National Pictures, Inc. ... 58
Fox Film Corporation ... 59
Ginsberg, Henry, Distributing Corporation ... 59
Hercules Film Productions, Inc. ... 59
Jans Productions, Inc. ... 59
Lee-Bradford Corporation ... 59
Lumas Film Corporation ... 59
Madoc Sales Company ... 59
Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing Corporation ... 59
Paramount (Famous Players-Lasky Corporation) ... 59
Pathe Exchanges, Inc. ... 59
Producers Distributing Corporation ... 59
Rayart Pictures Corporation ... 60
Red Seal Pictures Corporation ... 60
Service Film Corporation ... 60
Short Film Syndicate ... 60
Steen, A. G., Inc. ... 60
Tennek Filn Corporation ... 60
Tiffany Productions ... 60
Truart Film Corporation ... 60
United Artists Corporation ... 60
Universal Pictures Corporation ... 60
Warner Brothers ... 60
Weiss Bros. Artclass Pictures Corporation ... 60
Winkler, M. J. ... 60

News Reels ... Page 54
Serials ... Page 53
Short Length Subjects—Comedies ... Page 51
Short Length Subjects—Dramas ... Page 54
Short Length Subjects—Miscellaneous ... Page 54
The Check-Up ... Page 55

MOTION PICTURE NEWS BOOKING GUIDE SECTION

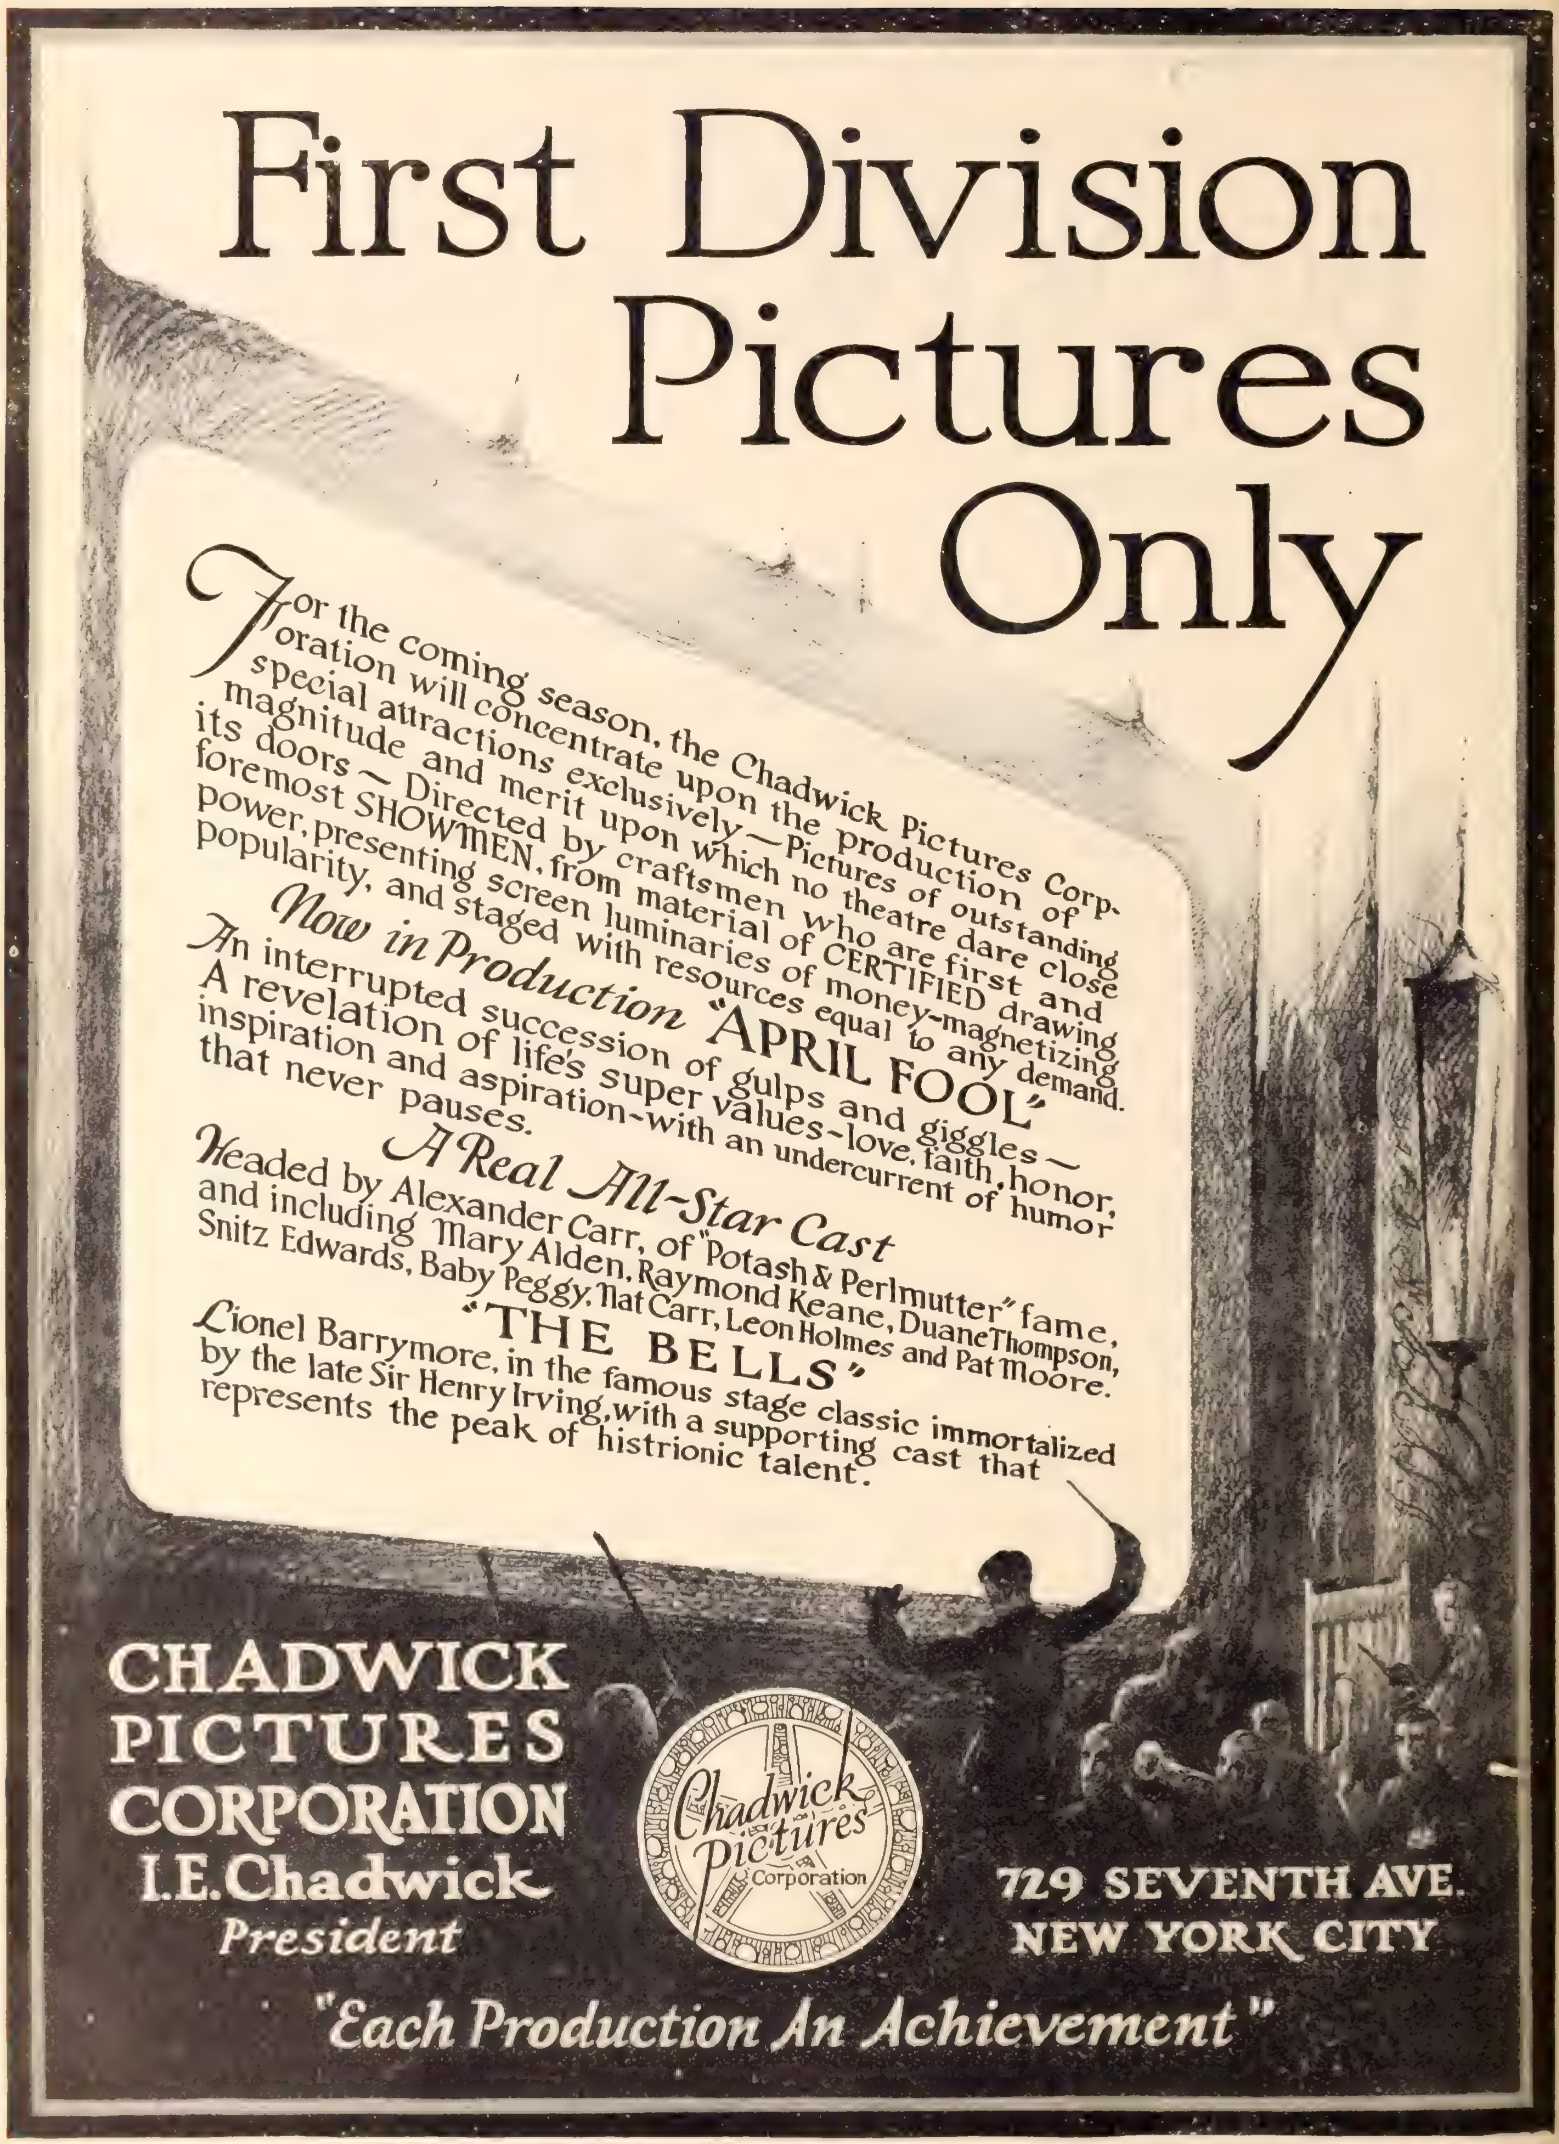
Listing Pictures Released between September 1, 1925 -- March 1, 1926

BOOKING GUIDE

Contains—

List of features, comedies and short subjects released between September 1st, 1925, and March 1st, 1926, with an index to previous editions of Motion Picture News stating where the review, record of First Run Showings and such exploitation as the production may have had since its release date may be found, together with the advertising which the producer has purchased from time to time.

A special compilation of "The Check-up" the News' feature method of recording exhibitors box office reports, listing new pictures as well as those previously released, is contained herein.



First Division Pictures Only

For the coming season, the Chadwick Pictures Corporation will concentrate upon the production of special attractions exclusively—Pictures of outstanding magnitude and merit upon which no theatre dare close its doors ~ Directed by craftsmen who are first and foremost SHOWMEN, from material of CERTIFIED drawing power, presenting screen luminaries of money-magnetizing popularity, and staged with resources equal to any demand.

Now in Production "APRIL FOOL"

An interrupted succession of gulps and giggles— A revelation of life's super values-love, faith, honor, inspiration and aspiration-with an undercurrent of humor that never pauses.

A Real All-Star Cast

Headed by Alexander Carr, of "Potash & Perlmutter" fame, and including Mary Alden, Raymond Keane, Duane Thompson, Snitz Edwards, Baby Peggy, Nat Carr, Leon Holmes and Pat Moore.

"THE BELLS"

Lionel Barrymore, in the famous stage classic immortalized by the late Sir Henry Irving, with a supporting cast that represents the peak of histrionic talent.

CHADWICK PICTURES CORPORATION
I. E. Chadwick
President

729 SEVENTH AVE.
NEW YORK CITY

"Each Production An Achievement"

MOTION PICTURE NEWS BOOKING GUIDE

A

ACTION GALORE. Produced by Action Pictures, Inc. Distributed by Weiss Bros. Artclass Pictures Corp. Released Nov. 3, 1925. Star, Buddy Roosevelt. Director, Robert Eddy. Length, 5,000 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama in which hero, a ranger, sets out to capture notorious criminal, is shot at by girl who mistakes him for claim jumper, is left in burning cabin with girl by villain, escapes and captures villain after fight in deserted mine shaft.

AFTER MARRIAGE. Produced by Sun Motion Pictures. Distributed by Madoc Sales Co. Released Sept., 1925. Star, Margaret Livingston. Director, Norman Dawn. Length, 5,200 feet.

Theme: Domestic drama. Hero young married man who yields to seductions of vamp, who is also entangled with his father, but finally becomes reconciled to wife.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 14, 1925, page 2360.

AHEAD OF THE LAW. Produced by B. A. Goodman Prod. Distributed by A. G. Steen. Released Jan., 1926. Star, Bruce Gordon. Director, Forrest Sheldon. Length, 5 reels.

Theme: Melodrama of Texas Ranger assigned to clean up town, who uncovers intrigues of rustler posing as business man, and saves girl's ranch coveted by rustlers. His heroism and valor in behalf of girl wins her love.

ALL AROUND FRYING PAN. Produced and Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Nov. 8, 1925. Star, Fred Thomson. Director, David Kirkland. Length, 5,519 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama. Young ranch-owner, disguised as vagrant cowboy, wins rodeo honors, outwits cattle-rustlers and gains affections of pretty girl.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 28, 1925, page 2567.

First run showings: Pages 475, Jan. 23; 696, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2216-7, Nov. 14, 1925.

AMERICAN PLUCK. Produced and distributed by Chadwick Pictures Corp. Released Oct. 15, 1925. Star, George Walsh. Director, Richard Stanton. Length, 6,000 feet.

Theme: Romantic melodrama of youth who must earn stipulated sum of money in a year in order to be reconciled to his father. Makes good, wins a princess for a wife—and adds to his bank account.

References: Reviewed issue July 11, 1925, page 216.

First run showings: Pages 1494, Sept. 26; 1935, Oct. 24; 2048, Oct. 31, 1925.

Advertising: Pages 1562, April 11; 1364, Sept. 19, 1925; 862, Feb. 20, 1926.

AMERICAN VENUS, THE. Produced by Famous Players. Distributed by Paramount. Released Jan., 1926. With Esther Ralston, Ford Sterling and Fay Lanphier. Director, Frank Tuttle. Length, 7,931 feet.

Theme: Comedy melodrama. Shows efforts of small town publicity man to boost sweetheart as American Venus.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 16, 1926, page 303.

First run showings: Pages 475-6, Jan. 23; 585-6, Jan. 30; 695, Feb. 6; 804-5, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Two-page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 2589, May 30; 2871, June 13; 360, 362, July 25; 496, Aug. 1; 1405, Sept. 26; 1542-3, Oct. 3; 2489, Nov. 28; 2599, Dec. 5; insert, Dec. 19; 3073, Dec. 26, 1925; 116, Jan. 9; 230-31, Jan. 16; 643, Feb. 6, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 1098, Mar. 6, 1926.

ANCIENT HIGHWAY, THE. Produced by Famous Players-Lasky. Distributed by Paramount. Released Nov. 16, 1925. With Jack Holt, Billie Dove and Montagu Love. Director, Irvin Willat. Length, 6,034 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama, logging camp locale, hero defeating plans of villain to ruin financially girl who owns lumber land tract.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 21, 1925, page 2459.

First run showings: Pages 2268, Nov. 14; 2452, Nov. 21; 2664, Dec. 5; 2823-4, Dec. 12; 3027-9, Dec. 19; 3161, Dec. 26, 1925; 48, Jan. 2; 295, Jan. 16, 1926.

Advertising: Two-page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 2589, May 30; 2870, June 13; 361, July 25; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 3160-1, Dec. 26, 1925.

ANCIENT MARINER, THE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Dec. 20, 1925. With Leslie Fenton, Clara Bow, Earle Williams. Directors, Henry Otto and Chester Bennett. Length, 5,548 feet.

Theme: Poem-Fantasy and Modern Story. Visualization of Ancient Mariner's adventures induces wealthy roue to abandon designs on innocent girl, who returns to man who really loves her.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 30, 1926, page 596.

First run showings: Pages 48-9, Jan. 2; 182-4, Jan. 9; 294-5, Jan. 16; 474, Jan. 23, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 3001, June 20;.3114, 3117, June 27; 1546-7, Oct. 3; 2101, Nov. 7; 2213, Nov. 14; 2402-4, Nov. 21; 2518, Nov. 28; 2618, 2620-1, Dec. 5; 2744-5, Dec. 12, 1925.

Exploitation: Pages 288, Jan. 16; 580g, 582, Jan. 30, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Page 694, Feb. 6, 1926.

ARIZONA SWEEPSTAKES, THE. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Jan. 10, 1926. Star, Hoot Gibson. Director, Clifford Smith. Length, 5,418 feet.

Theme: Western comedy-drama. Hoot Gibson as cowboy who visits East, gets into amusing scrapes, returns West, wins Arizona Sweepstakes race and girl.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 21, 1925, page 2463.

First run showings: Page 475, Jan. 23, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1904, May 2; 2596, May 30; 2774, 2777, June 6, 1925; 123, Jan. 9; 639, Feb. 6, 1926.

AS NO MAN HAS LOVED. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Sept. 13, 1925. With Edward Hearn and Pauline Starke. Director, Rowland V. Lee. Length, 7,929 feet.

Theme: Historical drama adapted from famous classic showing the plight of an American officer who, in condemning his country, is made an exile.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 28, 1925, page 926.

First run showings: Pages 903, Feb. 28; 1240, Mar. 21; 611, Aug. 1; 1389, Sept. 19; 1494-5, Sept. 26; 1601-2, Oct. 3; 1709, Oct. 10; 2453, Nov. 21; 2666, Dec. 5, 1925; 183, Jan. 9; 474, Jan. 23; 697, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 966, Mar. 7; 1202-3, Mar. 21; 1570-1, April 11; 4-page insert, May 9; 2493, May 23; 2727, June 6; 2875, June 13; 3001, June 20; 3114-6, June 27; 251, July 18; 386, July 25; 658-9, Aug. 8; 1000, Aug. 29; 1546-7, Oct. 3, 1925.

Exploitation: Pages 1359, Sept. 19; 1926, 1929, Oct. 24; 2042, Oct. 31, 1925; 687, Feb. 6, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 2383, Nov. 8, 1924; 1816-7, Oct. 17; 2160, Nov. 7, 1925.

AUCTION BLOCK, THE. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Feb. 1, 1926. With Charles Ray and Eleanor Boardman. Director, Hobart Henley. Length, 6,239 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama. Millionaire's son weds beauty contest winner who leaves him at once, and doesn't return until he makes good in business.
References: Reviewed issue Feb. 27, 1926, page 1016.
First run showings: Page 806, Feb. 13, 1926.
Advertising: Insert, June 6; insert, June 13; insert, June 20; insert, June 27; insert, July 4; insert, July 18; insert, July 25; insert, Aug. 1, 1925; insert, Jan. 16; front cover, Mar. 20, 1926.

B

BASHFUL BUCCANEER, THE. Produced by Harry J. Brown. Distributed by Rayart Pictures. Released Jan., 1926. Star, Reed Howes. Director, Harry J. Brown. Length, 5,000 feet.

Theme: Comedy melodrama, a search for pirate treasure which doesn't exist, an author hero, who turns adventurer.
References: Reviewed issue Nov, 14, 1925, page 2361.

BATTLER, THE. Produced and distributed by Bud Barsky Corp. Released Oct., 1925. Star, Kenneth McDonald. Director, Robert N. Bradbury. Length, 5,000 feet.

BEAUTIFUL CHEAT, THE. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Feb. 21, 1926. Star, Laura LaPlante. Director, Edward Sloman. Length, 6,583 feet.

Theme: Producer and press agent combine to make movie star out of Mary Callahan. Her debut as Russian actress is put over successfully. She weds publicity man.
References: Reviewed issue Feb. 16, 1926, page 809.
Advertising: Pages 1904, May 2; 2596-7, May 30; 2774, 2777, June 6, 1925.

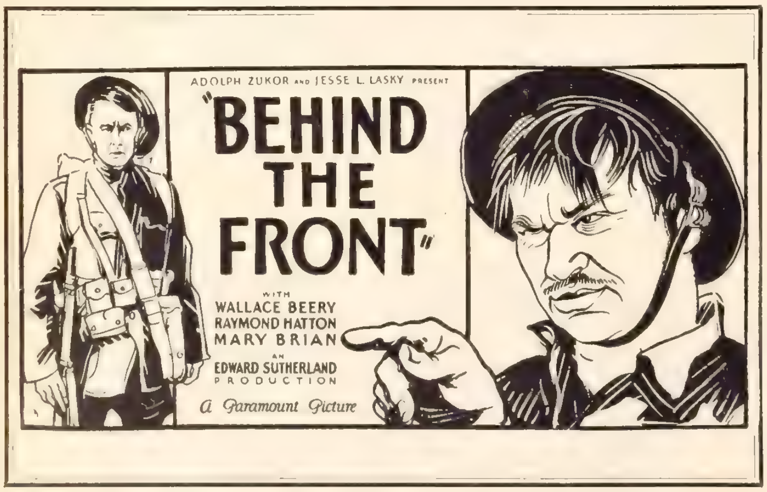
BEAUTIFUL CITY, THE. Produced by Inspiration Pictures, Inc. Distributed by First National. Released Oct. 25, 1925. With Richard Barthelmess and Dorothy Gish. Director, Kenneth Webb. Length, 6,466 feet.

Theme: Romantic melodrama of an Italian flower vendor who fights his weak brother's battle against a gangster, with love spurring him on.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 14, 1925, page 2361.

First run showings: Pages 2269-70, Nov. 14; 2452-3, Nov. 21; 2663, Dec. 5; 2823, 2826, Dec. 12; 3161-2, Dec. 26, 1925; 47, Jan. 2; 182, Jan. 9; 294, Jan. 16; 475-6, Jan. 23; 696, Feb. 6; 804-6, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1780, Oct. 17; 2227, 2229, Nov. 14; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.
Prologues: Page 288, Jan. 16, 1926.
Newspaper Displays: Page 3162, Dec. 26, 1925.
Exploitation: Page 1203, Mar. 13, 1926.



BEHIND THE FRONT. Produced by Famous Players. Distributed by Paramount. Released Feb. 22, 1926. With Wallace Beery, Raymond Hatton and Mary Brian. Director, Edward Sutherland. Length, 5,555 feet.

Theme: Comedy dealing with adventures in France of a thick-witted cop and a pickpocket, vamped into the army by a girl.
References: Reviewed issue Feb. 20, 1926, page 910.
Advertising: Two-page insert, Dec. 19, 1925; 117, Jan. 9; 337, 339, Jan. 23; 515-6, Jan. 30; 645, Feb. 6; 738, Feb. 13; 845, 847, Feb. 20; 945, Feb. 27; 1043, Mar. 6; 1140, Mar. 13; 1335-7, Mar. 27, 1926.
Exploitation: Page 1413, Mar. 27, 1926.

BELOW THE LINE. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Sept. 26, 1925. Star, Rin-Tin-Tin with John Harron and June Marlowe. Director, Herman Raymaker. Length, 5,951 feet.

Theme: Melodrama, with the dog, Rin-Tin-Tin, as hero, saving his young master and girl from bloodhounds, tracking and killing villain and generally distinguishing himself.
References: Revewed issue Oct. 31, 1925, page 2056.
First run showings: Pages 1599, Oct. 3; 1708, Oct. 10; 1816, Oct. 17; 2160, Nov. 7; 2452, Nov. 21; 2663, Dec. 5; 3027, Dec. 19, 1925; 183, Jan. 9; 585, Jan. 30, 1926.
Advertising: Insert, Aug. 1; 1565, Oct. 3, 1925.
Newspaper Displays: Pages 2047, Oct. 31; 2826, Dec. 12, 1925.
Exploitation: Pages 580g, Jan. 30; 687, Feb. 6, 1926.

BEST BAD MAN, THE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Nov. 29, 1925. Star, Tom Mix with Clara Bow. Director, J. G. Blystone. Length, 4,983 feet.

Theme: Western comedy-melodrama. Rich land-owner visits property in disguise, finds agent is cheating homesteaders and old man, whose daughter he covets. Hero exposes villain and wins girl for himself.
References: Reviewed issue Dec. 12, 1925, page 2842.
First run showings: Pages 2823-5, Dec. 12; 3027, Dec. 19; 3159, Dec. 26, 1925; 49, Jan. 2; 183, Jan. 9; 293-4, Jan. 16; 476, Jan. 23; 585-7, Jan. 30; 696-7, Feb. 6, 1926.
Advertising: Two page insert, May 9; 1546-7, Oct. 3; 2103, Nov. 7, 1925.
Exploitation: Page 687, Feb. 6, 1926.
Newspaper Displays: Pages 470, Jan. 23; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.

BEST PEOPLE, THE. Produced by Famous Players. Distributed by Paramount. Released Nov. 9, 1925. With Warner Baxter, Esther Ralston and Kathlyn Williams. Director, Sidney Olcott. Length, 5,700 feet.

Theme: Adventures in love-making of daughter and son of newly-rich family, one of whom insists on wedding their chauffeur, the other—a chorus girl.
References: Reviewed issue Nov. 7, 1925, page 2172.
First run showings: Pages 2045, 2047, Oct. 31; 2160, Nov. 7; 2452, Nov. 21; 2561, Nov. 28; 2665, Dec. 5; 2824-6, Dec. 12, 1925; 48, Jan. 2; 183, Jan. 9, 1926.
Advertising: Two-page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 2589, May 30; 2871, June 13; 360, July 25; 496, Aug. 1; 1-page insert, Nov. 7; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.

BEYOND THE ROCKIES. Produced by Independent Pictures. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Feb. 21, 1926. Star, Bob Custer. Director, Jack Nelson. Length, 4,851 feet.

Theme: Con Benteen, detective for Stockman's Association, goes to border town, runs down outlaw gang, falls in love with and wins dance-hall girl.
References: Reviewed issue Feb. 20, 1926, page 911.
Advertising: Pages 2939, June 13, 1925; 537, Jan. 30; 1159, Mar. 13, 1926.

BIG PAL. Produced by Royal Pictures. Distributed by Ginsberg Dist. Corp. Released Sept., 1925. Star, William Russell. Director, John G. Adolfi. Length, 4,543 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. To force champion pugilist to "throw" a fight, crooks kidnap his little nephew. Boxer's sweetheart and child appear in time to save him.
References: Reviewed issue Feb. 20, 1926, page 913.
First run showings: Page 475, Jan. 23, 1926.
Advertising: Page 756, Aug. 15, 1925.

BLACK BIRD, THE. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Jan. 18, 1926. Star, Lon Chaney. Director, Tod Browning. Length, 6,688 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Deals with London crook who dodges police by posing as cripple, and loves music hall girl. He dies suddenly, girl weds another suitor.
References: Reviewed issue Feb. 13, 1926, page 809.
First run showings: Pages 474, Jan. 23; 804-6, Feb. 13, 1926.
Advertising: Pages 18-19, Jan. 2; front cover, Feb. 20; front cover, Mar. 20, 1926.
Lobby Displays: Page 1296, Mar. 20, 1926.

BLACK CYCLONE. Produced by Hal Roach. Distributed by Pathe. Released Sept. 27, 1925. Star, Rex (horse). Director, Fred Jackman. Length, 5,058 feet.

Theme: Animal picture in which Rex, the horse, being saved by a man, aids the latter in saving his sweetheart. He triumphs over The Killer, villain of the horse world, and rescues Lady, his mate.
References: Reviewed issue May 30, 1925, page 2687.
First run showings: Pages 2648, May 30; 3064, June 20; 3171, June 27; 93, July 4; 209, July 11; 314, July 18; 709, Aug. 8; 828-9, Aug. 15; 946, Aug. 22; 1038f-g, Aug. 29; 1602, Oct. 3; 1816, Oct. 17; 2269, Nov. 14; 2666, Dec. 5, 1925; 183, Jan. 9, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2820-1, May 30; 3166-7, June 27; 316-7, July 18; 1040-1, Aug. 29; 1485, Sept. 26, 1925.
Exploitation: Pages 1148, Sept. 5; 1250g, Sept. 12; 2158, Nov. 7; 2829, Dec. 12, 1925; 176, Jan. 9; 1298, Mar. 20, 1926.
Newspaper Displays: Pages 943, Aug. 22; 1601, Oct. 3; 1934, Oct. 24, 1925.

BLACKGUARD, THE. Produced by Michael Balcon. Distributed by Lee-Bradford Corp. Released Oct., 1925. Star, Jane Novak. Director, Graham Cutts. Length, 6,200 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Young violinist saves woman he loves in Russian revolution. Badly injured, he sacrifices his art but finds his reward in her affection.
References: Reviewed issue April 3, 1926, page 1525.
Advertising: Pages 1371, Sept. 16; inside front cover, Oct. 24, 1925.

BLIND TRAIL, THE. Produced by Maloford Prod. Distributed by Clarion Photoplays. Released Jan. 15, 1926. Star and director, Leo Maloney. Length, 5,000 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama. The easy-going and adventurous hero and his partner enter strange town and become involved in scheme of villainous money lender and henchmen to defraud young girl of property. After being suspected of robbery and murder, hero, aided by dog, defeats plot and wins girl.

BLUEBEARD'S SEVEN WIVES. Produced by Robert T. Kane. Distributed by First National. Released Dec. 20, 1925. With Blanche Sweet, Lois Wilson and Ben Lyon. Director, Alfred A. Santell. Length, 7,774 feet.

Theme: A comedy dealing with the efforts of a film producer to make a bank clerk into a great screen lover.
References: Reviewed issue Jan. 9, 1926, page 194.
First run showings: Pages 182, Jan. 9; 293-4, Jan. 16; 585-7, Jan. 30; 696, Feb. 6, 1926.
Advertising: Insert, Dec. 19; 2123, Dec. 26, 1925; 21, Jan. 2; 258, Jan. 16; 1 pg. insert, Jan. 23, 1926.

BLUE BLOOD. Produced and distributed by Chadwick Pictures Corp. Released Dec. 1, 1925. Star, George Walsh. Director, Scott Dunlap. Length, 5,600 feet.

Theme: Girl's father tries to marry her to supposed business man, who turns out to be rum-runner. She is won by young American who exposes bootlegger.
References: Reviewed issue Feb. 16, 1926, page 810.
Advertising: Pages 1364, Sept. 19; 3190, Dec. 26, 1925; 862, Feb. 20, 1926.

BLUE STREAK, THE. Produced by Carlos Prod. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Jan. 31, 1926. Star, Richard Talmadge. Director, Noel Smith. Length, 4,954 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Dick Manley visits Mexican mine in father's interests, checks operations of crooked superintendent, is kidnapped, escapes, foils foes, wins Spanish girl.
References: Reviewed issue Feb. 20, 1926, page 915.
Advertising: Pages 956-7, Feb. 27; 1159, Mar. 13; 1246, Mar. 20, 1926.

BOBBED HAIR. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Oct. 10, 1925. With Marie Prevost and Kenneth Harlan. Director, Alan Crosland. Length, 7,543 feet.

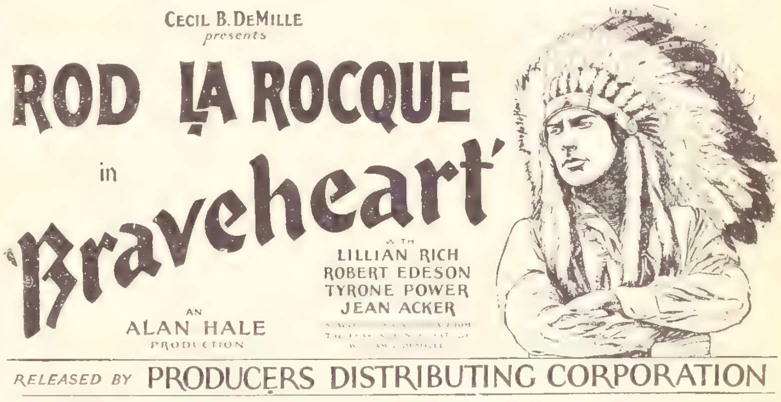
Theme: Crook mystery drama in which a society girl finds real love and much thrilling adventure in a chase for stolen booty.
References: Reviewed issue Oct. 31, 1925, page 2057.
First run showings: Pages 2047, Oct. 31; 2267, Nov. 14; 2560, Nov. 28; 2823, Dec. 12; 3161, Dec. 26, 1925; 184, Jan. 9; 294, Jan. 16; 805, Feb. 13, 1926.
Advertising: Insert, Aug. 1; 2 pg. insert, Nov. 21, 1925.
Exploitation: Pages 2829, Dec. 12, 1925; 84, Jan. 2; 796, Feb. 13, 1926.

BORROWED FINERY. Produced and distributed by Tiffany Prod. Released Nov., 1925. With Louise Lorraine, Ward Crane and Lou Tellegen. Director, Oscar Apfel. Length, 7,034 feet.

Theme: Melodrama, with innocent heroine fond of fine clothes, who becomes dupe of society crook, but is rescued by honest suitor.
References: Reviewed issue Dec. 5, 1925, page 2686.
First run showings: Page 2270, Nov. 14, 1925.

BRAVEHEART. Produced by Cecil B. DeMille. Distributed by Producers Dist. Corp. Released Jan. 17, 1926. Star, Rod La Rocque. Director, Alan Hale. Length, 7,225 feet.

Theme: Melodrama dealing with love affair between white girl and college-bred Indian, who makes sacrifice for her sake, but later weds one of his own race.
References: Reviewed issue Jan. 16, 1926, page 306.
First run showings: Pages 475, Jan. 23; 585, Jan. 30, 1926.
Advertising: Pages 877, Aug. 22; 2606-7, Dec. 5; 3081, Dec. 26, 1925.
Exploitation: Page 1412, Mar. 27, 1926.



CECIL B. DEMILLE
presents
ROD LA ROCQUE
in
'Braveheart'
WITH
LILLIAN RICH
ROBERT EDESON
TYRONE POWER
JEAN ACKER
AN ALAN HALE
PRODUCTION
RELEASED BY PRODUCERS DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

BRIDE OF THE STORM. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Feb. 20, 1926. Star, Dolores Costello. Director, J. Stuart Blackton. Length, 6,800 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Youthful officer saves an American girl from villains who seek to gain her fortune by marrying her to idiot.
References: Reviewed issue April 3, 1926, page 1524.

BRIGHT LIGHTS. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Nov. 29, 1925. With Charles Ray and Pauline Starke. Director, Robt. Z. Leonard. Length, 6,260 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama. Country lad and Broadway actress fall in love. He almost loses her through acquiring "fake gentleman" veneer, but all comes right in end.
References: Reviewed issue Nov. 28, 1925, page 2570.
First run showings: Pages 2559, Nov. 28; 2823, Dec. 12; 3027, 3029, Dec. 19, 1925; 48-9, Jan. 2; 476, Jan. 23; 587, Jan. 30, 1926.
Advertising: Insert, June 6; insert, June 13; insert, June 27; insert, July 4; insert, July 18; insert, July 25; insert, Aug. 1; front cover, Nov. 21, 1925; insert, Jan. 16, 1926.

BROADWAY BOOB, THE. Produced by Oscar A. Price. Distributed by Asso. Exhibitors. Released Feb. 14, 1926. Star, Glenn Hunter. Director, Joseph Henabery. Length, 5,683 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama of a small town boob who is turned out of his home, but returns a wise guy and in time to save the father who drove him away.
References: Reviewed issue Mar. 13, 1926, page 1209.
Advertising: Two page insert, Dec. 12, 1925; insert, Jan. 16; 952-3, Feb. 27, 1926.

BROADWAY LADY, A. Produced and distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Dec. 13, 1925. Star, Evelyn Brent. Director, Wesley Ruggles. Length, 5,500 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Chorus girl weds man whose family despise her, intervenes to save sister-in-law from designing villain, is accused of murdering latter, but proves innocence and finds happiness with husband.
References: Reviewed issue Dec. 12, 1925, page 2841.
First run showings: Page 47, Jan. 2, 1926.
Advertising: Pages 16-17, Jan. 2, 1926.

BROODING EYES. Produced by Banner Prod. Distributed by Ginsberg Dist. Corp. Released Feb., 1926. Star, Lionel Barrymore. Director, Edward Le Saint. Length, 5,763 feet.

Theme: Melodrama of titled nobleman who heads a band of crooks. He is reported dead, by his own plot, and foils attempt of former henchmen's plot to rob his daughter of inheritance. He is killed by a crook, but daughter is left in ignorance of her father's former occupation.
References: Advertising: Page 756, Aug. 15, 1925.

BUSTIN' THROUGH. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Oct. 18, 1925. Star, Jack Hoxie. Director, Clifford Smith. Length, 4,506 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama, young rancher hero, who defeats scheme of crooks to swindle father of girl he loves; and wins latter.
References: Reviewed issue Oct. 24, 1925, page 1941.
First run showings: Pages 2664, Dec. 5; 2826, Dec. 12, 1925.
Advertising: Pages 1906, May 2; 2596, May 30; 2774, 2785, June 6, 1925.
Newspaper Displays: Page 587, Jan. 30, 1926.

C

CACTUS TRAILS. Produced by Harry Webb Prod. Distributed by Madoc Sales Co. Released Dec., 1925. Star, Jack Perrin. Director, Harry Webb. Length, 5,000 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama in which hero returns from war to resume cow-punching, rescues beautiful unknown girl in runaway, is jailed for shooting of which he is innocent, rescued by girl's father, attends fiesta in girl's honor and saves her from kidnappers.

CALGARY STAMPEDE, THE. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Nov. 1, 1925. Star, Hoot Gibson. Director, Herbert Blache. Length, 5,924 feet.

Theme: Melodrama of the Northwest. Rodeo champion, accused of murder of fiancee's father, is forced into hiding. Reveals himself at rodeo when employer's ranch is at stake. Wins rodeo event, is cleared of murder charge and wins girl.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 10, 1925, page 1717.

First run showings: Pages 943, Aug. 22; 1151, Sept. 5, 1256-7, Nov. 28, 1925; 182, Jan. 9, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1905, May 2; 2596, May 30; 2774, 2779, June 6; 1448, Sept. 26; 1984, Oct. 31, 1925; 638, Feb, 6, 1926.

Exploitation: Pages 2832, Dec. 12, 1925; 898, Feb. 20, 1926.

Lobby Displays: Page 686, Feb. 6, 1926.

CALIFORNIA STRAIGHT AHEAD. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Sept. 13, 1925. Star, Reginald Denny. Director, Harry Pollard. Length, 7,238 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama, with farcical situations and love affairs, ending in thrilling auto race.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 12, 1925, page 1274.

First run showings: Pages 943, Aug. 22; 1151, Sept. 5; 2156-7, Sept. 12; 1390, Sept. 19; 1494-5, Sept. 26; 1602, Oct. 3; 1707, Oct. 10; 1813, Oct. 17; 1934, Oct. 24; 2046, Oct. 31; 2161, Nov. 7, 1925; 474, Jan. 23; 695, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2322, Nov. 8, 1924; 1904, May 2; 2597, May 30; 2775-6, June 6; 370-1, July 25; 986-7, Aug. 29; 1316, Sept. 19; 1984, Oct. 31, 1925; 121, Jan. 9; 639, Feb. 6; 741, Feb. 13, 1926.

Exploitation: Pages 1806, Oct. 17; 2451, Nov. 21, 1925; 176, Jan. 9; 795, Feb. 13, 1926.

CALL OF COURAGE, THE. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Nov. 22, 1925. Star, Art Acord. Director, Clifford Smith. Length, 4,661 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama, cowboy hero falsely accused of murder, proves innocence, wins pretty girl.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 19, 1925, page 1397.

First run showings: Page 2666, Dec. 5, 1925.

Advertising: Pages 1907, May 2; 2785, June 6, 1925.

CAMILLE OF THE BARBARY COAST. Produced by Becton Pictures, Inc. Distributed by Associated Exhibitors. Released Nov. 1, 1925. With Mae Busch and Owen Moore. Director, Hugh Dierker. Length, 5,408 feet.

Theme: Romantic drama of youth cast out by his father because of a theft and who is encouraged and redeemed by a girl of easy virtue. Reconciliation follows.

References: Reviewed issue Aug. 1, 1925, page 621.

First run showings: Pages 2453, Nov. 21; 3029, Dec. 19, 1925; 184, Jan. 9; 474, Jan. 23; 806, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Two-page insert, Aug. 15; 1-page insert, Sept. 26, 1925.

CAVE MAN, THE. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Feb. 6, 1926. With Marie Prevost and Matt Moore. Director, Lewis Milestone. Length, 6,843 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama. Coal heaver enters society, finds bride in girl who groomed him for new role.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 27, 1926, page 1013.

Advertising: Insert, Aug. 1, 1925.

CHECKERED FLAG, THE. Produced by Banner Prod. Distributed by Ginsberg Dist. Corp. Released Jan. 1, 1926. Star, Elaine Hammerstein. Director, John Adolfi. Length, 6,132 feet.

Theme: Auto race melodrama. Hero invents new carburetor which villain steals, but he gets it back. Prevented from reaching track, girl wins race for him.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 13, 1926, page 810.

Advertising: Page 756, Aug., 1925.

CIRCLE, THE. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Oct. 25, 1925. With Eleanor Boardman and Malcolm McGregor. Director, Frank Borzage. Length, 5,511 feet.

Theme: Drama of young wife undecided whether she will follow example of husband's mother who ran away with lover, or remain true to her own hubby.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 31, 1925, page 2062.

First run showings: Pages 1599-1600, Oct. 3; 2160, 2162, Nov. 7; 2453, Nov. 21; 2664, Dec. 5; 2825, Dec. 12, 1925; 587, Jan. 30, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, June 6; insert, June 13; insert, June 20; insert, June 27; front cover, also insert, July 4; insert, July 18; insert, July 25; insert, Aug. 1, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 2048, Oct. 31; 2561, Nov. 28, 1925.

CIRCUS CYCLONE, THE. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Oct. 4, 1925. Star, Art Acord. Director, Alfred Rogell. Length, 4,609 feet.

Theme: Melodrama, with circus and small Western town atmosphere, interpolated prize-fight and happy ending.

References: Reviewed issue Aug. 22, 1925, page 956.

First run showings: Pages 2048, Oct. 31, 1925.

Advertising: Pages 1906, May 2; 2597, May 30; 2775, 2785, June 6; 657, Aug. 8, 1925.

CLASH OF THE WOLVES. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Nov. 28, 1925. With Rin-Tin-Tin and June Marlowe. Director, Noel Smith. Length, 6,230 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama. Rin-Tin-Tin shown as Lobo, wolf that becomes domesticated, escapes attempts to kill him and saves master's life.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 28, 1925, page 2572.

First run showings: Pages 2559, Nov. 28; 2624, Dec. 12, 1925; 183, Jan. 9; 295, Jan. 16, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, Aug. 1; 2224-5, Nov. 14, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Page 586, Jan. 30, 1926.

CLASSIFIED. Produced by Corinne Griffith Prod. Distributed by First National. Released Oct. 11, 1925. Star, Corinne Griffith with Jack Mulhall and Chas. Murray. Director, Al Santell. Length, 6,927 feet.

Theme: Comedy of New York dealing with a girl who lives in a tenement and uses her wits to enjoy the pleasures and luxuries of those who reside on Fifth Avenue.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 17, 1925, page 1827.

First run showings: Pages 1813, Oct. 17; 1933-5, Oct. 24; 2048, Oct. 31; 2162, Nov. 7; 2267-9, Nov. 14; 2452-4, Nov. 21; 2663-5, Dec. 5; 2826, Dec. 12, 1925.

Advertising: One-page insert, Apr. 4; 677, Aug. 8; 1011, Aug. 29; 1667, Oct. 10; 1780, Oct. 17; 2227-8, Nov. 14; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Page 2266, Nov. 14, 1925.

Exploitation: Pages 2156, Nov. 7, 1925; 901, Feb. 20; 1097, Mar. 6; 1204, Mar. 13, 1926.

Lobby Displays: Page 1098, Mar. 6, 1926.

CLOTHES MAKE THE PIRATE. Produced by Sam E. Rork. Distributed by First National. Released Nov. 29, 1925. Star, Leon Errol with Dorothy Gish. Director, Maurice Tourneur. Length, 8,000 feet.

Theme: Comedy of character and situation, showing the evolution of a henpecked husband into a roaring pirate.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 14, 1925, page 2363.

First run showings: Pages 2663, Dec. 5; 2823, 2825, Dec. 12; 3026, Dec. 19; 3160, Dec. 26, 1925; 182, Jan. 9; 294, Jan. 16; 474, Jan. 23; 584, Jan. 30; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2227, 2231, Nov. 14; 2522-3, Nov. 28; 1 pg. insert, Dec. 12; 2976, 2978, Dec. 19; 3122, Dec. 26, 1925.

Exploitation: Pages 3031, Dec. 19, 1925; 289, Jan. 16; 796-7, Feb. 13; 899, Feb. 20, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 470, Jan. 23; 583, Jan. 30, 1926.

COAST OF FOLLY, THE. Produced by Famous Players-Lasky. Distributed by Paramount. Released Sept. 21, 1925. Star, Gloria Swanson. Director, Allan Dwan. Length, 6,840 feet.

Theme: Society drama, with Palm Beach and New York atmosphere, in which mother comes to rescue of daughter involved in scandal.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 12, 1925, page 1273.

First run showings: Pages 1255-6, Sept. 12; 1389-92, Sept. 19; 1492, Sept. 26; 1599-1601, Oct. 3; 1707-8, Oct. 10; 1934-5, Oct. 24; 2269, Nov. 14, 1925.

Advertising: Page insert, May 10; 2262, May 17; 2396, May 24; 2543-4, May 31; 2715, June 7; 1 pg. insert, Nov. 8; 2437, Nov. 15; 2561, Nov. 22; 2992, Dec. 13; 3329, Dec. 27, 1924; 3, Jan. 3; 2-pg. insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 244-5, July 18; 361-2, July 25; 497, Aug. 1; 649-50, Aug. 8; 750-1, Aug. 15; 1199, Sept. 12; 1641, Oct. 10; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.

Lobby Displays: Pages 1926, Oct. 24; 2035, Oct. 31, 1925.

Exploitation: Pages 2036, Oct. 31; 2154, Nov. 7; 2832, 2858, Dec. 12, 1925.

COBRA. Produced by Ritz-Carlton Pictures. Distributed by Paramount. Released Nov. 30, 1925. Star, Rudolph Valentino. Director, Jos. Henabery. Length, 6,875 feet.

Theme: Modern society drama in which an Italian nobleman finds himself helpless in the power of a feminine cobra and who sacrifices a true love to make his best friend happy.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 21, 1925, page 2461.

First run showings: Page 2561, Nov. 28; 2663, Dec. 5; 2824, Dec. 12; 3027, Dec. 19; 3159-60, Dec. 26, 1925; 47, Jan. 2; 182, Jan. 9; 294, Jan. 16; 475, Jan. 23; 585, Jan. 30; 696, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: 4-page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 360, July 25; 496, Aug. 1; 2561, Nov. 28; 2663, Dec. 5; 2824, Dec. 12, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Page 696, Feb. 6, 1926.

COHENS AND THE KELLYS, THE. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Feb. 28, 1926. With Geo. Sidney, Charles Murray and Vera Gordon. Director, Harry Pollard. Length, 7,774 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama. Treats of the fortunes of the Cohens and the Kellys, East Side families and neighbors, one of which falls heir to a million dollars.

References: Reviewed issue Mar. 6, 1926, page 1113.

Advertising: Pages 1905, May 2; 2596, May 30; 2774, 2778, June 6, 1925; 123, Jan. 9; 638, Feb. 6; 1058, Mar. 6, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 1412, Mar. 27, 1926.

COMING OF AMOS, THE. Produced by Cecil B. DeMille. Distributed by Producers Dist. Corp. Released Sept. 6, 1925. Star, Rod La Rocque. Director, Paul Sloane. Length, 5,714 feet.

Theme: Romantic melodrama. Australian hero wooing and winning Russian princess on the Riviera, after many adventures.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 19, 1925, page 1399.

First run showings: Pages 1389, Sept. 19; 1600, Oct. 3; 1710, Oct. 10; 1813, Oct. 17; 1935, Oct. 24; 2270, Nov. 14; 2560, Nov. 28; 2826, Dec. 12; 3027, Dec. 19; 3160, Dec. 26, 1925.

Advertising: Pages 364, July 25; 876-7, Aug. 22; 2948, Dec. 19; 3081, Dec. 26, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 1816, Oct. 17; 2666, Dec. 5, 1925.

COMPROMISE. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Oct. 24, 1925. Star, Irene Rich. Director, Alan Crosland. Length, 6,530 feet.

Theme: Drama in which husband, newly-wedded, is successfully vamped by bride's younger sister, but married pair are finally reconciled.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 7, 1925, page 2170.

First run showings: Pages 2159, Nov. 7; 2267, Nov. 14; 2452, 2454, Nov. 21; 2825, Dec. 12, 1925; 48, Jan. 2; 587, Jan. 30, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, Aug. 1; 2006-7, Oct. 31, 1925.

COUNSEL FOR THE DEFENSE. Produced by Burton King. Distributed by Asso. Exhibitors. Released Dec. 6, 1925. Star, House Peters. Director, Burton King. Length, 6,022 feet.

Theme: A dramatic romance in which a modern Portia rounds up a gang of crooks and clears the name of her father.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 21, 1925, page 2463.

First run showings: Pages 3029, Dec. 19, 1925; 805, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Two-page insert, Dec. 12, 1925; 534-5, Jan. 30, 1926.

COUNT OF LUXEMBOURG, THE. Produced and distributed by Chadwick Pictures Corp. Released Feb. 1, 1926. Star, George Walsh. Director, Arthur Gregor. Length, 6,300 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Actress weds impoverished Count, for title's sake, so that she can marry a duke. But she falls in love with husband and becomes wife in reality.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 26, 1925, page 3209.

Advertising: Page 862, Feb. 20, 1926.

COWBOY AND THE COUNTESS, THE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Jan. 31, 1926. Star, Buck Jones. Director, R. William Neill. Length, 5,000 feet.

Theme: Modern romantic drama in which a cowboy goes to the rescue of his royal lady love and saves her from a scheming duke.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 9, 1926, page 194.

COWBOY MUSKETEER, THE. Produced and distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Dec. 13, 1925. Star, Tom Tyler. Director, Robert De Lacy. Length, 4,500 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama. Cowboy hero foils plot of villains to wrest secret of gold deposit from helpless girl, and wins her love.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 26, 1925, page 3208.

Advertising: Page 349, Jan. 23, 1926.

CYCLONE CAVALIER. Produced by Harry J. Brown. Distributed by Rayart Pictures Corp. Released Sept., 1925. Star, Reed Howes. Director, Albert Rogell. Length, 4,928 feet.

Theme: Comedy-melodrama, with young American foiling Central-American revolutionists and winning President's daughter.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 26, 1925, page 1516.

D

DANCE MADNESS. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Jan. 11, 1926. With Claire Windsor and Conrad Nagel. Director, Robert Z. Leonard. Length, 6,393 feet.

Theme: Wife gets even with flirtatious husband by successfully substituting for masked dancer with whom he is infatuated. They are finally reconciled.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 6, 1926, page 702.

First run showings: Pages 585, 587, Jan. 30; 695, Feb. 6; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.

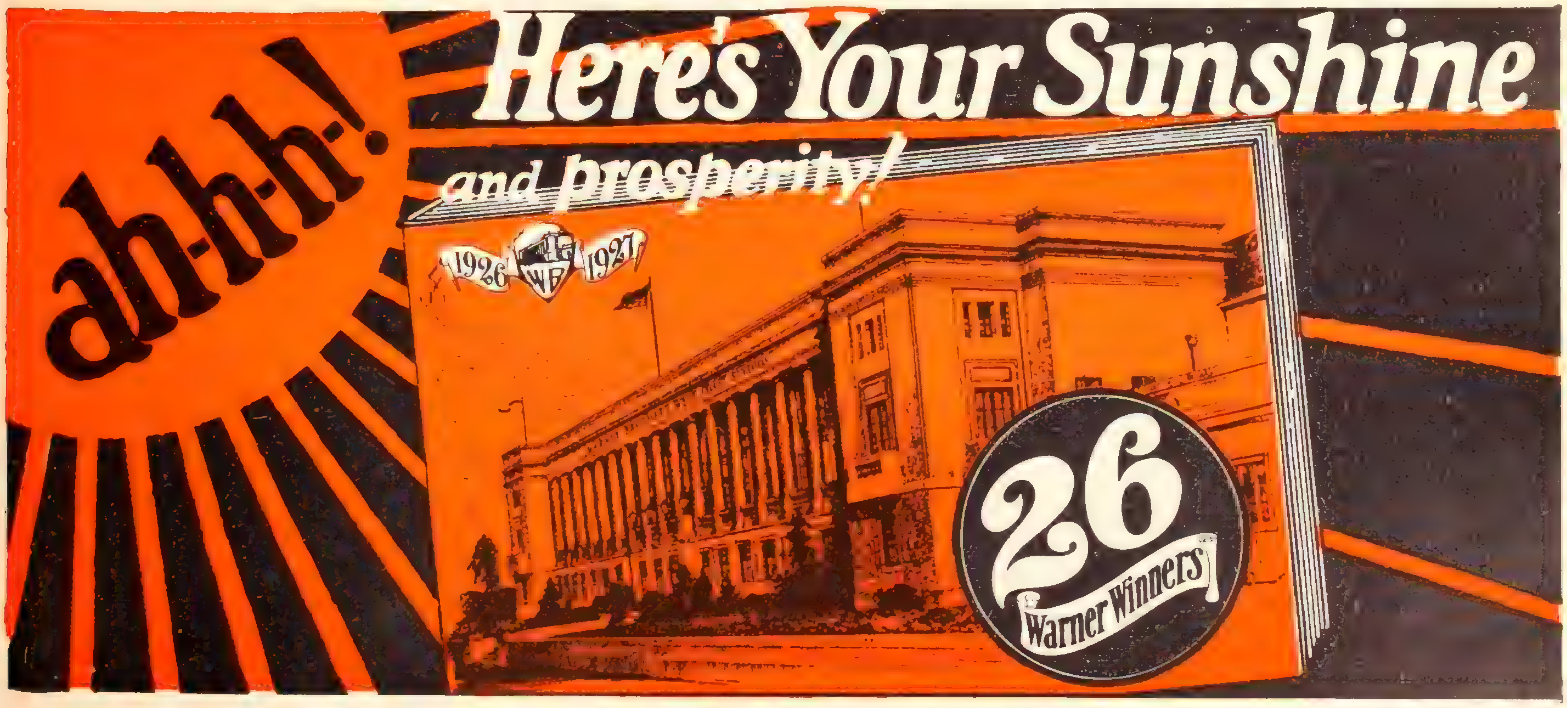
Advertising: Insert, June 6; insert, June 13; insert, June 27; insert, July 4; insert, July 18; insert, July 25; insert, Aug. 1, 1925; insert, Jan. 16, 1926.

DANCER OF PARIS, THE. Produced by Robert T. Kane. Distributed by First National. Released Feb. 28, 1926. With Dorothy Mackaill and Conway Tearle. Director, Alfred A. Santell. Length, 6,220 feet.

Theme: Romantic society drama of Florida and Paris life; flapper, sought for base purposes by nobleman, punishes him for playing her false.

References: Reviewed issue Mar. 13, 1926, page 1211.

Advertising: One-page insert, Jan. 23; 1166, Mar. 13; 2-page insert, Mar. 20, 1926.



JOHN C. FLINN PRESENTS
PRISCILLA DEAN
in
The Danger Girl
A METROPOLITAN PRODUCTION
WITH JOHN BOWERS
ADAPTED BY FINIS FOX FROM "THE BRIDE" BY GEORGE MIDDLETON AND STUART OLIVIER
DIRECTED BY EDWARD DILLON
PRODUCERS DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

DANGER GIRL, THE. Produced by Metropolitan Pictures. Distributed by Producers Dist. Corp. Released Jan. 31, 1926. Star, Priscilla Dean. Director, Edward Dillon. Length, 5,647 feet.

Theme: Crook comedy melodrama. Thieves' plot to obtain jewels is foiled by girl who aids police and is finally won by owner of gems.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 6, 1926, page 703.

Advertising: Insert, Dec. 12; 3081, Dec. 26, 1925.

DANGER ZONE, THE. Produced and distributed by Budd Barsky Corp. Released Nov., 1925. Star, Kenneth McDonald. Director, Robert N. Bradbury. Length, 5,000 feet.

DARING DAYS. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Nov. 8, 1925. Star, Josie Sedgwick with Edward Hearne. Director, John B. O'Brien. Length, 4,622 feet.

Theme: Western. Girl elected mayor of little tough Western town, makes good, cleans up the place, is wooed and won by fighting mayor of rival town.

References: Reviewed issue Mar. 6, 1926, page 1114.

Advertising: Pages 1907, May 2; 2785, June 6, 1925.

DARK ANGEL, THE. Produced by Samuel Goldwyn. Distributed by First National. Released Sept. 27, 1925. With Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky. Director, George Fitzmaurice. Length, 7,311 feet.

Theme: Heart drama in which soldier hero goes blind and is willing to sacrifice future happiness by dissuading sweetheart from marrying him, but girl remains faithful.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 26, 1925, page 1516.

First run showings: Pages 1707-8, Oct. 10; 1814, 1817, Oct. 17; 1933, 1935, Oct. 24; 2045-6, Oct 31; 2162, Nov. 7; 2267, 2270, Nov. 14; 2453-4, Nov. 21; 2665, Dec. 5; 3026, Dec. 19; 3159, Dec. 26, 1925; 858, Jan. 30; 697, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 677, Aug. 8; 1011, Aug. 29; 1668, Oct. 10; 1778-9, Oct. 17; 1894-5, Oct. 24; 2118-9, Nov. 7; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 2664, Dec. 5, 1925; 325, Jan. 16, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 795, Feb. 13, 1926.

DEMON, THE. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Jan. 31, 1926. Star, Jack Hoxie. Director, Clifford Smith. Length, 4,539 feet.

Theme: Western. Dane Gordon poses as ex-jailbird, joins bandit gang, is discovered, escapes, later rounds up outlaws and gets girl he wants.

References: Reviewed issue Mar. 27, 1926, page 1422.

Advertising: Pages 1906, May 2; 2596, May 30; 2774, 2785, June 6, 1925.

DESERT DEMON, THE. Produced by Action Pictures, Inc. Distributed by Weiss Bros. Artclass Pictures Corp. Released Oct. 4, 1925. Star, Buffalo Bill, Jr. Director, Richard Thorpe. Length, 5,000 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama. Girl saves Buffalo Bill, Jr., from perishing in desert. In gratitude he defends her from foes, and later wins her love.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 27, 1926, page 1012.

DESERT'S PRICE. THE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Dec. 13, 1925. Star, Buck Jones with Florence Gilbert. Director, W. S. Van Dyke. Length, 5,709 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama. Treats of two girls left alone on ranch, befriended by hero, whom they first view as foe, but learn to appreciate at his true worth.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 19, 1925, page 3041.

First run showings: Page 294, Jan. 16, 1926.

DESPERATE GAME, THE. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Feb. 14, 1926. Star, Pete Morrison. Director, Joseph Franz. Length, 4,400 feet.

Theme: Western melo with comedy touches. Rival ranch owners have dispute over claims to water-rights which is finally settled satisfactorily by marriage between son and daughter of opposing bosses.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 12, 1925, page 2846.

Advertising: Pages 1907, May 2; 2785, June 6, 1925.

DESPERATE MOMENT, A. Produced by Royal Pictures. Distributed by Ginsberg Dist. Corp. Released Jan. 15, 1926. Featuring Wanda Hawley and Theodore von Eltz. Director, Jack Dawn. Length, 5,751 feet.

Theme: Melodrama, marine settings. Stowaway thugs gain possession of yacht, which burns, survivors reach tropical island, are rescued by passing steamer.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 9, 1926, page 192.

Advertising: Page 756, Aug. 15, 1925.

DEVIL'S CIRCUS, THE. Produced and Distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Feb. 15, 1926. Star, Norma Shearer. Director, Benjamin Christianson. Length, 6,750 feet.

Theme: Drama with circus life background, laid in Germany. Plot concerns orphaned girl whose attractions for lion tamer stir jealousy of his mistress. Carlstop, girl's protector, is jailed for crooked deal. War intervenes and after armistice Carlstop finds girl crippled through accident caused by jealous mistress. He loves and marries girl.

References: Advertising: Front cover, Mar. 20, 1926.

DIXIE MERCHANT, THE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Feb. 28, 1926. With Madge Bellamy, J. Farrel MacDonald, Jack Mulhall. Director, Frank Borzage. Length, 5,126 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama. Deals with shiftless old horse-owner, trials of his family, his driving favorite filly to victory in race; happy marriage of daughter to lover.

References: Reviewed issue Mar. 20, 1926, page 1305.

Advertising: Two page insert, May 9; 2727, June 6; 2875, June 13; 3001, June 20; 3115-6, June 27, 1925; 764, Feb. 13, 1926.

DOLLAR DOWN. Produced and distributed by Truart Film Corp. Released Sept. 1925. With Ruth Roland and Henry B. Walthall. Director, Tod Browning. Length, 6,318 feet.

Theme: A domestic drama in which the "dollar down" methods of one family almost bring on ruin when the thrift methods of relatives prove a saving factor and keep the heroine from jail.

References: Reviewed issue Aug. 29, 1925, page 1052.

Advertising: Page 1072, Mar. 14, 1925.

DON Q, SON OF ZORRO. Produced by Douglas Fairbanks Prod. Distributed by United Artists. Released Sept. 20, 1925. Star, Douglas Fairbanks. Director, Donald Crisp. Length, 10,264 feet.

Theme: Romantic melodrama of Spanish Don whose taste for romance and adventure gets him into all kinds of trouble before he wins the girl and saves his head.

References: Reviewed issue June 27, 1925, page 3179.

First run showings: Pages 209, July 11; 943, Aug. 22; 1038f, Aug. 29; 1150-2, Sept. 5; 1599, Oct. 3; 1708, Oct 10, 1813-4, Oct. 17; 1933, Oct. 24; 2046, Oct. 31; 2161, Nov. 7; 2267, Nov. 14; 2452, Nov. 21; 2561, Nov. 28; 2665, Dec. 5; 2826, Dec. 12; 3028-30, Dec. 19; 3161-2, Dec. 26, 1925; 47, Jan. 2; 183-4, Jan. 9; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2003, 2006, May 2; 3171, June 27; 996, Aug. 29; 1096, Sept. 5; 1220, Sept. 12; 1328, Sept. 19; 1443, Sept. 26, 1925.

Prologues: Page 2859, Dec. 12, 1925.

Lobby Displays: Pages 1926, 1930, Oct. 24, 1925.

Exploitation: Pages 1254, Sept. 12; 1490, Sept. 26; 1703, Oct. 10; 1926, Oct. 24; 2036, Oct. 31, 1925; 84, Jan. 2; 179, Jan. 9; 1413, Mar. 27, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 1038h, 1039, Aug. 29; 1707, Oct. 10; 2269, Nov. 14, 1925.

Window Displays: Page 1808, Oct. 17, 1925.

DON'T. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Dec. 20, 1925. With Sally O'Neil and Bert Roach. Director, Alf Goulding. Length, 6,000 feet.

Theme: Comedy. Deals with flapper who resents parental control, doesn't want husband father picks, goes out and gets man she selects herself.

References: Reviewed issue Mar. 6, 1926, page 1113.

First run showings: Page 806, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1915, May 2; 2488, May 23; 2609, May 30; 3103, Dec. 26, 1925.

DON X. Produced by B. A. Goodman Prod. Distributed by A. G. Steen. Released Oct., 1925. Star, Bruce Gordon. Director, Forrest Sheldon. Length, 5 reels.

Theme: Western melodrama. Blair of Cattlemen's Association, disguises himself as Spanish Don, runs down cattle-rustlers, incidentally winning ranchman's daughter.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 13, 1926, page 808.

DRIFTIN' THRU. Produced by Chas. R. Rogers. Distributed by Pathe. Released Feb. 21, 1926. Star, Harry Carey. Director, Scott R. Dunlap. Length, 4,823 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama in which "drifter" saves the ranch of a beautiful girl from plotters, after girl saves drifter from the noose.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 30, 1926, page 601.

Advertising: Pages 468-9, Jan. 23; 1 page insert, Jan. 30, 1926.

DURAND OF THE BAD LANDS. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Nov. 1, 1925. Star, Buck Jones with Marian Nixon. Director, Lynn Reynolds. Length, 5,844 feet.

Theme: A Western melodrama in which the alleged "bad man" is ultimately revealed as the real hero and the sheriff is proven the real bad man.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 24, 1925, page 1946.

First run showings: Page 586, Jan. 30, 1926.

E

EAGLE, THE. Produced by John W. Considine, Jr. Distributed by United Artists Corp. Released Nov. 8, 1925. Star, Rudolph Valentino. Director, Clarence Brown. Length, 6,756 feet.

Theme: Russian drama of young Cossack who sets out to avenge father's wrongs and death, but finds himself in love with wrongdoer's lovely daughter, with love triumphant.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 21, 1925, page 2466.

First run showings: Pages 2452, Nov. 21; 2559-60, Nov. 28; 2663, Dec. 5; 2825, Dec. 12; 3027-9, Dec. 19, 1925; 294, Jan. 16; 474-6, Jan. 23; 586-7, Jan. 30; 695, Feb. 6; 805-6, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2415, Nov. 21; 2507, Nov. 28; 2629, Dec. 5; 2735, Dec. 12; 2973, Dec. 19, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 3028, Dec. 19, 1925; 940, Feb. 20, 1926.

Lobby Displays: Page 1005, Feb. 27, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 1096, Mar. 6, 1926.

EAST LYNNE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Nov. 22, 1925. With Alma Rubens, Edmund Lowe, Marjorie Daw. Director, Emmett Flynn. Length, 8,653 feet.

Theme: A melodrama dealing with the eternal triangle in English life of yesteryear.

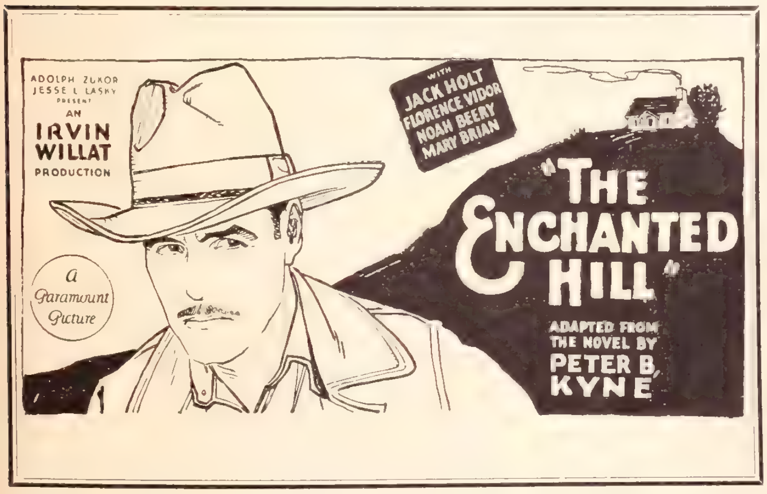
References: Reviewed issue Oct. 10, 1925, page 1719.

First run showings: Pages 1038g, Aug. 29; 1492, Sept. 26; 1708, Oct. 10; 1934, Oct. 24; 2665, Dec. 5; 2826, Dec. 12; 3161, Dec. 26, 1925; 47, Jan. 2; 182, Jan. 9; 475, Jan. 23, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, May 9; 2493, May 23; 2727, June 6; 2875, June 13; 3001, June 20; 3116, June 27; 251, July 18; 386, July 25; 1546-7, Oct. 3; 1994-5, Oct. 31; 2102, Nov. 7; 2402-3, Nov. 21, 1925.

Exploitation: Pages 1706, Oct. 10; 1929, Oct. 24, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 1708, Oct. 10, 1925; 697, Feb. 6, 1926.



ENCHANTED HILL, THE. Produced by Famous Players. Distributed by Paramount. Released Jan. 18, 1926. With Jack Holt, Florence Vidor and Noah Beery. Director, Irvin Willat. Length, 6,326 feet.

Theme: Westerner. Hero falls in love with girl-owner of adjoining ranch, foils enemies of both and wins her.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 9, 1926, page 193.

First run showings: Pages 182, Jan. 9; 475-6, Jan. 23; 584, 587, Jan. 30; 695, Feb. 6; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 2589, May 30; 2870, June 13; 361, July 25; 2489, Nov. 28; insert, Dec. 19, 1925; 116, Jan. 9, 1926.

ERMINE AND RHINESTONES. Produced and distributed by Jans. Prod., Inc. Released Oct. 1, 1925. Star, Edna Murphy. Director, Burton King. Length, 5,800 feet.

Theme: Society melodrama concerning wealthy chap who falls in love with beautiful girl, interested in his money. She persuades him to buy her wrap of ermine trimmed with rhinestones. At modiste's he meets young model to whom he turns when he discovers attitude of his erstwhile fiancee.

EVERLASTING WHISPER, THE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Oct. 11, 1925. Star, Tom Mix. Director, J. G. Blystone. Length, 5,611 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama, with hero defeating swindlers who endeavor to steal secret of gold mine.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 24, 1925, page 1945.

First run showings: Pages 1933-4, Oct. 24; 2267-70, Nov. 14; 2452, 2454, Nov. 21; 2560-1, Nov. 28; 2665, Dec. 5; 2823, Dec. 12, 1925.

Advertising: One page insert, May 9; 1650-1, Oct. 10; 1873, Oct. 24, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Page 2823, Dec. 12, 1925.

EXCHANGE OF WIVES. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Oct. 4, 1925. With Lew Cody, Eleanor Boardman, Renee Adoree and Creighton Hale. Director, Hobart Henley. Length, 6,300 feet.

Theme: Domestic comedy in which two wives are temporarily attracted by each other's husbands.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 17, 1925, page 1825.

First run showings: Pages 1813, Oct. 17; 1934, Oct. 24; 2045, Oct. 31; 2159, 2162, Nov. 7; 2267, Nov. 14; 2452-4, Nov. 21, 1925; 295, Jan. 16, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, June 6; insert, June 13; insert, June 20; insert, June 27; front cover, also insert, July 4; insert, July 18; insert, July 25; insert, Aug. 1; 1646-7, Oct. 10; front cover, also 1773, Oct. 17, 1925; insert, Jan. 16, 1926.

F

FANGS OF FATE. Produced by H. B. Carpenter. Distributed by Chesterfield M. P. Corp. Released Sept. 1, 1925. Star, Bill Patton. Director, H. B. Carpenter. Length, 5 reels.

Theme: Western melodrama. Outlaw captain turns straight for girl's sake. When gang refuses to quit he becomes deputy sheriff and rounds them up.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 13, 1926, page 807.

FAR CRY, THE. Produced by June Mathis. Distributed by First National. Released Feb. 14, 1926. With Blanche Sweet and Jack Mulhall. Director, Balboni. Length, 6,868 feet.

Theme: Society drama in which a frivolous flapper and a young artist laugh at the conventions and flee to Venice to be alone.

References: Reviewed issue Mar. 6, 1926, page 1111.

Advertising: Insert, Nov. 29, 1924; 1 page insert, Jan. 23; 1164-5, Mar. 13, 1926.

FATE OF A FLIRT, THE. Produced and distributed by Columbia Pictures Corp. Released Dec. 1, 1925. With Dorothy Revier and Forrest Stanley. Director, Frank R. Strayer. Length, 5,823 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama. Sir Gilbert, British peer, wagers that he can win a certain American girl, while in chauffeur guise, and succeeds after various adventures.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 23, 1926, page 483.

Advertising: Page 1664, Oct. 10, 1925.

FIFTH AVENUE. Produced by A. H. Sebastian. Distributed by Producers Dist. Corp. Released Jan. 24, 1926. With Marguerite De La Motte and Allan Forrest. Director, Robert G. Vignola. Length, 5,503 feet.

Theme: Drama. Southern girl is inveigled into New York house of questionable character, weds happily after resort-owner clears her reputation.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 6, 1926, page 706.

First run showings: Page 805, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1562-3, Oct. 3; 3081, Dec. 26, 1925; 1060-1, Mar. 6, 1926.

FIFTY-FIFTY. Produced by Henri D. Berger. Distributed by Associated Exhibitors. Released Nov. 15, 1925. Star, Hope Hampton. Director, Henri D. Berger. Length, 5,531 feet.

Theme: A society drama in which a wife finding her husband falling for the other woman gets him back on his feet by stepping out with another man.

References: Reviewed issue June 20, 1925, page 3071.

First run showings: Pages 293, 295, Jan. 16, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, Aug. 15; one page insert, Sept. 26, 1925.

FIGHTING CHEAT, THE. Produced by Action Pictures. Distributed by Weiss Bros. Artclass Pictures Corp. Released Feb. 11, 1926. Star, Wally Wales. Director, Richard Thorpe. Length, 5,000 feet.

Theme: Cowboy Kenyon aids a wounded bandit, falls in love with latter's sister, passes through a medley of adventures, wins girl, whose brother reforms.

References: Reviewed issue April 3, 1926, page 1525.

FIGHTING EDGE, THE. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Jan. 8, 1926. With Kenneth Harlan and Patsy Ruth Miller. Director, Henry Lehrman. Length, 6,369 feet.

Theme: A melodramatic romance of smuggling activities on the border with the gang being captured and a federal agent rescued by the hero.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 20, 1926, page 912.

First run showings: Page 696, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, Aug. 1, 1925.

FIGHTING HEART, THE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Oct. 18, 1925. With George O'Brien, Billie Dove, J. Farrel MacDonald. Director, John Ford. Length, 7,032 feet.

Theme: Melodrama with hero who overcomes drink heredity handicap, is whipped in glove contest, but beats conqueror in street fight, achieves success and wins girl he loves.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 3, 1925, page 1610.

First run showings: Pages 1813, Oct. 17; 1933, Oct. 24; 2048, Oct. 31; 2267, 2269, Nov. 14, 1925; 48, Jan. 2; 696, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1546-7, Oct. 3; 1758-9, Oct. 17, 1925.

Exploitation: Page 582, Jan. 30, 1926.

FIGHT TO THE FINISH, A. Produced and distributed by Columbia Pictures Corp. Released Nov. 15, 1925. With William Fairbanks and Phyllis Haver. Director, Reeves Eason. Length, 4,603 feet.

Theme: Fight melodrama. Hero cast off by wealthy father, whips boxing champion in street fight when latter insults girl. He meets champion in ring, is doped, defeated; but thrashes victor in dressing-room, wins girl.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 5, 1925, page 2684.

Advertising: Page 1664, Oct. 10, 1925.

FIRST YEAR, THE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Jan. 24, 1926. With Matt Moore and Kathryn Perry. Director, Frank Borzage. Length, 5,038 feet.

Theme: Comedy. Treats of young married pair's troubles. Wife accidentally comes near wrecking hubby's big business deal, goes to mother, but they are reconciled.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 6, 1926, page 707.

First run showings: Pages 695, Feb. 6; 806, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, May 9; 2493, May 23; 2727, June 6; 2875, July 13; 3001, June 20; 3114, 3116, June 27; insert, Sept. 5; 1546-7, Oct. 3; 1652, Oct. 10; 1994, Oct. 31; 2402-3, Nov. 21; 2517, Nov. 28; 2742, Dec. 12; 2968, Dec. 19; 3099, Dec. 26, 1925; 11, Jan. 2; 137, Jan. 9; 241, Jan. 16, 1926.

FLAMING WATERS. Produced by Associated Arts Prod. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Jan. 3, 1926. With Mary Carr and Pauline Garon. Director, F. Harmon Weight. Length, 6591 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Danny O'Neil bests swindling promoter, makes fortune in oil fields, saves his mother and sweetheart from burning oil flood.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 30, 1926, page 598.

First run showings: Page 696, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2434, May 16; 2894, June 13; 3111, June 27; 139, July 11; 400, July 25; 499, Aug. 1; 667, Aug. 8; 762, Aug. 15; 901, Aug. 22; 993, Aug. 29; 1108, Sept. 5; 1458, Sept. 26; 2000, Oct. 31, 1925; 146-7, Jan. 9; 586, Jan. 30; 1157, Mar. 13, 1926.

FLASHING STEEDS. Produced by H. B. Carpenter. Distributed by Chesterfield M. P. Corp. Released Nov. 1, 1925. Star, Bill Patton. Director, H. B. Carpenter. Length, 5 reels.

Theme: Westerner. Government agent, disguised as cow hand, thwarts plot of international crooks to steal valuable black pearl and wins rancher's daughter.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 27, 1926, page 1015.

FLOWER OF NIGHT. Produced by Famous Players. Distributed by Paramount. Released Nov., 1925. Star, Pola Negri. Director, Paul Bern. Length, 6,374 feet.

Theme: Melodrama of California in year 1856. Heroine, daughter of impoverished Spanish Don, falls in love with young American and wins him after numerous adventures with Vigilantes.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 31, 1925, page 2059.

First run showings: Pages 2045, 2047, Oct. 31; 2268, Nov. 14; 2452-4, Nov. 21; 2560-1, Nov. 28; 2665, Dec. 5; 2824, Dec. 12, 1925; 49, Jan. 2, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 362, July 25; 497, Aug. 1; 649, Aug. 8; 1865, Oct. 24; one page insert, Nov. 7; one page insert, Nov. 14; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Page 3029, Dec. 19, 1925.

Exploitation: Page 904, Feb. 20, 1926.

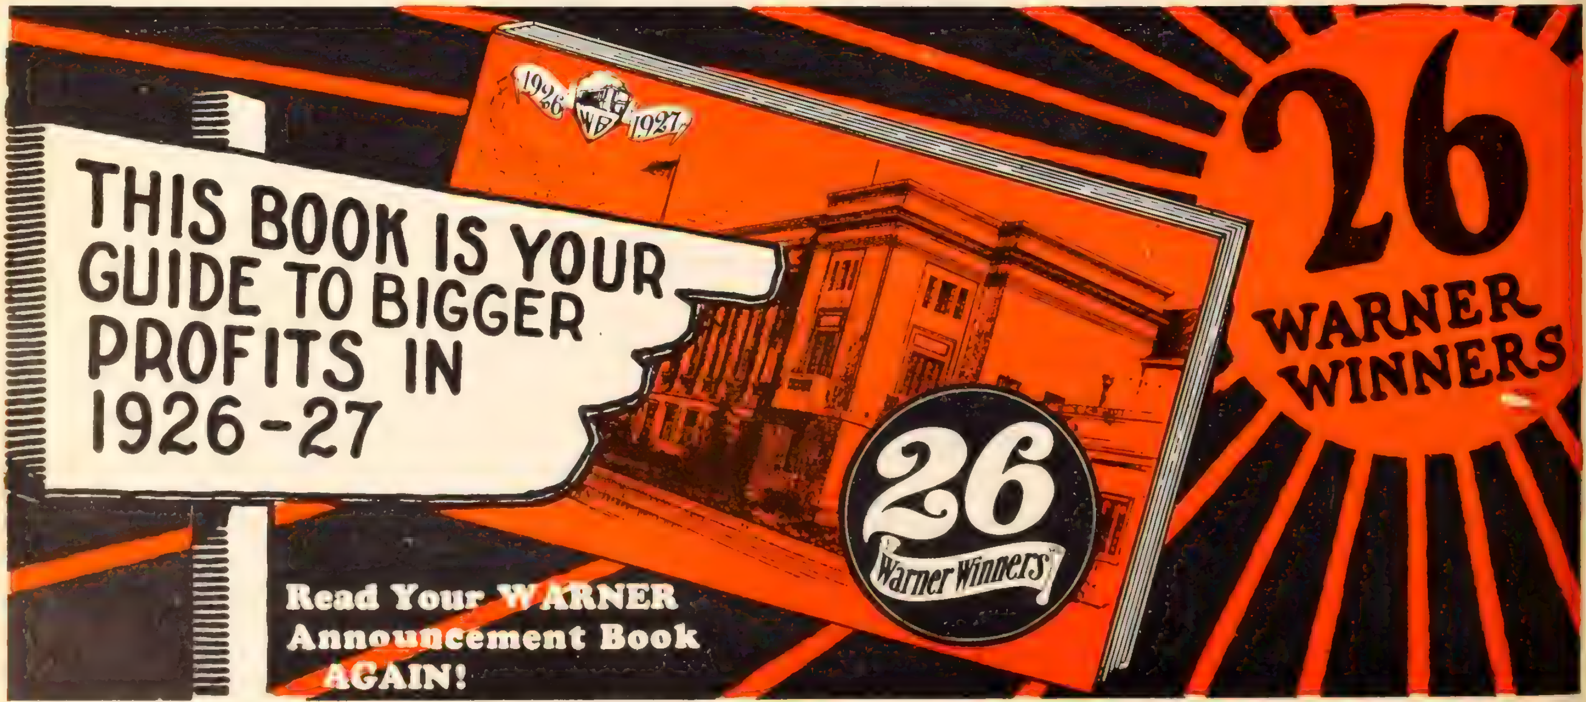
FOOL, THE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Nov. 15, 1925. Star, Edmund Lowe. Director, Harry Millarde. Length, 9,844 feet.

Theme: Drama of rector who, trying to preach doctrines of Christ and live as He would, encounters hate, greed and intolerance on every side. He finds peace in doing good.

References: Reviewed issue April 25, 1925, page 1869.

First run showings: Pages 1852, April 25; 441, July 25; 711, Aug. 8; 1153, Sept. 5; 1255, Sept. 12; 1814, Oct. 17; 2267, Nov. 14; 2663, Dec. 5; 3161, Dec. 26, 1925; 48, Jan. 2; 295, Jan. 16; 695, Feb. 6; 805, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1348, Mar. 24, 1923; 2 page insert, Aug. 2; 869, Aug. 16, 1924; 4 page insert, May 9; 2211, May 16; 2492-3, May 23; 2727, June 6; 2875, June 13; 3001, June 20; 3114-5, 3117,



1926 WB 1927
THIS BOOK IS YOUR GUIDE TO BIGGER PROFITS IN 1926-27
26 WARNER WINNERS
26 Warner Winners
Read Your WARNER Announcement Book AGAIN!

June 27; 251, July 18; 387, July 25; 1546-7, Oct. 3; 1993, Oct. 31, 1925.
Lobby Displays: Page 704e, Aug. 8, 1925.
Exploitation: Pages 704g, Aug. 8; 828, Aug. 15; 939, Aug. 22; 2658, Dec. 5, 1925; 180, Jan. 9, 1926.
Newspaper Displays: Pages 2384, Nov. 8, 1924; 3029, Dec. 19, 1925; 183, Jan. 9, 1926.
Window Displays: Page 704, Aug. 8, 1925.

FRESHMAN, THE. Produced by Harold Lloyd Prod. Distributed by Pathe Exchanges, Inc. Released Sept. 20, 1925. Star, Harold Lloyd. Directors, Sam Taylor and Fred Newmeyer. Length, 6,883 feet.

Theme: Romantic comedy of freshman in college who strives to be a popular hero. Is a joke on the campus, but makes good and wins respect.

References: Reviewed issue July 25, 1925, page 462.
First run showings: Pages 1255, Sept. 12; 1389, Sept. 19; 1494, Sept. 26; 1599-1600, Oct. 3; 1707, Oct. 10; 1814, Oct. 17; 1933-5, Oct. 24; 2046, Oct. 31; 2159-62, Nov. 7; 2267, Nov. 14; 2453-4, Nov. 21; 2560-1, Nov. 28; 2664-6, Dec. 5; 2823-5, Dec. 12; 3027-8, Dec. 19; 3160, Dec. 26, 1925.
Advertising: Four page insert, Aug. 1; 4 page insert, Aug. 22; 3176-7, Dec. 26, 1925.
Prologues: Page 2859, Dec. 12, 1925.
Lobby Displays: Pages 1925, Oct. 24; 3218, Dec. 26, 1925; 898, Feb. 20, 1926.
Exploitation: Pages 1597, Oct. 3; 2036-7, Oct. 31; 2157, Nov. 7, 1925; 80-2, Jan. 2; 289, Jan. 23; 687, Feb. 6; 1097, Mar. 6, 1926.
Newspaper Displays: Pages 1714, Oct. 10; 1935, Oct. 24; 2046-7, Oct. 31; 2161, Nov. 7; 2665, Dec. 5, 1925.
Window Displays: Page 2262, Nov. 14, 1925.

G

GALLOPING JINX. Produced by Action Pictures, Inc. Distributed by Weiss Bros. Artclass Pictures Corp. Released Sept. 24, 1925. Star, Buddy Roosevelt. Director, Robert Eddy. Length, 5,000 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Hero, wounded by bandits and believed dying, is forced to marry girl to fulfill terms of her father's will. Bandits' scheme is foiled as Buddy recovers and beats them, discovering that he loves the girl, his wife.

GALLOPING ON. Produced by Action Pictures, Inc. Distributed by Weiss Bros. Artclass Pictures Corp. Released Nov. 23, 1925. Star, Wally Wales. Director, Richard Thorpe. Length, 5,000 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama. Wally Moore serves jail sentence, returns home, pursues bank robbers, recovers loot, clears his name, gets reward, weds girl who loves him.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 27, 1926, page 1016.

GENTLEMAN ROUGHNECK, A. Produced and distributed by Hercules Film Prod., Inc. Released Nov., 1925. Star, Frank Merrill. Director, Grover Jones. Length, 4,767 feet.

Theme: Melodrama of fight between big lumber interests and small owners, engineered by crooked boss. Hero, son of big owner, through a fake murder traps crooked boss and ousts him, ends fight and wins daughter of small owner.

GILDED BUTTERFLY, THE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Jan. 3, 1926. With Alma Rubens and Bert Lytell. Director, John Griffith Wray. Length, 6,202 feet.

Theme: Drama, society atmosphere. Left penniless, girl is advanced money by designing suitor, goes abroad, gets broke, weds American officer.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 16, 1926, page 302.
First run showings: Pages 475-6, Jan. 23; 585, Jan. 30, 1926.
Advertising: Pages 2402-3, Nov. 21; 2970-1, Dec. 19, 1925.
Newspaper Displays: Page 902, Feb. 20, 1926.

GIRL FROM MONTMARTRE, THE. Produced by Sawyer-Lubin Prod. Distributed by First National. Released Jan. 31, 1926. With Barbara LaMarr and Lewis Stone. Director, Alfred E. Green. Length, 6,700 feet.

Theme: Romantic drama laid in Paris and Spain. Love story of aristocratic Englishman and Spanish dancer.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 13, 1926, page 813.
First run showings: Pages 696, Feb. 6; 806, Feb. 13, 1926.
Advertising: One page insert, Nov. 28; insert, Dec. 12; insert, Dec. 19, 1925; 150, Jan. 9, 1926.

GIRL OF THE WEST. Produced by H. T. Henderson. Distributed by Chesterfield M. P. Corp. Released Dec. 1, 1925. Star, Eileen Sedgwick. Director, Alvin J. Neitz. Length, 5 reels.

Theme: Melodrama. Girl, educated in East, returns to ranch inherited from father, finding it apparently mortgaged to limit. She and her sweetheart suspect holder of mortgage, their suspicions being confirmed when he resorts to violence in effort to obtain property. Girl and sweetheart triumph.

GOLDEN COCOON, THE. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Jan. 30, 1926. With Huntly Gordon and Helene Chadwick. Director, Millard Webb. Length, 6,963 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Girl deserted by lover, weds happily, is later threatened with exposure by former swain, who is killed, but exonerates her before dying.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 26, 1925, page 3206.
First run showings: Pages 3159, Dec. 26, 1925; 805, Feb. 13, 1926.
Advertising: Insert, Aug. 1, 1925.

GOLDEN PRINCESS, THE. Produced by Famous Players-Lasky. Distributed by Paramount. Released Oct. 5, 1925. Star, Betty Bronson. Director, Clarence Badger. Length, 6,395 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama of California gold rush period, romance, thrills and happy finish.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 19, 1925, page 1400.
First run showings: Pages 1389, Sept. 19; 1602, Oct. 3; 1813, Oct. 17; 2270, Nov. 14; 2452, Nov. 21; 2665-6, Dec. 5; 2825, Dec. 12; 3028, Dec. 19; 3162, Dec. 26, 1925.
Advertising: Two page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 497, Aug. 1; 649, Aug. 8; 1541, Oct. 3; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.
Newspaper Displays: Pages 2268, 2270, Nov. 14, 1925.

GOLDEN STRAIN, THE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Dec. 27, 1925. With Madge Bellamy and Kenneth Harlan. Director, Victor Schertzinger. Length, 5,989 feet.

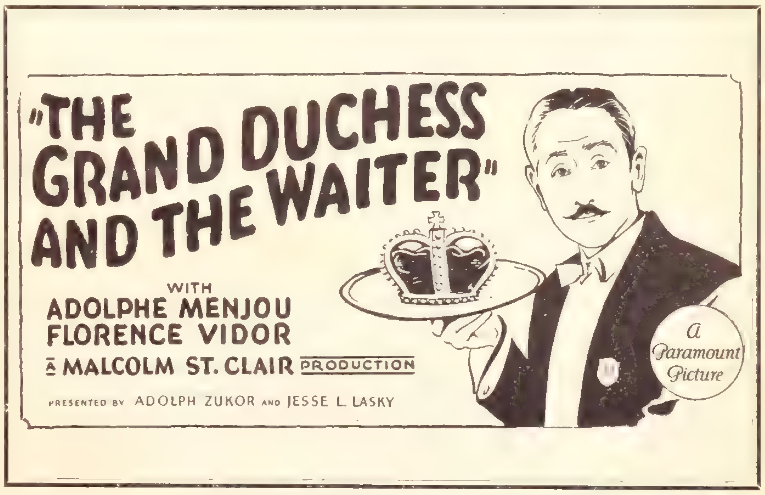
Theme: Western melodrama. Hero, U. S. lieutenant, shows fear in first skirmish with Indians, later redeems himself, helps repulse attack, wins girl he loves.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 2, 1926, page 85.
First run showings: Pages 295, Jan. 16; 587, Jan. 30; 696, Feb. 6; 804, 806, Feb. 13, 1926.
Advertising: Pages 2402-3, Nov. 21; 2516-7, Nov. 28; 2618, Dec. 5, 1925.

GOOSE WOMAN, THE. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Dec. 13, 1925. With Jack Pickford, Louise Dresser, Constance Bennett. Director, Clarence Brown. Length, 7,500 feet.

Theme: Murder mystery drama, mother's unnatural dislike of only son turning to anxious love, when he is accused of crime.

References: Reviewed issue Aug. 22, 1925, page 957.
First run showings: Pages 828, Aug. 15; 945, Aug. 22; 1492-3, Sept. 26; 1599-01, Oct. 3; 1813, Oct. 17; 1935, Oct. 24; 2046, Oct. 31; 2559, Nov. 28; 2663, Dec. 5; 2826, Dec. 12; 3027, Dec. 19, 1925.
Advertising: Pages 1904, May 2; 2596, May 30; 2774, 2776, June 6; 1201, Sept. 12; 1316, Sept. 19; 1984, Oct. 31, 1925.
Exploitation: Pages 2043, Oct. 31; 2658, Dec. 5, 1925.
Newspaper Displays: Pages 1813, Oct. 17; 1935, Oct. 24, 1925; 295, Jan. 16, 1926.
Window Displays: Page 580f, Jan. 30, 1926.



"THE GRAND DUCHESS AND THE WAITER"
WITH ADOLPHE MENJOU
FLORENCE VIDOR
A MALCOLM ST. CLAIR PRODUCTION
PRESENTED BY ADOLPH ZUKOR AND JESSE L. LASKY
a Paramount Picture

GRAND DUCHESS AND THE WAITER, THE. Produced by Famous Players. Distributed by Paramount. Released Feb. 8, 1926. With Adolphe Menjou and Florence Vidor. Director, Malcolm St. Clair. Length, 6,314 feet.

Theme: French farce in which a wealthy philanderer assumes the rôle of a waiter so that he can woo and win a haughty, but warm-hearted duchess.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 6, 1926, page 705.
First run showings: Pages 2824, Dec. 12, 1925; 184, Jan. 9; 587, Jan. 30; 805-6, Feb. 13, 1926.
Advertising: Two and third page insert, Dec. 19, 1925; 3-4, Jan. 2; 115, 117, Jan. 9; 337, 339, Jan. 23; 644, Feb. 6; 847, Feb. 20; 945, Feb. 27; 1140, Mar. 13; 1335, Mar. 27, 1926.

GO WEST. Produced by Jos. M. Schenck. Distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Nov. 1, 1925. Star and director, Buster Keaton. Length, 6,256 feet.

Theme: Farce-comedy, burlesquing the regulation Westerns. Tenderfoot hero goes out to "open spaces" and gets tangled in maze of adventure.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 7, 1925, page 2171.

First run showings: Pages 2159, Nov. 7; 2453-4, Nov. 21; 2561, Nov. 28; 2664, Dec. 5; 2823, Dec. 12; 3029, Dec. 19; 3159-60, Dec. 26, 1925; 49, Jan. 2; 184, Jan. 9; 294, Jan. 16, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, Oct. 31; front cover, also 2496-7, Nov. 28; 2732, Dec. 12, 1925; insert, Jan. 16, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 2561, Nov. 28, 1925; 293, Jan. 16; 585, Jan. 30, 1926.

Lobby Displays: Pages 292, Jan. 16; 1096, Mar. 6, 1926.

Exploitation: Pages 580g, Jan. 30; 797, Feb. 13; 1097, Mar. 6, 1926.

GREAT JEWEL ROBBERY, THE. Produced by John Ince Prod. Distributed by A. G. Steen. Released Nov., 1925. Star, Herbert Rawlinson. Director, John Ince. Length, 5 reels.

Theme: Crook melodrama. Girl detective searches for stolen jewels, is finally captured by bandits with man she loves, but both are rescued at crucial moment.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 9, 1926, page 190.

GREAT LOVE, THE. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Dec. 27, 1925. With Viola Dana and Robert Agnew. Director, Marshall Neilan. Length, 6,000 feet.

Theme: Comedy. Elephant's affection for doctor who cured her makes trouble for him, but she finally aids him in rescuing his girl from clutches of villain.

References: Reviewed issue Mar. 20, 1926, page 1303.

First run showings: Pages 584, 587, Jan. 30, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, Jan. 16, 1926.

GREAT SENSATION, THE. Produced and distributed by Columbia Pictures Corp. Released Sept. 15, 1925. With Wm. Fairbanks and Pauline Garon. Director, Jay Marchant. Length, 4,560 feet.

Theme: Melodrama, with comedy relief and hero who poses as chauffeur for girl he loves, defeats crooks and regains proceeds of jewel robbery.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 26, 1925, page 1512.

Advertising: Page 1664, Oct. 10, 1925.

H

HANDSOME BRUTE, THE. Produced and distributed by Columbia Pictures Corp. Released Dec. 15, 1925. With William Fairbanks and Virginia Lee Corbin. Director, Robert Eddy. Length, 4,865 feet.

Theme: Comedy-melodrama. Policeman Larry O'Day loves Nelly Eagan, jeweller's daughter, loses job, but gets back through crook capture, wins promotion and girl.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 20, 1926, page 910.

Advertising: Page 1665, Oct. 10, 1925.

HANDS UP. Produced by Famous Players. Distributed by Paramount. Released Jan., 1926. Star, Raymond Griffith. Director, Clarence Badger. Length, 5,883 feet.

Theme: Comedy. Struggle for gold mine by North and South in Civil War. Hero about to get it when the war ends, but it continues for him as he weds two girls.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 16, 1926, page 300.

First run showings: Pages 49, Jan. 2; 184, Jan. 9; 293, Jan. 16; 475, Jan. 23; 586-7, Jan. 30; 696, Feb. 6; 805-6, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2488, Nov. 28, 1925; 116, Jan. 9; 517, Jan. 30, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 904, Feb. 20; 1298, Mar. 20, 1926.

HAVOC. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Sept. 27, 1925. With George O'Brien, Madge Bellamy, Margaret Livingston. Director, Rowland V. Lee. Length, 9,293 feet.

Theme: A drama of social life in London during the war with some fine sequences shot along the battle line in France. Depicting the havoc wrought in the lives of two men by an unscrupulous woman who played with love.

References: Reviewed issue Aug. 29, 1925, page 1052.

First run showings: Pages 829, Aug. 15; 1256, Sept. 12; 1493, 1495, Sept. 26; 1933, Oct. 24; 2453, Nov. 21; 2666, Dec. 5; 3159, Dec. 26, 1925; 585, Jan. 30, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, May 9; 2727, June 6; 2875, June 13; 3001, June 20; 3116, June 27; 251, July 18; 386, July 25; 520, 523, Aug. 1; 661, Aug. 8; 888-9, Aug. 22; 1001, Aug. 29; 1546-7, Oct. 3; 2616-7, Dec. 5, 1925.

Exploitation: Pages 1360, Sept. 19; 1490, Sept. 26; 1930, Oct. 24; 2451, Nov. 21, 1925; 1100, Mar. 6, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 1039, Aug. 29; 1493, Sept. 26, 1925; 295, Jan. 16, 1926.

HEADS UP. Produced by Harry Garson. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Oct. 25, 1925. Star, Maurice "Lefty" Flynn. Director, Harry Garson. Length, 5,482 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama. Action takes place in South American Republic, American hero foiling rebel plot against Government and marrying President's daughter.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 21, 1925, page 2460.

First run showings: Page 3160, Dec. 26, 1925.

Advertising: Page 2615, Dec. 5, 1925.

HEARTLESS HUSBANDS. Produced by Sun Motion Pictures. Distributed by Madoc Sales Co. Released Nov., 1925. Star, Gloria Grey. Director, Bertram Bracken. Length, 5,200 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Orphan son of divorced mother falls in love with girl whom he is later told is his sister. Villain, under influence of drug, confesses he lied and lovers are united.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 26, 1925, page 3209.

HEARTS AND FISTS. Produced by H. C. Weaver. Distributed by Associated Exhibitors. Released Jan. 3, 1926. With John Bowers and Marguerite de la Motte. Director, Lloyd Ingraham. Length, 5,393 feet.

Theme: Melodramatic romance of lumber country. Youth puts his father's rundown business on its feet, beats enemies and wins girl.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 23, 1926, page 486.

Advertising: Pages 2276-77, 2303, Nov. 14; 2 page insert, Dec. 12, 1925.

HELL'S HIGHROAD. Produced by Cecil B. DeMille. Distributed by Producers Dist. Corp. Released Oct. 18, 1925. Star, Leatrice Joy. Director, Rupert Julian. Length, 6,143 feet.

Theme: Heart interest drama, showing how poor girl with lover in humble circumstances makes use of wealthy admirer to make the young chap wealthy, ruins him later when she thinks he is false; but begins life all over again with him.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 5, 1925, page 1165.

First run showings: Pages 1150, Sept. 5; 1256-7, Sept. 12; 1392, Sept. 19; 1493, Sept. 26; 1602, Oct. 3; 1708-10, Oct. 10; 1814, 1816-7, Oct. 17; 2561, Nov. 28; 3161, Dec. 26, 1925.

Advertising: Pages 364, July 25; 1092, Sept. 5; 3081, Dec. 25, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 1709, Oct. 10, 1925; 49, Jan. 2, 1926.

HER BIG ADVENTURE. Produced by John Ince Prod. Distributed by A. G. Steen. Released Jan., 1926. Star, Herbert Rawlinson. Director, John Ince. Length, 5 reels.

Theme: Society comedy-drama. Hero quarrels with wealthy father, becomes bellhop, wins stenographer posing as Countess at hotel, is reconciled to dad.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 16, 1926, page 305.

HIGH AND HANDSOME. Produced by Harry Garson. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Sept. 13, 1925. Star, Maurice "Lefty" Flynn. Director, Harry Garson. Length, 5,669 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Patrolman Joe Hanrahan is suspended on account of a quarrel with pugilist Kennedy over a girl. Later he whips Kennedy, gets job and girl back.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 20, 1926, page 909.

Advertising: Pages 1870, Oct. 24; 2615, Dec. 5, 1925.

HIS BUDDY'S WIFE. Produced by Tom Terriss. Distributed by Associated Exhibitors. Released Oct. 4, 1925. With Glenn Hunter and Edna Murphy. Director, Tom Terriss. Length, 5,218 feet.

Theme: Heart interest drama of war buddies—one married, the other single. The latter returns with news of his friend's death and has romance with the young widow. The buddy turns up and the youth sacrifices his happiness.

References: Reviewed issue July 25, 1925, page 459.

First run showings: Pages 2452, Nov. 21; 2561, Nov. 28, 1925.

Advertising: Two page insert, Aug. 15; 1 page insert, Sept. 26, 1925.

HIS JAZZ BRIDE. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Jan. 15, 1926. With Marie Prevost and Matt Moore. Director, Herman Raymaker. Length, 6,420 feet.

Theme: Society drama. Young wife spends her time in cabarets, neglecting her husband and indulging in flirtations with wealthy idlers. Her follies lead to serious complications from which she escapes. She shuns jazz for her home and husband.

References—First run showings: Pages 695, 697, Feb. 6; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.

Prologues: Page 1317, Mar. 20, 1926.

HIS MAJESTY BUNKER BEAN. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Sept. 19, 1925. With Matt Moore and Dorothy Devore. Director, Harry Beaumont. Length, 7,015 feet.

Theme: Farce-comedy, dealing with love adventures of male stenographer who thinks he is the reincarnation of an Egyptian king.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 26, 1925, page 1514.

First run showings: Pages 1389, Sept. 19; 1492, Sept. 26; 1599-1600, Oct. 3; 2162, Nov. 7, 1925; 806, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, Aug. 1; 1565, Oct. 3, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Page 1813, Oct. 17, 1925.

HIS MASTER'S VOICE. Produced by Gotham Prod. Distributed by Lumas Film Corp. Released Sept., 1925. Star, Thunder (dog). Director, Renaud Hoffman. Length, 5,700 feet.

Theme: War melodrama, with dog star and timid master who goes to the front and finds his manhood on battlefield.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 14, 1925, page 2360.

First run showings: Pages 2267, Nov. 14; 2561, Nov. 28; 2664, Dec. 5; 2825, Dec. 12; 3160, Dec. 26, 1925.

Advertising: Pages 2932, June 13, 1925; 1250, Mar. 20, 1926.

HIS PEOPLE. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Dec. 27, 1925. Star, Rudolph Schildkraut. Director, Edward Sloman. Length, 8,983 feet.

Theme: Depicts life of Hebrew family on East Side, sacrifices of old father for two sons, one of whom turns boxer, the other seeking fame as lawyer.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 14, 1925, page 2356.

First run showings: Pages 3027, Dec. 19, 1925; 123, Jan. 9; 474, 476, Jan. 23; 587, Jan. 30; 696, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1905, May 2; 2596, May 30; 2774, 2779, June 6; 2208-9, Nov. 14, 1925; 638, Feb. 6; 1058, Mar. 6; 1147, Mar. 13, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Page 1034, Feb. 27, 1926.

HIS SECRETARY. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Dec. 13, 1925. Star, Norma Shearer with Lew Cody. Director, Hobart Henley. Length, 6,433 feet.

Theme: Comedy. Stenographer who dresses plainly and doesn't use makeup, achieves triumph by transforming herself at beauty parlor and winning employer.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 2, 1926, page 87.

First run showings: Pages 2664, Dec. 5; 3027, Dec. 19, 1925; 47, Jan. 2; 182, Jan. 9; 295, Jan. 16; 475, Jan. 23; 587, Jan. 30; 695, Feb. 6; 804-5, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Front cover, Dec. 12; 3103, Dec. 26, 1925; insert, Jan. 16; 550-1, Jan. 30, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Page 585, Jan. 30, 1926.

Exploitation: Pages 1204, Mar. 13; 1382, Mar. 27, 1926.

HOGAN'S ALLEY. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Dec. 12, 1925. With Monte Blue and Patsy Ruth Miller. Director, Roy Del Ruth. Length, 6,062 feet.

Theme: East Side melo with comedy twists. Hero a pugilist, in trouble through injuring ring opponent, has lurid adventures, saves sweetheart from designing rascal.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 5, 1925, page 2686.

First run showings: Pages 2663, Dec. 5; 2823, Dec. 12; 3028, Dec. 19, 1925; 49, Jan. 2; 295, Jan. 16; 697, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, Aug. 1; 2508-9, Nov. 28; 2736-7, Dec. 12, 1925; 756, Feb. 13, 1926.

HOLLYWOOD REPORTER, THE. Produced and distributed by Hercules Film Prod., Inc. Released Jan., 1926. Star, Frank Merrill. Director, Bruce Mitchell. Length, 4,755 feet.

Theme: Newspaper melodrama, hero of which obtains photo that swings election against crooked political boss, lifts stigma of false prison sentence from newspaper owner, compels political boss to marry woman he wronged, and wins newspaper owner's daughter.

HOME MAKER, THE. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Nov. 22, 1925. With Alice Joyce and Clive Brook. Director, King Baggot. Length, 7,755 feet.

Theme: Domestic problem, involving unhappiness of husband and wife, each dissatisfied with his or her labors in life, until their positions are reversed.

References: Reviewed issue Aug. 8, 1925, page 720.

First run showings: Pages 943, Aug. 22; 1707, Oct. 10; 2454, Nov. 21; 2560, Nov. 28, 1925; 697, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising. Pages 1904, May 2; 2596, May 30; 2774, 2777, June 6; 378-9, July 25; 752-3, Aug. 15; 1090-1, Sept. 5; 1317, Sept. 19; 1985, Oct. 31, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Page 586, Jan. 30, 1926.

HOODOO RANCH. Produced by Action Pictures, Inc. Distributed by Weiss Bros. Artclass Pictures Corp. Released Jan. 22, 1926. Star, Buddy Roosevelt. Director, Wm. Bertram. Length, 5,000 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama centering about hidden gold and a haunted ranch house which blows up. Hero defeats villain in various nefarious schemes, finds the gold and wins the girl.

HURRICANE HORSEMAN. Produced by Action Pictures. Distributed by Weiss Bros. Artclass Pictures Corp. Released Oct. 14, 1925. Star, Wally Wales. Director, Robert Eddy. Length, 5,000 feet.

Theme: Westerner. Wally Marden starts to clear his brother of murder charge and suspects man who is also his rival. Ultimately he proves latter guilty.

References: Reviewed issue Mar. 20, 1926, page 1308.

I

IBANEZ' TORRENT. Produced by Cosmopolitan Prod. Distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Feb. 8, 1926. With Ricardo Cortez and Greta Garbo. Director, Monta Bell. Length, 6,769 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Spanish youth's mother prevents his marriage to girl he loves. She becomes famous singer, returns to find him married, resumes career.

References: Reviewed issue Mar. 6, 1926, page 1111.

Advertising: Insert, June 6; insert, June 13; insert, June 20; insert, June 27; front cover and insert, July 4; insert, July 11; insert, July 18; insert, July 25; 1 page insert, Aug. 1, 1925; insert, Jan. 16; front cover, 1260-61, Mar. 20, 1926.

IF MARRIAGE FAILS? Produced by C. Gardner Sullivan. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Sept. 6, 1925. With Jacqueline Logan and Clive Brook. Director, John Ince. Length, 6,006 feet.

Theme: A modern society drama that discusses the evils of wedded life in the "400." Deserted by his butterfly wife, Joe Woodbury finds a new interest in Nadia, a fortune teller, while the wife comes to grief following a roadhouse raid.

References: Reviewed issue May 23, 1925, page 2559.

First run showings: Pages 2958, June 13; 708, Aug. 8; 1816-7, Oct. 17; 2560, Nov. 28; 2826, Dec. 12, 1925; 1156, Mar. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2434, May 16; 2894, June 13; 3110, July 27; 139, July 11; 400, July 25; 498, Aug. 1; 667, Aug. 8; 762, Aug. 22; 993, Aug. 29; 1108, Sept. 5; 1458, Sept. 26; 1893, Oct. 24; 1992, 2000, Oct. 31, 1925.

IN BORROWED PLUMES. Produced by Welcome Pictures. Distributed by Arrow Film Corp. Released Feb. 10, 1926. With Marjorie Daw and Niles Welch. Director, Victor Hugo Halperin. Length, 5,662 feet.

Theme: Romantic melodrama concerning girl who masquerades as famous actress, wins the love of the hero and an opportunity on the stage. Plot complications include the scheming of two international crooks, eventually exposed.

INFATUATION. Produced by Corinne Griffith Prod. Distributed by First National. Released Dec. 27, 1925. Star, Corinne Griffith. Director, Irving Cummings. Length, 5,794 feet.

Theme: Society romantic drama. Young wife, neglected by husband, seeks secretary's attentions, finds in the end she loves husband.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 16, 1926, page 301.

First run showings: Pages 183, Jan. 9; 293, Jan. 16; 475-6, Jan. 23; 584-6, Jan. 30; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, Dec. 12; insert, Dec. 19, 1925; 256-7, Jan. 16; 2 page insert, Jan. 30, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Page 934, Feb. 20, 1926.

IRENE. Produced by John McCormick. Distributed by First National. Released Feb. 21, 1926. Star, Colleen Moore. Director, Alfred E. Green. Length, 8,400 feet.

Theme: Comedy. Little Irish hoyden graduates from demonstrator in store window to mannikin job. Captures wealthy husband.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 27, 1926, page 1014.

Advertising: Two page insert, April 4, 1925; 2 page insert, Jan. 23; 552, Jan. 30; 886, Feb. 20; 968-9, Feb. 27; 6 page insert, Mar. 6, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 897, Feb. 20, 1926.

Lobby Displays: Page 1382, Mar. 27, 1926.

IRISH LUCK. Produced by Famous Players-Lasky. Distributed by Paramount. Released Dec., 1925. Star, Thos. Meighan with Lois Wilson. Director, Victor Heerman. Length, 7,008 feet.

Theme: A romantic drama that opens in New York and switches to Ireland, where a traffic cop, because of his resemblance to a nobleman, is able to save that gentleman from plotters after his estate, and to win a pretty Irish colleen.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 28, 1925, page 2568.

First run showings: Pages 2561, Nov. 28; 2663-4, Dec. 5; 2826, Dec. 12; 3027-9, Dec. 19; 3159-61, Dec. 26, 1925; 47-9, Jan. 2; 294, Jan. 16; 474, Jan. 23; 697, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: One page insert, Nov. 8; 2436, Nov. 15; 2561, Nov. 22; 2992, Dec. 13, 1924; 3, Jan. 3; 4 page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 3109, June 27; 649, Aug. 8; 1 page insert, Nov. 21; 2489, Nov. 28; 2600, Dec. 5; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.

IRON HORSE, THE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Oct. 4, 1925. With Geo. O'Brien, Madge Bellamy, J. Farrel MacDonald. Director, John Ford. Length, 10,424 feet.

Theme: Historical romance based upon linking of the East and West through the building of Union Pacific and Central Pacific railroads.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 13, 1924, page 1415.

First run showings: Pages 1278, Sept. 6; 3071, Dec. 13, 1924; 1014, Mar. 7; 2162, May 9; 944, Aug. 22; 1153, Sept. 5; 1256-7, Sept. 12; 1389, Sept. 19; 1599, Oct. 3; 1709-10, Oct. 10; 1814, Oct. 17; 1934-5, Oct. 24; 2045-6, Oct. 31; 2161-2, Nov. 7; 2267, Nov. 14; 2561, Nov. 28; 2664-5, Dec. 5; 3027-8, Dec. 19; 3162, Dec. 26, 1925; 184, Jan. 9; 475-6, Jan. 23; 584, Jan. 30; 695, Feb. 6; 806, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 3004-5, Dec. 13, 1924; 114-5, Jan. 10; 522-3, Feb. 7; 964-5, Mar. 7; 1682-3, April 18; 1917, May 2; 4 page insert, May 9; 2493, May 23; 2727-30, June 6; 2875, June 13; 3001, June 20; 3114-6, June 27; 251, July 11; 387, July 25; 1000, Aug. 29; 1546-7, Oct. 3; 1649, Oct. 10; 1872, Oct. 24, 1925.

Lobby Displays: Pages 1361, Sept. 19; 1706, Oct. 10; 1805, Oct. 17; 1929, Oct. 24; 2043, Oct. 31, 1925; 1297, Mar. 20, 1926.

Exploitation: Pages 1500, Sept. 20; 2620, Nov. 22, 1924; 1230g, Mar. 21; 62, July 4; 826, Aug. 15; 1149, Sept. 5; 1487, Sept. 26; 1594, 1597, Oct. 3; 1807-8, Oct. 17; 2038-40, Oct. 31; 2153-4, 2157, Nov. 7; 2261, 2264, Nov. 14; 2450, Nov. 21; 2658, Dec. 5, 1925; 79-80, Jan. 2; 176, 179, 181, Jan. 9; 1100, Mar. 6, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 3178, Dec. 20, 1924; 1239, Mar. 21; 2553, May 23; 2190, Nov. 7, 1925; 903, Feb. 20, 1926.

Window Displays: Pages 2723, Nov. 29; 3304, Dec. 27, 1924; 177, Jan. 9; 1382, Mar. 27, 1926.

J

JOANNA. Produced by Edwin Carewe. Distributed by First National. Released Dec. 13, 1925. With Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall. Director, Edwin Carewe. Length, 7,900 feet.

Theme: A syncopated drama of a modern girl against whose chastity a million dollars was bet, but the girl proved that she wouldn't sell her soul.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 26, 1925, page 3207.

First run showings: Pages 3159, Dec. 26, 1925; 182, Jan. 9; 293, Jan. 16; 475-6, Jan. 23; 586-7, Jan. 30; 804, 806, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, Dec. 12; 3 page insert, Dec. 19; 3124, Dec. 26, 1925; 1 page insert, Jan. 23, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 581, Jan. 30, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Page 1232, Mar. 13, 1926.

JOHNSTOWN FLOOD, THE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Feb. 14, 1926. Star, George O'Brien. Director, Irving Cummings. Length, 6,357 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Engineer O'Day vainly warns Hamilton that dam is unsafe. It finally breaks and flood scatters destruction. O'Day and his sweetheart are saved.

References: Reviewed issue Mar. 13, 1926, page 1211.

Advertising: Two page insert, May 9; 2727, June 6; 2875, June 13; 3001, June 20; 3114-5, 3117, June 27; 1546-7, Oct. 3, 1925; 12-13, Jan. 2; 136, Jan. 9; 240, Jan. 16; 2 page insert, Jan. 23; 764-5, Feb. 13, 1926.

JUST PLAIN FOLKS. Produced and distributed by Bud Barsky Corp. Released Dec., 1925. Star, Kenneth McDonald. Director, Robert N. Bradbury. Length, 5,000 feet.

JUST SUPPOSE. Produced by Inspiration Pictures. Distributed by First National. Released Jan. 10, 1926. Star, Richard Barthelmess. Director, Kenneth Webb. Length, 6,270 feet.

Theme: Modern romantic drama of a prince who falls in love with an American girl whom he wins after surmounting many obstacles in this and his native land.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 30, 1926, page 601.

First run showings: Pages 584-6, Jan. 30; 697, Feb. 6; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, Dec. 19, 1925; 150, Jan. 9; 2 page insert, Jan. 23, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Page 1446, Mar. 27, 1926.

K

KEEPER OF THE BEES, THE. Produced by Gene Stratton-Porter Prod. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Oct. 18, 1925. With Robert Frazer, Clara Bow, Alyce Mills. Director, James Leo Meehan. Length, 6,712 feet.

Theme: Restoration to health of a disabled war veteran through his contact with nature, and his romance with a fair neighbor.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 17, 1925, page 1825.

First run showings: Pages 1601, Oct. 3; 2159-60, Nov. 7; 2559, Nov. 28; 2666, Dec. 5; 3028, Dec. 19; 3159, Dec. 26, 1925; 48, Jan. 2; 183-4, Jan. 9; 474, Jan. 23; 587, Jan. 30, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2434, May 16; 2894, June 13; 3110, June 27; 139, July 11; 400, July 25; 498, Aug. 1; 667, Aug. 8; 762-3, Aug. 15; 901, Aug. 22; 993, Aug. 29; 1108, Sept. 5; 1457, 1459, Sept. 26; 1544-5, Oct. 3; 1648, Oct. 10; 1755, Oct. 17; 1866, Oct 24; 2000, Oct. 31; 2117, Nov. 7; 2203, Nov. 14; 2412-3, Nov. 21; 2630, Dec. 5; 2954, Dec. 19, 1925; 1156, Mar. 13, 1926.

Window Displays: Page 1251, Sept. 12, 1925.

Lobby Displays: Pages 2158, Nov. 7, 1925; 1204, Mar. 13, 1926.

Newspaper Displays; Pages 2560, Nov. 28; 3159, Dec. 26, 1925; 48, Jan. 2; 585, Jan. 30; 696, Feb. 6, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 180, Jan. 9, 1926.

KEEP SMILING. Produced by Howard Estabrook. Distributed by Associated Exhibitors. Released Sept. 6, 1925. Star, Monty Banks. Directors, Albert Austin and Gilbert W. Pratt. Length, 5,456 feet.

Theme: Farce-melodrama of youth afraid of water. He invents life-belt, saves beautiful girl from drowning, enters himself in boat race—and wins the prize and the girl.

References: Reviewed issue Aug. 1, 1925, page 621.

First run showings: Pages 2664, Dec. 5, 1925; 183, Jan. 9, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, Aug. 15; 1 page insert, Sept. 5, 1925; insert, Jan. 16, 1926.

KENTUCKY PRIDE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Sept. 6, 1925. With J. F. MacDonald, Gertrude Astor and Henry B. Walthall. Director, John Ford. Length, 6,652 feet.

Theme: A melodrama of the turf, in which a broken-down racehorse tells its life story.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 19, 1925, page 1401.

First run showings: Pages 1391, Sept. 19; 1493, Sept. 26; 1602, Oct. 3; 1707-9, Oct. 10; 1813, Oct. 17; 2270, Nov. 14; 2453, Nov. 21; 2824, Dec. 12; 3027, Dec. 19, 1925; 585, Jan. 30, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, May 9; 2493, May 23; 2727, June 6; 2875, June 13; 3001, June 20; 3114-6, June 27; 252-3, July 18; 387-8, July 25; 1001, Aug. 29; 1546-7, Oct. 3, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Page 1599, Oct. 3, 1925.

Exploitation: Page 582, Jan. 30, 1926.

KING OF THE TURF. Produced and distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Feb. 28, 1926. With Patsy Ruth Miller and Kenneth Harlan. Director, James Hogan. Length, 6,210 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Kentucky Colonel, unjustly sent to jail, has his name cleared by prison associates. Hero rides Colonel's horse to victory, wins daughter.

References: Reviewed issue Mar. 6, 1926, page 1112.

Advertising: Pages 2434, May 16; 2894, June 13; 3111, June 27; 139, July 11; 400, July 25; 499, Aug. 1; 667, Aug. 8; 762, Aug. 15; 901, Aug. 22; 993, Aug. 29; 1108, Sept. 5; 1458, Sept. 26; 2000, Oct. 31, 1925; 1158, Mar. 13; 1254-5, Mar. 20, 1926.

KING ON MAIN STREET, THE. Produced by Famous Players Distributed by Paramount. Released Nov. 9, 1925. Star, Adolphe Menjou. Director, Monta Bell. Length, 6,229 feet.

Theme: King of mythical country visits U. S., has short-lived romance with American girl, and a real democratic time, finally returning to assume duties as monarch.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 7, 1925, page 2168.

First run showings: Pages 2046, Oct. 31; 2159-61, Nov. 7; 2453, Nov. 21; 2559, Nov. 29; 2663, Dec. 5; 2825-6, Dec. 12; 3028-9, Dec. 19; 3160-1, Dec. 26, 1925; 475, Jan. 23; 805, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 361, July 25; 496, Aug. 1; 1 page insert, Nov. 14; 1 page insert, Nov. 21; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.

Exploitation: Page 289, Jan. 16, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Page 3028, Dec. 19, 1925.

KISS FOR CINDERELLA, A. Produced by Famous Players. Distributed by Paramount. Released Dec., 1925. With Betty Bronson, Tom Moore and Esther Ralston. Director, Herbert Brenon. Length, 9,686 feet.

Theme: Modern romance of a little slavey who is called Cinderella because of her tiny feet and belief that one day she will find a prince for herself.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 26, 1925, page 3208.
First run showings: Pages 47, 49, Jan. 2; 182-4, Jan. 9; 294, Jan. 16; 475, Jan. 23, 1926.
Advertising: Two-page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 2589, May 30; 2871, June 13; 360-1, July 25; 496-7, Aug. 1; 983, Aug. 29; 2489, Nov. 28; 2599, 2667-74, Dec. 5; insert, Dec. 19; 3073, Dec. 26, 1925; 3, Jan. 2; 115-6, Jan. 9; 338, Jan. 23, 1926.
Exploitation: Pages 580f, Jan. 30; 687, Feb. 6, 1926.
Newspaper Displays: Page 470, Jan. 23, 1926.

KNOCKOUT KID, THE. Produced by Harry Webb Prod. Distributed by Rayart Pictures Corp. Released Sept. 1, 1925. Star, Jack Perrin. Director, Albert Rogell. Length, 4,901 feet.
Theme: Western comedy-melodrama. Hero disowned by wealthy father because of pugilistic propensities, is nearly lynched as cattle-rustling suspect in Texas, has variety of adventures, evades widow's love advances, wins her niece.
References: Reviewed issue Jan. 9, 1926, page 192.

L

LADIES OF LEISURE. Produced and distributed by Columbia Pictures Corp. Released Feb. 1, 1926. Star, Elaine Hammerstein. Director, Tom Buckingham. Length, 5,257 feet.
Theme: Drama. Girl in love with man whose sister she acts as companion to, disappears when her shady past threatens. Is eventually cleared and weds him.
References: Reviewed issue April 3, 1926, page 1526.
Advertising: Page 1665, Oct. 10, 1925.

LADY FROM HELL. Produced by Stuart Paton. Distributed by Asso. Exhibitors. Released Jan. 17, 1926. With Roy Stewart and Blanche Sweet. Director, Stuart Paton. Length, 5,337 feet.
Theme: Romantic melodrama laid in the West and Scotland and dealing with the adventures of a "Lady from Hell," in winning a bride, and estate.
References: Reviewed issue Feb. 6, 1926, page 704.
First run showings: Page 697, Feb. 6, 1926.
Advertising: Insert, Aug 15; 2-pg. insert, Dec. 12, 1925.

LADY WINDERMERE'S FAN. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Dec. 26, 1925. With Ronald Colman, Irene Rich, May McAvoy and Bert Lytell. Director, Ernst Lubitsch. Length, 7,612 feet.
Theme: Society drama. Lady Windermere believes her mother to be dead. Latter returns, is banned by society for past indiscretions, attends daughter's party, later sacrifices herself to save Lady Windermere's reputation, but weds happily.
References: Reviewed issue Dec. 16, 1925, page 3043.
First run showings: Pages 182-3, Jan. 9; 475-6, Jan. 23; 586-7, Jan. 30; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.
Advertising: Insert, Aug. 1, 1925; 252-3, Jan. 16; 354-5, Jan. 23; 864, Feb. 20, 1926.
Prologues: Page 1123, Mar. 6, 1926.

LAST EDITION, THE. Produced by Emory Johnson. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Nov. 8, 1925. Star, Ralph Lewis. Director, Emory Johnson. Length, 6,400 feet.
Theme: A melodrama of newspaper life in which a bootlegger and a crooked assistant district attorney seek to frame a bribery charge against the son of the assistant foreman of a newspaper composing room.
References: Reviewed issue Oct. 17, 1925, page 1829.
First run showings: Pages 2452, Nov. 21; 2560, Nov. 28; 2663, Dec. 5; 2823, 2825-6, Dec. 12; 3028-9, Dec. 19; 3162, Dec. 26, 1925. 474, Jan. 23; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.
Advertising: Pages 2434, May 16; 3110, June 27; 139, July 11 400, July 25; 498, Aug. 1; 667, Aug. 8; 762, Aug. 15; 901, Aug 22; 993, Aug. 29; 1108, Sept. 5; 1458, Sept. 26; 2000, Oct. 31; 2109, 2111, Nov. 7; 2754, Dec. 12; 3105, Dec. 26, 1925; 128, Jan. 9; 1157, Mar. 13, 1926.
Exploitation: Page 580f, Jan. 30, 1926.

LAWLESS TRAILS. Produced by B. A. Goodman Prod. Distributed by A. G. Steen. Released Oct., 1925. Star, Bruce Gordon. Director, Forrest Sheldon. Length, 5 reels.
Theme: Western melodrama. Crook blackmails and threatens daughter of rancher, her lover shields her at risk of own reputation; eventually clears everything up.
References: Reviewed issue Feb. 20, 1926, page 912.

LAZYBONES. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Nov. 8, 1925. With Buck Jones and Madge Bellamy. Director, Frank Borzage. Length, 7,236 feet.
Theme: Dramatic romance, small-town atmosphere, hero easygoing youth, who adopts a motherless baby girl, loses his sweetheart, fights in France, returns to find girl grown, hopes to wed her, but fails.
References: Reviewed issue Oct. 31, 1925, page 2059.
First run showings: Pages 2453-4, Nov. 21; 2561, Nov. 28; 2824, Dec. 12; 3160, Dec. 26, 1925; 294, Jan. 16, 1926.
Advertising: Two-page insert, May 9; 2493, May 23; 2727, June 6; 2875, June 13; 3001, June 20; 3116, June 27; 1546-7, Oct. 3; 1874-5, Oct. 24; 2100, Nov. 7, 1925.

LET'S GO GALLAGHER. Produced and distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Sept. 20, 1925. Star, Tom Tyler. Directors, Robert De Lacey and James Gruen. Length, 5,182 feet.
Theme: Western melodrama. Cowboy hero becomes foreman of girl's ranch, defeats schemes of cattle-rustlers and wins her for wife.
References: Reviewed issue Oct. 3, 1925, page 1611.
First run showings: Page 2666, Dec. 5, 1925.
Advertising: Pages 1098, Sept. 5; 1867, Oct. 24, 1925; 348-9, Jan. 23, 1926.

LIGHTS OF OLD BROADWAY. Produced by Cosmopolitan. Distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Nov. 8, 1925. Star, Marion Davies with Conrad Nagel. Director, Monta Bell. Length, 6,437 feet.
Theme: A romantic drama of old New York in which a daughter of lowly Irish folk rises to a place with the aristocrats and saves her father-in-law from ruin by coming to the rescue of his bank with tremendous profits from seemingly worthless electric stock.
References: Reviewed issue Nov. 14, 1925, page 2357.

10 Directors
with records of box office success
made the pictures
READ about their greatest achievements in WARNER BROTHERS
ANNOUNCEMENT
for 1926-27

First run showings: Pages 2045, Oct. 31; 2159-60, Nov. 7; 2267, 2270, Nov. 14; 2453-4, Nov. 21; 2560-1, Nov. 28; 2664, Dec. 5; 2825-6, Dec. 12; 3162, Dec. 26, 1925; 47, Jan. 2; 294, Jan. 16; 695-6, Feb. 6; 804-5, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, June 6; insert, June 13; insert, June 20; insert, June 27; front cover, also insert, July 4; insert, July 11; insert, July 18; insert, July 25; one page insert, Aug. 1; insert, Sept. 19; front cover, Oct. 3; front cover, Oct. 17; 1868-9, Oct. 24; 2612-3, Dec. 5, 1925; insert, Jan. 16, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 2450, Nov. 21, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Page 3160, Dec. 26, 1925.

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY. Produced by Mary Pickford Corp. Distributed by United Artists Corp. Released Oct. 18, 1925. Star, Mary Pickford. Director, William Beaudine. Length, 8,850 feet.

Theme: Comedy-melodrama, East Side atmosphere, gangster stuff, humorous episodes, Mary Pickford as twelve-year-old heroine.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 31, 1925, page 2057.

First run showings: Pages 1038h, Aug. 29; 1151, Sept. 5; 1709-10, Oct. 10; 1934, Oct. 24; 2045, Oct. 31; 2160, Nov. 7; 2267, Nov. 14; 2452-3, Nov. 21; 2663, Dec. 5; 2824-5, Dec. 12, 1925; 47, Jan. 2; 183, Jan. 9; 294, Jan. 16; 476, Jan. 23; 697, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2003-4, May 9; 2414, Nov. 21; 2506, Nov. 28; 2628, Dec. 5; 2734, Dec. 12; 2972, Dec. 19, 1925.

Lobby Displays: Pages 178, Jan. 9; 1004, Feb. 27, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 2261, Nov. 14, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 1392, Sept. 19; 1814, Oct. 17; 1934, Oct. 24; 3198, Dec. 26, 1925.

Prologues: Page 1317, Mar. 20, 1926.

LITTLE GIANT, THE. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Jan. 3, 1926. Star, Glenn Hunter. Director, William Nigh. Length, 6,929 feet.

Theme: Youth appointed sales manager of big firm is failure at first, but redeems himself and makes good with aid of old uncle.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 30, 1926, page 597.

Advertising: Pages 1904, May 2; 2597, May 30; 2775, 2777, June 6, 1925.

LIVE WIRE, THE. Produced by C. C. Burr. Distributed by First National. Released Sept. 20, 1925. Star, Johnny Hines. Director, Charles Hines. Length, 7,000 feet.

Theme: Comedy melodrama of adventures of circus performer, out of work, whose athletic ability and sense of humor win him wealth and a girl.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 12, 1925, page 1273.

First run showings: Pages 1709, Oct. 10, 1813, Oct. 17; 1934, Oct. 24; 2048, Oct. 31; 2159, Nov. 7; 2268-9, Nov. 14; 2453, Nov. 21; 2664, Dec. 5; 3027, Dec. 19, 1925; 47, Jan. 2; 474, Jan. 23; 584, Jan. 30; 806, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2010, Oct. 31; insert, Dec. 19; 3123, 3185, Dec. 26, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 2047, Oct. 31, 1925; 584, Jan. 30, 1926.

Lobby Displays: Pages 181, Jan. 9; 1098, Mar. 6, 1926.

Exploitation: Pages 901, Feb. 20; 1100, Mar. 6, 1926.

LORD JIM. Produced by Famous Players-Lasky. Distributed by Paramount. Released Dec., 1925. With Percy Marmont, Shirley Mason and Noah Beery. Director, Victor Fleming. Length, 6,702 feet.

Theme: A romantic drama of the East Indian seas and the jungle country, in which a sailor, ruled an outcast by a high seas' court, becomes a power among the natives, finding real love and at last peace eternal.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 21, 1925, page 2461.

First run showings: Pages 2559-60, Nov. 28; 2664, Dec. 5; 3028-9, Dec. 19; 3160, Dec. 26, 1925; 47, Jan. 2; 474, Jan. 23, 1926.

Advertising: Two-page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 2589, May 30; 2870, June 13; 361-2, July 25; 1303, Sept. 19; 2488, Nov. 28; 2599, Dec. 5; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.

LORRAINE OF THE LIONS. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Oct. 11, 1925. Featuring Norman Kerry and Patsy Ruth Miller. Director, Edward Sedgwick. Length, 6,750 feet.

Theme: Jungle melodrama, with gorilla as one of central figures and romantic love interest.

References: Reviewed issue Aug. 15, 1925, page 845.

First run showings: Pages 1257, Sept. 12; 1710, Oct. 10; 2162, Nov. 7; 2664, Dec. 5, 1925; 49, Jan. 2; 295, Jan. 16; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1904, May 2; 2596-7, May 30; 2774-6, June 6; 374-5, July 25, 1925; 639, Feb. 6, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Page 1602, Oct. 3, 1925.

LOST WORLD, THE. Produced by First National-Watterson R. Rothacker. Distributed by First National. Released Sept., 1925. With Bessie Love, Lewis Stone, Wallace Beery, Lloyd Hughes. Director, Harry O. Hoyt. Length, 9,700 feet.

Theme: Fanciful drama showing group of daring explorers brought in contact with prehistoric animals, culminating in one of the beasts being brought to London and which escapes to wreak havoc before he drowns in the Thames.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 21, 1925, page 817.

First run showings: Pages 903, Feb. 28; 2650, May 30; 2826, June 6; 2958, June 13; 3065, June 20; 3172-4, June 27; 93, July 4; 209, July 11; 313, July 18; 442, July 25; 829, Aug. 15; 946, Aug. 22; 1038g, Aug. 29; 1150, Sept. 5; 1255-6, Sept. 12; 1390-1, Sept. 19; 1492-3, Sept. 26; 1600, Oct. 3; 1708-9, Oct. 10; 1813, Oct. 17; 1933, Oct. 24; 2046, Oct. 31; 2269, Nov. 14; 2452, Nov. 21; 2561, Nov. 28; 2663, Dec. 5; 2824, Dec. 12; 3162, Dec. 26, 1925.

Advertising: Pages 2974, Dec. 29, 1923; insert, May 31; 147, July 12; 2 page insert, Nov. 29, 1924; insert, April 4; 29, July 4; 1122, Sept. 5; 1568-9, Oct. 3; 2008-9, Oct. 31, 1925; 1 page insert, Jan. 23, 1926.

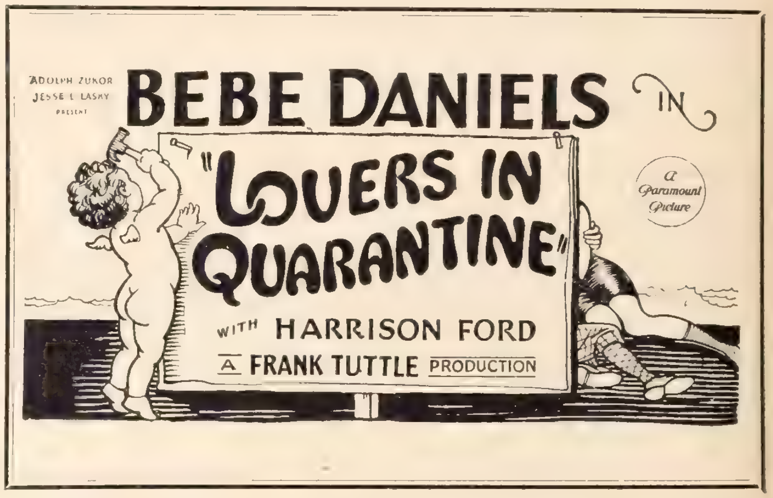
Prologues: Page 1328b, Mar. 28, 1925.

Lobby Displays: Pages 1928, Oct. 24, 1925; 178, Jan. 9; 897, Feb. 20, 1926.

Exploitation: Pages 1742g, April 18; 2254, May 16; 2546, 2552a, May 23; 305, July 18; 431, July 25; 705, Aug. 8; 1148, Sept. 5; 1253, Sept. 12; 1360, Sept. 19; 1487, Sept. 26; 1806, Oct. 17; 1929, Oct. 24; 2037, 2039, Oct. 31; 2265, Nov. 14; 2832, Dec. 12, 1925; 81, Jan. 2; 176, 179-80, Jan. 9; 580g, Jan. 30; 795, Feb. 13; 1005, Feb. 20, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 2964, June 13; 1039, Aug. 29; 1390, Sept. 19; 1494, Sept. 26; 1814, Oct. 17; 2048, Oct. 31, 1925.

Window Displays: Pages 3059, June 20; 432, July 25; 608, Aug. 1; 2038, Oct. 31, 1925. -



LOVERS IN QUARANTINE. Produced by Famous Players-Lasky. Distributed by Paramount. Released Oct. 12, 1925. Star, Bebe Daniels with Harrison Ford. Director, Frank Tuttle. Length, 6,570 feet.

Theme: Comedy, with heroine getting mixed up in elder sister's love affairs, and finally flirting herself into a match with desirable fiance.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 24, 1925, page 1947.

First run showings: Pages 1933-5, Oct. 24; 2159, 2161-2, Nov. 7; 2454, Nov. 21; 2664, Dec. 5, 1925; 49, Jan. 2; 295, Jan. 16; 475, Jan. 23, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 496, Aug. 1; 649, Aug. 8; 1541, Oct. 3; 1754, Oct. 17; 1 page insert, Oct. 31; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Page 2160, Nov. 7, 1925.

LOVER'S ISLAND. Produced by Henri D. Berger. Distributed by Associated Exhibitors. Released Dec. 27, 1925. Star, Hope Hampton. Director, Henri D. Berger. Length, 4,624 feet.

Theme: Romantic drama. Waif of fishing village wins member of "400" as husband.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 23, 1926, page 484.

Advertising: Insert, Aug. 15; two page insert, Dec. 12, 1925; 746-7, Feb. 13, 1926.

LOVE TOY, THE. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Feb. 13, 1926. Star, Lowell Sherman. Director, Erle C. Kenton. Length, 5,118 feet.

Theme: Comedy, dealing with the rise to power of American youth disappointed in love, who finds new sweetheart and happiness in mythical kingdom.

References: Reviewed issue Mar. 13, 1926, page 1212.

Advertising: Insert, Aug. 1, 1925.

LUCK AND SAND. Produced by Maloford Prod. Distributed by Clarion Photoplays, Inc. Released Oct. 24, 1925. Star and director, Leo Maloney. Length, 5,000 feet.

Theme: Western. Jim Blake intervenes to save brother of girl he loves, when former is unjustly suspected of murder. He also clears his own name and gets his reward.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 27, 1926, page 1010.

LUCKY SPURS. Produced by H. B. Carpenter. Distributed by Chesterfield M. P. Corp. Released Feb. 1, 1926. Star, Bill Patton. Director, H. B. Carpenter. Length, 5 reels.

Theme: Western melodrama. Foundling is brought up in ignorance of parents. Later youth falls in love with a ranch owner's daughter and it develops that he is son of rancher's former partner and rightfully half-owner of wealthy establishment.

LURE OF THE TRACK. Produced by Chas. Makranzy. Distributed by Lee-Bradford Corp. Released Dec., 1925. With Maclyn Arbuckle and Sheldon Lewis. Length, 5,000 feet.

Theme: Race-track melodrama with climax enacted during running of the Derby, on which hero, a jockey, has staked all. Though object of plots, he pilots mount to victory, his winnings enabling him to save sweetheart and her father from ruin.

LURE OF THE WILD, THE. Produced and distributed by Columbia Pictures Corp. Released Jan. 1, 1926. With Jane Novak and Alan Roscoe. Director, Frank R. Strayer. Length, 5,684 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Treats of young wife whose husband is killed by enemy and dog that rescues lost child. Dog forces villain over cliff. Trapper weds widow.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 13, 1926, page 811.
First run showings: Page 587, Jan. 30, 1926.
Advertising: Pages 545, July 29; 1636-7, Sept. 30, 1922; 1664. Oct. 10, 1925.

M

MADAM BEHAVE. Produced by Al Christie. Distributed by Prod. Dist. Corp. Released Dec. 6, 1925. With Julian Eltinge and Ann Pennington. Director, Scott Sidney. Length, 5,415 feet.

Theme: Farce comedy. Plot hinging on attempts of law-suit principals to locate missing unknown woman witness, impersonated by hero with comic results.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 14, 1925, page 2363.
First run showings: Pages 2664, Dec. 5; 3162, Dec. 26, 1925; 183, Jan. 9; 293, Jan. 16; 474, Jan. 23, 1926.
Advertising: Pages 2098-99, Nov. 7; 2603, Dec. 5; 3081, 3091, Dec. 25, 1925; 640-1, Feb. 6; 850-1, Feb. 20, 1926.
Window Displays: Page 1382, Mar. 27, 1926.

CECIL B. DEMILLE PRESENTS
Leatrice Joy
IN
"MADE for LOVE"
WITH EDMUND BURNS, BERTRAM GRASSBY & ETHEL WALES
STORY AND ADAPTATION BY GARRETT FORT
RELEASED BY PRODUCERS DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION
A PAUL SLOANE PRODUCTION

MADE FOR LOVE. Produced by Cecil B. DeMille. Distributed by Producers Dist. Corp. Released Feb. 14, 1926. Star, Leatrice Joy. Director, Paul Sloane. Length, 6,703 feet.

Theme: Drama. Absorbed in his work, American archaeologist neglects his wife. They are trapped in an ancient tomb by an Egyptian Prince, rescued and reunited.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 13, 1926, page 812.
First run showings: Pages 474, Jan. 23; 585, Jan. 30, 1926.
Advertising: Pages 1092, Sept. 5; 3081, Dec. 26, 1925; 118, Jan. 9, 1926.
Lobby Displays: Page 1203, Mar. 13, 1926.

MAN FROM RED GULCH, THE. Produced by Hunt Stromberg. Distributed by Prod. Dist. Corp. Released Dec. 13, 1925. Star, Harry Carey. Director, Edmund Mortimer. Length, 5,437 feet.

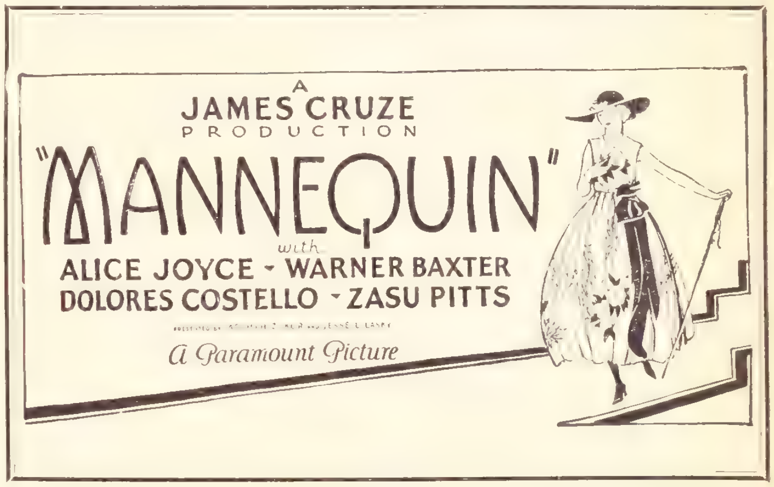
Theme: Melodrama of California, '49 period. Hero befriends children of slain partner, wins love of their aunt and avenges pal's death at the finish.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 5, 1925, page 2691.
First run showings: Page 3027, Dec. 19, 1925.
Advertising: Pages 7, July 4; 1991, Oct. 31; 3081, Dec. 26, 1925.
Exploitation: Page 896, Feb. 20, 1926.

MANHATTAN MADNESS. Produced by Fine Arts Pictures, Inc. Distributed by Associated Exhibitors. Released Sept. 20, 1925. Baxter, Dolores Costello and Zazu Pitts. Director, James Cruze. Length, 6,981 feet.

Theme: Adventure romance of westerner who comes to New York and belittles the city. His friends surprise him with plenty of excitement.

References: Reviewed issue July 25, 1925, page 463.
First run showings: Pages 94, July 4; 828, Aug. 15; 3028, Dec. 19, 1925; 584, Jan. 30, 1926.
Advertising: Two page insert, Aug. 15; 1 page insert, Sept. 5, 1925.



MANNEQUIN. Produced by Famous Players. Distributed by Paramount. Released Jan., 1926. With Alice Joyce, Warner Baxter and Dolores Costello. Director, James Cruze. Length, 6,981 feet.

Theme: Society drama. Spans years developing cloak model's life history.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 2, 1926, page 86.
First run showings: Pages 48-49, Jan. 2; 293, Jan. 16; 474, Jan. 23; 586-7, Jan. 30; 695, Feb. 6, 1926.
Advertising: Pages 2488, Nov. 28; 2599, Dec. 5; 2720-1, Dec. 12; 3073, Dec. 26, 1925; 3, Jan. 2; 115-6, Jan. 9; 229, Jan. 16; 339, Jan. 23, 1926.
Prologues: Page 1005, Feb. 27, 1926.

MAN OF NERVE, A. Produced by Independent Pict. Corp. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Sept. 20, 1925. Star, Bob Custer. Director, Louis W. Chaudet. Length, 4,452 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama. Cowboy is unjustly suspected of murdering employer, nearly lynched, saved by sweetheart, proves innocence, gets real criminal.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 28, 1925, page 2571.
Advertising: Page 3086, Dec. 26, 1925.

MAN ON THE BOX, THE. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Oct. 17, 1925. Star, Syd Chaplin. Director, Chuck Reisner. Length, 7,239 feet.

Theme: Comedy of mistaken identity in which hero, a wealthy young man, masquerades as the groom, and later the maid, of the girl he has fallen in love with, ultimately foiling the villainous spies and winning the girl.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 10, 1925, page 1718.
First run showings: Pages 1707, Oct. 10; 1813, Oct. 17; 1933, Oct. 24; 2160. Nov. 7; 2270, Nov. 14; 2454, Nov. 21; 2663, 2665, Dec. 5; 2824-5, Dec. 12; 3027, Dec. 19; 3160-1, Dec. 26, 1925; 47, Jan. 2; 184, Jan. 9; 293-4, Jan. 16; 587, Jan. 30; 697, Feb. 6, 1926.
Advertising: Insert, Aug. 1; 1330-1, Sept. 19; 1662-3, Oct. 10; 1775, Oct. 17, 1925.
Newspaper Displays: Pages 2664, Dec. 5; 3033, Dec. 19, 1925; 182, Jan. 9; 293, Jan. 16, 1926.
Exploitation: Page 580g, Jan. 30, 1926.

MAN RUSTLIN'. Produced by Independent Pict. Corp. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Jan. 10, 1926. Star, Bob Custer. Director, Del Andrews. Length, 4,666 feet.

Theme: Western comedy melodrama. Hero cowboy turns reporter to please girl, succeeds by digging up sensational stories, becomes syndicate writer and weds her.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 16, 1926, page 306.
Advertising: Page 537, Jan. 30, 1926.

MAN UPSTAIRS, THE. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Jan. 22, 1926. Star, Monte Blue. Director, Roy Del Ruth. Length, 6,251 feet.

Theme: Mystery drama. Hero making joke out of murder story has tables turned on him by girl he meets through personal in Agony Column.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 13, 1926, page 813.

First run showings: Page 586, Jan. 30, 1926.

MAN WHO FOUND HIMSELF, THE. Produced by Famous Players-Lasky. Distributed by Paramount. Released Sept. 28, 1925. Star, Thomas Meighan with Virginia Valli. Director, Alfred E. Green. Length, 7,168 feet.

Theme: Heart interest drama, in which loyal hero goes to jail to cover up guilt of weak brother, temporarily loses his sweetheart, but regains her, and decides not to carry out intended scheme of revenge.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 5, 1925, page 1163.

First run showings: Pages 1150, Sept. 5; 1389-90, Sept. 19; 1493-4, Sept. 26; 1708-10, Oct. 10; 1813, 1816, Oct. 17; 2162, Nov. 7; 2269, Nov. 14; 2454, Nov. 21; 2663, Dec. 5, 1925.

Advertising: Two-page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 3109, June 27; 362, July 25; 497, Aug. 1; 649, 651, Aug. 8; 1200, Sept. 12; 1643, Oct. 10; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 1814, Oct. 17; 2665, Dec. 5, 1925.

Lobby Displays: Page 3196, Dec. 26, 1925.

MASKED BRIDE, THE. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Dec. 6, 1925. Star, Mae Murray. Director, Wm. Christy Cabanne. Length, 5,699 feet.

Theme: Crook and society melodrama. Apache dancer plots with confederate to rob American millionaire, weds him, experiences remorse, reforms and is forgiven.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 12, 1925, page 2844.

First run showings: Pages 2823, Dec. 12, 1925; 48, Jan. 2; 183, Jan. 9; 294, Jan. 16; 474, Jan. 23; 585, Jan. 30; 697, Feb. 6; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 3103, Dec. 26, 1925; insert, Jan. 16, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Page 940, Feb. 20, 1926.

MEMORY LANE. Produced by Louis B. Mayer. Distributed by First National. Released Jan. 17, 1926. With Eleanor Boardman and Conrad Nagel. Director, John M. Stahl. Length, 6,825 feet.

Theme: Society drama, in which wife retains love for childhood sweetheart. Latter dispels illusion and brings her happiness with husband.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 23, 1926, page 485.

First run showings: Pages 696, Feb. 6; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, Dec. 19, 1925; 150, Jan. 9; 1-page insert, Jan. 23; 868, Feb. 20, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Page 696, Feb. 6, 1926.

Prologues: Page 1316, Mar. 20, 1926.

MERRY WIDOW, THE. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Nov. 15, 1925. With Mae Murray and John Gilbert. Director, Erich Von Stroheim. Length, 10,027 feet.

Theme: Mythical kingdom story, with the hero, a prince, eventually marrying the heroine, an American chorus girl.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 12, 1925, page 1272.

First run showings: Pages 1150, Sept. 5; 2159-61, Nov. 7; 2267-9, Nov. 14; 2453-4, Nov. 21; 2559-60, Nov. 28; 2665-66, Dec. 5; 2825-6, Dec. 12; 3028-9, Dec. 19; 3159-60, Dec. 26, 1925; 47, Jan. 2; 183, Jan. 9; 294-5, Jan. 16; 475-6, Jan. 23; 587, Jan. 30; 697, Feb. 6; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 661, Feb. 10; 884, Feb. 24; 1-page insert, Aug. 4, 1923; insert, July 19; 492, Aug. 2; front cover and insert, Nov. 8; front cover and insert, Dec. 6; front cover, Dec. 27, 1924; front cover, 2490, May 23; insert, June 13; insert, June 20; 3-page insert, June 27; front cover and insert, July 4; insert, July 11; insert, July 18; insert, July 25; insert, Aug. 1; front cover, Sept. 12; front cover and insert, Sept. 19; front cover, Sept. 26; front cover, Oct. 10; front cover, Oct. 31; front cover, Nov. 7; 2214-5, Nov. 14; 2732, Dec. 12; front cover, Dec. 19, 1925; insert, Jan. 16; front cover, also 4-page insert, Mar. 6; front cover, Mar. 20, 1926.

Lobby Displays: Pages 287, Jan. 16; 816, Feb. 13; 1202, Mar. 13, 1926.

Exploitation: Pages 3196, Dec. 26, 1925; 180-1, Jan. 9; 582, Jan. 30; 900, Feb. 20; 1005, Feb. 27; 1097, 1101, Mar. 6, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 2823, Dec. 12; 3014, Dec. 19, 1925; 1204, Mar. 13, 1926.

Window Displays: Pages 292, Jan. 16; 1101, Mar. 6, 1926.

MIDNIGHT FLYER, THE. Produced and distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Dec. 6, 1925. With Cullen Landis and Dorothy Devore. Director, Tom Forman. Length, 6,200 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Engineer dismissed on cowardice charge redeems himself by saving Midnight Flyer from collision, is reinstated and wins girl he loves.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 9, 1926, page 190.

First run showings: Pages 474, 476, Jan. 23; 585, Jan. 30; 806, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2434, May 16; 2894, June 13; 3111, June 27; 139, July 11; 400, July 25; 499, Aug. 1; 667, Aug. 8; 762, Aug. 15; 901, Aug. 22; 993, Aug. 29; 1108, Sept. 5; 1458, Sept. 26; 2000, Oct. 31, 1925; 144-5, Jan. 9; 656, Feb. 6; 1157, Mar. 13, 1926.

MIDNIGHT LIMITED. Produced by Gerson Pictures Corp. Distributed by Rayart Pictures. Released Feb. 1, 1926. With Gaston Glass and Wanda Hawley. Director, Oscar Apfel. Length, 5,855 feet.

Theme: Railroad melodrama. Crook attempts to rob station, falls in love with girl and reforms. Foils bandit friends and wins out by preventing a wreck.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 2, 1926, page 85.

MIDSHIPMAN, THE. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Oct. 18, 1925. Star, Ramon Novarro. Director, Wm. Christy Cabanne. Length, 7,498 feet.

Theme: Navy melodrama with genuine backgrounds, as exemplified by Annapolis scenes taken on the spot, with hero defeating enemies' schemes and winning girl he loves.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 24, 1925, page 1943.

First run showings: Pages 1707, Oct. 10; 1813-4, Oct. 17; 1933, Oct. 24; 2046-8, Oct. 31; 2267-8, Nov. 14; 2560, Nov. 28; 2666, Dec. 5; 2824, Dec. 12; 3027, Dec. 19; 3159, 3161, Dec. 26, 1925; 48, Jan. 2; 184, Jan. 9; 295, Jan. 16, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, July 18; insert, July 25; insert, Aug. 1; 1008, Aug. 29; insert, Sept. 19; front cover, Oct. 17; 2214, Nov. 14; 2732, Dec. 12, 1925; front cover, Jan. 2; insert, Jan. 16, 1926.

Exploitation: Pages 2830, Dec. 12, 1925; 82, Jan. 2; 181, Jan. 9; 1414, Mar. 27, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Page 2469, Nov. 21, 1925.

Prologues: Pages 181, Jan. 9; 1297, Mar. 20, 1926.

MILLION DOLLAR HANDICAP, THE. Produced by Metropolitan Pictures. Distributed by Producers Dist. Corp. Released Feb. 7, 1926. With Vera Reynolds, Edmund Burns and Ralph Lewis. Director, Scott Sidney. Length, 6,095 feet.

Theme: Turfman buys supposedly worthless horse which is ridden to victory by his daughter in a big race. She also clears reputation of unjustly accused lover.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 30, 1926, page 597.

Advertising: Insert, Dec. 12, 1925, pages 954-55, Feb. 27; 1338-9, Mar. 27, 1926.

MIRACLE OF LIFE, THE. Produced by S. E. V. Taylor. Distributed by Asso. Exhibitors. Released Feb. 28, 1926. With Percy Marmont and Mae Busch. Director, S. E. V. Taylor. Length, 4,757 feet.

Theme: Modern society drama, dealing with marital conflict between husband who wants a family and wife who prefers freedom to pursue gay social existence. A realistic dream in which she sees herself old and lonely changes her viewpoint.

References: Advertising: Insert, Aug. 15; 2-page insert, Dec. 12, 1925.

MOANA. Produced by Robert Flaherty. Distributed by Paramount. Released Feb. 22, 1926. Director, Robert Flaherty. Length, 6,133 feet.

Theme: A true story of the love and life of a native man of Savaii in British Samoa and his betrothed.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 30, 1926, page 595.

Advertising: One-page insert, Nov. 8, 1924; 2-page insert, May 16; 2-page insert, Dec. 19, 1925; 846, Feb. 20; 945, Feb. 27; 1042, Mar. 6, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 1382, Mar. 27, 1926.

MORALS FOR MEN. Produced and distributed by Tiffany Prod. Released Dec., 1925. With Conway Tearle and Agnes Ayres. Director, Bernie Hyman. Length, 7,443 feet.

Theme: Regeneration drama. Girl bootlegger and her "man" reform. He weds society girl and finds happiness. She is constantly blackmailed and commits suicide.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 5, 1925, page 2690.

First run showings: Pages 3029, Dec. 19, 1925; 805, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1911, May 2; insert, June 6; 2411, Nov. 21, 1925.

MY LADY OF WHIMS. Produced by Dallas M. Fitzgerald. Distributed by Arrow Film Corp. Released Jan. 15, 1926. With Clara Bow and Donald Keith. Director, Dallas M. Fitzgerald. Length, 6,689 feet.

Theme: Comedy. Hero hired by wealthy father to chaperon wild daughter is led a merry chase by girl, whom he wins at the finish.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 23, 1926, page 488.

MY OWN PAL. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Feb. 28, 1926. Star, Tom Mix with Olive Borden. Director, J. G. Blystone. Length, 6,658 feet.

Theme: Cowboy turns policeman, is successful in running down and eliminating crook gang, also saves girl he loves from kidnappers.

References: Reviewed issue Mar. 27, 1926, page 1421.

Advertising: Page 858, Feb. 20, 1926.

MYSTIC, THE. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Sept. 27, 1925. With Aileen Pringle and Conway Tearle. Director, Tod Browning. Length, 6,239 feet.

Theme: Crook melodrama, with fake spiritualists doing their stuff, numerous thrills and romantic interest.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 12, 1925, page 1269.

First run showings: Pages 1255-6, Sept. 12; 1392, Sept. 19; 1493, Sept. 26; 1599, Oct. 3; 1707, Oct. 10; 1814, Oct. 17; 2046-7, Oct. 31; 2162, Nov. 7; 2268, Nov. 14; 2454, Nov. 21; 2559, Nov. 28, 1925.

Advertising: Insert, June 6; insert, June 13; insert, June 27; insert, July 4; insert, July 18; insert, July 25; insert, Aug. 1; 1008, Aug. 29; insert, Sept. 19; 1773, Oct. 17; 2732, Dec. 12, 1925; insert, Jan. 16, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 2043, Oct. 31, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 1708, Oct. 10; 2270, Nov. 14, 1925.

N

NEVER THE TWAIN SHALL MEET. Produced by Cosmopolitan. Distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Sept. 13, 1925. With Anita Stewart, Bert Lytell and Huntly Gordon. Director, Maurice Tourneur. Length, 8,143 feet.

Theme: Treats of American who yields to South Seas lure, lives with native girl, deteriorates under tropical spell but is finally regenerated.

References: Reviewed issue Aug. 8, 1925, page 719.

First run showings: Pages 708, 711, Aug. 8; 828, Aug. 15; 945, Aug. 22; 1038g-h, 1039, Aug. 29; 1151, Sept. 5; 1257, Sept. 12; 1389, Sept 19; 1599, Oct. 3; 1709, Oct. 10; 1814, Oct 17; 1933, Oct. 24; 2268, Nov. 14; 2452-3, Nov. 21; 2561, Nov. 28, 1925.

Advertising: Insert, July 19; 492, Aug. 2, 1924; 310, Jan. 24; 526, Feb. 7; front cover, Feb. 14; insert, June 13; insert, June 20; insert, June 27; front cover, also insert, July 4; insert, July 18; insert, July 25; 766, Aug. 15; front cover, Aug. 22; 1008, Aug. 29; insert, Sept. 19; 1550, Oct. 3; 1773, Oct. 17; 2116-7, Nov. 7; 2214-5, Nov. 14; 2732, Dec. 12, 1925; insert, Jan. 16, 1926.

Exploitation: Pages 1702, 1706, Oct. 10, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Page 2664, Dec. 5, 1925.

NEW BROOMS. Produced by Famous Players-Lasky. Distributed by Paramount. Released Oct. 12, 1925. With Bessie Love, Neil Hamilton and Phyllis Haver. Director, Wm. de Mille. Length, 5,443 feet.

Theme: A comedy of American home life in which a father comes close to wrecking his business, but makes a man out of his son in doing it.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 24, 1925, page 1946.

First run showings: Pages 2046, Oct. 31; 2162, Nov. 7; 2267-8, Nov. 14; 2453-4, Nov. 21; 2561, Nov. 28; 2664, Dec. 5; 2826, Dec. 12, 1925; 586, Jan. 30, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 2589, May 30; 2871, June 13; 360, July 25; 496, Aug. 1; 649, Aug. 8; 1541, Oct. 3; 1642, Oct. 10; 1 page insert, Oct. 31; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.

Exploitation: Pages 2351, Nov. 14; 2451, Nov. 21, 1925.

Lobby Displays: Page 2827, Dec. 12, 1925.

NEW CHAMPION, THE. Produced and distributed by Columbia Pictures Corp. Released Sept. 1, 1925. With Wm. Fairbanks and Edith Roberts. Director, Reeves Eason. Length, 4,547 feet

Theme: Prizefight melodrama. Hero substitutes for pugilist pal in match, beats champion and wins pretty girl.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 19, 1925, page 3047.

NEW COMMANDMENT, THE. Produced by Robert T. Kane. Distributed by First National. Released Nov. 1, 1925. With Blanche Sweet and Ben Lyon. Director, Howard Higgin. Length, 6,980 feet.

Theme: Romantic drama of a youth of wealth who finds his true love in a French girl, forced to work as a model. The new commandment, "thou shalt not doubt," brings him back to her after misunderstandings and war.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 14, 1925, page 2359.

First run showings: Pages 2162, Nov. 7; 2452, Nov. 21; 2561, Nov 28; 2664-5, Dec. 5; 2823-4, Dec. 12; 3027, Dec. 19; 3160, Dec. 26, 1925; 49, Jan. 2; 184, Jan. 9; 294-5, Jan. 16; 474, Jan. 23; 584, Jan. 30; 695, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2227, 2230, Nov. 14; 2524, Nov. 28; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 294, Jan. 16; 587, Jan. 30, 1926.

NIGHT CRY, THE. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Feb. 27, 1926. With Rin-Tin-Tin, June Marlowe and John Harron. Director, Herman Raymaker. Length, 6,300 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Dog, declared to be a "killer," is proven innocent, gets the real culprit, a giant condor; saves his master's baby.

References: Reviewed issue Mar. 20, 1926, page 1304.

Advertising: Insert, Aug. 1, 1925.

Sunshine and Prosperity
1926
WB
1927
26
Warner Winners
Here are the "Makins" of your box office records for 1926-27

Read Your WARNER BROS. Announcement Again!

NO MAN'S LAW. Produced by Independent Pict. Corp. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Nov. 1, 1925. Star, Bob Custer. Director, Del Andrews. Length, 4,042 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama, with comedy effects, hero rescuing girl and weakling brother from gambling crooks and winning her.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 21, 1925, page 2462.

Advertising: Pages 3086, Dec. 26, 1925; 537, Jan. 30, 1926.

NORTHERN CODE, THE. Produced by Gotham Prod. Distributed by Lumas Film Corp. Released Dec., 1925. With Eva Novak and Robert Ellis. Director, Leon De La Mothe. Length, 5,920 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Canadian North settings. Wife thinks she has slain brutal husband, weds another, husband reappears but meets death in fight with successor.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 9, 1926, page 191.

NORTH STAR. Produced by Howard Estabrook. Distributed by Associated Exhibitors. Released Dec. 20, 1925. Star, Strongheart. Director, Paul Powell. Length, 4,692 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Dog causes downfall of blackmailer who makes youth believe he has murdered a friend.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 16, 1926, page 304.

First run showings: Page 805, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, Aug. 15; 2 page insert, Dec. 12, 1925; 744-5, Feb. 13, 1926.

NOT SO LONG AGO. Produced by Famous Players-Lasky. Distributed by Paramount. Released Sept. 7, 1925. With Betty Bronson and Ricardo Cortez. Director, Sidney Olcott. Length, 6,949 feet.

Theme: Heart interest drama, interpolated with comedy. New York locale. Period 1850. Depicts struggle of poor old inventor to construct horseless carriage and daughter's romance with wealthy lover.

References: Reviewed issue Aug. 8, 1925, page 718.

First run showings: Pages 708, Aug. 8; 828, Aug. 15; 943, Aug. 22; 1150-52, Sept. 5; 1257, Sept. 12; 1494, Sept. 26; 1710, Oct. 10; 1813, Oct. 17; 3160, Dec. 26, 1925; 474, Jan. 23, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 2589, May 30; 2871, June 13; 360-2, July 25; 496, Aug. 1; 649-50, Aug. 8; 749, Aug. 15; 872-3, Aug. 22, 1925.

Lobby Displays: Page 2157, Nov. 7, 1925.

Exploitation: Pages 1704, Oct. 10; 1929, Oct. 24; 2155-6, Nov. 7, 1925.

O

OLD CLOTHES. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Nov. 22, 1925. Star, Jackie Coogan. Director, Eddie Cline. Length, 5,915 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama. Tim Kelly, little Irish lad, and Max Ginsberg, elderly Hebrew, lose their money, go into the junk business and finally win out.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 21, 1925, page 2464.

First run showings: Pages 2452, Nov. 21; 2663-5, Dec. 5; 3162, Dec. 26, 1925; 47-9, Jan. 2; 182, Jan. 9; 294, Jan. 16; 476, Jan. 23, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, June 13; insert, June 27; insert, July 4; insert, July 18; insert, July 25; insert, Aug. 1; 2416-7, Nov. 21, 1925; insert, Jan. 16, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 292, Jan. 16, 1926.

Window Displays: Page 1101, Mar. 6, 1926.

ONE OF THE BRAVEST. Produced by Gotham Prod. Distributed by Lumas Film Corp. Released Oct., 1925. Star, Ralph Lewis. Director, Frank O'Connor. Length, 5,675 feet.

Theme: Melodrama, in which the young hero with an inborn dread of fire rises to the supreme occasion, proves himself one of the bravest, recovers the fire department funds, which have been foolishly invested by his mother, and wins the girl of his choice.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 5, 1925, page 2685.

Advertising: Pages 2932, June 13; 2651, Dec. 5, 1925; 1250, Mar. 20, 1926.

ONLY THING, THE. Produced by Elinor Glyn. Distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Nov. 22, 1925. With Eleanor Boardman and Conrad Nagel. Director, Jack Conway. Length, 5,284 feet.

Theme: Romantic drama. English Duke visits mythical kingdom of Chekia, woos princess betrothed to reigning monarch, wins and carries her off triumphantly.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 5, 1925, page 2688.

First run showings: Pages 2663, Dec. 5; 2825, Dec. 12; 3028, Dec. 19; 3161, Dec. 26, 1925: 48-9, Jan. 2; 182, Jan. 9; 293, 295, Jan. 16; 474-5, Jan. 23; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, Jan. 16, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Page 584, Jan. 30, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 1298, Mar. 20, 1926.

OUTLAW'S DAUGHTER, THE. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Sept. 20, 1925. Star, Josie Sedgwick with Edward Hearne. Director, Jack O'Brien. Length, 4,375 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama. Heroine, outlaw's daughter, finds protector in Jim King, when she gets into tangle trying to avenge father's death. She turns upon bandit confederates, fights against them, saves Jim's life and agrees to wed him.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 19, 1925, page 3044.

OUTSIDER, THE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Jan. 17, 1926. With Jacqueline Logan and Lou Tellegen. Director, Rowland V. Lee. Length, 5,424 feet.

Theme: Drama. Crippled girl dancer pronounced incurable by surgeons is restored to health by will-power and love of Hungarian gypsy mystic.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 30, 1926, page 600.

First run showings: Page 806, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2402-3, Nov. 21; 2516, Nov. 28; 3098, Dec. 26, 1925; 10, Jan. 2; 136, Jan. 9, 1926.

P

PACE THAT THRILLS, THE. Produced and distributed by First National Pictures. Released Oct. 4, 1925. With Ben Lyon, Mary Astor and Tully Marshall. Director, Webster Campbell. Length, 6,911 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama of a youthful movie star who has to bear the brand of cowardice because he cannot afford to take chances as his mother needs him to aid in obtaining a pardon from jail.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 17, 1925, page 1826.

First run showings: Pages 1933, 1935, Oct. 24; 2047, Oct. 31; 2162, Nov. 7; 2452, Nov. 21; 2560, Nov. 28, 1925.

Advertising: Pages 1780, Oct. 17; 1896, Oct. 24, 1925.

PALACE OF PLEASURE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Jan. 10, 1926. With Betty Compson and Edmund Lowe. Director, Emmett Flynn. Length, 5,467 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Royalist leader sought by Portuguese Government, abducts and weds actress who afterwards saves his life and escapes across border with him.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 23, 1926, page 485.

First run showings: Page 695, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2402-3, Nov. 21; 3099, Dec. 26, 1925.

PALS. Produced and distributed by Truart Film Corp. Released Nov., 1925. With Louise Lorraine, Rex (dog) and Black Beauty (horse). Director, John P. McCarthy. Length, 4,613 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama. Bruce Taylor finds deserted baby, takes care of it, is accused by jealous love-rival of abduction, is cleared, wins girl he loves.

References: Reviewed issue Mar. 13, 1926, page 1213.

Advertising: Insert, June 6, 1925.

PARISIAN NIGHTS. Produced by Gothic Prod. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Sept. 27, 1925. With Elaine Hammerstein and Lou Tellegen. Director, Al Santell. Length, 6,278 feet.

Theme: Melodrama of American sculptress in Paris who saves Apache robber from police by compelling him to be her model. The romance effects his redemption.

References: Reviewed issue June 20, 1925, page 3073.

First run showings: Pages 2958, June 13; 441, July 25; 612, Aug. 1; 1038f, Aug. 29; 1392, Sept. 19; 1493, Sept. 26; 1599-1600, Oct. 3; 1814, Oct. 17; 1934, Oct. 24; 2162, Nov. 7; 2268, Nov. 14; 2452, Nov. 21, 1925; 585, Jan. 30, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2434, May 16; 2894, June 13; 3110, June 27; 139, July 11; 400, July 25; 498, Aug. 1; 667, Aug. 8; 762, Aug. 15; 901, Aug. 22; 993, Aug. 29; 1108-9, Sept. 5; 1458, Sept. 26; 2000, Oct. 31, 1925; 1157, Mar. 13, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Page 442, July 25, 1925.

PARTNERS AGAIN. Produced by Samuel Goldwyn. Distributed by United Artists Corp. Released Feb. 15, 1926. With George Sidney and Alexander Carr. Director, Henry King. Length, 5,562 feet

Theme: Comedy. Potash and Perlmutter embark in auto business, are nearly killed demonstrating car, get caught in swindling game, but come out O. K. at finish.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 27, 1926, page 1011.

Advertising: Pages 3084-5, Dec. 26, 1925; 7, Jan. 2; 127, Jan. 9: 251, Jan. 16, 1926.

PART TIME WIFE, THE. Produced by Gotham Productions. Distributed by Lumas Film Corp. Released Sept., 1925. Star, Alice Calhoun. Director, Henry McCarty. Length, 6,100 feet.

Theme: Heart drama. Married life of film star and poor newspaper man almost wrecked by wife's preoccupation with her work, but both find happiness at last.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 5, 1925, page 2686.

Advertising: Page 2932, June 13, 1925; 1250, Mar. 20, 1926.

PASSIONATE YOUTH. Produced and distributed by Truart Pictures Corp. Released Nov., 1925. With Beverly Bayne, Frank Mayo and Pauline Garon. Director, Dallas Fitzgerald. Length, 6,571 feet.

Theme: Domestic drama of parents who separate in order that daughter may be benefited. Latter leads hectic career as flapper, but in saving her from jail conviction parents are reconciled.

References: Reviewed issue July 11, 1925, page 215.

First run showings: Pages 209, July 11; 3159, Dec. 26, 1925; 294, Jan. 16, 1926.

PEACOCK FEATHERS. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Oct. 18, 1925. Featuring Jacqueline Logan and Cullen Landis. Director, Svend Gade. Length, 6,802 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama of luxury-loving young girl who marries poor man and suffers the consequences for a time, but trouble is straightened out and they live happily ever after.

References: Reviewed issue Aug. 29, 1925, page 1051.

First run showings: Pages 1816, Oct. 17; 2045, Oct. 31; 2268, Nov. 14; 2453-4, Nov. 21; 3027, Dec. 19, 1925; 184, Jan. 9, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1905, May 2; 2597, May 30; 2775, 2778, June 6; 376-7, July 25, 1925.

Exploitation: Page 2037, Oct. 31, 1925.

Lobby Displays: Page 467, Jan. 23, 1926.

HUNT STROMBERG presents

"The People vs. Nancy Preston"

with MARGUERITE De La MOTTE and JOHN BOWERS

Adapted by Marion Orth from the novel by John A. Moroso

Directed by Tom Forman

RELEASED BY PRODUCERS DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

PEOPLE VS. NANCY PRESTON, THE. Produced by Hunt Stromberg. Distributed by Prod. Dist. Corp. Released Nov. 1, 1925. With Marguerite de la Motte and John Bowers. Director, Tom Forman. Length, 6,143 feet.

Theme: Underworld melodrama, dealing with regeneration of man and woman crooks, handicapped in effort to forget past by detective who watches them.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 7, 1925, page 2173.

First run showings: Pages 2452, Nov. 21; 2559, Nov. 28, 1925; 697, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2494-5, Nov. 28; 3081, Dec. 26, 1925.

PERFECT CLOWN, THE. Produced and distributed by Chadwick Pictures Corp. Released Dec. 15, 1925. Star, Larry Semon. Director, Fred Newmeyer. Length, 5,700 feet.

Theme: Farce comedy. Broker's clerk, given satchel of money to deposit in bank, is kept out all night, has awful time in company with negro porter guarding treasure, but finally lands back at office with it.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 26, 1925, page 3204.

Advertising: Pages 1562, April 11; 1364, Sept. 19, 1925; 862, Feb. 20, 1926.

PHANTOM EXPRESS, THE. Produced by Royal Pictures. Distributed by Ginsberg Dist. Corp. Released Nov., 1925. Featuring Ethel Shannon and David Butler. Director, John Adolphi. Length, 4,614 feet.

Theme: Railroad melodrama. Revengeful towerman wrecks Phantom Express by throwing wrong switch. Extra engineer takes the run and makes good. Second attempt to wreck train is foiled and villain exposed.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 12, 1925, page 2841.

Advertising: Page 756, Aug. 15, 1925.

PHANTOM OF THE FOREST, THE. Produced by Gotham Prod. Distributed by Lumas Film Corp. Released Jan., 1926. Star, Thunder (dog). Director, Henry McCarty. Length, 5,700 feet.

Theme: Melodrama, with dog star. Treats of conspirators' attempts to cheat girl out of land, and how they are foiled by her lover and dog Thunder.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 6, 1926, page 704.

First run showings: Pages 49, Jan. 2; 806, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Page 1250, Mar. 20, 1926.

PHANTOM OF THE OPERA, THE. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Nov. 15, 1925. Star, Lon Chaney. Director, Rupert Julian. Length, 8,464 feet.

Theme: Melodramatic spectacle, in which insane criminal hides in underground passages of Paris Opera, from where he brings malignant influence to bear on life of heroine and events at the Opera.

References: Reviewed issue Sept 19, 1925, page 1401.

First run showings: Pages 1389, Sept. 19; 1933, Oct. 24; 2046-7, Oct. 31; 2160-62, Nov. 7; 2269-70, Nov. 14; 2452, Nov. 21; 2559-61, Nov. 28; 2666, Dec. 5; 2823-6, Dec. 12; 3027-8, Dec. 19; 3159, Dec. 26, 1925; 184, Jan. 9; 474-6, Jan. 23; 584-5, Jan. 30; 696, Feb. 6; 804-6, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 3117, Dec. 20, 1924; 5, Jan. 3; 410-11, Jan. 31; 628-9, Feb. 14; 748-9, Feb. 21; 970, Mar. 7; 1187, Mar. 21; 1391, April 11; 2496-7, May 23; 2781, June 6; 517, Aug. 1; 655, Aug. 8; 1086-7, Sept. 5; 1314-15, Sept. 19; 1445, Sept. 26; 1656-7, Oct. 10; 1770-71, Oct. 17; 1986-7, Oct. 31; 2504-5, Nov. 28; 3056-7, Dec. 26, 1925; 638, Feb. 6, 1926.

Lobby Displays: Pages 180, Jan. 9; 795, Feb. 13; 1099, 1100, Mar. 6, 1926.

Exploitation: Pages 437, July 25; 1486, Sept. 26; 2043, Oct. 31; 2155, Nov. 7; 2351, Nov. 14; 2658, Dec. 5; 2829, Dec. 12; 3195, Dec. 26, 1925; 177, 179, Jan. 9; 288, Jan. 16; 580f, Jan. 30; 688, Feb. 6; 898, 901, Feb. 20; 1098, 1100, Mar. 6; 1203, Mar. 13, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 2648, May 30; 2683, Dec. 5, 1925; 294, Jan. 16, 1926.

Window Displays: Pages 1490, Sept. 26; 2698, Dec. 5. 1925.

PINCH HITTER, THE. Produced by Oscar A. Price. Distributed by Associated Exhibitors. Released Dec. 13, 1925. Star, Glenn Hunter. Director, Joseph Henabery. Length, 6,259 feet.

Theme: A comedy romance of college life in which the boob becomes the hero when he grabs victory for his Alma Mater in the big ball game of the year. He also wins a girl.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 12, 1925, page 2843.

Advertising: Insert, Aug. 15; 2 page insert, Dec. 12, 1925; insert, Jan. 16; 644-5, Feb. 6, 1926.

PLEASURE BUYERS, THE. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Dec. 19, 1925. With Irene Rich and Clive Brook. Director, Chet Withey. Length, 7,131 feet.

Theme: Mystery drama. Former police commissioner seeks to find who killed a wealthy gambler and clear his sweetheart.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 13, 1926, page 807.

First run showings: Pages 3159, Dec. 26, 1925; 47, Jan. 2; 476, Jan. 23; 695, Feb. 6; 805, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, Aug. 1, 1925.

PLEASURES OF THE RICH. Produced and distributed by Tiffany Prod. Released Feb., 1926. With Helene Chadwick, Mary Carr and Jack Mulhall. Director, Louis Gasnier. Length, 6,471 feet.

Theme: Modern society comedy-drama dealing with the adventures of a "nouveau riche" butter-and-egg man and his daughter in the realms of the "400."

References: Reviewed issue Mar. 20, 1926, page 1307.

Advertising: Pages 1011, May 2; insert, June 6, 1925.

"THE PONY EXPRESS"

with BETTY COMPSON RICARDO CORTEZ ERNEST TORRENCE WALLACE BEERY

A JAMES CRUZE PRODUCTION

PRESENTED BY ADOLPH ZUKOR JESSE L LASKY

a Paramount Picture

PONY EXPRESS, THE. Produced by Famous Players-Lasky. Distributed by Paramount. Released Oct. 12, 1925. With Betty Compson, Wallace Beery and Ricardo Cortez. Director, James Cruze. Length, 9,801 feet.

Theme: Melodrama, with American historical background, staged during days of pony express riders.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 26, 1925, page 1515.

First run showings: Pages 1392, Sept. 19; 1492, Sept. 26; 1599, Oct. 3; 1709, Oct. 10; 1816, Oct. 17; 1933, 1935, Oct. 24; 2046, 2048, Oct. 31; 2162, Nov. 7; 2268-70, Nov. 14; 2453-4, Nov. 21; 2664, Dec. 5; 2823, Dec. 12; 3159, Dec. 26, 1925; 47, Jan. 2; 184, Jan. 9, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 2589, May 30; 2869, June 13; 360, 362, July 25; 496-7, Aug. 1; 649, 651, Aug. 8; 1304-5, Sept. 19; 1403-4, Sept. 26; 1541, Oct. 3; 1753, Oct. 17; 1866, Oct. 24; 1 page insert, Oct. 31; 1 page insert, Nov. 7; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.

Exploitation: Pages 1701, Oct. 10; 2038, Oct. 31; 2265, Nov. 14; 2659, Dec. 5; 3196, Dec. 26, 1925; 288, 292, Jan. 16, 1926.

Window Displays: Page 1703, Oct. 10, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Page 2843, Dec. 12, 1925.

Prologues: Page 2859, Dec. 12, 1925.

Lobby Displays: Page 84, Jan. 2, 1926.

PRAIRIE PIRATE, THE. Produced by Hunt Stromberg. Distributed by Producers Dist. Corp. Released Oct. 11, 1925. Star, Harry Carey. Director, Edmund Mortimer. Length, 4,617 feet.

Theme: Border melodrama in which young ranchman turns bandit to avenge sister's death, accomplishes purpose and wins beautiful senorita for wife.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 26, 1925, page 1515.

First run showings: Pages 3160, Dec. 26, 1925.

Advertising: Pages 7, July 4; 1991, Oct. 31; 3081, Dec. 26, 1925.

PRETTY LADIES. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Sept. 6, 1925. With Zazu Pitts, Tom Moore, Ann Pennington, Lilyan Tashman. Director, Monta Bell. Length, 5,828 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama of back-stage revolving around lack of romance in life of comedienne. Love comes to her and when she nearly loses it, she wins back her husband through having faith in him.

References: Reviewed issue July 25, 1925, page 463.

First run showings: Pages 211, July 11; 439, July 25; 612, Aug. 1; 710, Aug. 8; 830, Aug. 15; 945, Aug. 22; 1151, Sept. 5; 1257, Sept. 12; 1599-1600, Oct. 3; 1707, Oct. 10; 1813, Oct. 17; 2046, Oct. 31; 2664, Dec. 5, 1925; 184, Jan. 9, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, June 6; insert, June 13; insert, June 27; insert, July 4; front cover, also insert, July 18; insert, July 25; front cover, also insert, Aug. 1; 1008, Aug. 29; front cover, also insert, Sept. 19; 1550, Oct. 3; 1773, Oct. 17; 2215, Nov. 14; 2732, Dec. 12, 1925; insert, Jan. 16, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 945, Aug. 22; 2046, Oct. 31; 2453, Nov. 21, 1925.

Window Displays: Pages 937, Aug. 22; 1148, Sept. 5; 2042, Oct. 31, 1925.

Lobby Displays: Pages 1491, Sept. 26; 2036, Oct. 31; 2260, Nov. 14, 1925.

Exploitation: Pages 1362, Sept. 19, 1925; 1096, Mar. 6, 1926.

PRIDE OF THE FORCE. Produced by Gerson Pictures Corp. Distributed by Rayart Pictures Corp. Released Oct., 1925. Star, Tom Santschi. Director, Duke Worne. Length, 5,139 feet.

Theme: Melodrama with police hero who wins promotion after being unjustly set back.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 21, 1925, page 2464.

PRIMROSE PATH, THE. Produced by Arthur F. Beck. Distributed by Arrow Film Corp. Released Sept. 15, 1925. With Clara Bow and Wallace MacDonald. Director, Harry O. Hoyt. Length, 5,475 feet.

Theme: Melodrama with murder mystery and heart interest. Hero accused of the crime, but finally freed, and winning girl who has waited for him.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 31, 1925, page 2056.

Advertising: Page 157, July 11, 1925.

PRINCE OF BROADWAY, THE. Produced and distributed by Chadwick Pictures Corp. Released Jan. 1, 1926. Star, George Walsh. Director, John Gorman. Length, 5,800 feet.

Theme: Middleweight champion boxer, down and out through careless living, is aided by actress, his former sweetheart, redeems himself, wins title and girl.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 2, 1926, page 89.

Advertising: Pages 1364-5, Sept. 19, 1925; 820, Feb. 20, 1926.

PRINCE OF PEP, THE. Produced by Carlos Prod. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Dec. 20, 1925. Star, Richard Talmadge. Director, Jack Nelson. Length, 4,911 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Young physician loses memory through head injury, turns crook, robs rich to help poor, is shocked back into own identity and wins pretty wife.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 2, 1926, page 88.

Advertising: Pages 3120-1, Dec. 26, 1925; 1246, Mar. 20, 1926.

Q

QUEEN O' DIAMONDS. Produced and distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Jan. 24, 1926. Star, Evelyn Brent. Director, Chester Withey. Length, 5,129 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Jerry Lyon, chorus girl, is cajoled by crooks into impersonating Broadway star she resembles, is mixed up in diamond theft, gets clear, weds man she loves.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 6, 1926, page 707.

QUO VADIS. Produced by UCI. Distributed by First National. Released Sept., 1925. With Emil Jannings. Director, Arturo Ambrosio. Length, 9,050 feet.

Theme: Spectacular drama of Nero's reign, showing his vices and cruelties and his persecution of the Christians. Romance interlaced with drama which culminates in Nero's downfall and death.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 28, 1925, page 928.

First run showings: Pages 903, Feb. 28; 1113, Mar. 14, 1242, Mar. 21; 1328h, Mar. 28; 1612, Apr. 11; 1747, 1749, Apr. 18; 1954, May 2; 2651, May 30; 2959, June 13; 3065-66, June 20; 710, Aug. 8, 1925.

Advertising: Insert, Apr. 4; 1574, Apr. 11; 1812-3, Apr. 25, 1925.

Lobby Displays: Pages 61, July 4; 942, Aug. 22, 1925.

Exploitation: Pages 2157, May 9; 2679, May 30; 3061, June 20; 436, July 25; 942, Aug. 22, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 3176, June 27; 1038h, Aug. 29, 1925.

Window Displays: Page 84, July 4, 1925.

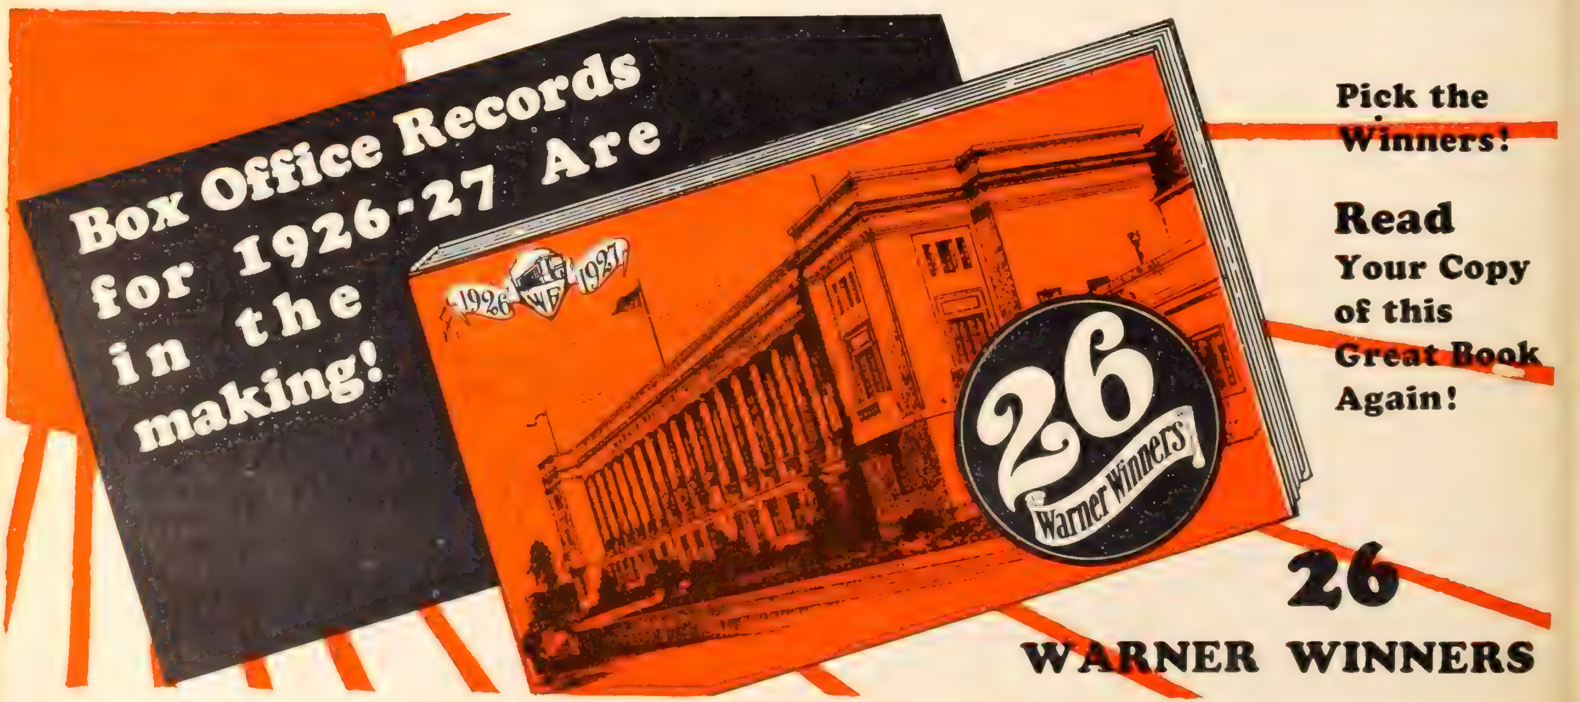
R

RAINBOW RILEY. Produced by C. C. Burr. Distributed by First National. Released Feb. 7, 1926. Star, Johnny Hines. Director, Charles Hines. Length, 6,450 feet.

Theme: Comedy. Cub reporter covers feud in Kentucky mountains where he wins bride after thrilling adventure.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 20, 1926, page 913.

Advertising: Pages 3185, Dec. 26, 1925; 2 page insert, Jan. 23; 770, Feb. 13; 970, Feb. 27; 1262-3, Mar. 20, 1926.



Box Office Records for 1926-27 Are in the making!
1926 WB 1927
26 Warner Winners
Pick the Winners!
Read Your Copy of this Great Book Again!
26 WARNER WINNERS

RECKLESS LADY, THE. Produced by Robert T. Kane. Distributed by First National. Released Jan. 24, 1926. With Belle Bennett and Ben Lyon. Director, Howard Higgin. Length, 7,336 feet.

Theme: Drama. Attentions of gay Russian separates Colonel Fleming and wife. Years later Russian is foiled in attempt to win their daughter. Flemings are reunited.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 6, 1926, page 708.

First run showings: Page 695, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 150, Jan. 9; 1 page insert, Jan. 23; 662, Feb. 6; 768-9, Feb. 13, 1926.

RED HOT TIRES. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Oct 31, 1925. With Monte Blue and Patsy Ruth Miller. Director, Erle C. Kenton. Length, 6,402 feet.

Theme: Farce-comedy. Young society man, driving auto, temporarily loses nerve through accident, regains it and has innumerable adventures chasing around after girl he falls in love with.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 31, 1925, page 2058.

First run showings: Pages 2045, Oct. 31; 2160, Nov. 7; 2452, Nov. 21; 2664, Dec. 5; 2826, Dec. 12; 3161, Dec. 26, 1925; 584, Jan. 30, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, Aug. 1; 1878-9, Oct. 24; 2114, Nov. 7, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Page 2826, Dec. 12, 1925.

REGULAR FELLOW, A. Produced by Famous Players-Lasky. Distributed by Paramount. Released Oct. 5, 1925. Star, Raymond Griffith. Director, Edward Sutherland. Length, 5,027 feet.

Theme: Farce-comedy, with prince for hero who doesn't like his job, is forced into all kinds of royal activities, welcomes a revolution, is made president of New Republic and weds girl he loves.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 17, 1925, page 1826.

First run showings: Pages 1600, Oct. 3; 1707, Oct. 10; 1813, 1817, Oct. 17; 1933-4, Oct. 24; 2045-8, Oct. 31; 2160-62, Nov. 7; 2268, Nov. 14; 2453, Nov. 21; 2665-6, Dec. 5, 1925.

Advertising: Pages 3107, June 27; 361, July 25; 496, Aug. 1; 651, Aug. 8; 1405, Sept. 26; 1541, Oct. 3; insert, Dec. 19, 1925; 517, Jan. 30, 1926.

Exploitation: Pages 2261, Nov. 14; 2830, Dec. 12; 3196, Dec. 26, 1925; 82, Jan. 2, 1926.

RIDIN' STREAK, THE. Produced by Independent Pict. Corp. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Nov. 29, 1925. Star, Bob Custer. Director, Del Andrews. Length, 4,540 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama. Young sheriff, in love with girl whose goods he is forced to seize by law, wins big money prize in horse race, defeats schemes of swindler and wins her love and gratitude.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 12, 1925, page 2845.

Advertising: Pages 3086-7, Dec. 26, 1925; 537, Jan. 30, 1926.

RIDIN' THE WIND. Produced and distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Sept. 27, 1925. Star, Fred Thomson. Director, Del Andrews. Length, 7,518 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama about a big brother who sacrifices in interests of the younger and then finds that the boy is a member of a gang of notorious crooks.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 24, 1925, page 1944.

First run showings: Page 2823, Dec. 12, 1925.

Advertising: Page 2217, Nov. 14, 1925.

ROAD TO GLORY, THE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Feb. 7, 1926. With May McAvoy, Leslie Fenton, Ford Sterling. Director, Howard Hawks. Length, 6,038 feet.

Theme: Drama. Girl goes blind, loses faith in God, renounces sweetheart. He seeks her out again. Accidental shock restores her sight. They are reunited.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 20. 1926,-page 911.

Advertising: Page 765, Feb. 13, 1926.

ROAD TO YESTERDAY, THE. Produced by Cecil B. DeMille. Distributed by Prod. Dist. Corp. Released Nov. 15, 1925. With Jos. Schildkraut, Jetta Goudal, Vera Reynolds, Wm. Boyd, Julia Faye. Director, Cecil B. DeMille. Length, 9,980 feet.

Theme: Drama in which modern characters are transported back to scenes of former lives in ancient England, awake from unconsciousness and find happiness awaiting them among surroundings of today.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 21, 1925, page 2460.

First run showings: Pages 2453, Nov. 21; 2559, Nov. 28; 2665, Dec. 5; 2823-4, Dec 12; 3162, Dec. 26, 1925; 47, Jan. 2; 183, 185, Jan. 9; 475-6, Jan. 23; 585, Jan. 30; 697, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 364, July 25; 2398-99, Nov. 21; 2722-3, 2726, Dec. 12; 2949, Dec. 19; 3081, Dec. 26, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 3027, Dec. 19, 1925; 585, Jan. 30, 1926.

Exploitation: Pages 180, Jan. 9; 1381-82, Mar. 27, 1926.

ROARING RIDER, THE. Produced by Action Pictures. Distributed by Weiss Bros. Artclass Pictures Corp. Released Jan. 2, 1926. Star, Wally Wales. Director, Richard Thorpe. Length, 5,000 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama in which hero enters community where ranchers are terrorized by gang of cattle thieves. Hero falls in love with girl, and takes up pursuit of gang, ultimately ending the menace which hangs over the community.

ROCKING MOON. Produced by Metropolitan Pict. Distributed by Producers Dist. Corp. Released Jan. 10, 1926. With Lilyan Tashman, John Bowers, Rockliffe Fellowes and Laska Winter. Director, George Melford. Length, 6,013 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Girl owner of fox ranch on island is tricked by unworthy suitor who steals pelts, casting suspicion on her lover, but latter clears himself.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 23, 1926, page 486.

First run showings: Page 696, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, Dec. 12; 3081, Dec. 26, 1925; 234-5, Jan. 16; 1244-5, Mar. 20, 1926.

ROMANCE ROAD. Produced and distributed by Truart Film Corp. Released Oct., 1925. Star, Raymond McKee. Director, Fred Windemere. Length, 4,300 feet.

Theme: A comedy-drama dealing with the rough road to fortune encountered in a rural setting by a returned service man.

References: Reviewed issue Aug. 8, 1925, page 720.

ROSE OF THE WORLD. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Nov. 21, 1925. Star, Patsy Ruth Miller. Director, Harry Beaumont. Length, 7,421 feet.

Theme: Heart drama. Wealthy youth jilts sweetheart, weds another, girl marries unworthy chap in revenge. Both marriages unhappy, but lovers are finally united.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 21, 1925, page 2465.

First run showings: Pages 2452-3, Nov. 21, 1925; 476, Jan. 23; 586, Jan. 30, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, Aug. 1; 2610-11, Dec. 5, 1925.

S

SADDLE CYCLONE, THE. Produced by Action Pictures, Inc. Distributed by Weiss Bros. Artclass Pictures Corp. Released Nov. 13, 1925. Star, Buffalo Bill, Jr. Director, Richard Thorpe. Length, 5,000 feet.

Theme: Westerner. Bill Demming foils plot of conspirators to foreclose mortgage on friend's ranch, impersonates latter, is forced into wedding girl, finds her O. K.

References: Reviewed issue Mar. 20, 1926, page 1308.

SAGEBRUSH LADY. Produced by H. T. Henderson. Distributed by Chesterfield M. P. Corp. Released Oct. 1, 1925. Star, Eileen Sedgwick. Director, H. B. Carpenter. Length, 5 reels.

Theme: Western Melodrama. Government Agent Hayden visits Paula Loring's ranch in disguise to capture cattle-rustlers, she saves him from lynching, he wins her.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 6, 1926, page 702.

SALLY, IRENE AND MARY. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Dec. 6, 1925. With Constance Bennett, Joan Crawford and Sally O'Neil. Director, Edmund Goulding. Length, 5,564 feet.

Theme: Comedy-melodrama. Depicts lives of three chorus girls who sport gaily in the city's night life, heroine finally settling down with humble lover.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 19, 1925, page 3042.

First run showings: Pages 3027, Dec 19; 3159, Dec. 26, 1925; 182, Jan. 9; 294-5, Jan. 16; 475, Jan. 23; 585, Jan. 30; 695, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, June 6; insert, June 13; insert, June 20; insert, June 27; front cover, also insert, July 4; insert, July 18; insert, July 25; insert, Aug. 1; front cover, Dec. 5; 2974-5, Dec. 19; 3103, Dec. 26, 1925; insert, Jan. 16, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Page 1104, Mar. 6, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 1204, Mar. 13, 1926.

SATAN IN SABLES. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Nov. 14, 1925. Star, Lowell Sherman. Director, James Flood. Length, 6,995 feet.

Theme: Melodrama of high and low life in Paris, with Apache heroine, and Russian prince for hero, who finally weds her.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 24, 1925, page 1942.
First run showings: Pages 1933, Oct. 24; 2161, Nov. 7; 2559-60, Nov. 28; 2824, Dec. 12; 3162, Dec. 26, 1925; 47, Jan. 2; 293, Jan. 16; 587, Jan. 30, 1926.
Advertising: Insert, Aug. 1, 1925.
Newspaper Displays: Page 3161, Dec. 26, 1925.

SCANDAL STREET. Produced by Whitman Bennett. Distributed by Arrow Film Corp. Released Sept. 1, 1925. With Madge Kennedy and Niles Welch. Director, Whitman Bennett. Length, 6,923 feet.

Theme: Drama of motion picture life, with hero impersonating dead star in production and finally wedding deceased's widow.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 14, 1925, page 2356.
Advertising: Page 157, July 11, 1925.

SCARLET SAINT, THE. Produced and distributed by First National Pictures. Released Nov. 8, 1925. With Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes. Director, George Archainbaud. Length, 6,880 feet.

Theme: Society drama, New Orleans locale. American girl weds foreign noble to save real lover from prison, gets her freedom at the finish and man she wants.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 21, 1925, page 2466.

First run showings: Pages 2453, Nov. 21; 2559, Nov. 28; 3161, Dec. 26, 1925; 47-8, Jan. 2; 293, Jan. 16; 585, Jan. 30, 1926.
Advertising: One page insert, April 4; 2120, Nov. 7; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.
Newspaper Displays: Pages 47, Jan. 2; 183, Jan. 9, 1926.

SEA BEAST, THE. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Jan. 15, 1926. Star, John Barrymore. Director, Millard Webb. Length, 9,950 feet.

Theme: Young whaling captain loses leg in a battle with huge whale, devotes life to its extinction, is finally successful, regains mental balance and sweetheart.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 30, 1926, page 599.

First run showings: Pages 584, Jan. 30; 805, Feb. 13, 1926.
Advertising: Insert, Aug. 1; 2955-58, Dec. 16, 1925; 539-42, Jan. 30; 658-9, Feb. 6; 757, Feb. 13; 865, Feb. 20; 958-59, Feb. 27; 1152-3, Mar. 13, 1926.
Lobby Displays: Page 904, Feb. 20, 1926.
Exploitation: Pages 687, Feb. 6; 904, Feb. 20; 1203, Mar. 13; 1414, Mar. 27, 1926.

SEALED LIPS. Produced and distributed by Columbia Pictures Corp. Released, Sept. 15, 1925. With Dorothy Revier and Cullen Landis. Director, Antonio Gaudio. Length, 5,722 feet.

Theme: Melodrama, with outstanding heart interest and heroine whose lover mistakes her father for rival, with near-tragic complication ensuing.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 7, 1925, page 2168.
Advertising: Page 1664, Oct. 10, 1925.

SEVEN DAYS. Produced by Al Christie. Distributed by Producers Dist. Corp. Released Sept. 20, 1925. With Lillian Rich. Director, Scott Sidney. Length, 6,989 feet.

Theme: House party quarantined on account of supposed smallpox outbreak which proves phony. Farce comedy.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 12, 1925, page 1274.

First run showings: Pages 1255, Sept. 12; 1389-90, Sept. 19; 1708, Oct. 10; 1814, Oct. 17; 2046, Oct. 31; 2561, Nov. 28, 1925; 697, Feb. 6, 1926.
Advertising: Pages 652-3, Aug. 8; 2603, Dec. 5; 3081, 3091, Dec. 26, 1925.
Exploitation: Pages 1358, Sept. 19; 2037, Oct. 31, 1925; 179, Jan. 9, 1926.
Newspaper Displays: Pages 2268-9, Nov. 14, 1925.

SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE. Produced by Famous Players-Lasky. Distributed by Paramount. Released Oct. 19, 1925. Star, Douglas MacLean. Director, Fred Newmeyer. Length, 6,648 feet.

Theme: Comedy setting forth the difficulties encountered by a young author who has to write a book in twenty-four hours to win a bride. He surmounts them and gets the girl.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 7, 1925, page 2169.

First run showings: Pages 1935, Oct. 24; 2046, Oct. 31; 2159-60, Nov. 7; 2267-70, Nov. 14; 2824-5, Dec. 12, 1925.
Advertising: Pages 1405, Sept. 26; 1541, Oct. 3; 1 page insert, Oct. 31; 1 page insert, Nov. 7; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.
Exploitation: Page 2830, Dec. 12, 1925.
Newspaper Displays: Pages 2666, Dec. 5; 2824-5, Dec. 12, 1925.
Lobby Displays: Page 80, Jan. 2, 1926.

SEVEN SINNERS. Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Released Nov. 7, 1925. With Marie Prevost and Clive Brook. Director, Lewis Milestone. Length, 6,880 feet.

Theme. Crook farce-melodrama. Thieves decide to loot unguarded mansion, working in seperate teams, mistake each other for servants, guests, etc., and have variety of weird experiences.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 19, 1925, page 3041.
First run showings: Pages 3027, Dec. 19; 3159-60, Dec. 26, 1925; 184, Jan. 9; 295, Jan. 16, 1926.
Advertising: Insert, Aug. 1; 2115, Nov. 7, 1925.

SHADOW OF THE LAW. Produced by Arthur Beck. Distributed by Asso. Exhibitors. Released Jan. 24, 1926. Star, Clara Bow. Director, Wallace Worsley. Length, 4,525 feet.

Theme: Crook melodrama. Master criminal frames girl into jail only to land there himself when her father and other members of villain's gang "get" him.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 20, 1926, page 909.

Advertising: Insert, Aug. 15; 2 page insert, Dec. 12, 1925.

SHADOW ON THE WALL, THE. Produced by Gotham Prod. Distributed by Lumas Film Corp. Released Nov., 1925. With Eileen Percy and Creighton Hale. Director, Reeves Eason. Length, 5,800 feet.

Theme: Crook mystery melodrama. Plot turns on assumption of wealthy heir's identity by supposed impostor, who it later develops is really the missing man.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 12, 1925, page 2846.

Advertising: Pages 2932, June 13, 1925; 538, Jan. 30; 1250, Mar. 20, 1926.

SHARE AND SHARE ALIKE. Produced by Whitman Bennett. Distributed by Arrow Film Corp. Released Dec. 15, 1925. With Jane Novak and James Rennie. Director, Whitman Bennett. Length, 5,514 feet.

SHE. Produced by A to X Products. Distributed by Lee-Bradford Corp. Released Nov., 1925. Star, Betty Blythe. Director, Leander de Cordova. Length, 7,600 feet.

Theme: Mysterious white queen in Africa claims young Englishman as her lover in a past life. She dies while attempting youth-renewal in a mystic flame.

References: Reviewed issue Mar. 27, 1926, page 1423.

Advertising: Pages 1371, Sept. 19, 1925; 529, Jan. 30, 1926.

SHIP OF SOULS. Produced by Max O. Miller. Distributed by Asso. Exhibitors. Released Feb. 7, 1926. With Bert Lytell and Lillian Rich. Director, Charles Miller. Length, 5,198 feet.

Theme: Drama romance of snow wastes. Hero after being ruined in Wall Street and deserted by his wife, finds a bride after much adventure.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 6, 1926, page 706.

Advertising: Two page insert, Dec. 12, 1925.

SHORE LEAVE. Produced by Inspiration Pictures, Inc. Distributed by First National Pictures. Released Sept. 6, 1925. Star, Richard Barthelmess. Director, John S. Robertson. Length, 6,856 feet.

Theme. Setting forth the efforts of Connie Martin, New England dressmaker, to grab a gob who appears miraculously it seems when Connie sees spinsterhood appearing in the offing.

References: Reviewed issue Aug. 29, 1925, page 1053.

First run showings: Pages 1152, Sept. 5; 1255, 1257, Sept. 12; 1389-92, Sept. 19; 1492-5, Sept. 26; 1601, Oct. 3; 1707, Oct. 10; 1813, Oct. 17; 2045-6, Oct. 31; 2160, Nov. 7; 2454, Nov. 21, 1925.
Advertising: One page insert, Apr. 4; 677, Aug. 8; 1010, Aug. 29; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.
Exploitation: Pages 1596, Oct. 3; 1704, Oct. 10; 2041, Oct. 31, 1925.
Newspaper Displays: Page 1496, Sept. 26; 2161, Nov. 7, 1925; 49, Jan. 2, 1926.

SIEGE. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Sept. 27, 1925. Featuring Virginia Valli and Eugene O'Brien. Director, Svend Gade. Length, 6,427 feet.

Theme: Character study of a strong-willed elderly woman in conflict with youth—and of how her spirit is broken and her pride humbled through the young woman's sacrifice.

References: Reviewed issue June 20, 1925, page 3075.

First run showings: Pages 828-9, Aug. 15; 944-5, Aug. 22; 1039, Aug. 29; 1152, Sept. 5; 1392, Sept. 19; 1493, Sept. 26; 1602, Oct. 3; 1709, Oct. 10; 1817, Oct. 17; 2162, Nov. 7; 2560, Nov. 28; 2666, Dec. 5, 1925; 49, Jan. 2; 586, Jan. 30, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1904, May 2; 2597, May 30; 2775-6, June 6; 3005, June 20; 3171, June 27; 16, July 4; 161, July 11; 372-3, July 25; 1317, Sept. 19; 1985, Oct. 31, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 1152, Sept. 5; 1495, Sept. 26; 1709, Oct. 10, 1925; 470, Jan. 23, 1926.

SILENT GUARDIAN. Produced and distributed by Truart Film Corp. Released Jan., 1926. With Louise Lorraine, Rex (dog), and Black Beauty (horse). Director, Wm. Bletcher. Length, 4,221 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama, with hero befriending villain's dog. Villain, through hold over girl's father, compels him to order daughter to marry him. Hero takes to drink. In the action which follows, with the dog playing an important part, the hero is nearly killed by villain but rescued by dog, accused of murder but cleared by dog, and together they rescue heroine from villain. All ends happily.

METROPOLITAN PICTURES CORP.
presents
'SIMON THE JESTER'
Adapted by FRANCES MARION from the novel by WILLIAM J. LOCKE with LILLIAN RICH and EUGENE O'BRIEN
Directed by George Melford
A FRANCES MARION PRODUCTION
RELEASED BY PRODUCERS DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

SIMON THE JESTER. Produced by Metropolitan Pict. Distributed by Prod. Dist. Corp. Released Nov. 8, 1925. With Lillian Rich and Eugene O'Brien. Director, George Melford. Length, 6,168 feet.

Theme: English drama. Hero ill of malady, doomed to die, falls in love with circus rider, whom he eventually weds, having recovered health.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 24, 1925, page 1947.

First run showings: Pages 2160, Nov. 7; 2559, Nov. 28, 1925; 48, Jan. 2; 585, Jan. 30, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2204-5, Nov. 14; 2400-01, Nov. 21; 2602, Dec. 5; 2724-5, also insert, Dec. 12; 2950-1, Dec. 19; 3081, Dec. 26, 1925.

Exploitation: Page 3196, Dec. 26, 1925.

SKY HIGH CORRAL. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Feb. 28, 1926. Star, Art Acord. Director, Clifford Smith. Length, 4,871 feet.

Theme: Western melo. Attempt by Whitney Durk to embroil rancher Hayden and daughter with Government officers is halted by Ranger McCabe, who defeats Durk, weds girl.

References: Reviewed issue April 3, 1926, page 1527.

Advertising: Pages 1906, May 2; 2597, May 30; 2775, 2785, June 6, 1925.

SKYROCKET, THE. Produced by Celebrity Pictures. Distributed by Asso. Exhibitors. Released Feb. 14, 1926. Star, Peggy Hopkins Joyce. Director, Marshall Neilan. Length, 7,350 feet.

Theme: Drama of young girl who goes to Hollywood, and struggles. Has meteoric rise to fame as star, success goes to her head, and when the crash comes she is saved by love of childhood playmate.

References: First run showings: Pages 695-96, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Eight page insert, Oct. 24; 4 page insert, Nov. 14, 1925; 340-1, Jan. 23; 642-3, Feb. 6, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 1005, Feb. 27, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Page 805, Feb. 13, 1926.

SMILIN' AT TROUBLE. Produced by Harry Garson. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Dec. 6, 1925. Star, "Lefty" Flynn. Director, Harry Garson. Length, 5,175 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Young civil engineer balks villains' plot to graft on dam-building by using inferior cement, beats up main conspirator, saves contractor's daughter from drowning and wins her.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 19, 1925, page 3046.

Advertising: Pages 2614-5, Dec. 5, 1925.

SOME PUN'KINS. Produced and distributed by Chadwick Pictures Corp. Released Nov. 1, 1925. Star, Charles Ray. Director, Jerome Storm. Length, 7,000 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama. Hero fire chief in rustic village, who tries to corner pumpkin market and has courtship constantly interrupted by alarms.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 19, 1925, page 1398.

First run showings: Pages 1707, Oct. 10; 3029, Dec. 19, 1925; 294, Jan. 16, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1562, Apr. 11; 1364, Sept. 19, 1925; 862, Feb. 20, 1926.

SONG AND DANCE MAN, THE. Produced by Famous Players. Distributed by Paramount. Released Feb. 8, 1926. With Tom Moore, Bessie Love, Harrison Ford and Norman Trevor. Director, Herbert Brenon. Length, 6,997 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama dealing with trials and tribulations of song and dance man, who after succeeding in business, returns to first love—the stage.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 30, 1926, page 596.

First run showings: Page 804, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, Dec. 19, 1925; 3, Jan. 2; 115, 117, Jan. 9; 337-9, Jan. 23; 645, Feb. 6; 737, 739, Feb. 13; 1335, Mar. 27, 1926.

SON OF HIS FATHER. Produced by Famous Players-Lasky. Distributed by Paramount. Released Sept. 21, 1925. With Bessie Love, Warner Baxter and Raymond Hatton. Director, Victor Fleming. Length, 6,925 feet.

Theme: A straight western in which the hero thwarts the plans of the villain to get his hands on a rich ranch.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 19, 1925, page 1402.

First run showings: Pages 1038h, Aug. 29; 1390, Sept. 19; 1492, 1494-5, Sept. 26; 1600-02, Oct. 3; 1707, Oct. 10; 1817, Oct. 17; 2160-1, Nov. 7, 1925; 182, Jan. 9, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 2589, May 30; 2870, June 13; 361, July 25; 649, 651, Aug. 8; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Page 2048, Oct. 31, 1925.

Exploitation: Page 2832, Dec. 12, 1925.

S. O. S. PERILS OF THE SEA. Produced and distributed by Columbia Pictures Corp. Released Nov. 1, 1925. With Elaine Hammerstein and Robert Ellis. Director, James P. Hogan. Length, 5,118 feet.

Theme: Marine melodrama. Little girl picked up at sea by two young brothers, fishermen, is reared by them to womanhood, becomes heiress to fortune, weds one of her rescuers.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 26, 1925, page 3210.

Advertising: Pages 1665, Oct. 10; 2116, Nov. 7, 1925.

SOUL MATES. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Dec. 20, 1925. With Aileen Pringle and Edmund Lowe. Director, Jack Conway. Length, 6,000 feet.

Theme: Comedy. British society atmosphere. Millionaire forces niece to wed nobleman whom she imagines merely wants money, discovers her error, is content.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 16, 1926, page 302.

First run showings: Pages 184, Jan. 9; 293, Jan. 16; 476, Jan. 23; 585, Jan. 30; 676, Feb. 6; 805, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Insert, June 6; insert, June 13; insert, June 20; insert, June 27; front cover, also insert, July 4; 3103, Dec. 26, 1925; insert, Jan. 16, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Page 940, Feb. 20, 1926.

SOULS FOR SABLES. Produced and distributed by Tiffany Prod. Released Oct., 1925. With Eugene O'Brien and Claire Windsor. Director, James C. McKay. Length, 7,547 feet.

Theme: Dramatic story of a young wife who longs for luxuries and almost wrecks her life in an attempt to achieve them by questionable methods.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 12, 1925, page 1275.

First run showings: Pages 1391, Sept. 19; 1492, Sept. 26; 1599, Oct. 3; 1708, Oct. 10; 1933, Oct. 24; 2045, Oct. 31; 2269, Nov. 14; 2454, Nov. 21; 3029, Dec. 19; 3160-1, Dec. 26, 1925; 586, Jan. 30, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1911, May 2; insert, June 6; 894, Aug. 22, 1925.

SPEED LIMIT, THE. Produced by Gotham Prod. Distributed by Lumas Film Corp. Released Feb., 1926. With Raymond McKee, Ethel Shannon and Bruce Gordon. Director, Frank O'Connor. Length, 6,000 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama. Tommy, garage mechanic, loves cashier Bess, has invented new tires, gets chance to try them in big race, wins event and girl.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 20, 1926, page 915.

Advertising: Page 2933, June 13, 1925; 1250, Mar. 20, 1926.

SPEED MADNESS. Produced and distributed by Hercules Film Prod., Inc. Released Sept., 1925. Star, Frank Merrill. Director, Bruce Mitchell. Length, 4,579 feet.

Theme: Melodrama in which hero seeks to perfect new automobile engine, while his father plans foreclosure on girl's home. Hero meets girl, losing speed test to save her pet cat. Villain plots bogus marriage with girl to gain property. Hero rescues her from villain's gang. At finish, hero speeds to her, prevents marriage, wins test and receives check, with which he pays off mortgage.

SPLENDID CRIME, THE. Produced by Famous Players. Distributed by Paramount. Released Jan., 1926. Star, Bebe Daniels with Neil Hamilton. Director, Wm. de Mille. Length, 6,069 feet.

Theme: Crook melo. Jenny, feminine burglar, is persuaded by a chap she meets in the course of business operations to quit the game. She does, and years later is the means of regenerating her adviser, when he in turn goes wrong.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 26, 1925, page 3205.

First run showings: Pages 3159-60, Dec. 26, 1925; 474, Jan. 23; 585, Jan. 30; 697, Feb. 6; 805, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Page 117, Jan. 9, 1926.

SPLENDID ROAD, THE. Produced by Frank Lloyd Prod. Distributed by First National. Released Dec. 6, 1925. With Anna Q. Nilsson, Lionel Barrymore, Robert Frazer. Director, Frank Lloyd. Length, 7,646 feet.

Theme: A romantic drama of the Days of '49, in which a woman pioneer fights off unscrupulous foes and wins love and fortune after some stirring adventures.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 12, 1925, page 2843.

First run showings: Pages 3027, Dec. 19, 1925; 47-8, Jan. 2; 183, Jan. 9; 294, Jan. 16; 585, Jan. 30; 697, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, Apr. 4; 1 page insert, Nov. 28; 2 page insert, Dec. 5; insert, Dec. 12; insert, Dec. 19, 1925; 1 page insert, Jan. 23, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Page 470, Jan. 23, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 1098, Mar. 6, 1926.

SPOOK RANCH. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Sept. 20, 1925. Star, Hoot Gibson. Director, Edward Laemmle. Length, 5,247 feet.

Theme: Western comedy-melodrama of cowboy who is given job as deputy to solve mystery of haunted ranch. Captures several bandits who have masqueraded as spooks, and wins girl.

References: Reviewed issue May 2, 1925, page 1962.

First run showings: Pages 1389, Sept. 19; 1494, Sept. 26; 1600, Oct. 3; 1814, Oct. 17, 1925.

Advertising: Pages 1904, May 2; 2596, May 30; 2774, 2776, June 6, 1925.

Lobby Displays: Page 2830, Dec. 12, 1925.

SPORTING LIFE. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Nov. 29, 1925. Featuring Bert Lytell, Marian Nixon, Paulette Duval. Director, Maurice Tourneur. Length, 6,763 feet.

Theme: Melodrama of London sporting and society circles.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 26, 1925, page 1513.

First run showings: Pages 2560, Nov. 28; 2664, Dec. 5; 3161, Dec. 26, 1925; 184, Jan. 9; 293, Jan. 16; 476, Jan. 23; 585, Jan. 30; 696-7, Feb. 6; 805, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1905, May 2; 2597, May 30; 2775, 2779, June 6; 1552-3, Oct. 3; 1985, Oct. 31, 1925; 639, Feb. 6, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 901, Feb. 20, 1926.

STAGE STRUCK. Produced by Famous Players. Distributed by Paramount. Released Nov. 16, 1925. Star, Gloria Swanson. Director, Allan Dwan. Length, 6,691 feet.

Theme: A comedy-drama in which a brave little stage struck waitress makes real sacrifices to keep the love of her hero who is infatuated with a real actress; winning out in the end.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 28, 1925, page 2569.

First run showings: Pages 2559, 2561, Nov. 28; 2663-4, Dec. 5; 2823-26, Dec. 12; 3027-9, Dec. 19; 3159, Dec. 26, 1925; 48, Jan. 2; 183, Jan. 9; 295, Jan. 16; 697, Feb. 6; 805, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Four page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 361, July 25; 496, Aug. 1; 651, Aug. 8; 1405, Sept. 26; 1 page insert, Nov. 14; 1 page insert, Nov. 21; 2488, Nov. 28; 2599, Dec. 5; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.

Exploitation: Page 897, Feb. 20, 1926.

STAMPEDIN' TROUBLE. Produced by B. A. Goodman Prod. Distributed by A. G. Steen. Released Nov., 1925. Star, Bruce Gordon. Director, Forrest Sheldon. Length, 5 reels.

Theme: Western romantic melodrama. Easterner incurs enmity of crooked ranch foreman, jealous because rancher's daughter prefers Ted, and whose plotting leads to youth's arrest for murder. Lynching is attempted but Ted escapes, exposes the villains and marries the girl.

STEEL PREFERRED. Produced by Metropolitan Pict. Distributed by Prod. Dist. Corp. Released Jan. 3, 1926. With Vera Reynolds, Wm. Boyd and Charlie Murray. Director, James Hogan. Length, 6,717 feet.

Theme: Steel-mill melodrama. Hero a worker in love with owner's daughter, who defeats villain's strike scheme, saves girl's life and gains her affections.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 26, 1925, page 3207.

First run showings: Pages 47, Jan. 2; 293, Jan. 16; 474, Jan. 23; 695, 697, Feb. 6; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2492-3, Nov. 28; 2602, Dec. 5; insert, Dec. 12; 2952-3, Dec. 19; 3081, Dec. 26, 1925; 338, Jan. 23, 1926.

STELLA DALLAS. Produced by Samuel Goldwyn. Distributed by United Artists Corp. Released Nov. 16, 1925. Star, Belle Bennett. Director, Henry King. Length, 10,157 feet.

Theme: Drama. Stella's frivolity results in estrangement from husband. Her final self-sacrifice leaves her outcast, but brings her daughter happiness.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 28, 1925, page 2570.

First run showings: Pages 2559, Nov. 28, 1925; 475, Jan. 23, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 1005, Feb. 27, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Page 797, Feb. 13, 1926.

STELLA MARIS. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Jan. 17, 1926. Star, Mary Philbin. Director, Charles Brabin. Length, 5,786 feet.

Theme: Drama. Details life stories of two girls in high and low social stratas, one finding happiness, the other sacrificing herself for man she loves.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 30, 1926, page 599.

First run showings: Page 806, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1904, May 2; 2596, May 30; 2774, 2777, June 6; 1984, Oct. 31, 1925.

STEPPIN' OUT. Produced and distributed by Columbia Pictures Corp. Released Sept. 15, 1925. With Ford Sterling and Dorothy Revier. Director, Frank R. Strayer. Length, 5,267 feet.

Theme: Farce comedy. Treats of domestic entanglements, when innocent hubby is drawn into night-about-town complications by jovial business associate.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 19, 1925, page 3043.

First run showings: Pages 3162, Dec. 26, 1925; 294, Jan. 16, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1366-7, Sept. 19; 1665, Oct. 10; 2116, Nov. 7, 1925.

STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN. Produced by John Adams. Distributed by Pathe. Released Jan. 31, 1926. Star and director, Larry Semon. Length, 5,303 feet.

Theme: Stage struck girl persuades sweetheart to back her in show, which fails. Bank is robbed, hero captures thieves, recovers money, weds girl.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 30, 1926, page 600.

Advertising: Two page insert, Jan. 16; 1 page insert, Jan. 30, 1926.

STORM BREAKER, THE. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Oct. 25, 1925. Star, House Peters with Ruth Clifford. Director, Edward Sloman. Length, 6,093 feet.

Theme: Drama with marine atmosphere, depicting fisher-captain's mistaken love for wrong woman, and his sacrifice for brother's sake.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 26, 1925, page 1517.

First run showings: Pages 2045, Oct. 31; 2161, Nov. 7; 2561, Nov. 28; 2823, 2826, Dec. 12; 3028, Dec. 19; 3159, Dec. 26, 1925; 48, Jan. 2; 183, Jan. 9; 476, Jan. 23; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1904, May 2; 2597, May 30; 2775, 2777, June 6; 1984, Oct. 31, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 2452, Nov. 21, 1925; 295, Jan. 16, 1926.

STREAK OF LUCK, A. Produced by Action Pictures, Inc. Distributed by Weiss Bros. Artclass Pictures Corp. Released Dec. 23, 1925. Star, Buffalo Bill, Jr. Director, Richard Thorpe. Length, 5,000 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama, with hero disowned by father after night club escapade. He goes west, is robbed, rescues heroine, becomes involved in all sorts of adventurous scrapes and ultimately triumphs.

SUBSTITUTE WIFE, THE. Produced by Whitman Bennett. Distributed by Arrow Film Corp. Released Oct. 15, 1925. With Jane Novak and Niles Welch. Director, Wilfred Noy. Length, 5,994 feet.

Theme: A nurse, whose voice bears a striking similarity to that of a blind man's wife, is substituted by a crooked doctor, who also seeks to prevent an operation to restore the eyesight. Plan is thwarted by family friend and romance develops between blind man and nurse.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 7, 1925, page 2167.

Advertising: Page 157, July 11, 1925.

SUN UP. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Sept. 20, 1925. With Conrad Nagel, Pauline Starke, Lucille La Verne. Director, Edmund Goulding. Length, 5,906 feet.

Theme: Melodrama of Carolina feudists which tells of how a son changes his vengeful mother with his spirit of forgiveness and sacrifice.

References: Reviewed issue Aug. 29, 1925, page 1049.

First run showings: Pages 1038g-h, Aug. 29; 1256-7, Sept. 12; 1391-2, Sept 19; 1600, Oct. 3; 1708, Oct. 10; 1933, Oct. 24; 2823, Dec. 12, 1925.

Advertising: Insert, June 6; insert, June 13; insert, June 20, insert, June 27; front cover, also insert, July 4; insert, July 18, insert, July 25; insert, Aug. 1; 1008, Aug. 29; 1206-7, Sept. 12; front cover, Sept. 19; 1550, Oct. 3; 1773, Oct. 17; 2732, Dec. 12, 1925; insert, Jan. 16, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 1493, Sept. 26; 1816, Oct. 17, 1925.

Lobby Displays: Pages 2265, Nov. 14; 3033, Dec. 19, 1925.

SWEET ADELINE. Produced and distributed by Chadwick Pictures Corp. Released Jan. 15, 1926. Star, Charles Ray. Director, Jerome Storm. Length, 6,000 feet.

Theme: Village lad has vocal ambitions, is given worst of it by elder brother, also his rival in love. He finally makes good as singer and wins girl.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 23, 1926, page 488.

Advertising: Pages 1364, Sept. 19, 1925; 820, Feb. 20, 1926.

T

TEARIN' LOOSE. Produced by Action Pictures, Inc. Distributed by Weiss Bros. Artclass Pictures Corp. Released Sept. 4, 1925. Star, Wally Wales. Director, Richard Thorpe. Length, 5,000 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama in which the villain impersonates the hero and gains the confidence of the wealthy uncle, thereby threatening to gain possession of the valuable cattle ranch. He forces his sister to be his accomplice, but his plans are thwarted with the later arrival of the hero.

References: Reviewed issue June 13, 1925, page 2966.

TEASER, THE. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Sept. 6, 1925. Star, Laura LaPlante with Pat O'Malley. Director, William A. Seiter. Length, 6,967 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama of girl who becomes ward of society woman—the latter depriving her of her uncouth fiance. The girl gets even by compromising herself and her aunt. In the end she has her way.

References: Reviewed issue May 30, 1925, page 2688.

First run showings: Pages 3171, June 27; 209, July 11; 312, July 18; 610, Aug. 1; 711, Aug. 8; 828-9, Aug. 15; 945, Aug. 22; 1150, Sept. 5; 1256-7, Sept. 12; 1391, Sept. 19; 1495, Sept. 26; 1710, Oct. 10; 2047, Oct. 31; 2161, Nov. 7, 1925.

Advertising: Pages 1904, May 2; 2597, May 30; 2775-6 June 6; 3004, June 20; 17, July 4; 161, July 11; 368-9, July 25; 1984, Oct. 31, 1925; 638, Feb. 6, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 1152, Sept. 5; 1709, Oct. 10; 2269, Nov. 14; 3160, 3162, Dec. 26, 1925; 48, Jan. 2, 1926.

TESSIE. Produced by Dallas M. Fitzgerald. Distributed by Arrow Film Corp. Released Nov. 1, 1925. With May McAvoy and Robert Agnew. Director, Dallas M. Fitzgerald. Length, 6,221 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama, with girl hotel clerk, sought by two suitors and wedding wealthy one at finish.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 24, 1925, page 1943.

First run showings: Pages 2161, Nov. 7, 1925; 585, Jan. 30, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 157, July 11; 1377, Sept. 19, 1925.

THANK YOU. Produced and distributed by Fox Film. Released Nov. 1, 1925. With Geo. O'Brien, Jacqueline Logan, Alec B. Francis. Director, John Ford. Length, 6,839 feet.

Theme: A comedy-drama of small town life showing how the hypocrites were made to see the error of their ways by a modern girl and how a hard working but underpaid pastor came into his own.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 19, 1925, page 1402.

First run showings: Pages 1151, Sept. 5; 1813, Oct. 17; 2045, Oct. 31; 2561, Nov. 28; 3160, Dec. 26, 1925; 47, Jan. 2; 183, Jan. 9; 587, Jan. 30, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, May 9; 2727, June 6; 2875, June 13; 3001, June 20; 3314, 3316, June 27; 251, July 18; 758-9, Aug. 15; 886-91, Aug. 22; 1001-3, Aug. 29; insert, Sept. 5; 1210-11, Sept. 12; 1308-9, Sept. 19; 1546-7, Oct. 3; 1652-3, Oct. 10, 1926.

Exploitation: Pages 2451, Nov. 21, 1925; 81, Jan. 2; 898, Feb. 20, 1926.

Newspaper Displays: Pages 83, Jan. 2; 184, Jan. 9, 1926.

THAT ROYLE GIRL. Produced by Famous Players-Lasky. Distributed by Paramount. Released Dec., 1925. With Carol Dempster, W. C. Fields and James Kirkwood. Director, D. W. Griffith. Length, 10,253 feet.

Theme: A melodrama of Chicago's underworld in which girl aids in rounding up gang of gunmen, saves a man from execution, marrying the district attorney who had been prosecuting her.

26 WARNER WINNERS

26 REASONS why 1926-27 will be your most profitable year!

Read Your Copy of this Announcement Book Again!

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 19, 1925, page 3047.
First run showings: Pages 3028-9, Dec. 19, 1925; 48, Jan. 2; 183, Jan. 9; 295, Jan. 16; 474, Jan. 23; 584, Jan. 30; 695, Feb. 6; 806, Feb. 13, 1926.
Advertising: Two page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 2589, May 30; 2869, June 13; 361-2, July 25; 497, Aug. 1; 651, Aug. 8; 1083, Sept. 5; 1405, Sept. 26; 1 page insert, Nov. 14; 1 page insert, Nov. 21; 2488, Nov. 28; 2599, Dec. 5; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.
Exploitation: Pages 797, Feb. 13; 1005, Feb. 27; 1098, Mar. 6, 1926.

THOROUGHBRED, THE. Produced and distributed by Truart Pictures Corp. Released Oct., 1925. With Maclyn Arbuckle, Theodore Von Eltz and Gladys Hulette. Director, Oscar Apfel. Length, 5,481 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama, with racing sequence, in which he has to make the high society grade in order to please wealthy uncle.
References: Reviewed issue Sept. 19, 1925, page 1403.
First run showings: Page 1153, Sept. 5, 1925.
Advertising: Pages 756, Feb. 21; 1704, April 18; 3010, June 20, 1925.

THREE FACES EAST. Produced by Cecil B. DeMille. Distributed by Prod. Dist. Corp. Released Dec. 27, 1925. With Jetta Goudal, Robert Ames, Henry B. Walthall and Clive Brook. Director, Rupert Julian. Length, 7,419 feet.

Theme: Melodrama, war and secret service backgrounds. Plot hinges on activities of British girl in Government employ, who loves German spy, but remains loyal.
References: Reviewed issue Jan. 2, 1926, page 86.
First run showings: Pages 3159, Dec. 26, 1925; 182, Jan. 9; 474, Jan. 23; 585, Jan. 30; 806, Feb. 13, 1926.
Advertising: Pages 3081, Dec. 26, 1925; 527, Jan. 30; 1142-3, Mar. 13, 1926.
Exploitation: Page 901, Feb. 20, 1926.
Newspaper Displays: Page 695, Feb. 6, 1926.

THREE WISE CROOKS. Produced and distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Sept. 20, 1925. Star, Evelyn Brent. Director, F. Harmon Weight. Length, 6,074 feet.

Theme: Crook melodrama, with girl heroine and two helpers, all of whom get under influence of kindly country persons, settle down and go straight.
References: Reviewed issue Oct. 24, 1925, page 1942.
First run showings: Page 474, Jan. 23, 1926.

THRILL HUNTER, THE. Produced and distributed by Columbia Pictures Corp. Released Feb. 1, 1926. Star, William Haines. Director, Frank R. Strayer. Length, 5,520 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama. Young author, whose stories lack thrills, becomes suddenly enmeshed in lurid adventures, but pulls through and wins rich publisher's daughter.
References: Reviewed issue Mar. 27, 1926, page 1423.
Advertising: Page 1665, Oct. 10, 1925.

THUNDERING THROUGH. Produced by Action Pictures, Inc. Distributed by Weiss Bros. Artclass Pictures Corp. Released Dec. 13, 1925. Star, Buddy Roosevelt. Director, Fred Bain. Length, 5,000 feet.

Theme: Westerner. Cowboy hero defeats schemes of banker to secure possession of his land and that owned by sweetheart's father, whips thugs, wins girl.
References: Reviewed Mar. 6, 1926, page 1114.

THUNDER MOUNTAIN. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Oct. 11, 1925. With Madge Bellamy, Leslie Fenton and Alec B. Francis. Director, Victor Schertzinger. Length, 7,537 feet.

Theme: A melodrama of the Kentucky Hills, in which the hero, influenced by the visiting preacher, attempts through education to put an end to lawlessness, only to himself be accused of murder and threatened with hanging, which is avoided with the aid of the heroine.
References: Reviewed issue Oct. 10, 1925, page 1719.
First run showings: Pages 2048, Oct. 31; 2159, 2162, Nov. 7; 2452-3, Nov. 21; 3029, Dec. 19, 1925; 294, Jan. 16; 697, Feb. 6, 1926.
Advertising: Two page insert, May 9; 2727, June 6; 2875, June 13; 3001, June 20; 3115-6, June 27; 759, Aug. 15; 1001, Aug. 29; insert, Sept. 5; 1312-3, Sept. 19; 1409, Sept. 26; 1546-7, Oct. 3, 1925.

TIMBER WOLF, THE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Sept. 20, 1925. Star, Buck Jones. Director, W. S. Van Dyke. Length, 4,869 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Western logging camp atmosphere, with silent hero, who defeats enemies through sheer fighting ability, and wins girl by cave-man methods.
References: Reviewed issue Sept. 26, 1925, page 1512.
First run showings: Pages 2453, Nov. 21; 3162, Dec. 26, 1925.
Advertising: One page insert, May 9; 3116, June 27; 1002-3, Aug. 29, 1925.

TIME, THE COMEDIAN. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Dec. 13, 1925. With Lew Cody, Mae Busch and Gertrude Olmsted. Director, Robert Z. Leonard. Length, 4,757 feet.

Theme: Society drama that spans a quarter century relating the love adventures of mother and daughter. Former saves latter from man who deserted her.
References: Reviewed issue Dec. 26, 1925, page 3205.
First run showings: Pages 3161-2, Dec. 26, 1925; 587, Jan. 30, 1926.
Advertising: Insert, June 6; insert, June 13; insert, June 20; insert, June 27; insert, July 4; insert, July 18; insert, July 25; insert, Aug. 1; 3103, Dec. 26, 1925.

TOO MUCH MONEY. Produced and distributed by First National. Released Jan. 3, 1926. With Lewis Stone and Anna Q. Nilsson. Director, John F. Dillon. Length, 7,600 feet.

Theme: Modern society drama in which a husband has to arrange to pose as a poor man to awaken wife to the fact that he would like more of her company.
References: Reviewed issue Jan. 23, 1926, page 484.
First run showings: Pages 587, Jan. 30; 696-7, Feb. 6; 804-6, Feb. 13, 1926.
Advertising: Insert, Dec. 19; 3123, Dec. 26, 1925; 150, Jan. 9; 1 page insert, Jan. 23; 660-1, Feb. 6, 1926.
Exploitation: Page 796, Feb. 13, 1926.

TOUGH GUY, THE. Produced and distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Feb. 1, 1926. Star, Fred Thomson. Director, David Kirkland. Length, 5,454 feet.

Theme: Western. With the aid of his intelligent horse Cowboy Fred Saunders recovers little lost brother of girl he loves, defeats her enemies and weds her.
References: Reviewed issue Feb. 27, 1926, page 1015.
Advertising: Two page insert, Jan. 9; 854-5, Feb. 20; 1158, Mar. 13, 1926.

TOWER OF LIES. Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Released Oct. 11, 1925. With Lon Chaney and Norma Shearer. Director, Victor Seastrom. Length, 6,849 feet.

Theme: Intimate drama of a farmer who awakens to the beauty of life through his daughter, and who loses his reason when she goes astray. His death brings the girl back to herself, and she finds happiness with her childhood sweetheart.
References: Reviewed issue Oct. 10, 1925, page 1717.
First run showings: Pages 1495, Sept. 26; 1599, Oct. 3; 1707, Oct. 10; 1813, 1816-7, Oct. 17; 2048, Oct. 31; 2161, Nov. 7; 2269-70, Nov. 14; 2664-5, Dec. 5; 2823, Dec. 12; 3161-2, Dec. 26, 1925; 47-8, Jan. 2, 1926.
Advertising: Front cover, also page 2490, May 23; insert, June 13; insert, June 20; insert, June 27; front cover, also insert, July 4; insert, July 11; insert, July 18; insert, July 25; insert, Aug. 1; inside front cover, Sept. 26; front cover, also page 1773, Oct. 17; 2215, Nov. 14, 1925; insert, Jan. 16, 1926.
Lobby Displays: Pages 2156, Nov. 7, 1925; 794, Feb. 13, 1926.
Newspaper Displays: Page 2825, Dec. 12, 1925.
Exploitation: Pages 3161, Dec. 26, 1925; 581, Jan. 30, 1926.

TRAFFIC COP, THE. Produced by Harry Garson. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Jan. 17, 1926. Star, Maurice "Lefty" Flynn. Director, Harry Garson. Length, 5,193 feet.

Theme: Comedy-melodrama. Traffic cop at seaside resort saves runaway bus from plunging over cliff, woos and wins wealthy girl.
References: Reviewed issue Feb. 27, 1926, page 1010.
Advertising: Page 1159, Mar. 13, 1926.

TRANSCONTINENTAL LIMITED. Produced and distributed by Chadwick Pictures Corp. Released Feb. 15, 1926. Star, Johnnie Walker. Director, Nat Ross. Length, 6,400 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Hero back from war finds rival plotting to win his girl through hold he has on her father. He foils villain, saves Limited from wreck, gets girl.
References: Reviewed issue Mar. 13, 1926, page 1212.
Advertising: Page 862, Feb. 20, 1926.

TRIPLE ACTION. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Dec. 20, 1925. Star, Pete Morrison. Director, Tom Gibson. Length, 4,800 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama. Ranger outwitted by outlaws is temporarily disgraced, but finally rounds up gang and wins girl he loves.
References: Reviewed issue Nov. 14, 1925, page 2358.
Advertising: Pages 1906, May 2; 2597, May 30; 2775, 2785, June 6; 2358, Nov. 14, 1925.

TROUBLE WITH WIVES, THE. Produced by Famous Players-Lasky. Distributed by Paramount. Released Sept. 28, 1925. With Florence Vidor, Tom Moore and Esther Ralston. Director, Malcolm St. Clair. Length, 6,489 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama of domestic complications caused by wife's unfounded yet reasonable jealousy of innocent husband.
References: Reviewed issue Aug. 15, 1925, page 848.
First run showings: Pages 828, Aug. 15; 943, 945, Aug. 22; 1038h, Aug. 29; 1389-90, Sept. 19; 1493, Sept. 26; 1599, 1602, Oct. 3; 1708, Oct. 10; 1814, 1816-7, Oct. 17; 1934, Oct. 24; 2047, Oct. 31; 2162, Nov. 7; 2454, Nov. 21, 1925.
Advertising: Two page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 2589, May 30; 2871, June 13; 361, July 25; 496, Aug. 1; 649, 651, Aug. 8; 872-3, Aug. 22; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.
Exploitation: Page 2038, Oct. 31, 1925.
Newspaper Displays: Page 2268, Nov. 14, 1925.
Window Displays: Page 2828, Dec. 12, 1925.

TRUMPIN' TROUBLE. Produced by Action Pictures. Distributed by Weiss Bros. Artclass Pictures Corp. Released Feb. 1, 1926. Star, Buffalo Bill, Jr. Director, Richard Thorpe. Length, 5,000 feet.
Theme: Western melodrama, with hero accused of murdering father after discovery of rich mine. Dance hall entertainer aids his escape when lynching is threatened. After many hazardous situations, hero is cleared and villains routed. Hero marries girl.

TUMBLEWEEDS. Produced by Wm. S. Hart Prod. Distributed by United Artists Corp. Released Dec. 27, 1925. Star, William S. Hart. Director, King Baggot. Length, 7,254 feet.
Theme: An epic drama of the settling of the Cherokee land strip in which a former ranch boss becomes a homesteader himself and puts to rout a couple of "Sooners."
References: Reviewed issue Nov. 28, 1925, page 2569.
First run showings: Pages 47, Jan. 2; 182, Jan. 9; 294, Jan. 16; 475, Jan. 23; 696, Feb. 6, 1926.
Advertising: Pages 345, Jan. 23; 543, Jan. 30; 657, Feb. 6; 754, Feb. 13; 861, Feb. 20, 1926.

TWO CAN PLAY. Produced by Nat Ross. Distributed by Associated Exhibitors. Released Feb. 21, 1926. Star, Clara Bow. Director, Nat Ross. Length, 5,465 feet.
Theme: Modern society drama. Father seeks to destroy daughter's infatuation for a ne'er-do-well. Man reforms and wins the girl.
References: Reviewed issue Mar. 6, 1926, page 1109.
Advertising: Two page insert, Dec. 12, 1925; 1144-5, Mar. 13, 1926.

TWO FISTED JONES. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Dec. 6, 1925. Star, Jack Hoxie. Director, Edward Sedgwick. Length, 4,555 feet.
Theme: Western melodrama. Hero pursues search for a mysterious person named "Two Fisted Jones," gets involved in variety of adventures, and saves girl he loves from marrying an impostor.
References: Reviewed issue Dec. 5, 1925, page 2688.
First run showings: Pages 2826, Dec. 12, 1925; 695-96, Feb. 6, 1926.
Advertising: Pages 1906, May 2; 2596, May 30; 2774, 2785, June 6, 1925.

TYPHOON LOVE. Produced by Norman Dawn. Distributed by Lee-Bradford Corp. Released Feb., 1926. With Mitchell Lewis and Ruth Clifford. Director, Norman Dawn. Length, 5,500 feet.
Theme: Romantic melodrama—South Sea Island. Two young adventurers work an opal mine, coveted by sea captain. His man is in their employ, but double dealing is discovered. Typhoon causes death of captain, freeing daughter who is in love with one of the adventurers.

U

UNCHASTENED WOMAN, THE. Produced and distributed by Chadwick Pictures Corp. Released Nov. 15, 1925. Star, Theda Bara. Director, James Young. Length, 6,800 feet.
Theme: Domestic drama, society atmosphere. Wife finding husband unfaithful, goes abroad, keeps birth of baby boy secret, returns, humiliates her rival, arouses husband's jealousy, wins him back, forgives him.
References: Reviewed issue Jan. 2, 1926, page 89.
First run showings: Pages 1816, Oct. 17; 2665, Dec. 5, 1925.
Advertising: Pages 1562, April 11; 1364, Sept. 19; 1774, Oct. 17, 1925; 862, Feb. 20, 1926.

UNDER THE ROUGE. Produced by Lewis H. Moomaw Prod. Distributed by Associated Exhibitors. Released Oct. 18, 1925. With Tom Moore and Eileen Percy. Director, Lewis H. Moomaw. Length, 6,055 feet.
Theme: Crook Melodrama featuring the redemption of a pair of crooks. When the girl goes to the country the youth follows—and the quiet environment and sympathetic treatment accorded them by the natives have their effect.
References: Reviewed issue July 25, 1925, page 461.
First run showings: Pages 609, Aug. 1; 945, Aug. 22, 1925.
Advertising: Two page insert, Aug. 15; 1 page insert, Sept. 5, 1925.
Newspaper Displays: Page 3159, Dec. 26, 1925.

UNDER WESTERN SKIES. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Feb. 7, 1926. Star, Norman Kerry. Director, Edward Sedgwick. Length, 6,452 feet.
Theme: Westerner. Son of Eastern banker, in love with rancher's daughter, foils father's scheme to ruin rancher, enters rodeo, wins big race and girl.
References: Reviewed issue Mar. 20, 1926, page 1306.
Advertising: Pages 1905, May 2; 2596, May 30; 2774, 2779, June 6; 639, Feb. 6, 1926.

UNGUARDED HOUR, THE. Produced and distributed by First National. Released Nov. 22, 1925. Star, Milton Sills with Doris Kenyon. Director, Lambert Hillyer. Length, 6,613 feet.
Theme: A romantic drama of an American girl who goes to Italy and tames a woman-hating nobleman, bringing him to her feet.
References: Reviewed issue Dec. 5, 1925, page 2687.
First run showings: Pages 2824, 2826, Dec. 12; 3027-8, Dec. 19; 3160-1, Dec. 26, 1925; 48-9, Jan. 2; 184, Jan. 9; 295-6, Jan. 16; 475-6, Jan. 23; 696, Feb. 6; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.
Advertising: One page insert, April 4; 1 page insert, Nov. 28; 1 page insert, Dec. 12; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.
Lobby Displays: Page 1298, Mar. 20, 1926.

V

VANISHING AMERICAN, THE. Produced by Famous Players. Distributed by Paramount. Released Nov. 2, 1925. With Richard Dix supported by Lois Wilson. Director, George B. Seitz. Length, 9,916 feet.
Theme: Spectacular, historical film, ranging from cliff-dweller era to modern Indians, with latter-day romance between white girl and chief of tribe.
References: Reviewed issue Nov. 7, 1925, page 2173.
First run showings: Pages 1814, Oct. 17; 2826, Dec. 12; 3161, Dec. 26, 1925; 293, Jan. 16; 475, Jan. 23; 586-7, Jan. 30; 804-6, Feb. 13, 1926.
Advertising: Four page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 2589, May 30; 2869, June 13; 361-2, July 25; 496, Aug. 1; 649, 651, Aug. 8; 1405, Sept. 26; 2179, Dec. 12; 3 page insert, Dec. 19; 3074-5, Dec. 26, 1925; 3, Jan. 2; 115, 117, Jan. 9; 337, 339, Jan. 23; 644, Feb. 6; 947, Feb. 27; 1335, Mar. 27, 1926.

W

WAGES FOR WIVES. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Dec. 13, 1925. With Jacqueline Logan, Margaret Livingston, Zasu Pitts, Earle Foxe. Director, Frank Borzage. Length, 6,352 feet.
Theme: Comedy dealing with a trio of wives who go on strike for a more even split of the pay envelope.
References: Reviewed issue Dec. 5, 1925, page 2689.
First run showings: Pages 3028-9, Dec. 19, 1925; 182, Jan. 9; 293, Jan. 16; 586, Jan. 30, 1926.
Advertising: Pages 3001, June 20; 3115, 3117, June 27; insert, Sept. 5; 1546-7, Oct. 3; 1653, Oct. 10; 1993, 1995, Oct. 31; 2402-3, 2406-7, Nov. 21, 1925.

WALL STREET WHIZ, THE. Produced by Carlos Prod. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Sept. 27, 1925. Star, Richard Talmadge. Director, Jack Nelson. Length, 5,452 feet.
Theme: Comedy-melodrama of rich youth, who saves fortune of girl he loves from swindler's wiles.
References: Reviewed issue Nov. 7, 1925, page 2172.
Advertising: Pages 1489, Sept. 26; 3121, Dec. 26, 1925; 1246, Mar. 20, 1926.

WANDERER, THE. Produced by Famous Players. Distributed by Paramount. Released Feb. 1, 1926. With Wm. Collier, Jr., Ernest Torrence, Greta Nissen, Tyrone Powers, Kathlyn Williams. Director, Raoul Walsh. Length, 8,173 feet.

Theme: A film version of the story of The Prodigal Son, who is ensnared by a temptress, spends his substance in riotous living and returns home, broken.

References: Reviewed issue Sept. 12, 1925, page 1271.

First run showings: Pages 1038f, Aug. 29, 1925; 184, Jan. 9; 294, Jan. 16; 585, Jan. 30; 696, Feb. 6; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 2589, May 30; 2869, June 13; 243, July 18; 496, Aug. 1; 2719, Dec. 12; 3 page insert, Dec. 19; 3074-5, Dec. 26, 1925; 3, Jan. 2; 115-6, Jan. 9; 337-9, Jan. 23; 644, Feb. 6; 946, Feb. 27, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 1413, Mar. 27, 1926.

WANDERING FIRES. Produced by Maurice Campbell. Distributed by Arrow Film Corp. Released Oct. 1, 1925. With Constance Bennett and Wallace MacDonald. Director, Maurice Campbell. Length, 5,866 feet.

Theme: Romantic melodrama concerning a girl whose lover was supposedly killed in the war, but who returns years after when she is married to another.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 17, 1925, page 1829.

First run showings: Page 475, Jan. 23, 1926.

Advertising: Page 1376, Sept. 19, 1925.

WANDERING FOOTSTEPS. Produced by Banner Prod. Distributed by Ginsberg Dist. Corp. Released Oct., 1925. Featuring Estelle Taylor and Bryant Washburn. Director, Phil Rosen. Length, 5.060 feet.

Theme: Heart interest drama. Deals with fortunes and love affair of young, convivial millionaire and old derelict, both men being regenerated at end.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 21, 1925, page 2465.

First run showings: Page 2561, Nov. 28, 1925.

Advertising: Page 756, Aug. 15, 1925.

CECIL B. DE MILLE presents

LEATRICE JOY in

"The Wedding Song"

by ETHEL WATTS MUMFORD

adapted by CHARLES WHITTAKER and DOUGLAS DOTY

with

ROBERT AMES

directed by

ALAN HALE

RELEASED BY PRODUCERS DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

WEDDING SONG, THE. Produced by Cecil B. DeMille. Distributed by Prod. Dist. Corp. Released Nov. 29, 1925. Star, Leatrice Joy. Director, Alan Hale. Length, 7,373 feet.

Theme: Melodrama. Tropical island and 'Frisco underworld locale. Crooks plot to rob pearl merchant, girl confederate falls in love with and saves him.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 28, 1925, page 2567.

First run showings: Pages 2559, Nov. 28; 3162, Dec. 26, 1925; 47, Jan. 2; 474, Jan. 23; 695, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1092, Sept. 5; 2492-3, Nov. 28; 3081, Dec. 26, 1925; 740, Feb. 13, 1926.

WE MODERNS. Produced by John McCormick. Distributed by First National. Released Nov. 15, 1925. Star, Colleen Moore. Director, John F. Dillon. Length, 6,609 feet.

Theme: A comedy-drama in which an English flapper "has her wings singed," but comes out O. K., and decides to drop her wayward ways.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 5, 1925, page 2685.

First run showings: Pages 2452, Nov. 21; 2559-61, Nov. 28; 2663-66, Dec. 5; 2825, Dec. 12; 3026-7, Dec. 19; 3159, Dec. 26, 1925; 296, Jan. 16; 476, Jan. 23; 587, Jan. 30; 806, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2227, 2232, Nov. 14; 4 page insert, Nov. 21; 1 page insert, Dec. 12; insert, Dec. 19; 3122, Dec. 26, 1925.

Lobby Displays: Page 3030, Dec. 19, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Page 105, Jan. 2, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 1412, Mar. 27, 1926.

WESTERN PLUCK. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Jan. 24, 1926. Star, Art Acord. Director, Travers Vale. Length, 4,207 feet.

Theme: Western melodrama. Cowpuncher Arizona Allen halts a runaway stage coach, falls in love with girl passenger, is later instrumental in saving her wild brother when the later is falsely accused of robbery, and wins her love.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 6, 1926, page 708.

Advertising: Pages 1906, May 2; 2597, May 30; 2775, 2785, June 6, 1925.

WHAT FOOLS MEN. Produced and distributed by First National Pictures. Released Sept. 13, 1925. With Lewis Stone, Shirley Mason, David Torrence and Barbara Bedford. Director, George Archainbaud. Length, 7,264 feet.

Theme: A drama of frenzied finance and society sham in which an inventor is ruined by crooked bankers and fails in his efforts to "mother" a wild daughter.

References: Reviewed issue Oct. 10, 1925, page 1720.

First run showings: Pages 1600, Oct. 3; 1707-8, Oct. 10; 1813-4, Oct. 17; 2270, Nov. 14; 2560-1, Nov. 28; 2664-66, Dec. 5, 1925; 474, Jan. 23, 1926.

Advertising: One page insert, April 4; 677, Aug. 8; 1010, Aug. 29; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.

Newspaper Displays: Page 1817, Oct. 17, 1925.

WHAT HAPPENED TO JONES. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures. Released Jan. 31, 1926. Star, Reginald Denny. Director, Wm. A. Seiter. Length, 6,726 feet.

Theme: Farce comedy. On wedding eve hero escapes from police raid on poker game, is hunted from pillar to post, nearly loses fiancee, but gets her in the end.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 19, 1925, page 3045.

First run showings: Pages 123, Jan. 9; 294, Jan. 16; 476, Jan. 23; 584-5, Jan. 30; 696-7, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1984, Oct. 31; 2731, Dec. 12, 1925; 5, Jan. 2; 121, Jan. 9; 639, Feb. 6; 741, Feb. 13, 1926.

Exploitation: Pages 1297, Mar. 20; 1413, Mar. 27, 1926.

WHEEL, THE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Sept. 20, 1925. With Harrison Ford, Mahlon Hamilton, Claire Adams. Director, Victor Schertzinger. Length, 7,325 feet.

Theme: A modern society drama of temptation and fast life in which "the wheel" comes close to ruining a scion of wealth, who is saved by his young wife.

References: Reviewed issue Aug. 29, 1925, page 1053.

First run showings: Pages 944, Aug. 22; 1391, Sept. 19; 1599, 1602, Oct. 3; 1814, 1816, Oct. 17; 2823, 2826, Dec. 12, 1925; 474, Jan. 23; 803, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Two page insert, May 9; 2493, May 23; 2727, June 6; 2875, June 13; 3001, June 20; 3117, June 27; 251, July 18; 386, July 25; 518-9, Aug. 1; 758, Aug. 15; 1000, Aug. 29; insert, Sept. 5; 1408, Sept. 26; 1546-7, Oct. 3, 1925.

Window Displays: Page 1807, Oct. 17, 1925.

WHEN HUSBANDS FLIRT. Produced and distributed by Columbia Pictures Corp. Released Nov. 1, 1925. With Dorothy Revier and Forrest Stanley. Director, William Wellman. Length, 5,625 feet.

Theme: Domestic comedy. Young husband is unjustly blamed by his bride for philanderings with vamp for which his elderly but gay business partner is responsible, but proves himself innocent after much tribulation.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 5, 1925, page 2690.

First run showings: Page 696, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1215, Mar. 15, 1924; 1665, Oct. 10, 1925.

WHEN LOVE GROWS COLD. Produced and distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Jan. 31, 1926. Star, Natacha Rambova (Mrs. Rudolph Valentino). Director, Harry O. Hoyt. Length, 6,500 feet.

Theme: Modern society drama in which a husband's love grows cold when he reaches the pinnacle of success, but the wife remains true.

References: Reviewed issue Feb. 13, 1926, page 808.

First run showings: Page 806, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 2434, May 16; 2894, June 13; 3110, June 27; 139, July 11; 400, July 25; 499, Aug. 1; 667, Aug. 8; 762, Aug. 15; 901, Aug. 22; 993, Aug. 29; 1108, Sept. 5; 1458, Sept. 26; 2000, Oct. 31; 3092, Dec. 26, 1925; 148-9, Jan. 9; 544-5, Jan. 30; 748-9, Feb. 13; 966-7, Feb. 27; 1157, Mar. 13, 1926.

Exploitation: Page 1297, Mar. 20, 1926.

WHEN THE DOOR OPENED. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Dec. 6, 1925. With Walter McGrail, Jacqueline Logan and Margaret Livingston. Director, Reginald Barker. Length, 6,515 feet.

Theme: A husband returns to his Montreal home to find his wife in another man's arms. He shoots the intruder and thinking that he has killed him, takes to the woods, accompanied by his dog. In his wanderings he meets another girl and happiness is his final reward.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 28, 1925, page 2566.

First run showings: Pages 3160-1, Dec. 26, 1925; 47-8, Jan. 2;

184, Jan. 9; 475-6, Jan. 23; 586, Jan. 30; 696-7, Feb. 6; 804, Feb. 13, 1926.
Advertising: Two page insert, May 9; 2727, June 6; 2875, June 13; 3001, June 20; 3114, 3117, June 27; 1546-7, Oct. 3; 2212, Nov. 14; 2402-3, Nov. 21, 1925.

WHERE THE WORST BEGINS. Produced and distributed by Truart Film Corp. Released Dec., 1925. With Ruth Roland, Matt Moore and Grace Darmond. Director, John W. McDermott. Length, 6,139 feet.
Theme: Western comedy-melodrama. Ranch girl pines for Eastern society, has adventures with son of visiting Eastern Mogul. Marries him in the end.
References: Reviewed issue Dec. 12, 1925, page 2845.
Advertising: Insert, June 6, 1925.

WHERE WAS I? Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Nov. 15, 1925. Star, Reginald Denny. Director, William Seiter. Length, 6,630 feet.
Theme: Farce-comedy revolving around effort of youth to disprove the declaration of adventuress that he is married to her. The complications get him into all kinds of trouble before he proves himself a bachelor.
References: Reviewed issue Aug. 22, 1925, page 1050.
First run showings: Pages 1038f, Aug. 29; 1150, Sept. 5; 2048, Oct. 31; 2160, Nov. 7; 2267-8, Nov. 14; 2560, Nov. 28; 2665-66, Dec. 5; 2823, 2826, Dec. 12; 3029, Dec. 19, 1925; 182, 184, Jan. 9; 295, Jan. 16, 1926.
Advertising: Pages 1904, May 2; 2597, May 30; 2775, 2777, June 6; 1088-9, Sept. 5; 1984, Oct. 31, 1925; 121, Jan. 9; 639, Feb. 6, 1926.

WHITE MICE. Produced by Royal Wetherald. Distributed by Associated Exhibitors. Released Jan. 31, 1926. Star, Jacqueline Logan. Director, E. H. Griffith. Length, 5,412 feet.
Theme: Romantic drama of love and adventure in Cuba in which American youth foils plotters, rescues imprisoned former president, wins Cuban senorita.
References: Reviewed issue Mar. 6, 1926, page 1110.
Advertising: Pages 345, Jan. 24; 589, Feb. 7; 975, Mar. 7; 2 page insert, Dec. 12, 1925; 852-3, Feb. 20, 1926.

WHITE OUTLAW, THE. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Released Sept. 6, 1925. Star, Jack Hoxie. Director, Clifford Smith. Length, 4,830 feet.
Theme: Western melodrama of ranchman who, losing his trick horse, is determined to capture him. Hero is accused of horse rustling but proves himself innocent.
References: Reviewed issue June 27, 1925, page 3177.
First run showings: Pages 829, Aug. 15; 943, Aug. 22; 1934, Oct. 24, 1925.
Advertising: Pages 1906, May 2; 2596, May 30; 2774, 2785, June 6; 18, July 4; 656, Aug. 8, 1925.
Exploitation: Page 1252, Sept. 12, 1925.

WHY WOMEN LOVE. Produced by Edwin Carewe. Distributed by First National. Released Oct. 18, 1925. Star, Blanche Sweet, Director, Edwin Carewe. Length, 6,696 feet.
Theme: Marine melodrama, with lighthouse as principal locale, and romance of girl who waits faithfully for lover reported lost at sea.
References: Reviewed issue Oct. 31, 1925, page 2061.
First run showings: Pages 2048, Oct. 31; 2160, Nov. 7; 2268-9, Nov. 14; 2452, Nov. 21; 2561, Nov. 28; 2664, Dec. 5; 3160, Dec. 26, 1925; 47, Jan. 2; 184, Jan. 9; 475, Jan. 23, 1926.
Advertising: Pages 1780, Oct. 17; 2418, Nov. 21; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.

WILD GIRL, THE. Produced and distributed by Truart Film Corp. Released Oct., 1925. Star, Louise Lorraine. Director, William Bletcher. Length, 4,514 feet.
Theme: Melodrama. Girl brought up in woods by grandfather is sought in marriage by surly mountaineer, but meets young stranger who rescues and weds her.
References: Reviewed issue Mar. 6, 1926, page 1109.
Advertising: Insert, June 6, 1925.

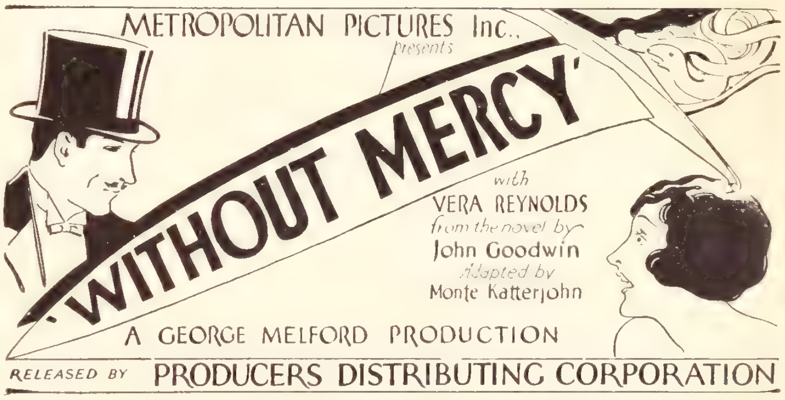
WILD HORSE MESA. Produced by Famous Players-Lasky. Distributed by Paramount. Released Sept. 14, 1925. With Jack Holt and Billie Dove. Director, Geo. B. Seitz. Length, 7,164 feet.
Theme: Western melodrama, with herd of wild horses prominently featured, love interest and numerous thrills.
References: Reviewed issue Aug. 22, 1925, page 954.
First run showings: Pages 710, Aug. 8; 944, Aug. 22; 1038g, Aug. 29; 1151, Sept. 5; 1255, Sept. 12; 1389, Sept. 19; 1492-4, Sept. 26; 1599-1600, 1814, Oct. 17; 2560, Nov. 28; 3027, Dec. 19, 1925.
Advertising: Two page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 2589, May 30; 2870, June 13; 244-5, July 18; 361, July 25; 649-50, Aug. 8; 872-3, Aug. 22; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.
Prologue: Page 2155, Nov. 7, 1925.

WILD OATS LANE. Produced by Marshall Neilan. Distributed by Producers Dist. Corp. Released Feb. 28, 1926. With Viola Dana and Robert Agnew. Director, Marshall Neilan. Length, 6,900 feet.
Theme: Young couple accidentally separate on wedding eve. Man is involved with crooks, girl goes to bad. Both are reformed, meet again, are reconciled, marry.
References: Reviewed issue Mar. 27, 1926, page 1419.
Advertising: Page 3081, Dec. 26, 1925.

WILD, WILD SUSAN. Produced by Famous Players-Lasky. Distributed by Paramount. Released Sept. 7, 1925. Star, Bebe Daniels with Rod La Rocque. Director, Edward Sutherland. Length, 5,774 feet.
Theme: Straight comedy dealing with the fair offspring of one of the families in the Blue Book, who, craving adventure, gets all she wants and more, and then finds that the chauffeur she's in love with is also a blue blood.
References: Reviewed issue Aug. 15, 1925, page 848.
First run showings: Pages 828, Aug. 15; 1039, Aug. 29; 1150, Sept. 5; 1255, Sept. 12; 1389-90, Sept. 19; 1492-5, Sept. 26; 1601-2, Oct. 3; 1817, Oct. 17; 2048, Oct. 31; 3028, Dec. 19, 1925.
Advertising: Two page insert, May 16; 2485, May 23; 244-5, July 18; 361, July 25; 649, 651, Aug. 8; 872-3, Aug. 22; 1039, Aug. 29; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.
Newspaper Displays: Pages 1153, Sept. 5; 1390, Sept. 19; 2663, Dec. 5, 1925.

WINDING STAIR, THE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Oct. 25, 1925. With Alma Rubens and Edmund Lowe. Director, John Griffith Wray. Length, 6,107 feet.
Theme: A romantic war story in which the hero, an officer of the French Foreign Legion, deserts for love of the girl and to save her from mutinous tribesmen, only later to re-establish himself as a hero of the world war.
References: Reviewed issue Oct. 17, 1925, page 1827.
First run showings: Pages 2161, Nov. 7; 2561, Nov. 28; 2665-66, Dec. 5; 3029, Dec. 19, 1925; 586, Jan. 30, 1926.
Advertising: Pages 2727, June 6; 2875, June 13; 3001, June 20; 3116, June 27; 890-1, Aug. 22; 1000, Aug. 29; 1546, 1549, Oct. 3, 1925.

WIN, LOSE OR DRAW. Produced by Maloford Prod. Distributed by Clarion Photoplays, Inc. Released Sept. 14, 1925. Star and director, Leo Maloney. Length, 5,000 feet.
Theme: Conspirators plot to get possession of ranch owned by Fayette and daughter, on which gold has been found. Hero defeats their schemes, wins girl.
References: Reviewed issue April 3, 1926, page 1526.



METROPOLITAN PICTURES Inc.,
presents
'WITHOUT MERCY'
with
VERA REYNOLDS
from the novel by John Goodwin
Adapted by
Monte Katterjohn
A GEORGE MELFORD PRODUCTION
RELEASED BY PRODUCERS DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

WITHOUT MERCY. Produced by Metropolitan Pictures. Distributed by Producers Dist. Corp. Released Oct. 4, 1925. With Vera Reynolds. Director, George Melford. Length, 6,597 feet.
Theme: Society melodrama, English setting, tale of young girl's infatuation for unworthy suitor and mother's revenge on him for former sufferings.
References: Reviewed issue Oct. 24, 1925, page 1941.
First run showings: Page 2046, Oct. 31, 1925.
Advertising: Pages 1988-89, Oct. 31; 2602, Dec. 5; insert, Dec. 12; 3081, Dec. 26, 1925.

WIVES OF THE PROPHET, THE. Produced by J. A. Fitzgerald Prod. Distributed by Lee-Bradford. Released Jan., 1926. With Alice Lake, Violet Mersereau, Orville Caldwell and Ruth Stonehouse. Director, J. A. Fitzgerald. Length, 6,800 feet.
Theme: Melodrama. Young lawyer is hailed as expected Prophet by religious sect, five wives selected for him, but he escapes with one girl he loves.
References: Reviewed issue Jan. 9, 1926, page 193.
Advertising: Page 1371, Sept. 19, 1925.

WOMANHANDLED. Produced by Famous Players. Distributed by Paramount. Released Dec., 1925. Star, Richard Dix with Esther Ralston. Director, Gregory La Cava. Length, 6,765 feet.

Theme: Western comedy. Bill Dana goes to Texas, finds country tame, fakes Wild West atmosphere to please visiting sweetheart, deception fails, but he wins her.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 16, 1926, page 300.

First run showings: Pages 49, Jan. 2; 182-3, Jan. 9; 293-4, Jan. 16; 474-6, Jan. 23; 587, Jan. 30; 697, Feb. 6; 805-6, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: One page insert, Nov. 8; 2437, Nov. 15; 2561, Nov. 22; 2992, Dec. 13; 3329, Dec. 27, 1924; 3, Jan. 3; 2 page insert, May 16; 2483, May 23; 361, July 25; 496-7, Aug. 1; 2489, Nov. 28; insert, Dec. 19, 1925.

WOMAN OF THE WORLD, A. Produced by Famous Players. Distributed by Paramount. Released Dec., 1925. Star, Pola Negri. Director, Malcolm St. Clair. Length, 6,353 feet.

Theme: Comedy-drama. Foreign Countess comes to small American town, scandalizes District Attorney, surprises prim inhabitants, but finally weds the D. A.

References: Reviewed issue Dec. 26, 1925, page 3206.

First run showings: Pages 3027, Dec. 19; 3159, 3161, Dec. 26, 1925; 47, Jan. 2; 293, Jan. 16; 494-5, Jan. 23; 585, Jan. 30; 695, Feb. 6; 805, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Page 2489, Nov. 28, 1925.

WYOMING WILDCAT, THE. Produced and distributed by Film Booking Offices. Released Nov. 1, 1925. Star, Tom Tyler. Director, Robert De Lacey. Length, 5,156 feet.

Theme: Western melo with comedy relief. Cowboy hero defeats attempts of conspirators to deprive girl ranch-owner of her property, saves lady from kidnappers and weds her.

References: Reviewed issue Nov. 28, 1925, page 2569.

First run showings: Page 806, Feb. 13, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 348-9, Jan. 23, 1926.

Y

YANKEE SENOR, THE. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Released Jan. 10, 1926. Star, Tom Mix with Olive Borden. Director, Emmett Flynn. Length, 4,902 feet.

Theme: A romantic drama in which an American civil engineer rids Mexico of a bandit gang and wins an estate and a senorita for himself.

References: Reviewed issue Jan. 16, 1926, page 303.

First run showings: Pages 585, Jan. 30; 695, 697, Feb. 6, 1926.

Advertising: Pages 1308-9, Sept. 19; 2966-7, Dec. 19, 1925.

Want to Know Where to Buy?

Watch for the spring number of Theatre Building and Equipment BUYERS GUIDE. It contains complete information on what equipment to buy and where to buy it.

Use and file BUYERS GUIDE. Keep your theatre up to date. Your patrons demand this.

And if you want some pointers on building a new theatre, read Mr. John Eberson's article in the spring edition of BUYERS GUIDE. A mighty valuable and interesting article.

SHORT LENGTH SUBJECTS

COMEDIES

A

JIMMIE ADAMS COMEDIES. Produced by Christie Film Company. Distributed by Educational Film Exchanges. Starring Jimmie Adams. Length, 2 reels.

Be Careful. Director, Harold Beaudine. Released Sept. 27, 1925. Reviewed Aug. 22, 1925, page 952.

Fair But Foolish. Director, William Watson. Released Nov. 29, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 21, 1925, page 2468.

For Sadie's Sake. Director, Harold Beaudine. Released Jan. 24, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 30, 1926, page 590.

ADVENTURES OF MAZIE SERIES. Produced and distributed by Film Booking Offices. Starring Alberta Vaughn. Director, Ralph Ceder. Length, 2 reels.

Amazing Mazie. Released Sept. 13 1925. Reviewed Oct. 24, 1925, page 1940.

The Constant Simp. Released Sept. 27, 1925.

Or What Have You. Released Oct. 11, 1925.

Mazie Won't Tell. Released Oct. 25, 1925.

So's Your Old Man. Released Nov. 8, 1925.

Pike's Pique. Released Nov. 22, 1925.

Tea For Toomey. Released Dec. 6, 1925.

The Vanishing Armenian. Released Dec. 20, 1925.

High But Not Handsome. Released Jan. 3, 1926.

Little Andy Looney. Released Jan. 17, 1926.

A Snitch In Time. Released Jan. 31, 1926.

Mazie's Married. Released Feb. 14, 1926.

ÆSOPS FABLES. Produced by Fables Pictures, Inc. Distributed by Pathe. Length, ⅔ reel.

Barnyard Follies. Released Sept. 6, 1925. Reviewed Sept. 5, 1925, page 1160.

The Ugly Duckling. Released Sept. 13, 1925. Reviewed Sept. 26, 1925, page 1500.

Nuts and Squirrels. Released Sept. 20, 1925.

Hungry Hounds. Released Sept. 27, 1925.

The Lion and the Monkey. Released Oct. 4, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 10, 1925, page 1716.

The Hero Wins. Released Oct. 11, 1925.

Air Cooled. Released Oct. 18, 1925.

Closer Than a Brother. Released Oct. 25, 1925.

Wildcats of Paris. Released Nov. 1, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 21, 1925, page 2468.

The Honor System. Released Nov. 8, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 21, 1925, page 2468.

More Mice Than Brains. Released Nov. 15, 1925.

The Great Open Spaces. Released Nov. 22, 1925.

A Day's Outing. Released Nov. 29, 1925.

The Bonehead Age. Released Dec. 6, 1925.

The Haunted House. Released Dec. 13, 1925.

The English Channel Swim. Released Dec. 20, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 26, 1925, page 3203.

Noah and His Troubles. Released Dec. 27, 1925. Reviewed Jan. 2, 1926, page 77.

The Gold Push. Released Jan. 3, 1926.

Three Blind Mice. Released Jan. 10, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 23, 1926, page 481.

Lighter Than Air. Released Jan. 17, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 30, 1926, page 590.

The Little Brown Jug. Released Jan. 24, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 13, 1926, page 803.

A June Bride. Released Jan. 31, 1926. Reviewed issue Feb. 13, 1926, page 803.

The Windjammers. Released Feb. 7, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 20, 1926, page 908.

Hunting in 1950. Released Feb. 14, 1926.

The Wicked City. Released Feb. 21, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 27, 1926, page 1009.

The Mail Coach. Released Feb. 28, 1926. Reviewed Mar. 6, 1926, page 1108.

ALICE COMEDIES. Produced and distributed by M. J. Winkler. Length, 1 reel.

Alice the Jailbird. Released Sept. 15, 1925.

Alice Plays Cupids. Released Oct. 15, 1925.

Alice Rattled by Rats. Released Nov. 15, 1925.

Alice in the Jungle. Released Dec. 15, 1925.

Alice on the Farm. Released Jan. 1, 1926.

Alice's Balloon Race. Released Jan. 15, 1926.

Alice's Little Parade. Released Feb. 1, 1926.

Alice's Mysterious Mystery. Released Feb. 15, 1926.

B

BIFF COMEDIES. Produced by Van Pelt Bros. Distributed by Bischoff, Inc. Length 2 reels.

Six Miles to Go. Star, Cliff Bowes. Director, Ernest Van Pelt. Released Sept. 10, 1925.

Working for the Rest. Star, Johnny Sinclair. Director, Wm. Strouback. Released Oct. 10, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 31, 1925, page 2049.

Hollywouldn't. Star, Johnny Sinclair. Director, Lon Carter. Released Nov. 10, 1925. Reviewed Sept. 12, 1925, page 1266.

Starvation Hunters. Star, Johnny Sinclair. Director, Wm. Strouback. Released Dec. 10, 1925.

Lost Whirl. Star, Johnny Sinclair. Director, Wm. Strouback. Released Jan. 10, 1926.

Service. Star and director, Al St. John. Released Feb. 10, 1926.

BLUE-BIRD COMEDIES. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Length, 1 reel.

Westward Ho. Star, Charles Puffy. Director, Richard Smith. Released Sept. 7, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 3, 1925, page 1607.

One Wild Night. Star, Neely Edwards. Director, Richard Wallace. Released Sept. 14, 1925.

The Green-Eyed Monster. Star, Arthur Lake. Director, Zion Myers. Released Sept. 21, 1925.

By the Sea. Star, Charles Puffy. Director, Wm. Scott Darling. Released Sept. 28, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 10, 1925, page 1716.

The Cat's Whiskers. Star, Neely Edwards. Director, Richard Smith. Released Oct. 5, 1925.

Muddled Up. Star, Charles Puffy. Director, Richard Smith. Released Oct. 12, 1925.

Absentminded. Star, Neely Edwards. Director, Slim Summerville. Released Oct. 19, 1925.

Half Fare. Star, Arthur Lake. Director, Zion Myers. Released Oct. 26, 1925.

Back to Nature. Star, Charles Puffy. Director, Slim Summerville. Released Nov. 2, 1925.

Jiminy Crickets. Star, Neely Edwards. Director, Richard Wallace. Released Nov. 9, 1925.

A Free Ride. Star, Arthur Lake. Director, Slim Summerville. Released Nov. 16, 1925.

Kick Me Again. Star, Charles Puffy. Director, Zion Myers. Released Nov. 23, 1925.

Beware of Your Relatives. Star, Neely Edwards. Director, Richard Wallace. Released Nov. 30, 1925.

The Understudy. Star, Arthur Lake. Director, Zion Myers. Released Dec. 7, 1925.

Faint Heart. Star, Charles Puffy. Director, Slim Summerville. Released Dec. 14, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 28, 1925, page 2562.

Happy Go Lucky. Star, Neely Edwards. Director, Zion Myers. Released Dec. 21, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 5, 1925, page 2677.

Love My Dog. Star, Arthur Lake. Director, Zion Myers. Released Dec. 28, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 19, 1925, page 3035.

Horse Laugh. Star, Charles Puffy. Director, Richard Smith. Released Jan. 4, 1926.

The Honeymoon Hotel. Star, Neely Edwards. Director, Richard Wallace. Released Jan. 11, 1926.

Prep School. Star, Arthur Lake. Director, Edgar Kennedy. Released Jan. 18, 1926.

Badly Broke. Star, Charles Puffy. Director, Slim Summerville. Released Jan. 25, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 30, 1926, page 591.

Fresh Paint. Star, Neely Edwards. Director, Richard Smith. Released Feb. 1, 1926.

Hot Dog. Star, Arthur Lake. Director, Edgar Kennedy. Released Feb. 8, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 23, 1926, page 480.

Tight Cargo. Star, Charles Puffy. Director, Richard Wallace. Released Feb. 15, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 30, 1926, page 590.

The Perfect Lie. Star, Neely Edwards. Director, Slim Summerville. Released Feb. 22, 1926.

BLUE RIBBON COMEDIES. Produced by Joe Rock. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Starring Alice Ardell. Length, 2 reels.

Lame Brains. Director, J. A. Howe. Released Sept. 20, 1925.

Salute. Director, Jimmy Davis. Released Oct. 18, 1925.

Hold Tight. Director, Marcel Perez. Released Nov. 15, 1925.

A Peaceful Riot. Director, Marcel Perez. Released Dec. 13, 1925.

Mummy Love. Director, Marcel Perez. Released Jan. 10, 1926.

Alice Blues. Released Feb. 7, 1926.

C

CAMEO COMEDIES. Produced by Jack White Corp. Distributed by Educational Film Exchanges. Length, 1 reel.

In Deep. Star, Cliff Bowes. Director, Charles Lamont. Released Sept. 13, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 10, 1925, page 1716.

Who's Which. Star, Phil Dunham. Director, Jules White. Released Sept. 27, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 10, 1925, page 1716.

Dog Daze. Star, Cliff Bowes, Director, Charles Lamont. Released Oct. 11, 1925.

Scrambled Eggs. Star, Phil Dunham. Director, Jess Robbins. Released Oct. 25, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 17, 1925, page 1820.

Sweet and Pretty. Star, Cliff Bowes. Director, Jess Robbins. Released Nov. 8, 1925.

Hot Feet. Star, Cliff Bowes. Director, Hugh Fay. Released Nov. 22, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 14, 1925, page 2364.

Slow Down. Star, Cliff Bowes. Director, Jess Robbins. Released Dec. 6, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 28, 1925, page 2562.

What's Up. Star, Cliff Bowes. Director, Jess Robbins. Released Dec. 20, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 12, 1925, page 2835.

Sky Hooks. Star, Cliff Bowes. Director, Jess Robbins. Released Jan. 3, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 2, 1926, page 77.

Brotherly Love. Star, Cliff Bowes. Director, Jess Robbins. Released Jan. 17, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 23, 1926, page 481.

Be Careful Dearie. Star, Joe Moore. Director, Zion Myers. Released Jan. 31, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 30, 1926, page 590.

Keep Trying. Star, Cliff Bowes. Director, Zion Myers. Released Feb. 14, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 27, 1926, page 1009.

Don't Stop. Star, Cliff Bowes. Director, Jules White. Released Feb. 28, 1926. Reviewed Mar. 13, 1926, page 1205.

CHARLEY CHASE COMEDIES. Produced by Hal Roach. Distributed by Pathe. Starring Charlie Chase. Director, Leo McCarey. Length, 2 reels.

No Father to Guide Him. Released Sept. 6, 1925. Reviewed Sept. 5, 1925, page 1160.

The Caretaker's Daughter. Released Oct. 11, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 10, 1925, page 1716.

The Uneasy Three. Released Nov. 15, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 21, 1925, page 2467.

His Wooden Wedding. Released Dec. 20, 1925. Reviewed Jan. 2, 1926, page 77.

Charley My Boy. Released Jan. 24, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 30, 1926. page 591.

Mama Behave. Released Feb. 28, 1926. Reviewed Mar. 6, 1926, page 1107.

CHRISTIE COMEDIES. Produced by Christie Film Company. Distributed by Educational Film Exchanges. Length, 2 reels.

A Misfit Sailor. Star, Billy Dooley. Director, Wm. Watson. Released Oct. 4, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 3, 1925, page 1607.

A Goofy Gob. Star, Billy Dooley. Director, Wm. Watson. Released Nov. 8, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 31, 1925, page 2050.

My Swedie. Star, Neal Burns. Director, Harold Beaudine. Released Dec. 13, 1925. Reviewed Jan. 2, 1926, page 77.

A Salty Sap. Star, Billy Dooley. Director, Wm. Watson. Released Jan. 17, 1926.

Run Tin Can. Star, Neal Burns. Director, Robert Thornby. Released Feb. 21, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 20, 1926, page 907.

CLYDE COOK COMEDIES. Produced by Hal Roach. Distributed by Pathe. Starring Clyde Cook. Length, 2 reels.

Moonlight and Noses. Director, Stan Laurel. Released Oct. 4, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 3, 1925, page 1607.

Should Sailors Marry? Director, James Parrott. Released Nov. 8, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 14, 1925, page 2364.

Starvation Blues. Director, Richard Wallace. Released Dec. 13, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 19, 1925, page 3034.

What's the World Coming To? Director, Richard Wallace. Released Jan. 17, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 23, 1926, page 480.

Wandering Papas. Director, Stan Laurel. Released Feb. 21, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 27, 1926, page 1009.

D

ALICE DAY COMEDIES. Produced by Mack Sennett. Starring Alice Day. Length, 2 reels.
Love and Kisses. Director, Eddie Cline. Released Sept. 27, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 3, 1925, page 1606.
A Sweet Pickle. Director, Arthur Rosson. Released Oct. 25, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 24, 1925, page 1940.
The Soapsuds Lady. Director, Arthur Rosson. Released Nov. 22, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 28, 1925, page 2562.
Hotsy Totsy. Director, Alf Goulding. Released Dec. 20, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 26, 1925, page 3203.
Hot Cakes for Two. Director, Alf Goulding. Released Jan. 17, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 23, 1926, page 480.
Goose-Land. Director, Alf Goulding. Released Feb. 14, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 20, 1926, page 907.

DINKY DOODLE COMEDIES. (Cartoons). Produced by Standard Cinema Corp. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Length, 1 reel.
Just Spooks. Released Sept. 13, 1925.
The Bad Man. Released Oct. 4, 1925.
In a Restaurant. Released Dec. 27, 1925.

E

EBENEZER EBONY COLORED CARTOONS. Produced by Pinellas Films, Inc. Distributed by Short Films Syndicate. Length, 1 reel.
An Ice Boy. Released Oct., 1925.
Fire in Brimstone. Released Nov., 1925.
Gypping the Gypsies. Released Dec., 1925.

F

FAT MEN COMEDIES. Produced by Joe Rock. Distributed by Film Booking Offices. Featuring Tiny Alexander, Kewpie Ross and Fatty Carr. Length, 2 reels.
Tailoring. Director, Jimmy Davis. Released Sept. 6, 1925.
Three Wise Goofs. Director, Jimmy Davis. Released Oct. 4, 1925.
On the Links. Director, Jimmy Davis. Released Nov. 1, 1925.
All Tied Up. Director, Geo. Slim Summerville. Released Nov. 29, 1925.
In the Air. Director, Geo. Slim Summerville. Released Jan. 24, 1926.
Heavy Love. Director, Percy Pembroke. Released Feb. 21, 1926.

FELIX THE CAT SERIES. Produced by Pat Sullivan. Distributed by Educational Film Exchanges. Length, 1 reel.
Felix the Cat Busts Into Business. Released Sept. 6, 1925.
Felix the Cat Trips Thru Toyland. Released Sept. 20, 1925.
Felix the Cat on the Farm. Released Oct. 4, 1925.
Felix the Cat on the Job. Released Oct. 18, 1925.
Felix the Cat in the Cold Rush. Released Nov. 1, 1925.
Felix the Cat in Eats Are West. Released Nov. 15, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 21, 1925, page 2468.
Felix the Cat Tries the Trades. Released Nov. 29, 1925.
Felix the Cat in the Rainbow's End. Released Dec. 13, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 19, 1925, page 3035.
Felix the Cat Kept on Walking. Released Dec. 27, 1925. Reviewed Jan. 23, 1926, page 481.
Felix the Cat Spots the Spooks. Released Jan. 10, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 30, 1926, page 591.
Felix the Cat Flirts With Fate. Released Jan. 24, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 13, 1926, page 802.
Felix the Cat in Blunderland. Released Feb. 7, 1926. Reviewed Mar. 6, 1926, page 1108.
Felix the Cat Fans the Flames. Released Feb. 21, 1926.

G

GOLD MEDAL COMEDIES. Produced by Samuel Bischoff. Distributed by Bischoff, Inc. Length, 2 reels.
Play Ball. Star, Chester Conklin. Released Sept. 20, 1925.
Spooky Spooks. With Jack Cooper and Jack Richardson. Director, Al Herman. Released Oct. 20, 1925. Reviewed Sept. 12, 1925, page 1266.
Roomers Afloat. With Jack Cooper and Jack Richardson. Director, Geo. Jeske. Released Nov. 20, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 31, 1925, page 2050.
Cured Hams. With Jack Richardson and Al Alt. Director, Geo. Jeske. Released Dec. 20, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 31, 1925, page 2049.
Married Bachelors. Star, Jack Richardson. Director, Geo. Jeske. Released Jan. 20, 1926.
Defective Detectives. Star, Jack Richardson. Director, Geo. Jeske. Released Feb. 20, 1926.

RALPH GRAVES COMEDIES. Produced by Mack Sennett. Distributed by Pathe. Starring Ralph Graves. Director, Lloyd Bacon. Length, 2 reels.
Hurry, Doctor! Released Sept. 20, 1925.
Good Morning, Madam! Released Oct. 18, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 17, 1925, page 1820.
Take Your Time. Released Nov. 15, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 21, 1925, page 2467.
The Window Dummy. Released Dec. 13, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 19, 1925, page 3034.
Wide Open Faces. Released Jan. 10, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 23, 1926, page 481.
Funnymooners. Released Feb. 7, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 13, 1926, page 802.

THE GUMPS SERIES. Produced by Samuel Von Ronkel Prod. Distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Featuring Joe Murphy and Fay Tincher. Length, 2 reels.
Andy's Lion Tale. Director, Francis Corby. Released Oct. 26, 1925.
Chester's Donkey Party. Director, Francis Corby. Released Nov. 9, 1925.
Dynamited. Director, Francis Corby. Released Nov. 23, 1925.
Andy Takes a Flyer. Director, Ray Gray. Released Dec. 7, 1925.
The Smash-Up. Directors, David Kirkland and Craig Hutchinson. Released Dec. 21, 1925.
Min's Home on the Cliff. Director, Frank Corby. Released Jan. 4, 1926.
Min Walks in Her Sleep. Director, Frank Corby. Released Jan. 18, 1926.
California Here We Come. Directors, David Kirkland and Craig Hutchison. Released Jan. 31, 1926.
Shady Rest. Director, Norman Dawn. Released Feb. 15, 1926.

H

HAMILTON COMEDIES. Produced by Lloyd Hamilton Corp. Distributed by Educational Film Exchanges. Starring Lloyd Hamilton. Length, 2 reels.
The Movies. Director, Wm. Goodrich. Released Oct. 4, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 3, 1925, page 1606.
Framed. Director, Stephen Roberts. Released Dec. 6, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 28, 1925, page 2562.
Careful Please. Director, Norman Taurog. Released Feb. 7, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 20, 1926, page 907.

O. HENRY SERIES. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Directed by Daniel Keefe. Length, 2 reels.
Shoes. With Marion Harlan and Harold Goodwin. Released Sept. 6, 1925. Reviewed Aug. 29, 1925, page 1048.
Transients in Arcadia. With Mary Akin and Hugh Allan. Released Oct. 18, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 31, 1925, page 2050.
Failure. With Harvey Clark and Kathryn McGuire. Released Nov. 29, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 21, 1925, page 2467.
Cupid a La Carte. With Florence Gilbert. Released Jan. 3, 1926. Reviewed Dec. 26, 1925, page 3203.
Elsie in New York. With Gladys McConnell and Hallam Cooley. Released Feb. 21, 1926. Reviewed Mar. 6, 1926, page 1107.

WALTER HIERS COMEDIES. Produced by Christie Film Company. Distributed by Educational Film Exchanges. Starring Walter Hiers, Length, 2 reels.
Off His Beat. Director, Archie Mayo. Released Sept. 13, 1925. Reviewed Sept. 12, 1925, page 1267.
Hot Doggie. Director, Earl Rodney. Released Nov. 15, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 14, 1925, page 2364.
Weak But Willing. Director, Archie Mayo. Released Jan. 3, 1926. Reviewed Dec. 19, 1925, page 3034.

I

IMPERIAL COMEDIES. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Length, 2 reels.
Sweet Marie. With Sid Smith. Director, Benjamin Stoloff. Released Sept. 6. 1925, Reviewed issue Aug. 29, 1925, page 1047.
Love and Lions. Released Sept. 20, 1925.
A Cloudy Romance. With Harold Austin and Hazel Dawn. Director, Lew Seiler. Released Oct. 4, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 10, 1925, page 1715.
The Heart Breaker. With Sid Smith and Judy King. Director, Benjamin Stoloff. Released Oct. 18, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 24, 1925, page 1940.
Strong For Love. With Sid Smith and Judy King. Director, Lew Seiler. Released Nov. 1, 1925.
East Side, West Side. With George Harris and Barbara Luddy. Released Nov. 15, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 12, 1925, page 2835.
Control Yourself. With Sid Smith and Katherine Bennett. Director, Robert Kerr. Released Nov. 29, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 28, 1925, page 2562.
Heavy Swells. Released Dec. 13, 1925.
The Flying Fool. With Sid Smith and Marion Harlan. Director, Lew Seiler. Released Dec. 27, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 26, 1925, page 3203.
The Fighting Tailor. With George Harris and Barbara Luddy. Director, Benjamin Stoloff. Released Jan. 10, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 23, 1926, page 481.
A Flaming Affair. With Sid Smith. Director, Lex Neal. Released Jan. 24, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 30, 1926, page 590.
A Bankrupt Honeymoon. With Harold Goodwin and Shirley Palmer.. Director, Lew Seiler. Released Feb. 7, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 13, 1926, page 802.
Officer of the Day. With Harold Goodwin and Eugenia Gilbert. Directors, Max Gold and Andrew Bennison. Released Feb. 21, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 13, 1926, page 803.

J

JUVENILE COMEDIES. Produced by Jack White Corp. Distributed by Educational Film Exchanges. Starring "Big Boy." Director, Charles Lamont. Length, 2 reels.
Baby Be Good. Released Oct. 18, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 24, 1925, page 1940.
Bachelors' Babies. Released Dec. 6, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 12, 1925, page 2835.
Sea Scamps. Released Feb. 14, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 13, 1926, page 802.

K

KARLO KOLOR CARTOONS. Produced by Pinellas Films, Inc. Distributed by Short Film Syndicate. Length, 1 reel.
Honeymoon Heaven. Released Sept., 1925.
Love's Tragedy. Released Nov., 1925.

KRAZY KAT SERIES. Produced and distributed by M. J. Winkler. Length, 1 reel.
Monkey Business. Released Sept. 15, 1925.
Batting for Barleycorn. Released Oct. 1, 1925.
Punctured Romance. Released Oct. 15, 1925.
The Ghost Fakir. Released Nov. 1, 1925.
A Sucker Game. Released Nov. 15, 1925.
Back to Batching. Released Dec. 1, 1925.
Double Crossed. Released Dec. 15, 1925.
Scents and Nonsense. Released Jan. 1, 1926.
The Feather Pushers. Released Jan. 15, 1926.
Cops Suey. Released Feb. 1, 1926.
Puss and Boots. Released Feb. 15, 1926.

L

LUPINO LANE COMEDIES. Produced by Lupino Lane Comedy Corp. Distributed by Educational Film Exchanges. Starring Lupino Lane. Length, 2 reels.
Maid in Morocco. Director, Charles Lamont. Released Oct. 11, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 17, 1925, page 1820.
The Fighting Dude. Director, Wm. Goodrich. Released Dec. 6, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 5, 1925, page 2678.
Time Flies. Director, Jess Robbins. Released Feb. 7, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 6, 1926, page 699.

M

MARRIED LIFE SERIES. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Featuring Kathryn Perry and Hallam Cooley. Length, 2 reels.
All Aboard. Director, Albert Ray. Released Oct. 11, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 19, 1925, page 3034.
The Peacemakers. Director, Albert Ray. Released Nov. 22, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 7, 1925, page 2166.
His Own Lawyer. Director, Tom Buckingham. Released Jan. 3, 1926. Reviewed Dec. 26, 1925, page 3203.
A Woman of Letters. Director, Albert Ray. Released Feb. 14, 1926. Reviewed Mar. 6, 1926, page 1107.

MERMAID COMEDIES. Produced by Jack White Corp. Distributed by Educational Film Exchanges. Length, 2 reels.
Pleasure Bound. Star, Lige Conley. Director, Norman Taurog. Released Sept. 6, 1925. Reviewed Aug. 22, 1925, page 952.
Fair Warning. Star, Al St. John. Director, Stephen Roberts. Released Sept. 27, 1925. Reviewed Sept. 26, 1925, page 1500.
Spot Light. Star, Lige Conley. Director, Norman Taurog. Released Oct. 25, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 24, 1925, page 1939.
Fire Away. Star, Al St. John. Director, Stephen Roberts. Released Nov. 8, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 7, 1925, page 2166.
On Edge. Star, Lige Conley. Director, Norman Taurog. Released Nov. 29, 1925.
Cheap Skates. Star, Lige Conley. Director, Norman Taurog. Released Dec. 20, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 12, 1925, page 2835.
Live Cowards. Star, Al St. John. Director, Stephen Roberts. Released Jan. 10, 1926.
Lickety Split. Star, Lige Conley. Director, Norman Taurog. Released Jan. 31, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 6, 1926, page 701.
Hold Your Hat. Star, Al St. John. Director, Stephen Roberts. Released Feb. 14, 1926. Reviewed Mar. 6, 1926, page 1107.

MUTT AND JEFF CARTOONS. Produced by Manj, Inc. Distributed by Short Film Syndicate. Length, 800 feet.
Accidents Won't Happen. Released Sept., 1925.
Soda Clerks. Released Sept., 1925.
Invisible Revenge. Released Oct., 1925.

Where Am I. Released Oct., 1925.
Bear Facts. Released Nov., 1925.
Mixing In Mexico. Released Nov., 1925.
Oceans of Trouble. Released Dec., 1925.
A Link Missing. Released Dec., 1925.
They Shall Not Pass. Released Jan., 1926.
Set Em Up Again. Released Jan., 1926.
A Stretch in Time. Released Feb., 1926.
Bumbs and Bums. Released Feb., 1926. Reviewed Feb. 20, 1926, page 908.

O

OUR GANG COMEDIES. Produced by Hal Roach. Distributed by Pathe. Featuring Children. Director, Robert McGowan. Length, 2 reels.
Your Own Back Yard. Released Sept. 27, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 3, 1925, page 1606.
Better Movies. Released Nov. 1, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 7, 1925, page 2166.
One Wild Ride. Released Dec. 6, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 12, 1925, page 2835.
Good Cheer. Released Jan. 10, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 30, 1926, page 590.
Buried Treasure. Released Feb. 14, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 20, 1926, page 908.

R

RED HEAD COLORED CARTOONS. Produced by Pinellas Films, Inc. Distributed by Short Film Syndicate. Length, 1 reel.
Columbus Discovers A New Whirl. Released Oct., 1925.
Nero's Jazz Band. Released Nov., 1925.
Sitting Bull Stands Up. Released Dec., 1925.
Rip Without A Wink. Released Jan., 1926.

ROACH COMEDIES. Produced by Hal Roach. Distributed by Pathe. Length, 1 reel.
Unfriendly Enemies. Featuring Jimmie Finlayson. Director, Stan Laurel. Released Sept. 13, 1925.
The Big Kick. Featuring Earl Mohan and Billy Engle. Director, Fred L. Guiol. Released Sept. 27, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 10, 1925, page 1715.
Solid Ivory. Featuring Earl Mohan and Billy Engle. Director, Ralph Ceder. Released Oct. 11, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 17, 1925, page 1820.
All Wool. Featuring Earl Mohan and Billy Engle. Director, Tay Garnett. Released Oct. 25, 1925. .Reviewed Oct. 31, 1925, page 2049.
Are Parents Pickles? Featuring Jimmie Parrott and Jobyna Ralston. Director, Gilbert Pratt. Released Nov. 8, 1925.
Whistling Lions. Featuring Jimmie Parrott and Jobyna Ralston. Released Nov. 22, 1925.
Hold Everything. Featuring Eddie Borden. Director, Fred Guiol. Released Dec. 6, 1925. Reviewed issue Dec. 12, 1925, page 2835.
Between Meals. Featuring Paul Parrott. Director, Raymond Grey. Released Jan. 3, 1926.
Don't Butt In. Featuring Paul Parrott. Director, Raymond Grey. Released Jan. 17, 1926.
Soft Pedal. Featuring Paul Parrott. Director, Raymond Grey. Released Jan. 31, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 13, 1926, page 803.
Pay the Cashier. Featuring Paul Parrott. Director, Raymond Grey. Released Feb. 14, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 20, page 908.
The Only Son. Featuring Paul Parrott. Director, Raymond Grey. Released Feb. 28, 1926.

ROACH STAR COMEDIES. Produced by Hal Roach. Distributed by Pathe. Length, 2 reels.
Somewhere in Somewhere. With Charlie Murray and Lucien Littlefield. Director, Jas. W. Horne. Released Oct. 25, 1925. Reviewed Sept. 26, 1925, page 1500.
There Goes the Bride. With Lucien Littlefield and Martha Sleeper. Director, Jas. W. Horne. Released Oct. 25, 1925.
Laughing Ladies. Director, Jas. W. Horne. Released Nov. 29, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 5, 1925, page 2677.
A Punch in the Nose. With Lucien Littlefield. Director, Jay Howe. Released Jan. 3, 1926. Reviewed Oct. 31, 1925, page 2049.
Your Husband's Past. Director, Fred Guiol. Released Feb. 7, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 13, 1926, page 802.

S

MACK SENNETT COMEDIES. Produced by Mack Sennett. Distributed by Pathe.
A Rainy Knight. Director, Lloyd Bacon. Released Sept. 20, 1925. Length, 2 reels.
Over Thereabouts. Director, Arthur Rosson. Released Oct. 11, 1925. Length, 2 reels.
Dangerous Curves Behind. Director, Eddie Cline. Released Nov. 1, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 7, 1925, page 2166. Length, 2 reels.
Isn't Love Cuckoo? With Raymond McKee. Director, Lloyd Bacon. Released Nov. 22, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 5, 1925, page 2677. Length, 2 reels.
There He Goes. With Harry Langdon. Director, Harry Edwards. Released Nov. 29, 1925. Length, 3 reels.
From Rags to Britches. With Billy Bevan and Madeline Hurlock. Director, Del Lord. Released Dec. 13, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 19, 1925, page 3035. Length, 2 reels.
The Gosh-Darn Mortgage. Director, Eddie Cline. Released Jan. 3, 1926. Length, 2 reels.
Whispering Whiskers. With Billy Bevan and Madeline Hurlock. Director, Harry Edwards. Released Jan. 24, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 30, 1926, page 590. Length, 2 reels.
Saturday Afternoon. With Harry Langdon. Director, Harry Edwards. Released Jan. 31, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 6, 1926, page 699. Length, 3 reels.
Trimmed in Gold. Director, Del Lord. Released Feb. 14, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 20, 1926, page 907. Length, 2 reels.

STERN BROTHERS COMEDIES. Produced by Stern Film Corp. Distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Length, 2 reels.
Stranded. Star, Edna Marian. Director, William Watson. Released Sept. 2, 1925. Reviewed Sept. 5, 1925, page 1161.
Officer No. 13. Star, Eddie Gordon. Director, Edw. I. Luddy. Released Sept. 9, 1925.
Too Much Mother-in-Law. Star, Constance Darling. Director, Noel Smith. Released Sept. 16, 1925. Reviewed Sept. 12, 1925, page 1267.
Educating Buster. With Arthur Trimble and Doreen Turner. Director, Charles Lamont. Released Sept. 23, 1925. Reviewed Aug. 29, 1925, page 1047.
Cupid's Victory. Star, Wanda Wiley. Director, Charles Lamont. Released Sept. 30, 1925.
Uncle Tom's Gal. Star, Edna Marian. Director, Wm. Watson. Released Oct. 7, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 3, 1925, page 1606.
Piping Hot. Star, Al Alt. Director, Chas. Lamont. Released Oct. 14, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 10, 1925, page 1715.
A Winning Pair. Star, Wanda Wiley. Director, Charles Lamont. Released Oct. 21, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 24, 1925, page 1939.
Buster Be Good. With Arthur Trimble and Doreen Turner. Director, Gus Meins. Released Oct. 28, 1925.
Nursery Troubles. Star, Edna Marian. Director, Wm. Watson. Released Nov. 4, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 24, 1925, page 1939.
A Taxi War. Star. Eddie Gordon. Director, Noel Smith. Released Nov. 11, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 31, 1925, page 2050.
The Speedy Marriage. Star, Wanda Wiley. Director, Edw. I. Luddy. Released Nov. 18, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 14, 1925, page 2364.
Oh Buster. With Arthur Trimble and Doreen Turner. Director, Gus Meins. Released Nov. 25, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 7, 1925, page 2166.
Scandal Hunters. Star, Al Alt. Director, Jesse Robbins. Released Dec. 2, 1925.
Eighteen Carat. Star, Edna Marian. Director, Wm. Watson. Released Dec. 9, 1925.
Captain Suds. Star, Eddie Gordon. Director, Noel Smith. Released Dec. 16. 1925. Reviewed Dec. 19, 1925, page 3035.
Buster's Nightmare. With Arthur Trimble and Doreen Turner. Director, Gus Meins. Released Dec. 23, 1925.
Going Good. Star, Wanda Wiley. Director, Edward I. Luddy. Released Dec. 30, 1925.
A Honeymoon Squabble. Star, Edna Marian. Director, Wm. Watson. Released Jan. 6, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 23, 1926, page 480.
Buster's Bust-Up. With Arthur Trimble and Doreen Turner. Director, Gus Meins. Released Jan. 13, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 23, 1926, page 480.
Her Lucky Leap. Star, Wanda Wiley. Director, Edward I. Luddy. Released Jan. 20, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 30, 1926, page 591.
Helpful Al. Star, Al Alt. Director, Charles Lamont. Released Jan. 27, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 6, 1926, page 701.
The Big City. Star, Edna Marian. Director, Francis Corby. Released Feb. 3, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 13, 1926, page 802.
Crowning the Count. Star, Eddie Gordon. Director, Jesse Robbins. Released Feb. 10, 1926.
Accidents Can Happen. Star, Al Alt. Director, Charles Lamont. Released Feb. 17, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 20, 1926, page 907.
Buster's Nose Dive. With Arthur Trimble and Pete (dog). Director, Gus Meins. Released Feb. 24, 1926.

T

GLENN TRYON COMEDIES. Produced by Hal Roach. Distributed by Pathe. Starring Glenn Tryon. Director, Fred Guiol. Length, 2, reels.
Cuckoo Love. Released Oct. 18, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 17, 1925, page 1820.
Papa, Be Good. Released Nov. 22, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 5, 1925, page 2678.
Flaming Flappers. Released Dec. 27, 1925. Reviewed Jan. 2, 1926, page 77.
Long Pants. Released Jan. 31, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 13, 1926, page 802.

TUXEDO COMEDIES. Produced by Goodwill Comedies, Inc. Distributed by Educational Film Exchanges. Star, Johnny Arthur. Director, Wm. Goodrich. Length, 2 reels.
The Tourist. Released Sept. 20, 1925. Reviewed Aug. 15, 1925, page 821.
Cleaning Up. Released Nov. 22, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 14, 1925, page 2364.
My Stars. Released Jan. 17, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 23, 1926, page 480.

TWO STAR COMEDIES. Produced by Laymon Film Co. Distributed by Tennek Film Corp. Starring Fatty Laymon and Charlie Dorety. Length, 2 reels.
The Inventors. Director, John McCutcheon. Released Jan., 1926.
Are Golfers Cockoo? Director, Chas. Seay. Released Feb., 1926.

V

VAN BIBBER SERIES. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Starring Earle Fox. Length, 2 reels.
The Sky Jumper. Director, Geo. Marshall. Released Sept. 20, 1925.
The Wrestler. Director, R. P. Kerr. Released Nov. 1, 1925. Reviewed Aug. 29, 1925, page 1048.
A Parisian Knight. Director, Geo. Marshall. Released Dec. 13, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 19, 1925, page 3034.
The Feud. Director, Robert P. Kerr. Released Jan. 31, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 2, 1926, page 77.

BOBBY VERNON COMEDIES. Produced by Christie Film Company. Distributed by Educational Film Exchanges. Star, Bobbie Vernon. Length, 2 reels.
Watch Out. Director, Wm. Watson. Released Sept. 6, 1925. Reviewed Aug. 29, 1925, page 1047.
Slippery Feet. Director, Harold Beaudine. Released Nov. 1, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 31, 1925, page 2050.
Yes, Yes, Babette. Director, Earle Rodney. Released Dec. 27, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 19, 1925, page 3035.
Page Me. Director, Wm. Watson. Released Feb. 28, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 27, 1926, page 1009.

W

WITWER COMEDIES. Produced by Samuel Bischoff. Distributed by Bischoff, Inc. Length, 2 reels.
Battling Romeo. With Eddie Gribbon and Mildred June. Director, Wm. Curran. Released Sept. 1, 1925.
Merchant of Weenies. With Charles Delaney and Eddie Phillips. Director, Wm. Curran. Released Oct. 1, 1925. Reviewed Sept. 21, 1925, page 1266.
Account of Monte Cristo. With Chas. Delaney and Eddie Phillips. Director, Eddie Luddy. Released Nov. 1, 1925.
Taming of the Shrewd. With Eddie Gribbon and Mildred June. Director, Wm. Curran. Released Dec. 1, 1925.
Last of the Mohegians. With Chas. Delaney and Eddie Phillips. Director, Eddie Luddy. Released Jan. 1, 1926.
Alibi's Forty Thieves. Star, Chas. Delaney. Director, Geo. Jeske. Released Feb. 1, 1926.

SERIALS

ACE OF SPADES. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Star. William Desmond. Director, Henry McRae. Released Oct. 19, 1925. Length, Length, 10 episodes.
References: Reviewed Oct. 24, 1925, page 1939.

CASEY OF THE COAST GUARD. Produced by Grey Prod., Inc. Distributed by Pathe Exchanges. With George O'Hara and Helen Ferguson. Director, Will Nigh. Released Feb. 14, 1926. Length, 10 episodes.
References: Reviewed Feb. 20, 1926, page 908.

THE FLAME FIGHTER. Produced by Beacon Films Corp. Distributed by Rayart Pictures Corp. Star, Herbert Hawlinson. Director, Robert Dillon. Released Jan., 1926. Length, 10 episodes.

THE GREEN ARCHER. Produced and distributed by Pathe. With Allene Ray and Walter Miller. Director, Spencer Bennet. Released Dec. 6, 1925. Length, 10 episodes.
References: Reviewed Dec. 5, 1925, page 2677.

THE SCARLET STREAK. Produced and distributed by Universal. Star, Jack Daugherty. Director, Henry McRae. Released Dec. 21, 1925. Length, 10 episodes.

WILD WEST. Produced by C. W. Patton. Distributed by Pathe Exchanges. With Helen Ferguson and Jack Mulhall. Director, Robert F. Hill. Released Sept. 27, 1925. Length, 10 episodes.
References: Reviewed issue Sept. 12, 1925, page 1266.

THE WINKING IDOL. Produced and distributed by Universal. With Wm. Desmond and Eileen Sedgwick. Director, Francis Ford. Released Feb. 22. 1926. Length, 10 episodes.
References: Reviewed issue Mar. 20, 1926, page 1301.

MISCELLANEOUS

A

ADVENTURE PICTURES. Produced by Pinellas Films, Inc. Distributed by Short Films Syndicate. Length, 1 reel.

The Tiger Hunt. Released Jan. 1926.

ANIMATED HAIR CARTOONS. Cartoon Novelty. Produced by Out-of-the-Inkwell. Distributed by Red Seal Pictures Corp. Length, ½ reel.

E

EDUCATIONAL SPECIAL. Produced by Diamant Film Co. of America. Distributed by Educational Film Exchanges. Length, 1 reel.

Marionettes. Star, Hope Hampton. Director, Henri Diamant Berger. Released Nov. 29, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 5, 1925, page 2677.

F

FILM FACTS. Produced by Out-of-the-Inkwell. Distributed by Red Seal Pictures Corp. Issue E to Issue J released from Sept. 15, 1925 to Feb., 1926. Length, 1 reel.

FOX VARIETIES. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Length, 1 reel.

In a China Shop. Released Sept. 6, 1925.

My Own Carolina. Released Sept. 20, 1925. Reviewed Aug. 29, 1925, page 1048.

With Pencil, Brush and Chisel. Released Oct. 4, 1925.

Cuba Steps Out. Released Oct. 18, 1925.

The Sky Tribe. Released Nov. 1, 1925.

White Paper. Released Nov. 15, 1925.

The River Nile. Released Nov. 29, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 28, 1925, page 2562.

Toiling For Rest. Released Dec. 13, 1925.

Iron Trail Around the World. Released Dec. 27, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 26, 1925, page 3203.

The Whirlpool of Europe. Released Jan. 10, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 23, 1926, page 481.

Old Virginia. Released Jan. 24, 1926.

Egypt Today. Released Feb. 7, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 13, 1926, page 803.

Sawdust and Spangles. Released Feb. 21, 1926.

G

GEMS OF THE SCREEN. Produced by Cranfield and Clark. Distributed by Red Seal Pictures Corp. Length, 1 reel.

Shakespeare. Released Sept. 15, 1925.

Rubberneckin' in London. Released Oct. 15, 1925.

On the River Conway. Released Nov. 15, 1925.

Fish For Two. Released Feb., 1926. Reviewed Feb. 27, 1926, page 1009.

GUESS WHO SERIES. (Film Stars Name Contest). Produced by Ralph B. Staub. Distributed by Weiss Bros.' Artclass Pict. Corp. Six in series, released weekly commencing Jan. 8, 1926. Length, 1 reel.

H

HILLIKER SCENICS. Produced by Chas. Jawitz. Distributed by Service Film Corp. Length, 1 reel.

Working the Scenery. Released Sept. 1, 1925.

Nipping Them in Nipigon. Released Oct. 1, 1925.

Where Firemen Grow Wings. Released Nov. 1, 1925.

The Magic Rag. Released Jan. 1, 1926.

HODGE PODGE SERIES. Produced by Lyman H. Howe. Distributed by Educational Film Exchanges. Length, 1 reel.

The Story Teller. Released Sept. 20, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 3, 1925, page 1607.

Knicknacks of Knowledge. Released Oct. 18, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 14, 1925, page 2364.

Magical Movies. Released Nov. 22, 1925.

A Mythical Monster. Released Dec. 20, 1925.

Mother Goose's Movies. Released Jan. 24, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 6, 1926, page 701.

A Criss-Cross Cruise. Released Feb. 21, 1926. Reviewed Mar. 13, 1926, page 1205.

K

KO-KO SONG CAR-TUNES. Produced by Out-of-the-Inkwell. Distributed by Red Seal Pictures Corp. Length, 1 reel.

My Bonnie. Released Sept. 15, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 3, 1925, page 1606.

Sailing, Sailing, Over the Bounding Main. Released Nov. 15, 1925.

Ta-Ra-Ra-Boom-De-Ay. Released Feb., 1926.

M

MARVELS OF MOTION. Slow Motion Novelty. Produced by Out-of-the-Inkwell. Distributed by Red Seal Pictures Corp. Issue C, released Sept. 15, 1925; Issue D, released Oct. 15, 1925; Issue E, released Nov. 15, 1925; Issue F, released Feb., 1926. Length, 1 reel.

McCALL COLOUR FASHION NEWS.—Produced by The McCall Co. Distributed by Educational Film Exchanges. With Hope Hampton. Length, 1 reel.

Parisian Modes in Colour. Released Dec. 27, 1925.

Colourful Fashions From Paris. Released Jan. 24, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 30, 1926, page 590.

MELODY SERIES. Produced by Jas. A. Fitzpatrick. Distributed by Pathe Exchange, Inc. Featuring Peggy Shaw. Length, 1 reel.

Songs of Ireland. Released Feb. 7, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 6, 1926, page 699.

N

NOVELTY SERIES. Distributed by Short Films Syndicate. Length, 1 reel.

Betty and Her Beasties. Produced by W. H. Carpenter. Released Sept., 1925.

Orphans of Mother O'Phew. Produced by Ernest W. Corts. Released Sept., 1925.

Yarns of Old Kashmir. Produced by Pinellas Films, Inc. Released Oct., 1925.

Toilers of the Tea. Produced by Pinellas Films, Inc. Released Oct., 1925.

Liquid Gold. Produced by Pinellas Films, Inc. Released Nov., 1925.

No Woman's Land. Produced by Pinellas Films, Inc. Released Dec., 1925.

All for a Queen. Produced by Pinellas Films, Inc. Released Jan., 1926.

Burmah Blues. Produced by Pinellas Films, Inc. Released Feb., 1926.

O

OUT-OF-THE-INKWELL SERIES. Produced by Out-of-the-Inkwell. Distributed by Red Seal Pictures Corp. Length, 1 reel.

Ko-Ko on the Run. Released Sept. 15, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 3, 1925, page 1607.

Ko-Ko Nuts. Released Oct. 15, 1925. Reviewed Sept. 5, 1925, page 1160.

Ko-Ko Eats. Released Nov. 15, 1925.

Ko-Ko's Paradise. Released Feb., 1926. Reviewed Feb. 27, 1926, page 1009.

P

PATHE REVIEW. Produced and distributed by Pathe. Issued once a week. No. 36 to No. 52, released from Sept. 6, 1925 to Dec. 27, 1925; No. 1 to No. 9, released from Jan. 3, 1926 to Feb. 28, 1926. Length, 1 reel.

PATHE SPECIAL. Produced by Amundsen-Ellsworth. Distributed by Pathe Exchange, Inc. Length, 3 reels.

The Amundsen Polar Flight. Released Nov. 29, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 21, 1925, page 2467.

R

REELVIEWS. Produced by Out-of-the-Inkwell. Distributed by Red Seal Pictures Corp. Issue A, released Feb., 1926. Reviewed Jan. 23, 1926, page 481. Length, 1 reel.

S

SERVICE NOVELTIES. Produced and distributed by Service Film Corp. Length, 1 reel.

Fifty Million Years Ago. Released Sept. 15, 1925.

Trip to the Moon. Released Nov. 15, 1925.

Radio. Released Jan. 15, 1926.

SPORTLIGHT SERIES. Produced by Grantland Rice. Distributed by Pathe Exchange, Inc. Length, 1 reel.

Barrier Busters. Released Sept. 6, 1925. Reviewed Sept. 5, 1925, page 1161.

Starting An Argument. Released Sept. 20, 1925.

Outings for All. Released Oct. 4, 1925.

Clever Feet. Released Oct. 18, 1925.

What Price Touchdown? Released Nov. 1, 1925.

Shooting at Time. Released Nov. 15, 1925.

Walloping Wonders. Released Nov. 29, 1925.

Then and Now. Released Dec. 13, 1925.

Fins and Feathers. Released Dec. 27, 1925. Reviewed Jan. 2, 1926, page 77.

All Astride. Released Jan. 10, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 30, 1926, page 591.

The Uprising Generation. Released Jan. 24, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 6, 1926, page 699.

The Strenuous Life. Released Feb. 7, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 20, 1926, page 908.

The Great Arena. Released Feb. 21, 1926. Reviewed Mar. 6, 1926, page 1107.

STEREOSCOPIKS. Produced by Ives-Leventhal. Distributed by Pathe Exchange, Inc. Length, ½ reel.

A Runaway Taxi. Released Sept. 6, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 3, 1925, page 1607.

T

TOPICS OF THE DAY. Produced by Timely Films, Inc. Distributed by Pathe Exchange, Inc. Issue once a week. No. 36 to No. 52, released from Sept. 6, 1925 to Dec. 27, 1925; No. 1 to No. 9, released from Jan. 3, 1926 to Feb. 28, 1926. Length, 1/3 reel.

V

VENTURINI SPECIAL. Produced by E. D. Venturini. Distributed by Short Films Syndicate. Length, 1 reel.

I Remember. Released Sept., 1925.

W

WONDER BOOKS COLORED SCENICS. Produced by Pinellas Films, Inc. Distributed by Short Films Syndicate. No. 2 to No. 7, released from Sept., 1925 to Feb., 1926. Length, 1 reel.

SHORT LENGTH DRAMAS

HUNT MILLER WESTERNS. Produced by L. B. Carleton Prod. Distributed by A. G. Steen. Starring Tom Forman. Director, Lloyd B. Carleton. Length, 2 reels.

The Young Sheriff. Released Oct., 1925.

The Mad Miner. Released Oct., 1925.

Flash of a .45. Released Oct., 1925.

Man Who Rode Alone. Released Oct., 1925.

MUSTANG SERIES. Produced and distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Length, 2 reels.

The Fight Within. Star, George Larkin. Director, Edw. Kull. Released Sept. 5, 1925.

Tricked. Star, Edmund Cobb. Director, Ernst Laemmle. Released Sept. 12, 1925. Reviewed Sept. 12, 1925, page 1267.

Taking Chances. Star, Fred Humes. Director, Wm. Crinley. Released Sept. 19, 1925.

The Raid. Star, Edmund Cobb. Director, Edw. Laemmle. Released Sept. 26, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 10, 1925, page 1715.

Just Cowboys. With Ben Corbett and Pee Wee Holmes. Director, Vin Moore. Released Oct. 3, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 10, 1925, page 1715.

The Gold Trap. Star, Fred Humes. Director, Wm. Crinley. Released Oct. 10, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 10, 1925, page 1716.

The Road From Latigo. Star, Edmund Cobb. Director, Edw. Laemmle. Released Oct. 17, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 17, 1925, page 1820.

Shootin' Wild. With Ben Corbett and Pee Wee Holmes. Director, Vin Moore. Released Oct. 24, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 24, 1925, page 1940.

The Boundary Line. Star, Fred Humes. Director, Wm. Crinley. Released Oct. 31, 1925. Reviewed Oct. 31, 1925, page 2049.

The Rustlers of Boulder Canyon. Star, Edmund Cobb. Director, Wm. Crinley. Released Nov. 7, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 21, 1925, page 2468.

Too Many Bucks. With Ben Corbett and Pee Wee Holmes. Director, Vin Moore. Released Nov. 14, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 21, 1925, page 2468.

The Rustlin' Kid. Star, Fred Humes. Director, Wm. Crinley. Released Nov. 21, 1925.

Range Law. Star, Edmund Cobb. Director, Wm. Crinley. Released Nov. 28, 1925. Reviewed Nov. 28, 1925, page 2562.

Breakin' Loose. With Ben Corbett and Pee Wee Holmes. Director, Vin Moore. Released Dec. 5, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 5, 1925, page 2678.

The Rider of the Pass. Star, Fred Humes. Director, Wm. Crinley. Released Dec. 12, 1925.

Top Hand. Star, Edmund Cobb. Director, Edw. Laemmle. Released Dec. 19, 1925. Reviewed Dec. 19, 1925, page 3035.

The Crook Buster. Star, Jack Mower. Director, Wm. Wyler. Released Dec. 26, 1925.

The Call of Hazard. Star, Fred Humes. Director, Wm. Crinley. Released Jan. 2, 1926.

Montana of the Range. Star, Josie Sedgwick. Director, John O'Brien. Released Jan. 9, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 6, 1926, page 701.

Hearts of the West. Star, Edmund Cobb. Director, Ernst Laemmle. Released Jan. 16, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 6, 1926, page 699.

The Man With a Scar. Star, Fred Humes. Director, Wm. Crinley. Released Jan. 23, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 30, 1926, page 591.

The Hero of Piperock. With Ben Corbett and Pee Wee Holmes. Director, Vin Moore. Released Jan. 30, 1926. Reviewed Jan. 30, 1926, page 591.

The Winged Rider. Star, Edmund Cobb. Director, Ernst Laemmle. Released Feb. 6, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 13, 1926, page 803.

Queen of the Hills. Star, Josie Sedgwick. Director, John O'Brien. Released Feb. 13, 1926.

The Big Game. With Ben Corbett and Pee Wee Holmes. Director, Vin Moore. Released Feb. 20, 1926. Reviewed Feb. 20, 1926, page 907.

The Flaming West. Star, Edmund Cobb. Director, Ernst Laemmle. Released Feb. 27, 1926.

NEWS REELS

FOX NEWS. Produced and distributed by Fox Film Corp. Issued twice a week, Sunday and Thursday. Vol. 6, No. 98 to Vol. 7, No. 44, released from Sept. 1, 1925 to Feb. 28, 1926.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS. Produced by International News Reel Corp. Distributed by Universal Pictures Corp. Issued twice a week, Tuesday and Friday. No. 73 to No. 106, released from Sept. 1 to Dec. 25, 1925; No. 1 to No. 18, released from Dec. 29, 1925 to Feb. 26, 1926.

KINOGRAMS. Produced by Kinograms Publishing Corp. Distributed by Educational Film Exchange. Issued twice a week, Sunday and Thursday. No. 5115 to 5166, released from Sept. 1, 1925 to Feb. 28, 1926.

PATHE NEWS. Produced and distributed by Pathe Exchange, Inc. Issued twice a week, Wednesday and Saturday. No. 72 to No. 104, released from Sept. 2 to Dec. 23, 1925; No. 1 to No. 19, released from Dec. 26, 1925 to Feb. 27, 1926.

: : : : "THE CHECK-UP" : : : :

"The Check-Up" is a presentation in the briefest and most convenient form of reports received from exhibitors in every part of the country on current features, which makes it possible for the exhibitor to see what the picture has done for other theatre managers.

The first column following the name of the feature represents the number of managers that have reported the picture as "Poor." The second column gives the number who considered it "Fair"; the third, the number woh considered it "Good"; and the fourth column, those who considered it "Big."

The fifth column is a percentage figure giving the average rating on that feature, obtained by the following method: A report of "Poor" is rated at 20%; one of "Fair," 40%; "Good," 70%; and "Big," 100%. The percentage ratings of all of these reports on one picture are then added together, and divided by the number of reports, giving the average percentage—a figure which represents the consensus of opinion on that picture. In this way exceptional cases, reports which might be misleading taken alone, and such individual differences of opinion are averaged up and eliminated.

No picture is included in the list which has not received at least ten reports.

Associated Exhib.

Title of Picture	Number exhibitors Reporting "Poor"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Fair"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Good"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Big"	Average Percentage Value	Length
Adventurous Sex, The	4	—	8	—	53	5,039 Ft.
Camille of the Barbary Coast	—	6	4	—	52	5,408 Ft.
Headlines	—	4	6	—	58	5,351 Ft.
Introduce Me	—	1	13	5	75	5,980 Ft.
Keep Smiling	2	2	6	2	62	5,456 Ft.
Manhattan Madness	—	2	8		64	5,580 Ft.
Sky Raider, The	—	2	8	—	64	6,638 Ft.
Under the Rouge	—	4	8		60	6,800 Ft.

Chadwick Pict.

Title of Picture	Number exhibitors Reporting "Poor"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Fair"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Good"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Big"	Average Percentage Value	Length
I Am the Man	—	6	4		52	6,400 Ft.
Some Pun'kins	2	2	6		54	7,000 Ft.
Unchastened Woman, The	2	6	2	—	42	6,800 Ft.
Wizard of Oz	—	1	11	1	70	6,300 Ft.

Famous Players

Title of Picture	Number exhibitors Reporting "Poor"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Fair"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Good"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Big"	Average Percentage Value	Length
Adventure	1	11	29	7	66	6,602 Ft.
Air Mail, The	2	5	35	6	69	6,976 Ft.
American Venus, The	—	2	8	2	70	7,931 Ft.
Ancient Highway, The	—	9	22	1	63	6,034 Ft.
Any Woman	3	7	7	—	55	5,963 Ft.
Are Parents People	1	2	23	3	69	6,586 Ft.
Beggar on Horseback	12	8	7	1	41	6,974 Ft.
Best People	1	2	11	—	53	5,700 Ft.
Charmer, The	3	3	13	3	64	6,076 Ft.
Coast of Folly, The	3	15	23	4	59	6,840 Ft.
Cobra	12	7	10	—	42	6,875 Ft.
Code of the West, The		10	31	6	67	6,777 Ft.
Crowded Hour, The	1	3	19	2	67	6,558 Ft.
Dressmaker From Paris, The	3	8	23	12	72	7,080 Ft.
Enchanted Hill, The		—	6	4	82	6,326 Ft.
Eve's Secret	3	8	19	—	57	6,338 Ft.
Flower of Night	2	9	9	—	48	6,374 Ft.
Golden Princess, The		12	17	3	62	6,395 Ft.
Goose Hangs High, The	—	9	30	7	69	6,186 Ft.
Grounds for Divorce	6	5	5	—	42	5,712 Ft.
Hands Up	1	3	13	—	62	5,883 Ft.
In the Name of Love	2	17	15	—	52	5,862 Ft.
Irish Luck	—	2	18	2	70	7,008 Ft.
King on Main Street, The	1	7	18	3	64	6,229 Ft.
Kiss for Cinderella, A	7	6	16	2	55	9,686 Ft.
Kiss in the Dark, A	2	10	18	1	58	5,767 Ft.
Light of the Western Stars	—	9	35	9	70	6,859 Ft.
Little French Girl, The	1	3	23	2	67	5,628 Ft.
Lord Jim	3	9	11	1	54	6,702 Ft.
Lost—A Wife	1	12	14	—	55	6,420 Ft.
Lovers in Quarantine	1	9	15	4	63	6,570 Ft.
Lucky Devil, The		1	35	10	76	5,935 Ft.
Madame Sans Gene	8	11	19	4	55	9,994 Ft.
Manicure Girl, The	6	9	22	—	55	5,959 Ft.
Mannequin	—	4	12	1	65	6,981 Ft.
Man Who Found Himself	3	9	22	2	60	7,168 Ft.
Marry Me	2	9	15	—	57	5,529 Ft.
Men and Women	2	6	10	1	57	6,223 Ft.
New Brooms	2	14	8	—	48	5,443 Ft.
New Lives for Old	—	6	17	5	68	6,796 Ft.
Night Club, The	1	8	31	7	68	5,732 Ft.
Night Life of New York	—	8	24	2	65	6,998 Ft.
Not So Long Ago	6	9	6	3	50	6,949 Ft.
Old Home Week	—	6	31	9	72	6,888 Ft.
Paths to Paradise	—	4	28	4	70	6,741 Ft.
Pony Express, The	—	4	26	28	82	9,801 Ft.
Regular Fellow, A	4	8	15	4	60	5,027 Ft.
Rugged Waters	4	10	7	—	46	6,015 Ft.
Sackcloth and Scarlet	3	9	14	6	63	6,732 Ft.
Seven Keys to Baldpate	2	9	25	1	62	6.648 Ft.
Shock Punch, The	—	10	32	4	66	6,151 Ft.
Son of His Father, A	—	10	30	5	67	6,925 Ft.
Spaniard, The	—	7	15	3	65	6,676 Ft.
Splendid Crime, The	—	6	10	—	59	6.069 Ft.
Stage Struck	4	11	15	3	57	6,691 Ft.
Street of Forgotten Men, The	1	5	27	3	67	6,366 Ft.
That Royle Girl	—	9	19	2	63	10,253 Ft.
Thundering Herd, The	2	8	30	34	79	7,187 Ft.
Top of the World, The	—	13	25	2	62	7,167 Ft.
Trouble with Wives	1	8	13	1	59	6,489 Ft.
Vanishing American	—	1	6	7	83	9,916 Ft.
Wanderer, The	1	2	4	3	68	8,173 Ft.
Welcome Home	3	8	12	—	53	5,909 Ft.
Wild Horse Mesa	3	13	27	9	65	7,164 Ft.
Wild Wild Susan	2	15	21	5	61	5,774 Ft.
Womanhandled		4	17	3	69	6,765 Ft.
Woman of the World	1	6	2	3	58	6,353 Ft.

Film Booking Offices

Title of Picture	Number exhibitors Reporting "Poor"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Fair"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Good"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Big"	Average Percentage Value	Length
Alias Mary Flynn	—	2	8	—	64	5,559 Ft.
All Around Frying Pan	1	1	12	5	74	5,519 Ft.
Bandit's Baby, The	—	5	33	22	78	5,291 Ft.
Bloodhound	1	4	14	1	63	4,789 Ft.
Cowboy Musketeer, The	2	—	8	—	60	4,500 Ft.
Drusilla With a Million	1	8	22	9	70	7,391 Ft.
Fighting Demon, The	1	1	10	—	64	5,470 Ft.
Flaming Waters, The	2	8	—	2	47	6,591 Ft.
Forbidden Cargo	1	5	8	—	54	4,850 Ft.
Galloping Vengeance	3	5	8	3	59	5,095 Ft.
Heads Up	—	6	4	2	60	5,482 Ft.
High and Handsome	—	2	7	1	67	5,669 Ft.
Human Tornado	2	4	4	—	48	4,473 Ft.
If Marriage Fails	1	7	6	—	51	6.006 Ft.
Isle of Hope	3	3	4	—	46	5,800 Ft.
Jimmies Millions	—	4	12	—	63	5,167 Ft.
Keeper of the Bees	—	1	10	13	85	6,712 Ft.
Lady Robinhood	1	—	8	1	68	5,582 Ft.
Last Edition, The	1	4	9	2	63	6,400 Ft.
Let's Go Gallagher	—	3	7	3	70	5,182 Ft.
Lilies of the Street	1	2	11	4	71	7,160 Ft.
Love's Bargain	2	10	2	—	41	5,641 Ft.
Man of Nerve	—	2	8	—	64	4,452 Ft.
Midnight Flyer, The	—	5	10	6	71	6,200 Ft.
Mysterious Stranger, The	2	2	6	—	54	5,270 Ft.
No Man's Law		—	8	2	76	4,042 Ft.

Title of Picture	Number exhibitors Reporting "Poor"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Fair"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Good"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Big"	Average Percentage Value	Length
Parisian Nights	3	3	17	2	63	6,278 Ft.
Ridin' Comet, The	—	6	9		59	4,354 Ft.
Ridin' the Wind	-	4	20	6	72	7,518 Ft.
Scar Hanan	-	4	16	—	64	4,684 Ft.
Smooth as Satin	1	1	9	- -	63	6,003 Ft.
Speed Wild	-	6	7		56	4,700 Ft.
Tearing Through	1	6	12	-	58	4,714 Ft.
Texas Bearcat	1	4	7	2	63	4,770 Ft.
That Devil Quemado	1	6	37	17	75	4,768 Ft.
That Man Jack	1	3	8	- -	58	5,032 Ft.
Three Wise Crooks	- -	2	10	—	61	6,074 Ft.
Wall Street Whiz	—	2	8	—	64	5,452 Ft.
When Love Grows Cold		8	2	—	46	6,500 Ft.
White Fang	2	7	25	9	69	5,800 Ft.
White Thunder	2	5	8	2	59	4,550 Ft.
Wild Bull's Lair, The	1	4	30	15	76	5.280 Ft.
Wyoming Wildcat, The	-	2	7	1	63	5,156 Ft.

First National

Title of Picture	Number exhibitors Reporting "Poor"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Fair"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Good"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Big"	Average Percentage Value	Length
Beautiful City, The	—	4	10	1	64	6,466 Ft.
Bluebeard's Seven Wives	- -	2	8	-	65	7,774 Ft.
Chickie	1	11	28	6	66	7.767 Ft.
Classified	1	3	17	4	69	6,927 Ft.
Clothes Make the Pirate	—	4	9	- -	61	8,000 Ft.
Dark Angel, The	- -	1	15	6	78	7,311 Ft.
Declasse	1	7	19	5	67	7,869 Ft.
Desert Flower, The	1	6	29	9	71	6,837 Ft.
Fine Clothes	2	9	12	- -	53	6,971 Ft.
Graustark	-	3	18	11	88	5,900 Ft.
Half Way Girl, The	2	8	18	3	61	7,570 Ft.
Heart of a Siren, The	2	15	7	-	47	6,780 Ft.
Her Sister from Paris	- -	2	23	7	75	7,255 Ft.
His Supreme Moment	1	13	18	3	60	6,565 Ft.
I Want My Man	1	6	27	2	65	6,173 Ft.
Joanna	-	1	7	4	79	7,900 Ft.
Just a Woman	2	6	11	- -	56	6,363 Ft.
Just Suppose	-	2	6	2	70	6.270 Ft.
Knockout, The	1	6	17	5	67	7.450 Ft.
Lady Who Lied, The	—	6	9	2	66	7,111 Ft.
Live Wire, The	—	5	20	6	71	7,000 Ft.
Lost World, The	—	6	26	26	80	9,700 Ft.
Making of O'Malley, The	—	4	23	6	72	7,571 Ft.
Marriage Whirl, The	1	7	9	1	57	7,672 Ft.
My Son	1	7	17	3	64	6.500 Ft.
Necessary Evil, The	—	9	10	1	58	6,307 Ft.
New Commandment, The		6	15	1	63	6,980 Ft.
New Toys	7	7	19	1	54	7,363 Ft.
One Way Street	—	8	15		60	5,600 Ft.
One Year to Live	2	5	10	-	55	6,064 Ft.
Pace That Thrills, The	1	7	9	-	55	6,911 Ft.
Playing with Souls	1	5	8	2	61	5,831 Ft.
Quo Vadis	1	2	18	11	77	9.050 Ft.
Sally		1	24	38	88	8.636 Ft.
Scarlet West	2	5	6	2	57	8,391 Ft.
Shore Leave		2	24	4	72	6,856 Ft.
Soul Fire	3	4	15	4	64	8,262 Ft.
Splendid Road, The	1	7	5		51	7,646 Ft.
Talker, The		6	19	1	64	7,861 Ft.
Unguarded Hour, The	—	12	5	2	54	6,613 Ft.
We Moderns		6	9	5	69	6.600 Ft.
What Fools Men	1	6	8	1	58	7,264 Ft.
White Monkey, The	3	8	3	1	46	6,121 Ft.
Why Women Love	1	3	9	—	59	6.696 Ft.
Winds of Chance	2	2	7	4	67	9,554 Ft.

Fox

Title of Picture	Number exhibitors Reporting "Poor"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Fair"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Good"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Big"	Average Percentage Value	Length
Ancient Mariner, The	2	6	4		47	5,548 Ft.
As No Man Has Loved		5	12	6	71	7.929 Ft.
Best Bad Man, The	—	1	7	4	78	4.983 Ft.
Desert's Price	—	4	4	4	70	5.709 Ft.
Durand of the Bad Lands	-	—	10	—	70	5.844 Ft.
East Lynne	1	4	7	1	59	8,653 Ft.
Everlasting Whisper, The	1	3	10	2	67	5,611 Ft.
Everyman's Wife	1	4	6	-	55	4,365 Ft.
Fighting Heart	- -	5	4	1	60	7.032 Ft.
Fool, The	—	2	12	4	73	9,844 Ft.
Gold and the Girl	1	2	11	3	69	4.521 Ft.
Golden Strain, The	1	1	7	1	65	5.989 Ft.
Havoc	1	5	10	—	58	9,293 Ft.
Hearts and Spurs		3	12	1	68	5,000 Ft.
Hunted Woman, The	2	11	12	2	56	4.954 Ft.
Iron Horse, The	—	3	21	31	85	10.424 Ft.
Kentucky Pride	1	8	14	2	61	6.652 Ft.
Lazybones	- -	2	9	1	68	7.236 Ft.
Lightnin'	1	5	7	6	69	7.979 Ft.
Lucky Horseshoe, The	3	4	12	2	63	5.004 Ft.
Palace of Pleasure	- -	4	6		58	5.467 Ft.
Rainbow Trail, The	—	4	21	6	72	5,251 Ft.
Riders of the Purple Sage	—	1	18	20	85	5,534 Ft.
She Wolves	1	9	4	- -	48	5.783 Ft.
Thank U	3	-	6	2	62	6.839 Ft.
Thunder Mountain	1	4	6	—	55	7.537 Ft.
Timber Wolf, The	-	1	7	2	73	4.869 Ft.
Wages for Wives	- -	2	6	2	70	6.352 Ft.
Wheel, The	-	5	6	—	56	7.325 Ft.
When the Door Opened	2	5	5	—	49	6,515 Ft.
Winding Stair, The	2	4	6	—	52	6,107 Ft.
Wings of Youth	1	5	4	—	50	5.340 Ft.
Yankee Senor	—	2	10	—	65	4.902 Ft.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

Title of Picture	Number exhibitors Reporting "Poor"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Fair"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Good"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Big"	Average Percentage Value	Length
Black Bird, The	—	2	6	2	70	6.688 Ft.
Bright Lights		8	2	—	46	6.260 Ft.
Circle, The	1	5	4	—	50	5.511 Ft.
Confessions of a Queen	6	7	8	—	48	5.851 Ft.
Daddy's Gone a Hunting	3	6	11	1	56	5.851 Ft.
Dance Madness	—	2	8	2	70	6.393 Ft.
Denial, The	3	9	12	1	54	4.791 Ft.
Don't	—	2	8	-	64	6,000 Ft.
Exchange of Wives	-	7	14	1	62	6.300 Ft.
Go West	—	5	8	8	74	6.256 Ft.
Great Divide, The	1	11	32	10	69	7.811 Ft.
His Secretary	-	3	8	7	77	6.433 Ft.
Lights of Old Broadway	—	7	12	4	66	6.437 Ft.
Man and Maid	6	3	7	2	52	5,307 Ft.
Masked Bride, The	—	2	7	1	67	5,699 Ft.
Merry Widow, The	—	—	12	25	90	10.027 Ft.
Midshipman, The	—	3	19	18	81	7.498 Ft.
Monster, The	2	12	24	5	63	6,502 Ft.
Mystic, The	2	6	7	2	59	6,239 Ft.
Never the Twain Shall Meet	—	7	14	5	68	8.143 Ft.
Old Clothes	—	2	11	7	77	5.915 Ft.
Only Thing, The	1	4	12	—	59	5,284 Ft.
Prairie Wife, The	4	14	4	1	44	6,487 Ft.
Pretty Ladies	3	13	15	—	53	5.828 Ft.
Proud Flesh	2	7	6	1	53	5,770 Ft.
Rag Man, The	—	4	30	12	75	5,968 Ft.
Romola	3	10	9	8	63	10,875 Ft.
Sally, Irene and Mary	—	5	9	4	68	5.564 Ft.
Seven Chances	1	9	25	15	78	5.113 Ft.
Slave of Fashion, A	2	5	15	2	62	5.906 Ft.
Soul Mates	-	6	8	- -	57	6,000 Ft.
Sporting Venus	1	15	12	—	52	5,938 Ft.
Sun Up	3	7	4	1	48	5.906 Ft.
Time, the Comedian	—	5	5	- -	55	4.757 Ft.
Tower of Lies, The	3	4	14	1	59	6,849 Ft.
Unholy Three, The	1	7	16	13	74	6.848 Ft.
Way of a Girl, The	4	10	7	3	53	5.025 Ft.
White Desert, The		3	22	2	69	6.464 Ft.
Zander the Great	1	8	12	7	68	6.844 Ft.

Pathé

Title of Picture	Number exhibitors Reporting "Poor"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Fair"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Good"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Big"	Average Percentage Value	Length
Black Cyclone		2	25	10	76	5.058 Ft.
Freshman, The	3	2	21	66	88	6.883 Ft.
Kivalina of Icelands	2	2	6	- -	54	5.545 Ft.
Percy	1	2	5	2	65	5.384 Ft.

Prod. Dist. Corp.

Title of Picture	Number exhibitors Reporting "Poor"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Fair"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Good"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Big"	Average Percentage Value	Length
Awful Truth, The	2	2	8	4	68	5.917 Ft.
Bad Lands		1	9	2	73	5,833 Ft.
Beauty and the Bad Man	2	8	6	- -	49	5.794 Ft.
Beyond the Border		6	23	-	64	4,469 Ft.
Coming of Amos, The	4	1	17	1	61	5.714 Ft.
Crimson Runner, The	2	1	6	1	60	4.775 Ft.
Friendly Enemies	1	1	12	4	72	6.288 Ft.
Hell's Highroad	2	5	12	2	61	6.143 Ft.
Madame Behave	1	3	3	5	71	5,417 Ft.
Off the Highway	2	6	8	- -	53	7.562 Ft.
People vs. Nancy Preston	—	6	8	—	57	6,143 Ft.
Prairie Pirate		2	10	-	65	4,617 Ft.
Road to Yesterday, The	1	5	9	1	59	9.980 Ft.

Title of Picture	Number exhibitors Reporting "Poor"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Fair"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Good"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Big"	Average Percentage Value	Length
Rocking Moon, The		2	8	—	64	6,013 Ft.
Seven Days		2	9	2	70	6,989 Ft.
Silent Sanderson	4	7	11	3	57	4,841 Ft.
Simon the Jester	—	3	5	2	67	6,168 Ft.
Steel Preferred	2	2	4	2	60	6,717 Ft.
Stop Flirting	2	3	7	1	58	5,161 Ft.
Texas Trail, The	1	2	10	2	67	4,770 Ft.
Three Faces East	2	2	6		54	7,419 Ft.
Wedding Song, The	2	4	5	—	50	7,373 Ft.
Without Mercy	2	6	6	2	56	6,597 Ft.

State Rights

Title of Picture	Number exhibitors Reporting "Poor"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Fair"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Good"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Big"	Average Percentage Value	Length
Crackerjack, The		3	16	3	73	6,850 Ft.
Danger Signal, The	—		7	3	79	5,669 Ft.
Fighting the Flames	4	4	2	-	48	5,814 Ft.
His Master's Voice	—	2	6	2	70	5,700 Ft.
Overland Limited, The	—	8	4	—	50	6,000 Ft.
Police Patrol	2	8	6	—	49	6,100 Ft.
Romance and Rustlers		2	8	-	64	4,953 Ft.
Silent Pal, The	—	3	6	2	67	5,452 Ft.
Souls for Sables	1	3	9	1	62	7,547 Ft.
Speed			10	2	75	6,000 Ft.
Sporting Chance		4	6	-	58	6,500 Ft.
Steppin' Out		5	2	2	58	5,267 Ft.
Super Speed	2	4	8	2	60	5,257 Ft.

United Artists

Title of Picture	Number exhibitors Reporting "Poor"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Fair"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Good"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Big"	Average Percentage Value	Length
Don Q, Son of Zorro	—	2	19	18	82	10,264 Ft.
Eagle, The		3	7	5	74	6,756 Ft.
Gold Rush, The	3	8	21	23	75	8,500 Ft.
Little Annie Rooney	2	1	17	12	77	8,850 Ft.
Sally of the Sawdust	—	8	10	3	63	9,723 Ft.
Tumbleweeds		1	7	2	73	7,254 Ft.
Waking Up the Town	2	9	2		42	4,802 Ft.
Wild Justice	1		8	2	73	5,886 Ft.

Universal

Title of Picture	Number exhibitors Reporting "Poor"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Fair"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Good"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Big"	Average Percentage Value	Length
Arizona Sweepstakes		2	8	1	67	4,518 Ft.
Burning Trail		2	12		66	4,783 Ft.
Bustin' Through	—	2	8	2	70	4,506 Ft.
Calgary Stampede, The		1	12	3	74	5,924 Ft.
California Straight Ahead	—	3	16	15	81	7,238 Ft.
Call of Courage, The	2	2	10		59	4,661 Ft.
Dangerous Innocence	1	4	14		61	6,759 Ft.
Don Daredevil	1	6	8	3	62	4,810 Ft.
Fifth Avenue Models	2	5	10	1	54	6,581 Ft.
Goose Women, The		3	13	6	74	7,500 Ft.
Head Winds	3	5	12	3	61	5,600 Ft.
His People	1	2	1	6	77	8,963 Ft.
Home Maker, The	3	5	2		40	7,755 Ft.
I'll Show You the Town	—	4	21	11	76	7,396 Ft.
Last Laugh, The	4	4	4	2	51	6,519 Ft.
Let 'Er Buck	1	2	24	7	73	5,665 Ft.
Little Giant, The	2	4	4	-	48	6,929 Ft.
Lorraine of the Lions		4	9	1	64	6,753 Ft.
Mad Whirl, The	1	7	6	1	55	6,184 Ft.
Man in Blue	—	4	8	-	60	5,706 Ft.
Meddler, The		4	6	-	58	4,890 Ft.
Outlaw's Daughter, The	—	4	6		58	4,375 Ft.
Peacock Feathers		7	4	1	55	6,802 Ft.
Phantom of the Opera	2	6	20	25	79	8,464 Ft.

Title of Picture	Number exhibitors Reporting "Poor"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Fair"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Good"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Big"	Average Percentage Value	Length
Price of Pleasure, The	2	3	10	4	66	6,618 Ft.
Raffles	2	10	9	2	55	5,557 Ft.
Red Rider, The	2	6	2	4	59	4,801 Ft.
Riding Thunder	1	6	4	1	53	4,354 Ft.
Roaring Adventure	3	1	8	—	55	4,657 Ft.
Saddle Hawk, The	1	3	19	3	68	5,468 Ft.
Siege	2	2	12	2	64	6,424 Ft.
Sign of the Cactus	4	1	9	—	54	4,938 Ft.
Spook Ranch, The	—	3	12	1	66	5,247 Ft.
Sporting Life	1	4	6	1	58	6,763 Ft.
Storm Breaker, The	2	9	5	—	47	6,093 Ft.
Taming the West	—	1	22	2	71	5,427 Ft.
Teaser, The	1	7	22	1	63	6,967 Ft.
Two Fisted Jones	2	2	6	2	62	4,555 Ft.
Up the Ladder	1	2	14	1	64	6,023 Ft.
What Happened to Jones	1	3	6	—	56	6,726 Ft.
Where Was I?	—	2	17	1	68	6,630 Ft.
White Outlaw, The	—	4	9	5	76	4,830 Ft.
Woman's Faith, A	4	5	5	1	49	6,023 Ft.

Vitagraph

Title of Picture	Number exhibitors Reporting "Poor"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Fair"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Good"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Big"	Average Percentage Value	Length
Baree, Son of Kazan	—	4	32	8	73	6,800 Ft.
Happy Warrior, The	1	1	10		63	7,550 Ft.
Empty Saddle	4	6	10	—	60	5 Reels
Love Hour, The	—	2	6	2	70	6,700 Ft.
Mystery of Lost Ranch		8	8	—	55	5 Reels.
Ranger of the Big Pines	—	2	7	1	67	6,800 Ft.
Santa Fe Pete	2	6	4	—	47	5 Reels.
School for Wives	—	8	12	—	58	6,750 Ft.
Steele of the Royal Mounted	—		15	3	75	4,850 Ft.
Tides of Passion		8	4	—	50	6,279 Ft.
Unknown Lover	8	4	2	-	33	6,895 Ft.
Wildfire	1	6	21		62	5,950 Ft.

Warner Bros.

Title of Picture	Number exhibitors Reporting "Poor"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Fair"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Good"	Number exhibitors Reporting "Big"	Average Percentage Value	Length
Below the Line	1	4	7	3	65	5,951 Ft.
Bobbed Hair	—	5	12	1	61	7,543 Ft.
Clash of the Wolves, The	—	1	8	1	70	6,230 Ft.
Compromise	2	5	3	—	60	6,530 Ft.
Eve's Lover	1	5	10	1	60	6,450 Ft.
Fighting Edge	2	2	4	2	60	6,369 Ft.
His Jazz Bride	2	2	4	2	60	6,420 Ft.
His Majesty Bunker Bean	5	3	3	—	39	7,015 Ft.
Hogan's Alley	—	5	5	—	55	6,062 Ft.
How Baxter Butted In	3	4	9	—	53	6,650 Ft.
Kiss Me Again	—	7	10	1	60	7,200 Ft.
Limited Mail, The	—	2	10	4	74	6,250 Ft.
Man on the Box, The	—	1	11	7	79	7,282 Ft.
Man Without a Conscience, The	—	6	4	—	52	6,960 Ft.
My Wife and I	4	9	7	1	49	6,700 Ft.
Pleasure Buyers, The	—	6	6	—	55	7,131 Ft.
Recompense	2	6	9	1	56	7,480 Ft.
Red Hot Tires	1	3	9	1	62	6,402 Ft.
Rose of the World, The	—	4	6	2	65	7,421 Ft.
Satan in Sables	2	2	10	—	59	6,995 Ft.
Seven Sinners	—	8	4	—	50	6,880 Ft.
Tracked in the Snow Country	—	5	11	6	71	6,900 Ft.
Wife Who Wasn't Wanted	1	3	6	—	56	6,400 Ft.
Woman Hater, The	2	4	4	—	48	7,000 Ft.

THE AGE OF A PICTURE

A good production is never old until it has played your theatre.

Lots of subjects which have proved winners are available.

Look over the Guide and select a few—then take advantage of the exploitation suggestions.

INDEX TO PICTURES
LISTED ACCORDING TO COMPANIES

A

ARROW FILM CORPORATION

In Borrowed Plumes	Romantic Melodrama	31
My Lady of Whims	Comedy	37
Primrose Path, The	Melodrama	40
Scandal Street	Drama of Motion Picture Life	42
Share and Share Alike		42
Substitute Wife, The	Domestic Drama	45
Tessie	Comedy-Drama	45
Wandering Fires	Romantic Melodrama	48

ASSOCIATED EXHIBITORS, INC.

Broadway Boob, The	Comedy-Drama	23
Camille of the Barbary Coast	Romantic Drama	24
Counsel for the Defense	Dramatic Romance	25
Fifty-Fifty	Society Drama	27
Hearts and Fists	Melodramatic Romance	30
His Buddy's Wife	Heart Interest Drama	30
Keep Smiling	Farce-Melodrama	32
Lady From Hell	Romantic Melodrama	33
Lover's Island	Romantic Drama	34
Manhattan Madness	Adventure Romance	35
Miracle of Life, The	Modern Society Drama	36
North Star	Melodrama	38
Pinch Hitter, The	Comedy Romance	39
Shadow of the Law	Crook Melodrama	42
Ship of Souls	Drama Romence	42
Skyrocket, The	Drama	43
Two Can Play	Modern Society Drama	47
Under the Rouge	Crook Melodrama	47
White Mice	Romantic Drama	49

B

BISCHOFF, INC.

Comedies

Biff Comedies, 2 reels	51
Gold Medal Comedies, 2 reels	52
Witwer Comedies, 2 reels	53

BUD BARSKY CORPORATION

Battler, The	22
Danger Zone, The	26
Just Plain Folks	32

C

CHADWICK PICTURES CORPORATION

American Pluck	Romantic Melodrama	21
Blue Blood	Romantic Melodrama	23
Count of Luxembourg, The	Melodrama	25
Perfect Clown, The	Farce-Comedy	39
Prince of Broadway, The	Prize Fight Melodrama	40
Some Pun'kins	Comedy-Drama	43
Sweet Adeline	Comedy	45
Transcontinental Limited	Melodrama	46
Unchastened Woman, The	Domestic Drama	47

CHESTERFIELD MOTION PICTURE CORP.

Fangs of Fate	Western Melodrama	27
Flashing Steeds	Western Melodrama	28
Girl of the West	Melodrama	29
Lucky Spurs	Western Melodrama	35
Sagebrush Lady, The	Western Melodrama	41

CLARION PHOTOPLAYS, INC.

Blind Trail, The	Western Melodrama	23
Luck and Sand	Western Melodrama	35
Win, Lose or Draw	Western Melodrama	49

COLUMBIA PICTURES CORPORATION

Fate of a Flirt, The	Comedy-Drama	27
Fight to the Finish, A	Fight Melodrama	28
Great Sensation, The	Melodrama	30
Handsome Brute,The	Comedy-Melodrama	30
Ladies of Leisure	Drama	33
Lure of the Wild, The	Melodrama	35
New Champion, The	Prize Fight Melodrama	37
Sealed Lips	Melodrama	42
S.O.S. Perils of the Sea	Marine Melodrama	43
Steppin' Out	Farce-Comedy	44
Thrill Hunter, The	Comedy-Drama	46
When Husbands Flirt	Domestic Comedy	48

E

EDUCATIONAL FILM EXCHANGES, INC.

Comedies

Jimmie Adams Comedies, 2 reels	51
Cameo Comedies, 1 reel	51
Christie Comedies, 2 reels	51
Felix the Cat Series, 1 reel	52
Hamilton Comedies, 2 reels	52
Walter Hiers Comedies, 2 reels	52
Juvenile Comedies, 2 reels	52
Lupino Lane Comedies, 2 reels	52
Mermaid Comedies, 2 reels	52
Tuxedo Comedies, 2 reels	53
Bobby Vernon Comedies, 2 reels	53

News Reel

Kinograms	54

Miscellaneous

Educational Special, 1 reel	54
Hodge Podge Series, 1 reel	54
McCall Colour Fashion News, 1 reel	54

F

FILM BOOKING OFFICES

All Around Frying Pan	Western Melodarma	21
Beyond the Rockies	Western Melodrama	22
Blue Streak, The	Melodrama	23
Broadway Lady, A	Melodrama	23
Cowboy Musketeer, The	Western Melodrama	25
Flaming Waters	Melodrama	28
Heads Up	Comedy-Drama	30
High and Handsome	Melodrama	30
If Marriage Fails?	Modern Society Drama	31
Keeper of the Bees, The	Rural Drama	32
King of the Turf	Melodrama	32
Last Edition, The	Melodrama of Newspaper Life	33
Let's Go Gallagher	Western Melodrama	33
Man of Nerve, A	Western Melodrama	35
Man Rustlin'	Western Comedy-Melodrama	35
Midnight Flyer, The	Melodrama	36
No Man's Law	Western Melodrama	38
Parisian Nights	Melodrama	38
Prince of Pep, The	Melodrama	40
Queen O' Diamonds	Melodrama	40
Ridin' Streak, The	Western Melodrama	41
Ridin' The Wind	Western Melodrama	41
Smilin' At Trouble	Melodrama	43
Three Wise Crooks	Crook Melodrama	46
Tough Guy, The	Western Melodrama	46
Traffic Cop, The	Comedy-Melodrama	46
Wall Street Whiz, The	Comedy-Melodrama	47
When Love Grows Cold	Modern Socety Drama	48
Wyoming Wildcat, The	Western Melodrama	50

Comedies

Adventures of Mazie Series, 2 reels	51
Blue Ribbon Comedies, 2 reels	51
Dinky Doodle Comedies, 1 reel	52
Fat Men Comedies, 2 reels	52

FIRST NATIONAL PICTURES, INC.

Beautiful City, The	Romantic Melodrama	22
Bluebeard's Seven Wives	Comedy	23
Classified	Comedy of New York	24
Clothes Make the Pirate	Comedy	24
Dancer of Paris, The	Romantic Society Drama	25
Dark Angel, The	Heart Drama	26
Far Cry, The	Society Drama	27
Girl From Montmartre, The	Romantic Drama	29
Infatuation	Society Romantic Drama	31
Irene	Comedy	31
Joanna	Drama of Modern Girl	32
Just Suppose	Modern Romantic Drama	32
Live Wire, The	Comedy Melodrama	34
Lost World, The	Fanciful Drama	34
Memory Lane	Society Drama	36
New Commandment, The	Romantic Drama	37
Pace That Thrills, The	Comedy-Drama	38
Quo Vadis	Spectacular Drama	40
Rainbow Riley	Comedy	40
Reckless Lady, The	Drama	41
Scarlet Saint, The	Society Drama	42
Shore Leave	Comedy Romance	42
Splendid Road, The	Romantic Drama	44
Too Much Money	Comedy-Melodrama	46
Unguarded Hour, The	Romantic Drama	47
We Moderns	Comedy-Drama	48
What Fools Men	Drama of Finance and Society	48
Why Women Love	Marine Melodrama	49

FOX FILM CORPORATION

Ancient Mariner, The	Poem-Fantasy and Modern Story	21
As No Man Has Loved	Historical Drama	21
Best Bad Man, The	Western Comedy-Melodrama	22
Cowboy and the Countess, The	Modern Romantic Drama	25
Desert's Price, The	Western Melodrama	26
Dixie Merchant, The	Comedy Drama	26
Durand of the Bad Lands	Western Melodrama	27
East Lynne	Melodrama	27
Everlasting Whisper, The	Western Melodrama	27
Fighting Heart, The	Melodrama	28
First Year, The	Comedy	28
Fool, The	Drama	28
Gilded Butterfly, The	Drama, Society Atmosphere	29
Golden Strain, The	Western Melodrama	29
Havoc	Drama of Social Life	30
Iron Horse, The	Historical Romance	32
Johnstown Flood, The	Melodrama	32
Kentucky Pride	Melodrama of the Turf	32
Lazybones	Dramatic Romance	33
My Own Pal	Western Melodrama	37
Outsider, The	Drama	38
Palace of Pleasure	Melodrama	38
Road to Glory, The	Drama	41
Thank You	Comedy-Drama	45
Thunder Mountain	Melodrama of Kentucky	46
Timber Wolf, The	Melodrama of Logging Camp	46
Wages for Wives	Comedy	42
Wheel, The	Modern Society Drama	48
When the Door Opened	Melodrama	48
Winding Stair, The	Romantic War Story	49
Yankee Senor, The	Romantic Drama	50

Comedies

Imperial Comedies, 2 reels	52
Married Life Series, 2 reels	52
O. Henry Series, 2 reels	52
Van Bibber Series, 2 reels	53

News Reel

Fox News	54

Miscellaneous

Fox Varieties, 1 reel	54

G

HENRY GINSBERG DISTRIBUTING CORP.

Big Pal	Melodrama	22
Brooding Eyes	Melodrama	23
Checkered Flag, The	Auto Race Melodarma	24
Desperate Moment, A	Melodrama	26
Phantom Express, The	Railroad Melodrama	39
Wandering Footsteps	Heart Interest Drama	48

H

HERCULES FILM PRODUCTIONS, INC.

Gentleman Roughneck, A	Fight Melodrama	29
Hollywood Reporter, The	Newspaper Melodrama	31
Speed Madness	Melodrama	44

J

JANS PRODUCTIONS, INC.

Ermine and Rhinestones	Society Melodrama	27

L

LEE-BRADFORD CORPORATION

Blackguard, The	Melodrama	23
Lure of the Track	Racetrack Melodrama	35
She	Romantic Melodrama	42
Typhoon Love	Romantic Melodrama	47
Wives of the Prophet, The	Melodrama	49

LUMAS FILM CORPORATION

His Master's Voice	War Melodrama	31
Northern Code, The	Melodrama	38
One of the Bravest	Melodrama	38
Part Time Wife, The	Heart Drama	38
Phantom of the Forest, The	Melodrama	39
Shadow on the Wall, The	Crook Mystery Melodrama	42
Speed Limit, The	Comedy-Drama	43

M

MADOC SALES COMPANY

After Marriage	Domestic Drama	21
Cactus Trails	Western Melodrama	24
Heartless Husbands	Melodrama	30

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER DISTRIBUTING CORP.

Auction Block, The	Comedy-Drama	22
Black Bird, The	Melodrama	22
Bright Lights	Comedy-Drama	23
Circle, The	Drama	24
Dance Madness	Farce-Comedy	25
Devil's Circus, The	Drama	26
Don't	Comedy	26
Exchange of Wives	Domestic Comedy	27
Go West	Farce-Comedy	30
Great Love, The	Comedy	30
His Secretary	Comedy	31
Ibanez' Torrent	Melodrama	31
Lights of Old Broadway	Romantic Drama	33
Masked Bride, The	Crook and Society Melodrama	36
Merry Widow, The	Mythical Kingdom Story	36
Midshipman, The	Navy Melodrama	36
Mystic, The	Crook Melodrama	37
Never the Twain Shall Meet	South Seas Romance	37
Old Clothes	Comedy-Drama	38
Only Thing, The	Romantic Drama	38
Pretty Ladies	Comedy-Drama	40
Sally, Irene and Mary	Comedy-Melodrama	41
Soul Mates	Comedy	43
Sun Up	Melodrama	45
Time, the Comedian	Society Drama	46
Tower of Lies	Drama	46

P

PARAMOUNT (FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORP.)

American Venus, The	Comedy-Melodrama	21
Ancient Highway, The	Western Melodrama	21
Behind the Front	Comedy	22
Best People, The	Comedy-Drama	22
Coast of Folly, The	Society Drama	24
Cobra	Modern Society Drama	24
Enchanted Hill, The	Western Drama	27
Flower of Night	Melodrama	28
Golden Princess, The	Western Melodrama	29
Grand Duchess and the Waiter	French Farce	29
Hands Up	Comedy	30
Irish Luck	Romantic Drama	32
King on Main Street, The	Comedy	32
Kiss for Cinderella, A	Modern Romance	32
Lord Jim	Romantic Drama	34
Lovers in Quarantine	Comedy	34
Mannequin	Society Drama	35
Man Who Found Himself, The	Heart Interest Drama	36
Moana	Love and Life in British Samoa	36
New Brooms	Comedy	37
Not So Long Ago	Heart Interest Drama	38
Pony Express, The	Melodrama	39
Regular Fellow, A	Farce-Comedy	41
Seven Keys to Baldpate	Comedy	42
Song and Dance Man, The	Comedy-Drama	43
Son of His Father	Western Drama	43
Splendid Crime, The	Crook Melodrama	44
Stage Struck	Comedy-Drama	44
That Royle Girl	Melodrama of Underworld	45
Trouble With Wives, The	Comedy-Drama	46
Vanishing American, The	Spectacular Drama	47
Wanderer, The	Spectacular Drama	48
Wild Horse Mesa	Western Melodrama	49
Wild, Wild Susan	Comedy	49
Womanhandled	Western Comedy	50
Woman of the World, A	Comedy-Drama	50

PATHE EXCHANGES, INC.

Black Cyclone	Comedy-Drama	22
Driftin' Thru	Western Melodrama	27
Freshman, The	Romantic Comedy	29
Stop, Look and Listen	Comedy	44

Serials

Casey of the Coast Guard, 10 episodes	53
The Green Archer, 10 episodes	53
Wild West, 10 episodes	53

Comedies

Æsop's Fables, ⅔ reel	51
Charley Chase Comedies, 2 reels	51
Clyde Cook Comedies, 2 reels	51
Alice Day Comedies, 2 reels	52
Ralph Graves Comedies, 2 reels	52
Our Gang Comedies, 2 reels	53
Roach Comedies, 1 reel	53
Roach Star Comedies, 2 reels	53
Mack Sennett Comedies, 1 and 2 reels	53
Glenn Tryon Comedies, 2 reels	53

News Reel

Pathe News	54

Miscellaneous

Melody Series, 1 reel	54
Pathe Review, 1 reel	54
Pathe Special, 3 reels	54
Sportlight Series, 1 reel	54
Stereoscopiks, ½ reel	54
Topics of the Day, ⅓ reel	54

PRODUCERS DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

Braveheart	Melodrama	23
Coming of Amos, The	Romantic Melodrama	25
Danger Girl, The	Crook Comedy Melodrama	26
Fifth Avenue	Drama	27
Hell's Highroad	Heart Interest Drama	30

Madam Behave	Farce Comedy	35
Made for Love	Drama	35
Man From Red Gulch, The	Melodrama of '49	35
Million Dollar Handicap, The	Horse Racing Melodrama	36
People Vs. Nancy Preston, The	Underworld Melodrama	39
Prairie Pirate, The	Border Melodrama	40
Road to Yesterday, The	Drama	41
Rocking Moon	Melodrama	41
Seven Days	Comedy	42
Simon the Jester	English Drama	43
Steel Preferred	Steel-Mill Melodrama	44
Three Faces East	Melodrama of Secret Service	46
Wedding Song, The	Melodrama	48
Wild Oats Lane	Melodrama	49
Without Mercy	Society Melodrama	49

R

RAYART PICTURES CORPORATION

Bashful Buccaneer, The	Comedy-Melodrama	22
Cyclone Cavalier, The	Comedy-Melodrama	25
Knockout Kid, The	Western Comedy-Melodrama	33
Midnight Limited	Railroad Melodrama	36
Pride of the Force	Melodrama	40

Serials

The Flame Fighter, 10 episodes	53

RED SEAL PICTURES CORPORATION

Miscellaneous

Animated Hair Cartoons, ½ reel	54
Film Facts, 1 reel	54
Gems of the Screen, 1 reel	54
Ko-Ko Song Car-Tunes, 1 reel	54
Marvels of Motion, 1 reel	54
Out-of-the-Inkwell Series, 1 reel	54
Reelviews, 1 reel	54

S

SERVICE FILM CORPORATION

Miscellaneous

Hilliker Scenics, 1 reel	54
Service Novelties, 1 reel	54

SHORT FILM SYNDICATE

Comedies

Ebenezer Ebony Colored Cartoons, 1 reel	52
Karlo Kolor Cartoons, 1 reel	52
Mutt and Jeff Cartoons, 800 feet	52
Red Head Colored Cartoons, 1 reel	53

Miscellaneous

Adventure Pictures, 1 reel	54
Novelty Series, 1 reel	54
Venturini, Special, 2 reels	54
Wonder Books Colored Scenics, 1 reel	54

A. G. STEEN, INC.

Ahead of the Law	Melodrama of Texas Ranger	21
Don X	Western Melodrama	27
Great Jewel Robbery, The	Crook Melodrama	30
Her Big Adventure	Society Comedy-Drama	30
Lawless Trails	Western Melodrama	33
Stampedin' Trouble	Western Ronamitc Melodrama	44

Short Length Dramas

Hunt Miller Western, 2 reels	54

T

TENNEK FILM CORPORATION

Comedies

Two Star Comedies, 2 reels	53

TIFFANY PRODUCTIONS

Borrowed Finery	Melodrama	23
Morals For Men	Regeneration Drama	37
Pleasures of the Rich	Modern Society Comedy-Draam	39
Souls For Sables	Drama	43

TRUART FILM CORPORATION

Dollar Down	Domestic Drama	26
Pals	Comedy-Drama	38
Passionate Youth	Domestic Drama	39
Romance Road	Comedy-Drama	41
Silent Guardian	Western Melodrama	43
Thoroughbred, The	Comedy-Drama	46
Where the Worst Begins	Western Comedy-Melodrama	49
Wild Girl, The	Melodrama	49

U

UNITED ARTISTS CORPORATION

Don Q	Romantic Melodrama	26
Eagle, The	Russian Drama	27
Little Annie Rooney	Comedy-Melodrama	34
Partners Again	Comedy	38
Stella Dallas	Drama	44
Tumbleweeds	Drama	47

UNIVERSAL PICTURES CORPORATION

Arizona Sweepstakes, The	Western Comedy-Drama	21
Beautiful Cheat, The	Comedy	22
Bustin' Through	Western Melodrama	23
Calgary Stampede, The	Melodrama of Northwest	24
California Straight Ahead	Comedy-Drama	24
Call of Courage, The	Western Melodrama	24
Circus Cyclone, The	Melodrama	24
Cohens and the Kellys, The	Comedy-Drama	25
Daring Days	Western Melodrama	26
Demon, The	Western Melodrama	26
Desperate Game, The	Western Melodrama	26
Goose Woman, The	Murder Mystery Drama	29
His People	East Side Drama	31
Home Maker, The	Domestic Drama	31
Little Giant, The	Comedy-Drama	34
Lorraine of the Lions	Jungle Melodrama	34
Outlaw's Daughter, The	Western Melodrama	38
Peacock Feathers	Comedy-Drama	39
Phantom of the Opera, The	Melodramatic Spectacle	39
Siege	Character Study	42
Sky High Corral	Western Melodrama	43
Spook Ranch	Western Comedy-Melodrama	44
Sporting Life	Melodrama of London	44
Stella Maris	Drama	44
Storm Breaker, The	Drama	44
Teaser, The	Comedy-Drama	45
Triple Action	Western Melodrama	46
Two Fisted Jones	Western Melodrama	47
Under Western Skies	Western Melodrama	47
Western Pluck	Western Melodrama	48
What Happened to Jones	Farce-Comedy	48
Where Was I?	Farce-Comedy	49
White Outlaw	Western Melodrama	49

Serials

Ace of Spades, 10 episodes	53
The Scarlet Streak, 10 episodes	53
The Winking Idol, 10 episodes	53

Comedies

Blue-Bird Comedies, 1 reel	51
The Gumps Series, 2 reels	52
Stern Brothers Comedies, 2 reels	53

Short Length Dramas

Mustang Series, 2 reels	54

News Reel

International News	54

W

WARNER BROTHERS

Below the Line	Melodrama	22
Bobbed Hair	Crook Mystery Drama	23
Bride of the Storm	Melodrama	23
Cave Man, The	Comedy-Drama	24
Clash of the Wolves	Western Melodrama	24
Compromise	Drama	25
Fighting Edge, The	Melodramatic Romance	28
Golden Cocoon, The	Melodrama	29
His Jazz Bride	Society Drama	31
His Majesty Bunker Bean	Farce-Comedy	31
Hogan's Alley	East Side Melodrama	31
Lady Windemere's Fan	Society Drama	33
Love Toy, The	Comedy	34
Man on the Box, The	Comedy	35
Man Upstairs, The	Mystery Drama	36
Night Cry, The	Farce-Comedy	41
Pleasure Buyers, The	Mystery Drama	39
Red Hot Tires	Melodrama	37
Rose of the World	Heart Drama	41
Satan in Sables	Melodrama	42
Sea Beast, The	Drama of the Sea	42
Seven Sinners	Crook Farce-Melodrama	42

WEISS BROS. ARTCLASS PICTURES CORP.

Action Galore	Western Melodrama	21
Desert Demon, The	Western Melodrama	26
Fighting Cheat, The	Western Melodrama	28
Galloping Jinx	Melodrama	29
Galloping On	Western Melodrama	29
Hoodoo Ranch	Western Melodrama	[illegible]
Hurricane Horseman	Western Melodrama	31
Roaring Rider, The	Western Melodrama	41
Saddle Cyclone, The	Western Melodrama	41
Streak of Luck, A	Western Melodrama	45
Tearin' Loose	Western Melodrama	45
Thundering Through	Western Melodrama	46
Trumpin' Trouble	Western Meodlrama	47

Miscellaneous

Guess Who Series, 1 reel	54

M. J. WINKLER

Alice Comedies, 1 reel	51
Krazy Kat Series, 1 reel	52

For Your Benefit:

The Booking Guide is a convenient and comprehensive index to Motion Picture News.

It places at your disposal every item of information obtainable on every release—review—star and supporting cast—director—exploitation material—record of First Run showings—newspaper advertising and box office reports.

Properly used the Booking Guide is invaluable.

File each copy of Motion Picture News and reap the benefit of the experience of others.

PUBLISHED SEMI-ANNUALLY
—APRIL AND OCTOBER

Give Us Your Opinion---

This issue of the Booking Guide is published in a new and we believe better size.

But we may be wrong and in consequence request Motion Picture News readers to render their opinion on the subject.

If you like the larger size Booking Guide tell us so. If you prefer the small book, write us to that effect.

The Booking Guide is designed and published as a service medium, and as such we desire it to conform in size, style and contents to the demands of those who use it.

Therefore this request for definite information.

Give us your ideas on whether or not the present style is preferable.

Address :

BOOKING GUIDE EDITOR

Motion Picture News, 729 Seventh Ave., New York

— 12 —

BIG BOX OFFICE ATTRACTIONS!

Consisting of SIX De Luxe Productions designated as GREATER GOTHAMS, comprising the works of famous authors

AND

SIX Thrilling melodramas, with all star casts, of the type that has proven so wonderfully popular with the public.

Titles That Need No Explanation

"THE GOLDEN WEB"
by E. Phillips Oppenheim
with Huntly Gordon and Lillian Rich

"HEROES OF THE NIGHT"
Fire and Police Melodrama

"MONEY TO BURN"
by Reginald Wright Kauffman

"SINEWS OF STEEL"
A Romance of the Flaming Forges

"Peter the Great" in "KING OF THE PACK"

"THE FINAL EXTRA"
Powerful drama of the press

RALPH LEWIS in
"THE SILENT POWER"
Dynamic Drama of Electricity

"Peter the Great," the Miracle Dog, in
"THE SILENT AVENGER"

"MOUNTAINS OF MANHATTAN"
Thrills Atop a Skyscraper

"THE WOMAN WHO DID NOT CARE"
by Rida Johnson Young

"THE BLOCK SIGNAL"
Greatest of Railroad Dramas

"QUARANTINED RIVALS"
by George Randolph Chester

The attractions listed above now in production and to be released by

LUMAS FILM CORPORATION

1650 Broadway Sam Sax, Pres. New York City

Foreign Rights Controlled by INTEROCEAN FILM CORP., 218 W. 42nd St., New York City

Rothacker-Aller Laboratories, Inc.
Hollywood, California

Rothacker Prints actually cost less in the long run than ordinary prints.

You save and are safe when you use Rothacker Prints because:

Rothacker Prints represent all that is good in the negative, and are made not only to look better but to wear longer—

Proper color values in tints, tones and combination tint-tones are used judiciously but generously—

Every Rothacker Print is made on best quality stock by artistic experts, under ideal conditions and skillful supervision, honestly directed—

Continuity Sheets furnished free on each subject provide economical and efficient replacement service—

Every Rothacker Print is waxed; and, no extra charge to Producer, Distributor or Exhibitor—

All this, and more, plus the screen-security and business-comfort which goes with our known ability, reliability and responsibility.

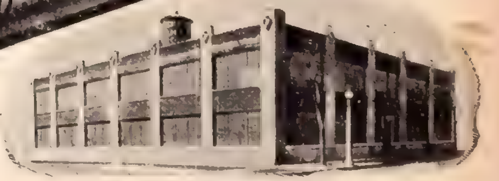
Rothacker
FILM MFG. CO. CHICAGO U.S.A.

Look Better—
Wear Longer!



Founded 1910
by
Watterson R. Rothacker

May 15, 1926

Motion Picture News

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

SAM KATZ SAID
"CAN I GET?"
NICK SCHENCK
SAID "O. K."
SO HE GOT!

WATCH THEM
ALL GO M-G-M

MR NICHOLAS M SCHENCK
METRO GOLDWYN MAYER
CONVENTION
HOTEL PENNSYLVANIA
NEW YORK CITY

DEAR MR SCHENCK PLEASE PERMIT ME TO TELL YOU HOW ENTHUSIASTIC WE ARE BECAUSE OF HAVING SECURED ALL OF YOUR PRODUCT FOR ALL OF OUR THEATRES FOR NEXT SEASON STOP ON MY RECENT TRIP TO THE COAST I HAD OCCASION TO EXAMINE SOME OF YOUR FORTHCOMING RELEASES AND I AM CONVINCED THAT YOUR PRODUCT MEANS EVEN BIGGER RESULTS FOR US NEXT SEASON THAN LAST THE PICTURES WERE FINE MONEY MAKERS THIS SEASON BUT WE ARE LOOKING FORWARD TO GREATER RESULTS NEXT SEASON CONGRATULATIONS TO MR MAYER AND YOUR PRODUCING DEPARTMENT AND BEST WISHES FOR A SUCCESSFUL CONVENTION

PUBLIX THEATRES
CORPORATION

BY SAM KATZ
PRESIDENT

Entered as second-class matter April 22, 1926, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., under act of March 3, 1879

l. XXXIII No. 20

Published Weekly—$2.00 a year

PRICE, 20 CENTS

Los Angeles — New York — Chicago

WURLITZER

Unit Organ ~

The World's Finest Theatre Organ

Mr. Small Theatre Owner—

This is an important message to you! After years of experiment, Wurlitzer has perfected a small, moderate priced organ, which will meet all the demands of a theatre having a maximum capacity of five hundred persons.

This new Wurlitzer organ, to be known as the "Style W Theatre Organ," is a remarkable musical instrument, combining the organ and piano, either of which may be played manually, and is equipped with special mandolin and guitar attachment.

The Duplex Tracker Frame for playing automatic rolls, enables the theatre operator to have continuous music without a change in rolls. Other special Wurlitzer features permits wonderful control of volume and tempo.

Send for description of this wonderful new instrument. You will be amazed at the reasonable price, and convenient payment plan.

a's alo"

re

WURLIT

Gra Pian are endowed with the sar unapproacha e tone and qu ty inherent in t
Wurlitzer
Unit Organ

CINCINNATI
121 E. 4th St.

NEW YORK
120 W. 42nd St.

CHICAGO
329 S. Wabash

SAN FRANCISCO
250 Stockton St.

LOS ANGELES
814 S. Broadway

THE EVIDENCE IS IN!

PARAMOUNT was first with its announcement of 1926-7 PRODUCT.

* * * *

Announcements of practically all the other producers have FOLLOWED.

* * * *

You have studied them all, LARGE and SMALL.

* * * *

NOW, MORE THAN EVER, BY EVERY TEST OF SHOWMANSHIP YOU KNOW THIS IS TRUE:

* * * *

No other company's product can hold a candle to PARAMOUNT'S 15TH BIRTHDAY GROUP of 75 golden box-office hits.

* * * *

No other company offers you stars like HAROLD LLOYD, GLORIA SWANSON, THOMAS MEIGHAN, POLA NEGRI, RICHARD DIX, BEBE DANIELS, RAYMOND GRIFFITH, ADOLPHE MENJOU, DOUGLAS MacLEAN, BEERY AND HATTON, W. C. FIELDS, GILDA GRAY, EDDIE CANTOR, ESTHER RALSTON, FLORENCE VIDOR and a stock company of 70.

* * * *

No other company commands a galaxy of directors like CRUZE, GRIFFITH, VON STROHEIM, ST. CLAIR, NEILAN, FRANK LLOYD, SUTHERLAND, DWAN, BRENON and a score of other fresh, progressive showmen.

* * * *

No other company offers such smashing big 1926-7 attractions—all completed or in the making—as Cruze's "OLD IRONSIDES", Griffith's "SORROWS OF SATAN", Brenon's "BEAU GESTE", Ziegfeld-Sutherland's "GLORIFYING THE AMERICAN GIRL", Fleming's "THE ROUGH RIDERS", Von Stroheim's "THE WEDDING MARCH" and a procession of others coming.

* * * *

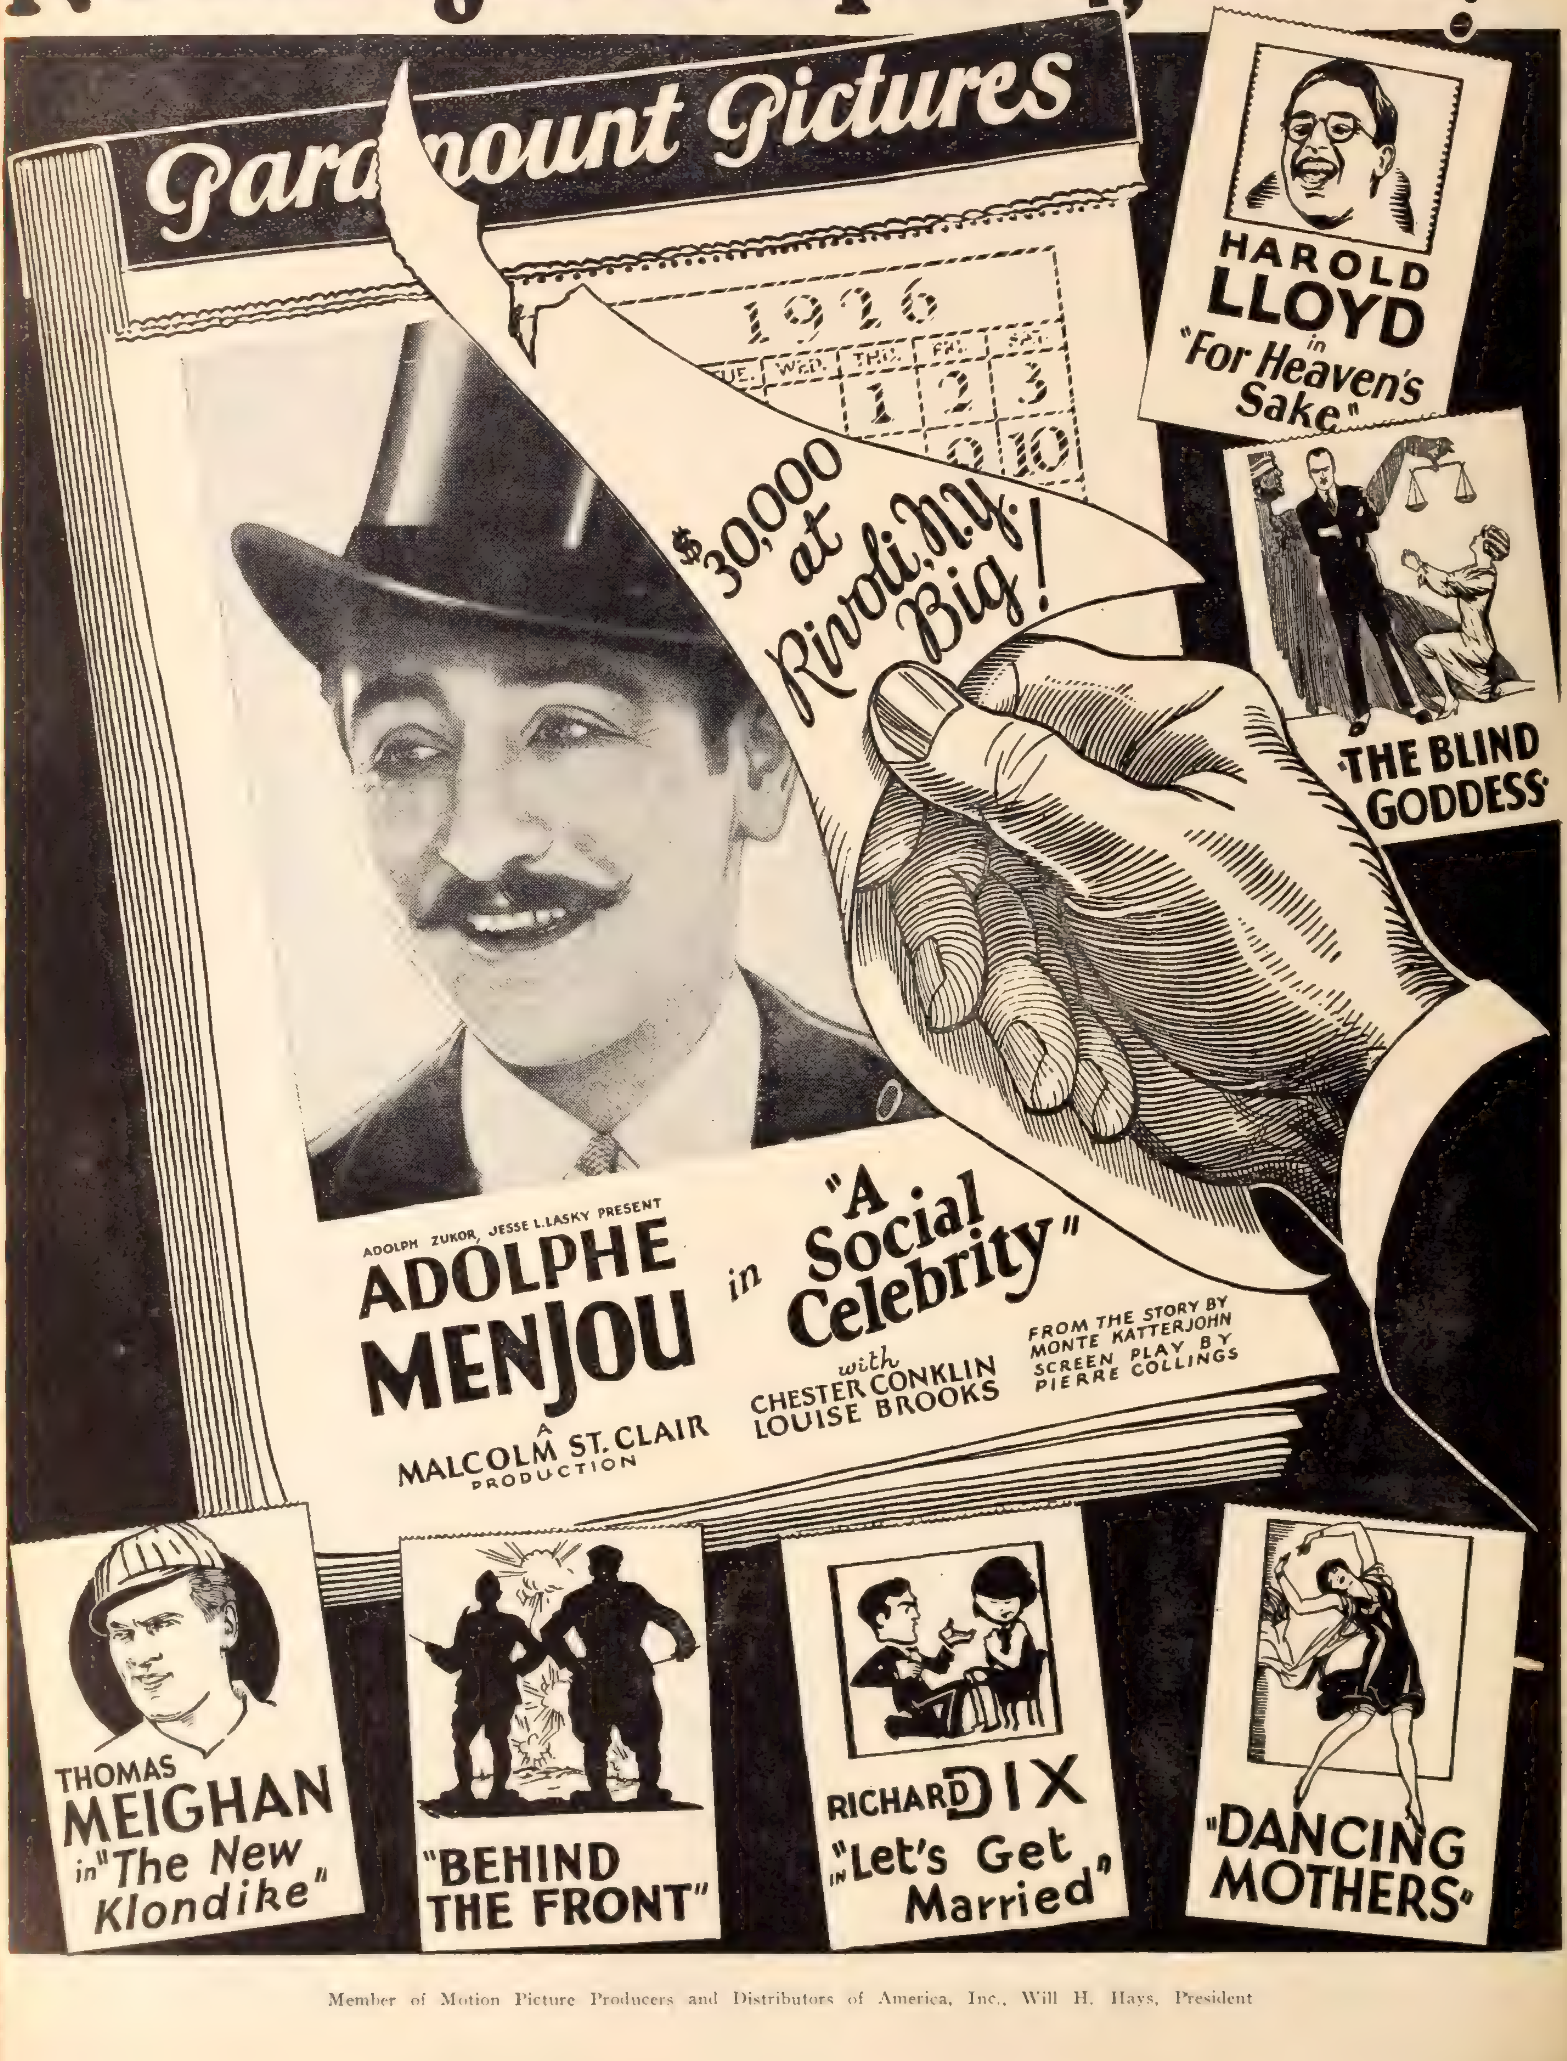
No other company has met thousands of exhibitors face to face, presented frankly the merits of its 1926-7 product (as Paramount did in 40 coast-to-coast meetings) and received unanimous and enthusiastic endorsement of its pictures and its square deal policy.

Gentlemen, all the evidence is in. The verdict is this:

IN 1926-7, EVEN MORE THAN EVER BEFORE

PARAMOUNT OUTCLASSES THE FIELD!

Nothing but Spring HITS!



Paramount Pictures
1926
TUE. WED. THU. FRI. SAT.
1 2 3
9 10
$30,000 at Rivoli, N.Y. Big!
ADOLPH ZUKOR, JESSE L. LASKY PRESENT
ADOLPHE MENJOU in "A Social Celebrity" with CHESTER CONKLIN LOUISE BROOKS
FROM THE STORY BY MONTE KATTERJOHN
SCREEN PLAY BY PIERRE COLLINGS
A MALCOLM ST. CLAIR PRODUCTION
HAROLD LLOYD in "For Heaven's Sake"
THE BLIND GODDESS
THOMAS MEIGHAN in "The New Klondike"
"BEHIND THE FRONT"
RICHARD DIX in "Let's Get Married"
"DANCING MOTHERS"

Member of Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., Will H. Hays, President

"No more lively and entertaining film on Broadway in months!"

declares Palmer Smith
N. Y. Eve. World

WARNER BROS.
PRESENT
"OTHER WOMEN'S HUSBANDS"
WITH
MONTE BLUE, MARIE PREVOST
HUNTLEY GORDON, PHYLLIS HAVER, JOHN PATRICK
E. T. LOWE, JR.

All Hail Another Great Hit from Warner Bros!

"EASILY the best of the new Broadway films of the week!" —N. Y. Evening Post

"WE recommend it to husbands, wifes, spinsters, bachelors, and all others!" --N. Y. Herald-Tribune

"CLEVER comedy — no idle moments — agreeable entertainment!" —N. Y. Times

"..HOPE Warners continue to make light comedies—they know how!" —N. Y. American

"PLEASED audience mightily—they laughed and applauded!" —N. Y. Telegram

"AMUSING, sophisticated comedy! Prevost and Blue great screen team!" N. Y. Eve. Journal

A
WARNER BROS.
PRODUCTION

Applauded as one of the year's finest pictures by crowds at the

WARNER THEATRE

The Heart of Broadway, New York, N. Y.

"A Perfect Fit" say

Carl Laemmle
presents
REGINALD DE

"Skinner's Dres

Laura

"THE GEM OF THEM ALL! Denny at his best!"

Says N. Y. Daily Mirror

"A FUNNY PICTURE, B'GOSH. KEEPS ONE LAUGHING most of the time." N. Y. Daily News

"EXTREMELY AMUSING. DENNY IS INGENUOUS; La Plante intriguing." N. Y. Herald-Tribune

"UNDOUBTEDLY WILL GIVE YOU AN ENTERTAINING hour and a half." N. Y. Evening Graphic

"CALCULATED TO KEEP MOST PEOPLE IN A PLEASANT state of titters." N. Y. Evening Post

"BRIGHT AND BONNY. DIVERTED THE AUDIENCE." N. Y. Telegram

Universal
Jewel

a William a. S

Another Universal Hit ~ Now Pac

New York Telegraph

NNY

s Suit" with a Plante

"GOOD FUN FROM FIRST TO LAST!" Says N. Y. Eve. World

"A MERRY COMEDY, GUARANTEED TO STIMULATE laughs. The kind these two should make all the time." N. Y. American

"DECIDEDLY AMUSING COMEDY WITH DENNY doing his usual breezy acting." N. Y. Evening Journal

"THEY WERE LAUGHING THRUOUT. THIS FELLOW Denny is IT." N. Y. World

"GREETED BY MANY GOOD, HEARTY ROUNDS OF applause." N. Y. Times

ier Production

From the Saturday Evg. Post. Stories
by Henry Irving Dodge

ing Rivoli, Broadway, New York!

WILL BLAZE ITS

A Sure S. R. O. Smash!

"ANY HOUSE SHOULD PACK 'EM IN WITH THIS ONE"

says M. P. News

"AN EPIC WINNER! A BOX OFFICE magnet! Everyone will want to see it!"

says Exhibitors Trade Review

"REAL SUPER PRODUCTION. EXCITES, thrills, entertains and inspires."

says M. P. World

"A GREAT SPECTACLE FULL OF thrills."

says N. Y. Daily News

"A THUNDEROUS MOVIE!"

says N. Y. Morning World

"SCURRY TO THE COLONY AND SEE IT."

says N. Y. Times
Mid-week Pictorial

WAY OVER THE COUNTRY!

GET SET FOR NEW BOX OFFICE RECORDS!

The Supreme Epic of the Golden West is Coming Your Way!

Crammed with action! Glowing with color! Scintillating with showmanship! It has everything that makes a box office winner big. S. R. O. is written all over it. A thrilling, wonderful audience-gatherer that will sweep them off their feet—right to your box office in impatient clamor to buy tickets.

A UNIVERSAL SUPER PRODUCTION
Presented by Carl Laemmle
with Hoot Gibson, Dustin Farnum and a great cast of thousands
An Edward Sedgwick Production

OX
elivers the ONEY-MAKERS
ight to the end of the season! —

here's two more —

WILLIAM FOX
presents

BLACK
PARADISE

with

MADGE BELLAMY
EDMUND LOWE
Leslie Fenton
Doris Lloyd

Story by L. G. Rigby

"Wolves of Society Trapped by Love and Regeneration"

R. WILLIAM NEILL Production

The SILVER TREASURE

from the novel
"NOSTROMO"
By JOSEPH CONRAD

A Mighty Romance of Love, Life and Honor in the Struggle for Wealth

with

GEORGE O'BRIEN
LOU TELLEGEN
HELENA D'ALGY
HARVEY CLARK
HEDDA HOPPER
- JOAN RENEE -

Scenario by ROBERT N. LE

ROWLAND V. LE
production

MONEY-MAKERS ALL!
SANDY — SIBERIA —
THE JOHNSTOWN FLOOD —
EARLY TO WED —
Peter B. Kyne's
story
E SHAMRO
ANDC

The big money man from the West.

MIX is a smashing WOW in this one — go after him and he will go after your BOX-OFFICE RECORD!

WILLIAM FOX Presents

Tom Mix

in

HARD BOILED

Riding with Youth in the Wide Open Spaces
with
HELEN CHADWICK~CHARLES CONKLIN~PHYLLIS HAVER
TONY, the wonder horse
Story by SHANNON FIFE
J. G. BLYSTONE Production

Fox Film Corporation

Member of Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc.—Will Hays, President

The Name Christie on Comedy

Bobby Vernon

BOBBY VERNON COMEDIES

The whole family gets a kick out of a Bobby Vernon Comedy.

There's just enough clean slapstick to set the kids howling with glee, and enough plot to please the grownups. Line up for the coming series of eight.

Billy Dooley

BILLY DOOLEY COMEDIES

They made him a comedy star overnight - now heading his own unit by popular demand. There will be only six Billy Dooley Comedies this season -- but you can bank on these six.

GET THESE CURRENT RELEASES NOW BOOKING

BOBBY VERNON - - Broken China; Till We Eat Again

BILLY DOOLEY - - A Salty Sap; Shore Shy

JIMMIE ADAMS - - Whoa Emma; Gimme Strength

NEAL BURNS - - - - Run Tin Can; Papa's Pest

WALTER HIERS - - Wireless Lizzie; Fresh Faces

JACK DUFFY - - - - Dancing Daddy

PRODUCED BY Christie

CHRISTIE FILM COMPANY, Inc.
Member, Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc. Will H. Hays, President is Like Sterling on Silver

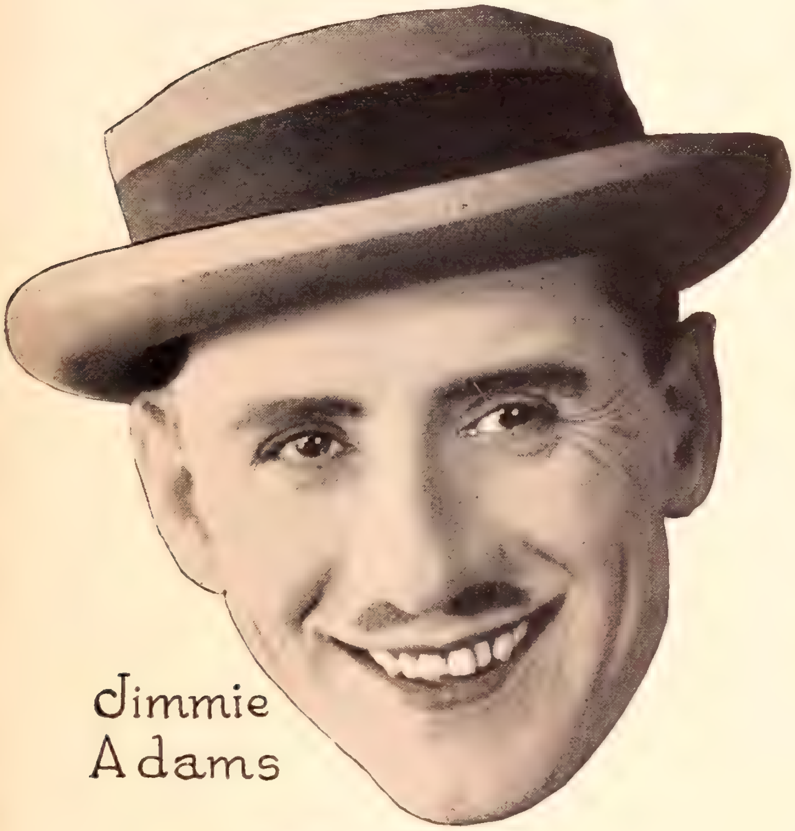
AFTER TEN YEARS OF LEADERSHIP IN THE COMEDY FIELD, Christie will again this year present an outstanding group of supreme laugh-makers. Comedies produced by Christie have become a standard all over the world because they are consistently clever, funny and clean. They will again be the brightest spots on the varied programs of BEST THEATRES EVERYWHERE!

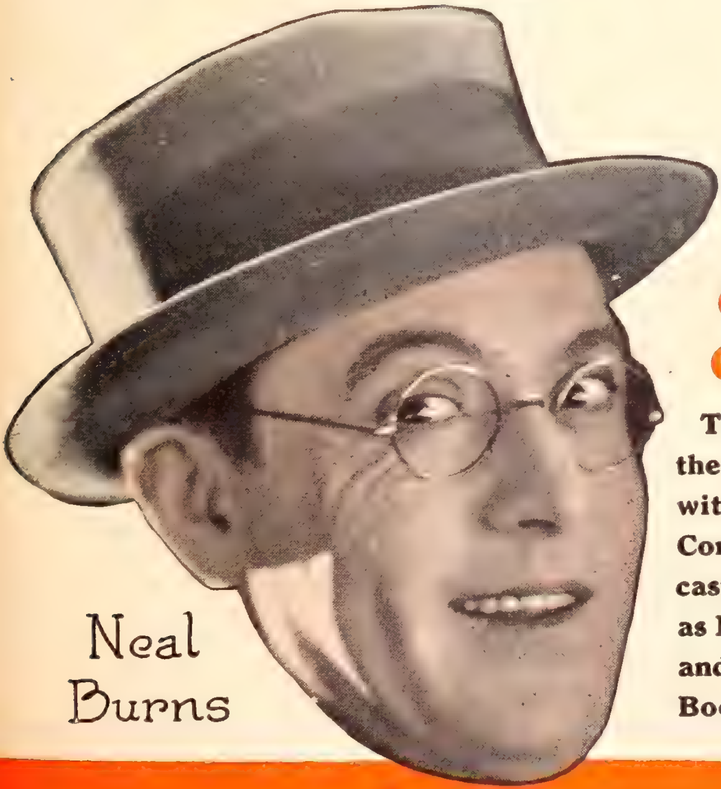


Jimmie
Adams

JIMMIE ADAMS COMEDIES

All the world loves a laugh and Christie is deliverin them in each Jimmie Adams Comedy. There will six new fun films headed by this popular favorite.

Jack
Duffy



Neal
Burns

CHRISTIE COMEDIES

Take a regular shot at the public's funny bone with sparkling Christie Comedies. They're headed by feature casts, including such popular players as Neal Burns, Jack Duffy, Bill Irving and backed by the Christie Beauties. Book the coming series of ten.

Released Through

Educational Pictu

"THE SPICE OF THE PROGRA

FORESIGHT!

Exchange Owners who have foreseen box-office value of ELLBEE productions and have secured the entire 1926-1927 series.

ELLBEE FRANCHISE HOLDERS

Commonwealth Film Corp.,
Sam Zierler, Pres.,
729 Seventh Ave.,
New York, N. Y.

Pictures-In-Motion, Inc.,
William Bradley,
20 Winchester Street,
Boston, Mass.

Bond Photoplay Corporation,
Bobby North,
Franklin Street,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Standard Film Service Co.,
Harry Charnas,
Film Building,
Cleveland, Ohio.

F. & R. Film Co.,
Ralph Branton,
413 Loeb Arcade Bldg.,
Minneapolis, Minn.

IS YOUR EXCHANGE ON THIS LIST?

Masterpiece Film Attractions,
Ben Amsterdam,
1329 Vine Street,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Mid-West Distributing Co.,
C. W. Trampe,
145 Seventh St.,
Milwaukee, Wisc.

Greiver Productions,
Si. Greiver,
831 South Wabash Ave.,
Chicago, Ill.

Mid-West Film Company,
John Servass,
218 Wimmer Bldg.,
Indianapolis, Ind.

Foreign Rights Controlled by British & Continental Trading Co.,
J. C. Barnstyn, Pres.,
1540 Broadway,
New York, N. Y.

ELLBEE PICTURES SURE-FIRE MONEY MAKERS

Race Wild
Roaring Fires
Pursued
The Lightning Reporter
The Warning Signal
Duty's Reward
The Pay Off
Hazardous Valleys
Riding to Fame
Frenzied Flames
Forest Havoc
Defend Yourself
Burning Gold
Thundering Speed
Fire and Steel
Accused

PICTURES ELLBEE CORPORATION

1540 Broadway
New York City

J.G.BACHMANN
PRESENTS

The Lucky "13"

A new series of
PREFERRED
PICTURES

Now Shooting

Lew Tyler's Wives

By WALLACE IRWIN

Directed by HARLEY KNOLES

With

FRANK MAYO
RUTH CLIFFORD
HEDDA HOPPER
HELEN LEE WORTHING
LEW BRICE

In Preparation

The Romance of a Million Dollars

By ELIZABETH DEJEANS

A great box-office story of American fortunes based on a big best-seller

To be followed by:

SHENANDOAH
By Bronson Howard

THE ARISTOCRAT
By Larry Evans

STUDIES IN WIVES
By Mrs. Belloc Lowndes

THE WORST WOMAN
By Larry Evans

DANCING DAYS
By J. J. Bell

HORSES AND WOMEN
By L. B. Yates

EDEN'S FRUIT
By John Goodrich

SHOPWORN
By Patricia Wetherill

EXCLUSIVE RIGHTS
By Evelyn Campbell

SHAMEFUL BEHAVIOR?
By Mrs. Belloc Lowndes

HIS NEW YORK WIFE
By John Goodrich

Preferred Pictures DISTRIBUTED by Famous Attractions Corporation J.G.BACHMANN PRESIDENT.

Sole Foreign Distributors: INTER-OCEAN FILM CORP., Macy W. Kastner, Pres., 218 West 42nd St., New York City.

A slashing hot weather clicker from F B O's Treasure House of Showmanship!

Prodigious Cast of Come-Hither Names!

LILLIAN RICH
ROBERT FRAZER
VICTOR M'LAGLEN
AND OTHERS!

THE ISLE OF RET

Distributed by

FBO

1560 BROADWAY
NEW YORK, N. Y.

EXCLUSIVE FOREIGN DISTRIBUTORS,
R-C EXPORT CORPORATION
1560 BROADWAY
NEW YORK

AGENTS
F B O PICTURES G M B H
225 FRIEDRICHSTRASSE BERLIN
GERMANY

R C EXPORT CORP 26 27 D'ARBLAY ST LONDON,
ENGLAND

SOCIETE ANONYME DES FILMS F B O
69 FAUBOURG ST HONORE PARIS
FRANCE

Combat the competition of carnivals, parks, and other out-door amusements with this ice-crested melodrama of the Alaskan wilderness!

Edeson Marshall's great novel brought vigorously to the screen!

A mighty tale of human conflict amid vast snowscapes — lashing blizzards — numbing temperatures — on land and sea!

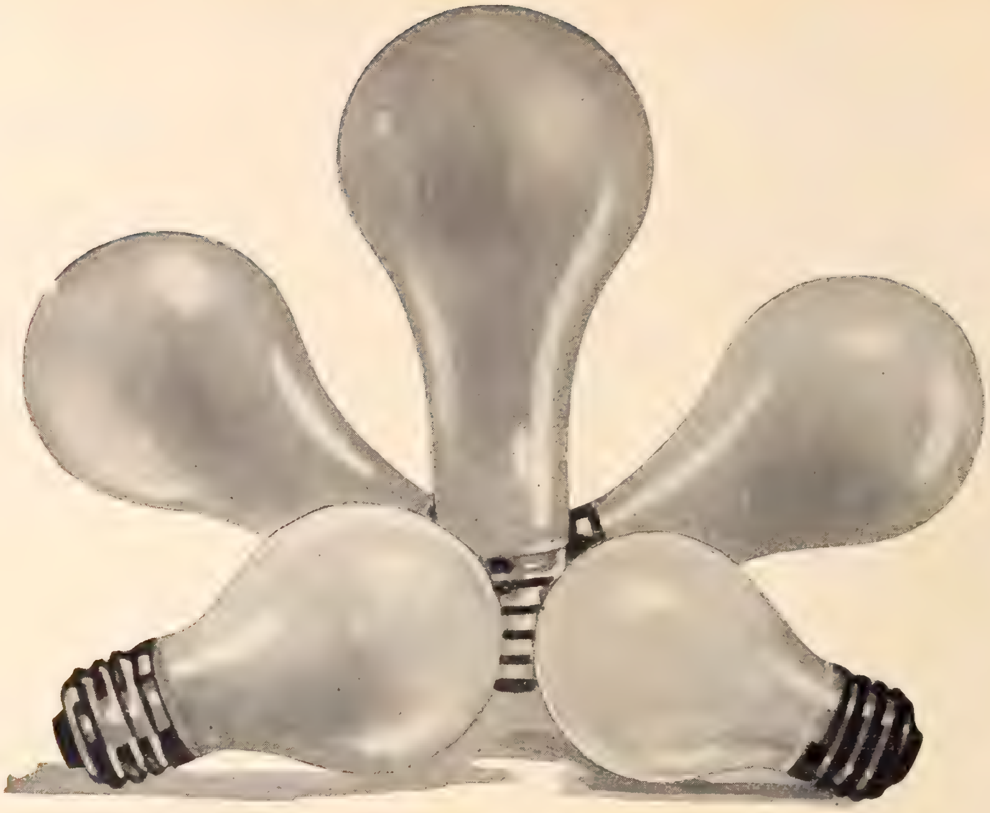
Patterned especially for warm weather exhibition!

The smashing performance of F.B.O.'s 1925-26 Gold Bond specials is trade talk!

Here's another of the Triumphant Twelve!

Directed by James Hogan

RIBUTION



These five lamps meet all lighting requirements

The new inside frost Edison MAZDA Lamps meet lighting requirements that previously called for 45 different types and sizes of clear and outside frosted lamps. They have all the good features of the old type lamps and none of their disadvantages. They give greater lighting value than any other type of lamp made.

The new lamps have better candle-power performance than either clear or outside frosted lamps. The filament is stronger and has much more resistant to breakage than the old type of straight filament. The inside frost diffuses the light better than outside frosting and at the same time lets practically as much light come through as clear glass.

The lamps are pearl grey in color and are almost invisible in the daytime. At night they take on the color of the fixture or background. From a decorative standpoint these new lamps are unequalled by any other lamp made.

Prices of the new inside frosted lamps are comparable with those of clear lamps, and much less than outside frosted lamps.

Use these new lamps where you have previously been using clear or outside frosted lamps. They will give you better light at less cost.

GE

EDISON MAZDA LAMPS
A GENERAL ELECTRIC PRODUCT

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER IS YOUNG BLOOD!

AS surely
AS day follows night
THE new leadership
IN this industry
BELONGS to

METRO-GOLD

From THE TALK of the INDUSTRY

EXHIBITORS have watched
FOR two amazing years
AND marvelled
AT our growth and development.
NOW the handwriting is on the wall.
1926-1927 will complete the story
AND you must make a choice
BETWEEN the old and the new.
METRO-Goldwyn-Mayer
THE triumphant young blood
IN this industry
IS sweeping everything before it.
THE new showmanship
OF Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer
MUST supplant old ideas
OLD names and faces.
DON'T you be the one
TO be left behind
BY the uncontrollable developments
OF an ever-changing business
WITH memories of distant, past glories
TO console you when

WYN-MAYER

To THE TOP of the INDUSTRY

BEHIND locked doors in Culver City, California, box-office generals are planning campaigns of historic importance. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's Parade of Hits for 1926-1927 is the most daring program of picture making the industry has ever witnessed.

IG new things are happening.
ETRO Goldwyn-Mayer things
RE happening
N this great industry.
ACE the facts for your future's sake.
HE old order changes
IVING place to

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER'S

PARADE OF HITS

For 1926-1927

With M-G-M's "More Stars Than There Are In Heaven"

MARION DAVIES
RAMON NOVARRO
LON CHANEY
ELEANOR BOARDMAN
LIONEL BARRYMORE
RENEE ADOREE
CONRAD NAGEL
WILLIAM HAINES
ROY D'ARCY
FRANK CURRIER
KARL DANE
GEORGE K. ARTHUR
LARS HANSON
CECIL HOLLAND

LILLIAN GISH
MAE MURRAY
BUSTER KEATON
PAULINE STARKE
LEW CODY
GRETA GARBO
MAE BUSCH
OWEN MOORE
CLAIRE WINDSOR
MARCELINE DAY
DOROTHY PHILLIPS
DOUGLAS GILMORE
GWEN LEE
ANTONIO D'ALGY

JOHN GILBERT
NORMA SHEARER
JACKIE COOGAN
CHARLES RAY
AILEEN PRINGLE
SALLY O'NEIL
JOAN CRAWFORD
CARMEL MYERS
GERTRUDE OLMSTED
DOROTHY SEBASTIAN
BERT ROACH
EDWARD CONNELLY
ESTELLE CLARKE
And many more

Directed by M-G-M's Livest-Showman-Directors of All

REX INGRAM
TOD BROWNING
JOHN S. ROBERTSON
ROBERT Z. LEONARD
VICTOR SEASTROM
REGINALD BARKER
EDWARD SEDGWICK
BENJAMIN CHRISTIANSON
MARCEL DE SANO
ARCHIE MAYO
MAURITZ STILLER

KING VIDOR
JOHN M. STAHL
MONTA BELL
SAM TAYLOR
JACK CONWAY
CHRISTY CABANNE
GEORGE HILL
KING BAGGOT
WILLIAM NIGH
ALFRED RABOCH
LEW LIPTON

FRED NIBLO
HOBART HENLEY
DIMITRI BUCHOWETZKI
CLARENCE BROWN
HARRY MILLARD
EDMUND GOULDING
MAURICE TOURNEUR
PHIL ROSEN
H. D'ABBADIE D'ARRAST
JESS ROBBINS
And other big directors

THE TOP OF THE INDUSTRY

The DOG DAYS
Are Coming!

They're not far off now—those warm days when you'll have to compete with all the out-door Summer sports for patronage.

You're going to make your theatre as cool and comfortable as possible—of course. But that won't be enough. Your program should be just as cool and light and attractive. Lots of laughs! Plenty of novelty!

It's to help you arrange your shows in keeping with the season that Educational is offering the biggest and finest line-up of Short Features you ever heard of for Spring and Summer showing.

Better book plenty of them now! And then make your advertising keep shouting at your patrons about the only winning combination for warm weather—a light, inviting diversified show in a cool, airy, comfortable theatre!

Educational Pictures
"THE SPICE OF THE PROGRAM"

Member,
Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc.
Will H. Hays, President

EDUCATIONAL
FILM EXCHANGES, Inc.
E W Hammons
President

Sweet Music to the
A First National Picture

ears of wise showmen!

'Oh Man! What a Woman!

From the rocky fastness of Alaska to the shocky fastness of Broadway, from the wolves of the north to the bears of Wall Street. Her father made a million dollars with a pick and she helped him spend it with a shovel. She may drink her coffee from a saucer, but remember there are hundreds of fellows who'd die for a chance to buy the coffee.

Robert Kane has made another great comedy to surpass even the remarkable success of "Bluebeard's Seven Wives." It's one of the finest and funniest comedy dramas ever produced. Another example of the big pictures First National is delivering summer and winter.

The Wilderness Woman

by Arthur Stringer

Aileen Pringle, Lowell Sherman and Chester Conklin

Directed by Howard Higgin
Presented by Robert Kane

First National
is the only company releasing
hits this Summer

First National is holding over nothing for next season. The Banner Group is too rich in hits already to need hold-overs.

By boosting your Summer profits, you stack up a record year.

Do it with First National.

A heat-proof hit week after week. Though it's hotternhell, sun can't stop 'em!

NORMA
TALMADGE
in "Kiki"

COLLEEN
MOORE
in "Irene"

CORINNE
GRIFFITH
in
"Mlle. Modiste"

RICHARD
BARTHELMESS
in
"Ranson's Folly"

HARRY LANGDON
in "Tramp,
Tramp,
Tramp"

"THE GREATER GLORY"
June Mathis Special

"OLD LOVES AND NEW"
adapted from "The Desert Healer"
by E. M. Hull, author of "The Sheik"

MICHAEL ARLEN'S
"The DANCER of PARIS"

FRANK LLOYD'S
"THE WISE GUY"

"THE WILDERNESS WOMAN"
the year's biggest comedy

"The SPORTING LOVER"
Drury Lane sensation

"SWEET DADDIES"

"HER SECOND CHANCE"

First National Pictures

Motion Picture News

Volume XXXIII NEW YORK CITY, MAY 15, 1926 No. 20

Prestige

I WAS TOLD, last week, of the probable merger of two well-known food products. The two businesses will be purchased outright—for a princely sum—and operated by one company.

The two products were selected for their prestige with the public. The valuable item was goodwill—trade-mark value; and the goodwill, as we well know it must have been, was importantly acquired by advertising.

What we may not take into account is the fact that the advertising—a heavy amount of it—has been steadily sustained over a considerable period of years.

Sustained Advertising!

In the picture business we talk a good deal about advertising; its importance is freely admitted. But you hear little about sustained advertising.

Mostly—we splurge in advertising.

And while splurges may gain their objectives of the moment—they don't build goodwill over the years.

* * *

Prestige counts enormously in the picture business—because the value of a picture is so very much what you make the other fellow believe it is.

Take producer prestige.

The exhibitor is greatly swayed, whether he will admit it or not—in fact we all are—by the prestige of a firm name. Way down in his boots he feels that he is secure for the season and for his clientele if he has a good measure of such and such a program.

Now, what makes the prestige?

Quality, of course. But certainly not predominating quality right along, for we all know that year by year it is first one program and then another that leads at the box-office.

So it must be a measure of sustained quality.

And the other measure—the other thing that builds bit by bit this valuable item called prestige—is sustained advertising.

No question about it—gentlemen. It's a highly important, highly practical matter—worth your very best thought. (You won't have to preach this idea to the two men who are going to sell their food products for staggering sums.)

* * *

The most extravagant—and fallacious advertising splurge on the part of the producer has been the "store window" stunt. I mean the ownership or rental of big city houses to put pictures over. All right with the pictures that can earn money under such expense; all right with the picture that was truly first run. But it never paid and never will with the other kind. Millions have been wasted in this way. Anyway, today, theatres are considered too valuable to be sacrificed.

Another extravagance that is passing is the de luxe press book—that gave glitter but no service, that was used to say: "This must be a great picture. Look at the press book!"

And so it goes. We are getting down to sustained advertising—or should be.

We need never take the sparkle out of picture advertising. We can't afford to. We need not eliminate the splurges; they serve their purpose. But what we have got to consider sooner or later, is the steady, continuous building up of trade-marks. It pays—if it's done sensibly, and pays big.

W A Johnston

MOTION PICTURE NEWS
MAY 15 1926
Vol. XXXIII No. 20
Founded in September 1913

Publication Office: 729 7th Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Editorial and General Offices:
729 7th Ave., New York City

Branch Offices:
845 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.
Room 616 Security Bldg., Hollywood, Calif.

The Los Angeles Convention

A BIG share of the spotlight just now is being occupied by preparations for the Los Angeles Convention of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America. The plans this year are exceptionally attractive. They include special trains and circle tours around the country; and entertainment at the studios and elsewhere that will no doubt set a new mark along this line.

We understand that the attendance will be unusually large; and this may well be so, since many theatre owners will want to see where and how the pictures are made; to meet the celebrities, and to have a look at California and the great West.

Anybody who knows anything at all about the way Californians—and film folk in particular—act as hosts will tell you that the entertainment features will be first-class in every respect.

* * *

BUT the Convention deserves to be—and unless we are greatly misinformed will be—much more than a big party. Divisions of opinion and factional differences between groups of exhibitors have recently been ironed out. There is every indication that the convention will have harmony as one of its chief ingredients. This is important; without it, little can be accomplished.

Most exhibitor conventions in the past have been attended with much preliminary bally-hoo, shouting, charges and counter-charges; and then a let-down or fizzle at the convention itself. Of course, some of this effort may have done some good. But in the end, the most noticeable result was a tremendous anti-climax.

This year, we are happy to say, has been totally different. There are serious problems to be met and faced; and the organization leaders have very sensibly put aside bally-hoo campaigns and devoted themselves to a business regime that has brought results.

* * *

THE M. P. T. O. A. has been through many stormy battles. It has survived attacks from without and civil war from within. There can be no question that it is now in position to give attention to the growth of the organization, where before the great worry was to keep it intact and to complete the details usually attendant upon organization effort.

The industry needs—just as it has always needed—a strong, functioning national exhibitor association, devoid of petty politics, and devoted to service to the exhibitor in his business problems and the even bigger problems of public relations.

It is a fact that the organization is doing excellent work in both these directions. We have made a rather careful study of the situation and find these things to be so.

* * *

ONE of the good things we hear about the Los Angeles Convention is that the rank and file will be the convention. The plan usually followed in the past has been, as everybody knows, skillful political manipulation, with the result that all the majority of the delegates did was to listen to and approve ready-made decisions.

The abandonment of this practice will be a big step forward. It will mark Los Angeles as an utterly different sort of convention—a business meeting instead of a political pow-wow.

* * *

FRANKLY, all the indications point to a successful convention. We hope everybody who can will attend. It's a fine trip; there is opportunity for producers and exhibitors to get together and understand mutual problems better; and much can be accomplished for the good of the industry.

Editorial 2321
Editor on Broadway 2323
Second Editorial Page 2322
Pictures and People 2324-27
Exhibitors Service Bureau 2351-52
General News and Special Features 2328-48
Short Subjects and Serials 2365-66
Pre-Release Reviews on Features 2369-72
Newspapers Opinions on New Features 2394
Construction and Equipment Department 2381-88
Regional News From Correspondents 2373-80
Features and Short Subjects Release Chart 2390-95
The Check-Up 2352
Short Subject Reviews 2367-68
Classified Ads 2389
Warner Bros Section 2353-64

May 15, 1926 MOTION PICTURE NEWS Vol. XXXIII, No. 20

Published weekly by Motion Picture News, Inc., William A. Johnston, President; E. Kendall Gillett, Vice-President; William A. Johnston, Editor; J. S. Dickerson, Associate Editor; Oscar Cooper, Managing Editor; Fred J. Beecroft, Advertising Manager; L. H. Mason, Chicago Representative; William McCormack, Los Angeles Representative. Subscription price, $2 per year, post paid in United States, Mexico, Hawaii, Porto Rico, Philippine Islands and some other countries; Canada, $3, foreign, $6.00. Copyright 1926, by Motion Picture News, Inc., in the United States and Great Britain. Title registered in the United States Patent Office and foreign countries. Western Union cable address is "Picknews," New York. Entered as second-class matter April 22, 1926, at the postoffice, New York, N. Y., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

AN EDITOR ON BROADWAY

The Week in Review By William A. Johnston

Watterson R. Rothacker

ABOUT the finest thing that can be said of a man in this—or any other business—is that he put his part of it on a high plane and kept it there. What it means, of course, is that he put his personality into his piece of work, and as his personality measures up in the scale of human endeavor, so also does his work.

This month the Rothacker Film Manufacturing Company celebrates its sixteenth anniversary; and, by a coincidence, W. R. Rothacker celebrates his own birthday also in May. What Rothacker prints and service have meant to this business is a true reflection of the vivid and definite personality of the founder of the business.

I have before me a brief history of this interesting enterprise—how a young man started it when pictures were young, how it grew from industrial pictures into a big laboratory in Chicago and then into the building and financing of the Rothacker-Aller laboratory on the Coast.

But the history doesn't mean so much to me as the interesting fact that in this young industry the character of each and every institution is the character of the man at the helm of it. True of pictures, prints, sales, advertising, theatres, every part and parcel of it. We are as broad and high today as an industry as our men are broad and high. That is the measure and these men are our industrial assets.

* * *

WE to whom the motion picture represents a complex and highly unusual industry, do not often pause, perhaps, to consider the myriad services which it is quietly performing in out-of-the-way corners everywhere—in hospitals and asylums and prisons, and all such places where it represents much more than the means of "killing" an hour or two.

At Ellis Island, for instance, motion pictures are aiding in Americanization work and lightening the weary hours for the detained immigrants who expectantly await the decision that will admit or bar them. Pictures are shown on the island every Friday night.

High praise for the class of pictures being shown and for the good that is being wrought by pictures for the immigrants has been voiced by Benjamin M. Day, Commissioner of Immigration, as well as by his predecessor, former Commissioner Henry H. Curran.

Commissioner Day in a letter to Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., said:

"At this time I should like to express to you my great appreciation of the fine work that you are doing in connection with the exhibition of moving pictures at Ellis Island every Friday night. Last evening I saw for the first time just what is being done here in that line, and I was delighted with the film that was presented. I know that Mr. Curran, my predecessor, has expressed to you his appreciation, and has told you the real value there is in the right kind of pictures. The operator told me last night that because of the advent of daylight saving, the exhibition would probably have to be given up until the early part of the coming fall. At that time I hope that we may be the recipient of your generosity in this matter."

* * *

MR. CURRAN, in expressing his appreciation for the part pictures are playing on Ellis Island, added: "This is very valuable and keenly appreciated entertainment for these men, women, and children who are detained here and who find it so hard to wait until they learn their fate. Most of them come into this country sooner or later, so that they thus receive a preliminary taste of our good American motion pictures which they are very likely to extend later on when they are in the United States. For my part and for our Government that I represent, I am grateful and write this note to say so."

The pictures are supplied through the New York Film Board of Trade.

* * *

HIRAM ABRAMS may well feel proud, for within the space of a few weeks the group of United Artists stars and producers has been enhanced by the addition of John Barrymore, Morris Gest and now Gloria Swanson. The box-office value of Miss Swanson requires no comment, but the acquisition of Morris Gest by the motion picture industry has a vital significance, Abrams points out.

Abrams' statement indicates firm faith that "box-offices throughout the United States and, surely in the case of Morris Gest Spectacles throughout the world, will benefit enormously not only because 'The Darling of the Gods' lends itself so readily to motion picture presentation, but because the name and prestige of Gest as a showman in America will attract the most prominent citizens of every city and town to moving picture houses for the first time.

"If in the past, United Artists have been able through the quality of their productions to entice to motion picture box-offices some part of the class public which so rarely patronizes movies, then I feel sure that now with the showman who above all others has consistently catered to the discriminating taste of this audience, exhibitors will find United Artists releases of Morris Gest Spectacles bringing all of this quality group to their box-offices, along with the masses.

"And I am certain that our exhibitor friends will find that not only will these audiences come to view Gest films but that they will become habitual movie-goers, once having been drawn to the theatres through the personality and prestige of Morris Gest."

* * *

THE prediction that within five years three-fourths of our motion pictures will be in color instead of black and white is a startling one, but J. Melvin Andrews, production manager of Technicolor, backs it up with excellent reasons.

"When the theatre-going public become accustomed to viewing subjects having the beautiful qualities of the Educational release 'The Vision,'" Mr. Andrews said, "and when they are able, as in the case of black and white, to take for granted the colorful effect and not have it interfere with their enjoyment of the continuity of the story itself, three-quarters of the film productions will be in natural colors. The trouble with this type of picture in the past has been that directors have not been satisfied with having a naturally pleasing colorful setting, but they have tried to bolster up the production by the use of too much unnecessary vividness. In 'The Vision', Director Arthur Maude has, perhaps for the first time, secured the ideal and most artistic effect wherein color is a pleasing adjunct rather than the predominating feature of the film."

PICTURES AND PEOPLE

Mabel Normand, who is returning to the screen in a Hal Roach comedy for Pathe, snapped on the lot just before starting a scene

Daniel B. Clark, for many years a Fox Films cameraman, who has been elected president of the American Society of Cinematographers

Chuck Reisner, director, and Syd Chaplin, star, as Old Bill in "The Better 'Ole" (Warner Bros.), indulge in a bit of ventriloquial fooling

MARY AND DOUG

FIRST letters to be received in New York from Mary and Doug, now in Italy, indicate that they will motor to Paris and from there to Berlin, arriving in time to attend the German premiere of "Little Annie Rooney." Present plans provide for reaching London in June.

Their first port of call was Naples. Instead of remaining there for several days, as intended, the couple went next day to Genoa, en route to Montecatini Mineral Springs, near Florence, where headquarters were established for several weeks, so that Mrs. Charlotte Pickford, Mary's mother, might convalesce from her recent illness. Meanwhile, Mary and Doug have been visiting Rome and other important Italian cities.

THIS TAKES THE PRIZE

JAMES CRUZE, Paramount director, has received what is easily the prize fan letter of the month from a dealer in rags, bottles and old metal in Davenport, Iowa. It reads, in part:

"I see by the papers you are going to make a film play called 'Old Ironsides.' I am glad of that. I have watched film plays immortalizing the American policeman, the fireman and the mailman, but no one has before ever made one about the American junkman."

ANN RORK WINS

TO Lewis Stone, Barbara Bedford and Tully Marshall "The Desert Healer," Marion Fairfax's adaptation of the novel released by First National, was simply a picture which provided them with excellent acting opportunities—but to one member of

Pathe producers and executives photographed at the recent convention in New York City; left to right, front row: Harry Scott, John Humm, Paul Fuller, Jr., Mack Sennett, Charles MacDonald, Hal Roach; rear row: Mark Luescher, Charles E. Merrill, Jacques Pathe, Bernard Benson, James A. FitzPatrick, Amedee J. Van Beuren, Emanuel Cohen, Edmund C. Lynch and Elmer Pearson

Here, with Judge Landis, is Bill Ironson ("Old Ironsides"), for 20 years with the N. Y. Giants as International Newsreel photographer

A Charming study of Marion Davies, whose next Cosmopolitan starring vehicle for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will be "The Red Mill"

Sally Rand and Harvey Karrells in a special dance number add a colorful touch to "Sunny Ducrow" (Producers Dist. Corp.)

the cast, Ann Rork, it was much more than that, for on it hinged the question of whether or not she would continue the screen career thus begun.

The daughter of that redoubtable showman and film impresario, Sam E. Rork, Ann left school in the East not so long ago and upon returning to Hollywood began besieging Sam with pleas to be permitted to take up a screen career. He finally consented, on condition that she must make her own way entirely. He could give her the chance—but after that it was all up to her.

So she was given a small part in "Old Loves and New" as a test. She came through with flying colors, and after seeing the reception accorded her work at the New York Mark Strand premiere of the picture, Rork has announced that she will have a more prominent part in his planned next picture, "Wild Geese."

*PATHE REVIEW NO. 20

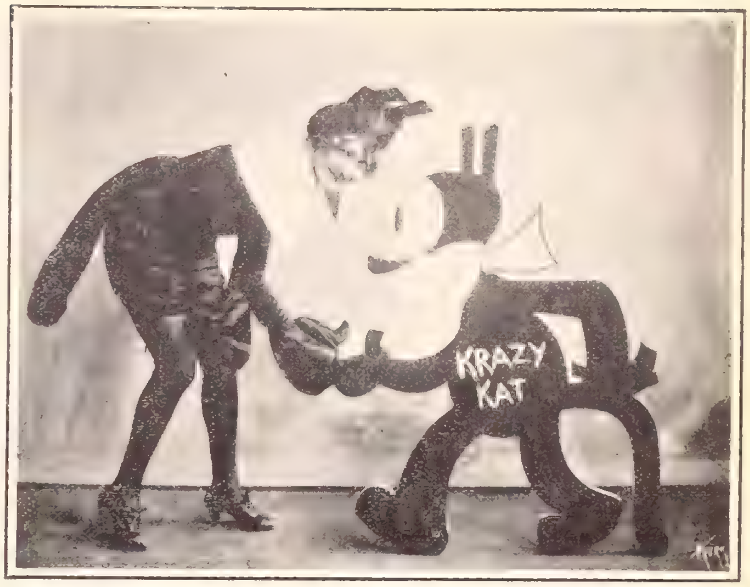
ONLY one asterisk was awarded this week by the National Board of Review, that going to Pathe Review No. 20, which includes Head Over Heels, Parisian millinery display, sidelights on Auvergne, France, and On Thin Ice, a novelty.

We are awarding another asterisk of our own, however, to "The Vision," the two-reel Romance production in Technicolor released by Educational. Inspired by the Millais painting, "Speak, Speak," this takes rank as one of the most imaginative subjects of this character that we have seen, and as one of the finest examples, likewise, of the use of color as it should be employed on the screen.

THOSE EXTRAS

ANOTHER contribution to the symposium on the subject, "Where Do the Extras Come From?" has been received from William Cohill, casting director at the Paramount Long Island studio. Taking as a typical instance a group of a dozen young women playing atmosphere and bits one day during the filming of the Richard Dix picture, "Say It Again," the following data was disclosed:

Vera Sisson, wife of Richard Rosson, Paramount director; Beatrice Hughes, former Follies actress; Lea Penman, formerly in "The Humming Bird," "Pinkie," and other stage plays; Mary Huntington, who, under the name "Mlle. Nagone," is fashions editor of The Morning Telegraph; Edna and Mary Giblyn, daughters of Charles Giblyn, himself a former Paramount director; Cherie Andt and Edith Hadley, proprietors of a little hat shop in the Fifties; Princess Mikeladze, a Russian refugee; and Elsie Nichols, sister of Anne Nichols, author of "Abie's Irish Rose."



June Heide, in her Krazy Kat kostume, was a prize winner at a film ball at the Hotel Astor, New York City. She is here meeting Krazy, the hero of the Krazy Kat Kartoons, which F. B. O. will distribute during the coming season

LAZARUS OPTIMISTIC

PAUL L. LAZARUS, general sales manager for the Southern and Western divisions of United Artists Corporations, has returned to New York from a tour of the Washington, Pittsburgh and Charlotte exchange with optimistic reports concerning those territories. Not only is the amusement outlook happy, exhibitors state, but general conditions in industrial plants and activity in home-building are indicative of the sort of prosperity that augurs well for picture theatre attendance.

Sidelights on the recent Fox Films convention on the West Coast; above, left to right, Jimmy Grainger faces the camera with charming little Janet Gaynor, new star discovery; W. A. ("Tony") Ryan and Stanley J. Mayer on either side of George Harris; Virginia Valli, playing the lead in "The Family Upstairs," shows Jimmy Grainger that he isn't the only one that can "get the dough"; below, left, William Fox and Frank Borzage talking over production matters at luncheon with Sol Wurtzel; right, George O'Brien, Fox star, his dad, Dan O'Brien, Chief of Police in Frisco, Jimmy Grainger and Truman Talley

At the left is shown the famous painting, "Speak, Speak," by John Millais, and at the right the staging of the same scene in "The Vision," a two-reel Technicolor subject based on this painting and distributed by Educational

BEBE DANIELS INJURED

THOSE superstitious folk who say that hard luck always comes in threesomes will find confirmation of their theory in the unfortunate mishaps that have followed Bebe Daniels. The latest came last Saturday, when her horse bolted in Central Park, throwing her. She was taken to the hospital, suffering from shock, and it is understood that commencement of her next picture is likely to be delayed for a fortnight. Recently, in Hollywood, she fell from the back of a moving automobile truck and was laid up for ten days, while a speedboat accident in Florida during "The Palm Beach Girl" likewise held up work on that picture.

ROYALTY SEES "3 FACES EAST"

FROM Brussels comes a news dispatch stating that the King and Queen of Belgium, the Duke of Brabant and the Princess, Marie-Jose, were among those present at the Agora Theatre premiere there of "Three Faces East," and that the sovereigns expressed their appreciation by applause just as democratic as the merest movie fan. The large hall was brilliantly decorated, and the guests also included a striking array of government officials, church dignitaries, ministers, ambassadors and members of society and the nobility. Truly, the great family of movie fans takes in all races, all creeds and all classes.

LUSK TO PICTURE-PLAY

NORBERT LUSK, for some time past with The Morning Telegraph and before that a well-known publicist and special writer, on May 10th becomes the editor of Picture-Play Magazine, the Street & Smith fan monthly. He has contributed to this publication at various times during the past several years, and is particularly well qualified to take over the helm. The best wishes and congratulations of his many friends within and without the industry will go with him in his new connection.

TORRENCE TO SAIL

ERNEST TORRENCE will leave Hollywood on June 2, bound for Europe, where he will tour England, France and Scotland for four weeks. Mrs. Torrence and their son Ian will accompany him.

"STELLA DALLAS" RUN ENDS

WITH the 345th performance on Saturday evening, "Stella Dallas" will end its continuous run of more than half a year at the Apollo theatre, New York City. A Broadway first-run will follow, it is understood, with general release scheduled for next fall.

A REAL STAR OF THE ETHER

A STAR of the ether threatens to emerge from the ether waves and materialize on the screen as a cinema celebrity. "Ann Howe is that you'll say"—or perhaps you won't—but anyway that is precisely the point. "Ann Howe," becoming famous among radio fans over the country as a forthcoming picture star, is the celebrity of the air for whom a brilliant career in the photoplay is planned.

Radio will make a screen star according to the man who projected the enterprise, Don Meaney, well known in the picture industry through several years of association with studios as a publicity man, representative of stars and production manager. Meaney "promoted" Ann Howe as a mythical person seeking prominence in the pictures. She could realize her ambition, he told his thousands of listeners in at the "Midnight Frolics" he staged for station KFI in Los Angeles provided they would lend their support to her. The idea "caught on" like a haystack ignited by a bolt of lightning, and before he realized it, Meaney had assurances from some twenty or thirty thousand radio fans that they would help boost Ann Howe. Presently he was offered a contract for the lady's services from a prominent comedy producer, but Meaney wanted to make Ann Howe famous across the country before his star signed any contracts. The Associated Press, interested in the project from a news standpoint, arranged for Meaney to appear as a guest announcer at radio stations all across the country, and the Don is now in New York after telling radio fans from Frisco to Manhattan all about Ann Howe. The lady's screen tests, he tells us, show her capable of registering as a beauty and a personality in pictures, and the arrangements he is now making call for her early appearance as the star of a photoplay to be written by a well-known author.

GLEN ARNOLD FOBARD

MONTE BLUE is not the only player on the Warner Bros. lot who is passing the cigars around these days, as the result of what used to be referred to guardedly as "an interesting event." Barbara Ann Blue is only a few hours older than Glen Arnold Robard, two-weeks-old son of Jason Robard, in the cast of "Footloose Widows." Between scenes of "Reveillon" and "Footloose Widows," Blue and Robard may be frequently seen in earnest conversation, recounting the exploits of the young hopefuls. They are already talking of co-starring them in due time.

SON BORN TO CANNONS

AMONG recent arrivals in the film colony is a son born on Wednesday at St. Mary's Hospital, Los Angeles, to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cannon. Mrs. Cannon is better known as a screen writer under the name "Fanchon Royer," while Cannon, now a Universal scenarist, was formerly head of Douglas MacLean's scenario staff.

Keith-Albee Obtains Interest in Producers Dist. Corp.

Assures 400 Affiliated Houses of Product and Affords Important First Run Outlet for P. D. C.

RUMORS current for weeks concerning various motion picture affiliations considered by the B. F. Keith vaudeville interests were set at rest by two signatures to a contract on Wednesday morning, when Edward F. Albee acting for Keith-Albee, Orpheum and allied interests, and John C. Flinn acting for Cecil B. De Mille, Jeremiah Milbank and the Cinema Corporation of America, signed an agreement closing one of the most momentous deals in years.

Under its terms, approximately four hundred theatres in a chain extending from coast to coast are brought into affiliation with Producers Distributing Corporation, opening wide the first run situation for that company, in which Keith-Albee and associates acquire a half interest. The theatres, in turn, are assured of first-class product for an indefinite period.

Edward F. Albee, president of the Keith-Albee Circuit, announced the new affiliation. Albee, in association with Marcus Heiman, president of the Orpheum circuit, and a number of circuits and theatres affiliated with the Keith-Albee Enterprises, become interested in and will provide the principal outlet for the productions of Producers Distributing Corporation, which is also known as the Cecil B. De Mille Company, of which Jeremiah Milbank, of New York, and Cecil B. De Mille, of Los Angeles heretofore have been the principal owners.

Throughout America Keith-Albee and Orpheum Circuits operate and are affiliated with hundreds of theatres in which motion pictures form a part of the regular program. Many of the theatres of these circuits now presenting vaudeville exclusively are in no way affected by this affiliation as the vaudeville policy of these houses will not be altered. As the Keith-Albee and Orpheum circuits will continue to build up their vaudeville as in the past, it will leave it possible for the De Mille Company to continue to supply picture houses in many of the same towns in which these two circuits and their associates and affiliations are located.

John C. Flinn

The Keith-P. D. C. Merger

THE Keith-P. D. C. merger puts another big plank under the picture industry. From the angle of the industry and of the merging interests it is a good, sound and logical step.

Looking under the surface there are these interesting facts:

For forty years the Keith organization has built solidly on the basis of better entertainment. From the time E. F. Albee entered the ranks he has fought for better vaudeville—elevating it, safeguarding it, till over all the country it broke through the hold of the legitimate and established itself solidly in all the cities of the country. Brick and mortar went ahead, too, but this organization was built upon—product.

And now, the other side of the picture:

Two years ago John Flinn stepped from his "Covered Wagon" job and took an executive desk at P. D. C. He had a good schooling and it was all to the point that pictures count above everything else in our industrial world. So he gritted his teeth and went to work—on product. It was tough sledding. Distribution line-ups were against him; theatre circuits were against him. When he got the production cost on a picture he had to tell Jeremiah Milbank that the money wouldn't come back. But he also insisted that it was the only way to win out. And Milbank signed the checks without a quaver. They took their licking and kept quiet and fought on.

Then De Mille came along—and the Christies. Film Row wagged its head: but it was all part of a plan, and an end: product. Then the Ince studios and then the Metropolitan and suddenly the realization that this was one of the largest producing plants in Hollywood.

So there's the genius of the merger. Product. It has been in process for over a year. Keith wanted to get into the picture business. They took their time. They finally decided upon what John Flinn has been patiently building without a bit of deviation.

I saw the remarkable telegram sent to John Flinn from a P. D. C. dinner on the Coast at which six hundred were present. Most any man in the business would count that telegram a full reward for fine endeavor. And we add our congratulations.

WILLIAM A. JOHNSTON.

The Keith-Albee-Orpheum group has obtained a half-interest in the De Mille Company and will have equal representation on the board of directors. The theatres of these circuits now will be assured a definite and important program of motion pictures which heretofore has been impossible because most of the film producers have theatres of their own to which preference of their own pictures is naturally given.

The theatre outlets for the De Mille pictures which this affiliation accomplishes, precludes the necessity of theatre building by the De Mille Corporation except in such towns where no outlet is available either through the vaudeville circuits or other theatres in the town.

The Keith-Albee and Orpheum Circuits are the only big institutions in the country in the amusement business that have not heretofore engaged in some manner in the picture producing business. The trade has been expecting some move on their part for the past two years. The affiliation with the De Mille pictures is regarded as a natural development in line with similar steps that other theatre circuits have taken in the past.

Albee said: "Having been interested in building up the B. F. Keith organization of vaudeville, I have been anxious to see that picture patrons of our theatres receive the

(Continued on page 2345)

Edward F. Albee

Censorship Move Deferred at Capitol

C. C. Pettijohn and Canon Chase Only Persons Heard by House Committee; Swoope and Upshaw Bills Again Assailed

THE House Education Committee has voted to defer further consideration of the Upshaw Censorship Bill until next December. This action was taken after the committee had devoted part of the morning to hearing Mr. Upshaw explain his measure, on which hearings have been held over a period of more than a month. The Georgia Congressman made his usual violent defense of his measure and his methods, and participated in several arguments with members of the committee. Following the hearing, the committee went into executive session, announcing later that it had voted to do nothing further with the Legislation this session.

The only persons to be heard at the session were Charles C. Pettijohn of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, and Canon William Sheafe Chase, leader of the reform movement. Each was given one hour in which to sum up, but most of the time was taken in answering questions of the committee.

Pettijohn again went through the Upshaw and Swoope bills, picking out the weak spots of the measures and showing how the reformers have as their object, not their alleged regulation of the film industry, but its virtual confiscation.

The Upshaw bill, he stated, is frankly a "freak bill", attempting Government control of the motion picture industry, providing qualifications for members of the censorship board which would prevent 99 per cent. of the citizens of the country from holding office, and containing many arbitrary and confiscatory features.

There are 25 miles of feature film released each week, he pointed out, and it would be physically impossible for the "supermen" composing the projected board personally to review it all, in addition to their other work, so that review of the films would of necessity have to be delegated to surbordinates, "ordinary mortals without 'educated consciences' ".

Pettijohn severely criticised those provisions which permitted the board to take over the industry by its "centralized distribution", which, he said, was confiscatory and also contained all the elements of Government price fixing, under those provisions which permitted the commission to set the prices to be paid by exhibitors for films. It would destroy outstanding contracts between distributors and exhibitors, he pointed out.

The bill would also make it impossible for news reels to portray the political news of the day, since they would be subject to censorship, although the states of New York and Kansas have recently exempted such reels from censorship on the ground that they occupy the same status as do newspapers.

Pettijohn frankly charged Representative Upshaw of Georgia with attempting to destroy the motion picture industry. "The Upshaw bill," he told the committee, "attempts to do nothing more nor less than confiscate the motion picture industry."

The Swoope bill has the same end in view, he asserted, and neither bill provides for barring any undesirable class of films not already covered by State and Federal laws.

From this point, Pettijohn found it necessary to devote all his time to answering questions from committee members, in response to which he stated that the number of theatres in the country has increased in the past four or five years from something like 14,000 to nearly 22,000, in addition to the 4,000 schools, churches and other institutions having motion picture equipment.

Speaking of the charge of $25 to be made for inspection of scenarios, under the Upshaw bill, which inspection is not made compulsory and was put into the bill, its proponents said, so that a producer could know whether he was going to put out an approved pecture, Pettijohn told the committee "if this commission can tell from looking at the scenario whether we are going to have a good picture let them make the fee $25,000", explaining how the industry often guesses wrong, spending large money on failures and making big successes out of cheaply produced pictures.

Block booking, chains and the tendency to producer monopoly in exhibition were also discussed by the committee at length. Pettijohn explained that block booking was the wholesale selling of pictures as differentiated from retailing one or two at a time; producer theatres, he said, have been found necessary, both to provide large, handsome theatres in communities without adequate facilities and in providing the producers with first-run houses in localities where they did not exist.

More than 1,000 pages of editorial matter against censorship, letters from prominent persons and data regarding the industry were submitted for the record by Pettijohn.

Canon Chase, completing the case for the reformers, attempted to devote his time to answering the "mis-statements" of Pettijohn, but became embroiled with the committee several times and spent much of his time in extricating himself from the unfavorable positions in which the didactic and arbitrary statements placed him.

The film industry does not want to submit to any sort of regulation, Canon Chase asserted. The press has not given the matter "a fair show" he continued, and Will Hays for four years attempted to prevent the annual Presbyterian Church from going on record in favor of censorship, but without success.

He paid special attention to the Connecticut tax law, declaring, in response to a query from a member of the committee, that it would do as a Federal law "if we can get nothing else". He dwelt at length on the Durant case, Harry Durant, the original author of the tax bill, having been referred to in uncomplimentary terms at a previous hearing by Mr. Pettijohn, and read into the record a lengthy affidavit from Mr. Durant charging his suspension from the Connecticut bar 20 years ago, which was lifted a few days ago, to be a political frame-up.

Pettijohn asked the committee for a moment to make a personal explanation, saying that he understood Durant was going to sue him, but he saw no reason to amend or withdraw anything he had previously said about Durant before the committee.

It was marked that Canon Chase during his argument was more bitter than he has shown himself to be at any time previous in the hearings, and he was unsparing in his criticism, both of the industry itself and of Pettijohn, who was sitting almost beside him at the time.

British General Strike Paralyzes Film Industry, Cranfield Reports

THE first information to be received here this week concerning the effect of the general strike in England upon the film industry in that country is contained in a cablegram to W. F. Clarke of Cranfield & Clarke, Inc., from Mr. Cranfield, president of that organization, who is now in charge of the London office at 35 Piccadilly Mansions, to the effect that the strike has absolutely paralyzed the motion picture industry in Great Britain and that the picture theatres are doing no business for the reason that the general public cannot get to and from London. A few of the suburban houses are holding a fair patronage.

Mr. Cranfield has volunteered and is now driving a milk lorry, while his daughter, Miss Vista Cranfield, is also doing government work.

Other companies, including Famous Players, First National, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and Fox, reported that no replies had been received from their British offices in response to cable messages sent. Newspaper dispatches stated that legitimate houses had closed down but that picture theatres were open and in some instances doing thriving business.

Pittsburg Exhibitor, Bert Klock, Dies

Kansas City's movie row was saddened to learn of the death of Bert Klock, veteran Pittsburg, Kas., exhibitor, who was one of the owners of the Pittsburg Amusement Company. Mr. Klock succumbed to an operation in Rochester, Minn., last week.

Pathe Re-elects Officers and Directors

THE Board of Directors of Pathe Exchange, Inc., at their annual meeting held in New York City last week, re-elected all the officers and directors of the Board. The re-elections were made unanimous. The re-elected officers were: Paul Fuller, Jr., president; Edmund C. Lynch, chairman; Elmer Pearson, vice-president and general manager; Bernhardt Benson, vice-president; Lewis Innerarity, secretary; John Humm, treasurer; W. C. Smith, assistant treasurer.

The re-elected memers of the Board of Directors were: G. L. Chanier, Lewis Innerarity, William Fellows Morgan, Paul Fuller, Jr., Jansen Noyes, Elmer Pearson, Edmund C. Lynch, Barnhard Benson and Charles Pathe.

Ceiling Collapses in Wilkes-Barre Theatre

Approximately 2,250 feet of the ceiling, weighing eleven tons and containing charged electric wires fell in the Savoy, a large house in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., on Monday, May 3rd, and caused the injury of twenty persons, several of which were serious. When the crash occurred there were but few people in the theatre but in the panic that followed, men, women and children suffered bruises, lacerations, shocks and burns.

The building inspectors and the city officials are of the opinion that the collapse was due to the vibrations of a large motor underneath the stage which was used to operate the organ.

Father of the Late Ontario Censor Chairman Dies

Following quickly on the death of Major A. S. Hamilton, Chairman of the Ontario Board of Moving Picture Censors, Toronto, on April 20, was the sudden death of his father, James Murray Hamilton, also of Toronto, at the age of 82 years. The death of the aged parent occurred Thursday, April 22, the day on which the censor board chairman was laid to rest.

American Cinematographers Elect Officers

The American Society of Cinematographers at their annual election have elected the following officers to head the affairs of the organization for 1926-27; Daniel B. Clark, president; L. Guy Wilky, first vice-president; Frank B. Good, second vice-president; Ira Morgan, third vice-president; George Schneiderman, treasurer; and Charles G. Clarke, secretary.

Thompson New Chairman of Ontario Censor Board

Hon. Joseph Thompson, Toronto, speaker of the Ontario Legislature, was named May 1 as the successor to the late Major A. S. Hamilton, who died April 20, as chairman of the Ontario Board of Moving Picture Censors. J. C. Boylen, vice-chairman, has been acting temporarily as chairman of the board.

Stanley Co. Buys Control of Three Circuits in $80,000,000 Deal

IN a deal estimated to involve about $80,000,000 of theatre property, which amount includes land, buildings and equipment, the Stanley Company of America this week acquired a controlling interest in the Mark Strand Theatre Corporation of New York and New England, the Fabian Circuit of New Jersey and the chain of theatres owned by Rowland and Clark in Pittsburgh.

Official announcement of the transaction was made Wednesday by the Stanley Co. The deal consumates the pool of First National theatres, the authentic story of which was printed exclusively in Motion Picture News last week.

The merger gives the Stanley Company of America an unbroken chain of theatres extending from Massachusetts through the states of New York, northern and southern New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Washington, and up to and including east and West Virginia. Negotiations are now pending to add to the Stanley circuit the chain of theatres owned and operated by Colonel Fred Levy of Louisville, Ky.

The principals in the negotiations, which were completed on May 1st, but owing to the final settlement of numerous details were not officially announced until Wednesday night, were Jules E. Mastbaum, president of the Stanley Company, Moe Mark of the Mark Strand Circuit, Jacob and A. M. Fabian of the Fabian Circuit, and James B. Clark of the Rowland and Clark interests. Messrs. Edward B. Smith and Company of New York and Philadelphia, fiscal agents of the Stanley Company of America, were represented by Clifford B. Hawley in the transaction which places these houses under the Stanley regime.

It is stated that Jacob and A. M. Fabian, Moe Mark and James B. Clark will become directors of the Stanley Company of America.

The Mark Strand theatres include the Mark Strand Theatre in New York City, Mark Strand Theatre in Brooklyn and other houses throughout New York.

The Fabian Circuit includes theatres in Newark, Elizabeth, Hackensack, East Orange, Paterson, Passaic, Orange, Pompton Lake and Ridgewood. Not one has a seating capacity of less than 2,000 and range to 3,600. The Stanley Company of America has 115 theatres located in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Washington, D. C. The Rowland-Clark Theatres of Pittsburgh number 19. Two of them are now in the course of construction.

The Crandall houses of Washington, which recently became part of the Stanley organization, also announce two new theatres being constructed; one in Baltimore, which will seat 4,000, and another in Fredericksburg, West Virginia.

Plans for the operation of the houses in the circuit call for the development of an extensive presentation circuit, with the Acme Booking Offices, through which Stanley obtains acts in New York as the center. It is reported that John McKeon will be in charge of this work. The Mark Strand on Broadway, which reports have it will be enlarged or possibly entirely rebuilt, will probably become the premier presentation house of the chain.

Gloria Swanson With United Artists

Becomes Part Owner and Will Make Two Pictures Each Year; "Personality" First

ALTHOUGH it has been an open secret for many months that Gloria Swanson would go with United Artists upon completion of her Paramount contract, formal announcement occurred only this week, when Maurice Cleary, executive head of the Swanson organization and vice-president of United Artists, stated that she had contracted to make two pictures each year, the first to be "Personality."

Under the terms of the agreement, Miss Swanson becomes an equal owner with Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks and Joseph M. Schenck, unlike some of the other independent stars releasing through United Artists, who merely head their own producing units. Miss Swanson will likewise have her own unit.

Production work on "Personality," it is announced, will be begun in the east. No details are given concerning cast, story or director, save that the story will afford the star unusual scope for varied display of her talents.

Contemplated plans provide for the assembly of an organization around Miss Swanson that will assure her of the finest artistic and technical support. She will be one of the very few women film producers.

Gloria Swanson, who becomes a member of United Artists Corporation and will produce two pictures a year for that company

The last picture under her contract with Famous Players-Lasky, "Fine Manners," is not yet complete, due to various delays in production. Miss Swanson was taken ill, and upon her return to the studio, Director Frank Tuttle was likewise stricken with influenza. Lewis Milestone and Richard Rosson, who followed him, were also taken ill, seriously delaying completion of the picture. Otherwise, it is understood, announcement of the United Artists connection would have been delayed until after "Fine Manners" was out of the way.

The rise of Gloria Swanson forms one of the most romantic and picturesque chapters in film history. Once an extra girl at Essanay, she has come far. Mack Sennett gave her an opportunity in his comedies. Cecil B. De Mille saw, in her work in one brief scene, something of her possibilities. Under his tutelage she rose rapidly. Her reputation was first based upon an exotic personality and striking costumes, but in recent years she has come to be acknowledged by the most captious critics as a dramatic actress of great power and versatility, until now she is one of the few unrivalled box-office magnets.

No date is announced for her first United Artists vehicle. Joseph M. Schenck recently stated that the U. A. schedule would not be increased beyond 16 pictures a year, and that number have already been announced for the coming year, exclusive of the Swanson pictures.

M. P. T. O. in Contract Protest to Hays

Seider and Steffes, Backed by Northwest Organization, Seek Conference on Added Clauses

(By Wire to Motion Picture News)

Minneapolis, May 5

THE Motion Picture Theatre Owners of the Northwest, at their annual convention, which was given national importance by the presence of Joseph M. Seider, Business Manager of the M. P. T. O. A., and R. F. Woodhull, President, put flatly up to Will H. Hays the question of the addition of clauses to the new Standard Exhibition Contract by certain distributors.

W. A. Steffes, President of the Northwest organization, and Mr. Seider, in complete accord on the matter, sent Mr. Hays a telegram asking him to call a meeting of the Contract Advisory Committee to decide whether such clauses, added without the approval of the exhibitors, abrogate the whole Standard Exhibition Contract.

Both Mr. Seider and Mr. Steffes insisted that the integrity of the contract must be preserved. Gabriel L. Hess, general attorney of the Hays organization, who was present at the convention, declared that additions to the contract do not interfere with standard provisions.

A hot argument ensued between Messrs. Hess and Seider, and the former was constantly heckled during his speech by a large part of the delegates present.

Sensing complete backing by his delegates, Mr. Steffes announced that the convention would pass a resolution which would take the Northwest M. P. T. O. out of arbitration proceedings on any but the unchanged standard contract unless the Advisory Committee is called to study contract additions.

Mr. Seider gave the correspondent of MOTION PICTURE NEWS the following statement on the situation:

"The stand of the Northwest is very encouraging. There was definite agreement with Mr. Hays that no clause would be added that nullified standard clauses, and that questioned clauses would be submitted to theatre owner organizations for approval.

"We want conference and arbitration to settle the present differences. Whether the added clauses do nullify standard clauses is not the main subject now but whether clauses should be referred to the Advisory Committee."

Following is the list of film companies and their added clauses, as announced by Minneapolis:

Metro Goldwyn-Mayer

1. Provides for right to distributor to pre-release or road-show at any time any of the photoplays sold to the exhibitor.
2. Provides for a schedule of exhibition dates.
3. Provides that Ben Hur, The Big Parade, La Boheme and Mare Nostrum are not included in the contract.
4. Gives the distributor the right to substitute another story with the same star and director.

Educational

1. Giving that exchange the right to accept or reject the whole or any part of the contract.

A number of distributors in New York have added a clause increasing the time from one year to 16 months in which the photoplays under contract shall be delivered and played.

Film Booking Offices

1. Increasing the time from one year to sixteen months in which the photoplays under contract shall be delivered and played.

United Artists

1. Clause providing that exhibitor shall pay for the photoplay within 14 days prior to the playing of pictures instead of three days.
2. Clause providing for guarantee and percentage.

Provision for a definite amount to be spent for advertising by the exhibitor.

Authorization to the distributor to have a representative in the box office.

Relief to the distributor in the event of an accident to an employee.

Provision for the advertising by the exhibitor of the star in a type twice as large as any other matter.

Right to the distributor to accept the particular application while rejecting a concurrent application

Pathe Exchange

1. A clause that would give the contract perpetuity unless the contract is cancelled by either party by 30 days notice.
2. A clause providing that the contract may only be accepted by the: General Manager, General Sales Manager, the Division Sales Manager and the Assistant Division Sales Managers of the Distributor (in addition to the officers of the Distributor).
3. A clause providing for percentage.
4. A clause providing for a guarantee and percentage.

Provisions for the price of admission that the exhibitor is obligated to charge and a suspension of free list.

Provisions for the purchase by the exhibitor of advertising in a specified amount.

Provisions for the exhibitor spending a specific amount for newspaper advertising.

Provisions for the featuring of Harold Lloyd in advertising.

Provisions that no other photoplay exceeding two reels shall be exhibited at the same time as the Lloyd picture.

Provisions in addition to Article 14 that the exhibitor provide that the picture shall not be advertised within a described territory. In addition to provisions of Article 22, provisions that the instruments shall be deemed an application and shall not be binding upon Pathe unless it shall be approved by the Lloyd Corporation and thereafter accepted by Pathe in the manner provided in Article 23.

It appears that this contract applies only to Harold Lloyd pictures.

Day of "Specials" Here, Says Lasky

Program Picture is on the Wane, He Declares, Citing Fifteen Paramount Roadshow Films Planned

JESSE L. LASKY, who returned from the West Coast on Sunday, stated this week in an exclusive interview that the industry has definitely entered upon an era of big productions, big in every sense of the word, and that the program picture will steadily diminish in importance, ultimately disappearing.

"This year," he said, "the Famous Players-Lasky schedule calls for no fewer than 15 pictures of roadshow possibilities, the greatest number we have ever planned. Each year, I believe, will see a gradual increase in the number of special productions, with fewer so-called program pictures, until the latter practically disappears.

"The spirit of big things is in the very air of Hollywood. Pictures which a few years ago would have been deemed beyond the scope of the industry are now being made almost as a matter of course. Every picture worker in Hollywood seems to have caught a new vision of the possibilities of the screen art."

Mr. Lasky enthusiastically cited "Beau Geste" as a typical instance of the ambitious way in which production is being handled. Shooting has been completed and the negative is now at the Long Island studio for final assembly and editing. A company of 2,000 men was taken to the location, 35 miles from Yuma, Arizona, where the Sahara desert scenes were taken, and a virtual city erected for their accommodation, including shelter, water supply, meals, and so on.

"I saw 'Beau Geste' in its roughly assembled form just before leaving the Coast, and I can confidently predict that it will create a sensation. The treatment of the novel has been closely followed. The opening sequence of the picture is a complete mystery and remains so until near the end of the picture—something new in the screen version of a mystery story and a distinct departure in specials.

"At the opening of the story a detachment of the Foreign Legion is riding toward a fort in the desert. They signal the fort but receive no answer. The major approaches and take one of the men on the wall to task for this negligence, only to halt when he discovers that all of the men in the fort are dead at their posts. A drummer finally volunteers to enter the fort. He scales the wall—and is never seen again. The major orders his men to enter the fort and camp for the night. They refuse and are on the point of mutiny when the fort suddenly goes up in flames. How were all the men in the fort killed at their posts without any sign of a struggle? What happened to the drummer? Why did the fort burst into flames with no living person inside? The story then switches back to England, years before, and takes up the beginning thread, ending with the episode whch destroys the fort and explaining the mystery. Those who read the book will not be disappointed in the manner in which it has been screened, while those who did not will find it an intriguing and enjoyable picture, as well as a novelty in elaborate productions.

Jesse L. Lasky

"Another picture which is coming along rapidly and from which much can be safely expected is "Old Ironsides." I saw two-thirds of it before leaving the Coast, and James Cruze will finish it this month. Wallace Beery and George Bancroft, as a gunner and a mate, give performances in this picture that will become classic.

"When I left, preparations were virtually completed for 'The Rough Riders.' The man to play Roosevelt has been found, and the likeness is so perfect as to be uncanny. He is not an actor and has never been on the screen. His name will not be announced, either in the publicity and advertising or on the screen. Consequently, audiences will think of him only as Roosevelt, and not as an actor portraying Roosevelt.

"Erich von Stroheim will start soon on his first Paramount picture, 'The Wedding March.' Never has he planned a picture so carefully.

"Another picture of decided roadshow calibre, soon to get under way on the West Coast, is 'Wings,' which will be a thrilling story of the American air force. Written by John Monk Saunders, an aviator in the great war, it will be directed by William Wellman, himself a member of the immortal Lafayette Escadrille. The picture will be 12 reels in length, part of which will be photographed abroad, and it will do for the air force what 'The Big Parade,' has done for the doughboy.

"Immediately upon returning to New York I looked at the scenes taken by D. W. Griffith for 'The Sorrows of Satan.' Never have I seen such beauty and stirring drama on the screen as he has brought out in this picture, which will disclose to the world a new Griffith.

"Likewise of undisputed roadshow possibilities is the production of Florenz Ziegfeld's 'Glorifying the American Girl,' soon to be started in the East. Mr. Ziegfeld has been in charge of preparations and will personally supervise the filming, which will be under the direction of Edwin Sutherland. Much of it will be in technicolor and the story is unique. Next fall this production will carry into every city and town of the world the beauty and romance which have made the Ziegfeld Follies famous."

Newspapers Will Support "Movie Season"

Greater Cooperation Than Last Year Indicated by Report From Head of Advertising Clubs

THAT Greater Movie Season of 1926 will be welcomed by the newspapers of the country and will receive their wholehearted support, has been emphatically indicated in a communication to Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, sponsors of the campaign, from C. K. Woodbridge, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

Mr. Woodbridge conducted a survey through 330 clubs which make up his membership in the United States, and through them has learned that the newspapers, large and small, had found that the 1925 campaign substantially increased their business as well as the business of the theatre owners, and that these publications are prepared to participate in forwarding the movement this year.

In his letter to Mr. Hays the Ad Club president wrote: "Reports have come to me that the Greater Movie Season inaugurated by your organization last year was a great success and most effective in focusing upon the minds of the public the efforts of the motion picture producers to improve the quality and character of the films. This is indeed worth while and you have our very best wishes for a still larger success in your undertaking this current year."

The president of the Advertising Clubs quoted extracts from advertising managers of newspapers in states scattered throughout the country in which they expressed their gratification at the result obtained during the last Greater Movie Season campaign and voicing their endorsement of the drive which is to be made during the month of August.

Columbia Nationalization Completed

"Means Absolute Guarantee of Stability and Performance of All Contracts; Up to Exhibitors Now," Says Joe Brandt

WITH the announcement this week by Joe Brandt, president of Columbia Pictures Corporation, that the nationalization plan of that company is now 98 per cent. complete, with only one 2 per cent. territory to be closed and that pending, another national distributing organization enters the field. Never again will the expression "state rights" be used in connection with Columbia. With the dropping of the original name, "C. B. C.," this firm during recent years has been steadily working toward an exchange system which would retain the flexibility of independent organization and local ownership interest and also bring in the advantages of unified national control, uniform release dates and assured financial responsibility.

That ideal, Brandt believes, has been realized in the group of exchanges now mobilized under the Columbia banner.

"Everything now depends on the exhibitor," he said, this week. "In the past, exhibitors who might have given a fair portion of their play dates to independent concerns have been held back by the fear that the pictures promised might not be delivered—and in many cases there have been excellent grounds for those fears. Columbia has always made good on its promises—we have produced every picture announced—but for the coming year we wanted a form of organization that would absolutely guarantee the fulfillment of all our contracts.

"The independent exchanges lined up under the new nationalization plan represent in practically every instance the strongest firms financially in their particular territories. They are reliably and absolutely capable of carrying out their share of the bargain.

"Even assuming the very worst, however, our contract provides that should any one of these exchanges become financially incapable of continuing in business we are to step in and carry on the operation of the exchange to fulfill each and every contract made with an exhibitor.

"Under the new plan, we will have just as full and complete control over the sale of Columbia product as any other national distributor has over his. Not one of these exchanges can use Columbia pictures as a club to force the exhibitor to take a lot of inferior 'junk' films. These exchanges, in fact, have had to agree not to handle such product at all. Some of them are changing the name of the exchange to 'Columbia,' and in every case the Columbia product will be the backbone of their program.

"For the first time, our pictures will all be sold on the Standard Exhibition Contract, printed as a Columbia contract with the titles listed for the coming season's program. This means absolute uniformity in contracts.

"The exchanges have entered into this plan enthusiastically, realizing that by bringing about a stable, national selling plan and control, their own position is greatly strengthened. It is quite possible that within a reasonable length of time all these exchanges will come under one parent corporation, but that is a matter still to be considered.

"At any rate, we are now more than ever in a position to guarantee delivery of everything we promise, and we have always made good on our promises. With a group of strong, financially sound exchanges, working in harmony with each other and us, with our own studios—purchased as a further assurance of stability and as proof that we would keep our promises—we have every resource necessary, every resource that any national distributor possesses. Making all of our own product, we do not need to worry about producers whose finances do not materialize.

"We have the stories, based on famous books and plays, we have the stars contracted for—everything necessary, including the producing and selling organizations. If exhibitors want bigger productions or bigger stars, it is purely a matter of co-operation—we will give them whatever they will pay for."

In New York City, Samuel Zierler has secured the franchise for his Commonwealth Film Corporation, covering Greater New York and Northern New Jersey. There is no need to comment on Mr. Zierler and his many years of experience

Members of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers, meeting in Washington, D. C., on the tenth anniversary of the society's founding, photographed with President in the distributing end of the industry. Abe Montague and Joseph A. McConville of Independent Films, Inc., two of the ablest men in tthe field, are again handling Columbia Pictures in the New England territory. They have offices at 10 Piedmont Street, Boston, and 134 Meadow Street, New Haven. Maurice Chase, a veteran in the sales field, with offices at 678 Broadway, Albany, and 505 Pearl Street, Buffalo, will handle Northern New York through Chase Pictures Corporation.

Louis Berman, whose progressiveness has placed him in the forefront of Eastern Pennsylvania distributors, secured the franchise for Eastern Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and District of Columbia. Mr. Berman's exchanges will be known as Columbia Pictures Exchanges with offices at 1319 Vine Street, Philadelphia and 916 G Street, N. W., Washington.

The Premier Film Exchanges associated with the A. H. Blank Enterprises, will be the franchise holders for Iowa and Nebraska with offices at 1005 High Street, Des Moines and 1511 Chicago Street, Omaha. Henri Ellman is associated with Cooney Brothers of Chicago and operates the Capitol Film Exchanges which have been handling Columbia Pictures, with offices at 738 South Wabash Avenue, Chicago, and 146 West Vermont Street, Indianapolis, for distribution in Northern Illinois and the State of Indiana. Ellman has opened an exchange at 1016 Forbes Street, Pittsburgh, to handle the Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia territory.

Barney Rosenthal, who, in association with Robert Taylor, operates Columbia Pictures Corporation at 3317 Olive Street, St. Louis, will again distribute Columbia Pictures in Southern Illinois and Eastern Missouri. Celebrated Players Film Corporation, 713 Wells Street, Milwaukee, the distributing organization of which Jack Grauman is President, has secured the franchise for the State of Wisconsin. E. C. Rhoden, of Midwest Film Distributors, 130 West 18th Street, Kansas City, a man who has earned a high reputation, will concentrate on Columbia Pictures for the Kansas and West Missouri territory.

William N. Skirboll, one of the most dependable distributors in Ohio, will be an exclusive franchise holder for Columbia Pictures, with offices in Cleveland and Cincinnati, for the state of Ohio. That strong trio, E. V. Richards, Morris Ashe and Oscar Oldknow, through Liberty Film Distributing Corporation, will handle the franchise for the entire South exclusive of Tennessee, with offices at 111 Walton Street, Atlanta, Georgia; 223 South Liberty Street, New Orleans, Louisiana; 2009 Jackson Street, Dallas, Texas, and 223 West 4th Street, Charlotte, North Carolina.

Another strong link in the chain of Columbia Pictures franchise holders, is Lee Goldberg of Big Features Rights, 221 South Third Street, Louisville, who will distribute throughout Kentucky and Tennessee. T. M. Witman with offices in the Joseph Mack Building, Detroit, has formed the Columbia Pictures Corporation of Michigan. He will distribute Columbia Pictures exclusively through this exchange in the State of Michigan.

In the Northwest, Jack Lannon, President of Greater Features, Incorporated, whose friends among exhibitors are legion, with offices in Seattle, Butte and Portland, will continue, as in previous years, to distribute Columbia product in Oregon, Washington, Alaska, Montana and Northern Idaho. The Denver and Salt Lake offices of Greater Features which are now owned by J. T. Sheffield, a man of integrity and stability, will distribute in Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico, Utah and Southern Idaho. Louis Heyman of All Star Feature Distributors, a formidable organization with offices at 209 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco, and 915 South Olive Street, Los Angeles, will distribute in California, Arizona and Nevada.

M. P. Baseball League to Launch Its Season

THE Motion Picture Baseball League will open its season May 15th and May 22d, with four teams playing double-headers at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, and four at the Polo Grounds, New York, on the respective dates.

The first contests at Ebbets Field are: Warners Bros. vs. First National and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer vs. Fox. The teams wich will play at the Polo Grounds are Pathe vs. Paramount and Universal vs. (to be chosen).

A. G. Spalding and Bros. have put up a trophy for the league winners and Will Hays has promised to be on hand for the Polo Grounds game on May 22d. The officers of the league are as follows: President, W. S. McIlvain, F. P.-L.; vice president, Paul Cohen, M-G-M; secretary, George Ronan, Pathe; treasurer, J. W. Kelly, F. N., and publicity, John Level, Pathe.

Daylight Saving Unfavorable to Exhibitors

Someone has figured out that the cities in New York State which have adopted daylight saving have a population of 7,150,000. The new time means a tremendous loss to the theatres in these cities, according to exhibitors.

Calvin Coolidge at the White House. At the President's right is C. Francis Jenkins, founder of the society, and at his left is W. B. Cook, president of the S. M. P. E.

Exhibitors of Washington, D. C., territory and Paramount representatives in session at the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D. C.

City officials, prominent exhibitors and Paramount Representatives at Pittsburgh meeting

Exhibitors and Members of Para Regional

Approximately two thousand exhibitors attended meetings held recently by Paramount in thirty-six cities of the country. These one-day sessions brought together theatre owners, home office representatives of Famous Players-Lasky, district and branch managers, exploitation men and salesmen.. The meetings were brought about for the purpose of analyzing the Paramount fifteenth anniversary group of pictures.

Cities in which these conventions were held include New Haven, Portland, Me.;

Paramount sales officials and exhibitors of eastern Pennsylvania and southern New Jersey in convention at Philadelphia

Representatives of Paramount and exhibitors gathered at St. Louis

mount Sales Force Assembled at Conventions

Boston, New York, Brooklyn, New Jersey, Washington, Philadelphia, Wilkes-Barre, Albany, Buffalo, Charlotte, Memphis, Atlanta, Jacksonville, Columbus, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Louisville, Milwaukee, Chicago, Peoria, Detroit, Kansas City, St. Louis, Des Moines, Omaha, Salt Lake City, Denver, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Portland, Seattle, Minneapolis, Sioux Falls, New Orleans, San Antonio, Dallas, Oklahoma City.

Another group of exhibitors and Paramount officials at Pittsburgh

The Paramount-Exhibitor meeting in San Francisco brought out a large attendance

Predicts $8,000,000 Year for Loew's

Earnings Equal to $7.50 a Share Expected, Marcus Loew Says in Interview Before Sailing for Europe

ACCORDING to expectations expressed by Marcus Loew in an interview in the Wall Street Journal before his sailing for Europe last week, Loew's Inc. will earn about $8,000,000 or approximately $7.50 a share, next year.

"Next year should be a big year with us, and the year following should be even larger," the interview quotes him as saying. "'Ben Hur' cost $8,000,000, but I expect to get that out of it. It will prove popular abroad. 'The Big Parade,' which cost us a great deal less than 'Ben Hur,' should give us a net about the same as 'Ben Hur' or around $8,000,000.

"We own outright around 100 theatres," the interview continues, "and we are now building 20 theatres with a seating capacity of between 50,000 and 60,000 people. We have about 25 theatres abroad.

"In all our 20 years of business we have only had five or six losing weeks. Two of these weeks were the result of the influenza epidemic and two were the result of an extremely hot spell that we had during one of the summers. The biggest losing week that we had cost us $6,000 from all our theatres combined.

"Including the money that we have just derived from the sale of our debentures, we now have around $20,000,000 in cash. As the company prospers, we intend to be more liberal in the matter of dividends, but increases will always be in the form of extras, because I do not intend to increase the $2 rate.

"Our real estate holdings are carried in our books at less than cost, because heavy depreciation charges have been written off. We intend to make a revaluation of our real estate holdings and put them more nearly up to their present market value."

A gross income of $33,624,443.30 is shown in the operating issued this week by Loew's Inc., and subsidiary corporations, covering the 28 weeks period ending March 14 last. Operating expenses totaled $27,326,623.38, the statement also indicating that dividends paid on M-G-M preferred stock amounted to $155,077.

The net profit for 28 weeks ending March 14 is given as $3,651,753. The consolidated balance sheet shows that Loew theatres paid out $55,713.71 in admission taxes during the period. Property 100 per cent. owned is valued at $31,521,173.64. The surplus, March 14, was $8,417,023.49.

Warner Bros. to Make Nine Specials

New Device for Synchronizing Musical Score with Production to be Applied to Each; Additions to Warner Winners

IN addition to the twenty-six Warner Winners announced for the coming season at the Warner Brothers convention held recently, announcement was made this week by Harry M. Warner that nine special productions will be made in addition to those already scheduled. In each of the special productions will be incorporated the new device recently perfected by the Western Electric Company and the Warners which synchronizes the musical score with the production.

Each of the productions, which, it is said, will be the biggest ever made by the Warners, will be sold individually on its merits. The pictures announced are as follows: "Don Juan" and "Manon Lescaut," in which John Barrymore will be starred; three from Syd Chaplin, the first of which will be "The Better 'Ole," two Lubitsch specials as yet untitled, "Black Ivory," the Polan Banks story, and "Noah's Ark," which, it is reported, will be made on a stupendous scale. It is said a great sum of money will be spent on these specials.

Two of the specials "Don Juan," the Barrymore vehicle, and "The Better 'Ole," the Syd Chaplin picture, are to have Broadway showings within the next few months as well as a third which, as yet, has not been announced. These three will, of course, be accompanied by the new synchronization device. Production on "Don Juan" has been completed and "The Better 'Ole" is at an advanced stage in filming.

"Don Juan," the new Barrymore picture, is even more elaborately produced than was "The Sea Beast" and it is claimed Barrymore never has done better work than as the amorous adventurer of Lord Byron's famous poem. Besides his love-making scenes, he also indulges in a sword fight. Beautiful women also dominate the production, which has massive sets and marvelous photography.

Barrymore will have as his leading lady Mary Astor, with a supporting cast which includes, Willard Louis, Estelle Taylor (Mrs. Jack Dempsey), Jane Winton, John Roche, June Marlowe, Helene Costello, Myrna Loy, Yvonne Day, Phillips De Lacey, John George, Helena D'Algy, Warner Oland, Montagu Love, Josef Swickard, Phyllis Haver, Lionel Brahm, Nigel De Brulier, Helen Lee Worthing, Hedda

(Continued on page 2345)

Grainger Expands Fox Exchange System

New Offices to Open at Portland, Ore., and Des Moines, With Others to Follow at Strategic Points

FURTHER expansion of the Fox distribution system was announced this week by James R. Grainger, general sales manager.

During the last six months Mr. Grainger has opened new branch offices at Milwaukee and Memphis and has completely remodeled the systematized six others. He now announces that within the next ninety days he will put two more distribution centers in operation at Portland, Ore., and Des Moines, Iowa.

This will give the Fox organization 37 distributing branches in North America—31 in the United States and six in Canada.

The exchanges in Portland and Des Moines are not the only ones contemplated by Mr. Grainger. Others are planned at strategic points throughout the country.

Each Fox office is systematized on a general plan devised by Mr. Grainger, who visits the various key cities from time to time to see that the system is kept "well oiled."

There are now six district managers in the major sales territories of this country, one Canadian district manager and six branch office managers in the larger Canadian cities.

Lou B. Remy is the Southern district manager, with headquarters at Dallas, supervising Atlanta, New Orleans, Dallas, Oklahoma City, Memphis, Omaha, Kansas City and Jacksonville, Fla., when the latter office opens.

G. W. Fuller is in charge of the headquarters at Washington and supervises Charlotte and Pittsburgh distribution as well. District Manager Clyde W. Eckhardt has charge of the headquarters at Chicago, to which Milwaukee, Minneapolis and Indianapolis are linked.

H. J. Sheehan is in charge of the West Coast Headquarters at San Francisco; Harry F. Campbell is district manager for New England, with headquarters in Boston, and Ira H. Cohen of the home office has been temporarily assigned to Cincinnati.

First National executives, producers and stars. Left to right: Max Balaban, Al Rockett, Balboni, June Mathis, Richard A. Rowland, Milton Sills, Mrs. Florence Strauss, Spyros Skouras and Ray Rockett

Latest styles in sombreros as modeled by the First National sales force. In the group is Mrs. D. H. Bogart, Los Angeles booker, and on her immediate left is N. H. Brower, Los Angeles manager

Left to right: Ned Marin, Samuel Spring, Robert Lieber, Ned Depinet and Harry Nolan

Executives and Sales Force of First National Pictures in Convention

Practically all the executives of First National Pictures and more than three hundred delegates including supervisors, branch managers, bookers and salesmen attended the First National sales convention which was held at the Drake Hotel, Chicago, April 26-30. The leadership of Robert Lieber, who is starting his tenth year as president of the company, struck the keynote of the enthusiastic sessions.

First National executives and sales force at banquet in Drake Hotel. Executives may be seen at the speakers' table in the rear

Producers ad executives of Producers Distributing Corporatioon who attended the national convention held in Los Angeles. Left to right, top row. William Vogel. F. C. Munroe, Cecil B. De Mille and W. J. Morgan. Bottom row: Al Christie, William Sistrom, Carroll S. Trowbridge and Charles Christie

Star Values Keynote of P. D. C. Meet

International Convention of Producers Distributing Corporation in Session at Hotel Ambassador, Los Angeles

AFTER being welcomed by committees and a bevy or embryo motion picture stars, the first International convention of Producers Distributing Corporation got under way at the Hotel Ambassador, Los Angeles, on Monday of this week.

Monday evening an informal reception was held at the Christie Studio where, after meeting the Christie comedy stars and after inspection of the big mirth-producing plant, the delegates viewed Al Christie's new feature "Up in Mabel's Room" which has just been completed with Marie Prevost in the stellar role.

Tuesday morning and afternoon were devoted to an inspection of the De Mille and Metropolitan Studios where De Mille and William Sistrom acted in the dual capacity of host and guide in showing the delegates how the new 1926-27 pictures are being made with the most modern equipment and the latest technical devices.

On Tuesday evening the delegates, divided into two divisions, witnessed public previews of "Silence" featuring H. B. Warner and Vera Reynolds, and "The Unknown Soldier" with Marguerite De La Motte and Charles Emmett Mack; two of the current season's releases which have just been completed.

Presided over by F. C. Munroe, president of the company, the business sessions of the convention were formally opened on Wednesday morning. Cecil De Mille, Al Christie, William Sistrom and W. J. Morgan were the speakers of the day and the morning session was devoted to discussions of what had been accomplished during the past year both in production activities and selling efforts.

In the afternoon the executives listened while the Division and Branch Managers explained the business conditions existing at the present time in their respective territories. In these talks the managers from the field reviewed theatre contracts and the public reaction to each type of production released during the past year and the estimated drawing power, in their territories, of each present day star and leading player.

Florida "Padlock Squad" Stops Sunday Shows

THE police of St. Petersburg, Florida, organized a "padlock squad," to close up the theatres on Sunday. An ordinance was passed in this city prohibiting the showing of motion pictures on Sunday, but the managers refused to recognize it, opened their houses, paid their fines and are carrying the matter to the Supreme Court. However, they seemed to get wind of the proposed "padlock squad" and when the police arrived they found the houses closed, though there were crowds waiting at several of the houses.

This review of star values was listened to with eager interest by the producers as first hand information of inestimable value in casting pictures for the coming season.

Wednesday evening an elaborate banquet was held in the grand ballroom of the Ambassador Hotel at which Al Christie formally introduced William Sistrom, general manager of the De Mille and Metropolitan Studios, and Sistrom in turn introduced the directors, supervisors and writers engaged on the pictures to be released during the 1926-27 season.

Cecil De Mille then introduced the De Mille and Metropolitan stars and featured players. The orchestra for the evening was composed entirely of musicians from the studio under the direction of Rudolph Berliner, musical director for Cecil De Mille. Theodore Kosloff entertained with a troupe of exotic dancers and a typical De Mille fashion show was staged by a company of twenty young aspirants for screen honors.

Between the theatrical numbers on the bill, Barrett Kiesling, acting as toastmaster, called on the executives and players for brief speeches. The tenor of these speeches were expressions of appreciation for the efforts of the sales force, voiced by the players, and remarks of gratification over the work of the players expressed by the P. D. C. executives and the men from the field.

Thursday's session of the convention was devoted entirely to the official announcement of the 1926-27 program by Cecil De Mille and a detailed review of the big production plans that have been made for the filming of the forty-one subjects on the new production schedule.

Few Charters Applied for in Albany

Newly incorporated motion picture companies, chartered by the secretary of state in Albany, N. Y., during the past week, included the following: Solroc Pictures, Inc., capitalization not specified, Mollie Salit, Bessie Brandel, Anne Eichel, New York City; Covent Theatre Corporation, $150,000, Earl House, Frederic W. and L. Sanford Procter, New York City; Amusement Pictures Corporation, capitalization not specified, Jacques Kopfstein, Lon Young and L. P. Randell, New York City.

A. E. Re-organized; 80 Features Set

Convention Dates Announced; Program Lined Up for Year; P. A. Powers Withdraws, is Understanding

CO-INCIDENT with the announcement this week by Associated Exhibitors of the releases for the coming year and of the dates and places of the sales conferences, it became known that a reorganizing and strengthening of the company's financial affairs had been effected. P. A. Powers has withdrawn as chairman of the board of directors, it is understood, and the Central Union Trust Company figures importantly in the new financial arrangements. Oscar Price remains as president and the personnel otherwise is expected to remain unchanged.

Announcement of the sales conferences was made by E. J. Smith, general sales manager.

So that the sales conferences will not interfere with the selling campaign now in progress, each division will stage a sectional conference for salesmen associated with exchanges grouped together in a particular territory. Each of these divisional meetings will be presided over by General Sales Manager Smith. All salesmen, branch managers, and district managers of each division, will assemble in the city specified as the meeting place for their particular district and in addition to acquainting themselves with forthcoming A. E. product, will discuss local problems with the heads of their organization.

The personnel of the Southern Division exchanges will gather in New Orleans; the Central and Western forces will assemble in Chicago; Los Angeles is the convention seat for those affiliated with the Pacific Coast; and the Eastern Division meets in New York. Oscar A. Price, President of Associated Exhibitors, Inc., will preside at the Eastern convention. Robert E. Welsh, director of advertising and publicity, will also be in attendance at this conference, as will Carl J. Goe, Assistant General Sales Manager.

Owing to the fact that Mr. Smith will attend conferences at New York, Chicago, New Orleans, and Los Angeles, it was necessary to hold each divisional conference on a subsequent date. New York commences May 23rd, at the Biltmore Hotel; Chicago May 27, at the Drake Hotel; New Orleans May 30th, at the Roosevelt Hotel; Los Angeles June 4th, at the Ambassador Hotel. The Los Angeles conference will take place while the M. P. T. O. A. is in convention there.

Among the producers who will contribute to the A. E. line-up are John Gorman, S. S. Hutchinson, Paul J. Brady, Max Graf, Lewis Moomaw, H. C. Weaver, Lester F. Scott, Van Pelt Bros., Abe Carlos, etc.

Each production on the A. E. list will be of first-run calibre and with the exception of the 32 pictures in the "whiz bang" action series, will be released in groups of twelve. The first twelve are:

"Flames"—Eugene O'Brien, Virginia Valli, Jean Hersholt. Spectacular forest fire melodrama produced by Lewis H. Moomaw in Oregon; "Lord Hokum"—Edward Everett Horton and Dorothy Devore heading a strong cast. An S. S. Hutchinson Production; "Code of the Northwest"—Sandow, the international police dog in a Mount Police thriller. Jack Richardson, Bill Franey, Tom London, and a strong supporting cast; "Grandma's Boy"—Harold Lloyd comedy re-issued; "Finnegan's Ball"—First of a series of Max Graf comedy specials. Charles Murray probably starred; "Home Sweet Home"—Vola Vale, Charles Emmett Mack, Huntly Gordon, Myrtle Steadman included in the cast. A John Gorman Production; "The Totem Pole Lady"—Tentative title—Wanda Hawley, Anne Cornwall, Gareth Hughes, Tom Santschi, Dan Mason, Violet Palmer in the cast. An H. C. Weaver Production; "The Power of the Weak"—To be made by producers of "Headlines." Title tentative; "Call of the Wilderness"—Second of the Sandow, police dog, features; "The Raw Country"—An H. C. Weaver Production; Second Graf Comedy Special—A surprise comedy drama of the same type as "Finnegan's Ball"; "The Fangs of Alaska"—Third in the series of Sandow, police dog.

The following pictures comprise the second twelve:

"Come-On Charley"—Edward Everett Horton and Dorothy Devore. An S. S. Hutchinson comedy production; Two Graf Comedy Specials—Well known and remembered hits of the American stage of the "Finnegan's Ball" type; "A Broadway Drifter"—Cast and production by John Gorman; "Lure of the Yukon"—An H. C. Weaver production; "Sailor Made Man"—A Lloyd revival; "The Vanishing Breed"—Sandow, the police dog, with a strong surrounding cast; "The Haunted Lady"—Paul J. Brady Production from novel by Adela Rogers St. Johns; "Speedy Eddy"—Tentative title. Edward Everett Horton and Dorothy Devore in an S. S. Hutchinson comedy; "The Voice of His Mate"—Sandow, the police dog; "Lost at Sea"—The surprise special of the year. Cast and producer to be announced; "Behind the Lines"—the most ambitious production in the list starring Sandow, world's greatest police dog.

Negotiations are in progress on features which will add many pictures to those listed above, but on which information cannot be divulged at this time. Several "specials" will also be on the A. E. schedule, on which complete details will shortly be forth coming.

In the field of "action" pictures Associated Exhibitors, Inc., present a rostrum of stars which place that organization in a strong contractual position. A total of thirty-two of these "bread-and-butter" pictures are included in the "Whiz-Bang" group.

Bill Cody will make six features for Action Pictures, Inc. He will appear in "The Galloping Cowboy," "Flashing Heels," "Lawless Valley," "The Arizona Whirlwind," "The Phantom Ranger," "The Border Thunderbolt."

Lester F. Scott's trio of western stars—Buffalo Bill, Jr., Wally Wales and Buddy Roosevelt, will make a total of eighteen pictures for Associated release, titled as follows:

Buffalo Bill, Jr., "Rawhide," "Blazing Courage" (tentative), "The Wildcat Kid" (tentative), "Ride 'Em Rough" (tentative), "Cyclone Sam" (tentative), "Cowboy Grit" (tentative).

Buddy Roosevelt, "The Dangerous Dub," "The Flaming Fury" (tentative), "The Riddle Ranch" (tentative), "The Outlaw Broncho" (tentative), "The Two-Gun Terror" (tentative), "The Rip Roaring Rider" (tentative).

Wally Wales, "Twisted Triggers," "Tornado Jones" (tentative), "Against The Wall" (tentative), "Bull Dog Luck" (tentative), "The Bandit Buster" (tentative), "The Walloping Wildcat" (tentative).

Eight pictures in the "action" group wil be made by Abe Carlos with the screen aviator, Al Wilson, starring. Titles are "The Flying Mail," "The Sky Peril," "King of the Air," "No Speed Limit," "The Phantom Flyer," "Bandits of the Air," "Sky High," and "The Flying Fool."

Large Attendance at Fox Conventions

THE six regional conventions of the Fox Films sales forces from 25 exchange centers throughout the country were well attended. Personal pledges were made by the men to the officials present that there would be "100 per cent. cooperation to make the 1926-27 season Fox greatest."

At the New York convention held at Hotel Astor James R. Grainger and Fred C. Quimby presided with exchange men present from Albany, New Haven, New York and Philadelphia. At the Washington conference held at the Hotel Washington with George W. Fuller at the helm, representatives from Charlotte, Pittsburgh and Washington were in attendance. The Chicago meeting had the following cities in attendance: Indianapolis, Milwaukee and Minneapolis.

E. C. Grainger was in charge of the Cleveland meet at the Statler Hotel at which were present Buffalo, Cleveland and Cincinnati salesmen. Officials from Kansas City, Omaha and St. Louis were present at the Hotel Muelbach assembly in pansas City.

Lou Remy supervised the Memphis convention at which Atlanta, Dallas, Memphis and New Orleans delegates were in evidence.

Saxe Bidding for Garden in Milwaukee

Having opened the Tower, the latest addition to their chain, the Saxe Enterprises are endeavoring to purchase the Garden, in Milwaukee, from the Uihleins. If this deal goes into effect it will mean the elimination of the Uihleins from the local field with Saxe and Universal holding sway. Universal has one house in this city, the Alhambra, which they leased from the Uihlein interests.

MACKAY ZONE LAW, BACKED BY EXHIBITORS, PASSES NEW JERSEY LEGISLATURE

PASSAGE of the Mackay zoning law by the New Jersey State Legislature was hailed as an important step toward the solution of unjust encroachment and overbuilding of theatres in localities already adequately served, by members of the board of directors of the New Jersey unit of the M. P. T. O. A. at their meeting, held in Atlantic City, April 30, with Joseph M. Seider, president of the body, presiding.

The Mackay Law provides that "The Legislature may enact laws under which muncipalities, other than counties, may adopt zoning ordinances limiting and restricting to specified districts, and regulating therein, buildings and structures, according to their construction, and the nature and extent of their use, and the exercise of such authority shall be deemed to be within the police power of the State."

Prompted by President Seider in his capacity as business manager of the National Organization the directors went on record as unanimously opposed to signing contracts with any added clauses until such contracts are approved by National Headquarters. This makes New Jersey the third state to take this action —Arkansas and Western Pennsylvania having preceded in this stand.

A committee was appointed to investigate a lighting condition which at various times has darkened various New Jersey houses for as long as eight hours. The committee was instructed to visit every electric lighting company in the state in a campaign to have double main lines conduct current to all theatre owner subscribers.

Form New Booking Combine

Missouri-Illinois Exhibitors Launch Move at St. Louis Convention—Take Immediate Action

A MOVE to bring 863 exhibitors of the territory into a booking combination was launched at the annual convention of the Missouri-Illinois M. P. T. O. held in St. Louis on Tuesday, April 27. The convention voted unanimously in favor of the plan, as a means of combatting aggressions by any national distribution organization seeking to plant rival theatres in districts already adequately served by existing motion picture houses.

The plan will be put into immediate effect and Fred H. Wehrenberg, of St. Louis, who was elected president of the organization, will appoint a field man to thoroughly organize the exhibitors of the territory. An effort will also be made to bring the membership to 100 per cent. of the exhibitors eligible to membership.

Officers elected to serve for the year are: President, Fred Wehrenberg, St. Louis, Mo.; vice-presidents, W. W. Watts, Springfield, Ill.; I. W. Rodgers, Cairo, Ill.; John F. Rees, Wellsville, Mo.; J. C. Hewitt, Robinson, Ill.; and Charley Goodnight, De Soto, Mo.; secretary, L. C. Hehl, St. Louis, Mo.; treasurer, Oscar C. Lehr, St. Louis, Mo., and sergeant-at-arms, G. M. Luttrell, Jacksonville, Ill. Executive committee:—Joseph Mogler, St. Louis, chairman; W. O. Reeves, St. Louis; J. C. Hewitt, Robinson, Ill.; T. E. Yemm, Duquoin, Ill.; W. W. Watts, Springfield, Ill.; Lee A. Bernstein, Springfield, Ill.; Charley Goldman, St. Louis; Maurice Stahl, St. Louis; I. W. Rodgers, Cairo, Ill., and Hecter M. E. Pasmezoglu, St. Louis, Mo.

An innovation was taken in the selection of the exhibitors members of the St. Louis district board of arbitration. This year for the first time two alternate members of this board were named so that at all times there will be three exhibitors available for the board. The regular members will be Oscar C. Lehr, St. Louis; W. O. Reeves, St. Louis, and Clarence Kaiman, St. Louis, and the alternates: Fred Wehrenberg and Joe Mogler. It has been customary to select St. Louis men for the board as it is too inconvenient for out-of-town members to come to St. Louis when the board meets.

Name Delegates to Convention

Jersey and Eastern Missouri-Southern Illinois Elect Representatives for Los Angeles Meeting

NATIONAL headquarters of the M. P. T. O. A. this week received word from the New Jersey and Eastern Missouri-Southern Illinois units that those bodies had elected delegates to the National Convention of the oganization to be held in Los Angeles June 1, 2, 3, 4, 5.

The New Jersey representatives will be headed by Joseph M. Seider, president of the unit and business manager of the national organization, and will include Messrs. Woodhull, Rosenblatt, Kelly, Fox, Austin, Adams, Stiefel, Samuelson and Lisker.

The men designated as delegates by the Eastern Missouri and Southern Illinois body are the Messrs. Wehrenberg, Rodgers, Kerosates, Pasmezoglu, Luttral, Goldman, Yemm, Drake, Watts, Hehl, Laventhal, Bumstein, James, Horvich, Efthim and Cluster.

Headquarters has received a check for $1,500 from the Western Pennsylvania unit, the amount completing that organization's full quota of $4,000, which represents every theatre owner in that territory as a 100 per cent. member of the National body. It was reported from Milwaukee that the M. P. T. O. members there will go to Los Angeles in a solid unit. Their schedule calls for their leaving Milwaukee on May 24.

American Films Scored in Australia During 1925

During 1925, 1,763 films were imported into Australia, according to a report to the Department of Commerce by Trade Commissioner E. G. Babbitt, Sydney. The total importation for all copies was 24,021,708 feet, and the total value involved was £181,678.

United States' film easily lead all others in this trade, and during the year under review, supplied 95 per cent. of the total imports.

Censors passed unconditionally 1,324 films during the year, approved 371 after some slight eliminations had been made, and rejected 68. They were concerned principally with feature or dramatic films, and of the 721 of that nature imported, 674 came from the United States, and 25 from Great Britain.

In addition to inspecting the films, the censors examined advertising matter, which accompanied them. Most of that matter came from the United States and in general it could be said that the American producer or exporter left little in the way of advertising to the imagination of his foreign clients.

U. S. Takes Greater Bulk of German Film Output

The total German production of motion picture raw film last year was about 120 million meters as compared with 40 to 50 million meters in 1921 and 1922, and 75 per cent. of that 1925 output was exported, according to a report to the Department of Commerce from Assistant Commercial Attache Douglas Miller, Berlin.

The official German foreign trade figures how total exports of negative film last year to have been 56,747,300 meters, valued at 11,253,000 marks, of which amount 30,032,400 meters were sent to the United States. Exports of positive film in 1925 were 4,215,200 meters, valued at 1,071,000 marks.

Germany's exports of exposed negatives in the same year were 93.000 meters valued at 123,000 marks; of this amount 34,700 meters or more than one-third went to the United States. Imports of negative film in the same year were 821,500 meters, valued at 157,000 marks.

London F. P. L. Executive Dies Suddenly

Saul Harrison, assistant manager of the Paramount sales organizaton in London, England, died suddenly in London on Sunday, May 2nd, following an operation on an ulcerated stomach.

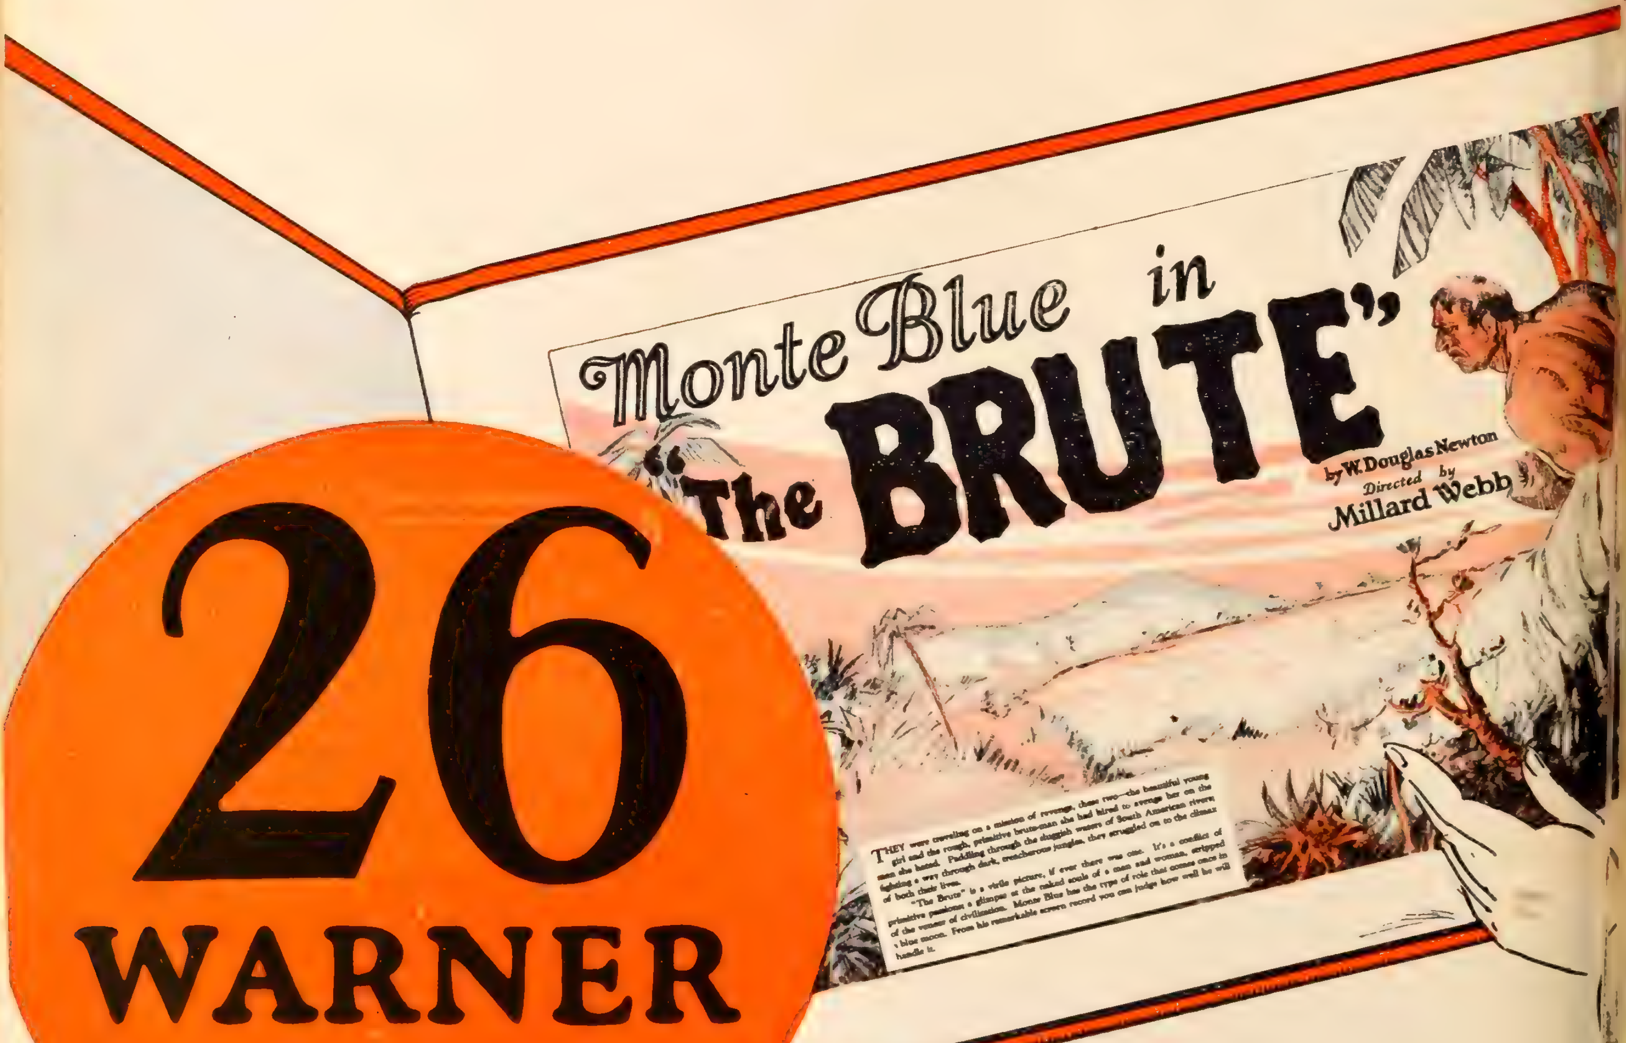
For a number of years Harrison was manager of the Leeds branch office of Paramount and became well known in British film circles. Because of poor health he came to the United States in 1925 and spent several months as a member of the Los Angeles sales force of the Paramount exchange located there. When he returned to England he was feeling fine and was apparently on the road to recovery.

He is survived by his widow and one daughter and a brother, Philip, until recently manager of the Paramount exchange in Manchester. Burial services were held on Monday, May 3rd.

Before You Turn This Page Get Your Copy of That Big Warner Bros. Announcement Book in Front of You!

26
Warner Winners
Before You Turn This Page Get Your Copy of That Big Warner Bros. Announcement Book in Front of You

Fewer and Better Pictures—26 Individually Specialized Box Office Attractions for 1926–27



THEY were traveling on a mission of revenge, these two—the beautiful young girl and the rough, primitive brute-man she had hired to avenge her on the man she hated. Paddling through the sluggish waters of South American rivers, fighting a way through dark, treacherous jungles, they struggled on to the climax of both their lives.

"The Brute" is a virile picture, if ever there was one. It's a conflict of primitive passions a glimpse at the naked souls of a man and woman, stripped of the veneer of civilization. Monte Blue has the type of role that comes once in a blue moon. From his remarkable screen record you can judge how well he will handle it.

26

26 WARNER WINNERS

No Machine-made Pictures in the WARNER Line-up!

THE day of better pictures is here! That is what "individual specialization" means to you! Positive insurance against all the penalties of stereotyped, machine-made pictures which huge producing schedules make necessary.

26 "individually specialized" pictures from Warner Bros. 26 pictures which will be the result of close collaboration in planning and the undivided effort in production of the entire Warner organization. Only the short producing schedule of 26 pictures makes this possible. The tremendous speed and high pressure necessary to produce two, three or four times as many pictures in the same given length of time are entirely eliminated as well as the result which is pictures of inferior box office power.

Only "individual specialization" will produce pictures that are different in story, original in treatment, novel in popular appeal-pictures that pack the box office wallop. That's what you get in 26 Warner Winners-fewer and better pictures for 1926-27.

The finest line-up in the industry! Every picture has everything! Story, cast, direction plus the Warner Bros. standard of production! Unbeatable! For example, read in your copy of the big announcement book the facts that are making "The Brute" a whale of a box office bet! 26 Warner Winners for 1926!

F. B. O. to Release Six in May

Full Schedule Adhered to; List Includes Gold Bond Productions and Short Reels

THERE will be no let-down in the amount of product released by Film Booking Offices despite the start of the warm season as is evidenced by the line-up of product scheduled for release during May. A Gold Bond production and five feature releases from the company's individual stars and the usual amount of short subject material make up the month's releases.

An adaptation of the Laura Jean Libbey Novel, "A Poor Girl's Romance," the last of the twelve Gold Bond productions announced for release during the 1925-26 season, will be released May 23. Creighton Hale and Gertrude Short play the leading roles and the picture was directed by Harmon Weight.

Fred Thompson's latest, "Hands Across the Border," will be released on May 1. David Kirkland directed this story by Frank Clifton and the cast includes Bess Flowers, who plays opposite Thompson, Tyrone Power, William Courtwright and Thompson's horse, Silver King.

The Lefty Flynn release for May will be "Glenister of the Mounted," directed by Harry Garson from an original story by Arthur Guy Empey. The cast, in addition to Lefty Flynn, includes Bess Flowers, Lee Shumway, Walter James, Jim Gibson and Arthur Millette.

Bob Custer will be represented with "The Valley of Bravery," adapted by Carl Krausade from an original story by E. Lanning Masters and directed by Jack Nelson. Eugenia Gilbert has the principal feminine role and others in the cast are Tom Bray, William Gillispie, Ernie Adams, Art Artego and Nelson MacGowell.

"The Masquerade Bandit" will be the Tom Tyer release for May. This will be the seventh of the series of eight Tyler productions for the current season and like the others is Western in character.

Tyler's pals, Flash, his horse, little Frankie Darro, and Frankie's dog, "Beans," Dorothy Dunbar, who plays opposite the star, and others in the cast are Ethan Laidlaw, Al Houston, Ray Childs, Ray Hampton and Earl Haley. Bob De Lacey directed the production.

Chet Withey, who has directed Evelyn Brent in many of her pictures, wrote a story especially for the star and it will be her May release. The picture, under the tentative title of "The Jade Cup," is nearing completion under the direction of Frank Hall Crane.

For the short subjects F. B. O. will release in May two episodes, Nos. 6 and 7, in the "Fighting Hearts" series of featurettes starring Alberta Vaughn, and based on the magazine stories by Sam Hellman. These are "The Whiskering Chorus" and "The Lightning Slider." There also will be two Bray cartoons, "The Ostrich's Plumes," and "Dinkey Doodle in Wild West" and two Blue Ribbon Standard comedies, "She's a Prince" and "Black and Blue Eyes," as well as a Standard comedy, "The Heavy Parade."

Cosmopolitan Lists Product

Nine Features to be Filmed for M-G-M Release; Two from Marion Davies

COSMOPOLITAN Productions has arranged for nine feature productions to be filmed for the 1926-27 season by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer under the contract negotiated last year between Cosmopolitan and the Loew organization. The schedule includes a special Marion Davies production and also "The Red Mill", in which Miss Davies is starred.

Production of "The Red Mill", a picture version of the musical comedy by Henry Blossom and Victor Herbert, is scheduled to start this week with a cast, in addition to the star, consisting of Owen Moore, George Siegman and Tully Marshall. The production will be made on an elaborate scale. The original Victor Herbert score will be an added feature of its presentation. The Marion Davies special production will be "Polly Preferred", an adaptation of the stage comedy by Guy Bolton.

In addition to the pictures starring Miss Davies, there will be six other Cosmopolitan Productions scheduled for next season. These include, "The Flaming Forest," adapted from James Oliver Curwood's novel and directed by Reginald Barker. Work on this production will start shortly.

"The Understanding Heart," a Western story by Peter B. Kyne, author of "Never The Twain Shall Meet", will also be filmed. Another will be "Captain Salvation", a story of the sea by Frederick William Wallace.

"The Temptress," by Vicente Blasco Ibanez, is now being filmed and will be released as a Cosmopolitan Production early next season. The action of "The Temptress" is laid in Paris and the Argentine and the story concerns the conquests of a beautiful but soulless woman. It is the first production to be filmed in this country by Mauritz Stiller, and will feature in the leading roles Greta Garbo and Antonio Moreno. Others in the cast include H. B. Warner, Armand Kaliz, Kathleen Key and Theodore Von Eltz.

In addition to the above named, there will be two other Cosmopolitan Productions, the titles of which are yet to be selected.

Schleiff Appointed Famous Attr'ns Production Head

Joe Schleiff has been appointed by J. G. Bachmann production manager of Famous Attractions Corporation. Schleiff has been affiliated with the studio units of Famous Players, Selznick, Associated Exhibitors, and F. B. O.

Peggy Joyce to Appear in Person in Detroit

In conjunction with the opening of her picture, "The Skyrocket", Peggy Hopkins Joyce will make a personal appearance at the Capitol Theatre, Detroit, Michigan. She will receive from the John H. Kunsky Enterprises, owners of the theatre, the largest sum ever paid a screen star for a personal appearance.

Kenneth Hamilton, of Associated Exhibitors' exploitation staff, is in Detroit handling publicity for her appearance there and will also assist in the stage presentation.

New York F. B. O. Exchange Has Sales Meeting

The New York Exchange of F. B. O. had its luncheon and sales meeting on Friday last, April 30, in the Hotel Astor, New York City. Chief executives from the home office attended and Joseph I. Schnitzer persided. Heart-to-heart talks were made by Schnitzer, Brown, Rosenzweig, Marcus and Daab.

Each of the branch salesmen pledged his support in carrying out the season's program. The salesmen included Messrs. Holden, Sherwood, Kram, Wechsler, Fox, Ellis and Bregstein.

"The Vagabond Prince" Banky-Colman Vehicle

The Rudolf Lothar story, "King Harlequin," has been purchased by Samuel Goldwyn as a vehicle for Vilma Banky and Ronald Colman. It will be filmed by Henry King under the title of "The Vagabond Prince."

This will be the third picture in which these two stars will appear this year, the others being "The Winning of Barbara Worth" and "Beauty and the Beast."

Dorothy Farnum Signs New Contract with M-G-M

Dorothy Farnum has signed a new contract for one year with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Some of the recent stories which she has written the continuities are Miss Farnum has adapted and for which Ibanez' "Torrent," "The Temptress" and "Bardleys the Magnificent."

Paramount Junior Stars Contracts Renewed

ALL the sixteen Paramount Junior Stars three months contracts which were awarded them on their graduation from the Paramount Picture School have been renewed. The new contracts stipulate an increased salary and extend for six months from June 1st. Their first assignment will be a three months personal appearance tour at the Publix Theatres in a John Murray Anderson act called, "Getting Into the Movies." They will appear with their debut picture, "Fascinating Youth."

The act will open at the Rivoli Theatre in New York on May 9th. The other cities in which they will appear are Boston, Buffalo, Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Dallas, Memphis and Atlanta, closing August 8th.

Warner Brothers to Make Nine Specials

(Continued from page 2336)

Hopper, Sheldon Lewis and Emily Fitzroy. The picture was directed by Alan Crosland and the scenario prepared by Bess Meredyth.

''The Better 'Ole'' will be the biggest special Syd Chaplin has made for Warner Brothers. He will have the role of ''Limy'' Old Bill Busby, Bruce Bairnsfather's universally loved cartoon character. Chaplin again has the advantage of direction by Chuck Reisner. The screen adaptation was prepared by Reisner and Darryl Francis Zanuck.

Doris Hill, a newcomer to the screen, will be Chaplin's leading lady, while those so far selected for the supporting cast are Harold Goodwyn, Theodore Lorch, Ed Kennedy, Charles Gerrard, Tom McGuire, Jack Ackroyd, Tom Kennedy, Kewpie Morgan and Arthur Clayton.

The first scenes have already been shot on ''Manon Lescaut,'' adapted from the opera of the same name and again Barrymore will have Dolores Costello playing opposite him in the leading feminine role.

The leading role in the opera was a feminine role which has been sung by such famous opera stars as Bori and Geraldine Farrar, but in her adaptation Bess Meredyth has made the Barrymore role the dominant one, with this star again cast as a great lover.

As an added feature to this production and one that is expected to enhance its value, it will have the complete oiginal opera score applied through tthe new synchronization device. This music will be provided by the foremost artists obtainable.

The cast so far assembled to support Barrymore and Miss Costello is made up of Holmes Herbert, Sam De Grasse, Warner Oland, Marcella Corday, Charles Clary, Rose Dione, Bertram Grasby, Noble Johnson, Templar Saxe, Eugenie Besserer and Charles Cary.

''Black Ivory,'' the work of Polan Banks, is an historical and romantic novel. The principal character is Jean Lafitte, called ''the pirate'' in his time, but the man who, after General Jackson was responsible for the success of the Battle of New Orleans. It is a tale of the slave days and of sea fights. The script is now being prepared, but not details have yet been divulged regarding cast nor director.

''Noah's Ark'' is a story brought from Europe by Albert-Warner. It is both historical and modern in its settings and it will be more lavishly produced than any on the special Warner list. Production plans are now in the formative stage and will be forthcoming in the near future.

Warners are preparing two productions to be made by Ernst Lubitsch. They are to be spectacles on the order of ''Passion,'' though the titles have not yet been revealed. Lubitsch has been giving much of his spare time to consideration of these specials when not engaged with his present production of ''Reveillon'' for Warners.

"Outside The Law" Revival at N. Y. Colony

THE Universal Jewel Production, "Outside The Law," will be revived at the Colony Theatre in New York on Sunday, May 9th, where it will have an indefinite run. This is due to the success that greeted the revival of the picture upon its showing at the Cameo Theatre in Pittsburgh several weeks ago.

Paul Leni, scenic artist and director of the UFA film, "The Three Wax Works," is arranging an atmospheric presentation, and Dr. Edward Kilenyi is preparing a musical score.

"What Price Glory?" is Started

WITH the shooting of the first scenes, where Sergeant Quirt displays his superiority to Corporal Quirt in the matter of capturing the feminine heart, "What Price Glory?" has gone into production. Lowe, McLagen and Phyliss Haver worked in this scene, Miss Haver playing Hilda of China and Lowe and McLagen the two enemies.

The sets were thoroughly inspected by Captain St. Remie, a delegation of seventy-five ex-soldiers who saw service in France.

Keith-Albee Obtains Share in Prod. Dist. Corp.

(Continued from page 2327)

same consideration as far as that product is concerned. In all my years of experience in developing the Keith name to the point it now holds in vaudeville, I have never taken any step after more careful thought and study of conditions in the amusement world than the association we are now making. For more than two years, scores of my business partners and men at the head of our vaudeville affiliated interest have urged me to take a decisive move into the motion picture business by entering the producing and distributing field. We have exhibited motion pictures in our theatres since the earliest pictures were produced. We have not heretofore been interested in feature photoplay producing. Hundreds of theatre operators with whom we are not now interested through our vaudeville booking office, have also urged me to make a motion picture affiliation or actually engage in the business of producing pictures. Having become convinced on my own investigation that the occasion was now at hand to make such an affiliation I have done so.

''The rise of Producers Distributing Corporation and the important part which Mr. De Mille has played in that regard through the production of fine pictures, prompted me to choose this association as a fitting addition to the atmospher of the Keith-Albee organization. The present management of the company of which John C. Finn is General Manager, will be continued. There will be no change in the corporate organization and the film distribution will continue through the subsidiary companies with offices in thirty-one American cities and Producers International Corporation with established distribution in foreign countries.''

Mayer Favors Percentage Basis

In Address to A. M. P. A. Vice-President of M-G-M Says It Is Best Method

''THE day is coming when a pictures will be played on a percentage basis and the industry will be operated as the show business is,'' said Louis B. Mayer, vice-president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, in an address recently before the Associated Motion Picture Advertisers. ''Percentage engagements will enable the producer to realize the profit he is entitled to on his good pictures. The poor ones will be shelved or put in the vaudeville houses where they belong. The curse of advance selling will be done away with,'' he continued.

Mayer blames the present dissension that exists in the industry on the infringement of one branch on the activities of another. Producers buy up theatres, exhibitors become producers, and both factions clash. If each were to have faith in the other there would be no trouble, says Mayer. If business was conducted right producers would do nothing but produce and exhibitors nothing but exhibit.

The business is conducted by means of threats, said Mr. Mayer. ''If you don't book my pictures, I'll build a theatre in your town,'' is the alternative an exhibitor has to face nowadays, he stated. ''It undermines the entire industry.''

The advertising men fill a very important place in the industry stated Mayer. ''Advertising alone is responsible for the success of the circus. It's the same show year in year out, but it always packs them in. Advertising will sell a poor product even though it may be a tough job, and a great product without it will suffer.''

He said that advertising played an important part in putting over the Metro-Goldwyn company. He likened the recent Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer convention to an advertising campaign launched to sell the company to its sales force. ''Unless both ends deliver, both might as well fall down,'' declared Mayer.

Semon Makes Statement on Lloyd Affiliation

IT has been reported a number of times from various sources that Larry Semon had been engaged by Harold Lloyd to direct his next picture and that he had refused the directorship for one reason or another as per a story appearing in the Los Angeles Times of April 26th. In reference to these rumors Motion Picture News has received from W. R. Fraser, general manager of the Harold Lloyd Corporation the following statement which was made to Fraser by Larry Semon:

"I have talked only in a general way to Mr. Lloyd about directing him in pictures. We never reached the stage where we even talked terms, or where Mr. Lloyd made any proposition to me. There is no one in the business who I would rather direct than Harold Lloyd for I have always been the greatest admirer of his work, and of this personality, but I would like it understood that at no time has Mr. Lloyd made me a proposal that I might either accept or reject."

John Barrymore

BARRYMORE TO UNITED ARTISTS

"The Vagabond Lover" His First

IN a telegram received by Joseph Schenck, at the Hotel Plaza, New York, from John Barrymore at Long Beach, California, came confirmation of the brief announcement made last month by Schenck that Barrymore was under direct contract with United Artists.

The telegram says that he will make pictures "worthy of the high standard of United Artists for one year and if that association proves happy and satisfactory, as now seems likely, it might very well continue indefinitely."

His first film to be made under his own auspices will be called "The Vagabond Lover." Actual production work upon it will begin this summer. No announcement with regard to the leading lady, the cast or direction of the film was made by either Barrymore or Schenck. It is probable though that the theme of the picture will offer the star an opportunity for a romantic role and that it will be released with the sixteen pictures which go to make up the United Artists program for the coming year.

United Artists-Phoebus Tie-up

Move Strengthens German Distribution of Product; Abrams to Direct Link-up

ANNOUNCEMENT was made this week of the signing of a contract between Ifa, the United Artists subsidiary in Germany, and Phoebus, a leading German distributing company. This information was contained in a cablegram from A. C. Berman, managing director of Ifa, to Hiram Abrams, president of United Artists, and means a strengthening of that company's German distribution, since Phoebus is one of the oldest and most solidly established distributing firms in that country.

Phoebus has in recent years distributed the First National product, but with the organization of First National's own exchange system in Germany a logical opening was left for the present deal. No details are announced regarding the number of productions involved or the precise nature of the arrangement. Phoebus is both a distributing and a theatre owning corporation, and the announcement does not state whether the deal is for distribution or is a booking deal with the Phoebus houses, distribution to continue through Ifa. In view of the fact, however, that Phoebus controls a considerable number of contingent permits to import films, in connection with the German productions which it handles, it is to be presumed that Phoebus will distribute the United Artists product, which up to the present has been imported on contingent permits given on the Ifa productions.

Phoebus is understood to book pictures into some 1200 of Germany's 3000 theatres, and to own nearly fifty, with a score of others under construction. The company is particularly strong in the smaller cities and towns.

Hiram Abrams announces that he will sail for Germany on July 3 to personally supervise the details of operation from Berlin.

Iowa Theatre Owners Convene

Seventy-five Members Present; New Finance Plan Approved by Assoc.

THE annual spring meeting of the Iowa Theatre Owners Association was held on April 20 at the Hotel Savery. Through this convention of the exhibitors of the state a permanent office has been established to represent them with headquarters at 210-11 Iowa Building, adjacent to the offices of the Film Board. The office is to be in charge of E. P. Smith, elected secretary and business manager of the association, who will arrange for the hiring of someone to carry on the work of the office.

At the election of officers B. I. Van Dyke, owner of the Royal Theatre, Des Moines, was elected as president of the association; E. P. Smith of the Strand Theatre at Newton, as secretary and business manager, and to the board of directors were elected Leo Moore of Centerville, Tom Brown of Iowa City, N. C. Rice of Algona, Harry Herrsetienr of the Family Theatre, Des Moines, and John Waller of Osceola.

A new plan for the financing of the association was introduced and approved at this meeting doing away with other ways of paying dues and providing for a minmum amount in cash to be paid by each exhibitor into the association treasury. Plans for increase of membership before the fall convention were made.

The music tax and the increase of parcel post rates were discussed but no action was taken on these measures. E. P. Smith was elected as delegate to the national convention of the M. P. T. O. A. in Los Angeles in June. Seventy-five members were present.

Movies Lead Mexico City Amusements of 1925

The motion picture forged far ahead of all other forms of public amusement in Mexico City during the last half of 1925, even surpassing the popular bull fight, according to advices to the Department of Commerce from Commercial Attache A. V. Dye, Mexico City.

The total receipts from the diversions specified in the published statistics of the Mexican Government amounted to 3,616,531.28 pesos during the first six months of 1925. This was a slight decrease under the total of $3,822,489.46 for the corresponding period of 1924. Practically all diversions shared in the decreased receipts, the only ones showing increases being dances, receipts from which rose by 42,673 pesos; base ball, football and concerts. Cinematographs, theatres, boxing, fronton, roller skating, and bull fighting all revealed lower receipts than during the preceding year.

Ontario House of F. P. L. Destroyed by Fire

Fire almost completely destroyed the Grand Theatre at St. Catharines, Ontario, which had been leased last January to Famous Players Canadian Corp., Toronto, by the Estate of the late L. H. Gardner, on April 29, the loss being estimated at $75,000, with insurance of $35,000. About a year ago the theatre had been completely renovated and largely rebuilt at a cost which was given as $80,000.

All that is left of the auditorium is the four walls, the firemen saving the entrance, offices and row of stores on the street front. The fire originated in the property room back stage and had gained considerable headway when discovered at an early hour in the morning. The representative of Famous Players in St. Catharines is George J. Forhan.

Prohibition Writ Denied K. C. Exhibitor

A writ of prohibition has been denied W. O. Burkey, manager of the Admiral Theatre, Kansas City, against the Kansas City Joint Board of Arbitration by the Missouri supreme court.

The case grew out of the burning of a film in Mr. Burkey's theatre and an arbitration board case involving Paramount and Mr. Burkey. Pending the application for the writ before the supreme court, Mr. Burkey obtained the signatures of members of the arbitration board to a petition, which virtually amounted to waiving a hearing on the case until a supreme court decision.

Iowa Exhibitor Fined for Sunday Pictures

R. L. Stewart of Manson, Iowa, is fighting the Sunday closing law. Last Sunday he showed pictures at his theatre and as a rsult was fined $8.95. The charges against Stewart were made by Rev. J. G. Waterman, pastor of the Manson Methodist Church. Stewart, who feels that he has the support of the Manson citizens, says that he is going to make it a fight to the finish and that he will continue to keep open on Sundays though he be fined every Sunday.

Harrison Ford Will Play "The Nervous Wreck"

HARRISON FORD has been selected to be "The Nervous Wreck" in the forthcoming Al Christie special of that name which will be released by Producers Distributing Corporation for next season.

Harrison Ford

Christie is reported to have said that Ford is ideal for the role and that after witnessing his performance in "Up In Mabel's Room" he is convinced that Ford's work will be an outstanding highlight in this special.

Ford will start work on the Christie picture as soon as he finishes his work opposite Marie Prevost in "Almost A Lady." Scott Sidney will be the director and production activities are scheduled to begin about May 17th.

"The Nervous Wreck" will be released as a special and will not be sold in conjunction with the regular 1926-27 program.

Tiffany Establishes First Ten Exchanges

The first ten Tiffany Exchanges throughout the country have already been established. They are located in New York, Buffalo, Chicago, Indianapolis, Boston and New Haven and leases are beng negotiated for quarters in Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Detroit.

Most of the exchanges are to be operated and controlled by the home office in New York while the others will be established under the management of franchise holders who will be under the control and supervision of Tiffany.

Steiner-Schwartz to Add To New York Chain

Charles Steiner and Jack Schwartz are erecting five theatres on the lower East Side at a cost of $2,500,000. The houses which are nearing completion are the Palestine at Clinton and Houston streets, with a seating capacity of 1,000; the New Rivington at 107 Rivington Street which will also seat 1,000; the Shirley, seating 1,000 and located at 12th Street and Avenue B; the Apollo, seating 2,000, to be operated with a 1,000 seat roof garden and located at Delancey and Clinton Streets and the 2,200-seat Mecca, at 14th Street and Avenue A.

The company is also planning five more theatres in Harlem.

Two Minnesota Towns Will Have Sunday Shows

Farmington and Holland, Minn., have been opened to Sunday shows. At Farmington petitions were presented by business men and the council removed the ban. Holland decided by referendum although the town does not now have a regular motion picture theatre.

"U" Announces 6 Super Pictures

Output of Elaborate Spectacles To Be Doubled Next Year Laemmle Says on Return

UNIVERSAL will offer six super productions during the 1926-27 season, Carl Laemmle, president of the company, announced on his return to New York this week from the West Coast studios where he spent the winter supervising production. The super pictures will be part of the "Greater Movie List" which Universal is preparing for the coming season.

The six supers will be "The Flaming Frontier," "The Midnight Sun," "Love Me and the World is Mine," "Les Miserables," "Michael Strogoff" and "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Of these four have been completed, with "Love Me and the World is Mine" well under way and "Uncle Tom's Cabin" about midway through the production process.

Both "The Flaming Frontier" and "The Midnight Sun" have had pre-release presentations at extended engagements in New York, where they played the Colony Theatre. "Les Miserables" and "Michael Strogoff" were produced in France by the Societe des Cineromans. The screen version of the Hugo work was recently screened at a trade showing tour in Great Britain, where it was presented in two parts of eleven reels each. It may be similarly presented in the United States. "Michael Strogoff" is from a story by Jules Verne and stars Ivan Mosjoukine, recently put under contract to Universal, on the strength of his good work in this production.

"Love Me and the World is Mine" was produced for Universal by E. A. Dupont, Ufa director, from a story by Rudolph Hans Bartsch. Norman Kerry and Mary Philbin are co-starred. Charles Gilpin, noted negro actor of the stage, will be seen in the name role of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which is to be directed by Harry Pollard.

Universal is also contemplating a big production based on an original story by Imre Fazekas, who is under contract to write three original plays for the company.

M-G-M Has Radio Movie Clubs

Idea Conceived by Major Bowes, Howard Dietz and Wm. Ferguson; National Scope

GEORGE L. FECKE, radio director for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, is at present organizing Radio Movie clubs on a national scale as a result of the public response to the first of these organizations formed in Boston through station WBZ. This scheme, jointly conceived by Major Edward M. Bowes, vice-president of M-G-M, Howard Dietz director of publicity, and William R. Ferguson, director of exploitation, is aleady in operation from various centers under the active direction of Ferguson. Clubs are now in operation in Chicago through KYW, in Cleveland through WTAN, in Pittsburgh through WJAS, Philadelphia through WIP, New York through WHN, and elsewhere.

Talks on the progress of the American Theatre, the value of the theatre to the community and the educational value of motion pictures variegate the weekly program, which includes fan stories on M-G-M stars, fashions, studio notes, current production stories and news items of various sorts, all communicated in intimate and engaging fashion. Each week the biography of a star is given, and one picture is described.

An overture direct from a theatre opens the program, letters from stars who have been made honorary members of the clubs are read, and stars visiting in the community are prevailed upon to greet the members. It is estimated that 27,000,000 radio fans in the United States listen in to programs of various sorts every night, a weekly audience of 189,000,000.

Lillian Gish, Marion Davies,, Ramon Novarro, Mae Murray, Lon Chaney, Norma Shearer, John Gilbert, Buster Keaton and Jackie Coogan have been made honorary members of the clubs.

Plans are already under way for exploiting over the radio such films as King Vidor's "La Boheme," Rex Ingram's "Mare Nostrum," Lillian Gish in "The Scarlet Letter" and "Annie Laurie"; "The Cossacks," starring John Gilbert; Lon Chaney's "Tell It to the Marines," Rex Ingram's "The Magician," "The Trail of '98," to be directed by Clarence Brown, "The Fire Brigade," with Charles Ray and Marceline Day and "Old Heidelberg," starring Ramon Novarro.

Joseph Mogler, of St. Louis To Run For State Senator

Joseph Mogler, president of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of St. Louis, Mo., has announced his candidacy for State Senator subject to the Republican primaries of August. He would represent the Thirty-fourth District. Mogler is a member of the Republican State Committee from the Eleventh Congressional District.

"Woman Power" Started at Fox Film Studio

Harold McGrath's story, "You Can't Always Tell," which will bear the screen title of "Woman Power," is now in production at the Fox Film studios in Hollywood. William Beaudine will attend to the directing and Kathryn Perry and Ralph Graves will play the leads.

Movie Stars Attention---

Some advertising is like "boot-leg" gin—It won't hurt you unless you swallow it! Here's an "ad" that carries insurance

ARE YOU LOOKING FOR A "LIVE WIRE" PRESS AGENT?

If so be wise and take a hint for Live Wire men mean nothing without the "Power House." "Sight Unseen" is just as safe a way to decide as any after you and I "swap" letters. Just blowing won't play a cornet. Wire or write "The Press Agent" care of Motion Picture News, New York City.

Studio Briefs

Harry M. Warner to Sail for Europe in August

AT the conclusion of the Warner Bros. convention in Los Angeles, Harry M. Warner announced that he would sail for Europe on August 7th, where he will remain for three months to launch production plans in Germany, England and France and to close a number of pending deals.

In discussing the coming trip Warner said: "As we have announced in the past, it is our intention to produce abroad one picture for every one we release there. This plan necessarily involves a mass of detail that can be smoothed out only by personally going over it with the large staff that is now being organized."

Work was started this week at the F. B. O. studios in Hollywood on "Laddie," the first of the fifty-four pictures comprising the schedule for the coming season. This Gene Stratton Porter story is being directed by the author's son-in-law, J. Leo Meehan. The cast is headed by John Bowers, Bess Flowers and little Gene Stratton. Others in the picture are Fanny Midgely, Eugenie Gilbert, Eulalie Jenson, David Torrence and Jack Luden.

Marshall Neilan has signed Arlette Marchal to play a character in his Paramount picture, "Diplomacy." Miss Marchal, who has worked for various French film companies, was put under contract by Paramount a few months ago. She first created attention when she supported Gloria Swanson in "Madame Sans Gene."

Many units are at work at the F. B. O. studios on the Coast. Tom Tyler in "The Masquerade Bandit," Bob Custer in "The Heart of a Cowboy," and Lefty Flynn in "Glennister of the Mounted" are some of them. Also the Evelyn Brent vehicle, which has the tentative title of "The Jade Cup." The cast is being chosen for the Fred Thomson starring picture, "The Two Gun Man."

The recently formed Famous Attractions Corporation has signed Tom Terris to direct the Preferred picture, "The Romance of a Million Dollars." This will be the screen version of Elizabeth De Jean's novel of the same name. It will be produced shortly.

Paramount to Make Air Special "Wings"

ON July 15th Paramount will start production on "Wings," a story of the part played by airplanes in the World War. It is an original story by John Monk Sanders, an American aviator. William Wellman, who was an ace in the Lafayette Escadrille, has been entrusted with the directorship. Clara Bow has been selected for the chief feminine role and a search is being made for the flying hero.

It has been predicted that this picture, which will be released in 12 reels, will be one of the greatest road shows ever made by Paramount. Jesse L. Lasky is reported to have said: "Basing my opinion on 15 years' experience as a producer, I believe it will be a tremendous picture."

Supporting Ford Sterling and his leading woman, Lois Wilson, in "The Show Off" will be Charles Rogers, Paramount junior star, Claire McDowell and George Nichols. Production will start May 10th at the Long Island studio on this, Sterling's first starring picture for Paramount.

Two more names were added this week to the cast of the first Prefered picture, "Lew Tyler's Wives." The newcomers are Helen Lee Worthing and Lew Brice, and the other featured players in the line-up are Frank Mayo, Ruth Clifford and Hedda Hopper.

In "For Alimony Only," the story by Lenore J. Coffee, which will be William De Mille's first picture since leaving Paramount and joining Cecil B. in the independent field, the leading male role opposite Leatrice Joy will be played by Clive Brook.

Louise Brooks, who recently finished a featured role in Paramount's "It's the Old Army Game," will have an important role in the "Glorifying the American Girl" on which production will begin May 17th under the direction of Edward Sutherland. The art work will be done by Joseph Urban with Florence Ziegfeld having general supervision.

William Powell, who has just finisned an important role in "Beau Geste" and Renee Adoree have arrived from the Coast to play in support of Thomas Meighan in his next Paramount picture, "Tin Gods." Allan Dwan will direct Aileen Pringle and Norman Trevor are also in the cast.

At the First National studios on the West Coast, four pictures will go into production during the first week of May. They are "Delicatessen," "The Amateur Gentleman," "Forever After" and "Midnight Lovers." In the first, Colleen Moore is starred with a supporting cast consisting of Jean Hersholt, Dorothy Seastrom and Arthur Stone. Alfred E. Greene is directing from the story by Brooks Hanlon. The second, a Richard Barthelmess vehicle based on a story by Jeffry Farnol, will have Dorothy Dunbar, Brandon Hurst, Gardner James and others. Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes will appear in the third picture, which is B. P. Fineman's initial production for First National. John Francis Dillon will direct the fourth in which Anna Q. Nilsson and Lewis Stone have the leading roles.

In the Ramon Novarro vehicle, "Bellamy the Magnificent," in which Sally O'Neil, Renee Adoree and Willard Louis are featured players, there will also appear Leni Bara, sister of the famous "vamp." This Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture was adapted from Roy L. Horniman's stage play by Donna Barrell.

The role of "Dimitri" in the Paramount production, "Love's Magic," will be played by Roy Stewart. This is Florence Vidor's first starring vehicle. William Wellman is directing and Clive Brook is playing opposite the star with Lowell Sherman the "heavy."

According to present plans, "Paradise," the first Ray Rockett production for First National, is scheduled to start on May 15th. Milton Sills will be starred with Betty Bronson featured in the feminine lead. Kate Price has also been allotted a part. No announcement as to the supporting players has as yet been made. Irvin Willat has been engaged to direct.

F. B. O. Controls New England Exchanges

FILM Booking Offices of America, Inc., has announced that the F. B. O. exchanges in Boston and New Haven, formerly operating under franchises, have been taken over by the general company and will be operated as separate units in the same manner as the other F. B. O. exchanges. Instead of the Film Booking Offices of New England, under which name they have been functioning, they will be an integral part of the national organization.

E. J. Leary will succeed I. L. Walensteim as manager of the Boston exchange. Ted Jacobs will continue as manager of the New Haven branch.

James Meighan, a nephew of Thomas Meighan, has been added to the staff of the Meighan unit at the Paramount Long Island studio. His duties will include a search for material for future Meighan pictures. James played in "Desire Under the Elms" and for two years was associated with the Provincetown Players.

"Subway Sadie," is scheduled to start this week at the First National studios in New York. Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall are in the featured roles. It will be a screen version of Mildred Cram's story, "Sadie of the Desert." Alfred Santell will direct and Arthur Edeson will do the photography.

In "The Temptress," Dorothy Farnum's adaptation of the Ibanez novel which Mauritz Stiller is directing for M.G.M. as his first American production, Virginia Browne Faire has been given an important part. Included in the cast are Antonio Moreno, Greta Garbo, H. B. Warner, Roy D'Arcy, Antonio D'Algy, Armand Kaliz, Natalie Warfield, Alys Murrell and Kathleen Kay.

To the cast of "The Son of the Sheik," in which Rudolph Valentino will return to the type of role that made him famous, has been added a most interesting character, none other than "Querido," an Arabian stallion who will make his film debut in this United Artists picture.

Warner Bros. to Release Two During May

TWO Warner Bros. releases are scheduled for the month of May. They are "The Social Highwayman," which is due on May 15th and "Hell Bent for Heaven," which went to exhibitors on May 1st. In the former production Patsy Ruth Miller and John Harron have the leads. The supporting cast includes Wilfred North, Evelyn Selbie, Gardner James, Gayne Whitman and James Marcus. J. Stuart Blackton is credited with the direction.

The latter was directed by William Beaudino and in it are Dorothy Devore, John Patrick, Montague Love, Frank Brownlee, James Gordon, George Pearce, Russel Sampson, Lynn Cowan, Fred Kelsey and Charles Hill Mailes.

THE CHECK-UP

Weekly Edition of Exhibitors' Box Office Reports

Productions listed are new pictures on which reports were not available previously.

KEY—The first column following the name of the feature represents the number of managers that have reported the picture as "Poor." The second column gives the number who considered it "Fair"; the third the number who considered it "Good"; and the fourth column, those who considered it "Big."

The fifth column is a percentage giving the average rating on that feature, obtained by the following method: A report of "Poor" is rated at 20%; one of 'Fair," 40%; "Good," 70%; and "Big," 100%. The percentage rating of all of these reports on one picture are then added together, and divided by the number of reports, giving the average percentage—a figure which represents the consensus of opinion on that picture. In the way exceptional cases, reports which might be taken alone, and such individual differences of opinion are averaged up

For ratings on current and older releases see MOTION PICTURE NEWS—first issue of each month.

Title of Picture	Reporting Poor	Reporting Fair	Reporting Good	Reporting Big	% Value	Length
ASSOCIATED EXHIBITORS
Skyrocket, The	—	1	11		68	7,350 Ft.
FAMOUS PLAYERS
Behind the Front		-	5	10	90	5 555 Ft.
Dancing Mothers	—	—	7	—	70	7,169 Ft.
For Heaven's Sake		-	4	4	85	5,356 Ft.
Moana	—	3	6	—	60	6,133 Ft.
New Klondike		—	9		70	7 Reels
Sea Horses	—	8	4	-	50	6,671 Ft.
Song and Dance Man, The		10	5	—	60	6,997 Ft.
Untamed Lady			3	3	85	6 132 Ft
FILM BOOKING OFFICES
Beyond the Rockies	—	—	8		70	4,851 Ft.
King of the Turf	3	3	3	—	43	6 210 Ft
Tough Guy, The	—	4	6	6	73	5,455 Ft.
FIRST NATIONAL
Irene			3	9	92	9 Reels
Mlle. Modiste		—	5		70	6,230 Ft.
Rainbow Riley	--	—	6	—	70	6,450 Ft.
Too Much Money	--	8	4	—	50	7,600 Ft
FOX
Cowboy and the Countess	—	2	6	—	63	5,000 Ft.
Sandy	—	5	-	—	40	7,850 Ft.
METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER
Auction Block	2	3	4	—	49	6 239 Ft.
Black Bird, The	—	1	6	1	70	6,688 Ft.
Beverly of Graustark	—	—	6		70	6,977 Ft.
Mike		6	12	6	91	6,755 Ft.
PROD. DIST. CORP.
Million Dollar Handicap, The	—	4	5		57	6,117 Ft.
Red Dice	—	—	5		70	6 Reels
STATE RIGHTS
Ladies of Leisure	—	6			40	5.257 Ft.
Midnight Limited			5		70	5,855 Ft.
UNIVERSAL
Blue Blazes			12		70	4,659 Ft.
Chip of the Flying U	—	—	5		70	6,596 Ft.
Cohens and Kellys, The	—	3	3	5	75	7,774 Ft.
Desperate Game, The	—		9		70	4,450 Ft.
Six Shooting Romance	—		8	—	70	4.837 Ft.
Skinner's Dress Suit		5			40	7.025 Ft.
What Happened to Jones	1	2	5		64	6,700 Ft.
WARNER BROS.
Cave Man	—	—	5	—	70	7 Reels
His Jazz Bride	2	2	4	2	60	6,420 Ft.
Night Cry, The	—	—	9	—	70	7 Reels
Sea Beast, The	—	—	--	3	100	7 Reels

FILL IN THIS BLANK AND MAIL TO—

Motion Picture News, Inc.,
729 7th Ave., New York City

Date,..

In accordance with your request we are reporting herewith the results from a box office angle, with the following pictures, same to be used in compilation of your "The Check Up." It is expressly understood that under no circumstances will you publish same over my signature.

TITLE OF PICTURE	DISTRIBUTED BY	WEATHER CONDITION	REPORT Big, Good, Fair, Poor

Class of patronage.................. Theatre..................

Population of Town.................. City.................. State..

Baby Identification Contest Scores

Rodney Bush's Stunt For "That's My Baby" Excites Birmingham

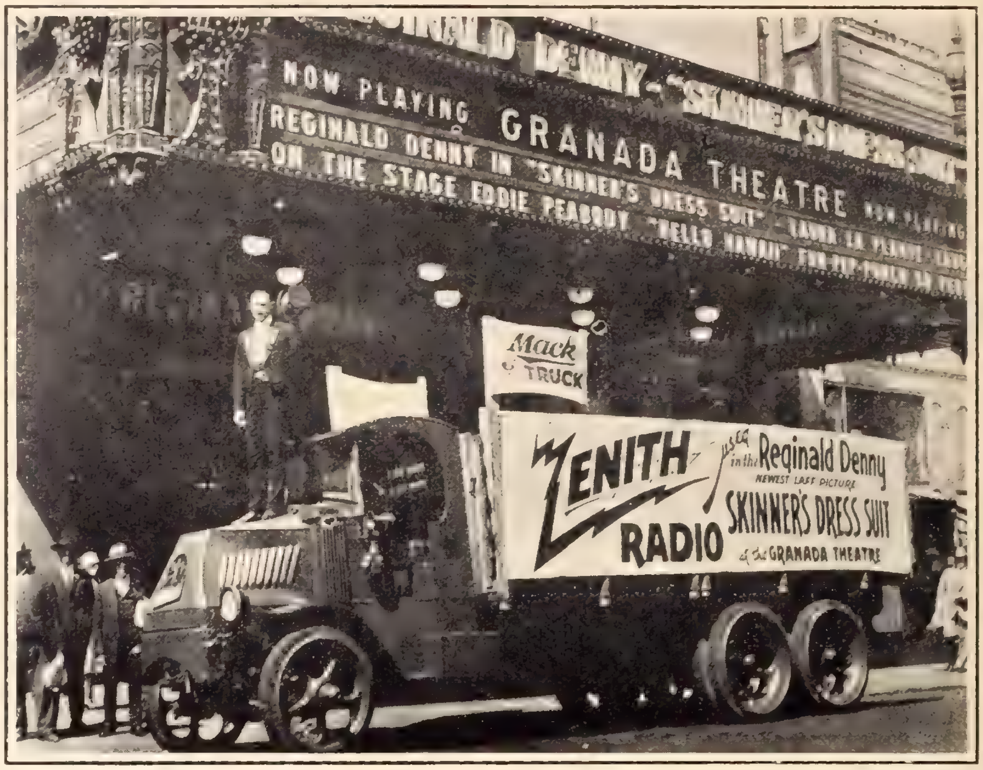
MANAGER RODNEY BUSH'S Baby Identification Contest aroused unusual interest for the showing of "That's My Baby" at the Strand Theatre, Birmingham. The contest was conducted by the "Birmingham Age-Herald," which announced the feature on the Wednesday preceding the opening date, Monday. The announcement was followed next day by the publication of a layout of five photos of babies, with prizes offered for those identifying them.

The theatre offered $50 in gold prizes, $5 to each mother whose baby's picture appeared in the paper. All they had to do was to go to newspaper office and say "That's My Baby," establish their identity, which paper already had, and receive the money prize, together with a pair of tickets to see "That's My Baby."

Babies' pictures were secured from a local photographer who specializes in children's photographs. He got the pictures two weeks prior to contest, while children were out playing on the streets. He also made sure to get their parents' names and addresses.

"Green Archer Ball" Held in Butte Dance Hall

A "Green Archer" ball, fostered by the Winter Garden and the Anaconda "Standard," which published the "Green Archer" serially, culminated an extensive campaign for the serial picture in Butte, Mont. The feature of the ball was the donation of a prize to the person most closely resembling the character in the picture.



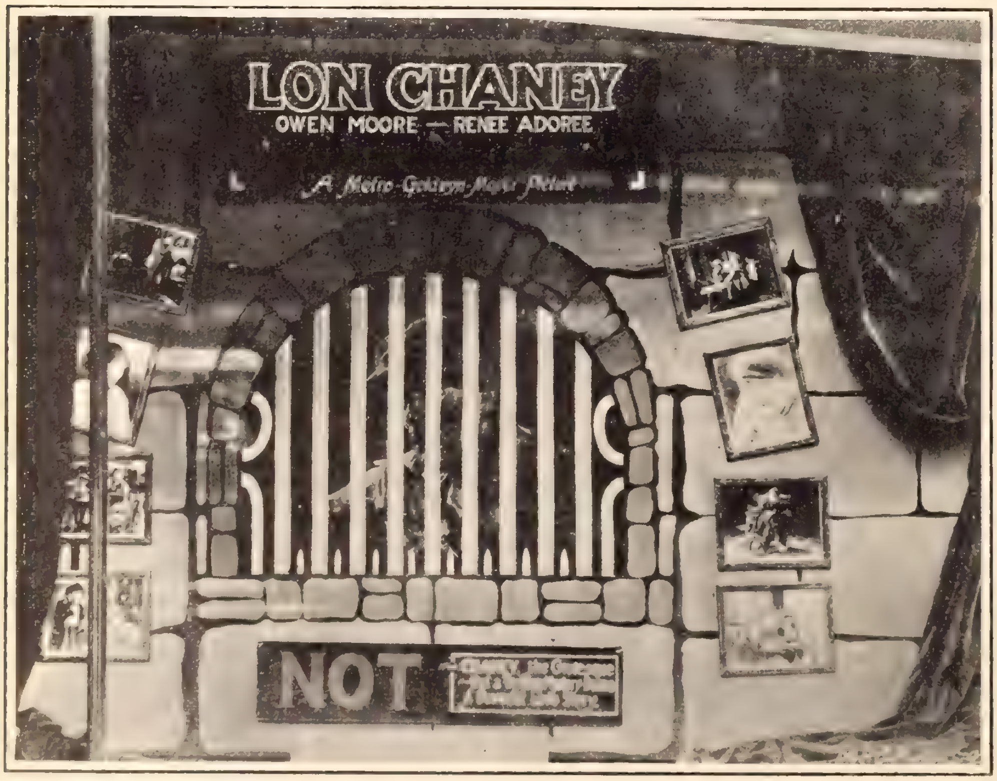
NOW PLAYING GRANADA THEATRE
REGINALD DENNY IN "SKINNER'S DRESS SUIT"
ON THE STAGE EDDIE PEABODY "HELLO HAWAII"
Mack TRUCK
ZENITH RADIO
Used in the Reginald Denny
NEWEST LAFF PICTURE
SKINNER'S DRESS SUIT
at the GRANADA THEATRE

Driven by a man in evening clothes, the truck shown above proved an excellent attention-getter for the showing of Universal's "Skinner's Dress Suit" at the Granada in San Francisco. The ballyhoo was the result of a three-way tie-up as shown by the banners

Legion Membership Drive Ties Up With "Behind the Front" Campaign

MANAGER CHARLES F. SHIRE, of the Lincoln Theatre, Lincoln, Neb., effected a profitable tie-up with the local American Legion Post in a campaign for "Behind the Front." The opportunity was afforded through the membership drive launched by the Legion Post. The organization notified every member that the theatre would give one ticket to see the picture to each man joining the Legion between April 1 and 10. Announcement to this effect was also enclosed in letters sent to over 100 local Legionaires who were behind in the payment of their dues.. A mailing list of approximately 2,000 names was placed at the disposal of the theatre by the Post.

Further cooperation rendered Manager Shire included the loan by the Legion of five men and military paraphernalia for the prologue staged in conjunction with "Behind the Front" at the Lincoln. The act depicted the interior of a canteen with pianist, violinist, cornetist and tenor.



Vivid window flash for "The Black Bird" (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer), featured by a St. Louis store for the showing of the picture at Loew's State in that city, is shown above

Song Tie-up Saves Carver Newspaper Ad Expense

Samuel Carver, manager of the Liberty Theatre, first run house of Kansas City, not only lopped off a big part of his advertising expenses on a large ad this week, but greatly increased the attendance. Through a tie-up with a large downtown music store, a popular song was advertised in a large display ad, equal space being devoted to the fact that the song was being played at the Liberty Theatre by Paul Tremaine's orchestra, which was appearing as a novelty number. The stunt proved profitable for both the Liberty and the music store, J. W. Jenkins' Sons.

Greatest Season in Company's History Expected by Warner Brothers

IF there is pride in achievement, no one can begrudge the four Warner Brothers, Harry M., Jack, Sam and Albert, nor anyone connected with the Warner Organization, for being justly proud of each successive year of accomplishments.

The past year has been an extremely busy one in every department of Warner Bros. It has been the busiest of many busy years. The achievements have been far greater than ever before, a greater and perfect-running organization has been perfected.

Warners builded on a substantial foundation during 1925. For years they had been laying the groundwork for their present great organization. They built carefully and conservatively. They watched a new man develop in the technical end of the industry and they brought him into the Warner fold. They combed the field for the best directors and they made new stars as their trained corps of experts scanned every possible source for new faces.

The four Warner Brothers are pioneers of the film industry. They are all showmen. They have followed the trend of the picture industry from its inception. They have continuously had their finger on the public pulse. They know what the public wants on the silver screen, and their aim continuously is to give the public just that.

Warners are announcing Twenty-Six Warner Winners for the 1926-27 season. Achievement is the goal of every business organization, and the record of the house of Warner has been one of achievements growing from a small state-right organization with a program of a half dozen pictures to an organization with sales branches circling the globe, and a program of pictures second to none in point of quality.

Harry M. Warner, President of Warner Brothers

Sam L. Warner, of Warner Brothers

Warners greatest achievement has come in the past year. The company had the product, but it needed as well, a wider distributing organization, so it took over Vitagraph with its many exchanges in all parts of the country. And it whipped those exchanges into a smooth and perfect-running machine under the expert handling of Sam E. Morris, General Manager of Distribution. The acquisition of Vitagraph created the necessity for a more extensive organization in all of its varied branches, so Warners doubled their production program.

Warners are now ready to plunge into the production of their Twenty-six Warner Winners for the 1926-27 season The machinery is all set for Jack L. Warner, production chief on the west coast. He has some of the best of stories, writers, directors, technicians, titlers, editors, stars and players. He has the assistance of Raymond Schrock, for many years one of the foremost among supervising producers in this country. Schrock is associate executive to Warner. They and the entire Warner Bros. organization expect even more in the way of achievements for the 1926-27 season than were accomplished in the year past.

THE Warner Winners will constitute this company's production output for the coming season. More money will be spent on the production of these twenty-six than on the forty of the past season. Also, more money will be spent on the advertising, publicizing and exploitation.

In anticipation of this array of pictures an already strong organization has been augmented and perfected during the past year. There will be no factory-made pictures included in the Warner lineup. Every unit of every Warner production will be given ample time to produce a perfect picture.

The Warner program is a widely varied one. It is aimed as an appeal to every class of audience. The stories were selected for their box-office appeal. There are straight dramas, comedy dramas, melodramas, comedies, mystery plays and romantic adventure stories.

Nine of the twenty-six productions are classed as dramas. There are seven melodramas, not of the ten, twenty and thirty variety, but of the higher type that are bound to have a universal appeal. Two are mystery dramas, three comedies, and one is a romantic adventure story.

Among the established stars who will appear in these pictures are Dolores Costello, who developed to stardom almost over night as the result of her work with John Barrymore in Warners, "The Sea Beast," and her subsequent picture, "Bride of the Storm;" Irene Rich, whose "Lady Windermere's Fan" has been among the outstanding successes of the current season; Monte Blue, than whom there are few better box-office attractions; George Jessel, vaudeville headliner and musical comedy star; Louise Fazenda and Willard Louis, popular comedy purveyors; Patsy Ruth Miller and Rin-Tin-Tin, the wonder dog, whose "The Night

Albert Warner, of Warner Brothers

Twenty-Six Warner Winners Listed on 1926-27 Program

Cry'' is the latest of his many outstanding picture hits.

The complete list of the Twenty-Six Warner Winners follows, with a brief summary of each:

Monte Blue in ''The Brute,'' by W. Douglas Newton, directed by Millard Webb. It is the story of the sluggish South American rivers and treacherous jungles; a conflict of primitive passions; a glimpse of the naked souls of a man and woman, tripped of the veneer of civilization.

''My Official Wife,'' with Irene Rich as the star. The story is by Richard Henry Savage and will be directed by Millard Webb. It was adapted from a famous drama of a decade ago and will present Miss Rich in one of the most vivid characters ever brought to the screen.

Dolores Costello in ''The College Widow,'' the stage hit written by that leader of humorists, George Ade. As a stage play ''The College Widow'' scored a success in nearly every city and town in the United States. It should give Dolores Costello an exceptional opportunity both for the display of gorgeous gowns and her ability as a screen actress. The direction of this production will be in the competent hands of Lewis Milestone.

''Hills of Kentucky'' is the apt title for the Rin-Tin-Tin starring vehicle by Leroy Whitney to be directed by Herman Raymaker, who has directed the best pictures this wonder dog has made. It is expected that this newest starring vehicle will take its place with ''The Night Cry,'' and ''Tracked in the Snow Country,'' two of the greatest pictures ever made by an animal star.

''Millionaires'' from the novel ''The Inevitable Millionaires'' by E. Phillips Oppenheim's story in which Louise Fazenda will be starred with Willard Louis. The picture will be directed by Roy Del Ruth. Louis has a million to spend and Miss Fazenda ably assists him in doing it. They are expected to get a billion dollars of comedy out of it.

''What Happened to Father'' is a Patsy Ruth Miller starring vehicle, and she will have her greatest role in this Mary Roberts Rinehart story in which this famous authoress glorifies the American father. It is a tale of the trials and tribulations of dear old Dad, and Lewis Milestone will direct.

Another of the Dolores Costello starring vehicles will be ''Irish Hearts.'' It is described as a comedy-drama that will quicken the heart throbs. It is a modern story of modern Ireland by Walter Morosco and Miss Costello will again be directed by Millard Webb.

Another of the Irene Rich starring vehicles will be ''The Climbers,'' a story of the widest popularity from the pen of Clyde Fitch. It is a society drama of those people who strive for social supremacy.

''Bitter Apples,'' the Monte Blue starring vehicle, is by Harold MacGrath, the widely-known author who was responsible for ''The Man on the Box.'' It is a rich, fast-moving drama with its scenes shifting from New York to the tropics. James Flood will direct. ''Dearie,'' by Caroline Wills is a melodramatic comedy starring Louise Fazenda and Willard Louis.

Patsy Ruth Miller will be seen in an Arthur Somers Roche story as yet untitled. It is said to be one of the most Warner home office executives. From left to right. Joe Hummel, contract department; Sam Schneider, comptroller; Herman Starr, organization expert; Watt Parker, director of advertising and publicity; Philip Abrahams, home office staff. Bottom row: Thomas W. Gerety, trade paper and national advertising; George W. Bonte, art director; C. C. Ryan, purchasing department; Wm. C. Murphy, Publicity; Albert S. Howson, scenario director appealing stories ever written by this famous author. It is a romantic adventure story that abounds with action.

"What Every Girl Should Know" is a title that should appeal generally to motion picture patrons. It will be presented with a carefully selected cast, and will have the benefit of direction by James Flood. John Wagner has written a powerful story which should divulge some sensational information and create much criticism.

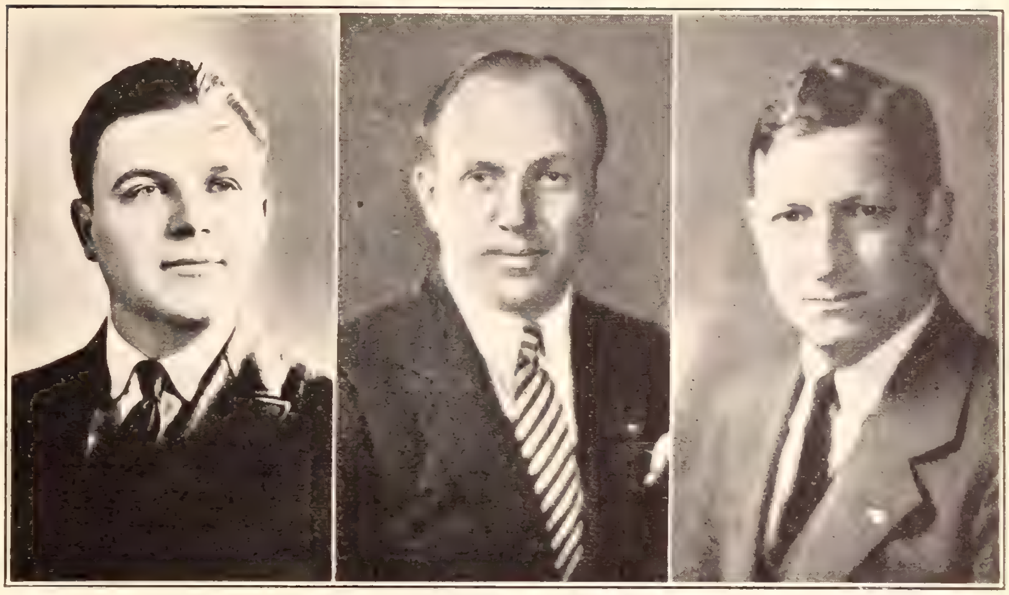
What is described as one of the year's champion thrillers will be "Across the Pacific," a Monte Blue starring vehicle by Charles E. Blaney, with the direction in the hands of Herman Raymaker. Blaney is said to have provided all the thrills that have made his name a household word. Monte has a role that should fit him like a glove, and he will be given a strong supporting cast.

"Don't Tell The Wife," will give Irene Rich further opportunity for the display of her talents in a story that suits her down to the ground. It is a photoplay daring in dramatic conception, striking in situation and heart stirring in its audience appeal. E. T. Lowe, Jr., is the author and Roy Del Ruth will direct.

Rin-Tin-Tin will be seen in that rugged melodrama of the limehouse district of London, "While London Sleeps." This is a new setting for Rinty but will provide him with every opportunity to display his versatility and acting ability. It is said to be replete with thrills. The story is by Darryl Francis Zanuck.

"White Flannels" is an unusual screen story of tennis; the tale of a little back-lot urchin who climbs to the tennis championship. It is the first time such a story has been produced on the screen and should prove a vital human interest romance. It is adapted for the screen from the Saturday Evening Post story by Lucian Cary and will be directed by William Beaudine with an all-star cast.

Another all-star cast will be presented in "Matinee Ladies," from the story by Albert S. Howson and S. R. Buchman. This picture will be directed by Roy Del Ruth.



Executives of the Warner Brothers' West Coast Studio, left to right: Raymond Schrock, Jack L. Warner, Production Chief, and William Koenig

Louise Fazenda will have one of her greatest opportunities in "Simple Sis," the temporary title for the Darryl Francis Zanuck story to be directed by Lewis Milestone. It will bring back good old Sis, the lovable little tom-boy with a hundred good-natured tricks.

"The Heart of Maryland," by David Belasco, starring Dolores Costello, supported by a big cast of well known players, is andother on the list.

"The Black Diamond Express" is another of the Monte Blue thrillers. It is a reckless, daring and wild trip through thrill land and abounds in suspense, romance and thrills. The story is by Darryl Francis Zanuck, and direction will be by Herman Raymaker.

Charles Klein's powerful melodrama, "The Third Degree," will be the starring vehicle for Patsy Ruth Miller. It will give her a role in which she is bound to be seen at her best, as it exactly suits her particular talents. She will also have the benefit of direction by Millard Webb. An untitled mystery drama by Arthur Somers Roche will be among the big pictures on the schedule.

Dolores Costello will be seen in "A Million Bid," by George Cameron under the direction of Millard Webb. It is a dramatic romance with a society background, with the girl placed on the matrimonial auction block for sale to the highest bidder.

"Private Izzy Murphy," starring George Jessel, vaudeville headliner and musical comedy star, is a Warner Winner.

Rin-Tin-Tin will be seen as the star in "Tracked by the Police," by Gregory Rogers, and again the wonder dog will be directed by Herman Raymaker. It is a melodrama of the great outdoors, and like all others of Rin-Tin-Tin's, is bound to be a box-office sensation.

Last but not least on the Twenty-six Warner Winners, is "The Gay Old Bird," which will again bring together Louise Fazenda and Willard Louis in a story by Virginia Dale, directed by James Flood. Louis is the gay old bird with a penchant for the cuties of the chorus, until he meets "the peppiest girl in town," who proves to be his own daughter. Miss Fazenda and Louis will provide even more fun than usual in this one.

THROUGH the extensive Warner Brothers studio properties in both east and west, Jack L. Warner, production chief, has been enabled to turn out during the past season the type of screen entertainment that has

Views of the Warner Brothers studios. At extreme ends are the Los Angeles studios and in the center is the Brooklyn plant

West and East Coast Radio Stations to Publicize Warner Product been good news to the box office throughout the country.

It is a known fact that since the Warners took over the eastern and western plants of the old Vitagraph company, they have co-ordinated one of the biggest motion pictures studios in the world. The combined working facilities of the Warner studio in Brooklyn, and the two in Hollywood, make it possible for the organization to produce at one time an unlimited number of productions. In this connection they are in a position to complete justice to stories calling for either an eastern or western locals.

Jack L. Warner, the generalissimo of all productions being distributed by Warner Brothers, supervises every department aligned with production, from the technical staff to the laboratory, the directors, scenarists, electricians, etc. His associate executive is Raymond Schrock, the man behind many big productions at Universal City and elsewhere.

In the past years, the Warner organization had to depend upon outside laboratories for their prints when the load was extra heavy. Since the merger, the Warners have their own laboratories on both ends of the continent. As a consequence, they injected a new system in the handling of prints. After a print has been in use for a certain length of time, it is automatically returned to either the west coast laboratories, or the eastern plant. Those prints in use west of the Rockies are returned to the coast studios, while those in work east of the Rockies are shipped to the Warner laboratory in Brooklyn. Thus, exhibitors are assured receiving prints that have been completely inspected and fit for presentation.

View of the interior of the radio studio at the Warner Brothers Hollywood plant

The Hollywood plant has a combined floor space of 85,000 square feet. On this huge area it is possible to accommodate anywhere from twelve to fifteen companies with ease and efficiency. At the second Warner studio in Hollywood, there is also ample room to accomodate a large number of working units. The working space covers an area of 97,525 square feet, and this allows room for three open-air studios and four stages in the studio proper.

Adjacent to the coast studios, are the departments supplying the working materials for the various productions. There are cutting rooms, wardrobe departments, architectural, electrical, drapery shops, camera repair shops, garage, blacksmith shop, a big lumber yard, an iron mill, aviary, dressing rooms—in short, everything essential or appertaining to the making of motion pictures.

A striking feature of the new Warner laboratory on the coast is that it is capable of handling 2,000,000 feet of film every twenty-four hours. This is unquestionably a tremendous output and conveys in a way what facilities are on hand under Jack L. Warner's jurisdiction for the production in every detail of the finest of motion pictures.

The electrical plant, with its powerful generating sets capable of flooding, illuminating and turning night into day a city of 60,000 people, conveys some idea of the magnitude of the Warner plan of picture making. As a unit, this electrical plant is up to the minute in the latest improvements in the electrical world.

At the eastern studios in Brooklyn, the Warners have ample space for production. It is one of the oldest, yet one of the best equipped studios in the east. While its stages are seldom active, the fact remains that the organization is equipped at all times to make use of the plant.

No motion picture producing or distributing company in the United States has the interest of the exhibitor more at heart than Warner Bros., nor does any give the exhibitor wider or more varied service. In addition to pursuing all of the usual channels through which publicity and advertising may be dispensed to the best advantage to the box-office of the exhibitor, Warners are constantly adding to this service until they are now unrivalled in the field.

Warner Bros. is the one producing or distributing concern in the industry to maintain its own radio broadcasting stations. Through these stations news of Warner pictures and Warner players, as well as complete and varied programs of every description, are put on the air daily and nightly and are picked up by millions of listeners-in—in all parts of the United States.

Among the features of these programs is the announcement of cities, towns and theatres in which Warner pictures are being played. This broadcasting is not merely a theoretical success. It is an unqualified success for the company and the exhibitors in an advertising and publicity way, as is attested by the thousands of applause cards and letters that are received daily at the radio headquarters of Warner Bros.

At the present time, Warners maintain two of these radio broadcasting stations, one at the West Coast Studios in Hollywood and the other at the Warner Theatre, Broadway and 52nd Street, New York City. Not satisfied that even this exhibitor service cannot be improved upon, Warners are now negotiating for a third station to be opened in the Middle West, thus completing the chain across the continent, and connecting with listeners-in in every city, town and hamlet in the United States. This is an expensive undertaking for this most progressive of picture concerns, but the reaction to the benefit of the exhibitor makes it a well worth while expenditure, according to Warner officials.

The first of the present two Warner stations was opened at the Hollywood studios of the company in March, 1925. It is registered as station KFWB and is operated on a 252-meter wave length.

View of the Radio Masts at KWFB, the Warner Brothers Radio station at the Hollywood Studios

Sam Morris Announces Group Selling of Twenty-Six Winners

Its two imposing 150-foot towers rise directly in front of the studio.

The East Coast station is known to hundreds of thousands of radio fans who listen in nightly as WBPI, which initials stand for Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. The Eastern station has a wave length of 263 meters and its strength at present is 500 watts.

The Eastern station has put many motion picture stars on the air, described athletic and boxing events from the spot at which they take place, and covers all the leading affairs around New York. Music comprises a large part of the program, whose regular features also include religious hours and cooking lessons, but all the time Warner pictures are being driven home to the listeners.

Stars on the Warner lot at the West Coast studio get a lot of pleasure out of Station KFWB and have proven of invaluable assistance to exhibitors not only in the Western states, but in Canada, Hawaii, Alaska, Samoa and other points in the Far East. These stars at regular intervals act as guest announcers, when also are announced news of Warner productions and items of engagements of Warner Bros. pictures at adjacent theatres. In addition to the regular programs, through a tie-up with the Illustrated Daily News of Los Angeles, news items, stock reports and sporting events are broadcasted, giving the programs a variety that is probably not equaled by the bills of any other station.

The maintenance of these stations in Hollywood and New York and the one to be established in Chicago requires the services of a large organization of radio experts, but they were erected for service to the exhibitor and public alike, and Warner Bros. are more than pleased with results obtained through them.

WARNER BROS. have a bit of good exploitation news for exhibitors playing their pictures. Always known as a firm believer in big exploitation ideas that are different, the Warners this year offered a country-wide tie-up that will even surpass their famous auto float that traveled from coast to coast putting over their classics in the anti-censorship crusade of three years ago.

The plan already launched is a country-wide tie-up in key city centres by means of a floating radio truck which will travel from the studio in Los Angeles to the New York office, broadcasting the Twenty-six Warner Winners on the way over a period of several months, so that every important locality will be reached.

Sam E. Morris, General Manager of Distribution for Warner Brothers

The truck, which started from Hollywood May 4, will stop long enough in each city to let everyone within the surrounding miles know all about Warner Winners and the exhibitors who will play them. It will blanket the country, reaching every locality with the news that Warner pictures will be seen at certain theatres, and telling the public all about the stars and the 1926-27 program.

Among other exploitation plans under way by Warner Brothers as exhibitor aids is a nation-wide exploitation service which will take in districts from coast to coast, and is aimed to help sell the picture to the public for the local exhibitors.

As rapidly as possible, capable exploitation men will be engaged; men experienced in newspaper work, theatre management and who are proven showmen. One of the important bits of knowledge they must have is territorial information. They will not tell the exhibitors what to do, but will go out and do it.

Although the exploitation men in the field will be under the supervision of the home office, their work in localities will be guided entirely by the branch managers and the requirements of individual exhibitors. In other words, the men will work in districts instead of individual branch offices, and will be sent to the spot where aid is especially needed, so that exhibitors can call on the Warner local exchange for help any time and be sure that there are exploitation men in the district to give it to him.

IN formulating the sales policy for the forthcoming series of Warner Bros.' twenty-six productions, Sam E. Morris, general manager in charge of distribution, made known that the series will be sold in group during the early part of the new season.

"There are several reasons for the pursuance of the policy we have inaugurated for the new season's product," said Morris. "Our past year's sales and our amicable relations with exhibitors, and the favorable and highly commendable reports direct from the theatre owners concerning the box-office value of our product, has made it possible for us to begin the coming season somewhat in advance of previous years.

"The fact that we are able to offer the exhibitors twenty-six productions early this fall, indicates in no small measure what results our exhibitor friends have obtained from our 1925-26 product. Each production is a distinctly individual feature, from its inception to completion, with an excellent story, cast of popular players, and efficient directorialship. Many of them could really be called specials.

"In presenting the new series early this fall, it will make it possible for all exhibitors to fit the product in their year's schedule. Our sales organization can safely be said to be one of the finest in the business. As most everybody in the industry knows, when we took over the Vitagraph company we acquired an organization that had to be entirely overhauled. Since that period our sales force has been manned with the best available live-wires in the business. They have been instructed to work on an equitable basis with exhibitors We wantt to live and let live.

"If we can both (exhibitor and distributor) make money, then our mutual ends have been met and our business relations will of course be most cordial. In any event, our primary purpose is to make it possible to do business on a sound businesslike basis, without endangering the valuable properties of the theatre owners.

"Our production chief is well ahead of schedule at this date. An imposing list of box-office productions have been lined up. The season is just ahead, and we are ready to furnish the exhibitors throughout the country the first group of twenty-six individually planned productions."

Warner Bros. exchanges are now located in the following cities: Albany, N. Y.; Atlanta, Ga.; Boston, Mass.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Charlotte, N. C.; Chicago, Ill.; Cincinnati, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio; Dallas, Texas; Denver, Colo.;

Warner sales executives and branch managers. Left to right: C. R. Osborn, Montreal; E. L. Alperson, St. Louis; Wolfe Cohen, St. John; Frank Meyers, Toronto; R. W. Wilson, Vancouver; D. Farquhar, Winnipeg. Second row: James O. Kent, Pittsburgh; J. N. Byrd, Oklahoma City; Earl A. Bell, Omaha; W. K. Beckwith, Portland, Ore.; W. H. Rankin, Salt Lake City; Morgan Walsh, San Francisco. Third row: Lloyd Willis, home office representative; Edwin Silverman, Chicago; C. W. Bunn, home office representative; J. S. Hebrew, Philadelphia; Nat Barach, division manager, Cleveland; Herbert E. Elder, division manager, Boston. Fourth row: Geo. Balsdon, Jr., New Jersey; Harry Lustig, division manager, Los Angeles; Ben F. Lyon, division manager at Toronto; Arthur Abeles, division manager, New York; Harry Decker, Brooklyn; Nat Beier, New York. Fifth row: Joseph Levy, Kansas City; M. A. Hulling, Los Angeles; A. C. Brauninger; Thos. A. Burke, Minneapolis; Thos. A. Guinan, New Orleans; Harry Olshan, New Haven. Sixth row: J. E. Huey, Dallas; J. V. Allan, Detroit; Charles Gilmour, Denver; Jack Stewart, Cincinnati; Dudley Williston, Indianapolis; M. W. Davis, Charlotte

Dolores Costello Starred in Series of Warner Productions

Dolores Costello, Warner Brothers new stellar player

Des Moines, Iowa; Detroit, Mich.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Kansas City, Mo.; Los Angeles, Cal.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Minneapolis, Minn.; New Orleans, La.; New Haven, Conn.; New Jersey, N. J.; New York City, N. Y.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Omaha, Neb.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Pittsburgh, Pa.; Seattle, Wash.; St. Louis, Mo.; Washington, D. C.; Calgary, Canada (S. O.); Montreal, Canada; St. John, N. B., Canada; Toronto, 2, Canada; Vancouver, Canada; Winnipeg, Canada.

THE crystallization of an ideal long sought has been realized by Warner Bros. by the acquisition of foreign branch offices throughout Europe with efficient and complete distribution, and in certain spots facilities for the production of motion pictures. This foreign chain, which was taken over with the merger of the old Vitagraph company, is under the management of Gus Schlesinger, one of the oldest and best known foreign managers in the industry.

It is significant to note that only within the past year have the Warner Brothers been able to distribute their product throughout Europe. Prior to that time their pictures were sold to franchise holders in England, France, Germany, etc. Now Schlesinger has so outlined the various foreign offices, that each functions as a distinct and separate unit. In Paris, for example, R. A. Reader has been appointed general manager of the French territory; in London, John Pearson has been made general manager of ten English offices. Schlesinger has established offices in Berlin, from which point he keeps in close contact with the rest of Europe.

When Harry M. Warner returned from a six weeks' tour of Europe which took him to London, Berlin and Paris, he made known some interesting details in connection with the Warner Brothers foreign distribution.

"Our foreign offices are now a complete unit in themselves," said Warner, "and they are functioning in great style. Foreign distribution has grown to enormous proportions during the past few years, and the Europeans have come to the point where they see practically nothing else but American made pictures. Of course, there are producers in England, France, Germany and in Italy. What some of them are now producing will bear watching. As I told the foreign press during my recent visit, America is ready to absorb all the worth while pictures they can make. Our relations abroad are the friendliest, and we are doing business that is fair and square and above board with the theatre owners. And it is our purpose to keep on doing so."

Throughout England and France there are many branch offices. In England, headquarters are in London in charge of Pearson, with branch offices in Birmingham, Leeds, Liverpool, Manchester, Newcastle on Tyne, Glasgow, Scotland, Cardiff, Wales, and Dublin, Irish Free State. Throughout France, with headquarters in Paris in charge of Reader, offices are in Bordeaux, Lille, Lyons, Marseille, Nancy, Strassbourg. Other branches are in Brussels, Belgium; Geneva, Switzerland; and Algiers, Egypt.

Gus Schlesinger, Manager of Foreign Distribution for Warner Brothers

Warner Brothers' pictures are now girding the globe, if that phrase may be permitted. Not only is Europe sewed up in distribution, but also the Latin-American countries, the Orient, South America, Africa, Australia, etc. In fact, there isn't a foreign country that is not at present distributing the Warner Brothers' product. The crystallization of an ideal, born several years ago by the Warners, has come to pass within the short space of a year. And that is an achievement.

TO satisfy the demand for Dolores Costello, one of the screen finds of the year, Warner Brothers, discoverers of this star, announce that she will appear in a series of pictures on

Louise Fazenda and Willard Louis, who will be starred by Warner Brothers in productions on the new schedule

Louise Fazenda and Willard Louis to be Starred in New Program

their 1926-27 program of Winners.

Miss Costello is one of the newest and brightest personalities on the screen, and has been put under a long-term contract by the Warner Brothers. Her performances in the first two productions in which she played important parts won her instant and universal approval.

She has risen to the pedestal of stardom on a wave of popularity. Her work in small parts attracted the attention of other producers, and she was borrowed by Famous Players to play the leading role in "Mannequin."

In "The Sea Beast," Warner Brothers' production starring John Barrymore, she excelled all her former work, and the best indication of the popularity that is now hers are the following excerpts from press criticisms on the New York opening of "The Sea Beast":

Julia Harpman, in the Daily News, said: "We predict Miss Costello will be the screen's greatest woman actress."

Irene Creelman, in the American: "Dolores Costello is one of the finest actresses on the screen."

Harriette Underhill, Herald Tribune: ". . . the unbelievably perfect Dolores Costello."

Sam Marks, in Zits: "Dolores Costello is supremely perfect. We can foresee nothing but success for her."

Frank Vreeland, New York Telegram: "A lovely lady worth fighting for—Miss Costello goes one more step towards her own stardom."

George T. Pardy, Motion Picture News: ". . . nor can the most hard-boiled critic fail to voice admiration of the alluring grace and beauty of the heroine, Dolores Costello."

John Spargo, Exhibitors' Herald: "'The Sea Beast' confirms our opinion that Dolores Costello is one of the finest actresses on the screen."

These are but few of the many splendid criticisms acknowledging her great performance in this production, and Warner Brothers are given great credit for bringing her to light. The producers are preparing special pictures in which she will be starred, and great care has been exercised in the selection of vehicles for her.

INCLUDED in the first group of Warner Brothers' twenty-six productions for the season of 1926-27, will be a number of starring productions by Willard Louis and Louise Fazenda.

The decision to place Louis and Miss Fazenda in stellar roles was brought about directly by the exhibitors who were sold on their box-office pulling power.

Each starring vehicle for these artists will be greater than its predecessor, it is said. This, by virtue of the fact that a constant building up of a star with adequate screen stories, supporting cast and director, will enhance the value of the star as a box-office attraction. Toward this end, a number of big stories have been secured for this new team.

A review of the careers of both Fazenda and Louis reveals at once the strides they have made toward stardom. While both have not appeared in all Warner productions, they have been used by other companies in pictures which Jack L. Warner considered would help build up the popularity and prestige of these players.

Miss Fazenda, as everyone knows, is a graduate of the Sennett school of laughter, where her pigtails and gingham dresses flitted through scores of comedies. Since her entry into the more serious drama, she has risen to greater heights and her elevation to stardom is well earned.

Willard Louis was first brought to screen prominence with his portrayal of the Prince of Wales in "Beau Brummel." He was signed immediately after that production by Jack L. Warner, and during the past year has steadily gained in popularity.

The first of the series of Fazenda and Louis comedies is already under way and will be released with the 1926-27 program.

THE Warner Brothers producing organization has for the past two years experimented with players until only those who have established box-office reputations remain on the list of those under long-term contracts. This elimination process has now achieved its ultimate result, and the Warners can present stars whose names outside a theatre guarantee satisfactory box-office results and a well satisfied patronage.

Monte Blue is a splendid indication of the calibre of stars to be presented by Warner Brothers. This young actor has appeared in some of the most successful pictures produced in the last two or three years. Many are the theatre owners and managers who have requested a Monte Blue production to pull up business destroyed by the screening of bad pictures.

He will be seen in a series of big outdoor productions similar in type to "The Limited Mail," a decision by the producers which will fill the tremendous demand for this star in pictures of this type.

Warner Brothers' Stars, left to right: Rin-Tin-Tin, Irene Rich, Patsy Ruth Miller and Monte Blue

Many Stars and Featured Players in Line-Up for New Season

"Lady Windermere's Fan," and "Silken Shackles" are but two of a long line of successes in which Irene Rich has proven herself as a consistent and great actress. Her admirers are manifold and her work is regarded as the acme of histrionic ability. She has been deservedly referred to as "the Bernhardt of the screen," and her pictures are always looked forward to with eager interest. It is unnecessary to speak of her box-office value. Past performances of productions in which she has starred speak for themselves. On the new production program Warner Brothers will present her in pictures adapted from famous plays and novels, and her customary sterling performances will put them among the big screen achievements of the season.

George Jessel, musical comedy and vaudeville headliner, has been signed to a three-year contract and will appear in a number of Warner pictures, the first of which will be "Private Izzy Murphy."

What is looked forward to as becoming one of the funniest and most popular screen comedy teams will be seen in a number of pictures on the new Warner schedule. Louise Fazenda and Willard Louis, both popular in their own right, will unite their efforts to provide screen entertainment for their large public. Special vehicles have been prepared for this pair of comedy aces and those acquainted with their plans have their laughing apparatus already in training. The past performances of these two stars are too well known to need mention, and millions will raid the box-office to witness their antics in their forthcoming Warner Brothers features.

Patsy Ruth Miller is another Warner star of undisputed popularity. She has risen to stardom through her splendid work in some of the finest pictures produced. Her performance in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" brought her well earned fame, and her success in her lastest Warner production, "Why Girls Go Back Home," ranks her among the biggest box-office bets in the industry. The coming season will see her in productions adapted from the best stories to be obtained.

"The Night Cry," in addition to being one of the best pictures of its type yet produced, establishes its canine star, Rin-Tin-Tin, as a box-office bet. Reports from the field on all this dog's pictures can be summed up in the brief statement, "a clean-up," and his productions on the new schedule are planned bigger and better than ever.

In addition to the above star line-up, a list of stock players under long-term contracts, and chosen for their stellar possibilities, have been signed to play important roles in pictures now being prepared for 1926-27. The girls were selected for their beauty and dramatic ability, and they have already proven their worth in several Warner Brothers productions. John Patrick and Heinie Conklin are also on this list of contract players, and both are familiar to the public for their splendid work in supporting roles.

Helene Costello, sister of Dolores, who played the leading feminine role with Lowell Sherman in "The Love Toy," is one of two players in that production to be signed; the other being Myrna Loy, the Warner Brothers' blonde vamp. Both of these young actresses give every promise of winning stellar honors and will be seen in many of the big productions on the new season's schedule.

Directors of Warner Brothers productions. Left to right, top row—Millard Webb, Alan Crosland, James Flood, C. Francis "Chuck" Reisner and J. Stuart Blackton; bottom row—Roy Del Ruth, William Beaudine, Herman Raymaker, Walter Morosco and Lewis Milestone

Large Number of Prominent Directors Will Make Warner Winners

Doris Hill, another talented miss and a newcomer to the screen whose beauty has won her an opportunity and a contract on the Warner lot, will be cast in special roles in forthcoming pictures, and judging from reports received from the coast her future is assured.

John Patrick has appeared in many of Warner Brothers' productions including "The Cave Man" and "The Honeymoon Express," and his subtle comedy has won him a unique place on the screen. Heinie Conklin has also played in several pictures for this concern, chief among which are "The Night Cry," starring Rin-Tin-Tin, and "The Sap."

YOUTH, new ideas, fresh creative genius, the essentials upon which the motion picture industry depends for its existence, are much in evidence in the Warner Brothers' directorial line-up, and each of these directors, in spite of his youth, has established himself beyond doubt a consistent box-office record breaker.

The directors selected by Warner Brothers, and assigned to produce next year's production program, are without doubt among the pick of their profession. They are much in demand, and when not actually working on the Warner lots are loaned out to direct other stars.

Millard Webb, maker of "The Sea Beast," has been loaned to Joseph M. Schenck, United Artists, to direct Norma Talmadge's next feature. Each of his past productions have established him as a success, but "The Sea Beast" has put him in a class with the biggest and most successful directors in the industry.

Webb will produce five pictures on the 1926-27 Warner Brothers production program, including an adaptation of a famous play, "My Official Wife" and two widely-read novels, "The Brute," and "A Million Bid." The other two are "Irish Hearts" and "The Third Degree."

Lewis Milestone will direct four pictures, also adaptations of famous plays and novels by well-known authors, "Dearie," "What Happened to Father," "The College Widow," and "Simple Sis."

Herman Raymaker has made his mark in motion picture production and will be responsible for "Across the Pacific," "Tracked by the Police," "The Hills of Kentucky" and "The Black Diamond Express," on next season's program.

William Beaudine, one of the directors in greatest demand on the West Coast, has just completed Mary Pickford's two last pictures, which proves beyond doubt his undisputed success. His productions on the Warner program for 1926-27 will be "White Flannels," and two others as yet untitled.

Among the better-known box-office directors is Roy Del Ruth. His humorous titles and hilarious comedies have amused audiences all over the world. His last Warner Brothers picture, "Hogan's Alley," was successful throughout the country, and his productions on the new schedule will without doubt prove equally as popular. "The Inevitable Millionaire," "Don't Tell the Wife," "The Florentine Dagger," and "Matinee Ladies," will be sponsored by this comedy director.

Authors of stories for Warner productions. Left to right: Charles E. Blaney, E. Phillips Oppenheim, Virginia Dale, Mary Roberts Reinhart, Carolyn Wells, Lucian Cary, Ben Hecht. Second row: George Ade, Charles Klein, Harold McGrath, Clyde Fitch, Victorien Sardou, Arthur Somers Roche.

Seventeen Popular Authors Contribute Story Material to Program

Walter Morosco was graduated by the Warners from scenario writer to director. His assignment was the Irene Rich starring vehicle, "Silken Shackles," which at a private showing was said to be one of this star's best productions. For his splendid work on this feature he has been signed to produce "The Climbers" for next season.

One of the successful pictures on the 1925-26 Warner program is "Why Girls Go Back Home," directed by James Flood, who has consistently batted one hundred per cent at the box office with each of his pictures. "Bitter Apples," "Divorcons," "The Gay Old Bird," and "What Every Girl Should Know," will be made under his master hand.

SEVENTEEN of the world's best known writers of fiction will be among the authors who will provide the stories for the first twenty-six pictures on the Warner Brothers' 1926-27 production schedule.

Millions of readers the world over will be familiar with the titles of these productions, and will be eagerly awaiting the picturizations of the most interesting stories they have ever read.

Warner Brothers were among the first to bring the greatest literary classics to the silversheet, and have from year to year continued a policy providing for the production of stories from the pens of famous authors. Each succeeding year has proven their policy more valuable from every angle, and Warner's 1926-27 production schedule includes the names of many of the modern writers.

The undisputed value of the names of these authors will add one hundred per cent to the value of the pictures adapted from their stories. The titles of these productions will be as familiar to the public as are the names of the stars featured in them. This is a combination in the motion picture field which cannot be beaten from an exploitation angle.

The selection of stories has been made with a careful eye to their motion picture potentialities, and only those which contained the elements necessary to their adaptation to the screen were finally decided upon. Those which have been chosen are as widely diversified in the theme, plot, locale and style as the fertile brains of the geniuses which conceived them could well make them.

George Ade, one of the best writers of wholesome comedy-drama with effective human touches, which make his works masterpieces, is one of the authors to be presented by Warner Brothers. Hisc contribution will be "The College Widow," which enjoyed a long and successful run as one of the best plays produced in this country.

E. Phillips Oppenheim, known as one of the greatest writers of mystery yarns in the world, offers "The Inevitable Millionaire," under the Warner banner, a story that contains all the unexpected twists and thrilling situations for which this great author is so well known.

Mary Roberts Rhinehart, who won a niche in the hall of literary fame with stories of the great outdoors and superb comedies which created sensations on their publication, will greatly enhance her present world-wide popularity when her screen version of "What Happened to Father" is released.

"The Divorcons," another famous play by the two eminent French authors and playwrights, Victorien Sardou and Emil de Najac, is typical of the splendid calibre of all the stories and plays chosen for production.

Arthur Somers Roche will contribute two of his beloved romances; Carolyn Wells and Virginia Dale are two women authors who have earned enviable reputations in the literary world and will contribute respectively, "Dearie" and "The Gay Old Bird."

Charles E. Blaney's old melodrama "Across the Pacific" will be looked

Warner Brothers scenarists. Left to right, top row—Edward Clark, Bess Meredyth, Maude Fulton, Mary O'Hara and Darryl Francis Zanuck; bottom row—John Wagner, Philip Klein, Ewart Adams, Robert Hopkins and E. T. Lowe, Jr.

Foreign Directors and Writers Added to Warner Production Staff forward to by all book lovers as one of the pictures which holds greater possibilities than any "meller" yet produced.

"The Third Degree," by Charles Klein; "My Official Wife," by Richard Henry Savage; "White Flannels," by Lucien Cary; "What Every Girl Should Know," by John Wagner; "Hills of Kentucky," by Leroy Whitney, "Bitter Apples," by Harold McGrath; "The Climbers," by Clyde Fitch; "The Woman Tamer," by Stanley Shaw; "The Florentine Dagger," by Ben Hecht; "The Brute," by W. Douglas Newton, and "A Million Bid," by George Cameron, are other widely read stories and plays by these famous authors which Warner Brothers will produce for the coming season.

THE youth and established ability much in evidence in the scenarists signed by Warner Brothers to prepare the 1926-27 production schedule is in keeping with this company's policy of new talent, fresh creative genius, and the enthusiasm of youth in the production of its pictures.

Each writer signed has a long list of successful achievements behind him. All have, without exception, been associated with the biggest directors in the industry, and have made adaptations of many of the world's greatest literary classics.

Bess Meredyth is one of the best-known of screen writers, and was responsible for the adaptation of "Ben Hur." She was later engaged to adapt Herman Melville's famous story of the sea, "Moby Dick." "Don Juan," the second of the Warner's Barrymore series, is another production adapted by her, and several of the biggest features planned on the Warner Brothers' new program will come from her pen.

Hal Wallis, in charge of publicity at Warner Brothers Hollywood studios

Paul Ludwig Stein, German Director, signed by Warner Brothers

Edward T. Lowe, Jr., who adapted to the screen Victor Hugo's "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," has also written many Warner Brothers successes. Lowe will be responsible for pictures already in preparation for Warner Brothers' new schedule.

John Wagner and Philip Klein have both earned envious reputations as writers of the best short stories, and both are experienced scenarists, having adapted many famous stories to the screen for the largest producing organizations in the industry. They have been assigned the adaptations of important features, and their past performances guarantee the value of their work.

Not content with scouring only this country in his efforts to secure the best screen writers in the world, Harry M. Warner went to Europe and signed some of the best talent to be discovered there. He returned with a contract under which Robert Leiberman, recognized as one of the best writers for the screen in the world, will undertake to adapt several of Warner Brothers most important productions. Herr Leiberman has been responsible for many of the best pictures that came out of Germany, and his work for Warner Brothers is looked forward to with eager interest.

The author of "The Humming Bird," Maude Fulton, one of the greatest legitimate stage successes of this era, is another of the well-known screen writers signed to prepare the 'scripts for productions on the new program. Miss Fulton has made a specialty of adapting screen material, and is regarded as an expert in screen writing.

Darryl Francis Zanuck will be well remembered for the many successes he wrote for Warner Brothers on their 1925-26 production schedule. He is already at work adapting material purchased for production on the new schedule. Another scenarist known for his work in adapting many literary classics to the screen is Edwart Adamson.

WARNER BROTHERS publicity is the perpetual spotlight, riveting public attention on Warner Brothers' productions. It is a never-ceasing, globe-encircling stream of constantly renewed information on the activities, stars, productions and all matters pertaining to the making of Warner's pictures.

The volume of publicity obtained by this producing organization, when measured as newspaper space, totaled the amount of 500,000 columns for the past year. This is the result of a service which reaches a total of 3,500 newspapers, giving them all the up-to-the-minute news at regular and frequent intervals.

DETERMINED to give the exhibitors the very best obtainable in directors and writers as well as stars, Warner Brothers went to Germany and Austria this year and made additions to the directorial and writing staffs in the persons of Paul Ludwig Stein, Michael Courtice, noted Viennese director, and Robert Lieberman, noted writer.

Herr Stein graduated from the continental theatre, where he was associated with Ernst Lubitsch, to the directorial end of the Sacha Film Company in Vienna. From there he went to Germany and became associated with Ufa, making "Martyrium" and "La Traviata" with Pola Negri, presented in America under the title of "The Red Peacock." Other productions by this director were "The Lion of Venice" for Emelka and the Trianon picture "A Dream of Happiness."

Michael Courtice directed "Moon of Israel" for Sascha productions in Austria. Warner Brothers will turn over to Stein and Courtice the biggest of their coming productions.

Robert Lieberman is known today as one of the foremost cinema writers in Europe. He has written and adapted for Ufa some of their biggest successes and was recommended by Ernst Lubitsch.

Short Subjects and Serials

Hal Roach Signs Mabel Normand for Series

UPON the completion of "Raggedy Rose," Mabel Normand's first comedy since her return to the screen, Hal Roach has signed her to a contract whereby she will be seen in a series of two reel comedies for release through Pathe.

Miss Normand arrived in New York Thursday, April 29th, to arrange her business affairs before returning to the coast abcut the early part of June to make her first comedy under the Roach and Pathe banners.

Red Seal to Make 'Magic' Reels for Coming Season

During the coming season Red Seal Pictures will release thirteen one reelers to be known as "Keeping 'em Guessing." They will be made with the Magicians Club of America, and Max Fleischer, who will supervise production, announces "will be entertainment of an amusing sort, exposing innumerable parlor tricks and magician stunts."

Henry Whittemore, John Kane, Martha Madison and others are featured and Morris Riskind will title and edit the series. Floyd Buckley is directing and Frank Zukor is chief cameraman.

Cast for New Witwer Series Completed

The cast of "Bill Grim's Progress," the first of two new series of "featurettes" based on the magazine stories of H. C. Witwer, has been completed. The leading feminine role will be played by Margaret Morris and the hero will be Jack Luden. Gertude Short will enact the part of Pansy and Grant Withers, the "heavy" in the current Witwer series, "Fighting Hearts," will have a similar role in the new series. The two comedians Al Cooke and Kit Guard will continue their antics.

Finishing "Fighting Hearts"; Title Selected

The title of the final chapter of the F. B. O. series, "Fighting Hearts" has been selected. It is "All's Well That Ends Well" and will mark the last short subject in which Alberta Vaughan will appear as she is scheduled to star in a series of features to be produced next season by F. B. O.

"Mum's the Word" Title of New Pathe Comedy

Under the supervision of F. Richard Jones, Leo McCarey has finished directing "Mum's the Word", a new Hal Roach Pathe comedy starring Charles Chase. The cast includes Martha Sleeper, Anders Randolf and Virginia Pearson.

"Topics" Issues Code of Ethics

Pathe Reel Release Gives Reasons for Success; Celebrates Seventh Anniversary

A SINCERE pledge in the form of a Code of Ethics from the producers of Topics of the Day, Timely Films, Inc., is the method this organization has taken to celebrate its seventh anniversary. No banquets, speeches or anything of that nature usually in form at anniversary celebrations, but a statement of intent incorporated in the code of ethics which, the producers wish to emphasize, is as old as the reel itself.

The Code is as follows:

1. Service to every theatregoer and exhibitor, to our country and to civilization. Our Topics to brighten lives, bring hearty laughs and helpful hints to 100 per cent. of our readers.
2. Quality of our product, both editorial and mechanical, to be maintained at the highest standard and finest calibre regardless of expense.
3. Decency to be the guiding star of our material. Risque jokes, profanity in any form to be avoided. Our product at all times to be clean and wholesome.
4. Respect and tolerance for all creeds, sects, races, religions, organizations and individuals. To refrain from ridicule or any disrespectful references that might tend to cause humiliation or embarrassment.
5. Neutrality in all questions and controversies whether political, semi-political, religious, civic, state or federal. To refrain from any reference to political parties, secret organizations, individuals or firms, or trade names or any reference that might possibly be construed as either destructive or constructive publicity.

Amedee J. Van Buren

Educational Lists May Releases

Seven Two-Reel Comedies and Six One-Reel Fun-Films Ready for Exhibitors

FOREMOST among the list of releases scheduled by Educational for May is "The Vision," the Technicolor two-reel production made by Romance Productions of which Eugene Roth is president. Julanne Johnston and John Roche appear in this, the first of six productions to be produced, famous paintings furnishing the story inspiration. "The Vision" was inspired by Sir John Everett Millais' canvas, "Speak, Speak."

Incorporated in the list of two-reel comedy releases is one from Lupino Lane titled "His Private Life," which details Lane's life in an army camp. Jimmie Adams in "Gimme Strength," a Christie production, is another of the two-reelers for May release.

"Big Boy," the popular two year old star of the Educational-Juvenile comedies, will be seen in "Bear Cats." Johnny Arthur is featured in "Mr. Cinderella," an Educational-Tuxedo comedy in two reels.

Neal Burns and Vera Steadman will be co-featured in "Papa's Pest" a Christie two-reel comedy which brings this team together for the fourth time this year. Two Mermaid comedies, "Going Cray," which features Lige Conley, and "Creeps," in which Lou Archer and Phil Dunham share the leading honors, will also be released during May.

Educational's one-reelers for the month include three Felix the Cat animated cartoon comedies, "Braves the Briny," "Tale of Two Kitties" and "Scoots Thru Scotland"; two Cameo Comedies, "Who's Boss," with Cliff Bowes, and "What a Life," featuring Frank Davis, and a Lyman H. Howe's Hodge Podge, "From A to Z Thru Filmdom." There will also be ten Kinograms for the month, two each of the five calendar weeks.

Cranfield & Clarke English Branch Established

According to W. F. Clarke, general manager of Cranfield and Clarke, Inc., the new office at 35 Piccadilly Mansions, Shaftesbury Avenue, London, England, has been established.

Resume of Current News Weeklies

PATHE NEWS NO. 37: Washington, D. C.—Congress roused by Prohibition issue; Tientsin, China—You don't have to know how to ride a horse to play polo; Moscow, Russia—Soviet Government opens big power plant; Hollywood, Cal.—A finished acrobat at the age of eight years: Washington, D. C.—Will represent U. S. at Geneva disarmament parley; New York City—Plans New York-Paris non-stop flight; St. Louis, Mo.—School boys of America honor Roger Hornsby; New York City—Prominent exhibitors of the South return to America after extended trip abroad. Ft. Hancock, N. J.—Uncle Sam's mighty "watch-dog" roars in practice; Stockholm, Sweden—School children take part in annual festival; Los Angeles, Cal.—Falls "down-stairs" from the sky; White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.—Tennis stars show fine form at Mason and Dixon tournament; Huntsville, Tex.—Gov. Ferguson pays first visit to penitentiary; New Orleans, La.—Prepare for autumn gridiron battles: San Antonio, Tex.—Battle of Flowers parade marked by tribute to heroes of the Alamo; Cape Henry, Va.—Celebrate 319th anniversary of arrival of Jamestown colonists; St. Louis, Mo.—Girl Scouts give colorful festival.

PATHE NEWS NO. 36: New York City—'Dr. Circus" pays annual call at Bellevue hospital; Oslo, Norway—Norge completes second lap of trip to North Pole; Philadelphia, Pa.—Track stars score brilliant triumphs in Penn Relays; Fort Worth, Texas—"Who will meet Dempsey?" asks boxing world as champion signs with Tex Rickard; Tripoli, Africa—Mussolini accorded royal honors on visit to enhance national prestige; New York City—Hakoah soccer players win in U. S. Maharaja of Kashmir might be envious of this procession from the East; Philadelphia, Pa.—College and school stars make annual Penn Relay meet a brilliant success. debut; Monterey, Cal.—Exclusive pictures of 2d Battalion, 76th Field Artillery, in thrilling maneuvers at their camp; Langley Field, Va.—Observe Uncle Sam's airmen in action.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS NO. 36: Ft. Hancock, N. J.—East and West big guns thunder; New York City—Society riders thrill horse show throngs; Los Angeles, Cal.—Missing schooner returns from perilous voyage; Boston, Mass.—Christen New England's crack express train; New London, Conn.—Newest Peruvian submarine is made in the U. S. A.; San Antonio, Tex.—Fiesta de San Jacinto opens with pomp; Vintage, Pa.—Automobile graveyard makes millionaire of junkman; Los Angeles, Cal.—New styles in flivvers for Summer sport; Chicago, Ill.—And here's another equally at home on land or sea; Kweihwating, Mongolia—Weird stilt dancers answer Spring's call; Alberta, Can.—Canadians round up great buffalo herd. Los Angeles, Cal.—Devout followers welcome Evangelist's homecoming; The Cascades, Ore.—Army airmen conquer cloud-topped Cascades; New York City—Giant Sikorsky plane goes out to sea to welcome Renee Fonck; Los Angeles, Cal.—Found—a job that never loses its thrill.

FOX NEWS, VOL. 7, NO. 61: Tripoli, Africa—Italy's dictator arrives at port of North African colony in blaze of glory; Fairfield, Ohio—Army air force wages a war in the clouds with the greatest peace-time concentration of planes; Atlanta, Ga.—Opera songbirds at play—Southern society folk entertain the stars with old-fashioned barbecue; Charleston, S. C.—Cadets of "The Citadel," one of the oldest military colleges in the country, pass in formal review; Paris, France—Twice a week thousands go to shop at the outdoor "stamp stock exchange," a paradise for collectors; El Paso, Texas—Jack Dempsey signs to meet contender; Des Moines, Iowa—Track records fall as college athletes meet; New York City—Half million dollar fire in tenement district drives 250 families to street; Belmont Park, L. I.—Society witnesses thrilling two-mile steeplechase.

Scenes from the Romance Production, "The Vision," released through Educational

FOX NEWS, VOL. 7, NO. 62: Cannes, France—An Airplane Trip over the French Riviera; New York City—Rene Fonck, war hero and French ace, comes to U. S. to fly to Europe; Miami, Fla.—Seaplane crashes into residence district and sticks in roof of house; Chicago, Ill.—New type of car that travels on land or water; San Antonia, Texas.—A "back-yard oil boon" starts after residents accidentally taps vein while digging; Wareham, Mass.' Warm weather starts herring run; Maines City, Fla.—Comfort and piety are judiciously mixed for congregation of "Rocking Chair Church"; Zurich, Switzerland—Celebration of end of winter, a rite observed for four centuries; Buffalo, N. Y.—Police show how gang of pay-roll bandits are captured by Morse code; San Antonia, Texas—Pilgrimage to the Alamo; Cape Henry, Va.—Pilgrimage marks 319th anniversary of landing of Cap. John Smith's band; Oklahoma City, Oklahoma—Celebration of "89ers" draws record crowd. Suffern, N. Y.—American Canoe Club greets Spring; Dayton, Ohio—Fox News airplane goes aloft with a squadron of flying craft.

KINOGRAMS, NO. 5181: New York City—40,000 fans see Yanks win first home game; New York City—Mounted cops shine in "suicide" stunts; Pulham, England—"Norge" visits England on way to North Pole; Fairbanks, Alaska—Defy death again in the icy North; New York City—Chauncey M. Depew passes ninety-second milestone; El Monte, Cal.—King of beasts takes job as music critic; Guantanamo, Cuba—The sea dogs bark.

KINOGRAMS, NO. 5182: Norway—The Norge arrives from England; New York City—Bellevue sick and crippled are cheered by annual visit of "three-ring" performers; New York City—Ancient military organization presents colorful sight in its impressive march; Fort Worth, Texas—Tex Rickard, who adds champ's autograph to his collection; New York City—Fire fighting in the metropolis; Paris, France—Even the Maharaja of Kashmir might be envious of this procession from the East; Philadelphia, Pa.—College and school stars make annual Penn Relay meet a brilliant success.

Ann Cornwell to do Comedy for Christie

Ann Cornwell has signed a contract with Al Christie whereby she will appear in several of his two-reel comedies for the coming season. She will alternate her comedy work with engagements in the feature productions of other companies.

Miss Cornwell was under the Christie banner two years ago when she was Bobby Vernon's leading lady in "Bright Lights".

Six Lloyd One-Reelers to Be Re-issued by Pathe

Beginning June 13th Pathe will re-issue six of Harold Lloyd's one-reel comedies to be available at the rate of one every other week.

"Bebe" Daniels is featured in the cast with Lloyd. The names of the six follow: "Step Lively," "Are Crooks Dishonest?" "Swat the Crook," "Ring Up The Curtain," "Count Your Change" and "Kicked Out."

Opinions on Current Productions

"Fight Night"

(Pathe-Sennett—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

REALLY one of Billy Bevan's finest comic strips in a long stretch. Henpecked husbands who would like to sneak out a couple of nights a week to a poker game, will positively gloat in this picture. Billy is one of those Bringing-up-Father unfortunates whose better half insists on his staying home and singing old time melodies with mother-in-law. However he has his own ideas of a good time, ideas which are personified in Natalie, a pretty saleswoman. In order that these ideas materialize, Billy manages to have once a week a fight night at the club, where he mixes up, so he claims, in the art of manly self defense. The happy days come to an abrupt end however, when one night mother-in-law and wifie listening in on the radio, hear the announcement that Billy and Natalie are winners of the Charleston contest. There is no end to the succession of funny gags which will be found irresistible.

The Cast

Billy Bevan, Natalie Kingston, David Morris, Barbara Tennant, Evelyn Sherman and Janet Royce. Gil Pratt and Jefferson Moffitt directed.

Summary—Good booking. The comedy is above the average and should do good business in any house.

"Love's Hurdle"

(Universal-Stern—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

THIS is one of "The Excuse Makers," a new series of high class two reel comedies adopted from the stories by William Anthony, and produced for Universal by Stern Bros. The series feature Charles King supported by Adrienne Dore and Constance Darling. King, who has the personality, vim and the essential makeup of a spontaneous comedian, should build a large following for himself. In "Love's Hurdle" King has a suitable vehicle, that of an impoverished shoe clerk who is an aspiring social climber. His first attempt is via horseback riding, and his sorry efforts with the prancing steeds are constantly riotous. Later when the society belles visit the shoe store where Charlie is clerking, he furnishes a goodly portion of fun by pretending to be the owner of the establishment. Good direction by Francis Corby.

Summary—Very amusing comedy, fine cast and good acting. Should do well in all but the first run houses.

"Human Beings or Illusions"

(Burkhardt's Plastic Film—2nd Series)

(Tiffany-Renown—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by Edw. G. Johnston)

COMES another Burkhardt Plastic Film from Paris, bidding to cutrival the first of the series presented a few weeks ago in a number of the leading first run Broadway theatres, New York City.

Here is a novelty in every sense of the word and it's one of the most interesting examples of European ingenuity in this line ever turned out. Comparatively new in its field, it may be well to give a short explanation—although a review of the previous release appeared in this publication under date of April 3.

Primarily, the effect sought for and accomplished by the producer, is that certain pictures of figures projected through a scrim curtain, seem to be doing their dance or acrobatic feats on the stage—and take on an uncannily life-like appearance throughout the performance.

This particular release is made up of a number of "acts," among which are included the "Star Trio" (acrobatic), "Harlequin" (dance number), "Borgia Dance" and another acrobatic number (male and female artists).

The illusion is further strengthened by the use of a drop in keeping with the nature of the act, and these, together with the scrim curtains and full orchestration furnished by the distributor, are all that is necessary for the presentation. Border light equipment of any modern first run house is sufficient for the light effects.

Summary—Here's a new dish to serve out to your patrons. It's novel and most interesting and the illusions are very well worked out. Strictly a first run booking.

"The Emergency Man"

(Universal-Mustang—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

EDMUND COBB is featured in this clean-cut western which has enough action and heart interest to appeal to a vast majority of western fans. Cobb impersonates Tom Regan who defends a youthful derelict from the town bully, and later acting under threat consents to pose as the missing heir and long lost son of Mrs. Camfield. A crooked lawyer scheming to possess Mrs. Camfield's fortune, instructs his dissolute son to force her daughter, Dora, into marriage, while he instigates Tom's arrest for false murder. However the derelict discloses himself as the rightful son and has the villain arrested for embezzlement, while Tom is taken in the family as son-in-law. For a two-reeler the picture has exceptionally good continuity and an unusually interesting plot. Good photography. Directed by Edward Laemmle.

Summary—Overdone in spots but a safe booking wherever fast, entertaining, short westerns have a following.

"Pathe Review No. 19"

(Pathe—One Reel)

A BOAT trip on the River Danube through the part of Austria constitutes the first part of this Review. There are magnificent shots of quaint old town and castles lining the banks of this historical river. Beehee and Hassan, the bouncing acrobats, are seen in practice in the open landscape, photographed with the process-camera, invented by Alvin V. Knechtel. The third part of the Review is a Pathe color study of ancient Athens, Greece, still defying the dust of centuries in a few tottering columns, temples and the theatre of Dionyssos.—M. T. ANDREWS.

"Canary Islands"

(Fox Variety—One Reel)

THIS one-reel scenic is visualized as told to the audience by a homesick canary. His chirping in the gilded cage takes the form of expressed yearning for the languid beauty of his native isles off the coast of Africa. The canary takes us on a winged voyage over the island where we see the outdoor sewing circles, famous the world over for their needle work, the irrigation reservoirs nestled high in the hills, banana plantations and a most unique mushroom-shaped tree, which was a thousand years old when Christ was born.—M. T. ANDREWS.

"Too Many Relations"

(Fox—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

FAIRLY good domestic comedy in this two-reeler, which is based on one of the series of "The Married Life of Helen and Warren." Warren and Helen have barely unpacked their trunks when they are "afflicted" with Warren's brother Oscar, his wife and their mischievous kid. Many amusing complications arise when Know-it-all Oscar all but puts the house out of commission. He boasts of his skill as an electrician, with the result that all the fuses are blown out; his plumbing skill is no better, and he mixes up the pipes so that water comes through the stove and gas through the bath tub, and finally makes a wreck of the roof when trying to shingle it. At last, Oscar decides to leave and Helen and Warren sigh with relief, when, to their consternation, Helen's brother arrives with his family. Good direction by Albert Ray.

The Cast

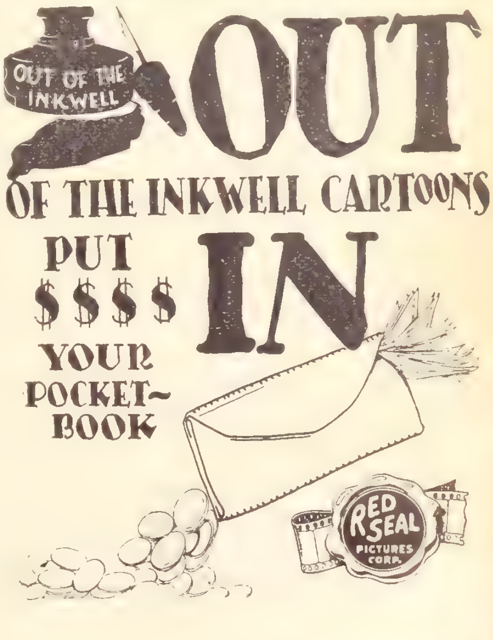
Helen	Kathryn Perry
Warren	Hallam Cooley
Oscar	Arthur Housman
Lucille	Delva McKay
Billy	Jimsy Buodwin
Pal	Himself

Summary—While the comedy is not uproarious, it nevertheless presents some ludicrous incidents in the life of a young married couple, a problem so universal in its appeal that it cannot fail to capture the interest of your patrons.

"Separated Sweethearts"

(Universal-Blue-bird—One Reel)

ARTHUR LAKE appears to advantage in this one reeler supported by a competent cast, although his good work is partly offset by a faint story. Reading of an abduction case Arthur is inspired with fear for the safety of his sweetheart. He calls her on the phone, but when she answers a mouse appears and she screams, making him believe at the other end of the wire that she is being abducted. A wild chase follows in which the girl's parents, police, and Arthur participate, only to learn that she was going out for a ride with a pair of friends. Nevertheless Arthur earns his just reward. This story is only fairly entertaining and will appeal to the juvenile patrons in particular. Arthur Lake as the sheepish lover is capital.—M. T. ANDREWS.



"She's My Cousin"

(Universal-Stern—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

THIS is another of "The Excuse Maker" series of high class comedies featuring Charles King with Constance Darlington in the supporting cast. It is the "most unkindest" travesty on ye goode, olde bachelor days, when a feller hangs his lid on many a doll's peg. Charles is a confirmed woman hater, but when acting as the best man for his friend, he finds the bridesmaid so attractive that the ceremony culminates in a double wedding. A series of knockout complications pile up when the new bride discovers photos, stockings, and other telltale evidence in his "bachelor" apartment. Charlie manages to clear himself with a series of clever alibis, but is finally trapped and forced to a show-down on his wild oats days. However he is ultimately cleared and forgiven by his wifie. Splendidly directed by Francis Corby.

Summary A dandy comedy with 85 per cent. box office appeal. Excellent situations and good acting throughout.

"Felix the Cat Misses His Cue"

(Educational—One Reel)

THERE have been rumors to the effect that Felix entertains a dislike for a Chinese laundry. We don't blame the Cat a bit, not since we saw him in the above cartoon in which Felix gets so disgusted with Chinks, that he drills a secret passage through the Earth, clear to the antipoes, to shake off the memory of everything Chinese. To his great consternation he finds himself in China and more "queue" troubles follow, until a kind-hearted immigration official, who finds the Chinese quota filled, saves Felix from further misadventures with Chinks.—M. T. ANDREWS.

"Fighting Hearts"

(F. B. O.—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

THIS is No. 5 of the two-reel comedy series, "Smouldering Tires," starring Alberta Vaughn, supported by excellent cast in a decidedly pleasing story. Fast action, suspense, thrills, all interwoven with a sympathetic romance, should win a large following for those series in all neighborhood houses. The action centers around Oceanville's annual Auto Races in which Harry and Tod, rivals for Sally's hand, are entered. Sally, however, favors Harry, who is also the editor of her Journal, while she detests the villainous Tod. To revenge himself Tod first wrecks the press, then hires thugs to keep Harry from the races. Sally starts the race, Harry revives and takes the wheel, finishing first. No small amount of fun is contributed by Tom and Jerry, printer's helpers, who enter the race in a car that has wheels on both top and bottom so that when it makes a turnover it can still run. Directed by Ralph Cedar.

The Cast

Sally Tracy	Alberta Vaughn
Harry Grayson	Larry Kent
Tod Raleigh	Grant Withers
Tom O'Rourke	Kit Guard
Jerry Hawkins	Albert Cooke
Luckus Raleigh	William Tucker

Summary—Fine type of production with the peppy Alberta in fully entertaining story. Good comedy. Should please majority.

NOW BOOKING

4—SINGLE REEL LESSONS IN THE BALLROOM
CHARLESTON
Featuring
NED WAYBURN
And
THE FOLLIES GIRLS
Cranfield & Clarke, Inc.
729 Seventh Avenue, N. Y. C.

"The Uncovered Wagon"

(Pathe—One Reel)

THIS one-reeler is a fantastic burlesque on the Covered Wagon, with Paul Perrett, Katherine Grand, Noah Young and others in the cast. A long train of fool-hardy pioneers in covered flivvers sets out for the conquest of the West. On their way they are beset by "Injuns," mounted on bikes, but still using bow and arrow. The "Chief" is summoned hastily from the golf links, and he and his caddies lead the attack. The leader of the pioneers and his sweetheart seek to escape via the inter-city trolley car, but find it filled with more "Injuns." A hot pursuit follows. There is a nice bit of comedy in the scene where the pioneers are "Fording" the stream. On the whole this western is mildly entertaining. Jay Howe directed.—M. T. ANDREWS.

"Mum's the Word"

(Pathe-Roach—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

HERE'S a dinger from Charlie Chase, a sure tonic for congested spleen. Action, gags, voluble and scintilating with humor, excellent acting and witty subtitles, these all combined will explode laughter in any audience, anywhere. Like a good, thoughtful son, Charlie surprises his mother with a visit, not knowing that she has married again. Afraid to break the news to hubby, she introduces Charlie as the new valet. From then on the director has charged the story with spontaneous comedy, evoked by the complications arising from clandestine meetings between Charlie and his mother, mysterious actions of the new maid, and the suspicion of the puzzled husband. In the end mother confesses that Charlie is her son, while father admits that the maid is his daughter. Directed by Leo McCarey.

The Cast

Charlie Chase, Martha Sleeper, Virginia Pearson, Anders Randolf.

Summary—This comedy should raise Chase's stock to 95 percent. Fast, hilarious, contagious comedy; will please all classes.

"The Shooting Fool"

(Pathe-Fable—One Reel)

PAUL TERRY must have spent at least one hunting season in the Adirondacks and knows a lot about sheeting fools there, for he depicts some clever stunts with his pen-and-ink caricatures in this cartoon. Theodore cat and Hermit mouse are shown in a hunting adventure, during which Hermit comes near losing his life while serving as decoy for Theodore. The latter has a very unsteady eye when it comes to shooting ducks, but he manages to shoot a spot or two off a Giraffe. The moral of this excellent Fable read: If mosquitoes could be crossed with fish, fishermen would get more bites.—M. T. ANDREWS.

Trio of comedy highlights from "Dizzy Daddies" a Pathe comedy.

"The Ghost of Folly"

(Pathe-Sennett—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

HERE'S a riotous short subject which as a sheer laugh getter is as good a film as was ever concocted in Mack Sennett Studios. It's all about a sick, nervous man, spooks, ingeniously conceived, a pretty nurse and a pair of would-be-villains. There is nothing to the story; it's all in the good old action and gags which shoot laffs at you with the rapidity of the renowned "75." Young is the sick, nervous man who refuses to sell his property. The vallains take advantage of his nervous condition, take a portable projector and shoot spooky visions into his room from the apertures in the walls and the ceiling. Alice Day assumes the role of a nurse and, together with her sweetheart, tries in vain to restore peace to the haunted house. Her two brothers and a Keaton-faced messenger boy aid immensely to the comedy value. Directed by Eddie Cline.

The Cast

Alice Day, Joseph Young, Eddie Quillan, Marvin Lobach, Danny O'Shea, Irving Bacon and Barney Hellum.

Summary—Good booking for any house, large or small. Excellent cast, great acting, riant gags and good direction.

"Sweden Today"

(Fox Variety—One Reel)

AN intimate sail in picturesque Sweden including the ancient Viking town of Visby and the quaint, old Island of Gotland, are the pictorial subjects of the current Variety issue. There are some splendid shots of the historical town of Visby, and scenes of pictorial appeal of the Island of Gotland with its quaint old cities and costumes. The scenic has a charming pictorial appeal and will be found interesting, especially by those contemplating a tour in Sweden.—M. T. ANDREWS.

The Midnight Sun

Doesn't Strike the Bulls-Eye

(Reviewed by Laurence Reid)

THE plot of this story is nothing more than a triangle—which could have been placed against any American background. It has very little in common with Russian life and atmosphere, the sets being more in Hollywood's conception and the action and incident going back to first principles of screen production.

Personally we prefer seeing Laura La Plante in light comedy than cast as a temptress bent upon playing a Grand Duke against the Croesus of St. Petersburg while she develops a romance with an officer of the G. D.'s guard. She seemed to have missed the subtleties. The acting, however, is far better than the treatment of the hoary plot. One is allowed to get interested in the anticipated downfall of the Duke or the financier or the officer or the temptress or all four of them—then the scene shifts and the suspense is lost.

The old-fashioned finale arouses laughter at tense moments because it is crudely executed. In other words the Grand Duke commandeers a destroyer and rescues the heroine in the nick of time—even when she has repulsed him—and then he further cleanses his soul by hurrying with the girl to the prison in order to prevent the hero's execution. This is simply a variation of the governor who hastens to release the innocent lad about to make his exit via the electric chair.

The Cast: Laura La Plante, Pat O'Malley, Raymond Keane, George Seigmann, Arthur Hoyt, Earl Metcalf, Mikhael Vavitch, Nickoli Soussanin, Cesare Gravina, Nina Romano, Medea Radsina, Albert Prisco, George B. Williams. Director, Dimitri Buchowetzki.

Produced by Universal-Jewel. Distributed by Universal.
Length, ten reels.. Released

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. The ballet number. The efforts of the Grand Duke and the man of wealth to outwit each other.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Feature the title and stage prologue in atmosphere. Play up Laura La Plante as well as the other important players. Bill as romance of Petrograd before the World War.

DRAWING POWER. Title and heavy publicizing should put it over. O. K. for all types of theatres.

Dramatic highlights of "The Imposter," an F. B. O. production

Corinne Griffith is seen to good advantage in these scenes from her latest First National vehicle, "Mlle. Modiste"

"Early To Wed"

Highly Entertaining Comedy on the Marital Life

(Reviewed by Maurice T. Andrews)

FRANK BORZAGE, the director of this picture has added another worthy creation to his many screen successes. He has taken a hackneyed theme and endowed it with a spark of originality with the result that a genuine box office entertainment pervades the picture. Without disparaging this splendid direction, due credit must be accorded to Matt Moore for his emphatically pleasing portrayal of the boobish, yet ambitious young husband; to Kathryn Perry for her philosophical if erroneous young wife, and to the entire cast for their effective support. Time and again Moore's pathetic attempts to imitate his chesty friend in asking for a raise and appearing prosperous, result in blazing comedy. The picture is an adaptation of ''Splurge'', a story by Evelyn Campbell, and concerns newlyweds who aspire to live beyond their means. The entire production is rich in comedy complications, which are very subtly brought out by the acting of Matt Moore, and Kathryn Perry, backed by excellent titling.

The Cast: Matt Moore, Kathryn Perry, Zasu Pitts, Arthur Housman, Belva McKay, Albert Gran, Julia Swayne Gordon, Rodney Hildebrand and Harry Bailey. Author, Evelyn Campbell. Director, Frank Borzage.

THEME. Comedy-drama. Young married couple following advice of fourflushing friend, decide to impress their friends by appearing prosperous. Their efforts terminate in a sorry disillusionment when he loses his job and the furniture is collected for non-payments. But by feasting a millionaire with a borrowed dinner and accommodating him for the night in a borrowed bed, they gain his sympathy which results in a substantial offer.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. Adroit direction and deft subtitles. Very good acting. clever development of comedy situations, the borrowed dinner episode, strong audience appeal and climax with a punch.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES Tie-ups with banks, furniture stores, and newlyweds. Bill as ace-high comedy with heart appeal. Boost Matt Moore and all the principals.

DRAWING POWER. A corking comedy. With the fine exploitation possibilities it should appeal to the general audience in all average houses.

Produced and Distributed by Fox.
Length, 5.912 feet. Released April, 1926.

Mlle. Modiste

Subtitles and a Fashion Show

(Reviewed by Laurence Reid)

IT'S just about a fifty-fifty gamble whether musical comedy adaptations will turn out well on the screen. It all depends upon whether there is enough plot and gags after the music is eliminated. "Sally" and "Irene" fared successfully, but in remembering their entertaining qualities brings to mind the shortcomings of "Mlle. Modiste." The very decorative Corinne Griffith enhances the piece with her presence—and there are some first-rate sartorial effects. Otherwise it is a long and tiresome fashion display bolstered up with wise-cracking subtitles which lose their power to provoke laughter because they are so labored.

We cannot see any reason for adapting it in the first place. The original was not so much a plotty comic affair as it was a medium to express Victor Herbert's charming score. So with the operatic matter removed, Miss Griffith has no chance to do anything else than display a lot of glad rags. Just an inkling of plot appears when the star, as a Paris mannequin, is set up in business by a butter-and-egg man from America. This piques the French count who loves her and who believes the worst. There's your picture. The rest of it is devoted to the fashion show. Of course, Corinne Griffith can wear gowns exceedingly well—and she can act when they give her a chance. Willard Louis is permitted to indulge in some obvious gags, while Norman Kerry is swanky enough in his gay uniforms. A pretty frail affair, this—what with its captions and its fashions.

Dorothy Cumming, Rose Dione. Director, Robert Z. Leonard.

The Cast: Corinne Griffith, Norman Kerry, Willard Louis.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. The banquet episode with the star bedecked in glittering gowns. The bidding for the dress. The incident concerning the duel. The comedy antics by Willard Louis. The romance.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Should play up as a colorful picture, lavishly mounted. Also boost the original, which scored a great success. Use Herbert's music for the interpretation. Boost the star and her ability to wear gowns—and give Willard Louis mention.

DRAWING POWER. Title and star and ballyhooing it as a screen version of one of the most popular musical comedies ever staged, should draw patronage. O. K. for all houses.

Produced by Asher. Distributed by First National.
Length, seven reels. Released April, 1926.

A quartet of stills of the William Fox production, "Early to Wed," which Frank Barzage directed

Shots from the Universal Jewel, "The Midnight Sun," a spectacle of Russia

"The Impostor"

A Mildly Entertaining Crook Melodrama

(Reviewed by Maurice T. Andrews)

IN those houses where patrons prefer fast, exciting action to an absorbing, logical story, this picture will do very well. Under a critical analysis there isn't much in the plot of this picture that has not been done before with better success, but a competent cast and a quickly moving action plus the effective climax will help to put it over as fairly entertaining film of its kind. The plot revolves around jewel robbery, suspicion for which falls on Dick Gilbert, dissipated son of a wealthy family, who lost heavily at the gambling table. His sister determined to recover the stolen jewel, enters the crooks' den under assumed name and forced to impersonate herself in order to identify the stolen sapphire, recovers it with the helpof a newspaperreporter. Evelyn Bent is the vivacious and lovely heroine whose charming personality contributes materially to the entertainment value of the picture. There are occasional bits of suspense created when the heroine strives to outwit the crooks, although the film suffers in general interest from the lack of motivation of certain characters, who appear more theatric than human.

The Cast: Evelyn Bent, Carrol Nye, Jim Morrison, Frank Leigh, Jimmy Quinn, Edna Griffin and Carlton Griffin. Author, Clifford Howard. Director, Chet Whitney.

THEME. Crook melodrama based upon jewel robbery in which innocent young man becomes involved. He is cleared by his sister who joins the crooks as their accomplice, foils their scheme and recovers the jewel with the help of a man she loves.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. Adroit direction and Evelyn Bent, fine shots of the cafe and the hunters' cabin. Fascinating heroine, her fine acting and the acting of the supporting cast. Novel twist to the story, good photography, the cabin sequence, the scenes where the heroine impersonates herself.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Try a tie-up with jewelry stores. Use the masked crook stunt, stress good cast, comedy relief when the reporter tries to reform the supposedly fallen "hoofer" not knowing that she is a society debutante.

DRAWING POWER. Can't promise much in this one unless your patrons are keen on crook stories with furious action but obviously developed plot.

Produced and Distributed by F. B. O.
Length, 5,457 feet. Released May, 1926.

The Big Show

Melodrama of Circus Life

(Reviewed by Frank Elliott)

HERE'S a good one for the kiddies. And many grown ups will like it for it will bring back their own kiddie days. It is a story of the circus, realistic to the Nth degree because it was filmed with the Miller Brothers' 101 Ranch Wild West Show as the background. The entire personnel of this well-known show participates in the screen play. The Indians, cowboys, animal trainers and the elephants themselves, in person, all have important parts. The plot deals with Bill, a modest hero, who had saved Ruth Gordon, elephant act performer, during a fire and later had rescued her sister, Dolly, from an infuriated bull. Bill's worthless brother, Norman, arrives on the scene and seeks to have Ruth leave the show with him. But he also begins to woo Marian, niece of the show owner. Bill threatens Norman with imprisonment if he does not wed Ruth. But Norman continues his erring ways and is about to marry Marian, when Ruth's elephant, "Babe," kills the villain. Then Bill takes Ruth as his own bride. During the action there are many thrilling moments and in between the audience sees a whole circus performance, as well as the arrival and departure of the whole show. John Lowell, who years ago appeared in "Ten Nights in a Barroom", has the role of Bill and does well in it. Evangeline Russell is good as Ruth.

The Cast: John Lowell, Evangeline Russell, F. Serrano Keating, Jane Thomas, Col. Joseph Miller, Dan Dix, Alice Lecacheur, Madi Blatherwick. Author, L. Case Russell. Director, George Terwilliger. (Associated Exhibitors.)

THEME. Melodrama. Bill, cowboy in circus, saves two girls from wedding villianous brother. Then elephant steps in and metes out justice in unusual climax.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. The circus scenes. The rescue of Ruth from flames and her sister from the bull. The theft of the confession. Rescue of "other woman," when horse runs away. The killing of Bracket by elephant.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Build circus atmosphere into lobby. Fix up wagon to resemble circus band rig and use it as ballyhoo with band. Dress man as clown for ballyhoo to pass heralds. Feature 101 Ranch Wild West Show.

DRAWING POWER. Suitable for program houses. Great for special kids' shows.

Length, Six Reels. Released April, 1926.

Some interesting scenes from the William Fox production, "The Fighting Buckaroo," in which Buck Jones is starred

Comic and tragic highlights of "Hell Bent fer Heaven"

Eve's Leaves

Entertaining Comedy Lavishly Staged

(Reviewed by Maurice T. Andrews)

ANY product coming from the De Mille studios is bound to bear the stamp of at least a moderate box office appeal, and this picture is no exception. The celluloid version of Harry Chapman Ford's popular play bears all the earmarks of a De Mille product, made entertaining withal by dazzling flashes of unadulterated comedy, sumptuous settings and colorful atmosphere, the unmistakable ingredients of mass appeal. The opening sequences are deliberate in tempo until well past the middle when the spark of action spreads rapidly thereon into a conflagration, aglow with humor and abounding in eye-luring scenes the while. Leatrice Joy leads the cast with her capable interpretation of the unsophisticated daughter of the sea captain, her attempts to stir sex appeal in the shanghaied young man come to the fore as irresistible. William Boyd is excellent as the boy, but lacks the color of his Volga Boatman role, others, especially Walter Long, Robert Edeson and Sojin, contribute materially to the entertainment in this picture.

The Cast: Leatrice Joy, William Boyd, Robert Edeson, Walter Long, Richard Carle, Arthur Hoyt, Sojin and Nambu. Author, Harry Chapman Ford. Director, Paul Sloane.

THEME. Comedy-drama. Eve, the lovable ship's madcap, in her eager pursuit of mate shanghais a boy who struck her fancy and thru her folly causes his and her own abduction by a Chinese bandit. They meet with hazardous misadventures but are finally rescued by the efforts of the boy's father and find happiness in their love.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. Splendid performance by Leatrice Joy, Boyd and the supporting cast, lavish settings, colorful Chinese atmosphere, thrilling action in the second half, and the whirlwind climax. Good photography and direction. Broad comedy appeal, the sequence in the bandit's castle, the strong finish.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Play up the names of Leatrice Joy, William Boyd, Cecil De Mille and Paul Sloane. Promise them action and farcical comedy galore. Don't overlook the catchy title.

DRAWING POWER. With proper exploitation this looks as a likely box office attraction in almost any house.

Produced and Distributed by the Producers Distributing Corp.
Length, 6,754 feet. Released June, 1926.

"Hell Bent fer Heaven"

Feud Story Makes Fair Melodrama

(Reviewed by Laurence Reid)

THE prize play of a season or two ago has been made into a fair-to-middlin' melodrama. In the original the appeal rested in the characterization—the central figures being a hill mother and her unbalanced son given to a constant display of religious emotion coupled with lustful desires. In the picture these characters are not so dominant, J. Stuart Blackton evidently fearing to make it a psychological study. Se he resorts to the feud conflict and such familiar climax as a flood to compensate for the logical dramatic action.

The picture is uneven in its development and the way the strings are left untied in the plot. Indeed, everything here is pointed toward the breaking of the dam and the manner in which the water carries out the melodrama. The crazy boy had enlisted Providence to aid him in snuffing out the life of his hated rival who had come home from the war and won the heart of his sweetheart. So he re-establishes the feud, but perishes through his mad efforts.

The merit of the film rests in its atmosphere—the exciting moments attending the flood—and the very excellent acting by Gladden James and Evelyn Selbie as the unbalanced boy and his mother. Their work is marked by real characterization.

The Cast: John Harron, Gayne Whitman, Gardner James, James Marcus, Wilfrid North, Evelyn Selbie.

THEME. Melodrama based upon re-establishing a feud when an unbalanced youth is outwitted in love. He exacts vengeance, stirs up enmity and dynamites a dam. Heroic rescue work patches up quarrel and all ends happily.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. The convincing backgrounds. The moment when demented youth influences girl's brother to start the feud. The scenes in the cellar. The dynamiting of the dam and the release of the water. The rushing flood and rescue of girl by hero. The acting by Gladden James and Evelyn Selbie.

DRAWING POWER. Title carries appeal—and melodrama is strong enough to stimulate patronage. Suitable for average houses in every locality.

Produced and Distributed by Warner Brothers.
Length, 6,578 feet. Released May, 1926.

Intense moments from Norma Shearer's latest starring vehicle for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, "The Devil's Circus," written and directed by Benjamin Christianson

Interesting incidents in "The Big Show," an Associated Exhibitors release

The Fighting Buckaroo

Breezily Funny and Cyclonic Westerner

(Reviewed by George T. Pardy)

BUCK JONES certainly scores straight on the box office target with this picture, which will not only increase his reputation as a national fun-maker and heroic dare-devil with the fans who swear by him at present, but win him many a new admirer. It's a tip-top westerner this, with more wild whirring action to it, more thrills and more excellent comedy than you'll run across in any six serials. And unlike the serials, it provides a cracking good plot as regards continuity, so that you never lose touch with the story or get mixed up by its hurry-flurry speed.

Everybody concerned with the production deserves a lot of credit. R. William Neill's dexterity in piling up one laughable situation after another, snapping across thrills galore, and Buck's great work as hero Larry Crawford trying to outwit a bunch of thugs, while at the same time fate constantly drives him to offend the papa of the girl he loves; are the outstanding angles of the feature. But its best bid for popularity is that "it's different!" You can offer your patrons this one as a genuine treat, a Westerner that will make them yell for more of Buck Jones' screen hits.

The Cast: Buck Jones, Sally Long, Lloyd Whitlock, Frank Butler, E. J. Radcliffe, Ben Hendricks. Author, Frank H Clark. Director, R. William Neill.

THEME. Westerner. Cowboy has long chase and amazing adventures outwitting thugs trying to stop him exercising option he holds on ranch where gold is found.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. Buck Jones' lightning stunts, scenes where he dodges hotel detectives, pulls nose of father of girl he loves, other bright comedy stuff, thrills.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES. Play up not only as bully Western and great Buck Jones stuff, but a laugh-record breaker!

DRAWING POWER. Will win wherever action, thrills, fun hold 'em.

Produced and Distributed by Fox.
Length, 5,095 feet. Released June, 1926.

Regional News from Correspondents

Albany

LIGHTNING which has struck Film Row in this city, quite freqnelty of late, shot another bolt last week, when George Ames, manager of the Pathe exchange here for several months, was transferred to the management of the New Haven exchange. Paul Smith, a salesman, was also transferred. Edwin Melhado, a salesman in the same exchange, resigned to go with a local bond house. Edward J. Hayes, who was at one time manager of the First National exchange in Buffalo, comes to Albany to succeed Mr. Ames.

Leon Medem, one time connected with the Pathe exchange in Albany, returned to Albany last week, and announced that he would shortly open an exchange here for independents.

Floyd Walters, organist at the Mark Strand in Albany, was quietly married two or three weeks ago. Miss Elinor Chatham, of this city, was the bride.

A new theatre is to be erected in the village of Inlet, by a hotel proprietor of that place. For some time past the only house there has been run by "Al" Sardino.

William Smalley's latest acquisition, the Grand in Johnstown, acquired a few weeks ago from Charles Sesonske, was reopened last Friday night under most auspicious conditions. Cards announcing the opening had been received several days before in Albany. Nearly all of the exchanges were represented either by members of their staffs or by floral tributes.

R. E. Bishop, former Cincinnati salesman, promoted to manager of the Albany branch of Producers Dist. Corp.

Finding time hanging heavily on his hands with a theatre in Oriskany, Bob Wagner, old timer, and former manager of the Gateway in Little Falls, is now running a road house about three miles outside of Utica, which is proving a veritable mint.

The Rialto, in Schenectady, again changed hands last week, when Louis Cappa disposed of the theatre to Arthur Deitz of Albany. Mr. Cappa may later reopen the Dreamland in Albany.

Sidney Katz, of the F. B. O. office in New York City, was in town during a portion of the week, going over the territory with Harry Weinberg, the new manager.

Harry Hellman is now running double features each night at the Royal in Albany, except on Saturday. Mr. Hellman expects to spend a good deal of his time this summer at his camp at Crooked Lake. Mrs. Hellman was in New York City during the past week, welcoming home her daughter, back from an extended trip through the west, accompanying her husband, who is a well known star in vaudeville.

Finding competition too strong, Austin Interrante decided to close the Astor Theatre in Troy, last week, and left with his family for Brooklyn.

Alec Herman, local manager for First National, and his associates, arrived back from Chicago last Friday.

Reports reaching Albany from Boston are not very encouraging in so far as Jake Golden is concerned. Mr. Golden, who is manager of the Griswold Theatre in Troy, has been confined to a hospital since the fore part of January, suffering from intestinal poisoning.

There will be a motion picture theatre at Thousand Island Park this summer, handled by S. H. Ballard. The house will operate on a three night a week schedule until the crowds begin to arrive the fore part of July, after which it will run six nights a week.

There were a number of out of town exhibitors along Film Row during the week, including Vic Warren, on his way back to Massena, from New York City; Julius Byck, of Tannersville, and F. L. Asher, of the Star in Rhinebeck.

Abe Stone, who has the Arbor Hill in Albany, has decided not to start the construction of his new theatre until next January. Mr. Stone was for several years one of the best known projectionists in this state and prides himself on the type of projection being given at the Arbor Hill.

The interior of the Clinton Square Theatre in Albany, is being redecorated at the present time. Since C. H. Buckley took over this house, several thousands of dollars have been spent in making it as attractive as possible. As a direct result of this, the theatre now ranks as one of the best drawing houses in the downtown section and instead of being a losing venture, it is showing a profit each week. The theatre is managed by Frank Briggs.

South East

FORTY-ONE exhibitors and distributors for the Paramount motion picture corporation in North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee yesterday gathered in Charlotte for their first annual get-together convention, the avowed purpose of which is to bring a closer point of contact between distributors and exhibitors.

A total of 14,000 feet of film was reeled off at the exchange here to give representatives of the cinema industry here an idea of the kind of pictures they will have next year.

The evening program was given over to a dinner dance program. Harry G. Ballance, district manager, of Atlanta, was toastmaster.

Prominent visitors at the gathering included: G. B. J. Freeley, of the Home Office, New York; Harry G. Ballance, of Atlanta; Lew Edleman, home official, and Bill Caldwell, also of the home office at New York.

Among the exhibitors here were the following: Ed Turner, of Asheville; E. A. Booth, of Greenville, Tenn.; W. H. Harmon, of Kingsport, Tenn.; D. M. Eaves, of Union, S. C.; H. R. Mason, of Goldsboro, N. C.; James Estridge, of Gastonia; Charles Picquet, of Pinehurst; J. M. Davis, of Salisbury, N. C.; W. J. Allen, of North Wilkesboro; A. F. Sams, Jr., of Winston, and P. A. Boone, of Mt. Airy, N. C.

DURATIZE
TRADE MARK
YOUR FILM

-DURA-
FILM PROTECTOR CO
INC.
220 WEST 42ND STREET
NEW YORK

PHONE CHICKERING 2937
ALLAN A. LOWNES PRES.

Charles Picquet, President of the Motion Pictures Theatres Owners, announced the appointment of A. F. Sams, Jr., General Manager of the Piedmont Amusement Co., of Winston-Salem, N. C.; W. T. Gray, owner of the Loray Theatre, Gastonia, N. C., and W. E. Stewart, owner of the Pastime Theatre, Concord, N. C., as exhibitor members of the Arbitration Board, for six months. They were all present for the first meeting Tuesday of this week.

George Parr, of the Imperial Theatre, Lancaster, S. C., has just installed a new organ in his theatre. C. L. Whitehead, of Wilmington, N. C., handled the sale.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's booker, Sam Hinson, made a trip to Asheville and other Western North Carolina towns last week in the interest of his company.

Shelby, N. C., was represented along film row the past week by E. L. and Z. Beam, of the Princess Theatre.

It is reported that there is to be a new theatre in Roseboro, N. C., to be financed and opened by Dr. O. E. Underwood, M. D., and his brother Dr. Underwood, Dentist.

The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Exchange, of this city, has recently made arrangements with C. L. Whitehead, of Wilmington, N. C., to place an organ in their projection room for the benefit of the exhibitors who attend the screenings in this exchange. Frank Bryan, Manager of First National with his entire sales force and booker has left for Chicago to attend the sales meeting.

Progress Pictures local office has secured the services of C. G. Lawing formerly general manager of the Community Theatrical Service, as salesman.

William F. Lenehan, Manager of Producers & Distributors Corporation, will leave for Los Angeles, on Saturday to attend the sales convention.

The report has been circulated that Ed Turner, President of the Carolina Theatres, Inc., who has just returned from Pittsburg, N. C., will move his office to Charlotte from Asheville immediately.

Miss Ruth McCormick, who is secretary to her father, J. U. McCormick, Manager of the Carolina Theatre Supply Company, has been confined to her home for over two weeks with influenza.

Eugene Riley, of the American Seating Company, was covering several towns in Eastern North Carolina, the past week.

George Hughes, manager of the Grand Theatre, Greer, S. C., spent a few days in Charlotte the past week.

George Wilby has succeeded J. E. Reynolds, as manager of Educational Film Exchange at this point, Mr. Reynolds having accepted a position as general manager of the Piedmont Theatres, Inc.

A new song hit "Just Suppose" by Nat Royster and Robert E. Mitchell of Charlotte, was introduced last night at the Broadway Theatre. Royster, author of the words, is manager of the theatre, and Mitchell, writer of the tune, is organist there.

The song has been booked as a special feature next week at the Metropolitan Theatre, in Atlanta.

Butte

STEPHEN PARKER, director in the Multnomah Picture Theatre Corporations, is in Butte at this time. Shortly after locating in Portland he was invited to go into a theatre deal with a man by the name of Swanson and just after getting the business started, Mr. Swanson died. As a result, Mr. Parker soon found himself sufficiently interested to invest in other houses and at the time of the Universal buy he held an interest in a chain of 12 theatres.

William Karcher an employe in a Great Falls theatre, was killed in Great Falls on April 25th, when he came in contact with a barbed wire fence, which had been electrified when a high voltage power line fell across the fence.

Carl E. Anderson and R. D. McDaniel, or "Carl and Mac" as they are fondly termed by their many friends, having just been fortunate enough to land in big in an oil deal, have bought the theatres Liberty and Orpheum at Kalispell, of Carl's father, Marius Anderson. They expect to devote all of their time from now on to the theatre interests. The Liberty Theatre is one of the most modern and beautiful theatres in the Northwest and was built a few years ago at a cost of $80,000. Carl has sold to Mr. McDaniels a half-interest in his playhouse at Columbia Falls.

W. J. Heineman, manager of the local Universal exchange, has returned to Butte from Universal City, where he had one of the most enjoyable and inspiring meetings in the history of Universal. O. B. Henson, who went with him to Los Angeles, resigned while on the trip to accept the management of a Portland theatre.

Walt K. Millar, former manager of the local Greater Features Exchange has resigned to accept a promotion in the same company at Seattle.

Seattle sent a fine man to Butte in the person of E. C. Shaffer, Greater Features exploitation representative, to take charge of the exchange here.

Harry Kreiter, of Los Angeles, has arrived in Butte to joint the Universal sales staff.

This week the Associated First National men, managers, salesmen and bookers, are attending the convention in Chicago.

Wm. Hughardt, Pathe exchage manager, is in New York attending the convention.

Booker Claude Hall, of Pathe here, says he looks for his chief back the first of next week.

Southwest

MORRIS MILLER has purchased the two theatres at Lindsay, Oklahoma. W. M. White formerly owned the Dixie Theatre, and J. R. Gotcher The Favorite, Mr. Miller's newly acquired shows.

Anton Slepka, who has the Jewel Theatre at Okemah, Okla., is preparing to enlarge his theatre to twice its present size.

It is reported that F. J. Davidson has sold his theatre at Cherokee, The Majestic, and will join the Warner Bros. sales force. L. A. White is said to have purchased The Majestic. Mr. White now has the Bungalow Theatre at Weatherford.

W. T. Bingham has just purchased two new machines with Mazda equipment for his Palace Theatre at Quapaw, Okla

The Universal Exchange is getting ready to move into its new quarters in the 600 block on West Main Street.

The Hippodrome Theatre at Okmulgee, which was recently purchased by Barclay Morgan of Henryetta, Okla., has been renamed The Morgan Theatre and will be under the direct management of Mr. Morgan. The new owner also has a theatre in Henryetta, which he will retain.

D. K. Reed. booker at the Famous Players-Lasky office here, has gone on the road to sell in this territory. M. M. Hite, Mr. Reed's former assistant, is doing the booking now.

Philadelphia

ALTHOUGH daylight saving has been effective in Philadelphia only a short time, since April 25th, motion picture houses, which have been doing remarkably good business all spring, are already feeling its effects.

Jules E. Mastbaum, president of the Stanley Company, and Al Boyd, vice-president, have returned to Philadelphia after spending a short vacation at French Lick, Ind.

Al Fisher, Jr., of the Mammoth Theatre, 6th and Girard Ave., this city, who was recently operated upon for appendicitis, is again able to be about and has resumed his duties at the theatre.

Dave Starkman, owner of the Standard Film Exchange and president of Colored Players, Inc., has suffered a serious accident to his right foot, as a result of which he is going about Vine Street on crutches.

Work has been started on the new Cameo Theatre, to be built by George Gravenstein, owner of the Carmen Theatre, at Germantown and Hilton Avenues, Philadelphia. The Cameo, a 2,500-seat house, will be directly across the street from the Carmen and will have an opening some time between Thanksgiving and New Year. It will be devoted to legitimate and stock productions, with a possible policy of vaudeville and pictures.

Indianapolis

LEW THOMPSON, district manager for the Central Division of Associated Exhibitors, was a guest of the local Associated Exhibitors office last week.

M. Moore, formerly with Griever Productions of Chicago, and the Progress Pictures Corp., has been assigned sales representative for Associated Exhibitors working out of Indianapolis.

R. H. Ramsey, formerly with Famous Players Cleveland office, has been transferred to the Indianapolis Branch of Famous Players on sales work.

Chas. Reagan, district manager for Indianapolis, Louisville and Cincinnati for Famous Players, is visiting the Indianapolis Branch office this week.

W. H. Griffin, who owns and operates the Garrick Theatre, Indianapolis, is opening a free parking space to accommodate sixty to seventy-five cars.

H. H. Diffendorfer has disposed of the Alhambra at Knightstown, Indiana. Mr. Diffendorfer is still operating the Strand and has just opened a new and up-to-date hotel in Knightstown.

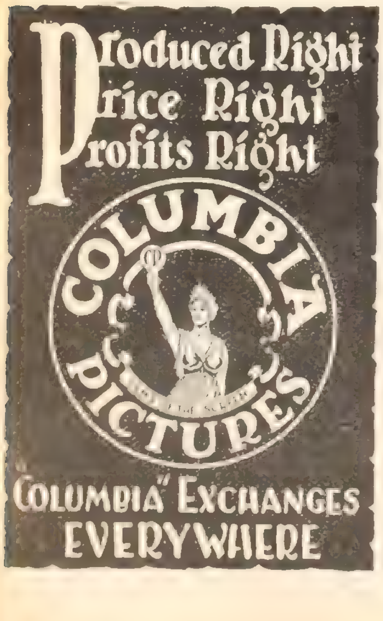
H. E. Hart of Oak Park, Ill., has taken over the A. B. Visk interests in the Court and Empire Theatres at Auburn, Indiana.

Guy Loudermilk has started work on a new four hundred seat house in Nappanee, Indiana, and expects to open about Aug. 1st.

Oscar Woolbrock is building a new eight hundred seat theatre at 1117 Maumee Ave., Ft. Wayne, Indiana, and expects to open about July 1st.

Floyd Brown, local manager for First National Pictures Inc., is attending the First National Convention at Chicago.

Joe Neger, formerly sales representative for Famous Players Indianapolis, has been assigned as assistant manager for First National Pictures Inc., to succeed Margolis, resigned.



W. A. Ratz, former salesman, promoted to manager of Producers Distributing Corp. Indianapolis exchange

Kansas City

NOT even yet have the care and wories of an annual convention been disposed of by C. E. Cook, business manager of the M. P. T. O. K-M.

Following the convention of his organization in Joplin, Mo, last week "Doc" decided it would be too burdensome to lug the records and registration book under his arm, so had them expressed to Kansas City. The books arrived Tuesday. Here are the attending exhibitors who registered at the convention, there being many there who did not register:

Missouri Exhibitors — E. S. Maggs, Monett; S. Elberhart, Jefferson and Powers, Springfield; Ensley Barbour, Landers, Springfield; Jay Means, Oak Park, Kansas City; Ben Levy, Hippidrome, Joplin; William Parsons, Pershing, Joplin; G. E. Shillkett, Rex, Joplin; G. W. Bays, Crane, Carthage: Jack Gross, Carthage; Barney Dubinsky, Jefferson, Jefferson City; Ed Peskay, Rivoli and Penn, St. Joseph; T. D. Block, Dixie ,Odesso; R. Maxwell, Electric Joplin. J. T. Wilson, Bancroft, Kansas City; George Leathers, Mount Vernon; Frank Amos, Westport, Kansas City; L. C. El-Roy, Forty-fifth street, Kansas City; Hugh Gardner, Fotosho, Neodasha; D. Donnici, Palace, Kansas City; C. R. Wilson, Liberty, Liberty.

Kansas Exhibitors—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyn, Perishing, Kansas City; Tom Magruder, Elite, Iola; Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Larson, People's, Moran; T. M. Steele, Whiteway and Orpheum, Fredonia; Frank S. Davidson, Royal, Cherryville; Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Bull, Holland and Novelty, Wichita; S. A. Davidson, Princess, Neodasha; M. D. Frazier, Empress, Arma; R. G. Liggett, Gauntier, Kansas City; D. Filoiza, Empress, Fort Scott; W. G. Gabel, Grand, Beloit; Harry McClure, Strand, Emporia. Roy Burford, Rex, Arkansas City; R. R. Biechele, Osage, Kansas City; L. Breunninger, Lawrence; Amusement Company, Topeka; C. M. Pattee, Pattee Theatre, Lawrence; O. K. Mason, Regent, Newton; G. L. Hooper, National Amusement Company, Topeka; W. D. Fite, Phototorium, Kansas City; C. L. McVey, Royal, Herington; William L. Schenkælberder, Kansas City; H. L. Stout, Liberty, Fort Scott; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Frazier, Grand, Pittsburg; James K. Kershman, Liberty, Pittsburg.

Bob Withers, manager, has been named as president of the Enterprise Film Corporation of Missouri, the incorporation of which has been announced by J. W. Quinlan, vice-president of the parent concern, who is in Kansas City. Mr. Withers is a well-known man in the industry in the Kansas City territory.

Among the out of town exhibitors in the Kansas City market this week were: Harry McClure, Strand, Emporia, Kas.; L. Bruenninger, Cozy, Topeka, Kas.; O. K. Mason, Regent and Zim, Winfield, Kas.; Myers Bros., Slater, Mo.; W. P. Cuff, Strand, Chillicothe, Mo.; Frank Weary, Farris, Richmond, Mo.; D. Smith Prescott, Kas.; H. E. Ulrich, Midland Theatre Circuit, Hutchison, Kas.; H. M. Wells, Star, Altoona, Kas.; C. M. Pattee, Pattee Theatre, Lawrence, Kas.

Fred Savage, Hutchison, Kas., exhibitor, has decided to see what the "other side of the fence" looks like. Therefore he now is a salesman for Associated Exhibitors.

The annual spring "brushing up" is in progress along Kansas City's movie row.

C. A. Jones, manager, and Russell Borg, assistant manager of the Educational branch, drove the ol' "hoopie" to the M. P. T. O. Kansas-Missouri convention in Joplin, Mo., last week.

Harry Silverman and C. W. Rodenbaugh of the Independent Film Corporation, were a pair of hustlers in the territory this week.

Among the exchange managers who attended the M. P. T. O. K-M convention in Joplin last week were: E. C. Rhoden, Midwest; Ben Blotcky, Paramount; Roy Churchill, F. B. O.; William Warner, First National; C. E. Gregory, Metro-Goldwyn; C. A. Schultz, P. D. C.; C. A. Jones, Educational. Eddie Green and Lou Nathanson, Metro-Goldwyn salesman, won a trip to the convention in winning a recent sales contest. F. W. Gebhardt, Pathe branch manager, rolled up his sleeves and dug in, following his return Monday from the annual Pathe convention in New York. Joe Levy, Warner Bros., branch manager, did the same upon his return from the Chicago convention of his company.

Phil Ryan, assistant general manager of the Universal Chain Theatres Corporation, and Miss Gladys Mueller, were married Saturday. The romance started about four years ago when Miss Mueller, a member of the staff of a regional trade paper, interviewed Mr. Ryan. The story was a "scoop".

The following changes in management, improvements and new theatres in the Kansas City territory have been announced: Hippidrome Theatre, Joplin, Mo., operated by Ben Levy, to undergo $40,000 worth of improvement work; Princess theatre, North Topeka, Kas.; has been taken over by A. Ulapmerl; new Capitol Theatre, North Kansas City, Mo., opened by George Hartman; Panama Theatre, Burlingame, Kas., purchased by R. V. Turner from D. Beverly.

Denver

DAVID BADER, exploitation executive of Universal and chief of the Poster and Accessory Department, arrived in the city from Los Angeles and during his visit in Denver, was located at the offices of G. E. Rosenwald, local Universal branch manager.

Sidney D. Weisbaum, manager of F. B. O., was elected by the Denver Film Board of Trade to succeed James S. Hommel as exchange representative on the board of Arbitration.

The construction of the new million dollar Publix Theatre has been started, which is located at 16th and Glenarm Place. According to plans and specifications. Denver is going to have one of the most magnificant theatres in the country. The theatre will be completed in February, next year.

Jack Eaton, manager of the State Theatre of Denver, and James Hommel, former manager of the local branch of Producers, are representing a new theatre chain, which is being organized in the Denver territory. They have already secured the Alamosa American Legion Theatre and the American Theatre of Colorado Springs.

Paul H. Hoppen, former owner of the American Theatre of Longmont, Colorado, and the Rialto Theatre of Loveland, Colorado, has purchased the Majestic Theatre ot Pueblo, from the Bishop-Cass Theatre interests. Mr. Hoppen will take possession of this theatre in about thirty days.

The new Broadway Theatre of Pueblo, Colorado, celebrated its grand opening Friday, April 24. This new theatre, with the seating capacity of eight hundred. is one of the finest theatre buildings in Pueblo. Its promotion builders are E. K. Lucy and W. S. Wilkinson of Hoisington, Kansas.

The Rialto and Victory theatres are now operated by Paramount, and it is rumored that the completion of the new theatre, the Victory, will be closed.

James S. Hommel, who has resigned as manager of the local branch of Producers, was succeeded by A. G. Edwards, his assistant manager. Mr Edwards has been, for a long time, associated with the industry of the Denver territory.

Ward E. Scott, manager of Fox of Cleveland, Ohio, and president of the Film Board of Trade, spent two days in Denver last week, visiting relatives and his many friends along Film Row.

Reports come from Mitchell, Nebraska, that Harry Rodell, owner and manager of the Crystal Theatre, became so interested listening to baseball scores over his radio a few nights ago, that he forgot to open his theatre on schedule time, leaving a large crowd of anxious patrons wondering what had happened to their popular theatre manager.

Dewey Sporr, manager of the Critcher Theatre. Pueblo, Colorado, was a visitor in Denver last week, doing booking for the summer months. He was accompanied by his wife and Miss Gladys Erickson of Minneapolis, Minnesota.

S. B. Rohn, manager of the local branch of Pathe Exchange, returned from New York City last Wednesday, where he was in attendance at the National Convention held for district managers and branch managers.

Coming
GENE TUNNEY
formidable heavyweight, loser of only one battle and that way back in 1922, in a Pathéserial

Minneapolis

T. A. BURKE, manager of Warner Brothers' Minneapolis office, is in Chicago with the First National forces holding convention there and will become the new manager of the Minneapolis branch of that outfit following promotion of Les Davis to wider fields in the organization.

With Burke and Davis in Chicago is the Minneapolis sales force of First National, including Jack Heywood, H. Conway, E. Hill, H. Hembold, E. W. Jensen and Carl Michel.

Ted Quandall, who was to have gone to Chicago, has severed his connections with the company and joined the force of United Artists in Minneapolis, which has also taken on J. C. Woolf and Joe Hasbrouck, former owner of the Montevideo Star Theatre recently sold to Jake Prince.

The Warner Brothers' office is getting along as best it may pending the selection of Burke's successor. The outfit just got back from its own convention in Chicago which was attended by Burke, A. J. Huesman, office manager, and the salesmen, Reno Wilk, George Levine, M. E. Montgomery and C. E. Teorey.

Phil Dunas is back on the job as manager of Minneapolis' Universal branch following a siege of illness.

Barney Cohen, recently of Pathe branch here, is now handling northern Minnesota for Universal.

Al Allard, handsome and youthful advertising man in the Minneapolis publicity office of Kinkelstein & Ruben, is a benedict, having braved the orange blossoms on May 1.

The Minneapolis Fox organization made a flying trip to Chicago last week end for conferences there with national officers. Those in the party included Don Nairn, assistant manager, W. L. Lydick, booker; F. G. Hallowell, W. W. Adams, F. I. Mantzke, Jack Raper and Ray D. Stewart. They will meet Sidney E. Abel, manager there, on his way back from the coast.

Henry Zapp, transferred from Indianapolis and made manager of the Detroit branch of Producers Dist. Corp.

Milton Pay has purchased the Royal Theatre at Sioux Falls to be operated in conjunction with his Colonial Theatre.

Fred Knispel and Jack O'Toole, district and branch managers, respectively, for Producers Distributing Corporation, are on their way to the Pacific Coast.

W. L. Hamilton, former salesman for Warner Brothers, has bought the Rosebud Theatre, Lake street house in Minneapolis.

Morris Abrams, Metro-Goldwyn exploiteer for the district, last reported in Milwaukee, came in the other day from Fargo.

A. B. Fischer, Metro manager in Minneapolis, and Mrs. Fischer are attending the sales convention in New York.

Harry Bailley, manager of Minneapolis Pathe forces, is just back from a managers' conference in New York. He had been gone two weeks.

L. J. Blumberg has been in charge of the Metro exchange here in the absence of A. B. Fischer.

Marion Walker, son of H. L. Walker of the Rialto, Orpheum and Lyric Theatres in Aberdeen, was in Minneapolis last week on his honeymoon.

William Bennett, old timer in the film business, is recovering from his recent serious illness.

George Wassell, auditor for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, is doing his stuff in Minneapolis just now.

W. W. Arnold, owner of theatres in Carrington and Harvey, N. D., another former salesman now an exhibitor, visited in Minneapolis last week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Dilley, Northfield, Minn., exhibitors, were in town the other day.

Frank Woollen, for five years a member of Finkelstein & Ruben's publicity staff in Minneapolis, has resigned his position and is looking for a theatre to buy

Max Rivkin of Associated Exhibitors, and William Gould of Producers Dist. Corp., are sporting brand new cars.

A. E. McCauley, of Glenwood, Minn., was in Minneapolis buying for his theatre last week.

John Pillar, Valley City, N. D., theatre man, paid a visit to Film Row recently.

H. L. Boch has sold his house at Glenwood City, Wis., and is looking over several buys in the Twin Cities and vicinity in company with Eph Rosen, F. B. O. manager, who is just back from the coast.

H. B. Smooths of the Lowell Theatre, Little Falls, was in town during the week.

J. M. Wilson of the Orpheum at Minot, and J. C. Snyder of the Grand at Williston, stopped off in Minneapolis the other day

Eph Rosen brought back word from the coast that Jack Elliott, who was for many years manager of the Unique, now an F. & R. picture house here, has just set up in business as a resort owner in Big Bear Mountain Lodge, Calif.

Rosen also reported with greetings from Bill Koenig, long active in the theatre business in Minneapolis, who is now production manager for Warner Brothers.

Al Harris, new booker of F. B. O., is breaking in to the job in good shape under the tutelage of the new assistant manager, Ben Marcus.

Mildred Miller, formerly of Universal here, is the new cashier for F. B. O., replacing Leo Ryan, who has retired.

Minneapolis F. B. O. has won the national sales championship of the organization under Rosen's direction and will cut up prizes of $500. It is the first time Minneapolis has been at the top.

G. A Troyer of Rugby, and John Frana of Long Prairie, were theatre managers or owners reported at local offices last week

W. E. Wester of the Lyric at LeSueur Center, and James Eldred of the Gem at Shakopee, also stopped in.

Frank Covell who runs the town of New London, was in town last week. He is constable, newspaper editor and several other things besides operating the motion picture theatre.

Ben Marcus had bad luck last week. The new F. B. O. assistant manager's car was stolen but he got it back. That was the bad luck.

W. J. Dudley of the Dudley Theatre at Bradley, S. D., was reported as a Minneapolis visitor last week.

M. J. Weisfeldt, district manager for F. B. O., was in town between trains the other day.

Finkelstein & Ruben have bought an interest in H. B. Smooths Lowell Theatre at Little Falls, Minn. Smooths also operates the Harwha Theatre there. A. J. Hand controls the Lyric, having recently regained possession from Ben Neitzel under foreclosure.

Fred Benno, Paramount salesman out of the Minneapolis office with headquarters at Devils Lake, has been elected president of the Paramount 100 per cent. club, after winning the national contest recently.

Detroit

C. W. MUNZ and associates, who already operate the Grand Riviera Theatre at Grand River and Joy Road, announce the incorporation of the Riviera Annex Theatre Company with a capital stock of $300,000, for the purpose of building an exclusive motion picture theatre on Grand River, several blocks east of the present Grand Riviera. The new house will seat about 2,200. Work is to start at once and it is expected to have the new theatre ready late in the fall. Other houses operated by Mr. Munz and his associates are the LaSalle Gardens, Tuxedo and Palace.

Fred North, First National manager and his staff, have returned from Chicago.

A. M. Goodman, manager of the Standard Film Service, is building a summer home at Sarnia, Ontario.

Joe Casco, who already operates the Stratford, Jefferson, Tivoli and Harper, took over the Gratiot Theatre this week.

W. A. V. Mack divisional sales manager of Pathe, will address the Detroit Pathe office on May 10th and 11th at the Wolverine Hotel, Detroit.

The condition of Ben Cohen, of the Colonial Theatre, has shown considerable improvement during the past week. Ben is still confined, however, at his home.

Lesfer Sturm has returned to his managerial chair at the local office of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer after a week spent in New York where his company held their annual convention.

Brad Burke is now selling for Universal here. Burke was formerly covering the western part of Michigan for Associated Exhibitors.

Associated Exhibitors has added a new salesman to their staff in the person of J. W. McGraw who will travel the territory formerly covered by Brad Burke.

The Superba Theatre in Grand Rapids, Michigan, which is one of the oldest theatres in that city, was destroyed by fire, caused by defective wiring, a few weeks ago.

John H. Kunsky and George Trendle returned last week from Atlantic City, where they attended the annual First National meeting.

EMPIRE LABORATORIES INC.
723 Seventh Ave., N. Y. Bryant 5437-5736
DEVELOPING AND PRINTING MOTION PICTURE FILM

Seattle

JAMES REILLY, manager of the local Universal exchange returned last week from California where he represented the local office at the national convention of the Laemmle organization. Mr. Reilly was accompanied on his return trip by Manager William Heineman of Butte, and George Jackson of Portland.

A. J. Xydias, president of Sunset Productions, spent several days in this territory last week.

E. A. Hallberg, prominent Northwest exhibitor with houses in Port Angeles, last week spread his territory to include Mount Vernon, Washington, when he opened his new and entirely modern house in that town. The Mount Vernon Theatre is a first run house with seating capacity of close to 1,000, and is one of the most attractive houses in that territory, according to reports.

J. A. Gage, manager of the local Educational exchange, left recently for Denver to attend the Northwest division meeting of the Educational branch managers. During his absence, the exchange was under the direction of B. Wallace Rucker, local sales representative.

The family of Grahams were well represented on Film Row this week by the arrival of Frank Graham, popular Centralia exhibitor, and the equally popular F. W. Graham of Shelton, Washington.

Clarence Eisman, former salesman in Washington territory, now manager of the Washington branch of Producers Dist. Corp.

Carl Stearn, manager of the local Warner Brothers exchange, left this week for Los Angeles, where he will attend the national convention of his company's branch managers. En route to the Southern city, Mr. Stearn expected to be joined by W. K. Beckwith, former assistant manager of the local office and now head of the Warner exchange in Portland.

Word was received last week from Roseburg, Oregon, to the effect that Larry Goux, exhibitor of that city, had sold his interests in Oregon theatre operations to D. H. Marsten of Portland. Mr. Marsten is the former director of the Ideal, Nob Hill and State Theatres in Portland. Mr. Goux is at present en route to Boise, Idaho, and plans to return to California.

Changes in the ownership and management of the Greater Features Exchanges of the Northwest, as reported recently, were publicly announced last week. Under the new revised organization, Jack Lannon retains the ownership and management of the branches in this city, Portland and Butte. J. T. Sheffield, former partner, takes over the Denver and Salt Lake City exchanges. The first change in direct management came this week when Mr. Lannon appointed E. C. Shaffer as manager of the Butte branch, succeeding W. K. Millar, who resigned recently.

Ray Grombacher, Spokane theatre magnate who directs the Liberty and several other houses in the Eastern Washington city, spent several days in Seattle last week on a buying and booking expedition.

Clarence Hill, manager of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer office in this city, was making plans this week for his departure for Los Angeles. Mr. Hill will be joined on the trip by Louis Amacher, Metro's executive in the Oregon territory.

Preliminary plans are being made by J. M. Home, executive secretary of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Washington, for the delegation from the Pacific Northwest that will attend the national M. P. T. O. A. convention in Los Angeles in June. It is expected that this territory will be represented by several of the prominent exhibitors.

A. H. Huot, manager of the Film Booking Offices, returned to his desk last week after an enjoyable vacation spent at the F. B. O. national convention. Harold Moore, manager of the Portland office, accompanied Mr. Huot on the return voyage as far as the Oregon city.

H. M. Glanfield, for several seasons associated with Manager R. S. Stackhouse's local Associated Exhibitors exchange, last week received word of his promotion to the manager's office of the Portland branch.

Des Moines

CARL McCully is opening up a theatre at Shellsburg. There has never been a picture house at this town previously. A store building was remodelled by Mr. McCully for the new theatre and new equipment was purchased from the Exhibitors Supply Company. The theatre will seat 225 and will open some time between May 10 and May 15. Equipment includes Mazda lights, seats and screen.

Manny Gottlieb, manager of the Universal office, is a proud daddy for the second time. The second is also a boy. And a nice big fellow.

C. L. Niles of the Eastern Iowa Theatres Company, announces that this corporation has bought the Star Theatre at Decorah. R. J. Relf sold his interest in the theatre to the company and gives possession on June 1. The theatre will be redecorated and remodelled and will be again open for shows on June 15.

The Film Board of Trade offices are all dolled up in new furniture recently acquired. The set is mahagony and Miss Benjamin, acting as secretary and treasurer for the board, is much elated with the elegance.

Mildred Davis, Universal inspector, was taken suddenly ill and found it necessary to undergo an operation for appendicitis. The operation was performed on Thursday and she is now getting along nicely.

Park Agnew, booker of the Metro-Goldwyn branch, had a siege of the 'flu. He returned to the office still pretty weak from his illness.

A. D. Bustanaby, inspector booker for the home office of Pathe, left the Des Moines office to take a long jump to Los Angeles.

Two new inspectors have joined the staff of Universal. They are Minnie Sterling, who used to be at the Des Moines office of Paramount, and Helen Chadwick from Minneapolis.

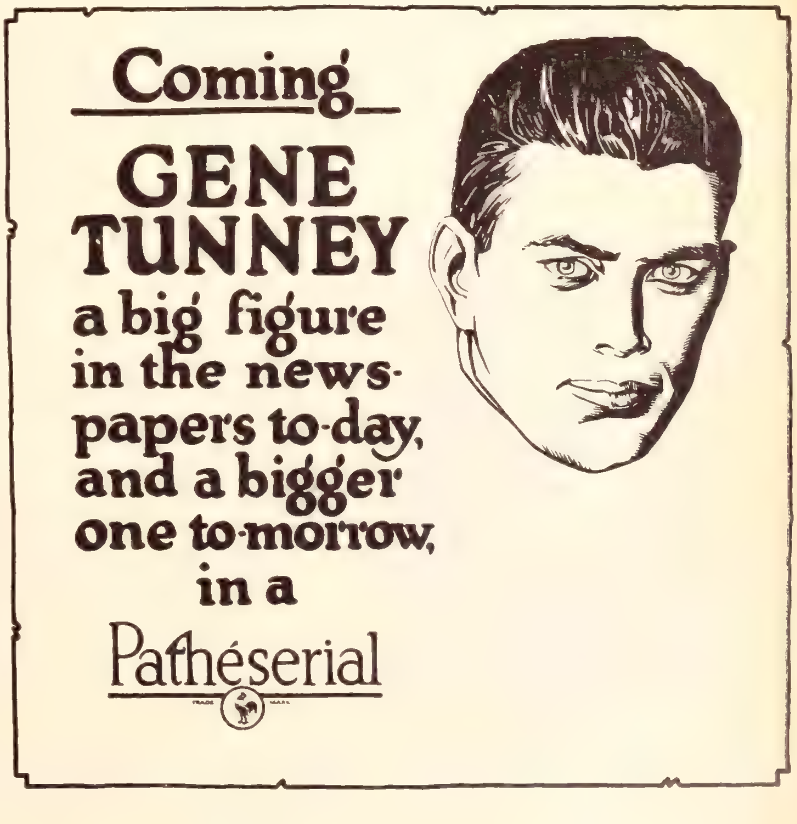
Peerless arcs were sold to the Orpheum Theatre at Webster City to the firm of Stephens and Puffer. Complete Mazda equipment was sold to the Princess Theatre at Harvey and complete Mazda equipment was also sold to the Strand Theatre at Williams. All equipment was sold by the Exhibitors Supply Company.

The Langlois Sisters at Olimitz are closing their theatre and dismantling the building.

Lester Phillips is now the manager of the exchange of Producers Dist. Corp. Mr. Phillips has been with the Exhibitors Supply Company for several years and before that was connected with the film trade for a considerable length of time. He is well known and liked in Iowa territory.

Theatres which are closing for the summer season are the Home Theatre at Allerton owned by Mr. Whitely, the Opera House at Numa owned by Albertson and the theatre at Tipperary owned by Davis.

A number of exhibitors who are rarely seen in Film Row visited the exchanges last week. M. A. Brown of Forest City, D. B. Baker of the Circle Amusement Company at Ottumwa, Elmo & Hoffman of the theatre at New Sharon and H. G. Simpson of the theatres at Sigourney and MacGregor.



Coming

GENE TUNNEY

a big figure in the newspapers to-day, and a bigger one to-morrow, in a

Pathéserial

New York and New Jersey

HARRY BUXBAUM, New York branch manager, Joe Lee, Jersey manager, and Assistant Manager Ed Schmitzer have returned from their trip to the West Coast. Even while on a vacation Bux's shrewd trading instinct will come to the front and this time his victim was a Fox exchange manager from the Middle West. Bux had accumulated some silver dollars while in a certain section where they are extensively used and sold them as souvenirs to the other exchange manager—for a dollar and a half.

The new Fox New York exchange is probably one of the finest and most modern film exchanges in the country. Following Frank Walsh, one of Harry Buxbaum's able salesmen, through the building, one thing stands out above all—and that is that this outfit has laid definite plans to do even more business in the future than at the present time. Expansion space has been provided for every department housed in the plant, where on short notice production may be practically doubled. All the fixtures and furnishings are the most costly and modern obtainable and whoever superintended the general layout, certainly knew what should constitute a modern film exchange.

Two new salesmen have been added to the Fox branch and one man is leaving. Jess Levine, former Paramount salesman, will work a section of New York territory for Fox, while Jules Sarzin, well known salesman in this zone, will cover a part of New Jersey.

Bernard Sholtz is the man who is leaving. After spending seven years with several exchanges, which included Producers Dist. Corp., the prodigal is returning to that same company as assistant to Manager Dave Gross. His last stop was for one year with Fox. Sholtz is not only a good salesman but numbers among his accomplishments that of toastmaster, after dinner speaker, diplomat—and the possession of a sense of humor. And that's not all—sometime ago he laid the foundation for his present work by serving as a member of the intelligence department of the Paris police commission.

It took three sharpshooters from New York City to successfully hold up Tom Mix. Left to right, the gunmen are Harry Buxbaum, Fox branch manager, Ed Schnitzer, assistant-manager, and Joe Lee, Jersey manager

Robert Wolff, former New York salesman, recently promoted to manager of the New Jersey branch of Producers Dist. Corp.

A recent report in connection with the sale of Louis Rosenthal's circuit theatre holdings over in Jersey, would seem to be a little premature. According to the latest rumor, there is a hitch somewhere in the deal and it may or may not go through.

Herbert Miller and Sam Buck's new Heights Theatre, 176th Street and Broadway, New York City, is progressing nicely. The walls are up and various equipment has been contracted for. Miller is of the firm of Miller & Schwartz who operate down Jamaica way; however, it is said that Schwartz has no connection with this particular enterprise.

H. W. Doniger, quarterback of Harry K. Hecht's "Four Horsemen," brought us news the other day concerning his boss' activities over in the state of New Jersey. In addition to operating seven thriving theatres, Mr. Hecht has plans drawn for three more and construction will start the latter part of June. The three new projects are as follows: An 1800 seat house will be erected at North Arlington, a store and office building with a 2000 seat theatre at East Rutherford and a 1600 seat house at Clifton, N. J. Mr. Hecht makes his headquarters at the Rialto, Passaic. His other theatre holdings are the Palace, Passaic, The Plaza and Capitol, Paterson, The Rivoli at Rutherford, The Regent, Kearney and the Arlington, Arlington, N. J.

Irving Hanover will leave his present position as salesman under Phil Meyer of the New York Assoc. Exhibitors exchange, to take charge of the New Haven branch. Shepherd, former manager at New Haven, who was gassed during the late war, will go to the Denver branch where his health is expected to vastly improve.

The opening of Joe Stern's new Ritz Theatre, Springfield Avenue, Newark, has been postponed from May 3d to May 10th. According to report, the Ritz is the finest theatre ever constructed by Mr. Stern. Delay was caused on the installation of seats.

Bratter & Pollack's Oritania Theatre, also scheduled to open on May 3, will open Thursday, May 6.

Another local theatre deal reported almost ready to be closed is that between Henry Siegle and the former Yost theatre circuit. It will involve the Chaloner, Royal, Chelsea, 34th Street, Regent and one or two other houses. According to the information received, papers will be signed sometime this week. Mr. Siegle operates the Janice and Ritz Theatres, Flushing, and the recently acquired Franklin Theatre, Astoria.

Herman Rachmil and Joe Rinzler are leaving this week for a two weeks, vacation in Canada.

"Mike" Glynn, Long Island theatre magnate, has three new houses scheduled for Spring and Summer openings. The Rialto at Patchogue is expected to open within two weeks and the Mineola and Bayshore Theatres—each a 2000 seat house, the early part of August.

Max Ruben and his partner, of the Exhibitors Supply Company, Chicago, were in town last week. They will attend the S. M. P. E. convention at Washington.

Joe Hornstein, the busy supply dealer of New York City and various other parts of the world, including Scandanavia, recently left for Atlantic City for a three days rest. Theatres reported buying equipment from Howell's within the last week or so include The Janice at Flushing, L. I., Mike Glynn's three new Long Island and the West Point Military Academy.

Chrisedge Theatres, Inc., new Bronxville Theatre will open June 1, according to recent word.

Another opening reported is that of one of Joelson's new Brooklyn houses located on Knickerbocker Avenue. May 24 has been set as a definite date.

A great deal of credit must be handed to Dave Brill, sales manager of the "Big U" in New York City, for the transaction put through between his company and Thos. W. Rossbottom, General Manager of the U. S. Lines. Brill was assisted by Jack Meyers. A complete "U" show will be shown on all sailings for the season. Recent letters from the operators aboard the several ships report a most favorable reaction from the passengers.

The local Universal branch, presided over by Bill Herman and Dave Brill, has been thoroughly remodeled and renovated within the past few weeks.

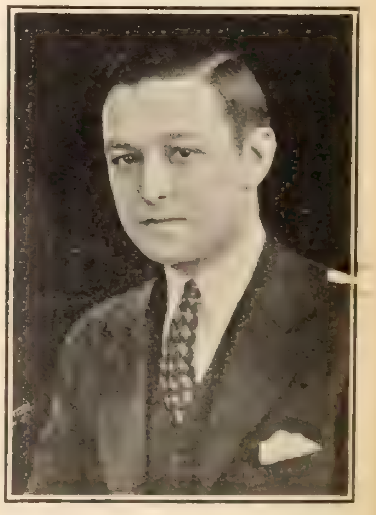
Joe O'Neil, former Keeney manager who recently took over the Franklin Theatre, Astoria, L. I., has sold that house to Henry Siegle. Siegle also operates the Ritz and Janice Theatres at Flushing.

One every week or so, seems to be Irving Lesser's pace in the way of taking over theatres. This time Mr. Lesser is reported to be about ready to close a deal for Schneider's Arverne Theatre, Arverne, L. I.

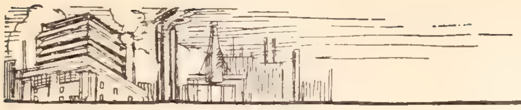
Jack Hollander, who operates the City Island Theatre, has taken a lease on the Lyceum Theatre, Amityville, L. I. The house will open under the new management about May 1.

The Forsyth Theatre, on the lower East Side of New York City, has been taken over by Charley Goldschalk. Last Friday evening was the opening night under Goldschalk control.

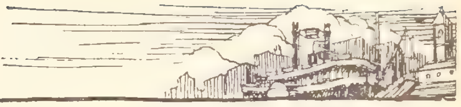
A. H. Schwartz' Merrick Theatre, Jamaica, has recently installed a new screen.



Frank Drumm, former office manager of the New York exchange, promoted to District Representative for Producers Dist. Corp. in New York territory



St. Louis



WALTER AIKEN has joined the F. B. O. sales organization and will take over Northern Illinois. He succeeded Ray Nettemeier.

The St. Louis office of the F. B. O. won first honors in the Eleven Weeks Go and Get It sales drive. Tom McKean and his Go Getters are hard to beat.

Ten reels of film were destroyed when a short circuit caused a fire in the booth of the Movie Theatre, St. Louis, Mo., April 29. The damage was estimated at $2,000.

C. E. Penrod, district manager for F. B. O., was a visitor of the past week.

Earl Joetz has taken over the Opera House, Camp Point, Ill. Earl Redd was the former owner.

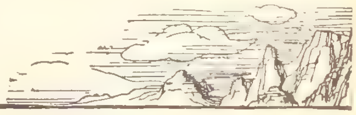
An explosion in the projection room of the New American Theatre, Twelfth and Barton Streets, St. Louis, Mo., April 25, caused a fire which did damage estimated at $2,000. The fire was confined to the projection room. Although there were 600 persons in the theatre at the time all left the building in safety. A defective film is believed to have caused the mishap.

The new Palm Theatre, Union Boulevard, St. Louis, Mo., will open on May 15.

Manager George E. McKean, Assistant Manager Joe Feld and Bob Worth, city salesman, attended the Fox sales meeting in Kansas City this week.

Out-of-town exhibitors seen along Picture Row during the past week included: W. W. Watts, Springfield, Ill.; Gus Kerasotas, Springfield, Ill.; John Rees, Wellsville, Mo.; John Pratt, Fulton, Mo.; Tom Reed, Duquoin, Ill.; Billy Sohm, Quincy, Ill.; Steve Farrar, Harrisburg, Ill.; Henry Immig, Newton, Ill.; Jimmy Clayton, West Frankfort, Ill.; Messrs. Price and Dahlremple, Oblong, Ill.; Paul and Overton, Winchester, Ill., and Frank Russell, Shelbyville, Ill.

Salt Lake City



PORTIONS of seventy-five feature pictures were shown at the Hotel Utah, April 22nd and 23rd, to a group of theatre operators from Utah, Idaho, Montana, and parts of Nevada in a sales meeting held here by the Salt Lake Exchange of Famous Players-Lasky Corporation. Louis Marcus, district manager, was in charge and as the various parts were shown he gave verbal explanation.

Attending the meeting were Louis Marcus, L. J. McGinley, F. H. Smith, A. K. Shepherd, Al Birch, H. W. Pickering, Tom Kilfoil, Sam Levin, C. G. Epperson, E. M. Loy, F. S. Bulbransen, J. A. English, George E Carpenter, Carl A. Porter, all of Salt Lake; Emmet Sorg, Ogden; Joseph A. Koehler, Twin Falls; Tom Olson, A. C. Gordon, Weiser, Idaho; Rolla Duncan, E. C. O'Keefe, Billings, Mont.; Walter Mendenhall, Boise; J. B. Ashton, Provo; Thomas G. Berta, Rock Springs, Wyoming; Alpert Nadeau, Anaconda, Mont.; C. W. Eckart, Helena, Mont.; G. B. Thatcher, Logan, Utah; Guy D. Haselton, Missoula, Mont.; Sidney Hirshberg, Havre, Mont.; O. E. Schmidt, Idaho Falls; Paul DeMordaunt, Blackfoot, Idaho; E. P. White, Livingston, Mont.. Lee Stallings, Richfield, Utah; L. M. Zug, Jerome, Idaho; O. W. Lambert, Roundup, Mont.; Vick Littizetti, Helper, Utah; John Ruger, Park City, Utah; Nick Salevurakis, Prich, Utah, and George Lindsay, Eureak, Utah.

A meeting of the Montana Film Board of Trade is to be held shortly in Butte, at which D. T. Lane, Secretary of the Intermountain Film Board of Trade, and several of the local exchange managers have planned to attend.

Delegates of the Paramount Convention were the guests of George E. Carpenter, manager of the local Paramount Empress Theatre and Carl A. Porter, manager of the Victory Theatre here, at performances at both of these houses.

Following this convention those in attendance participated in a golf tournament at the country club.

Dave Bader, Sales Director of Advertising Accessories, is here visiting Mathew Aparton, Manager of Universal's local exchange, and Clarence Baxter, Accessory Manager.

B. G. Jacocks, Universal home office representative, left here for Butte.

Ed Ryan of the Liberty Theatre at Brigham City, Utah, and Ben Winzelor of the Liberty Theatre at Tremonton, Utah, were visiting the local film mart this week.

A. A. Schmidt, Division Manager for F. B. O., is expected in the local office within a few days for a short visit.

L. A. Davis, F B O. branch manager here, is now traveling in the Southern Utah territory, and will return to the office this week.

W. F. Gordon, local manager for Associated First National, and all of the salesmen, are now in attendance at the convention in Chicago.

W. H. Rankin, branch manager, and the Warner Brothers sales representatives, are expected back in the near future from their regional convention in Los Angeles.

D. D. Boomer, Associated Exhibitors local manager, is still making the Cache Valley and Idaho territory.

Pathe and Associated will be in their new office building at 206 East 1st South Street, on May 1st.

Frank Harris, newly appointed Western Division sales manager for Pathe, is expected in from New York with J. A. Epperson, local branch manager, about May 1st.

Charlie Hamal, Pathe representative, is leaving for the Idaho territory.

George Jensen has just returned from the Southern Utah coal camps.

Bob Epperson has returned from a trip through the Yellowstone Branch of Idaho.

The United Artists representatives out of the local office are still in the respective territories.

The entire sales organization of Producers Distributing Corporation, which includes Eddie Walton, C. C. McDermond, C. R. Wade, from the Montana territory, Dave Barnholtz, assistant office manager, and manager Al O'Keefe, are leaving May 2nd for Los Angeles to attend the national sales convention.

O'Keefe just returned from the Idaho branch with Eddie Walton who is now making a short trip into Wyoming.

J. T. Sheffield, the new owner of the Denver and Salt Lake offices of Greater Features Incorporated, was in this city for a brief stay.

James R. Keitz, local manager for Greater Features, is leaving for the entire state of Idaho and will be gone for about four weeks.

Clyde H. Messinger has left his managerial duties at the local Educational exchange for a trip into the Yellowstone branch of Idaho.

George L. Cloward, former manager here for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and Chas. A. Dillard, former assistant manager at this exchange, have taken over the Hyland Theatre at 1025 East 21st South Street. The name of the house has been changed to the Forum Theatre and the opening will be held May 1st. They have completely remodeled and made practically a new theatre out of it.

Dillard's position as assistant manager in the local Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer exchange will be filled by C. M. Stern.

Jos. F. Samuels, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer branch manager, is expected to return soon from the convention.

TRAILERS SELL SEATS
NATIONAL SCREEN SERVICE

THE
ONLY
TRAILER SERVICE
WITH ACTUAL SCENES
FROM THE NEGATIVE

Chicago, Ill.
845 So. Wabash Ave.

New York City
126 West 46th St..

Los Angeles, Cal.
1922 So. Vermont Ave.

Texas

KARL HOBLITZELLE, president of the Interstate Amusement Company, is down from Dallas for a short stay. Says he's just down to look things over. Owner of the Majestic and Palace Theatres.

Milton Feld, personal representative of the Publix Theatre Corporation, is in town on a business tour of the South. Mr. Feld's organization signed a contract last week for the new million-dollar theatre now under construction at Main-Lamar and Travis Streets.

John J. Fredle is down from the the district office, Dallas, Texas, looking over the Publix Theatre holdings. Harry Van Demark, local Publix representative, will return to Dallas with Mr. Fredle for a district meeting of Paramount exhibitors.

Abe Silverberg, of the Crown and Folly Theatre, has returned from a film shopping tour in Dallas. Mr. Silverberg says the Western and thrill pictures look better than ever for the fall release.

Sam Abrams and Louis Weiner, owners of the Rialto Theatre, are in Dallas on a business trip. Mrs. Abrams is manager of the the Rialto for the week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Horwitz, of the Texan and Iris Theatre, are out of the city.

Strand Theatre No. 2 has been purchased by Herman Shaw, secretary of the Houston Optimist Club. It is a ward theatre and is reported to be one of the best paying ward theatres in Houston.

Doc Brock, manager of the Prince Theatre, has returned from a business trip to Waco and Mexia.

Norris Sheulman of the Strand Theatre is ready for the open space and the vacation trip. Mr. Shulman has just purchased a new Hudson car.

Eddie Collins, city manager for Publix Theatre houses at Galveston, stopped over for a short visit enroute from Dallas where he had attended the Paramount exchange convention.

Hal Norfleet, Fox Film publicity chief, Southern division, has been in town doing some special work. Mr. Norfleet is well known in Houston; this was his home before entering the picture game.

The Cameo Theatre located in the North section of the city has changed its name and is now known as the Gulf Theatre. It is a ward house.

Jack Burke, San Antonio theatre man, has been in town checking with his local representative, Charlie Camp.

The Isis Theatre, one of the Saenger houses, has been selected to pick Miss Houston to attend the annual bathing girls' revue, staged in Galveston May 15th. Manager Al Lever has secured more than thirty entries who will try for the honor.

Jeff Barnette, the Houston Chronicle Amusement representative, attended the charter presentation of the Beaumont Optimist club held in Beaumont last week. Mr. Barnette is v. p. of the Houston Optimist club.

Several local theatres have announced summer admission prices.

Buffalo

THE deed for the sale of the Palace Theatre in Jamestown, N. Y., has been filed in the county clerk's office at Mayville. It transfers title to the house from Marshall W. Peterson, Clara E. Peterson, his wife; Michael L. Woods and Kathryn Woods, his wife; to the Southwestern New York Theatres Corporation, of which Nikitas D. Dipson of Batavia, is president. This company recently was organized to purchase the Palace and to take a long term lease on the Wintergarden, also in Jamestown.

The Southwestern corporation already has taken over the Wintergarden. The lease took effect Saturday, April 24, and is arranged to continue in certain five-year periods. The lessee corporation is bound to continue to pay rental for the Wintergarden for ten years, but it is optional with the corporation whether it renews the lease for an additional five year period to 1941.

The front of Shea's Hippodrome, now a link in the Publix chain, is being dressed up with attractive new electric attraction signs atop the marquise as well as a new sign bearing the name of the house, which, by the way, Harold B. Franklin, now vice-president of Publix, managed for several years before going to the directorship of the Paramount theatre department.

"Ernie" Williams, Paramount ad sales manager in Buffalo, who was stricken suddenly ill on the day of the Paramount exhibit get-together meeting in the Hotel Statler, is now well on the road to recovery and sure that he will feel like a new man when he gets back to his desk. Ernie underwent a serious operation.

Ted O'Shea is now assuming his new duties in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer office, flashing that 100 horse-power smile on all who enter his sanctum sanctorum.

Buffalo theatres now are operating under the handicap of daylight saving, but the weather has been so rotten that no real effect has been felt as yet because the evenings are far from "tourable," as yet for motorists.

A sure sign that summer must be coming. Arthur L. Skinner, manager of the Buffalo Victoria, is talking about getting some paint on his summer home on the Canadian shore, where Art hies himself during the warm evenings and lures the succulent fish from Lake Erie.

Friends along Film Row in Buffalo were glad to hear that Earl Kramer, former Universal branch manager, and now division manager, is recovering from an operation for appendicitis, performed in Cleveland.

New England

FIRE on Sunday noontime in the Larcom Theatre, Beverly, Mass., resulted in damage of about $1,000. The theatre is owned by Ramsdell Brothers, who operate the Orpheum, Malden and other playhouses. The fire was confined to the space under the stage and did not interfere with the showing of films the following day.

It is understood that a New York syndicate has made an offer to owners of the Crawford House property in Scollay Square, Boston, where the noted old hotel is being torn down, to build a modern theatre and hotel on the site if the land can be purchased. The hotel would contain 300 rooms and the theatre about 3,000 seats. The name of the sponsors is withheld.

Edward Epstein, aged 40, owner of the Graphic Theatre Circuit with headquarters in Bangor, Me., and theatres in many Maine cities and towns, died at his home in Bangor, April 25. He leaves a wife, two children, parents and several brothers and sisters.

Silas Bunce, manager of Progress Films, Boston, is sporting a new Hudson sedan.

Emanuel Cohen, city salesman for Metro, Boston, has resigned.

The Fox sales force from Boston is registered at Hotel Astor, New York, for the sales convention.

Harry F. Campbell, district manager, and Thomas F. Jennings of the sales force of the Fox exchange, Boston, are back from the West Coast convention.

The Majestic Theatre, Holyoke, is closed temporarily while a new front is being built to the playhouse and the entire theatre redecorated.

The new Greenwich Theatre at East Greenwich will open this month, according to present plans. Ben Salvini, old time exchange manager and former exhibitor, is back in the harness again as an exhibitor in charge of the new house.

From the Boston exchange of Associated First National, those attending the convention in Chicago are Manager Thomas B. Spry, A. P. Bibber, J. H. McGann, N. Ross, Max Berman, J. C. Byrne, F. Vine, E. A. Anderson, H. L. Spingler of the sales force, and Miss Carolyn C. Jones, booker.

Baltimore

DUE to a meeting of the Motion Picture Theatres Owners of Maryland, Inc., held Wednesday, April 21, not so many of the Baltimore exhibitors were able to attend the convention of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, held at the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D. C., on that day.

Many exhibitors from Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, parts of West Virginia and the District of Columbia, were invited to attend the affair and meet representatives of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation. The event started at 9:30 A. M. and lasted until late at night with a banquet thrown in.

The affair was a success, it is reported.

I. Alan Fledderman, treasurer of Warners' Metropolitan Theatre, Baltimore, Md., has been appointed to the School Board of Baltimore by Mayor Howard S. Jackson.

About $30,000 is being spent by Harry Schwalbe, Philadelphia, Pa., on improvements for the Boulevard Theatre, Baltimore, Md. The theatre is operated by Mr. Schwalbe under the management of John E. Hendricks.

The entire exterior and interior is being repainted and redecorated; large electric signs are being placed around the marquees at both entrances to advertise coming attractions; a $3,000 chandelier will be installed in the center of the ceiling of thte auditorium and carpets to cost about $3,000 will be laid in the aisles.

THEATRE MANAGEMENT
EQUIPMENT CONSTRUCTION OPERATION

A “Sure-Fire” Tonic for Run Down Houses

Theatre “Doctor” Discusses His Success Plan for Building Up Losing Propositions

AN INTERVIEW WITH ADOLPH EISNER

BY FRANK C. TRUE

AN old, old story over again: The theatre is literally run down, business is lax and patrons are seeking other places of amusement. What shall be done? Shall a lot of hokum exploitation be brought to the rescue? See Adolph “Dr.” Eisner, former president of the M. P. T. O. Kansas City, who has applied the “pulmotor” to enough suburban houses of Kansas City to extend several blocks side by side.

There is no waving of the magic red silk cloth or wand in the method employed by Mr. Eisner. Perhaps that is the reason for his undisputed success. Just the other day he disposed of the Circle theatre, Kansas City suburban house, at 150 per cent. profit after operating it less than one year. And the man who bought it purchased a bargain. He purchased a theatre that was doing a capacity business—a theatre in which a few months before a sneeze of a patron might have echoed from wall to wall for lack of human density in the way of cash customers.

Adolph Eisner

Eisner's Method

But Mr. Eisner has a story to tell. Let him do it.

“There are two methods of getting business in any theatre, the temporary method and the permanent. The ‘wild west’ exploitation policy may bring in patrons for a few days, but even a baby tires of a rattle. The conservative, sound plan of building up a theatre works more slowly at first, but when it reaches its height it remains at that level.

“The human race is a peculiar lot. Under certain conditions the best film ever produced wouldn't make enough to pay rental. Under reverse circumstances an average picture can be turned into a handsome profit. The means of building up a theatre's patronage are so simple that they are overlooked entirely by many exhibitors. In other words, we put a bright red coat of paint on the wagon, but forget to feed the horse.

“Perhaps the Circle Theatre offered the best study in rebuilding houses and will better illustrate what I am driving at. First, however, it must be understood that what I have to say is meant modestly. Don't misunderstand me. I've been in the industry too long to have any conceit left in me. The Circle presented a sad sight. The front of the house needed new paint. There was little on the exterior of the theatre to indicate a show might be seen on the inside. More or less cheap pictures had been shown there for some time and I was the third ‘sucker’ to take over the house in a short length of time. The others had gone ‘broke’ and fully expected me to do the same. In fact I was a bit dubious myself.

“To begin with I had a carpenter build two cases for 1-sheets in front of the theatre, flush with the sidewalk. Three smaller cases were built for the lobby. A coat of paint was put on the front of the house and the lobby. An overhanging two-way electric sign was placed above the canopy. The interior of the house was thoroughly cleaned and redecorated. The ticket office was ‘dolled up’.

“So far, so good, but we haven't reached the most important point yet. Patrons of the theatre had been accustomed to seeing more or less old pictures at prices they believed to be too high. The first thing I did was to throughly canvass the neighborhood with ‘throw away’ announcements of the ‘best pictures at 10 cents.’ I mean just that. I would rather have 2,000 persons in my theatre at a dime any time than to have 1,000 at 20 cents. The psychology of this is plain enough. Next I arranged a series of slides, through which the policy of the theatre was drilled into my patrons. It was slow work at first. Patrons were few and I lost money the first week and broke even the second. But those few patrons told others and attendance increased. On the second Friday night after I obtained

(Continued on next page)

Equipment Glare

By P. M. ABBOTT

OFTEN motion pictures are spoken of as tiring—causing headaches and eye-strain. This is all too true—in fact, motion picture patrons are all too lenient in their condemnation of this harmful effect—found usually in the smaller theatres.

Poor projection and glare are the main causes for eye fatigue. Both greatly accentuate the normal eye fatigue caused by motion pictures and there is no excuse for the existence of either.

Repeatedly we have urged exhibitors to take the necessary steps to obtain good projection.

In the case of poor projection, an outlay of several dollars is frequently required for better equipment but this is no justification for the continuance of old practices, though many exhibitors hold this as their reason.

But in the case of glare—those glimmering bright spots in the line of vision of the audience—for this there is no excuse. Usually, it costs practically nothing to eliminate glare, just a little ingenuity exercised on the part of the exhibitor or someone connected with the theatre.

Orchestra and wall lights are the commonest causes of glare, while other miscellaneous lights often add their discomforting brightness. By placing these lights in proper locations and using the right type of fixtures—home-made, if necessary—all this glare can be removed from the vision of the audience. It will more than pay any exhibitor to spend a morning inspecting his house for sources of glare.

If only glare was removed from all theatres, even though poor projection remained, a big improvement in picture presentation would result. And this improvement is within the immediate reach of every theatre owner.

Gives Success Plan For Small Houses

Sound Business, Not Air Castle Schemes Succeed Says Eisner

(Continued from preceding page)

the theatre I staged a specialty stage number. The box office receipts did not warrant the expense of the stage specialty, but it gave my patrons something to talk about and convinced them that there were to be shows going on inside the Circle.

"My next step was to employ a capable woman to canvass the neighborhood and visit all parents, seeking to find out just what type of pictures they preferred and what they thought best for their children. I was perfectly sincere in this movement and had no double motive. When I found out what they liked I gave it to them. It was not long before I had them regarding the theatre as though they had an actual financial interest in it.

"I began building up my serial and short subject programs for Friday nights, occasionally staging the 'country store' stunt, which always works good. I soon dispelled all doubt about the admission and quality of the show to be seen. My patrons became convinced they could see as much at the Circle for a dime as they could at a more expensive theatre. I booked only the best pictures which had been well advertised at first run down town houses. Then I began inserting each day a ¾-inch advertisement in newspapers and used my screen to let my patrons know they always could determine what picture was to be shown by reading the newspapers.

"One of the most important factors was to establish a personal acquaintance with all patrons possible. I don't mean to make close friends of them. That would be impossible with such a large number. A nod to Mr. Jones and a smile to Mrs. Smith and a glance at the baby was sufficient. If one of those patrons arrived too late for the beginning of the second show I urged him to go on in without paying. The filling of an empty seat cost me nothing and made a friend and prospective steady patron, a patron who would be a booster to other prospective patrons.

"The whistling and yelling menace, which most suburban theatres must contend with as long as a large number of children are inside, must be handled diplomatically. Usually a few kind, civil words will suffice. If not, give the boy back his money and the next time he enters the theatre he has a different viewpoint on conduct.

"I realize full well that many exhibitors will assert that I am telling an old story over again in outlining the above policy. However, it never yet has failed. Could one ask more? I have seen so many 'hit or miss' plans take an inglorious 'flop' that I am convinced there is only one practical method of operating a suburban or small town theatre. Forget about your 'air castle' plans of making money and operate your theatre on a sound business plan. Try it once!"

The MANAGER'S OFFICE

W. W. ARMSTRONG, a former film salesman in the Oregon territory, is manager of the Egyptian Theatre, Seattle, recently purchased from Warner Brothers by John Hamrick.

JAMES CHENAUR is managing the Capitol Theatre in Port Angeles, Wash., which he owns in partnership with Charles H. George. Chenaur formerly operated his own theatre at Zillah.

S. L. BACHER has been transferred from the Courtesy Theatre, Detroit, to the Rialto. Both houses are operated by the Woodward Theatre Co.

T. C. RILEY has been transferred from the Grand to the Courtesy to succeed the post vacated by Bacher.

BENNIE WACHNANCY, for several years connected with the Paramount exchange in Detroit, has tendered his resignation to that organization to become manager of the Blackston Theatre.

Edwards Revue Plays Detroit

The Gus Edwards production "Kids in Kandyland" was presented at the Capitol in Detroit last week, in conjunction with Corinne Griffith's "Mlle. Modiste."

Screen Tests on Rivoli Stage Next Week

Screen tests for the girls and boys with ambitions to become cinema stars are to be held on the stage of the Rivoli, New York, during the week of May 10th. The exploitation stunt is being put on in conjunction with the showing of Paramount's "Fascinating Youth."

Entrants must file photographs with the "Movie Test Director," who will nominate those to be photographed on the stage. The test films will be examined by Paramount directors with a view to selecting new material for that company's stock. The theatre will provide make-up specialists to prepare entrants for their tests before the cinema cameras.

Midnight Shows Success in Tampa Theatres

George Peck, manager of the Strand, Tampa, used midnight performances of pictures program midnight show in that city. It proved a popular success. The Victory has used midnight performances of pictures with vaudeville and the Central has played them several times with pictures and tab shows under the title of "Midnight Frolic."

Musical Stock at Warner Theatre in Charlotte

Warner Brothers Theatre in Charlotte, has announced that during the Summer they will suspend Keith Vaudeville and about the 1st of June a musical comedy stock company will play here for the summer season.

The programs will change twice each week, Mondays and Thursdays.

Prize High School Band is Omaha Rialto Feature

The Council Bluffs Consolidated High School Band, prize winner in a contest of similar organizations, was the star stage attraction at the Rialto, Omaha, last week, sharing honors with "Her Second Chance," the screen offering, as the popular program for the wek at the Rialto.

CHILDREN'S FASHION SHOW

The photos above show two episodes in the Children's Fashion Revue staged by Manager Somerville at the Vivian Theatre, Daytona Beach, Florida. The entire show was in four episodes, "The Old Swimming Hole," "Playtime," "Tea Time" and "Sleepy Time." Local youngsters performed in the dance and tableau scenes in the presentation, which was supported by local merchants.

Defines Publix Presentations Policy

Franklin Says Acts Are Necessary Only In De Luxe Houses

OFFICIALS of Publix Theatres Corporation regard stage presentations necessary only in the de luxe type of picture theatre, according to Harold B. Franklin, vice-president of Publix, in his editorial, ''Personal Talks,'' published in the April 24th issue of Close-Up, the company's house organ.

''There has been considerable discussion among exhibitors, newspapers and trade magazines concerning the Publix stage presentations at our de luxe theatres, writes Mr. Franklin. ''The gist of some of the expressed opinions is that Publix considers stage presentations necessary to the successful operation of motion picture theatres. This is an erroneous inference. The Publix presentations will be shown only in the de luxe type of theatre, where stage divertisements have become a permanent policy, and it is the purpose of the Publix Production Department to establish a standard in the creation of its presentation units that will measure up with the fine pictures shown at these theatres.''

With regard to the success of the Publix presentations thus far, Mr. Franklin says, ''The entertainment value of the fifteen units produced so far has averaged very high and has been comparable to that of the very best productions that any stage has ever offered. Moreover, the quality of entertainment has been much higher than that of the best efforts of most individual motion picture theatres. There may have been a few that did not measure up to our expectations in the first experimental period, but altogether the results have been so satisfactory that they may be considered a real achievement in the field of public entertainment. And the future gives promise of even greater things.''

In those theatres of the chain which will be devoted exclusively to motion pictures and which, he adds, ''are the bulwark of our circuit,'' Franklin says it is the policy of the company to encourage the widest possible development of music, and to that end, Nathaniel Finston has been appointed to the office of General Music Director. And he urges that ''Managers and musical directors must set and maintain a high musical standard in their theatres and must avail themselves of the advice and guidance of Mr. Finston.'' Concluding his editorial he declares that ''The permanency of our industry depends not only a bigger and better pictures, but also on better and greater theatres.''

Featured with Herb Straub

Three specialty acts were featured with Fred Stritt and Herb and the State Bunch at the State Theatre, Detroit, last week. Hope & Burne, eccentric dancers, Marie White, and the Brock Sisters, harmony singers, were the added attractions appearing with the State's stock troupe

The Devil's Circus Jazz Orchestra

"STAGING" THE ORCHESTRA

An atmospheric prologue for "The Devil's Circus" (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer) was presented at the Rialto Theatre, Macon, Ga., with the orchestra featured. For the occasion the musicians wore clown costumes and performed under the title of "The Devil's Circus Jazz Orchestra"

Yonkers Strand Concludes Nine Weeks' Charleston

The Strand Theatre, Yonkers, N. Y., recently concluded a Charleston contest which ran for a period of nine weeks. The feature proved an extraordinary attraction and and is said to have been conducted without added cost to the management. Prizes were donated by local merchants, and the winner of the contest is to receive an engagement of a week for appearances at the Strand.

The elimination contests were held every Thursday night. Judges were dancers of local and stage fame. The finals were judged by Boris Petroff, ballet master of the Publix Theatres production department.

Francis Renault Is Star of Stage Bill at Circle

Francis Renault, female impersonater, in his elaborate fashion act was the star stage attraction at the Circle, Indianapolis, last week, when ''Mike'' was offered as the screen feature. Renault's act, consisting of impersonations, singing and the display of Parisian gowns, proved a popular addition to the program at the Circle.

A. & H. Vaudeville Playing Paramount, Salt Lake

The Paramount Theatre at Ogden, Utah, under the management of Emmet F. Sorg, is now running Ackerman-Harris road shows in connection with their picture performances every Tuesday and Wednesday.

Lyons and Capps Stars of Plunkett Frolic

George Lyons, harpist, and Kendall Capps, from the ''Greenwich Village Follies,'' are the stars of the presentation staged this week by Joseph Plunkett at the Mark Strand, New York. Lyons, whose numbers include some jazz renditions, is playing his second week at the big Broadway picture house.

The Frolic also has Pauline Miller and John Quinlan, who feature ''At Peace with the World,'' the new Irving Berlin opus. Mlle. Klemova, M. Daks and the Strand Ballet Corps contribute importantly to the entertainment, staged in conjunction with ''The Greater Glory''.

Oscard Producer of Rivoli Presentation This Week

Paul Oscard, who has been assisting in the direction of Publix Theatres stage numbers for some time, is the producer of the presentation ''Southern Memories'' at the Rivoli this week.

The screen feature at the Rivoli is ''Skinner's Dress Suit.'' National Music Week is being celebrated with a program of English music, including ''Rule Britannia,'' and an accompanyment to ''Songs of England,'' a ''Famous Melody Series'' film.

Lloyd's Fifth Week at Rialto

Harold Lloyd's ''For Heaven's Sake'' is playing its fifth week at the Rialto, New York. The engagement will close some time this month and ''Aloma of the South Seas,'' Gilda Gray's first Paramount starring vehicle will be installed at the Rialto for an extended run. The star will make personal appearances with her dancing act during the ''Aloma'' engagement.

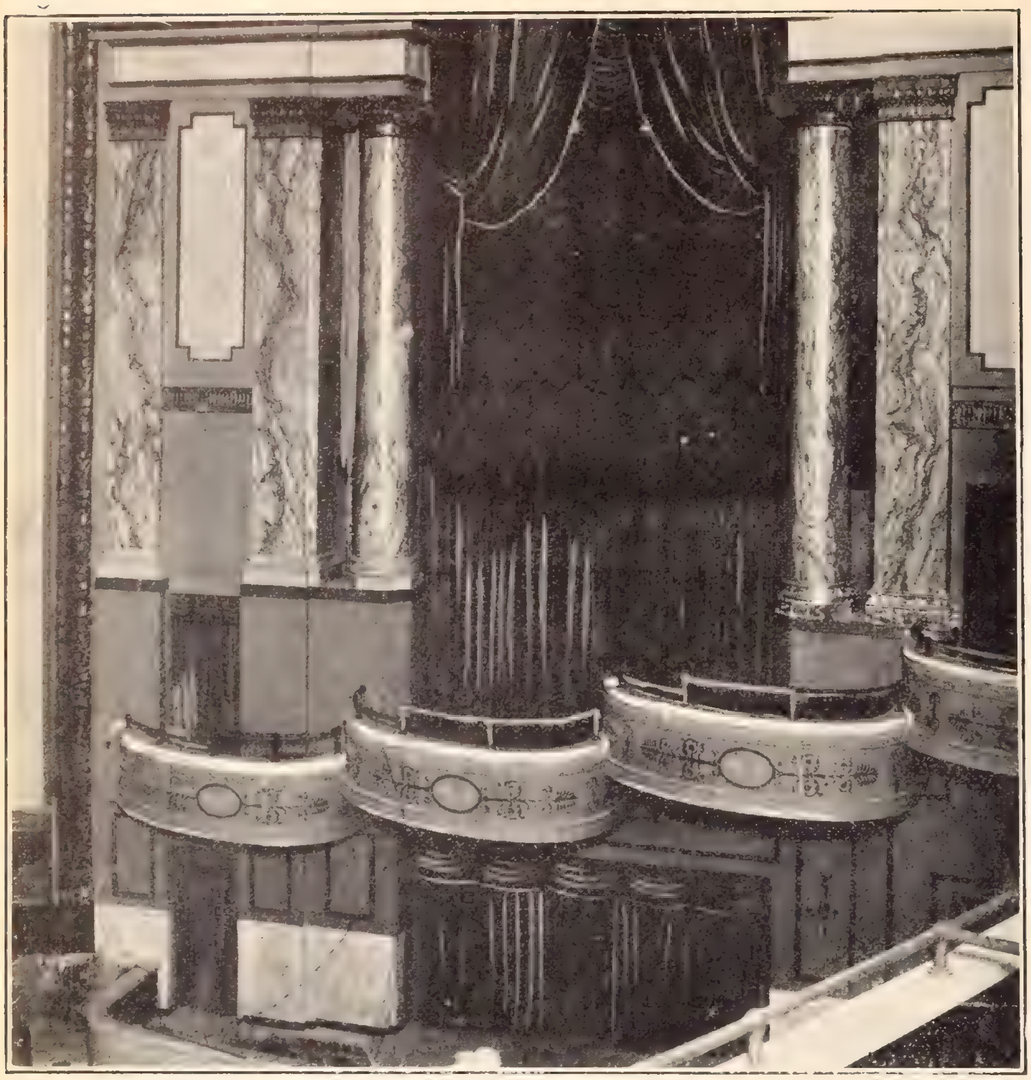
Capitol, St. Paul, Program

The Neopolitan Sextette with Ina Kessel, made up the stage portion of the program offered last week at the Capitol, St. Paul. with ''Let's Get Married'' as the screen attraction.

Male Dance Act at Des Moines

Zastrow and White, male dancers, were the stage features at the Des Moines Theatre, Des Moines, last week, when ''The Greater Glory'' was offered as the screen attraction.

COSTUMES FOR HIRE PRODUCTIONS EXPLOITATIONS PRESENTATIONS BROOKS 1437 Broadway Tel. 5580 Pen.



View of the elaborate side boxes in Loew's New State Theatre, New Orleans, La. They are constructed of black and white marble and furnished with spacious armchairs Preacher Assists with Premiere of Edwards, Sarasota, Fla.

OPENING a theatre with an invocation by a duly ordained minister is the novel idea which was put into effect here when the beautiful new Edwards Theatre was formally dedicated last week.

Manager Charles Branham, who has for many years been associated with the Universal people, owners of the Edwards, conceived the idea of inviting the Rev. C. D. Neighbors, rector of the local Episcopalian church, to deliver the invocation, and while the vast audience, the majority of them in evening dress to celebrate the opening, stood in respectful, reverent attention, the invocation was delivered.

The Edwards is by all adds one of the handsomest theatres on the west coast of Florida and according to dignitaries of the motion picture world who visited this city for the opening, is surpassed by only one house in Florida.

The seating capacity is 1600, including 1000 seats on the lower floor and 600 in the spacious balcony. The seating arrangements and acoustics alike are perfect.

The pipe organ which has been installed is the finest in the South and was installed at a reported cost of $75,000 and for the initial sixty days of the theatres career, the organist will be Gus Ettelson, late of the Mark Strand theatre in New York.

It is the plan to show first run pictures only during the summer but with the coming of the tourist season next fall three days of Keith vaudeville will be shown each week and an occasional road show will also be accomodated. There are eleven dressing rooms in the theatre.

The lobby is one of the most beautiful one could imagine and the decorations of the theatre are simple and impressive, there being nothing of the garish about these.

Dale Troy's orchestra has been engaged for the season and will appear in stage presentations at regular programs. Matinee and evening programs will be given throughout the summer. The architecture of the building is beautiful in the extreme, the design being the ever popular Spanish type, three stories in height.

On the mezzanine floor well appointed lounge rooms have been constructed and these have been furnished in the best of taste.

A row of small and appealing shops occupy a part of the ground floor, off the lobby, and add to the attractiveness of the theatre building as a whole. The location is ideal, the theatre being in the heart of the business district surrounded by palm trees and on a rounding corner.

Start Work on New House at Ludington, Mich.

Construction of Ludington's new theatre is scheduled to start within a few days.

Blue prints call for a fireproof structure, 56 feet in width on James Street and running west 150 feet. Although to be devoted principally to movies, the new theatre will be equipped to handle large productions with a stage 23 feet deep and full width of the building.

"Foltz & Co., are architects and builders of theatres. This firm has built theatres for Fitzpatrick, McElroy & Co., in Three Rivers and Alpena, and is now erecting a combined theatre, bank and store building for Fitzpatrick-McElroy in Chicago.

The front of the new theatre will be attractive. It will have a height of two stories, with face brick and cut stone. There will be a marquise extending across the front over the sidewalk.

The lobby will be 20 by 40 feet. Off one side will be a ladies' waiting-room and dressing-room. On the opposite side will be the manager's office and men's wash room.

Just inside the entrance doors will be a series of boxes. The seats of the theatre will be comfortable and roomy. There will be no balcony. The house will seat approximately 1,000.

Missouri Corp. Announces Florida Project

The Moonlight Amusement Corp. with headquarters at St. Joseph, Mo., have recently announced plans for the erection of a 2,000 seat theatre at Hollywood Beach, Fla. The total investment will run around $100,000, it is reported.

Work will start during April and plans call for an opening about the middle of the summer. Construction will be of cement block and stucco. Eight shops will flank the main entrance.

The Moonlight Amusement Corp. are at present building two theatres in Miami and are also planning others for various Florida cities. In addition to these mentioned, the company has theatre holdings outside this state.

Leach Interests Active at Miami, Fla.

Announcements was made during the early part of April by the Leach interests of Miami, Fla., that they have plans under way for the erection of a new $100,000 motion picture theatre on the site of the present Fotosho Theatre, Flagler Street. The theatre will be two stories high and will have a seating capacity of 1200. Construction will start about June 1st, according to Harry Leach. The Leach company have also obtained a 99-year lease on property at W. Flagler Street and 16th Avenue where another modern house will be erected.

Announce Indianapolis House

Announcement that a $30,000.00 motion picture theatre will be constructed at the northeast corner of Rural and Michigan Streets has been made by B. A. Branson, contractor and builder, 206 American Central Life Building. The theatre will seat 800 persons. Work will be started about May 1st.

Theatre Concern Makes Deal with City

A CERTIFIED check for $19,000 from the Maine & New Hampshire Theatres Co., was handed over to the City of Auburn, Me., recently, in payment for the old city building on Court Street, according to a Lewistown announcement.

The check itself occasions considerable interest at the city building. It means that the Main & New Hampshire Theatres Co., must build a Motion Picture Theatre, costing not less than $100,000 on the Legion property. The property deeds were filed at the registry of deeds office and provide that if the theatre company does not carry out its part of the deal, the city may buy the property back for $15,000.

Martinas Acquire Option at Mt. Morris, N. Y.

Martina Brothers, of Mt. Morris, N. Y., have recently acquired an option on property at the corner of Main and White Streets, where they plan the erection of a theatre at an estimated expenditure of $125,000. The structure will be modern in every particular.

The Martinas state that they have received offers from producer-syndicates for the lease of the proposed house, but are uncertain as to whether they will lease it or conduct it in connection with their other enterprises. At the present time they operate two theatres in Mt. Morris and two in Danville.

File Plans for Baltimore House

Plans for the construction of a new theatre on the site of the present Hampden Motion Picture Theatre, 911 West Thirty Sixth Street, Baltimore, Md., have been filed. The new building will have a seating capacity of about 1,000, a frontage of 56.5 feet and a depth of 125. It will be a one story brick structure and the present plans include the completion of the house about the latter part of August. Charles A. Hicks is the owner.

San Francisco Permit Granted

The Famous Neighborhood Theatre, Inc., has recently taken out a $65,000 permit for the erection of a one-story Class A Theatre and store building at Twenty-fourth Street, near York, San Francisco, Cal.

HERTNER TransverteR

Your Audience is Critical of Your Projection Ability

Flickering and variation in projection is no longer taken for granted in the theatres of today. They do not go unnoticed as they did in the days before the advent of the TRANSVERTER.

This equipment in the more progressive theatres has revealed to the public the pleasure of steady, clear and artistic projection. Today, mechanical annoyances drive them elsewhere.

The Transverter changes alternating current into direct current, greatly increasing the candle-power of an alternating current arc of the same amperage. It is especially important in Mirror Arc Projection.

One of the secrets of large box office receipts will be revealed to you upon the return of this coupon. Send it in, entirely without obligation.

If you show Pictures you need the Transverter.

First in the Field.

Foremost in the Industry.

Over 2,000 in daily use.

The Hertner Electric Company
Cleveland, Ohio

Gentlemen:—

Send us your Bulletin on how to secure larger box office receipts thru using the Transverter.

Name

Address

Theatre

The Hertner ELECTRIC COMPANY
1900 W. 112th STREET CLEVELAND, OHIO

COLOR LIGHTING

EXPERIENCED exhibitors make their presentations more beautiful and alluring by the appropriate use of color lighting.

Kliegl color lighting specialties are available in a wide variety of practical designs, and enable exhibitors to procure particular effects desired.

Write for a copy of Catalogue M.

KLIEGL BROS
UNIVERSAL ELECTRIC STAGE LIGHTING CO., INC.
321 WEST 50th STREET
NEW YORK, N.Y.

Remember!

Scenery
Stage Settings
Draperies

are as important as the character of your programs. Both share equally the burden of your success.

NOVELTY SCENIC STUDIOS
226 West 47th St., New York City

Projection

Optics, Electricity, Practical Ideas & advice

Inquiries and Comments

New Light on an Old Subject

Part IV

Testing for Glare

THE method used in the investigation of glare described in these articles was devised by Dr. Janet H. Clark, under whose direction the experiments were carried on.

Glare is measured by comparing the minimum illumination necessary to see a test object, occupying the center of the field of vision, with the minimum illumination needed to see the same test object under glaring conditions. In other words, glare is measured by the drop in visual acuity which it produced at low illumination.

Apparatus Used

The apparatus (Fig. 2) consists of a dark box containing a test object and a variable light source carefully shaded from the view of the observer and which can be regulated by increasing or decreasing a resistance.

An opening in the box allows one to see the test object without seeing the light source. Throughout the experiments, if not otherwise stated, the test occupied the center of the field of vision, at the average reading distance of 13 inches from the observer's right eye, with the left eye covered by a shield and the axis of vision horizontal.

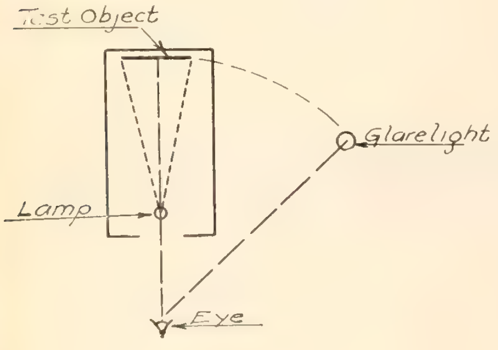

Fig. 2

Method Used

The letters of the test, 1.5 m.m. (0.04 in.) high, under these conditions subtended an angle of 16 minutes of arc at the eye.

The letters were placed against a white background with the same reflection factor as the test plate of the Macbeth Illuminometer, so that this instrument could be used in making illumination measurements.

In a series of experiments the glare pro- minimum illumination was reached at which the letters could be seen clearly and this illumination was measured by means of a Macbeth Illuminometer. There was a choice of two different minima. One, the threshold minimum, represents that amount of illumination which just enables us to read the letters.

The criterion consists in the possibility or impossibility of recognizing the letters and, if used repeatedly and knowing the letter, one may guess rather than see it. At this point the letters are blurred. Increasing the illumination further, a point is reached where this blurring ceases rather suddenly and the test can be read clearly.

This criterion is less influenced by knowledge of the test and is, therefore, more reliable. That is the minimum for clar vision and so was adopted as the basis for measurement.

Measuring Glare

Having established a minimum without glare light, the eye was exposed to various glaring conditions by bringing various electric lamps in an ordinary desk lamp fixture into the field of view, and the amount of illumination was measured which was necessary to see the test with the same clearness and distinctness as before.

The difference between the two minima gives a direct numerical expression of the glare effect in terms of foot-candles. By lighting various lights in order to produce glare, the illumination, obviously, was changed on the box, but not on the test object.

This increases the contrast between the two surfaces and introduces an error into our readings of the minimum illumination. Therefore, the influence of various intensities of illumination at the opening of the box was kept at a more or less constant illumination of 8 foot-candles, by placing a lamp behind and above the head of tthe observer, so that the additional illumination produced eventually by the glaring lights could not materially affect the reading of the minimum illuminations.

Part of the experiments were done in a room diffusely illuminated by daylight with the windows behind the observer, and part of them were done in a room lighted by overhead lamps back of the observer. In both cases the general illumination of the room was comparable to ordinary practice.

Among the factors known to affect direct peripheral glare, the following were investigated: The intensity of the light source, expressed in candle power and intrinsic brilliancy, its distance from the eye and its position as given by the vertical or horizontal angle formed with the visual axis.

Glare and Illumination

In a series of experiments the glare produced by lamps ranging from 10-400 candle power was measured, all other variables being held constant. The average values obtained are given in Table I.

Table I

Glare and Candle Power

Distance—26 in.; Horizontal angle—40°; Vertical angle—0°

Candle power of Glare light	Minimum Illumination in Foot candles
0	0.426
10	0.663
35	0.918
50	1.169
60	1.203
90	1.650
150	2.400
175	3.070
200	3.230
275	4.200
400	6.100

If these values are plotted in the form of a curve a straight-line curve will be obtained, proving that glare is directly proportional to the candle power of the glaring light.

Another test was conducted in which the variation of glare with brightness of the source was investigated and the results were identical with those obtained before. In other words, glare is directly proportional to the brightness of the glaring light source.

This at first seems rather unexpected but it is very logical since candle power is equal to brightness multiplied by luminous area. For any given candle power, therefore, an increase in intrinsic brilliancy is accompanied by a corresponding decrease in source area.

The area of the light source determines the extent and the intrinsic brilliancy (brightness) the intensity of the stimulation of the retina.

Fred Miller Talks About "Carthay Circle"

"THERE will be no finer theatre in America than the Carthay Circle Theatre," says Fred Miller, who heads the company that is to operate this new house, rapidly nearing completion in Carthay Centre, Los Angeles.

"The company furnishing the seats is the largest in the country. Their representative here received word from the factory that while it had received orders for a greater number of seats, it had never received an order that represented as much cost per seat as does the job for the Carthay Circle."

Sign Long Term Lease on Hollywood Site

Donald Parker and J. J. Kenny, of the Donald Parker Productions, have signed a long term lease for use of property at the corner of 48th Street and Western Avenue, Hollywood, Cal., where they propose to erect a 2,000 seat theatre at a reported cost of $200,000. The new house is expected to be ready in the fall of 1926. First run pictures will be the policy.

The new structure will have a 93 foot frontage and in addition to housing a theatre will contain six stores and twelve offices. The stage will be made deep enough so that legitimate performances may be given if occasion should arise. One of the features of the new house will be a nursery where children of patrons may have care under supervision of a trained nurse during performances.

Will Rebuild Rex Theatre, Martins Ferry, W. Va.

The Rex Theatre on South Fourth Street, Martins Ferry, W. Va., will be rebuilt into one of the most modern and up-to-date theatre buildings in that section.

A new concrete floor will be laid and the building will be of fireproof construction throughout. A new front will also be added.

Local contractors have already started work and completion will be rushed for the opening which is scheduled for the latter part of August. In addition to a picture program, the management will also run vaudeville and musical comedies.

New House for Birmingham Suburb

The colored section of Ensley, Ala., a suburb of Birmingham, is to have a new picture and vaudeville theatre which will cost, when completed and equipped, approximately $40,000. Contracts have been awarded and the house is expected to be ready within three or four months.

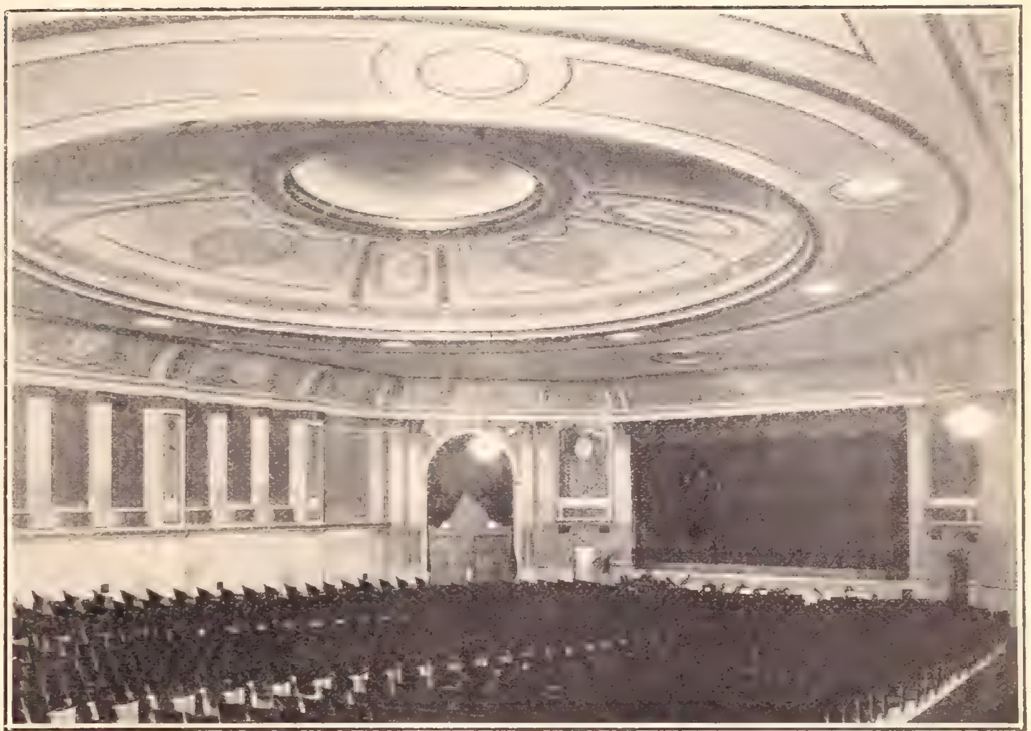
J. Jaffe and Dr. B. A. Fox, who own and operate a similar theatre at Bessemer, Ala., will also have control of the new Ensley Theatre. A feature will be shown each day, and vaudeville—three days in the week.

New House for Brooksville, Fla.

Brooksville, Fla., is to have a new Motion Picture Theatre that will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000. The seating capacity will be about 1,000. Actual construction will start as soon as possible.

Golden State to Build at Oroville, Cal.

According to E. H. Emmick, President of the Golden State Theatre Corp., it is the intention of his company to build a theatre at Oroville, Cal. Recently Mr. Emmick stated "At present the matter stands about as it did a month ago, when announcement of our intention to build in Oroville was given out. That announcement is all the information we can give at this time. When plans are a little more fully matured we will be glad to inform the public."



View of the Stage and Main Auditorium of Hy Gainsboro's recently opened Roosevelt Theatre at Flushing, L. I. Here is another fine sample of the Modern Neighborhood House

Capitol, Owosso, Mich., Newest Link of Butterfield Circuit

Twenty years ago a lease taken on a small opera house at Battle Creek, Mich., marked Colonel W. S. Butterfield's entry into the theatrical business; and from this humble beginning has grown the Butterfield circuit embracing more than fifty theatres in Michigan and surrounding states. The latest addition to this powerful chain of theatres is the Capitol at Owosso, Mich.

The Capitol is of fireproof construction, having a skeleton steel frame and reinforced concrete floors. The auditorium is well supplied with exit facilities on both the main floor and balcony. The seating accommodations of the main floor are for 750, the balcony 425 and the boxes will seat an additional 25. All the seats are of high grade material and were supplied by the American Seating Co.

The building is equipped with a complete and modern ventilating system with a reported capacity to supply and exhaust in the neighborhood of 30,000 cubic feet of air per minute. The air passes through tunnels under the main floor into ducts leading to a large ventilating blower in the fan room on the roof. Fresh air is drawn from the outside, above the roof, and is forced through a five-foot grill in the main ceiling. A modern steam plant of the oil-burning type will supply the heat and two boilers have been installed in the event of trouble with one.

The architectural style of the interior is the early Italian renaissance and all fixtures and decorations have been carried out to rigidly conform with that period of design. The building is 66 feet wide by 132 feet long. The main ceiling in the auditorium is 40 feet high and the fly loft over the auditorium has a height of 52 feet.

The lighting system on the stage is equal to the most modern theatres in the state. A dead front remote control switchboard controls all the lighting on the stage and in the auditorium. The board is also equipped with a dimmer. A counter-balanced continuous line system is installed for flying scenes; heretofore this system has only been used in the finest theatres in the larger cities—and its inception there has only been of recent years. In addition to the continuous lines there are thirty rope sets of the old style to take care of additional drops. Ample dressing rooms have been provided.

The projection booth is equipped with two of the latest projectors, two spot lights and every other accessory essential to up-to-date theatrical entertainment. The entrance door and all openings are provided with automatic shutters, making it an utter impossibility for fire to go forth from that source.

The policy of the Capitol under the able direction of Harry D. Easton will be a combination of vaudeville and pictures with a complete change of program three times weekly. Each Sunday a new show will be presented for one day only with a complete change for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and another new show for Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Three acts of Keith-Albee vaudeville will be played daily.

Harold F. Gross, publicity manager for W. S. Butterfield Theatres, is responsible for the finely gotten up program presented to the guests on the opening night.

Other contributors to the equipment of the Capitol include the Williams Oil-O-Matic Heating Company, The Bartola Musical Instrument Company, Theatre Equipment Company and The American Seating Company.

New Prefocused Lamp and Socket for Use with Small Projectors

An important problem has been solved for manufacturers of motion picture and similar projectors by the General Electric Company which has developed and placed on the market a prefocused lamp for use in combination with a special socket. The lamp is manufactured by the Edison Lamp Works of the General Electric Company at Harrison, N. J., and the socket is a product of the Merchandise Department of the Bridgeport Works of the company.

In the past, persons unfamiliar with optics have been unable, in many instances, to obtain the best results from projectors. The brilliancy of the picture on the screen depends upon how accurately the lamp is focused. When, due to improper focusing, the picture is not clear, the projector is blamed. Using a lamp with an ordinary base, it is almost impossible for the manufacturer to be assured that his machine will be properly focused unless his representative does the adjusting, which is an expensive procedure.

The new lamp has a special base which, when used with the socket, assures the filament of the lamp coming in exactly the same position as that of every other one of the same size and type. The lamp has a collar cemented to the base in the usual manner. This collar is inserted in an outer shell which has a ridge rolled into the top of it, on which the inner collar can pivot. The collar can also slide up and down in the outer shell. In assembling the base, the outer shell is held in an optical jig, and the lamp with its base shell is moved about until the filament is located at the correct point both as to light-center length and axial alignment. The outer shell is then soldered securely to the inner collar, thus making the lamp ready for the socket. The outer shell has two wings at the top; one of 60° spread, and the other of 80°, making it possible for the lamp to be inserted in the socket only with the anchors to the rear, so as to avoid the possibility of their casting shadows on the condenser lens of the projector.

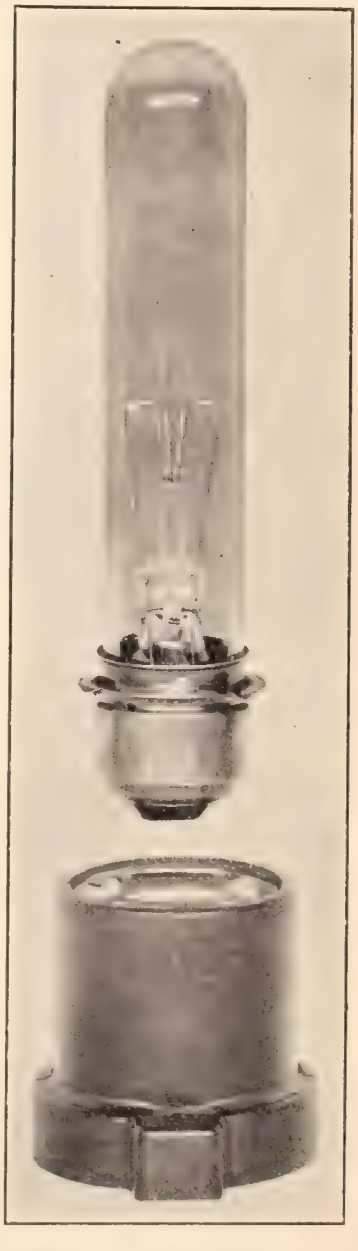
In the socket, there is a large center contact which is supported by a stiff spring. Since it does not carry the current, this spring has no tendency to heat and lose its temper. When the lamp is inserted in the socket, the spring forces the wings on the lamp base up against their retainers at the top of the socket shell. These wide, flat bearing surfaces assure the lamp lining up correctly.

With this combination, no focusing device is necessary in a projector. When a lamp burns out and is replaced by another, the filament of the second lamp will come in exactly the same position as that of the first lamp, thus assuring maximum results from the projector. Manufacturers of equipment depending upon a properly focused lamp and a high intensity of light for its most efficient operation will find in the new prefocused lamp an answer to one of their difficulties.

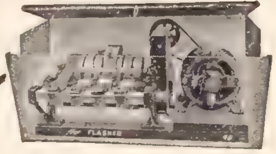
The lamp, together with the special socket, has possibilities for use in many applications of this type.

Contract Let at Vacaville, Cal.

W. L. Clark, proprietor of the Strand Theatre, Vacaville, Cal., recently let the contract to the Dinnie Construction Company for the erection of his New Strand Playhouse. The contract covers everything except heating and ventilating and work will be pushed along at a rapid rate.



General Electric Company claim to have solved an important problem with the new Prefocussed Lamp for use with small projectors. It is used in combination with a special socket



Sign Flashing Light Control
Reco
Flashers
are the reliable method wherever light control is needed—in electric signs, flood lighting, spectacular lighting effects. Leaders for 20 years.
REYNOLDS ELECTRIC COMPANY
2628 W. Congress St., Chicago
Write for valuable bulletin.
Makers of Reynolds Motors, Reco Color Hoods, Show Window Flashers, Traffic Controls, etc.

New
FORREST HOTEL
49th. Street just West of Broadway
New York
The latest addition to New York's new hotels: in the heart of the theatre and business district and within easy access to all transportation lines.
The Forrest offers beautifully furnished and sunny rooms; circulating ice water; restaurant at moderate prices.
300 ROOMS (each with bath and shower)
$3 UPWARDS
Booklet with map sent upon request.
WM F. THOMANN, Manager

RADIO-MAT
PATENTED
TALK from your screen
WITH your quickly
TYPEWRITTEN MESSAGES.
WHITE, AMBER or GREEN.
Accept no substitute.
RADIO-MAT SLIDE Co.
NEW YORK
IS THE STATIONERY OF THE SCREEN

The Fastest and Surest Method of Selling Tickets
Write for information on NEW Super Gold Seal Models
AUTOMATIC TICKET REGISTER CORPORATION
723 SEVENTH AVE NEW YORK
AUTOMATICKET SYSTEM USED WHEREVER TICKETS ARE SOLD

REACH THE THEATRE BY MAIL THRU OUR UP-TO-DATE MAILING LIST SERVICE
18138 U. S. THEATRES SHOWING PICTURES
Under 250 seats, 30%; under 500, 70%; under 800, 85%; over 800, 15%.
The most economical method of reaching theatres is our ADDRESSING SERVICE $4.00 PER M UP. Lists if desired. 30 to 50% saved in postage, etc., through elimination of dead and duplicate theatres usually listed. Lists of Producers, Distributors and Supply Dealers.
MULTIGRAPHING—MIMEOGRAPHING—FOLDING—ENCLOSING—MAILING
MOTION PICTURE DIRECTORY CO.
709 Sixth Ave. at 41st St. New York City
Phone, Pennsy. 7484-7485

CLASSIFIED AD SECTION

RATES: 10 cents a word for each insertion, in advance except Employment Wanted, on which rate is 5 cents.

Wanted

AT LIBERTY: theatre manager, nine years experience, have just sold theatre; reference, box office statements and bank deposits; can operate any make of projector, also experienced electrician. Will go anywhere. Box 690, Motion Picture News, New York City.

PIANIST desires engagement to play alone evenings only, in picture theatre within commuting distance from New York City. Box 680, Motion Picture News, New York City.

WANTED.—Used posters, photos, slides, banners and accessories of all kinds. Must be in good condition. Will allow liberal credit. Theatre Poster Supply Company and Sign Exchange, 327 E. Sixth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

CAMERAMAN. — Open soon for local news reel, special stunts, screen prologues, exploitation, amateur photoplays, contests, etc.; want permanent place; salary basis; reliable theatre only; own camera. Address Rowe, 6855 Vinewood, Detroit, Mich.

PROJECTIONIST.—7 years' experience. Best reference. Wants position. James Convey, 33 West 65th Street, New York City.

EXPERIENCED projectionist.—Young man wishes position anywhere. Write or wire stating salary in first letter. Julio Fernandez, 2606 14th Street, Tampa, Florida.

WANTED. — Exploitation man wants change. A-1 ad man. Prefers New York State. R. T. H., General Delivery, Uhrichsville, Ohio.

YOUNG MAN desires position in any department of film laboratory. Also projectionist. Best references. Box 700, Motion Picture News, New York City.

WANTED.—Portable stereopticon, with or without slides. Spot cash. Must be cheap. Lyric Theatre, Odell, Illinois.

FOX PUPS

1926 Alaskan Blue Foxes, taken early cost less, easily handled and take kindly to new homes. 10% Lower price now than later. Ask for Booklet M—tells all. References 6 bank presidents over 25 year period. Breeder-agents wanted. We help you.

Cleary Bros. Fox Farms, Seattle, Wash.

WANTED.—To rent or buy motion picture theatre. Give full particulars in first letter. Mrs. J. Beucher, 2880 Elston Ave., Chicago, Ill.

For Sale

FOR SALE.—Used theatre chairs of all descriptions. Immediate shipments. Largest stock of chairs in west. The Theatre Seating Co., 845 So. State St., Chicago, Ill.

THEATRE — 575 seats. Population 5,000. 7-room flat and store in building. Cash required $35,000. T. Wardle, Amityville, L. I.

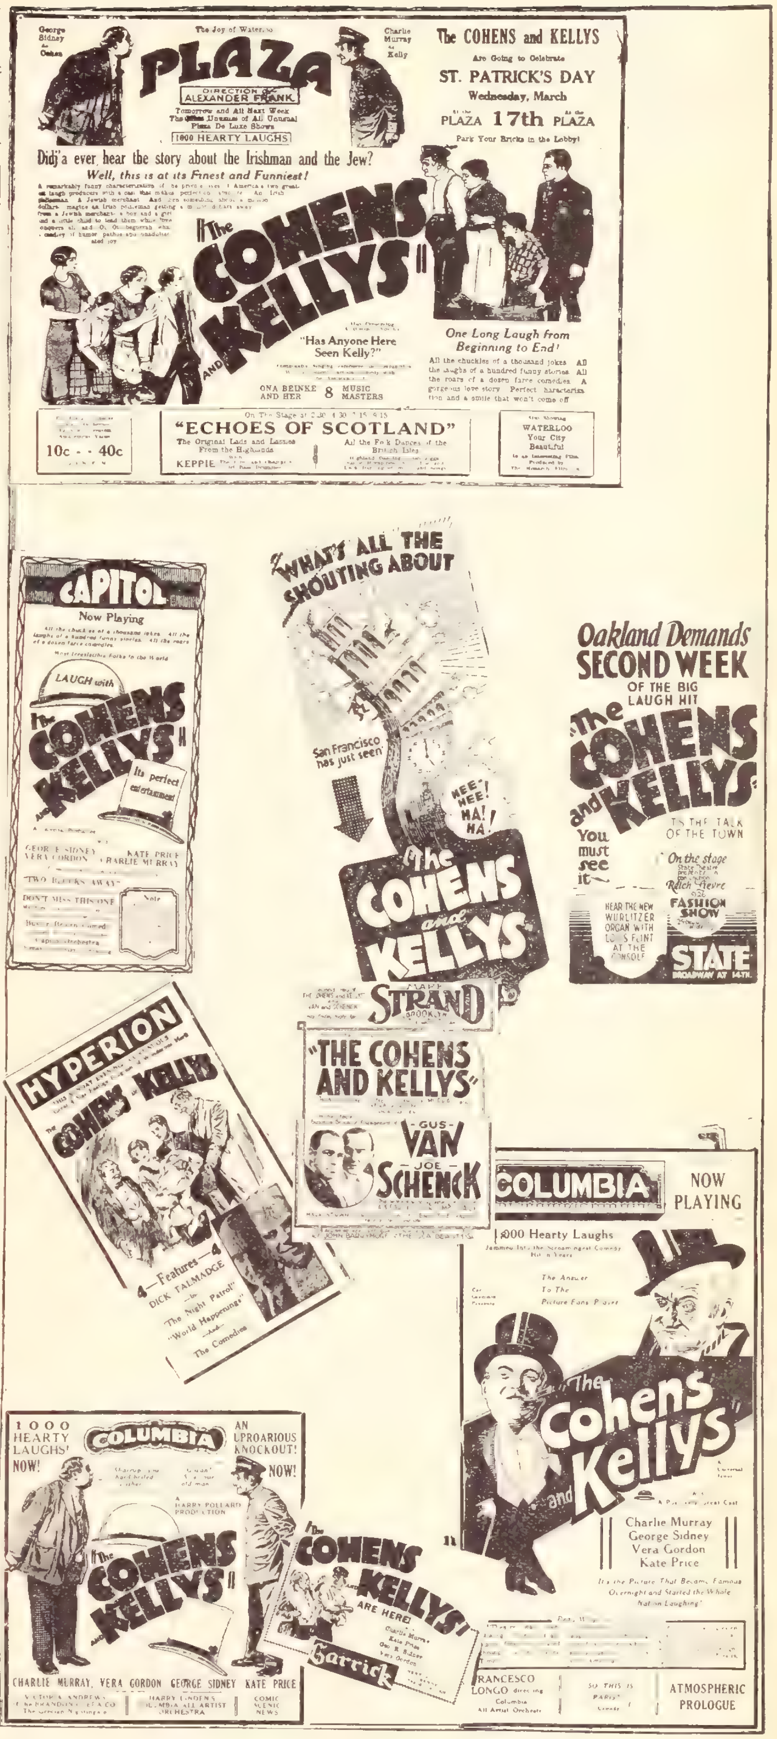
COMPLETE MOVIE THEATRE OUTFIT.—Used only one month. Consisting projection outfit of better type. Spot lights, signs, rugs, etc. Bargain. Tweel, 4624 - 6th Ave., Brooklyn.

THEATRE FOR SALE.—New combination theatre and commercial building consisting of 800 seat theatre, five stores and sixteen apartments in manufacturing city of 15,000, sixteen miles South of Chicago loop, in Calumet District. Address A. B., Motion Picture News, 845 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

CLOTH BANNERS. — $1.40, 3 x 10 feet, 3 colors, any copy up to 15 words; one day service; sent anywhere; also Bargain Paper Banners. Associated Advertisers, 111 W. 18th Street, Kansas City, Mo.

SEVERAL used pipe and pit organs of standard makes, completely overhauled, traded on new Page organs; priced to sell. The Page Organ Co., Lima, Ohio.

THEATRE for long lease or sale. Fully equipped pictures or road shows. Seating capacity 900. Charels Bellinger, Findlay, Ohio.



PLAZA
Direction of Alexander Frank
George Sidney as Cohen
Charlie Murray as Kelly
The Joy of Waterloo
Tomorrow and All Next Week
1000 HEARTY LAUGHS
The COHENS and KELLYS Are Going to Celebrate ST. PATRICK'S DAY Wednesday, March 17th at the PLAZA
Park Your Bricks in the Lobby!
Didj'a ever hear the story about the Irishman and the Jew?
Well, this is at its Finest and Funniest!
The COHENS and KELLYS
"Has Anyone Here Seen Kelly?"
ONA BEINKE AND HER 8 MUSIC MASTERS
One Long Laugh from Beginning to End!
"ECHOES OF SCOTLAND"
The Original Lads and Lassies From the Highlands
All the Folk Dances of the British Isles
KEPPIE
10c - - 40c
WATERLOO Your City Beautiful
CAPITOL
Now Playing
LAUGH with The COHENS and KELLYS
Its perfect entertainment
WHAT'S ALL THE SHOUTING ABOUT
San Francisco has just seen
HEE! HEE! HA! HA!
The COHENS and KELLYS
Oakland Demands SECOND WEEK OF THE BIG LAUGH HIT
The COHENS and KELLYS
You must see it
IS THE TALK OF THE TOWN
On the stage
FASHION SHOW
STATE
HYPERION
The COHENS and KELLYS
4 Features 4
DICK TALMADGE
"The Night Patrol"
"World Happenings"
The Comedies
STRAND
"THE COHENS AND KELLYS"
GUS VAN JOE SCHENCK
COLUMBIA
NOW PLAYING
1000 Hearty Laughs
The Cohens and Kellys
Charlie Murray
George Sidney
Vera Gordon
Kate Price
FRANCESCO LONGO
ATMOSPHERIC PROLOGUE
1000 HEARTY LAUGHS! NOW!
COLUMBIA
AN UPROARIOUS KNOCKOUT! NOW!
The COHENS and KELLYS
CHARLIE MURRAY, VERA GORDON, GEORGE SIDNEY, KATE PRICE
The COHENS and KELLYS ARE HERE!
Garrick

Above is a group of newspaper displays used by first run theatres of Universal's "The Cohens and Kellys." The ads included in the group represent the following theatres: State, Oakland, Cal.; Columbia, Portland, Ore.; Columbia, Seattle; Capitol, Dallas; Hyperion, New Haven; Imperila, San Francisco; Plaza, Waterloo; Garrick, St. Paul, and Mark Strand, Brooklyn

FEATURE RELEASE CHART

Productions are Listed Alphabetically and by Months in which Released in order that the Exhibitor may have a short-cut toward such information as he may need. Short subject and comedy release, as well as information on pictures that are coming, will be found on succeeding pages. (S. R. indicates State Right release.)

Refer to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS BOOKING GUIDE for Productions Listed Prior to March

MARCH

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Age of Indiscretion	Special Cast	Truart (S. R.)	5800 feet
Arizona Streak, The	Tom Tyler	F. B. O	4540 feet	April 3
Bar C Mystery, The	Phillips-MacDonald	Pathe	5 reels
Bat, The	Special Cast	United Artists	8219 feet	Mar. 27
Beverly of Graustark	Marion Davies	M-G-M	6977 feet	May 8
Beyond All Odds	Eileen Sedgwick	Chesterfield (S. R.)	5 reels
Big Show, The	Lowell-Russell	Assoc. Exhib
Blue Blazes	Pete Morrison	Universal	4659 feet	Jan. 23
Broadway Billy	Billy Sullivan	Rayart (S. R.)	5000 feet
Chip of the Flying U	Hoot Gibson	Universal	6596 feet	Mar. 6
Combat	House Peters	Universal	6714 feet	Feb. 20
Coming and Going	Buffalo Bill, Jr	Artclass Pictures	5000 feet
Dancing Mothers	Special Cast	Paramount	7169 feet	Feb. 27
Dangerous Virtue	Jane Novak	Lee-Bradford (S.R.)	6000 feet
Danger Quest, The	Reed Howes	Rayart (S. R.)	5000 feet	May 8
Earth Woman, The	Alden-Bonner	Assoc. Exhib
Forbidden Waters	Priscilla Dean	Prod. Dist. Corp	5335 feet	April 17
Gilded Highway, The	Devore-Harron	Warner Bros	6900 feet	April 17
Happiness	Special Cast	F. B. O
Hearts and Spangles	Wanda Hawley	Lumas Film	5980 feet	May 8
Hell's Four Hundred	Margaret Livingston	Fox
Her Second Chance	Nilsson-Gordon	First National	7000 feet	May 8
Highbinders, The	Tilden-Daw	Assoc. Exhib
High Steppers	Hughes-Astor	First National
Let's Get Married	Richard Dix	Paramount	6800 feet	Mar. 13
Little Irish Girl, The	Dolores Costello	Warner Bros	6800 feet	April 10
Marriage	Special Cast	Fox
Midnight Thieves	H. Rawlinson	A. G. Steen	5 reels
Miss Brewster's Millions	Bebe Daniels	Paramount	6457 feet	Mar. 20
Mlle. Modiste	Corinne Griffith	First National
My Old Dutch	O'Malley-MacAvoy	Universal	7750 feet	May 8
New Klondike, The	Thomas Meighan	Paramount	7445 feet	Mar. 27
Night Patrol, The	Richard Talmadge	F. B. O	6 reels	Mar. 20
Non-Stop Flight, The	Special Cast	F. B. O.	6 reels	April 17
Nutcracker, The	E. E. Horton	Assoc. Exhib.	6 reels	April 17
Other Women's Husbands	Blue-Prevost	Warner Bros	6700 feet	April 3
Red Dice	Rod La Rocque	Prod. Dist. Corp	6 reels	April 3
Roaring Forties, The	Special Cast	Jans (S.R.)
Sap, The	Kenneth Harlan	Warner Bros	5500 feet
Sea Horses	Special Cast	Paramount	6671 feet	Feb. 27
Secret Orders	Evelyn Brent	F. B. O	5506 feet	Mar. 27
Siberia	Special Cast	Fox	6950 feet	April 24
Six Shooting Romance	Jack Hoxie	Universal	4869 feet	Jan. 30
Social Celebrity, A	Adolphe Menjou	Paramount	6025 feet	May 8
Taxi Mystery, The	Roberts-Agnew	Gingsberg (S.R.)	5052 feet
Test of Donald Norton	George Walsh	Chadwick
Tramp, Tramp, Tramp	Harry Langdon	First National	5830 feet	April 10
Unknown Dangers	Frank Merrill	Hercules (S.R.)	4700 feet
Untamed Lady, The	Gloria Swanson	Paramount	6132 feet	Mar. 27
Vanishing Hoofs	Wally Wales	Artclass Pictures	5000 feet
Winning the Futurity	Landis-C. Horton	Chadwick
Yellow Fingers	Olive Borden	Fox	5594 feet	April 10

APRIL

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Ace of Hearts	Special Cast	Fox
Among Those Present	Harold Lloyd (Reissue)	Assoc. Exhib.
Bells, The	Lionel Barrymore	Chadwick
Blind Goddess, The	Special Cast	Paramount	7249 feet	April 3
Border Sheriff, The	Jack Hoxie	Universal	4440 feet	Mar. 13
Broadway Gallant, The	Richard Talmadge	F. B. O.
Brown of Harvard	Jack Pickford	M-G-M	7600 feet	May 8
Crown of Lies, The	Pola Negri	Paramount	5 reels	Mar. 27
Dangers of a Great City	Special Cast	Fox
Desert Gold	Special Cast	Paramount	6900 feet	Mar. 20
Early to Wed	M. Moore-K. Perry	Fox
Fighting Boob, The	Bob Custer	F. B. O.
Fighting Shadows	Leo Maloney	Clarion Photoplays	4900 feet
Fighting Thorobreds	Billy Sullivan	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Flames	Valli-O'Brien	Assoc. Exhib
For Heaven's Sake	Harold Lloyd	Paramount	5356 feet	April 24
Hello, New York	Pringle-Sherman	First National
Hidden Way, The	Mary Carr	Assoc. Exhib
Isle of Retribution, The	Special Cast	F. B. O
Kiki	Norma Talmadge	First National	8299 feet	April 17
Lucky Lady, The	Special Cast	Paramount
Mike	Sally O'Neill	M-G-M		Jan. 23
Old Loves and New	L. Stone-B. Bedford	First National	6500 feet	April 24
Paris At Midnight	Special Cast	Prod. Dist. Corp.	6995 feet	May 8
Racing Blood	Special Cast	Lumas Film
Runaway, The	Special Cast	Paramount	6 reels	May 8
Rustlers Ranch	Art Acord	Universal	5230 feet	April 24
Rustling for Cupid	George O'Brien	Fox
Sandy	Madge Bellamy	Fox	7850 feet	April 24
Savage, The	Ben Lyon	First National
Seventh Bandit, The	Harry Carey	Pathe	6 reels	Mar. 27
Silken Shackles	Irene Rich	Warner Bros	6061 feet	May 8
Sir Lumberjack	Lefty Flynn	F. B. O	5129 feet	April 10
Skinner's Dress Suit	Reginald Denny	Universal	7025 feet	Dec. 26
Somebody's Mother	Mary Carr	Rayart (S.R.)	6000 feet
Starlight's Revenge	Jack Perrin	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Still Alarm, The	Chadwick-Russell	Universal	7406 feet	Jan. 16
Streets of Sin		Fox
That's My Baby	Douglas MacLean	Paramount	6805 feet	April 24
Tony Runs Wild	Tom Mix	Fox
Tramp, Tramp, Tramp	Harry Langdon	First National	5830 feet	April 10
Twin Triggers	Buddy Roosevelt	Artclass Pictures	4800 feet
Up in Mabel's Room	Marie Prevost	Prod. Dist. Corp
Watch Your Wife	Virginia Valli	Universal	6980 feet	Feb. 27
Western Trails	Bill Patton	Chesterfield (S.R.)	5 reels
Wild To Go	Tom Tyler	F. B. O.	4570 feet	May 8

MAY

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Black Paradise	M. Bellamy–E. Lowe	Fox
Carnival Girl, The	Mack-Forrest	Assoc. Exhib.
Chasing Trouble	Pete Morrison	Universal	5 reels
Ella Cinders	Colleen Moore	First National
Footloose Widow, The	Irene Rich	Warner Bros
Hell Bent for Heaven	Monte Blue	Warner Bros
Honeymoon Express, The	M. Moore-Devore	Warner Bros
It's the Old Army Game	W. C. Fields	Paramount
Looking for Trouble	Jack Hoxie	Universal	4362 feet
Love Thief, The	Norman Kerry	Universal
Man Four Square	Buck Jones	Fox
Man From Oklahoma	Jack Perrin	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Miss Nobody	Anna Q. Nilsson	First National
Palm Beach Girl, The	Bebe Daniels	Paramount
Pals in Paradise	Special Cast	Fox
Perils of the Coast Guard	Special Cast	Rayart (S.R.)
Phantom Bullet, The	Hoot Gibson	Universal
Poor Girl's Romance	Short-Hale	F. B. O.
Racing Romance	Reed Howes	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Rainmaker, The	Collier-Hale	Paramount
Ranson's Folly	Richard Barthelmess	First National
Sally in Our Alley	Mary Philbin	Universal
Secret Spring, The	Special Cast	Paramount
Shadows of Chinatown	Kenneth MacDonald	Bud Barsky (S.R.)	5000 feet
Shamrock Handicap, The	Special Cast	Fox
Sign of the Claw	Peter the Great (dog)	Lumas Film	5925 feet
Social Highwayman, The	Harlan-Miller	Warner Bros.
Sweet Daddies	Special Cast	First National
Take a Chance	Richard Dix	Paramount
The Set Up	Art Acord	Universal	4600 feet	Mar. 27
Three Weeks in Paris	Moore-Devore	Warner Bros	6050 feet.	May 8
Wet Paint	Raymond Griffith	Paramount
Windjammer, The	Billy Sullivan	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Wise Guy, The	James Kirkwood	First National

JUNE

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Call of the Klondike, The	Special Cast	Rayart (S.R.)
Deer Drive, The	Special Cast	Paramount
Fighting Buckaroo, The	Buck Jones	Fox
Frontier Trail, The	Harry Carey	Pathe	6 reels
Gentle Cyclone, The	Buck Jones	Fox
Good and Naughty	Pola Negri	Paramount
Grass		Paramount		Mar. 7,'25
Hard Boiled	Tom Mix	Fox
Hero of the Big Snows, A	Rin-tin-tin (dog)	Warner Bros
Manhood	Special Cast	Fox
One Punch O'Day	Billy Sullivan	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Passionate Quest, The	Marie Prevost	Warner Bros
Rolling Home	Reginald Denny	Universal
Scrappin' Kid, The	Art Acord	Universal	4664 feet	Dec. 5, '25
Self Starter, The	Reed Howes	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Volcano	Bebe Daniels	Paramount
Yellow Contraband	Leo Maloney	Clarion Photoplays	4900 feet

JULY

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Dangerous Dude, The	Reed Howes	Rayart (S.R.)	5000 feet
Sinister Detail, The	Kenneth MacDonald	Bud Barsky (S.R.)	5000 feet

Comedy Releases

Title	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
A-1 Society		Fox
Alpine Flapper, The	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Al's Troubles	Al Alt	Universal	2 reels	Mar. 13
Atta Boy	Monty Banks	Pathe
At Home	"Our Gang"	Pathe	2 reels
Baby Clothes	"Our Gang"	Pathe	2 reels	April 24
Bear Cats	"Big Boy"	Educational	2 reels
Beauty Parlor, A	"Fat Men"	F. B. O	2 reels
Bedtime Story, A	Arthur Lake	Universal	1 reel
Big-Hearted Fish, A	Aesop Fables.	Pathe	1 reel	April 10
Big Idea, The	Snub Pollard	Pathe (Reissue)	1 reel
Big Retreat, The	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Bill Grim's Progress	Short-Withers	F. B. O.
Broken China	Bobby Vernon	Educational	2 reels	May 8
Bumper Crop, The	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Buster Be Good	Trimble-Turner	Universal	2 reels
Buster's Hunting Party	Trimble and Dog	Universal	2 reels
Buster's Mix-Up	Trimble-Turner	Universal	2 reels	April 24
Buster's Sky Rocket	Trimble and Dog	Universal	2 reels	April 24
Camel's Hump		F. B. O	1 reel
Caught in the Act	Laymon-Dorety	Tennek Film	2 reels
Circus Day	Billy Bevan	Pathe	2 reels	Mar. 13
College Yell, The	Neely Edwards	Universal	1 reel
Comrades in Work	Mabel Normand	Pathe
Couple of Skates, A	Neely Edwards	Universal	1 reel
Creeps	Archer-Dunham	Educational	2 reels
Dancing Daddy	Jack Duffy	Educational	2 reels	April 10
Dizzy Daddies	Jimmie Finlayson	Pathe	2 reels	Mar. 20
Don Key-Son of a Burro	Holmes-Davidson	Pathe	2 reels

Title	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Do Your Duty	Snub Pollard	Pathe	1 reel
Dog Shy	Charles Chase	Pathe	2 reels
Dumb Friend, A	Arthur Lake	Universal	1 reel	Feb. 13
Dumb Luck	"The Gumps"	Universal	2 reels
Egged On		F. B. O.	2 reels
Eight Cylinder Bull		Fox	2 reels
Family Picnic, The	"Helen and Warren"	Fox	2 reels
Farm Hands	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Felix the Cat Braves the Briny	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel
Felix the Cat in a Tale of Two Kittens	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel
Felix the Cat Laughs It Off	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel	Mar. 27
Felix the Cat Misses the Cue	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel
Felix the Cat Scoots Thru Scotland	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel
Felix the Cat Uses His Head	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel	May 8
Felix the Cat Weathers the Weather	"Cartoon"	Educational	1 reel
Fight Night		Pathe	2 reels
Fire Fighter, The	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Flivver Vacation, A	Eddie Gordon	Universal	2 reels	April 3
Flying Wheels	Wanda Wiley	Universal	2 reels	Mar. 6
Fly Time	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	2 reels
Fool's Luck	Lupino Lane	Educational	2 reels	April 3
Fraternity Mixup, A	Alice Ardell	F. B. O	2 reels
Fresh Faces	Walter Hiers	Educational	2 reels
From the Cabby's Seat	"O. Henry"	Fox	2 reels
Ghost of Folly	Alice Day	Pathe	2 reels
Gimme Strength	Jimmie Adams	Educational	2 reels
Going Crazy	Lige Conley	Educational	2 reels
Golf Bug, The	Paul Parrott	Pathe (Reissue)	1 reel
Heavy Parade, The	"Fat Men"	F. B. O.
He Forget to Remember	Clyde Cook	Pathe	2 reels
Help Wanted	Charles Puffy	Universal	1 reel	May 1
Hard to Hold	Laymon-Dorety	Tennek Film	2 reels
Haunted Heiress, A	Edna Marian	Universal	2 reels
Hayfoot, Strawfoot	Bevan-Clyde	Pathe	2 reels	April 24
Hearts and Showers	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Hired and Fired	Paul Parrott	Pathe	1 reel
His Private Life	Lupino Lane	Educational	2 reels
His Taking Ways	Al St. John	Bischoff (S.R.)	2 reels
Home Cured	Johnny Arthur	Educational	2 reels	Mar. 27
Honeymoon Feet	"Fat Men"	F. B. O	2 reels
Honeymooning With Me	Charles King	Universal	2 reels
Hooked at the Altar	Ralph Graves	Pathe	2 reels
Hug Bug, The	Glenn Tryon	Pathe	2 reels	Mar. 13
Hurricane, The	Alice Ardell	F. B. O	2 reels
It's the Gate	"Cartoon"	Red Seal	1 reel	May 1
Ko-Ko at the Circus	"Cartoon"	Red Seal	1 reel	Mar. 27
Lickpenny Lover, A	"O. Henry"	Fox	2 reels
Light Houskeeping	Lige Conley	Educational	2 reels	Mar. 20
Little Parade, The	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Liquid Dynamite	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Love Sundae, A	Alice Day	Pathe	2 reels
Long Fliv the King	Charles Chase	Pathe	2 reels
Madame Mystery	Bara-Finlayson	Pathe	2 reels
Mad Racer, The	"Van Bibber"	Fox	2 reels	May 8
Meet My Girl	Ralph Graves	Pathe	2 reels	Mar. 13
Merry Blacksmith, The	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Min's Away	"The Gumps"	Universal	2 reels
Monkey Business	"Our Gang"	Pathe	2 reels	Mar 27
Mortgaged Again	Arthur Lake	Universal	1 reel
Movie Madness	Edna Marian	Universal	2 reels
Moving Day	Cooley-Perry	Fox	2 reels	Mar. 6
Mr. Cinderella	Johnny Arthur	Educational	2 reels
Muscle Bound Music		Pathe	2 reels
Mum's the Word	Charles Chase	Pathe	2 reels
Nervous Moments	Ralph Graves	Pathe	2 reels
Never Too Old		Pathe
Newlyweds and Their Baby, The	(Series)	Universal
Nobody's Business	Lloyd Hamilton	Educational	2 reels	April 24
Number One Society, A	"East Side, West Side"	Fox
Old War Horse, The		Pathe	1 reel	April 10
On Thin Ice	"Mutt & Jeff"	Short Film Syn	1 reel	Mar. 6
Oo-La-La	Bobby Vernon	Educational	2 reels
Optimist, The	Charles Puffy	Universal	1 reel
Over There	Al Joy		2 reels
Painless Pain	Wanda Wiley	Universal	2 reels	May 8
Papa's Pest	Burns-Steadman.	Educational	2 reels
Pawnshop Politics		Fox	2 reels
Phoney Express, The	Charles Puffy	Universal	1 reel	Mar. 13
Playing the Swell	Wanda Wiley	Universal	2 reels
Polar Baron, The	Cameron Shields	Fox	2 reels	May 1
Puppy Lovetime	Alice Day	Pathe	2 reels
Quick Service	Cliff Bowes	Educational	1 reel	Mar. 20
Radio Mad	Lymon-Dorety	Tennek Film	2 reels
Rah, Rah, Heidelberg	"Van Bibber"	Fox	2 reels
Rain and Shines	Al St. John	Bischoff	2 reels
Reported, The	"Van Bibbers"	Fox	2 reels
Rough and Ready Romeo	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel	May 1
Say It With Babies	Glenn Tryon	Pathe	2 reels
Say It With Love	Edna Marian	Universal	2 reels
Scared Stiff	Holmes-Cook	Pathe	2 reels	May 1
Scratching Through	Cliff Bowes	Educational	1 reel	April 24
Separated Sweethearts.	Arthur Lake	Universal	1 reel
Shootin' Fool, The	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Shore Shy	Dooley-Joyce	Educational	2 reels
Skating Instructors	"Mutt and Jeff"	Short Film Syn	1 reel
Sky Bound	Al St. John	Educational	2 reels
Smouldering Tires	A. Vaughan-L. Kent	F. B. O.
Social Triangle, A	"O. Henry"	Fox	2 reels
Sock Me To Sleep.	A. Vaughan-L. Kent	F. B. O.
Somebody's Wrong	Bowes-Newman	Educational	1 reel
So This Is Paris	Neely Edwards	Universal	1 reel
Spanish Love	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel	Mar. 13
Spanking Breezes	Alice Day	Pathe	2 reels	Mar. 20
Swell Affair, A	Arthur Lake	Universal	1 reel
Take the Air	Paul Parrott	Pathe (Reissue)	1 reel
Taking the Heir	Charles Puffy	Universal	1 reel	April 3
Tin Ghost, The	Lige Conley	Educational	2 reels	May 8
Tonight's the Night	Bowes-Bradley	Educational	1 reel	May 1
Too Many Babies	Darling-King	Universal	2 reels	May 8
Too Many Relations	"Helen and Warren"	Fox	2 reels
Tune Up	Charles Puffy	Universal	1 reel	Mar. 6
Two Lips in Holland		Fox	2 reels
Ukelele Shieks	Glenn Tryon	Pathe	2 reels	April 10
Uncle Tom's Uncle	"Our Gang"	Pathe	2 reels
Up in the Air	"Aesop Fables"	Pathe	1 reel
Wandering Willies		Pathe	2 reels	April 3
What A Life	Frank Davis	Educational	1 reel
When Hell Froze Over	"Mutt and Jeff"	Short Film Syn	1 reel	Feb. 20
Where's My Baby	Neely Edwards	Universal	1 reel	May 1
Whoa Emma	Jimmie Adams	Educational	2 reels	April 3
Who's Boss?	Cliff Bowes.	Educational	1 reel
Wife Tammers	Cook-L. Barrymore	Pathe	2 reels	April 3
Wireless Lizzie	Walter Hiers	Educational	2 reels	Mar. 13
Wisecrackers	Short-Withers	F. B. O.
Wise Quacker, The	Eddie Gordon	Tennek Film	2 reels
Yankee Doodle Duke, A	Ralph Graves	Pathe	2 reels
Yearning for Love	Wanda Wiley	Universal	2 reels	April 3

Short Subjects

Title	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
American Today (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
Animated Hair Cartoons	Red Seal	1 reel
Angelus, The	Cranfield & Clarke	2 reels	April 24
Aphrodite (Novelty)	Service Film	1 reel
Bar-C Mystery (Serial)	Pathe	10 episodes
Beasts of the Veldt	Chesterfield	2 reels
Bed Time Stories	Sierra Pictures	2 reels
Belgium Today (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
Burkhardt's Plastic Film	Tiffany	1 reel	April 3
Canary Islands (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
Casey of the Coast Guard (Serial)	Pathe	10 episodes	Feb. 20
Charleston Films	Cranfield & Clarke	4 half reels	May 1
Dancing Around the World (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
Death Ray, The (Novelty)	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Desperate Dan (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels	May 1
Dixie Doodle (Sportlight)	Pathe	1 reel	Mar. 27
Doctor, The (Famous Paintings)	Cranfield & Clarke	2 reels
Egypt	F. B. O.
Emergency Man, The Edmund Cobb	Universal	2 reels
Every Picture Tells a Story	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Fade Away Foster (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels	May 1
Film Facts (Series)	Red Seal	1 reel
Flashes of the Past	Pathe	2 reels
Frame Up, The (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
From A to Z Thru Filmdom (Hodge Podge)	Educational	1 reel
Fugutive Futerise (Novelty)	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Giggles (Novelty Series)	Tennek Film	1 reel
Glory or Dollars (Sportlight)	Pathe	1 reel
Grinning Fists (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Gunless Bad Man, The (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Happy Hunting Grounds (Sportlight)	Pathe	1 reel
Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly	Red Seal	1 reel	Mar. 6
Heavens Above (Novelty)	Service Film	1 reel
Her First Night in a Beauty Parlor	Cranfield & Clarke	2 reels
Hero Land (Color Novelty)	Service Film	1 reel
Heroes of the Sea	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Hia Pal . . Fearless (Dog)	Chesterfield	2 reels
Homeless Husbands' Land (Novelty)	Short Film	1 reel
Honeymoon Cruises	Tennek Film	1 reel
Howe's Hodge Podge, 709	Educational	1 reel	May 1
Ice Cold Cocos	Pathe	2 reels
Inside Dope, The (Sportlight)	Pathe	1 reel	May 1
International Detective Stories	Tennek Film	2 reels
King of the Beasts (Cartoon)	F. B. O.
Jungle Heroine, A	Chesterfield	2 reels
Jungle Tragedy, A	Chesterfield	2 reels
Land Boom, The ("Aesop Fables")	Pathe	1 reel
Land of Rivers (Scenic)	Service Film	1 reel
Last Man, The	Chesterfield	2 reels
Leaps and Bounds (Sportlight)	Pathe	1 reel	Mar. 13
Lest We Forget	Educational	1 reel	May 1
Let's Go Fishing	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Let's Paint	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Lightning Hutch (Serial)	Arrow Film
Lion's Mate, The	Chesterfield	2 reels
Lizzie's Last Lap (Novelty)	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Love Fighter . Fearless (Dog)	Chesterfield	2 reels
Marvels of Motion (Series)	Red Seal	1 reel
Menace of the Alps, The	Universal	1 reel	Mar. 27
Mother, The (Famous Paintings)	Cranfield & Clarke	2 reels
Mountain Molly O (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Mountain of the Law, The (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
MyOld Kentucky Home (Song Car-tune)	Red Seal	1 reel	April 10
Neptune'sDomain (Hodge Podge)	Educational	1 reel
Nervous Moments (Sportlight)	Pathe	1 reel	May 1
Off Shore Trails (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
One Wild Time (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Outlaw Love (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Planting Season, The (Sportlight)	Pathe	1 reel
Poland—A National Reborn (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
Quick on the Draw (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Radio Detective, The (Serial)	Universal	10 episodes
Reelieves	Red Seal	1 reel
Ridin' For Love (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Revolutions per Minute (Sportlight)	Pathe	1 reel
Rustler's Secret, The (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Scotty of the Scouts (Serial)	Rayart (S. R.)
Searchlight (Series)	Red Seal	1 reel
Sketch Book	Pathe
Sky Skidder, The (Serial)	Bischoff	10 episodes
Snowed In	Pathe
Songs of Central Europe (Melody Lines)	Pathe	1 reel
Songs of England (Melody Series)	Pathe	1 reel	Feb 6
Songs of Scotland (Melody Series)	Pathe	1 reel	Feb. 6
Songs of the Northern States	Pathe	1 reel
Soul of the Cypress	Red Seal	1 reel	Feb 27
String of Diamonds . . Fearless (Dog)	Chesterfield	2 reels
St. Pauls	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Swat the Crook (Harold Lloyd)	Pathe (Reissue)	1 reel
Sweden Today (Variety)	Fox	1 reel
Tin Bronc, The (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Trapped (Mustang)	Universal	2 reels
Trails of the Gods	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Tramp, Tramp the Boys Are Marching	Red Seal	1 reel	May 1
Tulip Land	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Vanishing Millions (Serial)	Sierra Pictures
Vision, The	Educational	2 reels
Whirlwinds (Series)	F. B. O.
Wire Tigers, The.	Chesterfield	2 reels
Where the Silver River Gleams	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel
Winking Idol, The (Serial)	Universal	10 episodes	Mar. 20
Wolf, The . . Fearless (Dog)	Chesterfield	2 reels
Wonder Book Series	Short Film	1 reel
Wonderful Water	Service Film Corp	1 reel	May 1
Wooden Shoes	Cranfield & Clarke	1 reel	Dec. 12

Coming Attractions

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
30 Below Zero	Buck Jones	Fox
Accused	Special Cast	Inde. Film	5000 feet	Jan. 16
Ace High	Hoot Gibson	Universal
Ace of Cads	Adolphe Menjou	Paramount
Almost a Lady	Marie Prevost	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Aloma of the South Sea	Gilda Gray	Paramount
Altars of Desire	Conway Tearle	M-G-M
Amateur Gentleman, The	Dick Barthelmess	First National
An American Tragedy		Paramount
Annie Laurie	Lilian Gish	M-G-M
Another Woman's Life	Mary Philbin	Universal
Aristocrat, The		Famous Attractions
Arizona Whirlwind, The	Bill Cody	Assoc. Exhib
Ashes	Corinne Griffith	First National
Atlantis		First National
Auctioneer, The	George Sidney	Fox
Autocrat, The		Paramount
Back Slapper, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Bad Habits	Special Cast	Astor Dist. (S.R.)
Bankrupt		Ginsberg-Kann
Bardelys the Magnificent	John Gilbert	M-G-M
Barrier, The	Special Cast	M-G-M	6480 feet	April 3
Barriers of Fire	Monte Blue	Warner Bros
Battling Butler	Buster Keaton	M-G-M
Beau Geste		Paramount
Beauty	Special Cast	M-G-M
Beauty and the Beast	Coleman-Banky	United Artists
Bed and Board	Doris Kenyon	First National
Behind the Screen	Special Cast	M-G-M
Behind the Wheel,	Priscilla Dean	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Bellamy the Magnificent	Ramon Navarro	M-G-M
Beloved Enemy, The	Boyd-Goudal	Prod. Dist. Corp
Ben Hur	Special Cast	M-G-M	12000 feet	Jan. 16
Beware of Widows	Laura La Plante	Universal
Beyond the Trail	Bill Patton	Chesterfield-(S.R.)	5 reels
Bigger Than Barnum's	G. O'Hara-V. Dana	F. B. O.
Big Gun, The	Special Cast	Universal
Big Night, The	Laura La Plante	Universal
Big Parade, The	John Gilbert	M-G-M	12550 feet	Nov. 28
Bitter Apples	Monte Blue	Warner Bros.
Black Pirate, The	Douglas Fairbanks	United Artists	8200 feet	Mar. 20
Blarney	R. Adoree-R. Graves	M-G-M
Blond Saint, The		First National
Border Thunderbolt, The		Assoc. Exhib
Born to Battle	Tom Tyler	F. B. O	5100 feet	Feb. 13
Boy Friend, The	J. Harron-M. Day	M-G-M
"Broken Hearts of Hollywood"	Special Cast	Jaffe Art Film (S.R.)	7500 feet	Mar. 20
Brown Derby, The	Johnny Hines	First National
Brute, The	Monte Blue	Warner Bros.
Buckaroo Kid, The	Hoot Gibson	Universal.
Burning Bridges	Harry Carey	Pathe
Butterflies in the Rain	Laura La Plante	Universal
Callahans and the Murphys, The		M-G-M
Call in the Night, A		Truart (S.R.)
Cancelled Debt, The	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
Captain Salvation		M-G-M
Cat's Pajamas, The	Bronson-Cortez	Paramount
Charity Ball. The		M-G-M
Charleston Kid, The		First National
Cheating Danger	Dick Talmadge	Universal
Christine of the Bip Tops	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
Cigarette Maker's Romance, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Circus, The	Charles Chaplin	United Artists
City, The	Lowe-Livingston	Fox
Cleaner Flame, The	Louise Carter	Arrow
Climbers, The	Irene Rich	Warner Bros.
Clinging Vine, The	Leatrice Joy	P. D. C
Closed Gates	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
Code of the Northwest	Sandow (dog)	Assoc. Exhib.
College Flirt, The	Bebe Daniels	Paramount
College Widow, The	Dolores Costello	Warner Bros.
Coney Island	Special Cast	M-G-M
Corporal Kate	Vera Reynolds	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Cossacks, The	John Gilbert	M-G-M
Country Doctor, The	Faye-R- Schildkraut	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Cradle Snatchers		Fox
Crashing Timbers	Harlan-Dana	Universal
Crazy Fool, The		M-G-M
Cruise of Jasper B, The	Rod La Roque	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Cruel Truth, The		Ginsberg-Kann
Crystal Cup, The	Dorothy Mackaill	First National
Cyrano de Bergerac	Special Cast	Atlas Dist. (S.R.)	9500 feet	July 18
Dancing Days		Famous Attractions
Danger Line, The	Special Cast	Astor Dist. (S.R.)
Dangerous Dub, The	Buddy Roosevelt	Assoc. Exhib.
Dangerous Friends	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
Daring Venus, The		First National
Dark Horse, The	Harry Carey	Prod. Dist. Corp
Dark Rosaleen	Buck Jones	Fox
Darling of the Gods, The		United Artists
Dead Command, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Dead Man's Gold	Tom Mix	Fox
Dearie	L. Fazenda-W. Louis	Warner Bros.
Defend Yourself	Dorothy Drew	Dependable Films	5000 feet	Jan. 9
Deluge, The		Prod. Dist. Corp.
Desert Valley	Buck Jones	Fox
Desperate Woman, The		First National
Detour		Prod. Dist. Corp
Devil Horse, The	Rex (Horse)	Pathe	6 reels	April 24
Devil's Dice	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
Devil's Master, The	Special Cast	Fox
Dice Woman, The	Priscilla Dean	Prod. Dist. Corp
Dixie		Universal
Diplomacy	Blanche Sweet	Paramount
Do Clothes Make the Woman?	Mrs. Valentino	F. B. O
Don Juan	John Barrymore	Warner Bros
Don't Lie to Your Wife	Haver-McDonald	Arrow
Don Juan's Three Nights	Stone-Mason	First National
Don't Tell the Wife	Irene Rich	Warner Bros.
Door Mat, The		Warner Bros
Down the Stretch	Pat O'Malley	Universal
Duchess of Buffalo, The	Constance Talmadge	First National
Duke of Black Butte, The	Fred Humes	Universal
Duke of Ladies, The	Conway Tearle	First National
Dumb Head		Tiffany (S.R.)	6500 feet
East of the Setting Sun	Constance Talmadge	First National
Eden's Fruit		Famous Attractions
Enchanted Island		Tiffany
Exclusive Rights		Famous Attractions
Eve's Leaves	Leatrice Joy	Prod. Dist. Corp
Exquisite Sinner, The	Nagel-Adoree,	M-G-M	5844 feet	May 1
False Steps	Special Cast	Paramount
Family Upstairs, The	Virginia Valli	Fox
Fascinating Youth	Junior Stars	Paramount		Mar. 13
Fast Life in New York	Special Cast	M-G-M
Faust	Emil Jannings	M-G-M
Fifth Horseman, The		Lee-Bradford (S.R.)
Fighting Boob, The	Bob Custer	F. B. O.	5000 feet	May 1
Fighting Fate	Billy Sullivan	Rayart (S.R.)	4991 feet	Feb. 6
Fighting Foundling, The	Jack Hoxie	Universal
Fighting Love	Jetta Goudal	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Fighting Peacemaker, The	Jack Hoxie	Universal	4500 feet	April 10
Fig Leaves	G. O'Brien-O. Borden	Fox
Final Extra, The		Lumas (S.R.)
Fine Manners	Gloria Swanson	Paramount
Finnegan's Ball	Assoc. Exhib.
Fire Brigade, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Flame of the Border, The		First National
Flame of the Yukon, The	S. Owen-A. Gray	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Flames	Special Cast	M-G-M
Flaming Forest, The		M-G-M
Flaming Frontier, The	Special Cast	Universal	8829 feet	April 17
Flaming Timber		Tiffany
Fllashing Heels	Bill Cody	Assoc. Exhib
Flash Kid, The	Dick Talmadge	Universal
Flesh and the Devil, The	J. Gilbert-G. Garbo	M-G-M
Flight to the Hills, The		Paramount
Flying High	Wm. Fairbanks	Lumas (S. R.)
Flying Mail, The	Al Wilson	Asso. Exhib
Fools of Fashion		Tiffany
Footloose Widows	Special Cast	Warner Bros.
For Alimony Only	Leatrice Joy	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Forbidden Trails	Bill Cody	Assoc. Exhib
Forest of Destiny, The		Gotham Prod. (S. R.)
Forever After	M. Astor-L. Hughes	First National
Forever After	Corinne Griffith	First National
For Wives Only	Marie Prevost	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Four Feathers	Richard Barthelmess	First National
Four Flushes, The	Reginald Denny	Universal
Four Stragglers, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Free Souls	Norma Shearer	M-G-M
French Dressing	A. Pringle-B. Lyon	First National
Friends	Special Cast	Vitagraph
Frisco Sal	Special Cast	M-G-M
Frozen Justice		Fox
Gambling Chaplain, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Galloping Cowboy, The	Bill Cody	Assoc. Exhib
Garden of Allah, The	N. Talmadge-R. Colman	United Artists
Garden of Eden, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Gay Deceiver, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
General, The	Buster Keaton	United Artists
George Washington Cohen	George Jessel
Get Off the Earth	Raymond Griffith	Paramount
Gigolo	Rod La Roque	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Gletting Gertie's Garter	Marie Prevost.	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Gennister of the Mounted	Lefty Flynn	F. B. O.
Glorifying the American Girl		Paramount
Going Crooked	Special Cast	Fox
Golden Web, The	H. Gordon-L. Rich	Lumas (S.R.)
Goose Man, The	Special Cast	M-G M
Great Deception, The	Ben Lyon	First National
Great K. & A. Robbery The	Tom Mix	Fox
Greater Glory, The	Special Cast	First National		Apr '7
Greatest Show on Earth		Paramount
Gulliver's Travels		Universal
Gun Gospel		First National
Hairpin Duchess, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Hands Across the Border	Fred Thomson	F. B. O
Harem Girl, The	Special Cast	Astor Dist. (S. R.)
Harp In Hock, A	Schildkraut-Coghlan	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Hat of Destiny, The		First National
Haunted Lady, The	Assoc. Exhib.
Haven, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Heart Thief, The	Jos. Schildkraut
Heaven on Earth	C. Nagel-R. Adoree	M-G-M
Hell's Kitchen		First National
Her Big Night	Laura La Plante	Universal
Here Y'are, Brother		First National
Here He Comes	Earle Douglas	Sierra Pictures	5000 feet
Here He Comes	Richard Talmadge	Universal
Her Honor, The Governor	Pauline Frederick	F. B. O
Her Man o'War	Jetta Goudal	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Her Next Steps		Ginsberg-Kann
Hero of the Big Snows, A	"Rin-Tin-Tin"	Warner
Hero on Horseback, A	Hoot Gibson	Universal
Hidden Loot	Jack Hoxie	Universal	4375 feet	Oct. 31
High Society	Tom Mix	Fox
Highbinders, The	Special Cast	Assoc. Exhib.	6 reels	May 1
Hills of Kentucky	Rin-Tin-Tin	Warner Bros.
His Dog	Rod La Roque	Prod. Dist. Corp.
His New York Wife		Famous Attractions
His Woman	Special Cast	Whitman Bennett	7 reels
Holy Terror, A		Fox
Home, Sweet Home	Special Cast	Assoc. Exhib
Horses and Women		Famous Attractions
Hounds of Spring		First National
Human Mill, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Hurricane, The	Special Cast	Truart (S. R.)
Hurry Up Man, The	Dick Talmadge	Universal.
Husband Hunters		Tiffany
I Can Do It	Special Cast	M-G-M
Ice Flood, The	O. Harlan-V. Dana.	Universal
I'll Tell the World	Olmstead-Arthur	M-G-M
Imposter, The	Evelyn Brent	F. B. O
In His Arms	Special Cast	M-G-M
In the First Degree		Ginsberg-Kann
Into Her Kingdom	Corinne Griffith	First National
Irish Hearts	Dolores Costello	Warner Bros.
Is Zat So ?	Special Cast	Fox
Jade Cup, The	Evelyn Brent	F. B. O.
Jail Birds, Inc.		First National
Jason	Special Cast	M-G-M
Jewels of Desire	Priscilla Dean	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Jim, The Conqueror	W. Boyd-E. Fair	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Johnny Get Your Hair Cut	Jackie Coogan	M-G-M
Justice of the Far North		C: B. C. (S. R.)	5500 feet
Keep Going	Earl Douglas	Sierra Pictures
Kick-Off, The	George Walsh	Excellent Pictures

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Kid Boots	Eddie Cantor	Paramount
Kid Gloves	Johnny Hines	First National
La Boheme	Gish-Gilbert	M-G-M	8781 feet	Mar. 13
Ladies Must Have	Rod La Roque	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Laddie	J. Bowers-B. Flowers	F. B. O.
Lady Be Good		First National
Lady of the Harem, The	Special Cast	Paramount
Lady of Leisure	Special Cast	M-G-M
Last Frontier, The		Prod. Dist. Corp
Last Chance, The	Bill Patton	Chesterfield (S.R.)
Laurels	Mae Murray	M-G-M
Lawless Valley	Bill Cody	Assoc. Exhib
Les Miserables		Universal
Lew Tyler's Wife		Famous Attractions
Life of a Woman		Truart (S. R.)	6500 feet
Lightnin'		Tiffany (S. R.)	6500 feet
Lily, The	Bell Bennett	Fox
Little Adventuress, The	Vera Reynolds	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Little Journey, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Little Journeys
Little Firebrand, The	Edith Thornton	Arrow Pictures	5007 feet	Dec. 12
Lone Wolf Returns, The	Bert Lytell	Columbia
Look Who's Here	Dick Talmadge	Universal
Lord Hokum	E. E. Horton	Assoc. Exhib.
Lord's Referee, The		Fox
Love Me and the World Is Mine	Philbin-Kerry	Universal
Love 'Em and Leave 'Em	Esther Ralston	Paramount
Love Thief, The	Norman Kerry	Universal
Love—the Magician		Paramount
Love Thrill, The	Special Cast	Universal
Love's Blindness	Starke-Moreno	M-G-M
Lovey Mary	Bessie Love	M-G-M
Loyalties	Special Cast	Fox
Lunatic at Large, The	Leon Errol	First National
Lure of the West	Eileen Sedgwick	Chesterfield (S. R.)
Lying Truth, The	Milton Sills	First National
Magic Garden, The		F. B. O.
Magician, The	A. Terry-P. Waegner	M-G-M
Man and the Moment		M-G-M
Man Who Laughs, The		Universal
Man With a Thousand Faces	Special Cast	M-G-M
Mantrap	Bar-Marmont	Paramount
Mare Nostrum	Special Cast	M-G-Ingram	11000 feet	Feb. 27
Married Alive	Livingston-M.Moore	Fox
Married Cheats		Fox
Marrying Money		Truart (S. R.)	5800 feet
Mary of Vassar	J. Gilbert-G. Garbo	M-G-M
Masked Woman, The	Anna Q. Nilssohn	First National
Masquerade Bandit, The	Tom Tyler	F. B. O.
Meet the Prince	Jos. Schildkraut	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Meet the Wife		Columbia
Memories	Ramon Novarro	M-G-M
Men of the Night		Ginsberg-Kann
Men of the Night	Milton Sills	First National
Men of Steel	Milton Sills	First National
Message to Garcia, A	Special Cast	M-G-M
Midnight Flames		Columbia Pict. (S. R.)
Michael Strageff	Ivan Mosjoukine	Universal
Midnight Lovers		First National
Midnight Special		Truart (S. R.)
Midnight Sun, The	Special Cast	Universal
Mike Donovan of Ireland		First National
Mile a Minute Man	Wm. Fairbanks	Lumas (S. R.)
Millionaire Policemen	Special Cast	Ginsberg Dist. (S. R.)
Millionaires	L. Fazenda-W. Louis	Warner Bros.
Million Dollar Doll		Assoc. Exhib
Mismates	Doris Kenyon	First National
Miss 318	Special Cast	M-G-M
Money Talks	Moore-Windsor	M-G-M
Money to Burn		Lumas (S.R.)
Monte Carlo	Cody-Olmsted	M-G-M	6129 feet	Apr. 10
More Pay-Less Work	Mary Brian
Morganson's Finish	Special Cast	Tiffany (S. R.)	6500 feet
Mr. Battling Butler	Buster Keaton	M-G-M
Music Master, The		Fox
My Official Wife	Irene Rich	Warner Bros.
Mysterious Island	Special Cast	M-G-M
Mystery Club, The	Special Cast	Universal
Mystery Lady, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
My Wife's Friend		First National
Naughty But Nice	Colleen Moore	First National
Naughty Cinderella	Pola Negri	Paramount
Naughty Marietta	Marion Davies	M-G-M
Nell Gwyn	Dorothy Gish	Paramount	9 reels	Feb. 6
Nervous Wreck, The	Special Cast	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Night Bride, The	Marie Prevost	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Night Watch, The	Special Cast	Truart (S. R.)
Nobody's Widow	Leatrice Joy	Prod. Dist. Corp.
No Control	P. Haver-H. Ford	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Nocturne	Special Cast	M-G-M
North of Nome	Special Cast	Arrow	5491 feet
Oh! Baby	Special Cast	Universal
Old Heidelberg	Ramon Novarro	M-G-M
Old Ironsides	Special Cast	Paramount
Old Soak, The	Jean Hersholt	Universal
One Hour of Love		Tiffany
One Increasing Purpose		Fox
Only Way, The	Special Cast	United Artists	6850 feet	May 1
Open Book	Special Cast	M-G-M
Ordeal, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Out of the Ruins		First National
Out of the Storm	Logan-Burns	Tiffany	6500 feet	May 1
Padlocked	Special Cast	Paramount
Pals First	Special Cast	First National
Paradise	M. Sills-B. Bronson	First National
Pals In Paradise	Special Cast	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Paris	Chas. Ray-E. Boardman	M-G-M
Passionate Quest, The	M. MacAvoy-W. Louis	Warner Bros.
Peacoc,s of Paris	B. Lyon-D. Mackaill	First National
Pelican, The	Alma Rubens	Fox
Pelican, The		Fox
Perch of the Devil	P. O'Malley-M. Busch	Universal
Pigs	Janet Gaynor	Fox
Plumes	Special Cast	M-G-M
Poker Faces	E. Horton-L. La Plante	Universal
Polly of the Circus	Norma Shearer	M-G-M
Polly Preferred	Marion Preferred	M-G-M
Poor Girl's Romance, A	Short-Hale	Film Book. Offices
Prairie King, The	Hoot Gibson	Universal
Prince of Pilsen	Special Cast	Prod. Dist. Corp.	6300 feet	April 24
Prisoners		First National
Prisoners of the Storm	House Peters	Universal
Private Izzy Murphy	George Jessel	Warner Bros
Prowlers of the Night	Fred Humes	Universal

Feature	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Puppets	Milton Sills	First National
Puppets	Mae Murray	M-G-M
Purple and Fine Linen	L. Stone-A. Nilssohn	First National
Quality Street		Metro-Goldwyn
Quarterback, The	Richard Dix	Paramount
Raging Seas		Tiffany
Rawhide	Buffalo Bill, Jr.	Assoc. Exhib.
Red Clay	William Desmond	Universal
Red Mill, The	Marion Davies	M-G-M
Red Signals		Ginsberg-Kann
Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary, The	Special Cast	Prod. Dist. Corp.
Remember		Columbia Pictures
Return of Peter Grimm		Fox
Return of a Soldier	Special Cast	M-G-M
Revillon	Blue-Miller	Warner Bros
Riders of the Wind		First National
Riding Honor	Art Accord	Universal
Ridin' Like Fury	Hoot Gibson	Universal
Rise and Fall of Jesse James		J. S. Woody
Risky Business	Vera Reynolds	P. D. C.
Road to Mandalay, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Roaring Crowd, The		F. B. O
Rogue's Riches	Special Cast	Astor Dist. (S. R.)
Romance	Ramon Novarro	M-G-M
Romance a la Carte	Richard Dix	Paramount
Romance of a Million Dollars		Famous Attractions
Romeo and Juliet	M. Philbin-A. Mattoni	Universal
Ropin' Venus, The	Josie Sedgwick	Universal
Rough Riders, The		Paramount
Rubber Tires		Prod. Dist. Corp.
Runaway Express, The	Special Cast	Universal
Rust	Special Cast	M-G-M
Sailors' Wives		First National
Salvage		Truart (S. R.)	5800 feet
Satan Town	Harry Carey	Pathe
Savage, The		First National
Savage in Silks, A	Laura La Plante	Universal
Say It Again	Richard Dix	Paramount
Scarlet Letter, The	Lillian Gish	M-G-M
Sea Wolf, The	Ralph Ince	Prod. Dist. Corp	7500 feet	Dec. 19
Self Defense	Aileen Percy	Arrow Film Corp
Senor Daredevil	Ken Maynard	First National
Separate Rooms	Special Cast	Fox
September Love		First National
Seventh Heaven	Special Cast	Fox
Seward's Folly	Special Cast	M-G-M
Shadow Lane		M-G-M
Shadow of the Mosque	Stewart Rome	Ufa	5750 feet	Dec.
Sheik in Florida, The	Ben Lyon	First National
Shenendoah		Famous Attractions
Shameful Behaviour		Famous Attractions
She's My Baby		Ginsberg-Kann
Shipwrecked	Owen-Schildkraut	Prod. Dist. Corp
Shock Absorber, The		First National
Shopworn		Famous Attraction.
Show Business	Mae Murray	M-G-M
Show Off, The	Ford Sterling	Paramount
Show World, The	B. Dove-F. Bushman	Universal
Silence	H. B. Warner	Prod. Dist. Corp
Silent Power, The	Ralph Lewis	Lumas (S.R.)
Silent Rider, The	Hoot Gibson	Universal
Silk	Goudel-Schildkraut
Silken Lady, The	Hulette-Hamilton	Arrow
Silk Hat Cowboy, The	Tom Mix	Fox
Silky Anne	Constance Talmadge	First National
Silver Fingers	George Larkin	Elvin Film	5000 feet	May 1
Silver Lanterns	Special Cast	Arrow
Silver Treasure, The	Special Cast	Fox
Smith of Cornell	George Walsh	Chadwick
Sin Cargo		Tiffany
Sinners of Paradise		First National
Snowbound		Tiffany
So Is Your Old Man	W. C. Fields	M-G-M
Son of the Sheik, The	Rudolph Valentino	United Artists
Song of Steel		Tiffany
Sorrows of Satan	Adolphe Menjou	Paramount
Spangles	P. O'Malley-M. Nixon	Universal
Sparrows	Mary Pickford	United Artists
Speed Boy, The	Dick Talmadge	Universal
Speeding Venus, The	Priscilla Dean	P. D. C
Sporting Lover, The	Conway Tearle	First National
Squared Ring, The		Tiffano
Squads Right		Tiffany
Steeplechase, The		Tiffany
Story of Mother Machree		Fox
Studies in Wives		Famous Attractions
Stella Dallas	Special Cast	United Artists
Strange Bedfellows		M-G-M
Subway Sadie	MacKaill-Mulhall	First National
Sunny Side Up	Vera Reynolds	P. D. C.
Sweet Rosie O'Grady		Columbia Pict
Take It From Me	Reginald Denny	Universal
Tale of a Vanishing People		Tiffany (S. R.)	6500 feet
Tardy Tolliver	Hale-King	Assoc. Exhib
Tavern Knight, The	John Barrymore	Warner Bros
Taxi, Taxi	Special Cast	Universal
Tell It to the Marines	Lon Chaney	M-G-M
Tempest, The		Tiffany
Temptress, The	Garbo-Moreno	M-G-M
Ten to Midnight		Prod. Dist. Corp
Texas Streak, The	Hoot Gibson	Universal
That Old Gang of Mine	Maclyn Arbuckle	Dependable Films	4900 feet	Jan. 9
There You Are	Nagel-Roberts	M-G-M
Three Bad Men	Special Cast	Fox
Three Twins, The		M-G-M
Three Wax Men, The	Emil Jannings	E. M. Fadman, Inc.
Thumbs Down	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
Tiger, The		Tiffany
Thundering Speed	Eileen Sedgwick	Chesterfield	5 reels
Tin Gods	Thomas Meighan	Paramount
Tin Hats		M-G-M
Toilers of the Sea	Special Cast	M-G-M
Tongues of Scandal		Ginsberg-Kann
Tongo	Special Cast	M-G-M
Too Many Women	Norman Kerry	Universal
Top of the World, The		Tiffany
Totem Pole Beggar, The	Special Cast	Asso. Exhibit
Trailing Shadows	Edmond Lowe	Fox Film
Trail of '98	K.Dane-P. Starke	M-G-M
Trapped	Elinor Fair	Sierra Pictures	5000 feet
Travis Coup, The		Tiffany (S. R.)	6500 feet
Trip to Chinatown, A	Special Cast	Fox
Turkish Delights		Prod. Dist. Corp.
Twinkletoes	Colleen Moore	First National
Twelve Miles Out	John Gilbert	M-G-M
Two Gun-Man, The	Fred Thomson	F. B. O.

Title	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Uncle Tom's Cabin	Special Cast	Universal
Unknown Soldier, The		P. D. C
Understanding Heart, The	John Gilbert	M-G-M
Unknown Cavalier, The		First National
Unknown Treasures		Ginsberg-Kann
Up and at 'Em	Dick Talmadge	Universal
Up in Mabel's Room	Marie Prevost	Prod. Dist. Corp
Upstage	Norma Shearer	M-G-M
Valley of Bravery, The	Bob Custer	F. B. O.
Vanity	Leatrice Joy	Prod. Dist. Corp
Vengeance of Durand, The	Irene Rich	Warner Bros
Volcano, The	Bebe Daniels	Paramount
Volga Boatman, The	Elinor Fair	Prod. Dist. Corp	10050 feet	May 1
Waltz Dream, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Waning Sex, The	Norma Shearer	M-G-M
Wanted—A Coward	Special Cast	Ginsberg-Kann
Way of an Eagle, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Way Things Happen	Madge Bellamy	Fox
Wedding March, The		Paramount
Wedlock	Lowe-Perry-Livingston	Fox
Western Society	Tom Mix	Fox
West of Broadway	Priscilla Dean	Prod. Dist. Corp.
What Every Girl Should Know	Patsy Ruth Miller	Warner Bros.
What Happened to Father	Patsy Ruth Miller	Warner Bros.
What Price Glory?	Special Cast	Fox
What Will People Say?		M-G-M
When We Were Twenty-One	Special Cast	M-G-M

Title	Star	Distributed by	Length	Reviewed
Whispering Canyon	J. Novak-R. Ellis	Ginsberg Dist. Corp. (S. R.)
Whispering Smith	Special Cast	P. D. C.	6187 feet	April 10
White Chief, The	Monte Blue	Warner Bros
White Gold	Jetta Gaudal	Prod. Dist. Corp.
White Heat	Special Cast	M-G-M
Whole Town's Talking, The	Ed. Horton	Universal
Whispering Wires	Specisl Cast	Fox
Why Girls Go Back Home	Miller-Brook	Warner Bros.	6 reels	May 1
Wife, The	Special Cast	M-G-M
Wilderness Woman, The	A. Pringle L. Sherman	First National
Winner, The	Charles Ray	Chadwick (S. R.)
Winning of Barbara Worth	Colman-Banky	United Artists
Wives at Auction	Special Cast	Astor Dist. (S. R.)
Wolf Hunters, The	Special Cast	Rayart
Wolves of the Air		Ginsberg-Kann
Woman's Heart, A		Ginsberg-Kann
Woman Who Did Not Care		Gotham (S. R.)
Women and Wives		M-G-M
Women Have Diamonds		M-G-M
World's Illusion, The		M-G-M
Worst Woman, The		Famous Attractions
Yankee Clipper, The	W. Boyd-E. Fair	Prod. Dist. Corp
Yellow Back, The	Fred Humes	Universal
Yes Man, The	Harry Langdon	First National
Yoke, The	Special Cast	Warner Brothers
Young April	Special Cast	Prod. Dist. Corp
You Too	Special Cast	M-G-M

Newspaper Opinions on New Pictures

"Other Women's Husbands"—Warner's, New York

Tribune—"Other Women's Husbands" is at the Warner Theatre this week. It is a long time since we have been so surprised and delighted! If any one misses "Other Women's Husbands" they deserve to. We take the responsibility of recommending it to husbands, to wives, also to spinsters, bachelors and all others."

Sun—"A generally diverting little adventure into the realms of light comedy—whose ruler in Lubitsch—is "Other Women's Husbands," which follows the trail of Rin-Tin-Tin into Warners' this week. Lubischean marital complications are its sums and substances and the director, Erle Kenton, has followed the German director's method and manner so closely (and so well) that it is a bit embarrassing."

Telegram—"Here, at the New York kennel of Rin-Tin-Tin, at the little edifice where Irene Rich has been wronged so often, one may view the best Lubitschean film in captivity, even though Lubitsch did not make it. Mr. Kenton, its director, in the suave unfolding of humorous situations and in continued subtle flavoring of his thin piece of plotted steak, has achieved a minor master-piece. Had it been made by Lubitsch every fan in town would be standing outside the theatre as barker for the film."

Morning World—"An audience even semi-high hat would have a difficult time keeping a straight face."

Journal—"Other Women's Husbands," at Warner's, is an amusing and lightly sophisticated comedy. Erle Kenton is the megaphone manipulator, and he provides the tale with some delightfully deft touches."

Post—"Other Women's Husbands" is a refreshing piece, easily the best of the new Broadway films of the week."

Evening World — "Saturday afternood at Warner's Theatre proved delightful. "Other Women's Husbands" started well and grew better and better. It is a gay, sparkling, sophisticated comedy of manners without a guffaw but with a hundred laughs and chuckles."

Times—"The characters in this production, known as "Other Men's Wives," have no idle moments, and their actions and expressions during the different episodes always afford agreeable entertainment. Erle Kenton, who directed this subject, demonstrates that he has a natural bent for sophisticated comedies. He has handled this effort so well that it is often reminiscent of Ernest Lubitsch's work."

New York American—"Now all this is in praise of Erle C. Kenton. Maybe he did, and maybe he didn't, wander over to the next set and study his fellow director at work. At any rate, in "Other Women's Husbands" he has turned out a most amusing light comedy, deftly told. That he didn't merely copy Lubitsch is clear. His direction has its own individuality."

"The Midnight Sun"—Universal Colony, New York

World—"Striking and artistic settings . . . fine photography . . . able directorial services of Dimitri Buchowetzki has contributed. Laura LaPlante, the attractive young blonde, is seen in the role of the dancer, and she presented so engaging a characterization . . . might have been pardoned if the impulse to clap herself had risen within her. Raymond Keane manifested . . . not a little promise of a future in leading man roles."

Daily News: "George Siegmann . . . He's reward enough for anybody to go and see any picture. Young Raymond Keane is an admirable screen lover, about whom one can safely predict that he will cause young female hearts to flutter. Miss LaPlante is a charming actress . . . the customers will like it."

Evening Sun: "If some able director but knew what is what could train Keane for stardom. The material is there. The production . . . expensive . . . handsome to look upon . . . the lighting of the scenes of the ballet performing on the stage is quite excellent, as are the grouping and settings. Young Raymond Keane injected electric sparks from a striking personality."

New York Times: "Mr. O'Malley has an engaging personality, and George Siegmann plays his role in a restrained and capable fashion. The part of Kusmin's secretary, Yesky, is efficiently handled by Arthur Hoyt."

Morning Telegraph: "'The Midnight Sun' is a rich production . . . a 'big' production. All has been done on an elaborate and tasteful scale. A splendid production . . . the settings are richly atmospheric."

Herald Tribune: "We found it delightful. As well done as any producer or even critic could wish. Laura LaPlante is not only a very beautiful girl, but she is a clever comedienne as well. We thought she was an ideal choice for the ballet dancer who upset the whole of Russia. And right here we put Pat O'Malley on our list of real actors. The other roles we've seen may have been the real O'Malley, or this Grand Duke person may be he. But certainly they are not in the least alike; and as far as we are concerned, this was the making of O'Malley. Another person we could bear seeing a great deal of is Raymond Keane, the handsome and exceedingly clever young man who plays the hero. The direction by Dimitri Buchowetzki is good . . . go to the Colony and see 'The Midnight Sun.'"

"Skinner's Dress Suit"—Universal, Rivoli, New York

American: "This is just the kind of farce those two (Denny and LaPlante) should make all the time."

Daily Mirror: "Reginald Denny at his best in situations guaranteed to stimulate laughs. A merry comedy."

Daily News: "A funny picture, b'gosh! It's difficult to be critical of a film that keeps one laughing most of the time."

Evening Graphic: "'Skinner's Dress Suit' undoubtedly will give you an entertaining hour and a half."

Evening Journal: "It's a decidedly amusing comedy, with Denny doing his usual breezy acting."

Evening World: "Good comedy from first to last. It emphasizes again the abilities of Reginald Denny as one of our most pleasing farceurs and pantomimists."

The Herald: "It was extremely amusing. Reginald Denny is ingenious and ingratiating. Laura LaPlante is ingenuous and intriguing."

Morning Telegraph: "Reginald Denny is at his best in 'Skinner's Dress Suit.' He has taken advantage of every opportunity. If he had never been known before, his characterizations of Skinner would have made him a favorite. And Laura LaPlante, the featured player of the cast, has never been seen to better advantage. She was delightful."

Telegram: "As bright and bonnie a version of "Skinner's Dress Suit' as ever twitched and fluttered. It moves along at a brisk pace and new gags and quips have been brought to bear with good effect."

Times: "The farcical situations in 'Skinner's Dress Suit' the photoplay at the Rivoli, were greeted yesterday afternoon by many a good hearty round of applause."

William A. Wellman, who replaces Marcel De Sano with B. P. Schulberg and will direct "Lew Tyler's Wives."

BLANCHARD PRESS, INC., N.Y.

Box office value

When the picture is printed on Eastman Positive Film, good photography in the negative means good photography on the screen—the art of director and cinematographer is saved for your patrons to enjoy.

And photographic quality has real box office value—the house expects it.

Prints on Eastman have the black-lettered identification "Eastman" and "Kodak" in the transparent margin. Look for it.

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Sam E. Rork, Inc., presents "Old Loves And New." Adapted by and produced under The personal supervision of Miss Marion Fairfax from E. M. Hull's great romance "The Desert Healer." The photography by Henry Cronjager. The art direction by Jack Okey. Assistant director, Ben Silvey. Film cutter, Patricia Rooney. The cast Includes Lewis Stone, Barbara Bedford, Walter Pidgeon, Katherine MacDonald, Tully Marshall, Arthur Rankin, Ann Rork. All directed by Maurice Tourneur. A Marion Fairfax Production. A First National Picture. Rothacker Prints and Service.

Lewis Stone
in
"Old Loves and New"

Rothacker
FILM MFG. CO. CHICAGO, U.S.A.

Look Better—
Wear Longer!

Founded 1910
by
Watterson R. Rothacker

May 22, 1926

Motion Picture News

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

"THANK GOD

I DIDN'T SIGN FOR ANY OTHER PRODUCT!"

THAT'S what exhibitors
ARE telling us
AND you'll agree when you see

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER'S PARADE OF HITS FOR '26-'27

Entered as second class matter April 22, 1926, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., under act of March 3, 1879

Vol. XXXIII No. 21

Published Weekly—$2.00 a year

PRICE, 20 CENTS

Los Angeles — New York — [illegible]

The NEW "Style 49" Pit Pipe Organ

RITE IMMEDIATELY OR OUR NEW
R.M.O.C. PURCHASE PLAN
Designed to give the Exhibitor the advantage of Convenient
Terms of Purchase without the usual High Financing Costs.

Console of Style 49

A Permanent
Music Feature at a
MINIMUM COST

Robert Morton Organ Co.

Makers of Pipe Organs Exclusively.

New York
1560 Broadway

Chicago
845 So. Wabash

Los Angeles
1913 So. Vermont St.

San Francisco
168 Golden Gate Ave.

GENUINE DEAGAN PERCUSSIONS USED

MAIL TO NEAREST ADDRESS FOR NEW SELLING PLAN

New York ~ 1560 Broadw'y
Chicago ~ 845 So. Wabash
San Francisco ~ 168 Golden Gate
Los Angeles ~ 1914 So. Vermont

Theatre ....

Seating Capacity ....

City and State ....

N

HAPPIEST BOX-OFFICE RETURNS TO YOU

Our Birthday – Your Celebration

OUR SEVENTH YEAR. A year of notable achievements. A year of such marked progress it brings United Artists Corporation into its Eighth with a greater wealth of the screen's most popular stars, a greater number of attractions—SIXTEEN—climax in quality, leaders in box-office values.

With such contributing artists and producers as: Mary Pickford, Gloria Swanson, Charlie Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks, Rudolph Valentino, John Barrymore, Buster Keaton, Joseph M. Schenck Samuel Goldwyn, Morris Gest and others, United Artists Corporation will continue to fulfill its mission of delivering to you, the finest product, picture for picture, this industry offers.

For this season—THE HAPPIEST BOX-OFFICE RETURNS TO YOU—with the Industry's OUTSTANDING PRODUCTIONS—THE DOMINANT 16.

And the sales policy upon which this organization was founded, seven years ago, will still be the rule and your most beneficial guide.

"Each picture sold individually—on its own merits"

PERSONALITIES . . .	None Bigger!
PICTURES . . .	None Greater!
POLICY . . .	None Fairer!

UNITED ARTISTS CORPORATION

Mary Pickford
Douglas Fairbanks
Joseph M. Schenck,
Chairman Board of Directors

Charles Chaplin
D. W. Griffith
Hiram Abrams,
President

G

Mary Pickford
in
"Sparrows"
In addition to "Sparrows" Miss Pickford will make one other for release next season
Released by

Gloria Swanson

in

"Personality"

"Personality" is the first of two productions
Miss Swanson will make for next season

Released by
UNITED ARTISTS CORPORATION

CHARLIE CHAPLIN

IN

"THE CIRCUS"

Released by
UNITED ARTISTS CORPORATION

DO
F

UGLAS
AIRBANKS

in

"The BLACK PIRATE"

Direct from its capacity run at $^{$}2^{00}$ top at the Selwyn Theatre. N.Y.

Photography in Technicolor

Released by
NITED ARTISTS CORPORATIO

JOHN W. CONSIDINE JR. presents

RUDOLPH

udolph Valentino's
econd big picture
for next season
following "Son of he Sheik" will be nnounced later

VALENTINO
in
"Son of the Sheik"
with VILMA BANKY
from the novel by E. M. HULL
Adapted to the screen by Frances Marion
A GEORGE FITZMAURICE Production
Released by

During the coming season Mr. Barrymore will make one other picture in addition to The Vagabond Lover"

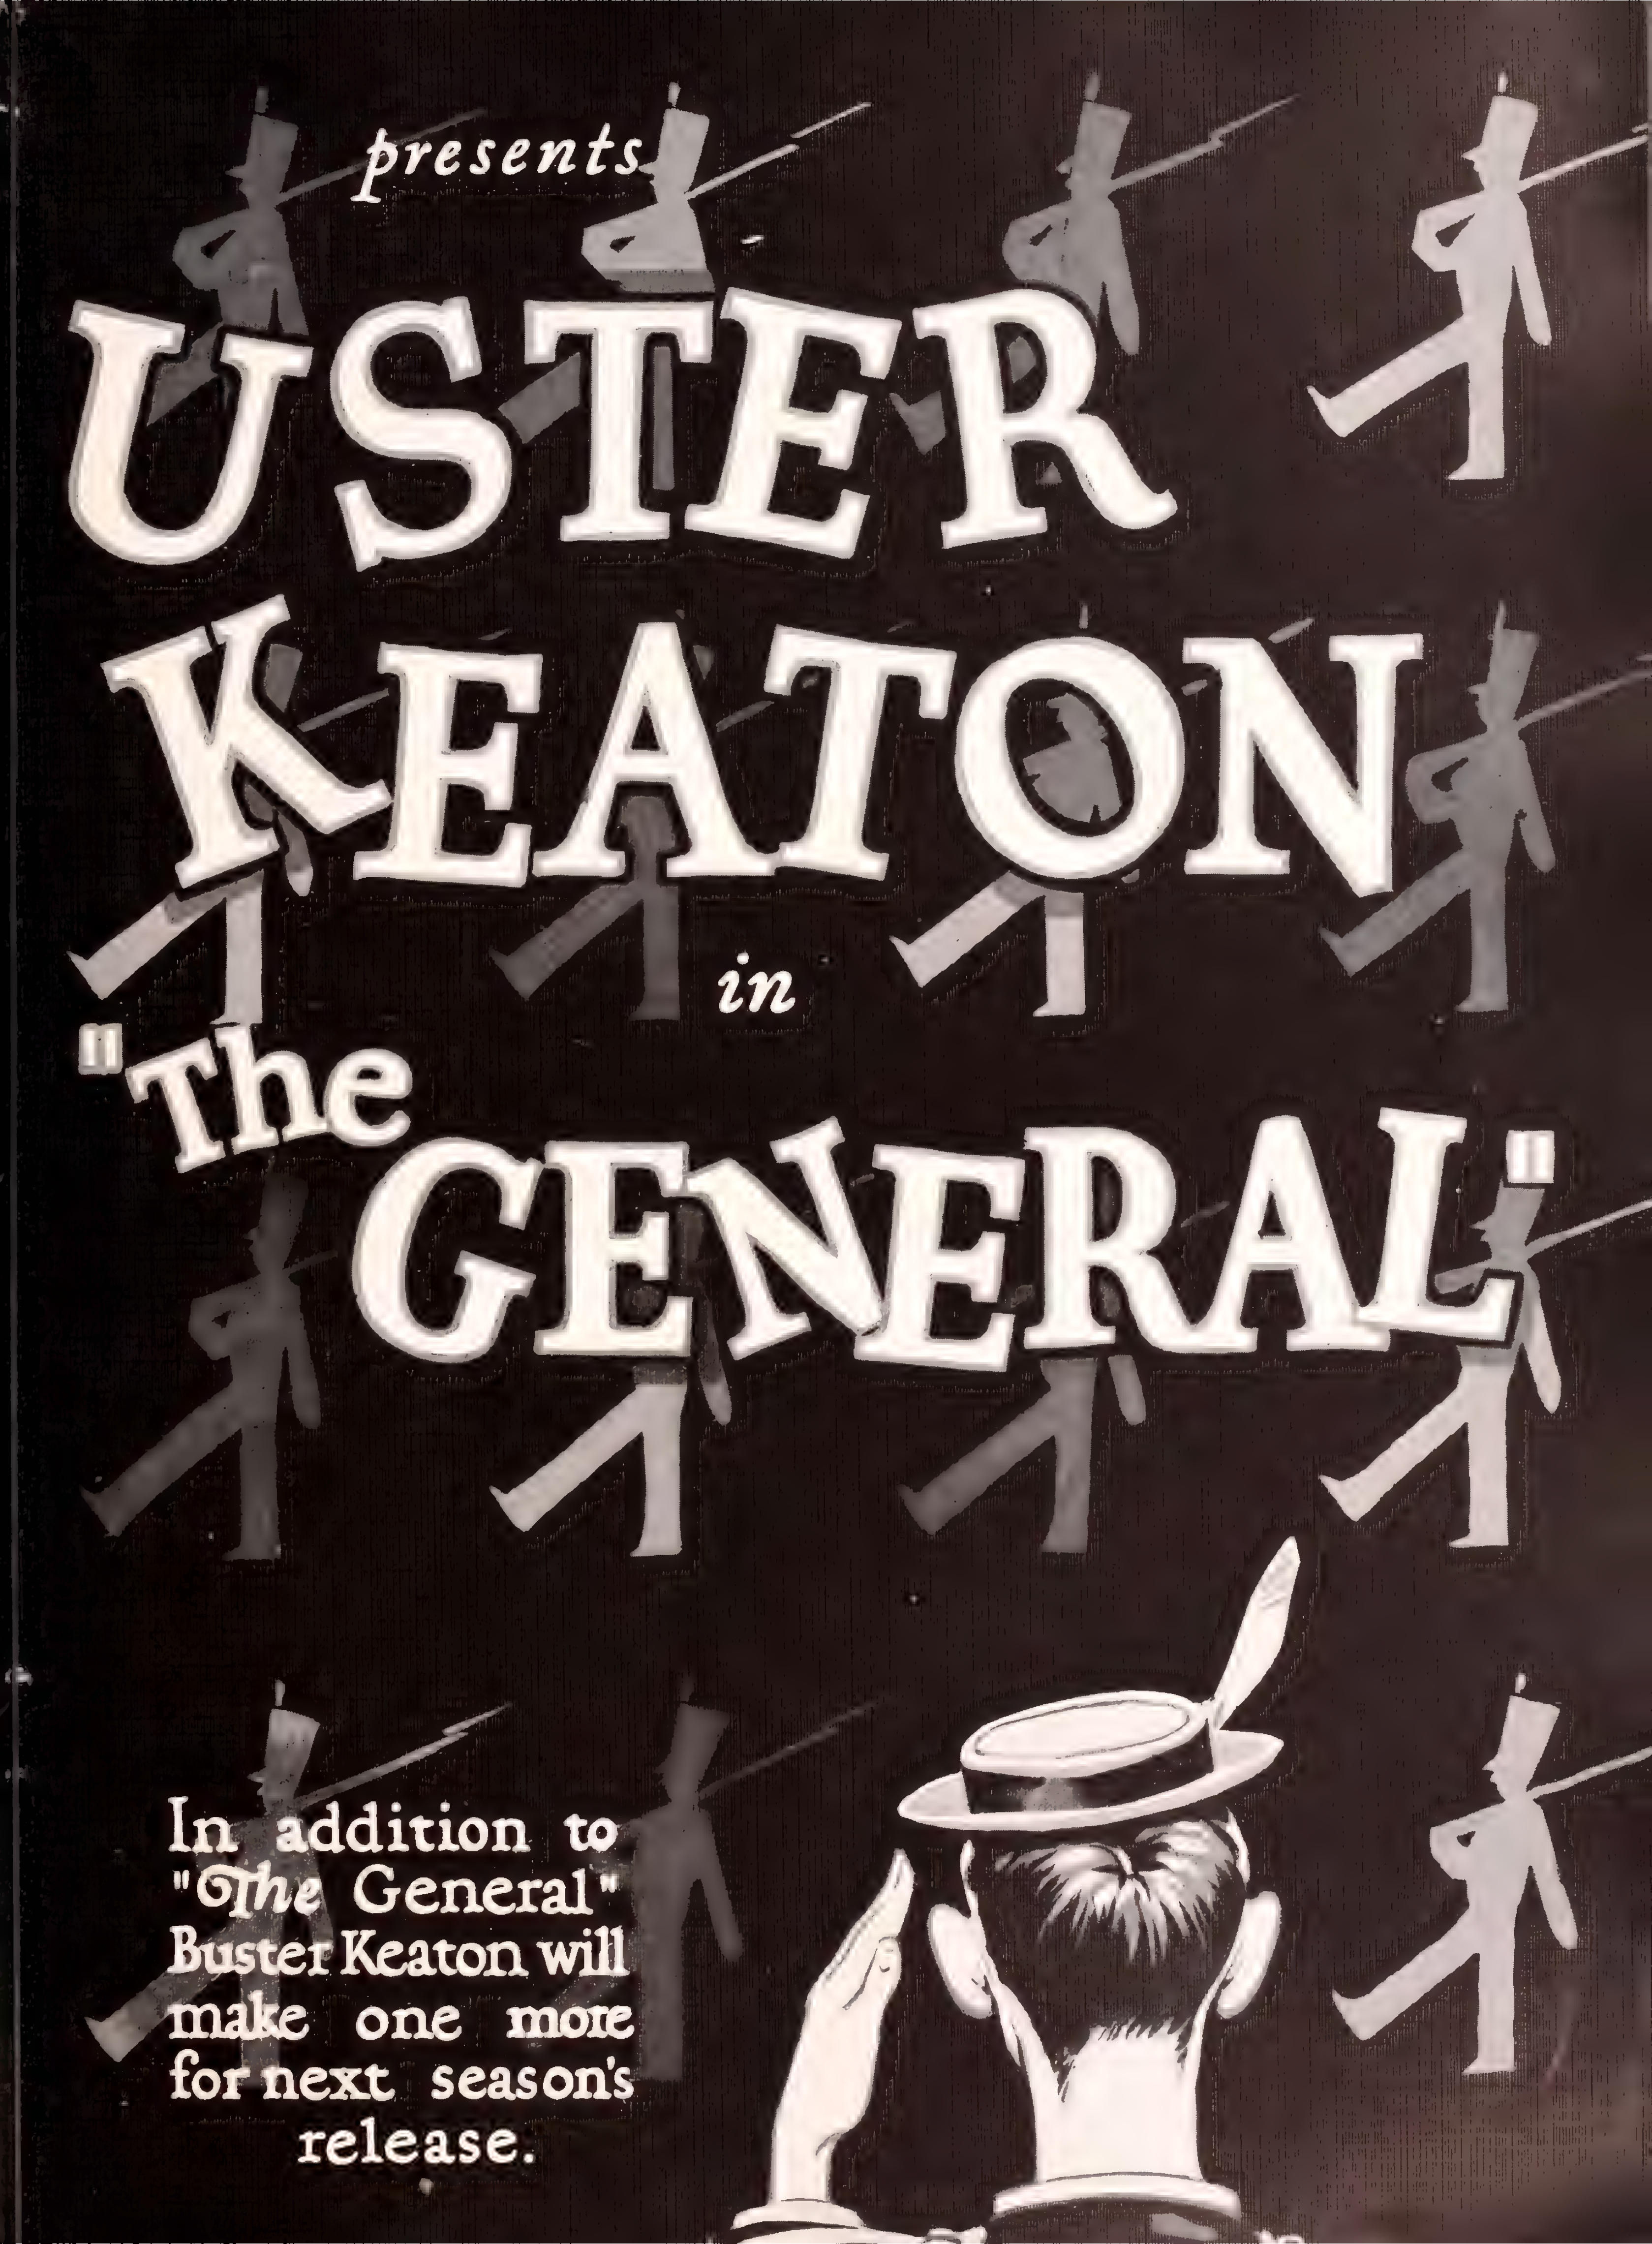
John Barrymore

in

"The VAGABOND LOVER"

Released by
UNITED ARTISTS CORPORATION

Released by
UNITED ARTISTS CORPORATION



In addition to "The General" Buster Keaton will make one more for next season's release.

Samuel Goldwyn presents The

"STELLA

Direct from its sensational 7 months run on Broadway at advanced prices

with Ronald Colman
Belle Bennett
Alice Joyce

HENRY KING production

DALLAS”

From the famous novel
by
Olive Higgins Prout
Adapted for the scre
by
Frances Marion

Jean Hersholt
Lois Moran
Douglas Fairbanks Jr.

Released by
UNITED ARTISTS CORPORATIO

The greatest "Best-Seller" ever published. More than 2,800,000 copies sold

Samuel Goldwyn
presents

The HENRY KING Productio

"The Winning of Barbara Worth

Adapted by FRANCES MARION
from the famous novel by HAROLD BELL WRIGHT

with

RONALD COLMAN
and
VILMA BANKY

Released by
UNITED ARTISTS CORPORATION

Samuel Goldwyn

Presents

The GEORGE FITZMAURICE Production

"BEAUTY and the BEAST"

Adapted by FRANCES MARION
from the serial story and novel
by KATHLEEN NORRIS

with RONALD COLMAN
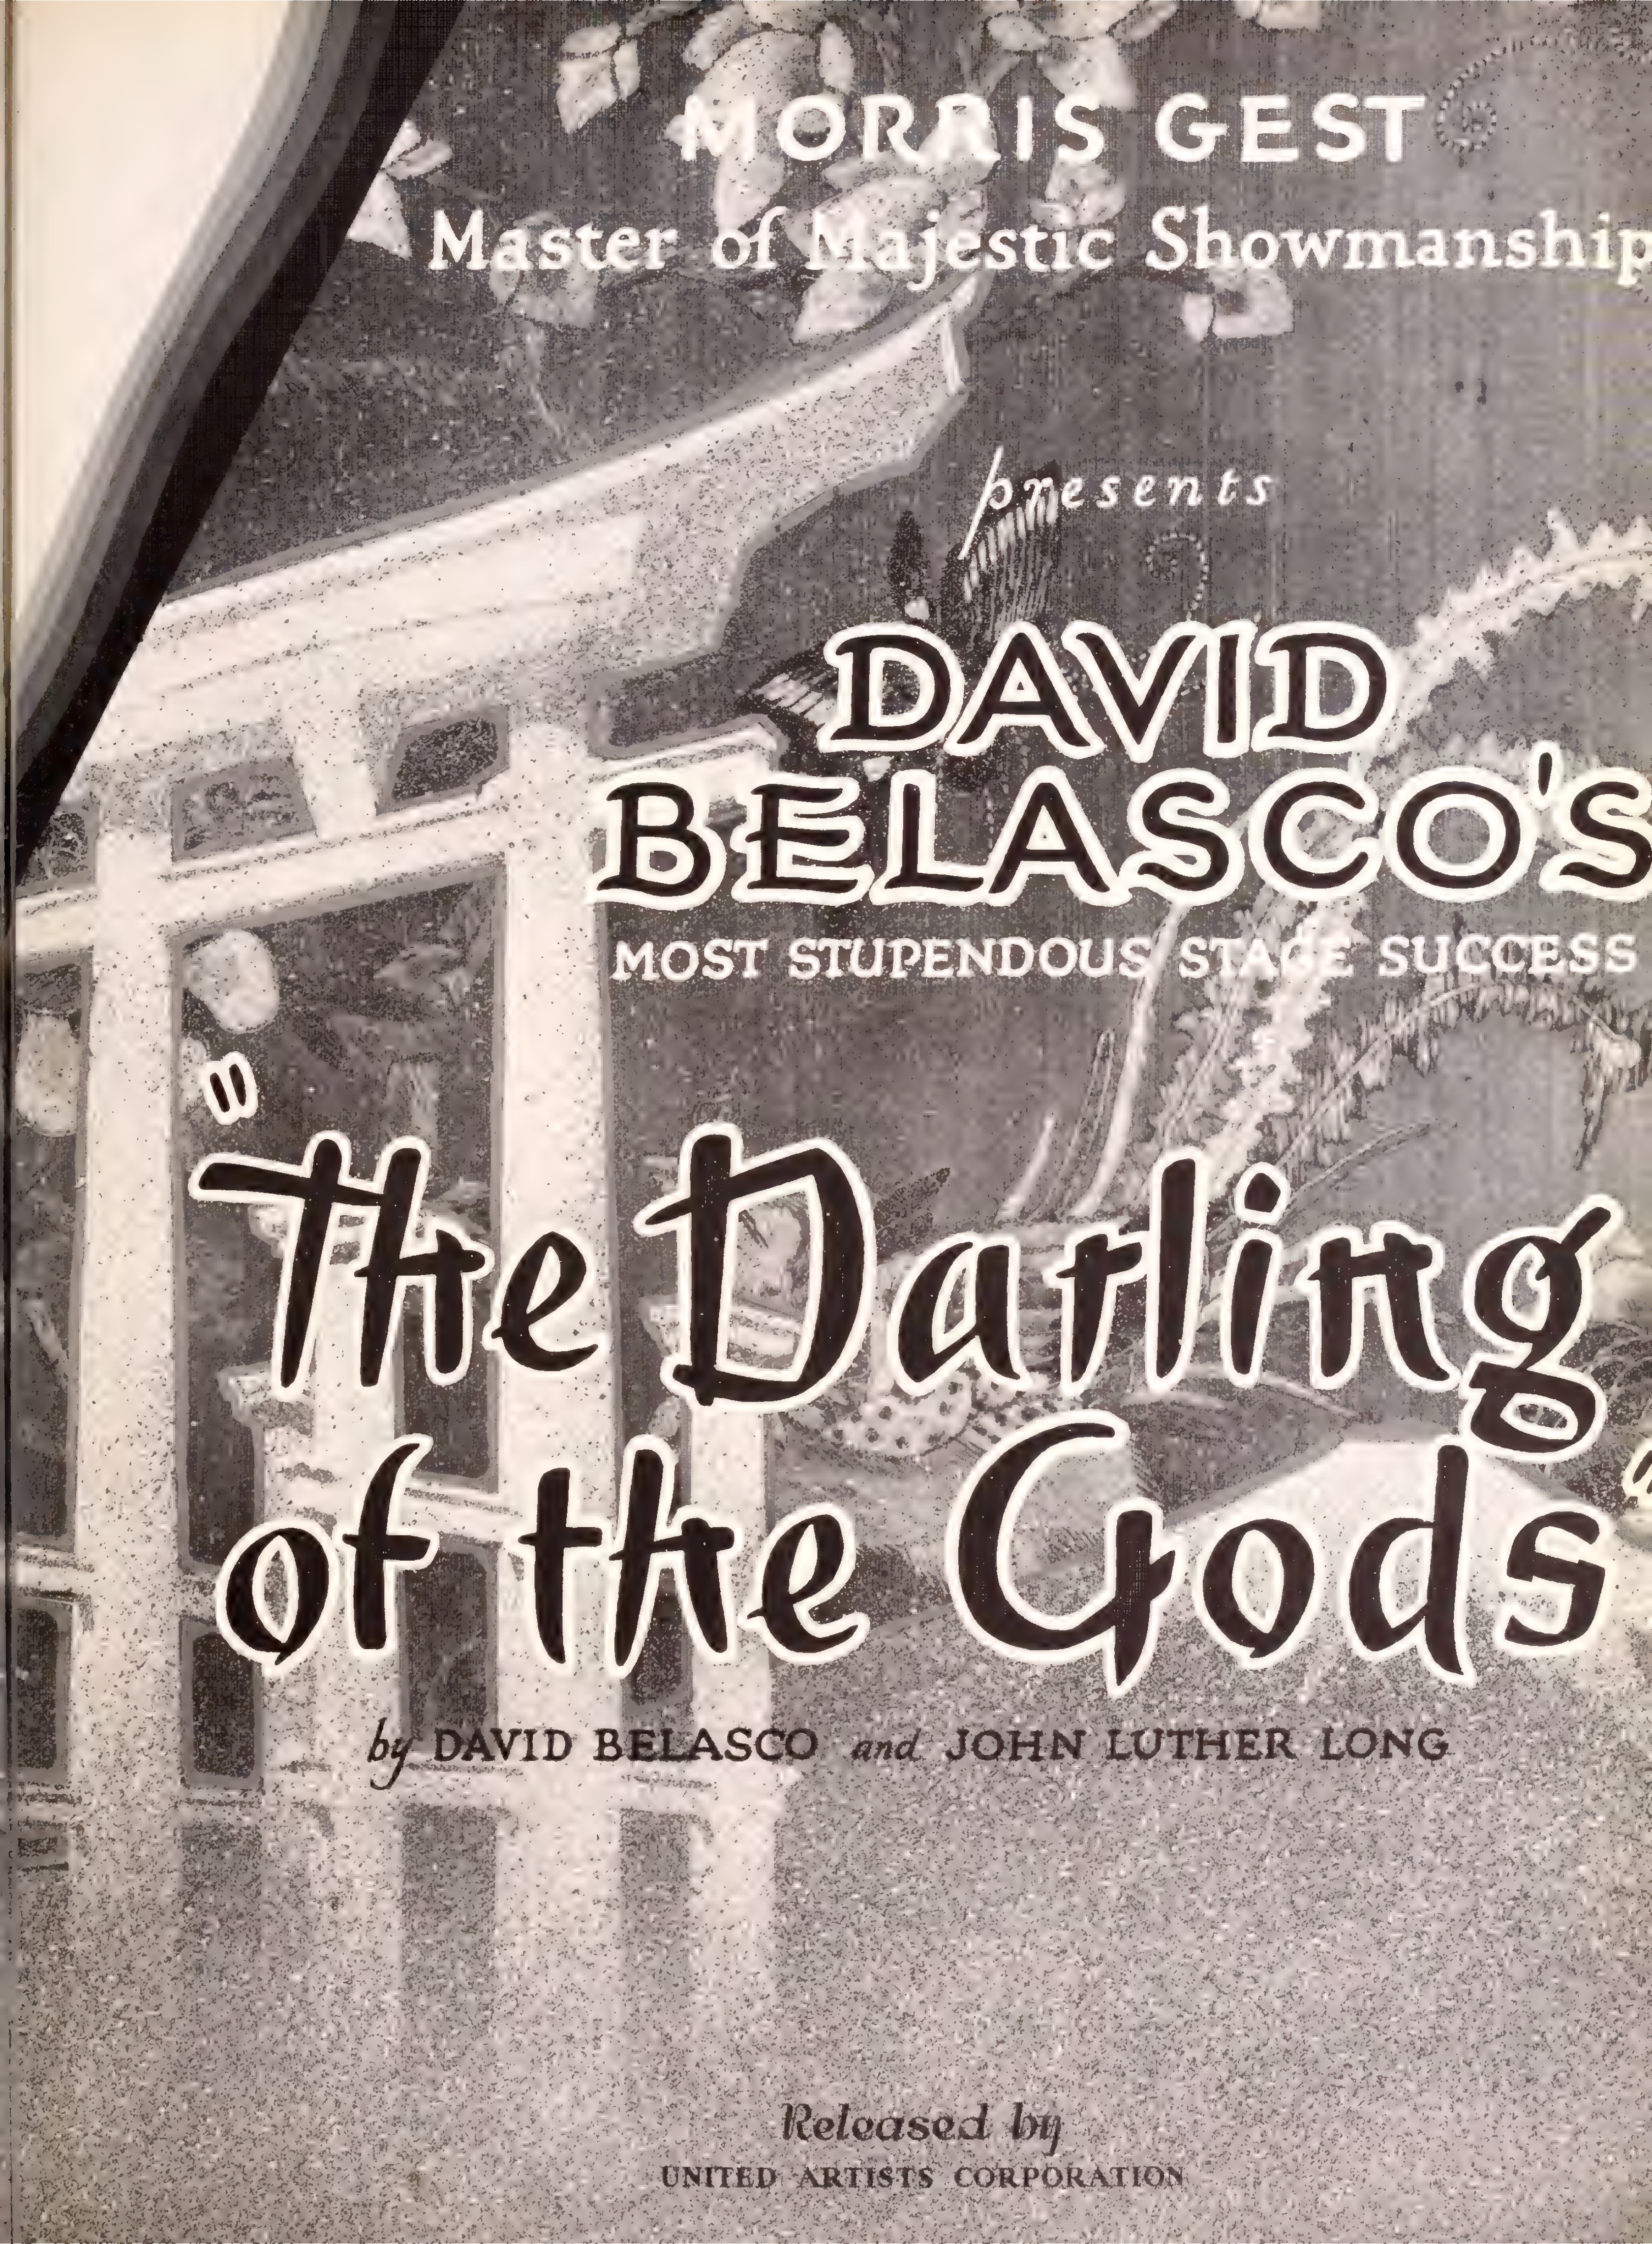
and
VILMA BANKY

Released by
UNITED ARTISTS CORPORATION

MORRIS GEST

SPECTACLES



MORRIS GEST
Master of Majestic Showmanship

presents

DAVID BELASCO'S

MOST STUPENDOUS STAGE SUCCESS

"The Darling of the Gods"

by DAVID BELASCO and JOHN LUTHER LONG

Released by
UNITED ARTISTS CORPORATION

The Dominant 16 of the Season

2 from
MARY PICKFORD
her first
"Sparrows"

2 from
GLORIA SWANSON
her first
"Personality"

1 from
CHARLIE CHAPLIN
"The Circus"

1 from
DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS
"The Black Pirate"

2 from
RUDOLPH VALENTINO
his first
"Son of the Sheik"

2 from
JOHN BARRYMORE
his first
"The Vagabond Lover"

2 from
BUSTER KEATON
his first
"The General"

3 from
Samuel Goldwyn
HENRY KING Production
"Stella Dallas"
also the
HENRY KING Production
"The Winning of Barbara Worth"
and the
GEORGE FITZMAURICE
Production
"Beauty and the Beast"

1 from
MORRIS GEST
David Belasco's
"The Darling of the Gods"

Sold Individually on Merit

UNITED ARTISTS CORPORATION

Mary Pickford
Douglas Fairbanks
Joseph M. Schenck,
Chairman Board of Directors

Charles Chaplin
D. W. Griffith
Hiram Abrams,
President

Motion Picture News

Volume XXXIII NEW YORK CITY, MAY 15, 1926 No. 20

Prestige

I WAS TOLD, last week, of the probable merger of two well-known food products. The two businesses will be purchased outright—for a princely sum—and operated by one company.

The two products were selected for their prestige with the public. The valuable item was goodwill—trade-mark value; and the goodwill, as we well know it must have been, was importantly acquired by advertising.

What we may not take into account is the fact that the advertising—a heavy amount of it—has been steadily sustained over a considerable period of years.

Sustained Advertising!

In the picture business we talk a good deal about advertising; its importance is freely admitted. But you hear little about sustained advertising.

Mostly—we splurge in advertising.

And while splurges may gain their objectives of the moment—they don't build goodwill over the years.

* * *

Prestige counts enormously in the picture business—because the value of a picture is so very much what you make the other fellow believe it is.

Take producer prestige.

The exhibitor is greatly swayed, whether he will admit it or not—in fact we all are—by the prestige of a firm name. Way down in his boots he feels that he is secure for the season and for his clientele if he has a good measure of such and such a program.

Now, what makes the prestige?

Quality, of course. But certainly not predominating quality right along, for we all know that year by year it is first one program and then another that leads at the box-office.

So it must be a measure of sustained quality.

And the other measure—the other thing that builds bit by bit this valuable item called prestige—is sustained advertising.

No question about it—gentlemen. It's a highly important, highly practical matter—worth your very best thought. (You won't have to preach this idea to the two men who are going to sell their food products for staggering sums.)

* * *

We need never take the sparkle out of picture advertising. We can't afford to. We need not eliminate the splurges; they serve their purpose. But what we have got to consider sooner or later, is the steady, continuous building up of trade-marks. It pays—if it's done sensibly, and pays big.

W A Johnston

Paramount Pictures

FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORP.
ADOLPH ZUKOR—PRESIDENT
NEW YORK CITY

No Summer worries for Paramount Exhibitors!

WITH "BEHIND THE FRONT" . . . and "FOR HEAVEN'S SAKE" . . . and "THE BLIND GODDESS" . . . and "DANCING MOTHERS". . . and "THAT'S MY BABY" . . . and "THE VANISHING AMERICAN" and "LET'S GET MARRIED" . . . to name only a few . . . out there getting the BIG DOUGH . . .

And with "THE RAINMAKER" . . . and RAYMOND GRIFFITH in "WET PAINT" . . . (another "BEHIND THE FRONT" as sure as fate) . . . and W. C. FIELDS in "IT'S THE OLD ARMY GAME" . . . and RICHARD DIX in "SAY IT AGAIN" . . . and ZANE GREY'S "BORN TO THE WEST" . . . to name only a few . . . coming between now and the 15TH BIRTHDAY GROUP . . .

Paramount exhibitors will be sitting pretty . . . While the opposition gets the summer worries . . . PARAMOUNT EXHIBITORS WILL GET THE COIN!

HEAT PROOF Paramount Pictures

Member of Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc.—Will Hays, President

World's Ablest Showmen Acclaim FBO's Mammoth Greater Profits Line-up!

1926-1927

FBO

F. B. O. scores a solid smash with its Announcement of Product for 1926-27! Congratulations pour in from hundreds of the nation's leading Showmen!

54 Greater F.B.O. Attractions!

TWELVE GIANT GOLD BOND SPECIALS!

48 COMEDIES! 52 CARTOONS!

Great Authors! Great Stars! Great SHOW IDEAS that strike a new note in practical showmanship! F.B.O. Stars who have Performed! In still bigger attractions! And the best short subjects in the industry!

F. B. O. WILL SURPRISE THE TRADE IN 1926-27!

Mighty Array of Greater FBO Geared by Master Showmen

12 FBO GOLD BONDS

LADDIE

Set to eclipse the sensational record of "Keeper of the Bees", the novel "Laddie" projects the spirit that made

GENE STRATTON-PORTER

one of the great figures of literature! It s circulation has climbed into millions! The industry KNOWS by actual PERFORMANCE that Gene Stratton-Porter is the MIGHTIEST AUTHOR NAME DRAW OF THE HOUR!

To be directed by J. Leo Meehan who produced "Keeper of the Bees" and other Stratton-Porter successes! Cast already includes John Bowers and others of note.

THE MAGIC GARDEN

The second contribution to the F. B. O. Program by the genius of

GENE STRATTON-PORTER

Will be published serially in McCall's Magazine in time for exhibitors to cash in on tremendous reader interest! Brought out by Doubleday-Page as a novel at the same time. Both Gene Stratton-Porter productions to be nationally advertised on a huge scale!

Directed by J. Leo Meehan

F. B. O's Crack Showmen—working like beavers in the mammoth F. B. O. studios in Hollywood — are turning out the hits for YOU!

BREED OF THE SEA

What a treat for alert showmen! What a boon to box-offices that cry for vigorous, knife-edged melodrama turned out with distinction!

PETER B. KYNE

is a MONEY name towering to the high heavens! A name backed by reader circulation of positively astounding volume the world over!

Peter B. Kyne turns out the best melodrama on the screen today. "Breed of the Sea", with its glamorous sweep of the open waters, the two-fisted punch of its dramatic conflict, is one of his greatest yarns!

F B O PROMISED! F B O DELIVERE

Attractions Flush for the Box-office!

KOSHER KITTY KELLY

New York Comedy Stage Hit!
A Laughing Riot!

The Irish-Jewish theme is irresistible! What a show you'll get! What laughs! What thrills! What human sentiment! A great New York legitimate success brought to the screen with every ounce of F. B. O's vast resources of showmanship put into the production!

The cast already includes Viola Dana, Vera Gordon and Nat Carr
From the play by Leon De Costa.

HELLO BILL

A Colossus Of Exploitation Bestriding the Motion Picture World!

(Glorifying The Elks Of The World)

Compared with which all tie-up propositions of the past are dwarfed and made puny! F. B. O. has given exhibitors many a mammoth exploitation vehicle but never such an all-embracing box-office sweep as this stupendous jubilee attraction, glorifying the greatest fraternal organization on the face of the earth!

MOTHER

Another author of sweeping popularity and the greatest of human themes—"MOTHER". A story of terrific dramatic power—of soul tingling pathos—of comedy—of action and delicious sentiment! A great novel by already read and re-read by countless thousands! A stalwart exploitation proposition with many tie-ups already arranged. Songs, novelties, organization contacts—a show background of truly staggering proportions!

KATHLEEN NORRIS

BIGGER THAN BARNUM'S

Great Circus Melodrama!

Monumental and Magnificent Manifestations of Nature never before seen in one Mammoth Eliptical Arena! Dens of Strange and Curious Zoological Rarities! Museums of Human Oddities Augmented by Singular and Incomparable Specimens Calculated to stop the Breath... Curl the Hair... and Freeze the Blood!

Great 4-Ring
Box-Office Cast

VIOLA DANA, RALPH LEWIS, GEORGE O'HARA and RALPH INCE.

A Ralph Ince production
Story by Arthur Guy Empey

HER FATHER SAID NO

Zipping and zooming Laugh Carnival from the dancing pen of the Grand Vizier of Wisecrackers!

H. C. WITWER'S

de Luxe Comedy Action Super-Feature produced on a Sumptuous Scale! Another show with a great big handle!

With a prodigious cast of all-star comedians, including Al Cooke and Kit Guard who've made millions laugh in "Fighting Blood," "Pacemakers" "Go-Getters"!

ROSE OF THE TENEMENTS

A melodrama of staggering magnitude limned against the Trillion Dollar Skyline of the world's Metropolis—bedazzling playground of Saints and Satans.

A beautiful girl doomed to poverty! Fighting her way through the murk of the slums! What a theme! What box-office flash!

From the novel "The Stumbling Herd" by John Moroso

HER HONOR THE GOVERNOR

"Ma" Ferguson and Nellie Ross, Governors of Texas and Wyoming, have brought the American woman defintely into the whirling arena of national politics.

America's most distinguished actress

PAULINE FREDERICK

as the Governor of her State—harassed by the forces of corruption—standing supreme before the whirlwind!

A Mother and Son Drama aimed flush at the stalwart heart of Womankind!

THE CITY OF SHADOWS

A great big show aimed flush at the solar-plexus of your box-office!

The crackling genius of MARY ROBERTS RINEHART whipping through every smashing sequence! Her millions of loyal readers — gripped in the magic spell of her art — ready to pile into your theatre!

Melodrama as only Mrs. Rinehart knows how to turn it out!

TARZAN
AND THE GOLDEN LION

Another great author joins F. B. O.'s galaxy of noted writers!

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

has written dozens of best sellers! His name is one with which to conjure in world literature! More than 10,000,000 copies of his novels have been sold! Many more millions have read and re-read them!

Tarzan is a glamorously romantic figure known the world over! A Smashing character of the South African jungles!

Tarzan will be produced in lavish fashion with an all-star cast!

LIVERED! IT RINGS ACROSS THE NATION

Box-office Stars Whose Radiance Lights the World!

FRED THOMSON

WORLD'S GREATEST WESTERN STAR

In Four Super-Western Specials

Never in the annals of the screen has a star received such praise as exhibitors have bestowed on Fred and SILVER KING. Bigger stories and bigger attractions is Fred's platform for the coming campaign!

Greatest Short Subject Prog

BILL GRIMM'S PROGRESS

The great Collier's Magazine Success!

Twelve two-reel Bull-roars abristle with crackling humor!

H. C. WITWER'S

YOUTH! ACTION! BOOMING LAUGHS!

An absolutely new idea in Comedies!

WISECRACKERS

Current in Cosmopolitan Magazine. The biggest of all successes!

H. C. WITWER

Smashing reader value in the nation's most popular magazine!

GET SET FOR THE BIG SWEEP!

STANDARD COMEDIES

Twelve Two-Reel Hilarious Highlights

Teeming with laughs! Sparkling with novelty! Spilling over with happiness! Standard Comedies have won their place in the sun as gloom-dispellers! This year they will be stronger than ever!

PROFITS FOR SHOWMEN! EN

EVELYN BRENT

This superb and scintillating little artiste will make Six Action Melodramas illumined with young romance and booming comedy!

Her platform is PERFORMANCE—expressed in terms of money in the tills of contented box-offices!

GEORGE O'HARA

More than 1000 exhibitors asked for George O'Hara and here he is! The clean-limbed, fine-looking young fighting hero of our memorable "Fighting Bloods", "Pacemakers", "Go-Getters". In 6 Smashing Fast Action Shows stiffened with a frequent wallop of two-fisted melodrama!

ALBERTA VAUGHN

In Six Whizzing Bombshells Of Youth!

Lifted gloriously to the Crest of Stardom by the verdict of exhibitors themselves! What a box-offiice bet she is!

BOB CUSTER

In 8 Western Smashers

Bob Custer stands to-day one of the sweetest box-office bets in the Western field! On the threshold of new and greater triumphs!

Produced by Jesse Goldburg

TOM TYLER

In 8 Humming Western

In a single year Tom an his Pals—brand new ide
in Western showmanshi
—have landed solidly i
the money!
Watch him go in 1926-27

RANGER

In 4 Thundering Outdoor Storie

Watch for Ranger, the new Wonder Dog of the Screen
Majestic Monarch of a hundred show arenas!
With the smash of vivid melodrama

ram in the Industry

WHIRLWIND COMEDIES

Gales of Laughter

12 Amazing Novelties

They'll yank laughs from a Yak! They'll turn the Sphinx into a Roaring Kewpie! Produced by

CHARLEY BOWERS

Astounding tricks to amaze the industry! See the chicken eggs hatch Ford Cars! See oysters dive into the soup and enjoy a swim!

ALICE COMEDIES

26 Rib-Ticklers

A marvelous combination of Cartoon and Live Characters filled with long, lingering laughter!

A dazzling gleam of newness in their makeup!

Drawn by Walt Disney
Produced by Winkler Pictures, Inc.
Charles B. Mintz, Pres.

KRAZY KAT COMEDIES

Twenty six of 'Em!

Suggested by George Herriman' famous character!
The Kat with a World-wide reputation
A hurricane of hilarity!
Filmdom's funniest feature!

Drawn by Bill Nolan
Produced by Winkler Pictures, Inc.
Charles B. Mintz, Pres.

TERTAINMENT FOR THE PUBLIC!

A WHIRL OF MERRY MIRTH-MAKERS

WILLIAM FOX Presents

O. HENRY
Gems of Fiction

Fast action is their keynote! Celebrated stories, box-office casts, unlimited expenditure in production give the O. Henry comedies the highest quality in screen entertainment. Three more to be released this season are: FROM THE CABBY'S SEAT, A SOCIAL TRIANGLE, A LICKPENNY LOVER.

The Married Life of
HELEN and WARREN

SPEED—and honest-to-box-office GAGS in these hilarious comedies of married life! They have made Kathryn Perry and Hallam Cooley the best known couple in America. The last three for this season are: MOVING DAY, TOO MANY RELATIONS, THE FAMILY PICNIC. All comedies are supervised by GEORGE E. MARSHALL.

Little giants of the screen

FAST MOVING COMEDIES FOR BOX-OFFICE POPULARITY

Fox Film Corporation

When in doubt—play a FOX western!

Tom Mix

The Super-Western Star

There is no question as to the popularity of Mix—or how much money he can draw at the "gate". So—play a Mix—then go out and have a good time—go see your FOX manager about his next one!

BUCK JONES

Ace of the Great Outdoors

"Handsome Buck" has been coming along like a cyclone this season. The way that boy steps—and How! Did you see "The Cowboy and the Countess" or the "The Fighting Buckaroo"? If you didn't you missed something—so did your patrons!

PICTURES—NOT
PERFORMANCE

Great Hawaiian Volcano

Once Again International sational beat with the
the thrilling awesome
Mauna Loa Hawaiian

Molten lava plunging hissingly into the sea.

"FEATURING EXCLUSIVE PICTURES on Hawaiian Volcano Disaster. One of the most thrilling and sensational Newsreel subjects we have ever shown, ranking with memorable Roosevelt rescue at sea. Amazing picture."

DAVID LOEW, Loew Theatres, Inc., N.Y.

"THE HIGH SPOT IN THE MOTION pictures this week. The best motion picture of the year. I have seen it four times with rapt attention. The last word in drama, realism, suspense and thrill."

PALMER SMITH, N. Y. Evening World.

Palm tree grove falling before the flood of burning lava.

Every Foot a Thrilling, Gripping, Breath-taking Spectacle!

INTERNATION

Performance---

104 a Year

Released through

APPLESAUCE!
—NOT HOPES!

Disaster Exclusive Scoop!

Newsreel scores a sen-exclusive presentation of spectacle of the great volcano disaster!

River of fiery lava flowing down the hillside.

A tremendous geyser of boiling, molten lava.

"WHAT A STUNNING ACHIEVEMENT! What an example of ingenuity, resourcefulness and personal bravery! A remarkable effort. I am certainly proud to show it."

MAJOR EDWARD BOWES,
Capitol Theatre, N. Y. City.

"HAWAIIAN VOLCANIC ERUPTION in the International Newsreel this week great! Marvelous!"

GEORGE BRENNAN,
Orpheum Theatre, Jersey City, N. J.

As Usual---Without Any Extra Cost to the Exhibitor!

AL NEWSREEL

Not Promises!

UNIVERSAL 2 each Week

$50,000 spent

to establish the

MOTION PIC

MOTION PICTURE NEWS guarantees you 13,800 distribution. And this is complete coverage of the field. We have established it by a most complete analysis of the theatre field. The only magazine in this field which has conducted such an investigation and taken the guess out of its circulation efforts.

13,800
distribution
guaranteed

This analysis is of such a broad scope that it has reached every theatre in the United States enabling us to tell the class, admission price and all other data concerning these theatres and to spot our circulation so that every buying center is covered.

character of
TURE NEWS
Circulation

Every means possible to ensure accuracy was employed. One of the big insurance companies mailed a questionnaire to 18,000 agents. Postmasters in smaller towns were written to. Distributors' lists were used. Our correspondents were employed.

Nearly two years was required to accomplish this great task, requiring the constant service of a highly organized staff.

Methods Used in Analysis

This information is available to you. Come, see for yourself. Check up as you wish. Ask us questions which we will be glad to answer. At least let us show you the results of the only analysis of its kind in the industry.

SWAMP

in a Sea of Showmen's Acclamation

Distributed by

FBO

1560 Broadway
New York, N. Y.

TH

and his miracle horse SILVER KING

Exclusive Foreign Distributors.
R-C Export Corporation
1560 Broadway
New York

AGENTS
F.B.O. Pictures G.M.B.H.
235 Friedrichstrasse Berlin
Germany

R.C. Export Corp. 26-27 D'Arblay St. London
England

Societe Anonyme des Films F.B.O.
69 Faubourg St. Honore Paris
France

ED!

Swamped is RIGHT! Deluged! Submerged! OVERWHELMED! By the mightiest volume of showmen's praise—exhibitors' reports—ever bestowed upon a star in the history of motion pictures!

Fred Thomson and Silver King stand alone in the arena of Western showmanship! The greatest CONSISTENT BOX-OFFICE DRAW in the industry!

And they'll smash all records over the fence in 1926-27!

FRED OMSON

sends you another Western whizzer—smoking from the studio—

"HANDS ACROSS THE BORDER"

Story by Frank M. Clifton Directed by David Kirkland

The Latest Issue of Motion Picture News Booking Guide is Now in Your Hands

Motion Picture
News
Booking Guide

Covers
All
Releases

Write and tell us what you think of the new size and style. The Booking Guide is published for your convenience. Let us know how the change works out.

Motion Picture
News
Booking Guide

Out Twice Yearly

The Next Important
Special Service Number
Will Be

THE BUYERS' GUIDE

Watch For It!

WHEN THEY PROMISE
YOU HITS FOR NEXT SEASON,
ASK THEM:
"WHAT CAN YOU
GIVE ME
NOW"

FIRST NATIONAL IS THE ONLY COMPANY DELIVERING
HITS THIS SUMMER

SUMMER LOOKS

Three Great Shows in One!

Colleen Moore

in

"IRENE"

Capacity houses and extended runs everywhere!

Norma Talmadge

in "KIKI"

with Ronald Colman

Still raining dollars into box-offices!

Johnny Hines

in

"Rainbow Riley"

"Sure to keep feminine admirers in raptures, to say nothing of fascinating the men"—Film Daily.

Corinne Griffith

in the musical-comedy craze

"Mlle. Modiste"

The Special that is scoring special runs!

"The Greater Glory"

June Mathis' phenomenal production with Conway Tearle, Anna Q. Nilsson and the finest cast ever assembled in one picture.

8,000,000 readers of "The Desert Healer" are flocking to see

"Old Loves and New"

Another screen sensation by E. M. Hull, author of "The Sheik," with Lewis Stone

Another box-office triumph for

Richard Barthelmess

with Dorothy Mackaill in

"Ranson's Folly"

Sidney Olcott Production

Every record at Loew's State, Los Angeles, broken by

Harry Langdon

in

"Tramp, Tramp, Tramp"

Big business? The man who knows is the man who shows

Frank Lloyd's production

"The Wise Guy"

with MARY ASTOR
JAMES KIRKWOOD
BETTY COMPSON

"A draw at any house," says the Daily Review.

"The Wilderness Woman"

A laughing riot at N.Y. Strand.

With Aileen Pringle, Lowell Sherman and Chester Conklin

Direct from Drury Lane—the racing sensation of the century

Conway Tearle

"The Sporting Lover"

with Barbara Bedford

FIFTEEN HITS THAT KNOCK

LIKE WINTER
"Excellent cast and action-packed story"—M.P.News
"Her Second Chance"
with Anna Q. Nilsson, Huntly Gordon, Charlie Murray
Sweet sugar with
"Sweet Daddies"
with George Sidney, Charlie Murray, Vera Gordon, Jack Mulhall and Jobyna Ralston
An Alfred Santell Production
First National Pictures
Oh, how the dollars dance after—
MICHAEL ARLEN'S
"Dancer of Paris"
Starring Conway Tearle with Dorothy Mackaill
Edwin Carewe presents
"High Steppers"
with MARY ASTOR and LLOYD HUGHES
And it's a high-stepper at the box-office, too
THE HOT WEATHER COLD!

SIZZLE then FIZZLE

You're wise to the scorching promises that turn into perishing flops. Years of playing First National Pictures have taught exhibitors that First National's product, alone in all the industry, runs true to selling-argument. It scores all the time.

The surest proof of the Banner Group's strength for 1926-27 is the unfailing regularity with which First National is delivering the industry's ONLY WINNERS TODAY!

Book the BANNER GROUP for next season — Play summer hits now and make PROFITS ALL YEAR ROUND.

First National Pictures

BANNER GROUP

52 REAL HITS and 7 SPECIALS

Printed in U. S. A.

Motion Picture News

Volume XXXIII NEW YORK CITY, May 22, 1926 No. 21

American Business

FOR clear, sober sanity we take off our hat to the business creed set forth by William E. Humphrey of the Federal Trade Commission.

Here are the Trade Commission's articles of faith—in American business:

* * *

We do not believe success is a crime.

We do not believe failure is a virtue.

We do not believe wealth is presumptively wrong.

We do not believe poverty is presumptively right.

We do not believe industry, economy, honesty and brains should be penalized.

We do not believe incompetency, extravagance, idleness and inefficiency should be glorified.

We do not believe big business and crooked business are synonymous.

True, we will give closer scrutiny to big business than to small business, because of its greater power for good or evil.

We believe 90 per cent of American business is honest.

We believe 90 per cent of American business is anxious to obey the law.

We want to help this 90 per cent of honesty.

We want to control or destroy the 10 per cent that is crooked.

* * *

Word for word these articles set forth my own faith in the motion picture business. I say that from the standpoint of an impartial observer on the side lines. And I don't budge one iota from this stand.

I have, in the course of a number of years, seen successful men in the business vilified and all but mobbed. That is human, but it isn't fair and it's futile.

I have also seen incompetent men made heroes of. Some immediate ends—of sensationalism, were thereby achieved: but, again, it was futile, and it isn't fair.

Big business isn't crooked. It is more honest than small business, because, for one thing it is in the limelight. It has to be honest. And, another thing, the brains that can build up big business, are wise enough to be honest. It is due to big business that this industry is where it is today.

* * *

We are 90 per cent honest, as are other businesses.

But, I also believe, we are 90 per cent mistaken right along; and that is what causes all the shouting—all the tumult, the civic quarrels, the factional fights, the bitter animosities.

We are, all of us, cogs in an industrial machine which is moved first by public demand and, secondly, by economic laws. No one man, or one company or group of companies is running this machine or ever will. No monopoly will ever control.

Whenever anyone of us gets hurt we blame it on another fellow, another branch of the business—or, as is most likely, on a suppositious "trust," whereas it is almost certain that the direct cause of the trouble is an impersonal one, a broken economic law, such as over-production, extravagance, inefficiency, bad judgment in pictures, distribution or exhibition.

What we particularly need is cooperation—among us all—to the one end that the public will be better served with picture entertainment.

Anyway, we can paste the above creed in our hats.

W A Johnston

MOTION PICTURE NEWS
MAY 22 1926
Vol. XXXIII No. 21
Founded in September 1913

Publication Office: 729 7th Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Editorial and General Offices: 729 7th Ave., New York City
Branch Offices: 845 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill. Room 616 Security Bldg., Hollywood, Calif.

Speaking Editorially

THE other day an exhibitor in a little town in the South wrote us a letter of complaint and appeal. He was in a serious "jam" with a big concern, and was plainly worried about his future.

It was an exhibitor problem, so we decided that the natural thing to do would be to turn the situation over to the M. P. T. O. A. for adjustment. Across the street from our own office is the office of Joe Seider, the M. P. T. O. A. Business Manager.

We are in receipt of a letter from Joe informing us that the whole matter has been settled to the satisfaction of both sides; and the exhibitor, mind you, was not a member of the M. P. T. O. A. Mr. Seider's letter to us simply states the facts of the settlement, without flourishes.

But we add: that's service; that's the way exhibitor organization is built and held together. And this was merely one case in a long list handled by Mr. Seider.

* * *

ONE of the proofs that the industry has grown up and is no longer in its infancy, as the saying used to be, is the increasing amount of statistics and information available from different sources. This is one of the sure signs that the industry no longer wishes to proceed on mere guess-work, but intends to find out about itself the things that are worth knowing. For our own part, we have been engaged in an analysis of the picture theatre field for more than two years; and some of the results of the survey appear in this issue.

Specifically, this week's article is an analysis by states of the actual number of houses in this country. It is an interesting compilation—and it is accurate. We have in hand also, as a result of long effort, other statistics which contain invaluable information.

* * *

THE original screen story is receiving great attention these days; and justly so, since the tremendous hit made by "originals," notably "The Big Parade." So we have made a check-up of original stories announced for production in 1926-27 as compared with adaptations of books and plays. The results, tabulated in full elsewhere, show that at least 43 per cent. of the pictures definitely set for next season are originals. This bears out Jesse L. Lasky's prediction, in his address last week to the A. M. P. A., that 50 per cent. of next season's pictures from all companies would be originals. He went further and prophesied that 80 per cent. of all the box-office successes would be originals. The story, designed for the screen as a distinct medium, will unquestionably come into its own—and the day, it appears, is at hand. It has been a long time coming, but it is inevitable. The developing of a sufficient number of writers of screen originals that will click at the box-office is by no means easy, but it ought to be, and, we believe, will be done.

* * *

MR. LASKY, by the way, made one of the most interesting talks we have ever heard. He declared that the time had come to de-bunk the picture business, with particular reference to certain types of publicity which do nobody any good.

He urged, for instance, that publicity should be directed at telling the public more about what the pictures themselves contain, rather than intimate details about the lives of the stars. It is perfectly true that this is a business of personalities, but it is also true that the public is coming more and more to demand quality on the screen. It will not be satisfied otherwise.

Nobody discounts for a moment the great value of publicity and exploitation in selling the picture to its ultimate audience; and this goes for exhibitor publicity as well as that originated in the home offices of producers.

It all comes back to this: the story is the thing, after all is said and done. Pictures must be interesting and vital. So that what Mr. Lasky had to say about debunking publicity led him quite naturally to his remarks on original screen stories. The industry is realizing to-day that no matter how skilful your publicity may be, if the picture fails to live up to it, the public will register its disapproval of the whole proceeding.

Editorial 2443
Editor on Broadway 2445-46
Second Editorial Page 2444
Pictures and People 2447-48
Exhibitors Service Bureau 2465-66
General News and Special Features 2449-60
Short Subjects and Serials 2467-68
Pre-Release Reviews on Features 2471-72
Newspaper Opinions on New Features 2498
Construction and Equipment Department 2483-94
Regional News from Correspondents 2474-82
Features and Short Subjects Release Chart 2495-98
The Check-Up 2461
Short Subject Reviews 2469-70
Classified Ads 2473

May 22, 1926 MOTION PICTURE NEWS Vol. XXXIII, No. 21
Published weekly by MOTION PICTURE NEWS, INC., William A. Johnston, President; E. Kendall Gillett, Vice-President; William A. Johnston, Editor; J. S. Dickerson, Associate Editor; Oscar Cooper, Managing Editor; Fred J. Beecroft, Advertising Manager; L. H. Mason, Chicago Representative; William McCormack, Los Angeles Representative. Subscription price, $2 per year, post paid in United States, Mexico, Hawaii, Porto Rico, Philippine Islands and some other countries; Canada, $3, foreign, $6.00. Copyright 1926, by MOTION PICTURE NEWS, INC., in the United States and Great Britain. Title registered in the United States Patent Office and foreign countries. Western Union cable address is "Picknews," New York. Entered as second-class matter April 22, 1926, at the postoffice, New York, N. Y., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

AN EDITOR ON BROADWAY

The Week in Review By William A. Johnston

Winfield R. Sheehan, vice-president and general manager of Fox Film Corp.

THIS is the era of specialization in the picture business. Winfield R. Sheehan, who is in command of the Fox production forces at the Coast, is unusually well-equipped for the job; in fact, we do not recall, at the moment, any production chief who has had quite the same range of experience. Mr. Sheehan has been a newspaper man, an official in a big department of municipal activity, and, of course, one of the builders of the Fox Film Corporation as an executive whose work touched every branch of the business.

Now, Mr. Sheehan is devoting himself to production, directing the most elaborate program ever undertaken by the Fox organization. It is a rare instance of a man, thoroughly skilled in distribution problems, going into production. Further, it is a notable instance of specialization by one who has the background and wide experience which, in themselves, are the basis for success as a specialist.

* * *

IN a chat with Joseph P. Kennedy the other day, I ventured the opinion that he would find this a most interesting business.

"I already find it that," he said. "In a year from now I'll tell you more about it."

Which is cited here as a good index to the sound and level sense of this newcomer to our executive ranks. He is a listener. He doesn't know it all at first glance. He doesn't intend to reform things. He has, most evidently, a fine background of business training; and we predict he will use it with pronounced success, especially in view of the fact that he has about as efficient a cabinet as this business can boast of—namely, J. I. Schnitzer, Colvin Brown and Edwin C. King.

In a paper written for the Society of Motion Picture Engineers, I referred to one company which has the courage to confine itself to a definite policy of making definite goods for a definite market. The company I spoke of is F. B. O. And Mr. Kennedy is chairman of the Board.

* * *

FOLLOWING are the chief points covered in a paper written by the Editor of Motion Picture News, and read before the recent Spring meeting of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers at Washington:

* * *

THE basic fault in our industry today, so far as the contact between pictures and the public is concerned, is lack of segregation—segregation in the making of product, the distribution of product and the exhibition of product. As one man tersely expressed the situation to me recently: "We try to sell Fifth Avenue jewelry over on Third Avenue." And, of course, it doesn't work.

For the past ten years most every producing company has tried to do just what every other producing company was doing. All have gone after the same books, stories and plays, the same stars, the same directors. The inevitable result, of course, has been that the cost of these materials in picture manufacture—raw materials we may call them—shot skyward and have stayed there.

But that wasn't the worst of the situation. The other consequence was that most of our manufacturers have been trying to furnish pretty much the same grade of product to purchasers of varying tastes and pocketbooks.

That in itself is inadvisable, because some people are quite as keen about calico as others are about silk; and this preference is not merely a question of price either. The manufacture of any kind of merchandise must be geared to fill a certain market. It is not possible to fill several diverse kinds of demand and fill them well and establish thereby trade-mark values.

And it also follows that the distributor has got to specialize too.

And as we well know the retailer must and does specialize.

* * *

I DO not want to give the impression that the industry is altogether chaotic. I can remember the time when all theatres tried to book the same class of product. Today we have our varying grades of theatres, the super type of the downtown section of the big cities, the large and small types of neighborhood houses, the small rural theatres, etc. Just now there is a movement on to establish in the large cities a moderate sized theatre to house long runs at two dollar top prices and these theatres I believe will succeed because there is also a public for this class of theatre.

I can also remember when distributors tried to sell long and short features out of the same hand. Today, out of twelve national distributors two specialize in short subjects. That is progress.

And as for production, one company in recent years turned a heavy loss into a profit by going definitely and courageously into a policy of producing pictures for the several thousand smaller houses of the country who want a particular type of picture at a rental price they can afford to pay. It is my contention, too, that this preference on the part of the small town houses is not merely a matter of price but also of product.

* * *

LET me briefly refer to a parallel in the publishing business. I happen to be interested in the People's Home Journal, an old established family fiction magazine which goes to a million families in the small towns of the United States. There were never more than three high priced authors whose serials our readers would have cared for, namely Harold Bell Wright, Gene Stratton-Porter and Zane Grey. And we haven't needed even these best sellers. Our readers want good wholesome romances, peopled by characters and stirred by events they can understand, and so live the stories themselves. The author's name is of no consequence. They resent literary finish as a pose and an insincerity. And so it is with the small town movie public—that is the prevalent type of movie goer today. I shall speak of the other kind in a moment.

As I say, classification is going on—and naturally so. Take the older amusement business of vaudeville. Today it is definitely settled in its amusement grades of big time, family time, etc. The family time house may want an occasional big time act but not as a steady diet. The varying audiences are content with their own class of entertainment and as I say it isn't purely a matter of price.

* * *

THERE is another point in connection with the small towns of the country—and these towns are important not only because half of our theatres are located there but because this small town public should and does have its say about motion pictures. The small town wants clean pictures.

There isn't any question about this fact: but I doubt if it is clearly understood. I am inclined to think that producers in general don't know much about the small town. They understand better the big cities. You see it is with the advent of the motion picture that the small towns have had regular and continuous show places. These folks used to go to the larger centres for theatrical entertainment. Now the entertainment comes to them.

The small town's insistence upon clean pictures is not because its people are better morally than the dwellers in the large cities. In fact I am inclined to believe that it is the small town visitor in New York who supports, mostly, its shady plays. But it is one thing for the adults to sit among entire strangers in a city playhouse and quite another to take the family along and rub elbows with neighbors in the home town movie theatre. Just as people subscribe to magazines they can place proudly in sight on the library table so they want movies they can take the young people to see and at the same time be honored, themselves, by the attendance.

* * *

I SPOKE just a moment ago of the prevalent type of movie goer and inferred that there were other people in each neighborhood who rarely attend the theatre. That is perfectly true, as we all know. They are the kind of people who greatly prefer the acting of "Moana (of the South Seas)" to that of Bebe Daniels, and, of course, pictures should be made for these people if that is commercially possible.

* * *

I ALSO alluded to vaudeville just a moment ago and here again we have another new phase of picture theatre entertainment. It is stated that Al Jolson was recently offered a staggering sum, and so, I believe, was Nora Bayes and other vaudeville head-liners, to leave their present circuits for those of the picture houses.

It is rather a curious situation. In the early days of pictures as show attractions they were of such minor consideration in vaudeville houses that they were actually used at the conclusion of the bill to get people out of the theatre. Then, as pictures continued to absorb the public fancy they crowded vaudeville into a constantly lesser position. Now it would appear that they are using their strength with the public to bring vaudeville back.

* * *

BUT I doubt very much if this present leaning toward vaudeville on the picture bill is anything more than a flurry in picture theatre competition.

What has happened is this: picture theatres have grown in seating capacity till today they can, by virtue of their intake, outbid the competing vaudeville house. And now that we have picture theatre circuits, a large group can outbid the vaudeville circuit. It would almost appear as if they were exulting in their power like the young bully who wants to grapple someone just to feel his strength, for surely there is no real call today for the joining of picture and vaudeville entertainment.

If the production of pictures were in a decline today that would be one thing. But the contrary is true. Just last week the pictures playing on Broadway, most of them special attractions, almost dominated the amusement section of the Metropolis. Twelve pictures grossed in the week something over $330,000.

If, again, vaudeville were in a great ascendancy that might be another thing. But again the contrary is true. There are so very few big time acts today—and surely the modern picture palace wants nothing else—that they won't begin to suffice. And that means the adding of cheap vaudeville to pictures that have cost a fortune to produce and orchestras that formerly one could only hear at the great opera houses.

The receipts of a picture house change with the appeal of the picture, not with that of the added attractions. Last year the Capitol Theatre, New York, had a varying intake running from $30,000 to $77,000 a week. Yet the added attractions —and while not borrowed from the vaudeville ranks they were excellent—were of about the same calibre throughout the year.

* * *

BUT the point is that pictures are one thing and vaudeville another. They don't go together. Pictures and music do.

Another point in this connection which may well be emphasized is this: picture producers today must not suffer because of the high prices which will inevitably be paid to vaudeville acts once the big picture circuits start competing for them. I don't hesitate to say that the picture producer today deserves and needs higher picture rentals from the big picture theatres, which can afford to pay and must if pictures are to maintain their remarkable progress. Picture production is a highly hazardous enterprise. It is only where it is today because of the millions that have been freely gambled in it; and it might be added that picture theatres are where they are today for largely the same reason. It would be calamitous, for instance, to have Douglas Fairbanks driven out of pictures in order to make room for Al Jolson, the vaudevillian.

* * *

JUST the other week a serious situation came to my attention. A two-reel novelty picture was made in color and brought to New York for distribution. It was expensively made and meritorious in every way. But the booking offered by one of the picture theatre circuits was so low that no more pictures of that calibre and cost can be made except at a heavy loss. This is a far from healthy situation.

Considering the fact that picture plants and theatres now have an investment in them, according to report, of about a billion and a half dollars—that because of the hold of pictures upon the public an industry has been reared that is the marvel of the world today—we had best concentrate upon the advancement of the picture. What with the advances in color, synchronization of pictures and music, radio and all the wonderful technical discoveries of this remarkable age, the future is alluring enough.

* * *

WITH the approach of hot weather, theatre men once more face the supreme test of their capacity to carry on in the face of the greatest opposition they are called upon to contend with. The disrupting influence of "dog days" is no respecter of persons, and the lassitude and languor engendered by Old Sol's withering rays is likely to be shared by the theatre personnel in equal parts with that of the regular theatre patrons. The manager, therefore, faces the triple task of keeping up his own enthusiasm for the work in hand as well as that of members of his organization and the public's interest in the theatre form of diversion. All this in addition to making the diversion the theatre offers seem attractive to a public naturally lured during this season to occupations and relaxations in the great out-of-doors.

Proper weapons of attack do not include extravagant claims as to the reduced temperature inside the theatre, for only the theatre manager whose house actually is "30 degrees cooler inside" profitably can make such a statement in his advertising. The suggestion of coolness in lobby decorations, in which lighting plays a most important part, the same care in the matter of house service, projection and selection of units of the program as is exercised during the winter months, are conspicuously among the important elements of the success formula. The lighter and cooler tone expressed in line and decoration of advertising matter, music that avoids the solemn dignity of the more profound compositions, a careful avoidance of bustle and excitement on the part of house attaches, to which neat appearance and cool-looking uniforms contribute importantly, and, above all, continued carefulness in the arrangement of programs and efficient management in their presentation—these are the methods which common sense dictates and experience endorses as the factors which keep the theatre on the right side of the ledger during the "summer slump" period.

* * *

ONE United States Senator, at least, has left us in no doubt as to his attitude on the question of federal censorship. Senator Arthur Capper, prominent publisher of agricultural papers, speaking before the Paramount convention banquet at Atlantic City a few weeks ago, handled the subject fearlessly and sanely. To select a few of the highlights:

"I am not in sympathy with the movement toward federal censorship. I am against federal censorship on principle and I greatly question the need of it. The rights of the public, it seems to me, are more than safeguarded—if indeed they really need such safeguard, by state and local regulations.

"I am against it on principle as I have said because there's already too much federal meddling in local affairs. Rather than seeking new avenues for federal activity, I'm in favor of curtailment of existing federal activities. I'm sure we have gone wild in late years 'passing a law' about things. This habit has been indulged so lavishly that statute has been written upon statute, ordinance has been enacted upon ordinance and confusion is confounded. Even the courts are at times almost lost in the mazes and tangles."

PICTURES AND PEOPLE

Erich Pommer, leading German producer, who has gone to Los Angeles to supervise two Pola Negri and one Emil Jannings picture for Paramount

Paul Leni, noted European director and designer, whose first work for Universal in this country is the prologue to "Outside the Law" at the Colony, New York

PICTURES AND PEOPLE

JIM TULLY, one of the most colorful and searching of all the writers on screen topics, gives an interesting pen picture of Cecil B. De Mille in the April issue of Vanity Fair. Tully writes frankly and with insight—he is neither hero-worshipper nor iconoclast. To quote a portion of his article:

"Many people call him charlatan, egotist, Babbitt and impostor. Those who are very close to him at the studio call him 'C. B.' That 'C. B.' is significant. No one ever called Napoleon 'Nap,' and this man is really a Napoleon of shadows. . . .

"You recall some of his pictures in which the gilded tawdry of the mob is in evidence, and you see all about him statuettes and etchings of rare beauty. You think of a bathroom scene he has made, and as you think, he hands you a piece of work by Daniel Sayre Groesbeck—the face of a Russian peasant in which power and beauty collide. He points to the face and says, ever so gently . . . 'I rather like that—he caught something there.'

"On his spiritual side he is the biggest man I have met in pictures. The same could be said regarding his mental capacity and understanding of life. If he has ridden to fame on a spavined horse he is aware of it. De Mille reaches back through a hundred years of culture. All about him are corporals in the defeated army of the Almost Brigade . . . almost directors, almost playwrights, almost writers and almost actors. If De Mille did not aim at a star like many of these people, he at least did not miss that at which he did aim . . . to earn a vast fortune in pictures . . . to gain power . . . to make plumbers artistic and find new methods of hiding telephones.

"I do not know a man in pictures with whom the interviewers have dealt so unfairly as they have

Marceline Day, who in less than a year has earned important roles in "The Barrier," "The Boy Friend" and "The Gay Deceiver" for M-G-M

Anne Cornwall, who will be featured in Educational-Christie comedies, alternating with her work in feature productions for other firms

Sunny, the youngster chosen by Julius Stern of the Stern Film Corp., to play Snookums in "The Newlyweds and Their Baby" series for Universal

Al Christie, one of the two famous Christie brothers, with Marie Prevost and Director E. Mason Hopper, were on hand to greet the delegates to the Producers Distributing Corp. International convention when they arrived at the Christie studio

Edward Everett Horton, starring in S. S. Hutchinson feature comedies, has completed "The Nutcracker" and "Lord Hokum" (Assoc. Exhibs.) and is starting a third with this gentle French Jew. He talks about his pictures as art no more than Barnum talked about the circus as art.

"In 56 pictures, he has made 54 financial successes. He says frankly that he considers the two failures the most artistic.

"De Mille smiles when he speaks of cinema critics. It is the smile of a thoroughly sophisticated man who laughs at the babbling of children. One who has long been in contact with critics of the film industry can understand that smile. . . .

" 'I have never seen such bathrooms as in your pictures, Mr. De Mille,' I remarked.

" 'Well,' he answered, 'I have only put bathrooms in three pictures out of the 56 I've made. But I will admit they were good ones. Before I started—bathrooms were catch-alls for everything in the family. Now look at them!'

"He is the first man in such a position I have met who knows the mob without thinking on their level. Sometimes I think he smiles at them. He is really a cultivated Barnum. His whole attitude indicates that one cannot make pictures for the elite and survive 'I would rather have ten million friends than five thousand,' he said.

"He has the weakness of those who have tasted power. He has the mentality of those who realize the futility of it."

PARAMOUNT NOTABLES LEAVE

THE train for Hollywood last Saturday afternoon carried a considerable party of Paramount picture makers, including E. Lloyd Sheldon, senior supervising editor of the Paramount Long Island studio; Director Frank Tuttle, Mrs. Tuttle and their two children; Erich Pommer, European producer who will be in charge of the Pola Negri and Emil Jannings vehicles; Monte M. Katterjohn of the Production Department home office staff; Georg Witt, Pommer's assistant; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Matthews, assistant and continuity clerk with Tuttle; and Fanny Franks, assistant to Sheldon.

ADAMS-SCHNITZER

MISS RUTH SCHNITZER, sister of J. I. Schnitzer, senior vice-president of F. B. O., and of A. H. Schnitzer, Pittsburgh manager, was married on Sunday, May 2, to Dewitt G. C. (Cleve) Adams, division manager for Film Booking Offices with headquarters at Chicago. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's mother in Pittsburgh. The couple will make their home in Chicago after a wedding tour.

OFF FOR BOSTON

F. HERRICK HERRICK, director of the "Fragments of Life," series and producer for Cranfield & Clarke, went to Boston this week to screen his latest picture, "Movie Struck," starring Doris Eaton, and several of his past films, before the Boston Historical Society. This society, in conjunction with the 47 Workshop of Harvard University, plans to make a series of 24 two-reelers.

"DOT" WITH DAVIS

DOROTHY V. CLEVELAND, who left New York recently for the Coast after nineteen months as director of advertising and publicity for Rayart, intending to free-lance, within less than 24 hours of her arrival was engaged to take full charge of the publicity for J. Charles Davis, 2nd, and Bruce Mitchell on "Gold," their current production.

RECEIVED BY MUSSOLINI

DOUG and Mary, according to cable advices here this week, were accorded an audience on Monday afternoon in Rome by Premier Mussolini. They expressed great enthusiasm concerning him after the interview, which lasted twenty minutes. Mussolini inscribed photographs to both of them, and signed in Mary's autograph book.

KNIT ONE, DROP TWO

DOLORES DEL RIO, who is playing the role of Charmaine in "What Price Glory?" for Fox Films, a role which calls for her to be proficient at knitting, has been practicing that ancient art day and night and now challenges any film actress to a knitting bout. Knitting needles at twenty paces offers intriguing possibilities. Miss Del Rio will give a ten-stitch handicap to beginners.

TRACKLESS TRAIN SAILS

WHEN the S. S. Minnewaska sailed for Europe last week she carried one of America's most successful exploitation vehicles, which will now perform similar feats in England and on the continent—the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Trackless Train. On its final tour of New York City the train stopped at City Hall, where Mayor James J. Walker inspected and praised it. Ceremonies at the dock, when the train was lifted aboard, were attended by Renee Adoree, a delegation of M-G-M officials headed by Major Edward Bowes and including William R. Ferguson, exploitation manager in charge of the train's manoeuvers both here and abroad, representatives of Mayor Walker, White Star Line officials, executives of the U. S. Tire Company, Standard Oil, Indiana Motor Truck Company and the Postal Telegraph, as well as a number of press representatives.

Leaving London on May 16, the Trackless Train will proceed to Cambridge, then to Northampton, Birmingham, Leicester, Nottingham, Sheffield, Leeds, Bradford, Manchester, Liverpool, Shrewsbury, Worcester, Bristol, Bath, Salisbury, Southampton, Portsmouth and possibly Brighton, then crossing the channel to Le Havre.

From Le Havre the Train will take in Versailles, Paris and other French cities, Brussels, Antwerp, Rotterdam, The Hague, Amsterdam, Hanover, Hamburg, Berlin, Prague, Vienna, through Italy if possible, Strasbourg, Lyons, Marseilles, Toulouse and Bordeaux. This is incomplete, but it will give some idea of the manner in which the Trackless Train is to carry the message of American exploitation into the highways and byways of Europe.

ANNOUNCING SEADLER, JR.

SI SEADLER, aide-de-camp of Howard Dietz at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, this week prepared a special announcement to his friends in the trade which is likely to be The Talk of the Industry for a while. It deals with the "presentation" to Mr. and Mrs. Silas Frank Seadler on May 9 of Silas Frank Seadler, Jr., under the personal supervision of Dr. E. H. Hubner, showing this week at the Fifth Avenue Hospital, 106th Street and Fifth Avenue, New York City. The premiere is reported a howling success, with considerable gratification expressed on all sides. Mrs. Seadler and Junior are reported doing capitally.

TITLE WRITER CONNECTS

JOHN W. KRAFFT, title writer extraordinary, left New York City a short time ago for the busier clime, cinematically speaking, of California. Before he had entirely unpacked he was snapped up by the C. B. De Mille organization to do the titles for "Eve's Leaves," and previews showed such a number of title laughs that he was immediately given another to do—and a contract. Those familiar with his work on the Johnny Hines feature comedies will not find this surprising.

TWO ASTERISKS

ONE feature and one short comedy received the little merit asterisk this week from the National Board of Review. The feature was "Silence," the P. D. C. picturization of the stage play of the same name with H. B. Warner and Vera Reynolds. The comedy was "Mighty Like a Moose," one of the Hal Roach-Pathe two-reelers starring Charlie Chase.

TORRENCE LEAVING F. P.-L.

ERNEST TORRENCE will leave Famous Players-Lasky at the termination of his contract next month to free-lance, it was learned this week. First, however, Torrence, with his wife and their son, Ian, will take a short vacation trip through Scotland, England and France, sailing from New York on June 2.

HUMANE SOCIETY AWARD

CARL LAEMMLE, president of Universal, has just received the Abraham Lincoln Humanitarian award from the Oregon Humane Society for the co-operation given the society by his organization, according to a message from Grazielle Boucher, executive of the society.

14,673 Theatres in U. S., NEWS' Survey Shows

Careful Count Made Over Period of Two Years and Kept Up-to-date Weekly Includes Actual Picture Houses

THERE are, at this writing, in the United States 14,673 picture theatres open once a week or more. Seven thousand one hundred and seventy-eight theatres are in cities and towns of over 5,000 population; and in towns under 5,000 population there are 7,495.

These figures are the final result of a painstaking count by MOTION PICTURE NEWS instituted over two years ago and kept up to date each week. The information has been secured direct from the towns and cities, in many cases from several agencies and checked back and forth.

We guarantee the list as authoritative and correct. It will disagree with other lists, but it is to be noted that we have excluded all those legitimate theatres, non-theatrical institutions, etc., in which a picture appears only at intervals and which cannot be considered picture theatres in the real sense of that term.

The statistics compiled by THE NEWS also include the following:

Analysis by states showing classifications of theatres in relation to population.

Analysis by key cities showing types of theatres and seating capacity.

Average seating capacity by groups as related to population.

Complete analysis of circuits by states.

Number of theatres playing vaudeville.

Number of play dates by population groups.

Occupational analysis of exhibitors, showing those who give full time to theatres and those who give only part time.

This theatre survey is the only service of the kind ever instituted by a motion picture trade paper—in its accuracy and completeness. We did not set out to prove any pet theories of our own but to get at the facts. Here's the list by states:

THEATRE ANALYSIS OF THE UNITED STATES

Actual Count of Theatres Open Once a Week or More

State	Total in State	In Towns Over 5,000	In Towns Under 5,000
Maine	183	47	136
New Hampshire	89	39	50
Vermont	94	18	76
Massachusetts	449	293	156
Rhode Island	59	37	22
Connecticut	176	127	49
New York	1,194	832	362
New Jersey	349	230	119
Pennsylvania	1,032	728	304
Delaware	40	15	25
Maryland	98	52	46
District of Columbia	58	58	—
Virginia	191	89	102
West Virginia	173	62	111
North Carolina	241	98	143
South Carolina	121	50	71
Georgia	181	75	106
Florida	175	72	103
Ohio	816	553	263
Indiana	530	264	266
Illinois	1,008	574	434
Michigan	569	341	228
Wisconsin	472	179	293
Kentucky	232	88	144
Tennessee	173	76	97
Alabama	177	81	96
Mississippi	160	44	116
Minnesota	370	149	221
Iowa	542	140	402
Missouri	468	266	202
North Dakota	179	21	158
South Dakota	214	31	183
Nebraska	412	57	355
Arkansas	192	41	151
Louisiana	203	91	112
Oklahoma	307	92	215
Texas	719	381	338
Montana	108	38	70
Idaho	105	25	80
Wyoming	110	75	35
Colorado	200	76	124
New Mexico	46	6	40
Arizona	49	14	35
Utah	107	26	81
Nevada	23	4	19
Washington	244	121	123
Oregon	149	68	81
California	455	234	221
Kansas	431	100	331
Total	14,673	7,178	7,495

[Copyright, 1926, by Motion Picture News, Inc.]

Year's Studio Budget $120,000,000

Los Angeles Times Survey Shows Increase of Nearly 25 per cent Over Last Year; 85 per cent. to Be Spent on Coast

FIGURES compiled by the Los Angeles Times and contained in a recent article by Herbert Moulton reveal that production plans for the 1926-27 season call for an expenditure of about $120,000,000, an increase of nearly 25 per cent. over 1925-26, of which approximately $102,800,000 will be spent in Southern California.

Likewise noteworthy is the great increase in the number of real ‘‘specials,’’ due largely to the outstanding success during the past year of certain road show pictures and in striking contrast to the flood of program pictures last year.

At the head of the budget list stands Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which plans to insure the reputation which it gained last year by spending $25,000,000 on production. Out of fifty-two pictures, eleven will be roadshow specials. The personnel is being doubled and the studio facilities have been increased by 25 per cent. The budget represents an increase of more than 100 per cent. over the 1925-26 season.

Next comes Famous Players-Lasky, which last year spent $15,000,000, with a 1926-27 schedule calling for an expenditure of $22,000,000. Out of seventy-five pictures, fifteen will be roadshow specials. A half million dollar expansion program is under way at the recently acquired United Studios on Melrose Avenue.

Warner Brothers estimate the year's budget at $14,000,000, just double last year's figure. This concern will make 36 regular productions and at least 9 specials.

First National will spend $10,000,000, in addition to which independent producers releasing through that company will expend another considerable sum, which is difficult to estimate with any degree of accuracy. A new studio is being constructed in Burbank to house the First National units, which is expected to be completed in July. Seven specials will be included in the First National program.

United Artists plans call for an outlay of $10,000,000 on a schedule of 16 pictures, all of which will be produced as specials. The Pickford-Fairbanks studio will probably be enlarged to take care of these units, which have been working at the United Studios and elsewhere.

Producers Distributing Corporation, including De Mille and Metropolitan, likewise plans to spend $10,000,000, with at least two outstanding specials planned at present.

Film Booking Offices will expend between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000. This company will produce 12 specials on a scale not previously attempted.

The Universal schedule calls for a budget of $5,000,000, with 7 or more specials listed for the year.

Other independent producers will spend, it is estimated, between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000. The total will be further augmented by the short subject producer. Hal Roach, for instance, will spend $2,000,000 on a program which includes a number of ‘‘specials’’ in the two-reel comedy field.

‘‘Fewer and better pictures’’ has for years been a rather empty slogan and a subject for jest; the coming year, it appears, it is likely to become a reality.

F. P.-L. Files Bill of Exceptions with Comm.

TESTIMONY regarding the activities of competitors of Famous Players-Lasky and other matters pertaining to the Federal Trade Commission's investigation of the "movie trust," which was barred by the commissioner's trial examiner during the original hearings, were laid before the commission by the film company last week in Washington, D. C., in the shape of a 292-page bill of exceptions. The bill was filed in conformity with the provisions of the order issued by the commission last month, reopening the investigation and offering the respondents an opportunity to show in detail the decisions of the trial examiner which, it had been alleged, were prejudiced and resulted in barring from the record an adequate defense against the commission's charges.

Nation's Leaders Support 'Movie Season'

Eight of President Coolidge's Cabinet Officers and Governors of Twenty-one States Offer Good Wishes and Cooperation

MANY letters were received this week by Will H. Hays, president of the M. P. P. D. A., from officers of President Coolidge's Cabinet and from the Governors of twenty-one states voicing their approval of the Second Greater Movie Season and offering best wishes and cooperation.

These endorsements of such outstanding Americans will be very valuable to exhibitors who participate in this year's season as, since they are open letters, they may be quoted from in announcements and advertisements and used to keep the public reminded of how important motion pictures have become in their thirty-year life.

‘‘I desire on the occasion of the thirtieth anniversary of the moving picture industry to congratulate you and all concerned in the progress the industry has made, and to say that the Greater Movie Season, which, I understand, will be a feature of the celebration of that anniversary, is worthy of cordial support,’’ writes the Hon. Frank B. Kellogg, Secretary of State.

The Hon. Dwight F. Davis, Secretary of War, in his message stresses the importance of the motion picture in army life saying, ‘‘It has proved one of the most valuable means of conveying to the public the military information which they, as owners of the Army, ought to have.’’ The Hon. Curtis D. Wilbur, Secretary of the Navy, writes in the same strain concerning the help motion pictures have been to the Navy.

Messages similar to the extracts quoted were received from the Hon. Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce; Hon. Hubert Work, Secretary of the Interior; Hon. Harry S. New, Postmaster General; Hon. James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, and Hon. W. M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture, who writes, ‘‘In this period (30 years), motion pictures have received perhaps the most phenomenal public approval that has ever been extended to any form of entertainment.’’

Governor Len Small, Springfield, Ill., declares in his letter that ‘‘this (motion picture) art has brought more happiness and recreation to our people than any other one thing.’’ Similar expressions of the value of the motion picture in public life are contained in letters from Gov. Adam McCullen, Lincoln, Neb.; Gov. Ed. Jackson, Indianapolis, Ind.; Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, Austin, Tex.; Gov. John H. Trumbull, Hartford, Conn.; Gov. Alvan T. Fuller, Boston, Mass.; Gov. Friend W. Richardson, Sacramento, Cal., and Gov. Albert C. Richie, Annapolis, Md.

Governor Theodore Christianson, Minneapolis, Minn., writes, ‘‘In their efforts to improve the motion picture the producers and exhibitors should have the cooperation of all public-spirited citizens.’’

Endorsements and pledges of cooperation were also received from Gov. Clifford Walker, Atlanta, Ga.; Gov. Harry A. Moore, Trenton, N. J.; Gov. Clarence J. Moorley, Denver, Colo.; Gov. A. J. Pothier, Providence, R. I., and many others including Gov. Ralph O. Brewster of Maine, Gov. J. G. Scrugham of Nevada, Gov. Franklin S. Billings of Vermont, Gov. Walter M. Pierce of Oregon, Gov. A. T. Hannett of New Mexico, Gov. W. P. Hunt of Arizona, Gov. Martin Edwin Trapp of Oklahoma and Gov. Tom J. Terral of Arkansas.

F. P.-L. Declares Quarterly Dividend; $2.00 Per Share

At a meeting held onMay 10, the Board of Directors of Famous Players-Lasky Corporation declared the regularly quarterly dividend of $2.00 per share on the common stock, payable July 1st, 1926 to stockholders of record at the close of business on June 15th, 1926. The books will not close.

Survey Shows 43 Per Cent. of Originals Next Year

Jesse L. Lasky's Contention in A. M. P. A. Speech Borne Out; Adaptations on Wane; Amateur Scripts "Out," However

By L. C. Moen

WHEN Jesse L. Lasky predicted in a talk last week before the A. M. P. A., that practically 50 per cent. of all features during the coming season would be based upon stories written expressly for the screen, and that 80 per cent. of the successes would come from the ranks of the ''originals,'' the statement came as something of a revelation.

Those who have followed the screen since the pioneer days will recall the manner in which the first and enduring foundation of the photoplay's popularity was based upon original story material—the rise of such screen writers as C. Gardner Sullivan, Monte M. Katterjohn, John Emerson and Anita Loos, L. Case Russell and others—to say nothing of the horde of amateurs who submitted scenarios in the hope of receiving a check for from $5 to $25 (later, even $50 a reel!), but who usually received instead a neatly printed slip setting forth that ''we regret to state that, after careful reading, we find this scenario unavailable'' (whatever that meant!)

Then came mounting production costs and a general unwillingness to stake great sums of money on a story that had not proved its popularity on the boards or between the covers of a book or magazine. Competitive bidding sent the cost of screen rights to plays and fiction skyrocketing, until the author's check in some cases came to be as large as the production cost of a very fair feature. Authors began writing novels and stage pieces with an eye on the screen, frequently to the detriment of the book or play.

Presently producers began to be unpleasantly aware that although in buying a previously published or produced work they were purchasing the combined story judgment of the publishing and theatrical worlds, the use of a play or book was no guarantee of a good picture, and that purchased second-hand box-office value did not carry a weak picture as far as it theoretically should have. Several of the unexpected million-dollar successes came from stories which first saw the light of day in celluloid form—and gradually the idea began to crystallize that a successful picture was one based on a good story, whether previously produced or published or not—and with the crystallization of that idea began a faint murmur demanding a place for the original screen story—not the hasty improvisation of other days, but a screen drama written as carefully and reflectively as a novel or play—and here and there arose prophets who dared say that some day the screen would not be a parasitic art, but would create its own stories and tell them in its own way.

That day is dawning! Following recent statements by Lasky, Louis B. Mayer and Irving Thalberg, Earl Hudson and others, MOTION PICTURE NEWS this week set out to learn just what is happening in regard to original stories—not to prove or disprove any pet theories, but to get at the facts. Ten companies were selected as representing a fair cross-section of the industry, and data were obtained from them on all 1926-27 productions definitely selected regarding the source of story material. The tabulated results, briefly, are as follows:

	Original	Adapted
Associated Exhibitors	32	24
Famous Players	22	20
Film Booking Offices	41	9
First National	6	34
Fox Films	6	46
Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer	30	22
Producers Dist. Corp.	6	35
United Artists	1	4
Universal	9	19
Warner Bros.	20	15
Totals	173	228

Out of 401 feature productions of all types on which advance information is available for the 1926-27 season, 173, or 43 per cent., will be based upon original stories. This leaves perhaps three hundred features unaccounted for, but a careful survey of the situation indicates that these will not alter the ratio materially. Companies not included divide about equally between originals and adaptations, and the remaining product of companies shown in the table will be purchased on the same general policy as that used on the stories listed above. It is even quite possible that, should this development prove satisfactory, plans for the remainder of the 1926-27 season may bring the percentage of originals well over the 50 per cent. mark.

It is particularly noteworthy that nearly all of the real specials are either based on originals or on stories which have been so completely reworked as to be virtually new creations. ''The Deluge,'' ''Old Ironsides,'' ''Wings,'' ''The Rough Riders,'' ''Her Honor the Governor,'' ''Three Bad Men,'' and many, many others among the outstanding productions of each company will be stories of, by and for the screen.

It is necessary to point out, however, that this in no sense means a renewed market for the amateur scenario. The screen original of today—and tomorrow—must be as soundly written and fully developed as an acceptable book or play. These originals are being written, in nearly every case, by staff writers or by prominent authors. In the not far distant future, a story will be purchased, not because it is a published book or a produced play, and not because it is an original screen story—but because it is a good story for the screen.

And now we will turn the rostrum over to some of the executives and scenario chiefs who were interviewed in gathering this material.

Jesse L. Lasky, in his talk before the A. M. P. A. last week, said, in touching upon the question of stories:

''If we have one serious problem it is the source of our material. Our material comes largely from the play and novel. The current plays, at least the outstanding successes for the most part, are not fit to discuss in the family circle; I know I can't. And, of course, they are not fit for pictures. This applies also to current novels, and their extremely censorable text. Nevertheless, we are forced or have been forced to look to these sources for our material. Now, I am predicting one thing, that is, the day of the original is here. 'The Big Parade' is an original, 'The Ten Commandments' is an original, and of the seventy-five pictures that we are going to release next season, 'Old Ironsides' is an original, and so is 'The Rough Riders.'

''It is simply a fact that a producer can take a topic that is of interest to the public and you will get a profit on your investment. And I think the answer as to what is wrong with the movies is that we are too much dependent upon the novel and the current plays. Next season more than 50 per cent. of the pictures and I venture to say even 80 per cent. of the outstanding successes will be originals by men who have written in terms of the screen; by men of brains and men of letters.''

Irving Thalberg, in an interview while he was in New York recently, declared that Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer would soon have its production on a basis where three-fourths of its pictures would be from original stories. The success of ''The Big Parade,'' he said, had much to do with that decision. He felt that one strong argument for the original was that the producer was given credit for giving something to the world, whereas in the case of an adaptation, it must receive critical comparison with the book or play and even if done perfectly would be considered merely ''a faithful adaptation'' and not a distinct creation.

Louis B. Mayer expressed similar sentiments here recently, adding that a motion picture which would number its spectators in millions need not rest on the foundation of a book or play familiar to thousands only.

James R. Grainger of Fox, took a somewhat different stand, although emphasizing the fact that Fox would always purchase a good story, regardless of its source, if it were really meritorious. Grainger takes the stand that the Fox schedule, based almost entirely upon plays and books, eliminates the gambling element in picture making.

In the old days when ninety per cent. of the productions were made from original screen stories it always was a gamble whether the picture, even if well made, would hit the chord of public appeal, according to Grainger. The audience value of a screen attraction was mere guesswork.

One of the biggest reasons why Fox Films has purchased such a great number of successful stage plays and novels for this season's productions, Grainger says, is to make certain that the general themes of the stories would meet with the approval of the public.

"The plays and books which Fox is bringing to the screen already have proved their popularity," he says. "We have purchased only such stage successes as were easily adaptable to the screen—in fact only such plays as would be enhanced in entertainment value by the wider scope of the camera.

"Every one of these plays and books is known throughout the country. Their titles have a definite box office value and their general themes have been tested and found desirable by a vast portion of the nation's theatregoers.

"The exhibitor can't afford to gamble on whether his audience will approve a picture, which is the case when he plays a production based on an original screen story, and we can't afford to make pictures if the audience appeal is in doubt. Of course there are a number of brilliant writers who contribute to the silent drama whose works are always popular. Their attractions are sure fire, for they have learned the art of pleasing the public, but such writers are very few in number."

Carl Laemmle, president of Universal, pointed out that the first essential is a good story, regardless of its origin. He said:

"About 30 per cent. of our features for the Greater Movie List, the 1926-27 product, will be from original stories. Universal's policy on story buying is based solely on story values. We are not attempting to increase our percentage of original stories. When we find a story that suits our needs we buy it, whether it be a novel, a play, a magazine story or an original. Universal's future plans contemplate only a well-rounded selection of box-office pictures, some adapted from Broadway stage successes, some from best sellers, some from national magazine favorites and some direct from the pens of popular writers."

Oscar A. Price, president of Associated Exhibitors, took a firm stand for the original story, expressing his views as follows:

"Stories written directly for the screen are much to be preferred to adaptations, when the writer possesses a comprehensive knowledge of what the screen requires. More than just literary ability is required. Scenarists must possess the ability to dramatize an idea in pictures.

"Most of our creative minds are bent upon developing their ideas through the medium of the short story and the novel. Little more than the central theme, or idea, of these tales is suitable for a scenario. Although we purchase numerous published stories for picture purposes, much possible screen material is lost through the writer's love of phraseology, which often obscures his original idea. Screen writing should be done in a more straightforward manner.

"Wherever authors show originality in the plot and development of their stories, we have possible screen material. Other points then must be considered, such as suitability for players available, cost of production, markets for pictures of that particular nature, and so on.

"More and more it is evident that we must spend more time on scripts prior to production. Just as most stories are rewritten many times before publication, scripts ought to be thoroughly gone over by a competent production staff and, if possible, the director, before actual camera work starts.

"When the industry has developed sufficient screen writers to supply its needs, adaptations will become a rarity. Until then we shall continue to purchase stories principally because of their central idea, even though the tale must be practically rewritten before it is suitable for picturizing."

Irvin Cobb who has signed a contract with Cecil B. De Mille to write "Turkish Delight," a comedy.

Commenting on the policy of First National in the matter of securing material for picture production, Florence Strauss, scenario editor, said that the company she represents has never been so well supplied with stories of a popular character suitable to screen presentation.

Mrs. Strauss expressed the belief that there has been no real change in the script market and that the general public is being misled by talk of the readiness of companies to receive original stories. Mrs. Strauss feels that this is unfair to amateur writers in that it will hold out false hopes and cause scenario departments to be flooded with manuscripts. An analysis of the product announced for the coming year, according to the First National scenario editor, will reveal that the great majority of the pictures scheduled by the leading companies for the coming year are based on the works of popular writers who have been placed under contract to supply material for certain stars.

"This," said Mrs. Strauss, "does not materially alter the situation. It merely means that playwrights and novelists of proven ability are writing directly for the screen first and in most cases arranging for book or serial publication or stage presentation after the screen story has been prepared. The fact that so many leading authors are under contract to supply a large percentage of the material that will be used during the new season may be expected to limit rather than expand the opportunities for favorable consideration of unsolicited contributions from outside sources.

"First National has been fortunate in getting the rights to many popular plays and books and also in bringing about closer relations with authors familiar with the needs of the screen and of the stars appearing in First National pictures."

John C. Brownell, head of Film Booking Offices' Eastern Scenario Department, says that F. B. O. always has approved of original stories for motion picture production.

"Our doors are wide open," says Brownell. "This department will welcome novel and interesting stories whether the authors are popular and widely known or comparatively or completely unknown. Of course, a big name is an asset, particularly in the box office, but not a necessity.

"I believe that original stories are coming more and more in favor with producers, especially as the supply of published novels and serials, suitable for adaptation to the screen, becomes smaller and smaller. Libraries have been fine-tooth combed for motion picture material and every new novel and magazine story as well as stage play scrutinized as a picture possibility, but I doubt if this source will ever near exhaustion. But there never has been such a demand for original stories as there is today."

That in a few years' time ninety per cent. of motion picture stories will be originals written directly for the screen by studio-trained authors, is the belief of J. G. Hawks, production editor of the F. B. O. studios.

"The field of successful books, plays and short stories is rapidly being exhausted as suitable film material," says Mr. Hawks. "The fallacy of assuming that every big arrival on the stage and in the book store is per se good film material has been exploded. The idea of taking a 'best seller' and trading on the name of the author, whether or not a good, logical picture can be made from it, frequently has proved disastrous. The technique of the screen is by its very nature so different from that of the stage or the novel that this process can succeed only in rare instances.

"For this reason an increasing number of picture stories are being turned out each year by scenario men, both free lance and of the studio staff, who are trained in film requirements and who realize both the limitations and the possibilities of the screen. The late Tom Ince was a pioneer in this field, and nearly all his productions were made from original stories, written by his own staff. I do not mean by this that the aspiring but untrained amateur is going to rise to immediate fame by swamping the scenario departments with hastily scrawled scripts—it takes years of intensive work in actual contact with the studio to qualify for real film writing.

"But I do believe that the day is at hand when, except for an occasional famous best-seller that happens to possess screen adaptability, practically all motion pictures will be 'shot' directly from suitable stories turned out by authors intimately connected with the industry. It is the only logical solution, and one that is to the best interests of all concerned."

For National Figure as M.P.T.O. Head

Mid-West Delegates Will Urge Plan at Los Angeles—Other Big Topics Slated for Convention

A STRONG movement is under way in the M. P. T. O. A. to engage a national figure as head of the organization. It was learned this week that this plan is being championed by the Mid-West, whose delegates will go to Los Angeles prepared to seek its ratification by the national convention.

The proposal was informally discussed last week by the group of exhibitor leaders who assembled at the convention of the Northwest M. P. T. O. at Minneapolis. These included R. F. Woodhull, national president; Joseph M. Seider, business manager; W. A. Steffes, head of the Northwest organization; R. R. Biechele, President of Kansas-Missouri; H. M. Richey, general manager of Michigan M. P. T. O.; Henry Staab, secretary of the Wisconsin unit; Frank J. Rembusch, president of the M. P. T. O. of Indiana; Jack Miller, of Illinois; Theodore L. Hays, Minneapolis, and others.

A representative of MOTION PICTURE NEWS was informed this week by Joseph M. Seider, whose work as business manager has been the outstanding feature of M. P. T. O. A. history this year, that he was in favor of the "big man" idea, provided sufficient funds were raised to pay the large salary that would be necessary to obtain a national figure, and to maintain the offices and staff that he would require. Mr. Seider declared that the necessary finances would have to be in sight, before the proposition could be considered practical. Among the other important topics that will come up at Los Angeles will be the creation of six regional offices for the M. P. T. O. A., probably in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Louisville, Dallas and one other city.

National and State Exhibitor Leaders Gathered at Minneapolis Last Week. (Top Row, left to right): R. R. Biechele, Kansas-Missouri; Frank J. Rembusch, Indiana; Theodore L. Hays and A. A. Kaplan, Minnesota; Jack Miller, Illinois; W. A. Steffes, President, M.P.T.O. of Northwest; Mrs. M. E. Brinkman, A. Brinkman and Mrs. A. Brinkman, Bemidji, Minn. (Center Row) H. M. Richey, Michigan; R. F. Woodhull, President, and Joseph M. Seider, Business Manager, M.P.T.O.A. (Bottom Row) Oliver Rowe, State Theatre, St. Paul; Joseph Friedman, Tower Theatre, St. Paul; John Piller, Valley City, North Dakota, and Henry Staab, Wisconsin

Another question for the convention relates to the creation of Exhibitor Boards of Trade to match the Film Boards of Trade in the handling of arbitration cases. Specifically, the purpose would be to have the exhibitor boards continually advised of developments elsewhere in the country, so that an interchange of arbitration rulings and information may be at the disposal of the exhibitor arbitrators and litigants, in the same manner as now handled by the exchange members of the arbitration tribunals.

Those who favor this plan believe that it will aid the fairness and completeness of arbitration.

Plans are also under way for the issuing of a reel similar to Movie Chats, which was released some years ago by the M. P. T. O. A. through Hodkinson. This plan has a direct bearing on the "big man" idea in that it would provide finances and would also give the M. P. T. O. A. a powerful publicity medium with the public. The treasuries of state exhibitor units would benefit through the plan, receiving a certain percentage of the gross according to the bookings in each state.

Overbuilding and theatre encroachments will also occupy a big share of the spotlight at Los Angeles.

National Headquarters is daily receiving news of the appointment of exhibitor delegates and arrangements for special trains and other accommodations, all of which indicate a big attendance at the convention. The New York delegation will leave on a special train, Sunday, May 23, and will be seven days en route to the West Coast. The Chicago train will include the Illinois contingent and exhibitors from Minnesota and the Dakotas.

Plans to Enlarge Kans., Mo., M. P. T. O.

TO tie up exhibitor members and association advertising so closely that the burden will be light and the result far reaching is the plan of C. E. Cook, business manager of the M. P. T. O. of Kansas and Missouri, to strengthen the membership of his organization.

"The time has come when all 'talk' should be eliminated and real work substituted," said Mr. Cook. "There is an army of reformers, unprincipled politicians and what not ever ready to pounce upon the back of the exhibitor from behind if he is caught unprepared. It is actually a joke that such a powerful industry should not be more strongly organized in the exhibiting end. We are organized, to be sure, but there remains such an untrodden field that we must lose no time about finishing the job."

An effort will be made to arrange a slide advertising contract in cities of any logical size, the smaller towns to be classified as suburbs of the larger ones where contracts are entered into. Through such an arrangement the dues of the M. P. T. O. of Kansas and Missouri will be reduced to the minimum.

All Theatres Adopt Daylight Saving in Portland, Me.

The theatres of Portland, Maine, will operate on daylight saving time although the city and street clocks will remain on standard time.

Toronto Asks M.P.T.O.A. 1927 Convention

A HUGE Charleston contest was being staged in Massey Hall, Toronto's largest music hall, May 14, under the direct auspices of the Ontario Division of the M.P.T.O. for the purpose of starting a fund to secure the 1927 National Convention of the National M.P.T.O. to Toronto, it is announced.

The Ontario M.P.T.O. has appointed eight delegates for the 1926 convention at Los Angeles June 1 to 5 and this delegation is to make an official bid for the next exhibitors' congress for Toronto. Those appointed to the Ontario delegation include J. C. Brady, proprietor of the Madison Theatre, Toronto, and president of the Ontario M.P.T.O.; H. Alexander of the Park Theatre, Toronto; J. C. Cohen, Classic Theatre, Toronto; H. Ginsler, Iola Theatre; Sam Lent, Dundas Playhouse; George Lester, King Theatre; Sam Bloom of the Danforth, LaPlaza and Christie Theatres, and Ray Lewis, all of Toronto, the last named being secretary of the Ontario Division.

Time to "Debunk," Says Lasky

False Publicity and Over-Exploitation Harmful, Paramount Executive Declares

IN an address before the Associated Motion Picture Advertisers last Thursday, Jesse L. Lasky, vice-president in charge of production for Paramount, declared that the time has come to "debunk" the motion picture industry. Lasky is one of the 12 immortals of the film industry elected by the A. M. P. A. last fall.

In admonishing the advertising and publicity men to place less emphasis on trivial things, Lasky said:

"When I say 'debunk,' don't misunderstand me. This is what I mean: You must help us and help the public to maintain a proper sense of values. I do not think it is good publicity to over-exploit a picture, a star, a director—or even a producer. The public today is picture wise. You can put on the greatest ballyhoo ever seen since the days of Barnum, but if your picture does not stand up on the screen that ballyhoo is not only wasted, but it is harmful to us and to the public.

"Do not feed pap to the newspapers and magazines about our stars. It does not make them any greater artists if you tell the public that they like pink lemonade for breakfast, or that they have to have their limousines scented with incense. What the public is interested in today is not the star, not the director, but the amount of real entertainment given on the screen.

"I said a moment ago that the public is picture-wise. By that I mean that at last the public has been educated up to the point where it simply demands good clean entertainment in return for the money it pays at the box office. I am convinced the public does not care who is in the picture so long as the picture itself tells an interesting dramatic story and the actors do their jobs competently.

"Over-exploitation of a star means that we as well as our star gets a false idea of his or her value. We have to pay him a greater salary than the box office tells us he is worth. We have to put up with a great deal of nonsense that runs into money.

"We are in the midst of a very interesting and important cycle of comedy; more than ever, probably since the beginning of pictures, the public is taking to comedy. The reaction against the more or less stereotyped dramatic motion picture plot has been reflected in the demand for comedy. In support of this fact let me call your attention to the success of "Behind the Front," and "The Cohens and Kellys"—the public wants to laugh. This will continue during all next season and for some time to come. One of the real problems is this: when a motion picture makes a hit, you fellows, exhibitors or distributors and salesmen, start saying, 'Give us some more "Ten Commandments," "Covered Wagons," "Behind the Front," "Cohens and Kellys." The moment you make a good one you ought to go far away from this particular subject.

"It might be interesting for you to know of our effort for new faces—about the Paramount School. It is an absolutely unquestioned success, the result of training new faces—young men and women—training them carefully and scientifically to become dignified, professional people of the screen. These pupils are being put across and I want to say that we are receiving excellent cooperation from the industry in loaning them out."

Keith Buys Jake Wells' Chain

Vaudeville Circuit to Produce Special Prologues for P. D. C. Pictures, Report

PURCHASE by Keith-Albee and Wilmer & Vincent of Jake Wells' share in the Wells, Wilmer & Vincent Co., of Richmond and Norfolk, the incorporation of the Keith Massachusetts Corp., and reports that Keith will produce prologues for the P. D. C. specials, were the principal developments this week following the announcement last Wednesday that Keith had acquired a half interest in Producers Distributing Corporation.

At the time of the recent stock issue floated by Keith-Albee, with a $25,000,000 total authorized, it was stated that eventually all of the Keith houses would come under the ownership of the parent company, many of them now being operated by local corporations. Observers see in the Jake Wells sale the first of a series of moves on the part of Keith-Albee in the direction of theatre expansion.

Wells' equity is believed to have been upwards of $2,000,000. He announces that he will retire from the theatrical field. The houses involved include the Academy, Bijou, Broadway, Colonial, Fifth Street, Isis, Lyric, Odeon, National and New Victor in Richmond, Va., and the Academy of Music, American, Noeva, Strand and Wells in Norfolk. Several groups have been negotiating for the circuit.

The Keith Massachusetts Corp. has been formed with Robert G. Larsen as president, William E. Collins, treasurer; Alfred W. Lauder, Ralph R. Larsen and Bartholomew E. Grady, directors. Five hundred shares of no par value have been issued.

Details are lacking on the report that Keith will produce prologues for the P. D. C. specials, but indications are that it is correct. Officials of both organizations are so busily engaged in arranging the practical details of the new deal that little information is available.

New Company of Middletown, Conn., Incorporated

Connecticut Cities Entertainment Corp., Middletown, Conn., has been incorporated in Connecticut with $60,000 capital, to own and operate theatres and places of amusement. Theodore Gutman, 905 Foster Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., heads the company.

Crosland Will Direct Barrymore for U. A.

ALAN CROSLAND has been signed by Joseph M. Schenck to direct "The Vagabond Lover," John Barrymore's first starring vehicle for United Artists. Production is scheduled to be started in about two months.

Crosland has already directed Barrymore in two pictures.

New Companies Chartered in New York State

Motion picture companies chartered by the Secretary of State in Albany, during the past week, and incorporating in the business in New York State, included the following: Pitt-Townly, Inc., capitalized at $10,000, with Harry Hechheimer, Jeanette Gordon, John Behrman, New York City; United Cinema Company, Inc., $25,000; William C. Fleming, Frank J. Dillon, Edward C. Kerr, New York City; Westbury Theatre Corporation, North Hempstead, $125,000; John R. Hill, Westbury; Ormond C. Smith, Jericho; Salvatore Calderone, Hempstead; Sutter Amusement Corporation, capitalization not stated, Archie Weltman, Jay M. Eisenberg, Beatrice Zeleno, New York City; Kime, Incorporated, capitalization not stated; G. D. Murphy, R. C. Richter, K. A. Maguire, New York City; Tivole Film Company, Inc., $10,000; Isidore Shapiro, M. D. Shapiro, Beatrice Dolnansky, New York City; Shallenberger Pictures Corporation, capitalization not stated; H. G. Kosch, E. Bregstein, E. Southami, New York City; Artlee Pictures Corporation, $1,000, A. A. Lee, William J. Lee, William S. Barrett, New York City; Zoephone Pictures, Incorporated, $15,000, Dwight B. Eldred, Earl I. Sponable, Sherman Parker, Auburn; Combined Film Laboratories, Inc., $150,000, L. J. Rosett, New York City; Allen Deutsch, Samuel Hart, Brooklyn.

American Films Favored in Poland

During 1925 the Polish Ministry of the Interior registered 1,189 films totaling 1,386,130 metres, of which 629 were American products, according to a report to the Department of Commerce from Commercial Attache Allen, at Warsaw. The total length of the American films registered during the year was 743,893 metres.

France, with a total registration of 283 films, followed the United States as a source of the motion picture imports of Poland in 1925; Germany ranked third with 130 films registered; while Austria supplied 81 films to the total.

F. B. O. Unit Supervisors Appointed

The unit system of production has been adopted by the Film Booking Offices, with the appointment of J. E. Hawks and F. D. Ormston as production editors of the schedule for 1926-27.

Hawks will be production editor of twenty-six pictures while Ormston will be in charge of sixteen.

Stanley Circuit Expansion Continues

Report Addition of More Houses Through New Fabian Deals; Levy Chain Purchase Pending—New Acquisitions by Other Companies

WHILE theatre circles still vibrated with echoes of the Stanley-Mark Strand-Fabian-Rowland and Clark merger, announced last week, reports developed concerning the further extension of the Stanley company through the acquisition to the amalgamated interests of more New Jersey houses through deals being negotiated by Jacob Fabian. These reports have it that twenty more theatres in New Jersey are soon to be listed under the Stanley banner. Fabian has already bought the Eureka Theatre in Hackensack from Morris Kutinsky, and is said to be negotiating to take over the Joseph Stern circuit of some twenty theatres. In addition to this, it is understood that Brattner, Pollack and Goulding, who recently merged their holdings with the Fabian chain, are planning to erect a theatre in Newark. Meanwhile, the negotiations under which it is expected the Stanley Co. will purchase control of the Colonel Fred Levy chain in Louisville, are being continued.

Important theatre news of the week included an announcement that Fox had acquired the property at the southwest corner of Flatbush Ave. and Nevins St., Brooklyn, now improved with the Cowperthwait Building, and plans to erect a theatre, apartment and office building to cost about $10,000,000. The purchase price is given as $3,000,000. The theatre to occupy the building, which is to be 12 stories high, will seat about 2,500. The location, one of the choicest in downtown Brooklyn, is within a block of the Mark Strand and only a short distance from Loew's Metropolitan and the Orpheum, the Keith house.

On May 1 all seven theatres of the circuit operated by Carr & Schad, Inc., of Reading passed into new control. Five of them, in Reading, went under the management of the Franklin Theatre Company, organized by Ben Amsterdam and Lewis Korson, of the Masterpiece Film Attractions, and the other two, in Lebanon, passed under the control of the Penn-Steitz Amusement Company of that city.

Dr. H. J. Schad, head of the Carr & Schad Corporation, while practically retiring from the theatre business, will be nominally associated with the new owners of the theatres in Reading but only in an advisory capacity. He relinquishes his Reading theatres under long term leases to Franklin Company which also has the privilege of purchasing. The tenure of the leases calls for a payment of $1,600,000 to Carr & Schad.

The five leading theatres affected are the San Toy, Arcadia, Princess and Schuylkill Avenue Theatres,—all movie houses,—and the Strand, a legitimate theatre.

The acquisition of the leases on these houses is said to forecast the formation of a new chain of theatres under Amsterdam and Korson management, and there are reports that announcement soon will be made of additional theatres in other cities to be included in their circuit. The five Reading theatres have a combined seating capacity of about 6,000.

The two Lebanon theatres which pass from Carr & Schad to the control of the Penn-Steitz Amusement Company, are the Colonial and the Capitol.

Plans for two first run theatres in Lawrence, Kas., and Topeka, Kas., to be operated by Universal, are virtually completed, it was announced this week. Although the sites of the theatres have been determined, they were not revealed. Plans also are completed for a Universal first run house in St. Joseph, Mo., while the Gillioz Theatre in Springfield has been leased by "U." With the recent control of Capitol Enterprises Theatres, Universal now is much more firmly established as a theatre owner in the Kansas City territory than any other producer.

Final papers have been sent to Lansing for the incorporation of the W. S. Butterfield Theatres, Inc., which consists of ten thousand shares of preferred stock at $100.00 each, and fifty thousand shares of common at $10.00 each. This new corporation is to absorb the other companies in the state and hold all of the theatres in which Mr. Butterfield is personally interested. It is a closed corporation and there will be no stock offered to the public.

Theatre construction continues unabated in New England.

It is understood that Arthur Friend, who has just completed and opened the Roger Sherman Theatre at New Haven and whose new house is under construction in New London and will be ready early in the Fall, has leased for a term of years the theatre which is to be erected on the site of the present Massasoit Hotel in Springfield, Mass. This will be one of the largest playhouses in Western Massachusetts.

Jake Conn is building a new theatre in Olneyville, R. I. He operates the City Theatre in Providence. It is expected that the new house will be ready about Sept. 1. It will seat about 2,000.

Several hearings have been held at New Haven where Associated Theatres, Inc., are seeking a permit to build a new theatre on Whalley Avenue. Petitioners presented a petition signed by 900 favoring the theatre at the last hearing while opponents presented an opposition signed by about 300. During the hearing it developed that a permit for erection of the building has already been issued to the Associated Theatres, Inc., and that the hearings are being held rather in the hope of producing information which will result in the withdrawal of objection from those who have been opposed to it.

With the destruction of the Colonial Theatre in Augusta, Me., by fire, it is understood that one of the large circuits is actively at work with plans, seeking a site, possibly the one on which the Colonial stood, with a view to erecting a much larger motion picture theatre. Manager William Williamson of the Colonial states that his company will rebuild. This may result in two new theatres for Augusta.

Rosenthal Brothers Amusement Co., Inc., of New York City, are negotiating for the lease for a period of years, of Crescent Park, Providence, for $20,000 a year, or for its purchase for $300,000, from the Looff estate. They now operate two theatres in New York and their plans for development include a new theatre for the park, it is understood, if negotiations are successful.

Levy Manager F. N. New York Exchange

JULES LEVY has been appointed manager of the New York Exchange of First National Pictures, Inc., according to an announcement made by A. W. Smith, Jr., eastern sales manager, thus filling a vacancy made by the resignation of S. W. Hand.

Levy was previously assistant general sales manager for the Universal Company and more recently assistant general sales manager for United Artists.

F. P.-L. Canadian Corp. Completes Extension

FAMOUS Players Canadian Corporation, Toronto, has issued a financial report for the first half of the fiscal year, which started September 1st last, the details indicating that operating profits were running at a higher rate than during the fiscal year of 1924-25.

The statement is made that Famous Players Canadian Corp. has completed its programme of extension and acquisition of new theatres. The extent of this broadening out is shown by the increase in annual gross receipts from $2,018,000 in 1921 to $4,280,000 in 1925 and by the increases in value of theatre properties held by the company during the same period from $2,367,000 to $5,237,000. During these years the company has written off $729,000 out of earnings for depreciation and the $5,237,000 is the net value after deduction charges had been made.

De Luxe Film Company Holds Convention

ABOUT twenty people gathered at the Ritz-Carlton hotel in Atlantic City recently for the convention held by the De Luxe Film Company, of Philadelphia, of which Oscar Neufeld is president.

Sam Sax and Lon Young of Gotham productions outlined their company's product for the visiting salesmen of the regional distributor and they were followed by Milton Simons and Richard Weil, of Rayart Pictures, who also explained the plans of their company. Joe Seider, business manager of the M. P. T. O. A., and L. Rosenthal also addressed the meeting.

Neufeld announced that he would hold meetings of similar nature at regular intervals and a plan is being worked out to hold an enlarged joint convention next year with other regional distributors.

Walker to Lay Corner-Stone

Mayor of New York to be Present at Paramount Broadway Building Ceremony

ON Wednesday, May nineteenth, Mayor Walker of New York will wield the golden trowel at the corner-stone laying of the Paramount Broadway Building at Times Square, New York City. The ceremony will take place at noon. Lee J. Eastman, president of the Packard Motor Company and the Broadway Association, will act as master of ceremonies. Will H. Hays, president of the M. P. P. D. A., and the Mayor will be the only speakers at the ceremony which will last about thirty minutes.

Over two hundred guests have been invited including motion picture stars and executives and the press. The stone will be placed at the center of the building. Amplifiers will be placed so that all may hear the Mayor and Mr. Hays.

JAMES J. WALKER

B'klyn Exhibitors Incorporate

Company Formed to Protect Interests; May Affect Entire State Organization

FEDERATED Theatre Owners, Inc., an organization of Brooklyn exhibitors and capitalized under the laws of New York State for $500,000, marks a step which may affect the entire exhibitor organizations in the Empire State.

Briefly, the purpose of this organization is to safeguard the interests and investments of Brooklyn exhibitors and to give financial aid when necessary. An example of just what they propose to do is given in this instance: Should a territory where an exhibitor is enjoying a reasonable amount of prosperity be encroached upon in the way of a competitive pool of property for another theatre site, Federated Theatre Owners will fight the cause of that exhibitor. In short, it is a blow aimed at the powerful circuits; however, only theatre owners who are rated as financially sound will be admitted to membership.

At the organization's first meeting held Thursday, May 6, the following officers were elected: Rudolph Sanders, president; Louis Shiffman, secretary, and Eugene Zerner, treasurer. All three have long been prominent in Brooklyn exhibitor circles.

The following Brooklyn theatres have already subscribed: The Globe, Marathon, Etude, Imperial and Jefferson; and fifty other houses are said to have also applied for membership. The latter will include several circuits and a committee has been named to investigate the applicants.

It is said that a similar move has been suggested at recent meetings of the T. O. C. C. of N. Y., but that up to the present, efforts to get together have proved fruitless.

Constructive Policy Adopted by Parent Teachers Association

A BROADMINDED and constructive policy of supporting the best productions in order that the demand for them will insure the supply has been outlined to members of the Parent-Teachers Association as the course to be pursued by that organization in its relation to motion pictures.

Resolutions adopted at the closing session of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers in Atlanta this week called for parental responsibility for the pictures seen by children and urged on all members to keep closely in touch with local exhibitors.

The Congress in Atlanta was attended by approximately 800 delegates who came from every state in the Union.

The full resolution adopted regarding motion pictures follows:

"Whereas, The National Congress of Parents and Teachers believes that in all its policies and actions its first responsibility is the individual child, and

"Whereas, The securing of good and clean motion pictures requires individual action on the part of citizens, therefore,

"Be it Resolved, That the Congress of Parents and Teachers recommend to all its members the expression of approval or condemnation of pictures to the local exhibitor, to the end that by such methods a strong market may be created for the highest type of films and thus the business law of supply and demand may have its effect upon the manufacturer and producer."

Mrs. A. H. Reeve, of Ambler, Pa., president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, was unanimously re-elected to lead the organization. Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs, of Austin, Texas, was elected fourth vice-president, under whose jurisdiction the motion picture department comes. Mrs. M. V. Kerns, of Philadelphia, Pa., is the national chairman of motion pictures.

Theatre Owners of North Caro'ina to Convene

The North Carolina Theatre Owners will meet this summer at the Oceonic Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, N. C. The dates are June 13, 14 and 15. They will discuss whether they will affiliate with the National Association.

Rumor Links Mary and Doug With Reinhardt

MARY PICKFORD and Douglas Fairbanks are reported enroute to Venice to meet Max Reinhardt, who staged "The Miracle," which Morris Gest presented, allegedly with regard to possible direction by Reinhardt of a film which Miss Pickford and Fairbanks are known to have in mind for a joint appearance.

According to the report published in a trade paper, "They are contemplating a joint appearance in a production under the artistic guidance of Max Reinhardt and the technical direction of Ernest Lubitsch, the scenario to be written by Karl von Moeller, author of "The Miracle."

No definite cable information from either Miss Pickford or Fairbanks confirmed the European news story.

Production Completed on "Beau Geste"

Filming of Paramount Special Entails Great Difficulty; Two Thousand Men on Desert Location for Twelve Weeks

ONE of the most difficult feats in the production of motion pictures was encountered by Herbert Brenon, Paramount producer, when he started the filming of the desert sequences in "Beau Geste," P. C. Wren's story of the Foreign Legion, which is one of the special attractions on the Paramount schedule for the fifteenth anniversary group.

Two thousand men and eighteen hundred head of live-stock including horses, mules and camels, lived on the American desert, thirty miles from the nearest base of supplies, for twelve weeks.

In building and maintaining Camp Paramount, supplies were transported over the state highway to within three and a half miles of the camp site. As the trail left the highway a plank road a mile and a half long was constructed through the desert, terminating at a 500-foot dune too steep to permit descent or ascent of vehicles. To overcome this obstacle, a chute was built and material was shot down this to the valley floor where it was reloaded on sand sleds drawn by specially constructed tractors.

Over this improvised plank roadway and sand 80,000,000 pounds of materials were transported to the camp depot. Every day shifts of 100 men each labored to keep the plank road clear of sand drifts, for if the transportation of food supplies were impeded, the health and life of the men and animals would be endangered.

Camp Paramount, standing alone on the hot and barren desert, possessed the following features: 1,800 head of livestock, including 25 camels; 350 tents, all floored; a well producing 50,000 gallons of water daily, a telephone system connecting headquarters, horse corral, property department, important sets, hospital, mess halls, wardrobe department, etc.; a water pipe system carrying water to within a few feet of every tent, a shower-bath for every 20 men in camp, four post offices distributed throughout the camp, which covered four and a half square miles; an electric lighting system, a clinic and a hospital with a physician-surgeon and trained nurses, a recreation tent 50 feet wide by 150 feet long for card-playing, radio concerts and concerts by the company orchestra; a mess hall 80 feet wide by 250 long where motion pictures were shown nightly, a clay tennis court and a Badminton court, a 16-foot canvas floored boxing ring.

Semi-military rules were observed, with reveille at 5:30 every morning, followed by breakfast a half-hour later. By 8:30 every man had his cot in order and was made-up and ready to start across the dunes on horseback for location. A long rest period was taken each noon to give the horses rest and to avoid filming during the hottest part of the day. The evening meal was served at 7 and at 10 taps was blown, and nearly 2,000 men slept like the dead until the next morning.

It required 17 trains to transport men, livestock and supplies from Los Angeles and other points to Yuma, Ariz., the nearest railroad approach to Camp Paramount.

During the course of production two airplanes were pressed into service to carry 100,000 rounds of blank cartridges to the camp.

Special blades six inches wide and 18 inches long had to be designed for the caterpillar tractors to pull the loaded sleds over the sand. These iron flanges made by Frank Blount, the studio representative who built the mammoth camp, succeeded where automobile, mule, steam winches and ordinary tractors had failed.

Featured in the picture are Ronald Colman, Alice Joyce, Noah Beery, Mary Brian, Neil Hamilton, William Powell, Ralph Forbes and Norman Trevor.

The scenes above give some idea of the elaborate preparations necessary for the production of "Beau Geste," Paramount's picturization of P. C. Wren's story of the Foreign Legion. In the upper left-hand corner are shown some of the 1800 head of cattle utilized, below that line-men installing the telephone system, and in the center the hospital tent. A close examination of the scene in the upper right hand corner shows how the Arab attack scenes were photographed. Below is the veterinarian's headquarters. Two thousand men spent twelve weeks on the American desert filming sequences for this Paramount special

Seek Reduction of Protection

Cleveland Exhibitors Set 6 Weeks as Limit of Protection to First Run Houses

CLEVELAND exhibitors have taken the stand that they will not play any pictures which carry more than six weeks' protection after the close of the first run engagement. In particular, their attitude affects "For Heaven's Sake" and "Stella Dallas." Both pictures have played locally first run, and both pictures announced, in their advertisements that the picture "will not be shown in any other Cleveland motion picture theatre until the fall." This announcement indicates that the first run exhibitor is receiving approximately three months protection. The local Paramount exchange however, states authoritatively that "For Heaven's Sake" is carrying only a four weeks' protection. "But," says the local exchange manager, E. H. Brauer, "the picture will not be available for further bookings until the fall. Not on the basis of protection, but on the basis of a policy affecting this one picture only. 'For Heaven's Sake' is being played on a percentage basis. It is sold individually, irrespective of other Paramount product. With the warm weather coming on, it is considered fair both to the distributor and to the exhibitor, to withdraw the picture until the opening of the fall season—probably sometime in August." No precedent is being established with "For Heaven's Sake," according to Manager Brauer. He says the same policy was used for "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" and for "Girl Shy."

Another angle of the situation has arisen where exhibitors booked pictures under the now defunct zoning plan, which guaranteed availability of the picture six weeks after the close of the first-run engagement, and are now being denied those bookings. The controversy centers around "The Bat" and "Kiki." A test case is now before the Film Board of Trade. "Kiki," bought under the zoning plan, is said to be held for longer protection now that the zoning plan is no longer operative. Is the contract made under the zoning plan binding now or not? That is the basic question that will be fought out on the battlefield of the Film Exchange Bldg. within the next few days.

Price Denies Any Change In Associated Personnel

OSCAR A. PRICE, President of Associated Exhibitors, Inc., made formal announcement this week that there had been no change made in the personnel of Associated Exhibitors, Inc.; that Mr. P. A. Powers is still chairman of the Board of Directors and has not severed his connections with the company; neither has there been any change of officers or directors.

"An important announcement will be made in the near future, which will be of interest to the trade," said Mr. Price.

"Since the advent of the present administration, the weekly receipts of Associated Exhibitors, Inc., have increased approximately 100 per cent. We have established studios in Los Angeles in which all productions intended for Associated release will be made under our own supervision. The studios are now in the hands of capable management and of men who have been in charge of production activities for many years. This supervision will assure our exhibitor friends of a program of pictures conceived and produced from a box-office angle.

"The activities of the company during the last six months have placed it in a very enviable position. Completely controlling, as it does, its production and sales organizations, the company is also extending its business into foreign countries and within a short time we hope to cover the entire globe.

"We are hopeful that Mr. Powers will find it convenient to continue as Chairman of our Board of Directors in view of his other interests which have called upon his time and efforts so that we may have the benefit of his mature and experienced judgment."

Laemmle, Jr., To Make Debut As Producer

CARL LAEMMLE, JR., son of the president of Universal Pictures Corporation, is to make his debut as screen author and producer. He will produce his own series of screen plays, "The Collegiates," with probably Arthur Lake, Raymond Keane, George Lewis or Matty Kemp playing the leads.

The young producer will not only take charge of the units making the pictures but will select the casts and the directors.

Work on the pictures will start at once.

Houses in Providence Doing Well Under New Law

Eleven theatres in Providence, R. I., are conducting Sunday shows under the recently enacted law. Reports show the Sunday evening performances well attended with smaller audiences in the afternoon although two theatres running specially good pictures report capacity business both afternoons and evenings.

Reports from other cities of the state show similar results. Programs thus far given are the same as on week-days, with the elimination of those vaudeville acts prohibited from Sunday showing and with occasional added features to take the place of such vaudeville acts. Houses running straight pictures have made no change in their regular showings.

Assistants Made Directors by Universal

Two assistants, Lou Collins and George Hunter, have been elevated to directorial positions at Universal City.

Collins was formerly assistant to Al Rogell while Hunter has been associated with Hoot Gibson's unit for several years. At present Collins is directing Curly Witzel in a series of westerns and Hunter is filming another series of the same type in which Fred Gilman appears.

Dittmar, of Kelley Films, Goes to Coast

Joseph W. Dittmar, associated for a number of years with Kelley Color Films, leaves soon for the Hollywood plant of the company. The Jersey office has been closed and activities will be concentrated in Hollywood.

New Corporation Formed By Shallenberger

A new company, The Shallenberger Pictures Corporation, was incorporated in Albany this week by W. E. Shallenberger president of Arrow Pictures Corporation, now in receivership.

Saul Harrison Returns from Trip

Saul Harrison, recently co-director with Morris Schwartz on the Jaffe picture, "Broken Hearts," and former assistant to Sid Olcott, has returned from a trip to the South.

F. B. O. Has 54 for 1926-27

Twelve Gold Bond Specials Included in Feature Production Schedule; Will Also Make One Hundred Short Subjects

FILM BOOKING OFFICES makes a complete and comprehensive statement this week covering both policy and product for the coming season of 1926-27. Fifty-four feature productions are to be made, these to include twelve Gold Bond Specials, and in addition, one hundred short subjects will be released.

The product, as a whole, will be superior to anything Film Booking Offices has offered exhibitors heretofore, says Joseph P. Kennedy, the new owner of the company. The twelve Gold Bonds head the list. These will be made from stories by Mary Roberts Rinehart, Peter B. Kyne, Gene Stratton-Porter, Kathleen Norris, Arthur Guy Empey and others of equal popularity.

"Bigger Than Barnum's," the first Gold Bond, is a circus story with many spectacular features, written by Arthur Guy Empey. Ralph Lewis, Viola Dana, George O'Hara and Ralph Ince play the four principal roles.

"Her Honor the Governor," with Pauline Frederick in the leading role, and a cast headed by Charles Coleman in support is a melodrama of women's great place in American politics today. The authors, Hyatt Daab and Weed Dickinson, wrote the story with Miss Frederick in mind.

"Laddie," and "The Magic Garden," both from the pen of Gene Stratton Porter, are two productions that will be filmed by the late novelist's son-in-law, J. Leo Meehan, for F. B. O. release.

"Hello Bill." a melodrama dealing, as its name would imply, with the Elks, will be one of the outstanding productions of the coming season. "Hello Bill" will lend itself greatly to Elks' support throughout the nation. "Tarzan and the Golden Lion," the latest Edgar Rice Burroughs Tarzan story, deals with his well-known fiction character in a series of new adventures.

"Her Father Said No" will be a rattling, rapid-fire comedy feature by H. C. Witwer, with a cast including Al Cooke, Kit Guard, Gertrude Short and other funmaking celebrities. Much of the humor takes place in a health resort, run by the young college boy who has turned prize fighter and who dares to aspire to the hand of a wealthy girl to the indignaton of her reformer-father.

"Kosher Kitty Kelly," adapted from the musical play of the same name, will be one of the Gold Bond productions in lighter vein. Viola Dana, Vera Gordon and Nat Carr will have important roles. "Rose of the Tenements," is an adaptation of John Moroso's story of life in the congested section of a big city, published as a novel under the title of "The Stumbling Herd."

"Mother," is one of the stories by Kathleen Norris and on the screen will present a theme entirely different from the other Gold Bond productions. It is a story of contrasts—the happy mother of a large family with her daily cares and household duties on the one hand, and care-free, bored "society" on the other, with the discontented daughter tasting the joys and sorrows of both to find that true happiness lies in motherhood and home.

"Breed of the Sea," by Peter B. Kyne, is another on the 1926-27 list. "The City of Shadows," one of the fifty-four, is a story by Mary Roberts Rinehart.

Four Fred Thomson super-productions head the list of feature releases. Stewart Edward White's stories, "The Two-Gun Man," "Arizona Nights," and "The Desert Legion," will furnish story material for the first three.

Eight pictures featuring Tom Tyler will be made, with the following stories, all hand-picked to suit the star as well as his Pals, the horse, Flash, the dog Beans and little Frankie Darro, the boy: "Ridin' 'Em Ragged," "Cyclone of the Range," "Lightnin' Lariat," "Cow Punchin' For Cupid," "Galloping Thunder," "Splitting the Breeze," "The Wyoming Whiz," and "Red Hot Hoofs."

Eight starring vehicles for Bob Custer have been selected in "The Double Handed Bandit," "Hair-Trigger Barton," "The Avenger," "Branded," "Two-Gun McCoy," "The Fighting Ranger," "Crashing Hoofs," and "The Desert Whirlwind."

Alberta Vaughn is this year graduated into a full-fledged star. Six productions will be made. The stories are "Ou, La! La " "Such a Little Pip," "The Heart Collector," "See If I Care," "Next Year's Model," "Whose Baby," "The Thrill Chaser," "The Merry Kiddo," "Funny Face," and "The Chic Chick."

Evelyn Brent will be seen in six productions to be selected from the following stories: "The Glorious Gamble," "High Stakes," "Larceny, Ltd.," "Limehouse Lou," "The Night Siren," "The Mad Girl of Moscow," "Pleasure Highway" and "The Girl Who Dared."

George O'Hara will return to the F. B. O. lot next season to make a series of six feature productions. The screen rights to "Crooks Tours," a play by James Henry O'Brien, has been secured for one of O'Hara's earliest productions and others will include "Get Set—Go" "The Bigger They Are—" "Irish Eyes," "Tornado Terry," "Going! Going! Gone!" and "The Lightning Chaser."

A series of four dog pictures also will be on the F. B. O. schedule for the coming season. These will present a new-comer in canine stardom, Ranger, a German police dog, which is said to be fully as intelligent and capable as any of the dogs already famous on the stage.

Thoroughly convinced that short subjects are steadily gaining in popularity and that they are worthy the best efforts of producers to raise the standard to the highest possible point, Film Booking Offices will lay particular stress on this form of motion picture entertainment.

Two new series of "featurettes," based on the magazine stories by H. C. Witwer, will head the short subjects. These will be "Bill Grimm's Progress," and "Wisecrackers." Margaret Morris has been engaged for the leading feminine role in "Bill Grimm's Progress," and Jack Luden will play opposite her. Gertrude Short and Grant Withers will be seen in the same series. Al Cooke and Kit Guard will continue in the new series.

F. B. O. will offer something new in the "Whirlwind Comedies," a series of twelve of which will be produced by Charley Bowers. After years of experimental work, Bowers has perfected the "Bowers' Process," by which anything is possible on the screen with either animate or inanimate objects. The process, which is kept secret, employs neither double exposure nor superimposing, and the results are extraordinary. These will be produced at the new studio Bowers has built in Long Island City especially for the purpose.

Contracts have been signed with the Standard Cinema Corporation for a series of two-reel comedies which will be known as Red Ribbon Standard Comedies. These will be produced under the supervision and direction of Joe Rock.

For the one-reel comedies F. B. O. has contracted for a series of twenty-six "Krazy Kat" cartoons, the work of "Bill" Nolan. There also will be a series of twenty-six "Alice Comedies," a combination of live character and cartoon, the latter the work of Walt Disney. Both series will be made under the supervision of M. J. Winkler.

Film Tax Statutes Meet Cold Reception

AS a result of the united opposition of Massachusetts exhibitors, distributors and the New England Film Board of Trade, two proposed tax measures have come to naught.

The bill for a proposed $5 inspection tax was killed in its entirety. The bill for an increased tax for Sunday licenses, which it was proposed to increase from $1 to $10 and to still further burden the industry by adding a fee of 50 cents for each reel approved for Sunday release, has been amended to a flat rate of $2 for Sunday licenses and no additional fee for viewing the reels.

Both measures were proposed by the Massachusetts Department of Public Safety, by Col. Alfred F. Foote, head of that department.

F. B. O. Buys Two Stories for Alberta Vaughn

Film Booking Offices have purchased two original stories for Alberta Vaughn's first series of starring vehicles. They are "Collegiate," by Jean Dupont, and "War and Helena," by Lila Gidley and Kay Clement. Both titles are tentative.

The series will consist of six and work will commence as soon as some additional stories are selected to fill out Miss Vaughn's program for the coming season.

Options have been exercised and contracts extended in the case of the three players above who will be seen in forthcoming Cecil B. De Mille production released through Producers Distributing Corporation. The players, left to right, are: Louis Natheaux, Sally Rand and Edmund Burns

De Mille Renews with Players

Several Members of Stock Company Get New Contracts as Reward for Good Work

OPTIONS have been exercised and contracts extended in the case of several players appearing in the Cecil B. De Mille productions for Producers Distributing Corporation release, as a reward of the good work performed by these actors in pictures made during the past year at the De Mille studio.

The option held by De Mille on the services of Louis Natheaux, who has appeared in "Silence," "Three Faces East," "Red Dice" and De Mille's personally directed production "The Volga Boatman," has been exercised and his contract extended for a long term.

Edmund Burns, who has just finished a featured role in support of Vera Reynolds in "Sunny Side Up," has had his contract extended and he will be seen in many of the new season's productions.

Sally Rand, at present appearing in support of Rod La Rocque in "Gigolo," will also be seen in P. D. C. pictures for a long period owing to extension of contract.

Colonial Theatre of Augusta, Maine, Damaged by Fire

Colonial Theatre at Augusta, Me., of which William Williamson is owner-manager, was damaged by fire May 6th with a loss estimated at $50,000. Mr. Williamson also operates the Opera House. "We will cancel no contracts," he said, "but will change programs daily at the Opera House until other arrangements are made." Mr. Williamson was of the opinion that temporary arrangements would be made for showing pictures in some other building until the Colonial can be rebuilt.

Hays Calls Meeting of Advisory Committee on Contract

THE climax in the contract situation was reached this week by the announcement that Will H. Hays has called a meeting of the Contract Advisory Committee on May 17 to consider specifically the "added-clauses" situation, which has been made the subject of protest by exhibitor organizations.

The Advisory Committee, formed at the famous Union League Club meeting some months ago, is composed of R. F. Woodhull, President of the M.P.T.O.A.: W. A. Steffes, President of the M.P.T.O. of the Northwest; E. V. Richards, of the Saenger Amusement Co., New Orleans; and Charles L. O'Reilly, President of the Theatre Owners Chamber of Commerce, New York.

The situation was brought to the fore through protests sent to Mr. Hays by Joseph M. Seider, Business Manager of the M.P.T.O.A., and by the subsequent action of five exhibitor organizations —the Northwest M.P.T.O., the M.P.T.O. of Western Pennsylvania and the New Jersey and Arkansas units. All five have announced they will refuse to arbitrate all clauses added to the contract without the sanction of the theatre owners.

Paul Lazarus Off on Five Weeks' Sales Tour

In behalf of the first group of sixteen films which United Artists will release on their program this year Paul N. Lazarus, general sales manager for the Southern and Western Divisions, has started on a five weeks' trip that will take him to Dallas, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Salt Lake City and Denver. He will confer with United Artists representatives in the foregoing cities.

Warner Bros. Portable Radio Opens First Program

Station 6XBR, the Warner Bros. portable radio broadcasting station, got under way to a flying start when it arrived at the State Theatre in Oakland, California, where the first broadcasting was done.

A tie-up was made with KGO, the largest station on the Pacific Coast, so that the program was rendered from the stage in full view of the audience.

Philly Exhibitors Against Percentage Basis

Fifty-four Philadelphia exhibitors signed pledges this week agreeing that they would not book or buy any pictures on the percentage basis for the season of 1926-27. The exhibitors who signed the pledges represented more than one hundred theatres in this city. They also voiced their opposition to the playing of double features.

John Priest, Colony Theatre Organist, Dies

John D. M. Priest, organist of the B. S. Moss Colony Theatre died Monday morning, May 10th, at the Columbus Hospital in New York City. The body will be interred in Glencoe Cemetery.

The departed is survived by his widow, Mrs. Florence Priest, and their daughter, Elizabeth.

Shamray Prod. Manager for Weaver Productions

PETER L. SHAMRAY, who until recently has been in charge of the laboratory work on the H. C. Weaver Productions which are released through Associated Exhibitors, has been elevated to the post of production manager for the company. Shamray will continue to supervise the laboratory in addition to his new duties.

Peter L. Sharmray

Shamray, who was with D. W. Griffith for five years and later with the Clune laboratories for six years, where he had charge of the motion picture developing for the United States Government, designed the layout and supervised the installation of the equipment at the Weaver studios at Tacoma, Washington.

Betty Compson and Bert Lytell, who have been signed to appear in Columbia productions

Columbia Line-Up of Stars Announced

Harry Cohn, vice-president of Columbia Pictures Corporation, has announced the signing of Betty Compson and Bert Lytell to appear in pictures for that organization.

In addition to the above mentioned stars the list of Columbia players also includes Lionel Barrymore, Robert Agnew, Mary Carr, Ann Pennington, John Harron, Forrest Stanley, Priscilla Bonner, Ralph Lewis, Tom Ricketts, Katherine MacDonald, George Fawcett, Arthur Hoyt, George O'Hara and Dorothy Revier. Directors on the list are Ralph Ince, Frank Strayer, Frank O'Connor and Phil Rosen.

Cohn also announced that he was negotiating with several stars for their services and expected to be able to disclose their names within a few weeks.

Two New Directors on Fox Comedy Staff

Fox Films has added two new directors, Leslie Selander and Mark Sandrich, to the comedy staff. They are at present engaged in directing an animal story as yet untitled. Pal, the canine actor is in the cast with Frank Coleman, Jerry Madden and Frank Abbott.

"Lafayette Where Are We?" New Fox Comedy

Another Fox Film Imperial comedy, "Lafayette Where Are We?" is now in production under the direction of Max Gold and Alfred Davis.

The leading roles have Ernie Shields and Jean Arthur. Harry Woods is the villain.

"The Last Frontier" On Location

ACTUAL production of "The Last Frontier," started this week at the Navajo Indian Reservation, under the direction of George B. Seitz. Traveling in two separate units, the first consisting of John Rohlogs, business manager, with carpenters, electricians and studio technicians, the second with cast, director and cinematographic staff, the company arrived in Tuba City on two special Sante Fe trains.

In the cast are William Boyd and Marguerite De La Motte in the featured roles. Gladys Brockwell, Frank Lackteen, Junior Coghlan, Mitchell Lewis and J. Farrell MacDonald have important roles. The part of "Buffalo Bill" has been assigned to Jack Hoxie.

Five M-G-M's for May and June

Features Included in Early Summer Program; Novarro and Chaney on List

DURING the last three weeks of May M-G-M will release "The Boob," on May 17th; "Paris," on May 24, and "Lovey Mary," on May 31. During June the releases will include Ramon Novarro's starring film, "That Certain Party" and Lon Chaney in "Road to Mandalay," the first showings of which will be on June 7th and 14th respectively.

"The Boob" has been directed by William A. Wellman, and features George K. Arthur, Gertrude Olmsted, Joan Crawford and Charles Murray. Kenneth Clarke scenarized the story from an original by George Scarborough and Annette Westbay. The titles were written by Katherine Hilliker and H. H. Caldwell.

"Paris" is an Edmund Goulding production, which he wrote and directed with Charles Ray and Joan Crawford in the leading roles. Douglas Gilmore and Michael Visaroff have important roles.

"Lovey Mary" is based on the novel by Mrs. Alice Hegan Rice, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," and was adapted to the uses of the screen by Agnes Christine Johnston. King Baggot has directed the production, with Bessie Love and William Haines in the featured parts. The cast includes Mary Alden, Vivia Ogden, Martha Mattox, Sunshine Hart, Jackie Combs, and many others.

Hobart Henley directed the Ramon Novarro vehicle after an adaptation by Donna Barrell of the English novel and stage play by Roy L. Horniman, "Bellamy the Magnificent." Sally O'Neil has the leading role opposite the star, and Renee Adoree and Willard Louis are also featured. The cast includes Edgar Morton, Bert Roach, Carmel Myers, Edward Connelly and Margaret Seddon.

The picture, "Road to Mandalay," which stars Lon Chaney, is an original by Tod Browning, who also directs the film, and H. J. Manckiewicz. It was scenarized by Eliot Clauson. Numbered among the players are Lois Moran, Owen Moore, Henry B. Walthall and Kamiyouma Sojin.

Warners Busy with Productions

Last Two on 1925-26 Schedule in Work; Syd Chaplin Filming "Better 'Ole"

NOW that the Warner Brothers' conventions are over Jack Warner, production chief, is back at the studios supervising the filming of the last two productions of the 1925-26 schedule and also is getting started the twenty-six Warner Winners for the new season.

Louise Dresser and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., have been added to the cast of "Broken Hearts of Hollywood," in which filming was started last week. Lloyd Bacon is directing this 1925-26 release.

Shooting has been started on "The Passionate Quest," which J. Stuart Blackton is directing. May McAvoy has been added to the cast which includes Louise Fazenda, Willard Louis and Gardner James. This is also on the 1925-26 list.

"The Better 'Ole," one of the nine specials to be made for the new season, has been put in work. "Chuck" Reisner is directing Syd Chaplin in this picture. Reisner will handle the megaphone on "Private Izzy Murphy," in which George Jessel, musical comedy star, will be featured, as soon as he finishes work on the Chaplin vehicle.

Alan Crosland has started filming "Manon Lescaut," the John Barrymore starring vehicle in which Dolores Costello will play the feminine lead. Bess Meredyth, who wrote the scenarios for "The Sea Beast" and "Don Juan," will also prepare the script for "Manon Lescaut." Dolores Costello's next starring vehicle will be "The Heart of Maryland," which Millard Webb will direct from a scenario by Bess Meredyth.

CAMERAS & PROJECTORS at a BARGAIN

In order to devote our entire energies to the narrow-width film industry, we are disposing of the last of our 35 M M equipment at prices representing about

Half their real value

1-UNIVERSAL CAMERA
new, with dissolve . . . $250.

1-UNIVERSAL CAMERA
shelfworn, but in good condition, without dissolve . . $150.

Both have B and L Lenses, F 3.5

1-$40.00 CAMERA CASE . $20.00

1-$125.00 TRIPOD and CASE $60.00

PEERLESS PROJECTORS
the finest for editing and cutting in the studio, formerly $300. . . Now $100. each

The PATHESCOPE CO. of AMERICA, Inc.
35 West 42nd Street, New York

Hobart Henley Signs New M-G-M Contract

Hobart Henley has been signed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to a new contract according to an announcement from the Culver City studios last week.

Henley is now at work directing Ramon Novarro in a starring vehicle entitled "That Certain Part," an adaptation from Roy L. Horniman's stage play and novel, "Bellamy the Magnificent."

Wants Fans to Guide Bookings

Sennett Says Public, as Best Judge of Values, Should Be Part of Every Sale

As pictures are made primarily for the audience, the public is the best judge of entertainment values and therefore should be a part of every sales transaction, Mack Sennett, Pathe comedy producer, declared in an interview at his office in New York, where he is spending a brief visit from the coast to attend to affairs connected with his productions for the coming season.

The producer makes pictures with a view to pleasing the public, the ultimate consumer, he said, and, he continued, ‘‘The people who buy tickets at the box-office are necessarily better judges of what they want to see than the exhibitor who sells them the tickets.

‘‘The producer does not care one whit whether his comedy gets half a laugh in the projection room, provided it gets sixty or seventy before an audience. Therefore, I feel that the audience should be made the judging body whenever possible.

‘‘When an exhibitor looks at a picture in his projection room or in the branch projection room, the chances are that he is thinking about his program for next week or any one of the hundreds of other things that constitute problems for him.

‘‘This isn't guesswork. I know it, because, as an exhibitor with my Mission Theatre in Los Angeles, I have done exactly the same thing. When ‘The Four Horsemen' was brought to the Mission for screening, I had had a very trying day. It was midnight before I got time to look at it and by that time I was completely tired out and had a thousand and one things on my mind that had very little to do with the picture in question. Well, we screened it and when we finished I had no more idea what it was all about than if I hadn't seen it at all. So far as I was concerned, it was just so much film and if it had been left to me, that picture would never have been booked at the Mission. Fortunately, however, the boys who looked at it with me were more clear-headed.

‘‘Now, some exhibitors are like that. They may take a personal dislike to a picture, with or without reason, and they can't see anything good in it. But we are not making pictures to conform to the personal views of exhibitors. We are striving for audience commendation and, unless the exhibitor has some miraculous second-sight, he can't know what his audience is going to think of a picture if he isn't present when that picture is shown before his audience.

‘‘Of course, I realize that it isn't always possible to show a picture to an exhibitor before his audience, and it isn't always necessary. There are, however, extreme cases of exhibitor objection that can be overcome in this way, and no stone should be left unturned to bring it about. In the event an exhibitor won't book a comedy simply because he won't book it, every effort should be made to get a print to his house and show it at a supper performance, for example, with the exhibitor himself looking on. That will provide a fair audience reaction.''

First National's Summer List

Production Schedule Now Definitely Set From May to Third Week in August

In accordance with First National's promise to exhibitors to aid them in defeating the usual summer slump the company this week announced its schedule of productions for the remainder of May, June, July and up to the third week in August. The line-up includes two pictures from Colleen Moore, and one each from the following stars: Corrinne Griffith, Richard Barthelmess, Milton Sills, Johnny Hines and Conway Tearle.

‘‘The Wilderness Woman,'' a Robert Kane production with Aileen Pringle, Lowell Sherman, and Chester Conklin in the cast was released on May 16. Frank Lloyd's ‘‘The Wise Guy,'' is the May 23 release, and Richard Barthelmess production ‘‘Ranson's Folly'' will be released the last week of May.

The list for June includes Colleen Moore's ‘‘Ella Cinders,'' M. C. Levee's ‘‘Sweet Daddies,'' E. M. Asher's ‘‘The Sporting Lover'' starring Conway Tearle, and ‘‘Miss Nobody'' starring Anna Q. Nilsson.

‘‘The Savage,'' ‘‘Puppets,'' ‘‘The Brown Derby'' and ‘‘Senor Daredevil'' are scheduled for release in July. ‘‘The Savage'' is an Earl Hudson production starring Ben Lyon and May McAvoy under the direction of Fred Neumeyer. ‘‘Puppets,'' is A. L. Rockett's first production with Milton Sills starred.

Charles C. Burr is the producer of the ‘‘Brown Derby,'' in which Johnny Hines is starred. ‘‘Senor Daredevil,'' the first Charles R. Rogers production for First National starring Ken Maynard, and his horse, Tarzan, will be ready for release the last week in July.

‘‘Pals First'' will be the first release in August. It is an Edwin Carewe production featuring Lloyd Hughes and Dolores Del Rio. ‘‘Into Her Kingdom,'' starring Corinne Griffith, will be released on August 8, and on August 15 Colleen Moore's ‘‘Delicatessen'' will be put on the market.

United Artists Southern Manager on Trip

W. F. Seymour, United Artists district manager for the South, has started on a two months' tour of the South which will take him to Pittsburgh, Atlanta and the Dallas exchange. He is visiting these exchanges in the interest of the United Artists product for the coming season.

Mack Sennett, Comedy producer for Pathe

Anthony Coldewey Signed by Metropolitan

Anthony Coldewey has been assigned to the scenario staff at the Metropolitan studios.

He is the author of ‘‘Almost A Lady,'' Marie Prevost's next starring picture which E. Mason Hopper is directing at the Metropolitan studio.

Carmel Myers Renews Her Contract With M-G-M

Carmel Myers has renewed her contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Recent productions in which Miss Myers has appeared are ‘‘Ben Hur,'' ‘‘The Devil's Circus'' and ‘‘The Gay Deceiver.''

William V. Mong Cast for “What Price Glory?”

In ‘‘What Price Glory?'' Laurence Stalling's war drama which Fox Films is making, the role of ‘‘Cognac Pete'' has been given to William V. Mong. The first scenes of the production are already under way. Raoul Walsh is directing.

Four Tiffany Exchanges Opened in Canada

Four Tiffany Exchanges have been opened in the Dominion of Canada with the franchise for this territory being controlled by George A. Balsdon and Robert J. Remney.

The Canadian exchanges will be situated in Toronto, in the Hermant Building, 21 Wilkens Square, with E. D. Warren as exchange manager; in Montreal, in the Albee Building, 21 Mayor Street, with G. A. Balsdon, general manager; in St. Johns, New Brunswick, 27 Prince William Street, J. Anderson, exchange manager; and in Winnipeg, at 402 Film Exchange Building, on Hargrave Street, with E. James in charge.

"Tin Gods" in Production at Long Island Studio

Production on "Tin Gods" went under way on May 10th at the Paramount Long Island Studio. The first few scenes will be made at the studio, after which the company will go on location at a place to be selected, probably in Pennsylvania. The screen treatment of the stage play by William Anthony McGuire, has been completed by Paul Dickey and Howard Emmett Rogers, and is now in the hands of Allan Dwan, who will direct.

"Tin Gods" is a Thomas Meighan starring vehicle.

Final Work on "The Brown Derby" Concluded

This week saw the completion of "The Brown Derby," Johnny Hines' latest comedy for First National. The picture has been titled, edited and cut, under the direct supervision of the comedian. Jack M'Gowan was engaged by C. C. Burr to write the comedy subtitles.

The cast supporting the comedian includes Diana Kane, Ruth Dwyer, Flora Finch, Edmund Breese, J. Barney Sherry, Herbert Standing, Bradley Barker, Harold Foshay and Bob Slater.

Doris Hill Feminine Lead in "The Better 'Ole"

Doris Hill, Warner Brothers new leading lady, has been assigned the leading feminine role in "The Better 'Ole," in which Syd Chaplin is starred under the direction of Chuck Reisner. The supporting cast includes Harold Goodwin, Theodore Lorch, Ed Kennedy, Charles Gorrard, Tom McGuire, Jack Ackroyd, Tom Kennedy, Kewpie Morgan, Arthur Clayton, and others.

Alice Joyce to Appear in "So's Your Old Man"

An important role in "So's Your Old Man" will be played by Alice Joyce. The star of the story will be W. C. Fields and it will be his second starring vehicle for Paramount.

The screen adaptation is being made by Thomas J. Geraghty from Julian Street's story, "Mr. Bisbee's Princess." Production will start the early part of June.

Filming is Completed on "Footloose Widows"

Production has been completed on "Footloose Widows," one of the few remaining pictures on the Warner Brothers list for 1925-26. Roy Del Ruth directed from a scenario by Darryl Francis Zannuck, of Beatrice Burton's newspaper serial story. Louise Fazenda and Jacqueline Logan are among the featured players.

Stone and Nilsson to Be Co-starred in Film

In the screen version of J. E. Harold Terry's play, "Collusion," which will bear the title of "Midnight Lovers," Lewis Stone and Anna Q. Nilsson will appear in the featured roles. The production is scheduled to go under way shortly.

Promotions made among the P. D. C. sales personnel: Left to right: George Dillon, promoted to New York district manager; Ralph Morrow, promoted to assistant sales manager; and Ralph Clark, promoted to assistant sales manager

Hail News of K-A Affiliation

Producers Distributing Corporation Convention on Coast Closes Amid Excitement Over Announcement

THE announcement of the Keith-Albee affiliation with Producers Distributing Corporation served as a dramatic climax to the International Convention held by the latter organization in Los Angeles last week, and which was brought to a close Friday, May 7. News of the affiliation caused an enthusiastic outburst of applause and started a demonstration similar to those familiar to observers at national conventions of the major political parties.

The last day of the convention was devoted to a summary of the new pictures. F. C. Monroe, president of Producers Distributing Corporation, Cecil B. De Mille and Al Christie were the principal speakers at this final session. Another feature of the last day of the meeting was the award of the prizes that had been competed for during the year.

The De Mille perpetual trophy for the best sales record was won by Robert Mochrie. The salesman's prize of a wrist watch for the best record of the year was won by Clarence Phillips. The manager's prize, a handsomely fitted suit case for the best record in inducing accounts to properly advertise, went to H. S. Lorch of Chicago, while H. Walker, booker in the Oklahoma City branch, won the poster clerk prize.

In his speech analyzing the product he would make during the coming season, De Mille dwelt upon the points of appeal that had induced him to select each story listed in the 1926-27 group. In discussing the personnel of the De Mille and Metropolitan studios, he stressed the fact that "youth pulls to youth," and declared that the policy of his producing organizations was the development of new talent. "We are seeking," he said, "those on the up-grade in preference to those that have been, or may be at the zenith of their careers, and therefore at the natural point of decline."

Sheehan Busy with Productions

Eleven Pictures in Production, Two in Cutting Room, at Fox Coast Studio

PICTURE production at the Fox West Coast studios is now in full blast with Winfield R. Sheehan, vice-president and general manager, supervising filming of the pictures which will make up the Fox program for the coming season.

Eleven pictures are now in production at the West Coast plant, two are in the cutting-room and two more are almost ready to start. Those pictures being filmed at present are "Pigs," which Irving Cummings is directing with Janet Gaynor and Richard Walling in the leading roles; "The Lily," the David Belasco stage play in which Belle Bennett and Ian Keith appear under Victor Schertzinger's direction; "What Price Glory?" one of the special Fox productions, "Married Alive," which Emmett Flyn is directing; "Womanpower," in which Kathryn Berry and Ralph Graves are featured with Harry Beaumont at the megaphone.

Peter B. Kyne's latest "Cappy Ricks" story, "Less Work, More Pay," is in production as are "The Complete Life," an O. Henry Story; "Lafayette Where Are We?" which Max Gold and Alfred Davis are filming; "The Swimming Instructor," a Van Bibber comedy; "The Circus Kid," and "The Family Upstairs," adapted from Harry Delf's play.

"Fig Leaves," and "Dead Man's Gold" are in the cutting-room and "The Pelican" and "The Return of Peter Grimm," Belasco's stage play, are in preparation for filming.

Scott Plan Put in Operation

Pathe's New Divisional Sales Managers Holding Special Meetings in Exchanges

ACTIVE work was started this week on the new Pathe personal contact sales plan devised by Harry Scott, general sales manager of the company, when five divisional sales managers left the home office for the field where they will hold special sales meetings in those exchanges that were not represented at the Pathe convention in New York.

Pat Campbell, sales manager for the eastern division, is covering the Boston, Philadelphia and the Washington branches aided by his assistant, Charles Henschel. Stanley B. Waite, central division manager, is holding sessions at Cleveland, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Buffalo, Indianapolis and Pittsburgh.

Mid-West division sales manager W. A. V. Mack opened his meetings at Chicago and will follow through Milwaukee, Omaha, Minneapolis and Detroit. Mack's Chicago convention was a condensed version of the Hotel Roosevelt gathering in New York. Special displays of novelties and accessories on the Pathe product arranged by Exploitation and Publicity Manager S. Barret McCormick were on display. On May 8th, Charles MacDonald of Timely Films, Inc., addressed the gathering on "Topics of the Day."

Southern Division Sales Manager E. Oswald Brooks conducted a sales conference at the Atlanta Branch on May 8th and 9th with Branch Manager W. W. Anderson and the entire sales force in attendance. On May 10th, 11th and 12th, Brooks visited Nashville, Birmingham and Chattanooga, accompanied by his assistant, R. S. Ballantyne, and on May 13th, 14th and 15th, he visited the Charlotte territory.

Western Division Sales Manager Frank Harris has already arrived in Los Angeles and is starting his sales meetings in that city, which will be his headquarters.

Release 3 Jewels This Month

"Skinner's Dress Suit" Included; Universal Schedule for May Also Offers Three Westerns

SIX features, three of which are Jewel productions, are offered for release by Universal during the current month. In the number of features, the schedule approaches the record mark for this company, since rarely in the past has the program for a single month contained three Jewels and three features.

The Universal Jewels marked for May release are "Skinner's Dress Suit," "The Still Alarm," and "My Old Dutch."

"Skinner's Dress Suit," scheduled for release May 18th, last week had its Broadway premiere in the Rivoli Theatre. It was directed by William A. Seiter, with Laura La Plante in a co-featured role.

"The Still Alarm," released May 2nd, is a melodrama by Joseph Arthur and A. C. Wheeler. It was made with an all-star cast headed by Helene Chadwick, William Russell, Richard Travers, Ed Hearn, John T. Murray and Edna Marian. It is an Edward Laemmle Production.

"My Old Dutch," for release May 23rd, was made by Lawrence Trimble, with Pat O'Malley and May McAvoy in the featured roles. The story is laid in the slums of London and is a drama of the costers.

The three Blue Streak Westerns for release in May are "Chasing Trouble," May 2; "The Set Up," May 16th, and "Looking For Trouble," May 30th.

"Chasing Trouble" is an action-drama starring Pete Morrison and his horse "Lightning." "The Set Up" is an Art Acord picture, adapted from a story by L. V. Jefferson and directed by Clifford Smith. "Looking For Trouble" stars Jack Hoxie. R. N. Bradbury directed.

M-G-M Sales Meet in Buffalo

Regional Delegates Present in Large Numbers; Chicago Meet Well Attended

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER'S first divisional sales meeting following the National Convention held recently in New York opened in Buffalo, N. Y., Monday, May 10, with Louis B. Mayer, vice-president in charge of production, presiding.

The delegation from the M-G-M New York offices, headed by Louis B. Mayer and Felix Feist, included Howard Dietz, director of publicity; Pete Smith, publicity director for the West Coast; William R. Ferguson, exploitation manager; Paul Burger, manager of sales development; W. F. Rodgers, manager of the Eastern division; S. Eckman, Jr., division manager; Robert Lynch, branch manager; Joseph Wolf, Sam Burger and Frank Roehrenbeck.

A dinner at the Hotel Statler followed the convention and many officials of the City of Buffalo attended:

The following regional delegates were present:

Charlotte: F. C. Pollock, J. S. Hinson, R. H. Masterman, H. L. Samet, H. V. Wynne and A. E. Rook. Philadelphia: R. Lynch, Jay Emanuel, W. Gabriel, H. W. Given, T. P. Mason, H. R. Hershenrider, W. J. Madison and G. E. Schwartz. New Haven: W. A. Scully, M. Rebanus and S. Shultz. Pittsburgh: J. J. Maloney, I. Furman, R. Dunbar, J. A. Gribble. E. Seibert, S. Lubell, J. Schneider, H. G. Bodkin, E. Elder, W. Liebler, I. Jacobs. Detroit: F. J. Downey, Miss R. Martin, J. Sturm, S. H. Barrett, J. D. Walt, J. Kauffman, M. V. Wreath. Boston: N. M. Wolf, M. Goldstein, H. Worden, E. Cohen, W. Gardiner, J. Mekelburg, B. Abrams, J. Devlin, and F. D. Sullivan. Cincinnati: W. I. Kerr, H. W. Stark, W. C. Bachmeyer, Miss M. McHugh, I. J. Engel, R. Roche, H. Cohen, R. Kinsler, W. Dobson. Cleveland: H. P. Wolfberg, F. E. Belles, W. Lissner, A. H. Erlich, T. B. McConnell, A. L. Delaney, E. M. Booth, and C. C. Deardourff. Albany: W. Weissman, G. Becker, L. Mendley, L. Horman, R. Melvin, L. Wolf. New York: Supervisors—B. Roman, J. Bowen and H. Miller. Also D. Rosengarten, D. Peck, S. Strauss, J. Zurich, D. Millinger, J. Goldstein, R. Flacks, N. Arenwald, A. Interrantee. Buffalo: E. K. O'Shea, W. J. Saunders, Miss M. Ryan, H. L. Beecroft, G. R. Carter, O. A. Siegel and R. Maw. Washington: E. J. Farrell, M. G. Greenfield, R. Berger, I. C. Metzger, W. Corby, M. Bobys, F. W. Deiersdorf, J. Milstein and N. W. Pyle.

Salesmen and bookers who attended the Chicago convention, which opened Wednesday, May 12, included:

Dallas: J. F. Willingham, H. A. Daniels, J. S. Groves, H. Hyde, E. F. Stein and L. B. Rozelle. Kansas City: W. Bradfield, O. Lambert, G. H. Jones, Jack Flannery, Wm. Flynn. L. Nathanson, T. Thompson, L. C. Durham and Eddie Green. Indianapolis: G. C. Parish, H. A. Wagner, H. A. Gorman, Don Hammer, Foster Gauker, Albert Lachnit, Mr. Schmidt, Mr. Davis and H. O. Stevens. Oklahoma City: W. H. Fegley, L. A. Maurin, C. G. Markert, G. E. Benjamin and Ray Beall. Omaha: Henry Friedel, John Kelley, Frank Sanders, Patrick O'Brien and Joseph McElhinney. Milwaukee: Jack Goldman, R. M. Grant, Joe Imhoff, Charles Howard, Herman Schwartz, Jack Shumow, and Harry Shumow. New Orleans: J. J. Fabacher, Houston Duvall and George Briant. Chicago: A. Putz, E. Frank, J. C. Kemptgen, H. C. Brolaski, F. P. Ishmael, Max Schwartz, H. O. O'Brien, L. R. Nelson, T. E. Delaney, J. E. Schwartzbine, Robert R. Jersey and Charles Glickauf. St. Louis: Ray Curran, I. B. Mace. G. S. Pinnell, J. A. Laurent, Wm. F. McTigue, Mr. Dean, P. B. Fitzgerald, Bob Green and W. G. Bishop. Minneapolis: J. L. Blumberg, M. E. Mazur, N. P. Cameron, E. Lorents, L. H. Coen, F. Workman. C. I. Booth, Nate Furst, J. E. Comer and Morris Abrams. Atlanta: J. J. Durfield, Louis Ingram, L. B. Butler, F. M. Schiller, C. D. Haug, T. B. McCall, L. L. Kelly. Des Moines: Carl Reese, Harry Gotlieb, D. Kennedy and Tarks Agnew.

Complete Casting of "Lew Tyler's Wives"

The casting for the principal roles in the screen version of Will Irwin's novel, "Lew Tyler's Wives" has been completed. The character of Lew Tyler will be played by Frank Mayo with Ruth Clifford as Jessie, his first wife and Hedda Hopper as Virginia his second wife.

This will be the first Preferred picture to be released through Famous Attractions Corporation. Camera work has been started at the Tee Art studio in New York, where Harley Knoles is directing under the supervision of J. G. Bachmann.

Marine Corps Background in Chaney Film.

The U. S. Marine Corps will form the background in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film, tentatively called "Tell It To The Marines," which stars Lon Chaney in the role of a veteran Marine sergeant. Production will start next week under the direction of George Hill and the full cooperation of the Government has been extended through Major General LeJeune. J. P. Wilcox has also been assigned to act as Liaison officer between the studio and the Government.

Educational Signs Johnny Arthur to Contract

JOHNNY ARTHUR, star of Tuxedo comedies, has been signed by E. W. Hammons, president of Educational, for another year.

Arthur went into the short feature field after his film debut in "The Monster" in which Lon Chaney was starred. His first comedy release was "The Tourist," and others in which he appeared were "Cleaning Up," "My Stars," "Home Cured' and "Mr. Cinderella."

The comedian has left for the West Coast where he will commence work early in June on his new series of six Tuxedo comedies.

THE CHECK-UP

Weekly Edition of Exhibitors' Box Office Reports

Productions listed are new pictures on which reports were not available previously.

KEY—The first column following the name of the feature represents the number of managers that have reported the picture as "Poor." The second column gives the number who considered it "Fair"; the third the number who considered it "Good"; and the fourth column, those who considered it "Big."

The fifth column is a percentage giving the average rating on that feature, obtained by the following method: A report of "Poor" is rated at 20%; one of "Fair," 40%; "Good," 70%; and "Big," 100%. The percentage rating of all of these reports on one picture are then added together, and divided by the number of reports, giving the average percentage—a figure which represents the consensus of opinion on that picture. In the way exceptional cases, reports which might be taken alone, and such individual differences of opinion are averaged up

For ratings on current and older releases see MOTION PICTURE NEWS—first issue of each month.

Title of Picture	Reporting Poor	Reporting Fair	Reporting Good	Reporting Big	% Value	Length
ASSOCIATED EXHIBITORS
Skyrocket, The	–	1	11	—	68	7,350 Ft.
FAMOUS PLAYERS
Behind the Front	—	—	5	12	91	5,555 Ft.
Dancing Mothers		2	7	—	63	7,169 Ft.
For Heaven's Sake	—		4	4	85	5,356 Ft.
Moana	—	3	6	—	60	6,133 Ft.
New Klondike	—	—	9	—	70	7 Reels
Sea Horses	—	9	4	—	48	6,671 Ft.
Untamed Lady	–	—	4	3	83	6,132 Ft.
FILM BOOKING OFFICES
Beyond the Rockies	—	—	8	—	70	4,851 Ft.
King of the Turf	3	3	4	—	46	6,210 Ft.
Tough Guy, The		4	7	6	74	5,455 Ft.
FIRST NATIONAL
Irene	—	—	3	10	93	9 Reels
Mlle. Modiste	—	—	5	—	70	6,230 Ft.
Rainbow Riley	—	—	6	—	70	6,450 Ft.
Too Much Money	—	8	4	—	50	7,600 Ft.
FOX
Cowboy and the Countess	—	2	6	—	63	5,000 Ft.
Sandy	--	5	–	—	40	7,850 Ft.

Title of Picture	Reporting Poor	Reporting Fair	Reporting Good	Reporting Big	% Value	Length
METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER
Auction Block	2	3	4		49	6,239 Ft.
Black Bird, The	—	1	6	1	70	6,688 Ft.
Beverly of Graustark	—				70	6,977 Ft.
Devil's Circus	—	1	8	—	67	6,750 Ft.
Mike	—	6	13	6	84	6,755 Ft.
PROD. DIST. CORP.
Million Dollar Handicap, The	—	4	5		57	6,117 Ft.
Red Dice	—	-	5		70	6 Reels
STATE RIGHTS
Midnight Limited	—		5		70	5,855 Ft.
UNIVERSAL
Blue Blazes	—		12	--	70	4,659 Ft.
Chip of the Flying U	—		5		70	6,596 Ft.
Cohens and Kellys, The	—	3	3	5	76	7,774 Ft.
Desperate Game, The	—	—	3	3	85	4,450 Ft.
Six Shooting Romance	—	--	8	—	70	4,837 Ft.
Skinner's Dress Suit	—	5			40	7,025 Ft.
What Happened to Jones	1	2	5	—	64	6,700 Ft.
WARNER BROS.
Cave Man	—		5		70	7 Reels
His Jazz Bride	2	2	4	2	60	6,420 Ft.
Night Cry, The	—	—	9	—	70	7 Reels
Sea Beast, The	—	—		3	100	7 Reels

FILL IN THIS BLANK AND MAIL TO—

Motion Picture News, Inc.,
729 7th Ave., New York City

Date,..

In accordance with your request we are reporting herewith the results from a box office angle, with the following pictures, same to be used in compilation of your "The Check Up." It is expressly understood that under no circumstances will you publish same over my signature.

TITLE OF PICTURE	DISTRIBUTED BY	WEATHER CONDITION	REPORT Big, Good, Fair, Poor

Class of patronage.. Theatre..

Population of Town.. City.. State..........

RIPLE YOUR OOKING TIME!

ublic demand for ex-
nded runs break-
g all records
erywhere!

2 weeks in

MILWAUKEE

Alhambra Theatre. Every record broken! Held over by popular demand.

8 weeks in

CHICAGO

Absolutely sensational! Held over week after week by public demand at Orpheum Theatre. Grossed a record for house!

2 weeks in

KANSAS CITY

Pantages Theatre — tremendous business — held over extra week!

4 weeks in

SAN FRANCISCO

St. Francis Theatre. Season's highspot. Tremendous business extended run 4 weeks.

10 weeks in

LOS ANGELES

Figueroa Theatre. New Records! Turnaway business from start.

2 weeks in

CLEVELAND

Stillman Theatre. Exceptional business. Held over additional week.

2 weeks in

NEW ORLEANS

Liberty Theatre — still going strong. Smashed all house records—more than $19,000 first week.

with J

and Do

2 weeks in

PROVIDENCE

Rialto Theatre. Broke all records first week. Held over to accommodate crowds!

16 weeks in

NEW YORK

At Warner Theatre — smashed all records on 11 week run. Held over 2 weeks Mark Strand—2 more Bklyn. Strand—and another Cameo Theatre.

5 weeks in

PHILADELPHIA

Stanton Theatre — the big sensation! Held over 5 weeks.

3 weeks in

BALTIMORE

Metropolitan Theatre. 3 record-breaking weeks. Forced out by advance bookings while still breaking records.

3 weeks in

WASHINGTON

Rialto Theatre — year's most talked of picture. Held over by public demand!

4 weeks in

PITTSBURG

Unparalleled! State Theatre — Broke all records by $4,000.

WARNE
BROS. presen

THE SEA
BEAST

DIRECTED BY MILLARD WEBB

OHN BARRYMOR

lores Costello

Studio Briefs

The pirate chief in the battle scenes of "Old Ironsides" will be played by Mitchel Lewis, who was recently added to the cast of this James Cruze production for Paramount. The story by Laurence Stallings of the American frigate Constitution will have as featured players Esther Ralston, Wallace Beery, George Bancroft, Charles Farrell and Johnnie Walker.

Lieutenant L. P. Arnold, one of the 'Round the World fliers, has been engaged to supervise the airplane sequences in "The Speeding Venus," now in production at the Metropolitan studios with Priscilla Dean in the stellar role. A number of flights will be made by Lieutenant Arnold, which will be seen in the film.

Three pictures were launched at the M-G-M studios. They were "The Fire Brigade," "Altars of Desire" and "The Red Mill." Charles Ray and Marceline Day are featured in the fire film with Lionel Barrymore, Tom O'Brien, Eugenie Besserer, Warner P. Richard, Bert Woodruff, Vivian Ogden, De Witt Jennings and Fan Mason in the line-up. Mae Murray is the star in the second picture with Conway Tearle playing opposite. Christy Cabanne directs. "The Red Mill" serves as a starring vehicle for Marion Davies, under the direction of William Goodrich. Owen Moore has the leading male role and other members of the cast are George Seigmann, Tully Marshall, Karl Dane and Otis Harlan.

In Ford Sterling's first starring vehicle for Paramount, "The Show Off," Gregory Kelly has been allotted an important role. Kelly has appeared in many stage productions and about two years ago made his screen debut in "Manhattan." Production on the film has just started at the Long Island Paramount studio under the direction of Malcolm St. Clair. Lois Wilson has the principal feminine role and Claire MacDowell, George Nichols and Iris Gray are also in the cast.

The cast of D. W. Griffith's "The Sorrows of Satan" has been augmented by the addition of Eden Gray. Miss Gray played opposite Joseph Schuldkraut in the stage presentation of "The Firebrand." About a year ago she made her screen debut in the Bebe Daniels picture, "Lovers in Quarantine." The chief characters in this screen interpretation of Marie Corelli's novel are Adolphe Menjou, Ricardo Cortez, Carol Dempster, Lya De Putti and Ivan Lebedeff.

The De Mille studios have engaged Zelda Sears, musical comedy writer, to write an adaptation of "Corporal Kate," to be produced shortly as a Vera Reynolds starring vehicle. Marian Orth will collaborate with Miss Sears and will write the continuity. "Corporal Kate" is a story of the adventures and romance of a Salvation Army lassie during the World War.

Corliss Palmer, who several years ago achieved a contract to play in motion pictures by winning a beauty prize offered by the Brewster publications, has been signed by M-G-M. She will probably play juvenile leads in future productions on the schedule of that company.

In Universal's "Love Me and the World Is Mine," starring Norman Kerry and Mary Philbin, a member of the Machine Gunners' Escadron, Fifth Austrian Hussars, Captain Albert Conti, will play the part of "Billy," and will also supervise the military details of the production. A. E. Dupont, U. F. director, is directing and the cast includes Betty Compson, Henry B. Walthall, George Siegmann, Martha Mattox, Helen Dunbar, Robert Anderson and Charles Sellon.

Because of threatening weather in Southern California the First National unit filming "Senor Daredevil" with Ken Maynard and Dorothy Devore, has confined its work to interiors at the studio. The picture will be Maynard's first for First National.

A number of players have been added to the cast of "The Clinging Vine," by Paul Sloane, who is directing Leatrice Joy in this story by Zelda Sears. The new players are Toby Claude, who has one of the featured roles, Robert Edison, Dell Henderson and Louis Natheaux.

"Her Honor the Governor," a story of the woman in politics by Hyatt Daab and Weed Dickinson got under way at the F. B. O. studio on the Coast. Pauline Frederick plays the title role and the supporting cast consists of Carrol Nye, Greta Von Rue, Thomas Sontschi, Stanton Heck, Boris Carloff and Charles McHugh.

Harriet Hammond adds a new role to her repertoire in "The Seventh Bandit," a Pathe western starring Harry Carey. She enacts the part of a young woman physician. Supporting Carey and Miss Hammond in the cast are James Morrison, Trilby Clarke, Walter James, John Dillon, Charles McHugh and others.

The screen version of a story by Darryl Francis Zanuck which has been called "Footloose Widows" will have Louise Fazenda in a role quite different from her recent characterizations. She will appear as a smartly dressed New York shop girl and later as a mysterious beauty, decked out in elaborate Parisian creations. In the cast of this Roy Del Ruth directed picture will be Jason Robards, Jacqueline Logan, Jane Winton, John Miljan, Neely Edwards, Arthur Hoyt and Mack Swain.

"Take It From Me," the new Reginald Denny starring production which William Seiter is directing at Universal City, is now well under way. Blanche Mehaffey is playing opposite the star, and Ben Hendricks, Jr., Lee Moran, Oscar Beregi, Jean Tolley, Vera Lewis, Ethel Wales, Tom O'Brien and others are in the cast.

Helen Dunbar, former member of the Paramount stock company, has arrived from the West Coast to play "Aunt Agatha" in Gloria Swanson's latest "Fire Manners." Miss Dunbar has appeared in many of Gloria's successes, among them "The Great Moment," "Beyond the Rocks," "The Impossible Mrs. Bellow" and "The Coast of Folly."

Four Mack Sennett companies are actively engaged in Pathe comedy production. Del Lord has started work on a comedy with Billy Bevan, assisted by Thelma Parr, Vernon Dent and Barney Hellum. Lloyd Bacon is directing Raymond McGee and Ruth Hiatt in another of their domestic trouble offerings. Mary Ann Jackson, Johnny Burke, Marvin Lobach and Andy Clyde make up the supporting cast. Ben Turpin is busily engaged on the third of his new series for Pathe under the guidance of Gil Pratt. Ben is aided by Madelaine Hurlock, Thelma Hill and Ruth Taylor. Eddie Cline is handling the megaphone for the new Alice Day comedy in which the comedienne is assisted by Eddie Quillan, Danny O'Shea, Max Davidson and Marion McDonald.

Eulalie Jenson has been selected to play the role of "Mrs. Stanton" in the picturization of the Gene Stratton-Porter story, "Laddie." It was previously announced by F. B. O. that Mary Alden would play this character.

In "The Man In the Saddle," two Wampas Baby Stars of 1926, Fay Wray and Sally Long, support Hoot Gibson in his latest production for Universal, which went under way last week at Universal City. Cliff Smith is directing from an original story by Charles A. Logue. Included in the cast are Charles Hill Mailes, Clarke Comstock, Emmett King, Lloyd Whitlock, Duke R. Lee, Sable Johnson, Yorke Sherwood and William Dyer.

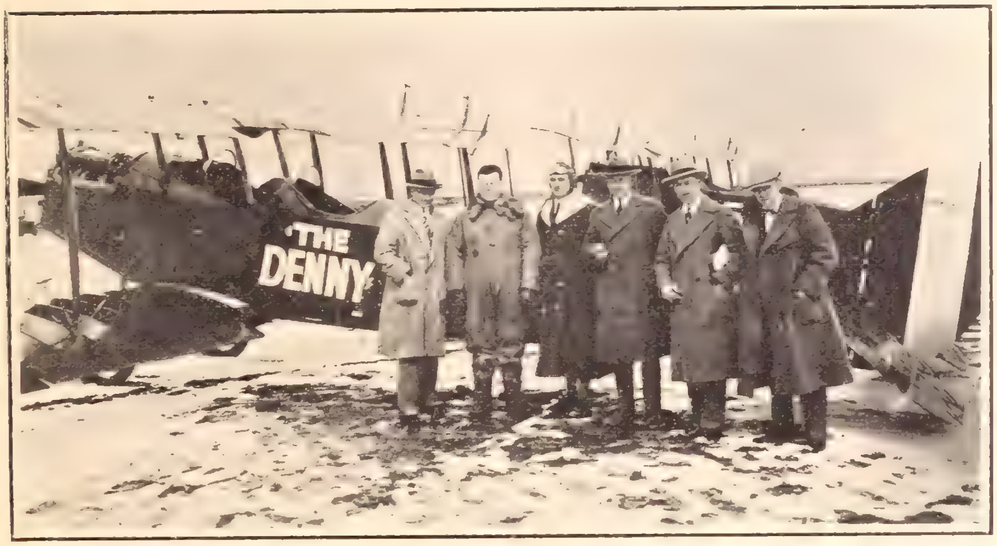
Richard Dix's next starring Paramount picture will be directed by William Beaudine. This tale of college football is now being prepared by William O. McGeehan, sports editor of the New York Herald Tribune. Production will begin early in June at the Long Island plant of Paramount.

Josephine Lovett, woman writer, has signed a contract with the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Company whereby she will write stories, adaptations and continuities for the production programs of the coming season.

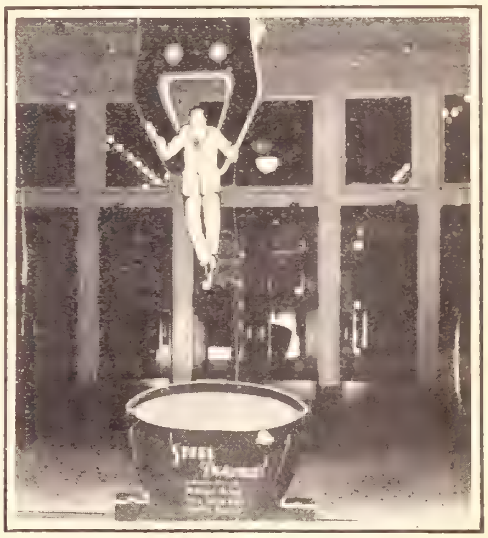
Several additions have been made to the casts of Warner pictures. Gardner James has been signed to play the part of Willard Louis' younger brother in "The Passionate Quest" which is being directed by J. Stuart Blackton with May McAvoy in the feminine lead. Myrna Loy has been added to the cast of "Revillon" which Ernest Lubitsch is directing with Monte Blue and Patsy Ruth Miller featured. The latest addition to the Syd Chaplin cast in "The Better Ole" is Kewpie Morgan.

The fact that Jeanette Stratton has been added to the cast of "Laddie," the F. B. O. Gold Bond picture now in production at the Hoollywood studios, means that she is the fourth of the late writer's relatives to have a part in the making of the picture. Jeanette Porter Meehan, daughter of the novelist, made the adaptation and Leo Meehan, her husband, is directing. Another granddaughter, little Gene Stratton, is also playing a featured role, that of "Little Sister," in the picture.

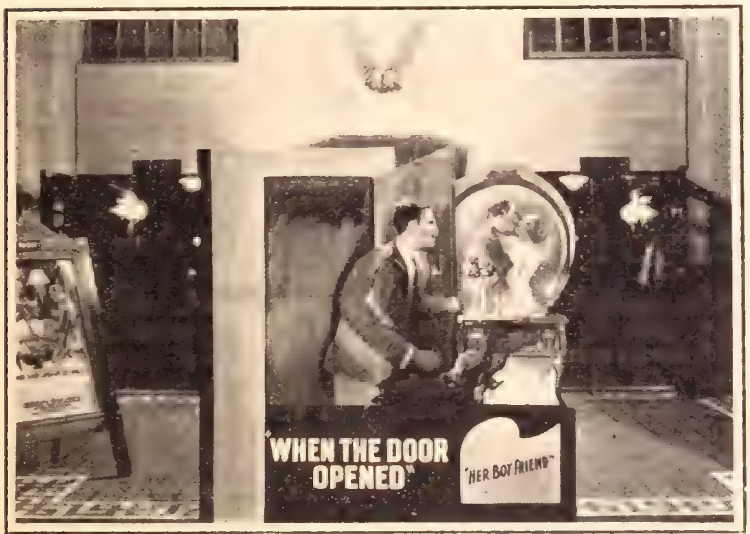
Exhibitors Service Bureau



One of the two planes which "bombed" Denver with cards admitting the holders to the American Theatre free of charge during the showing of Universal's "Skinner's Dress Suit"



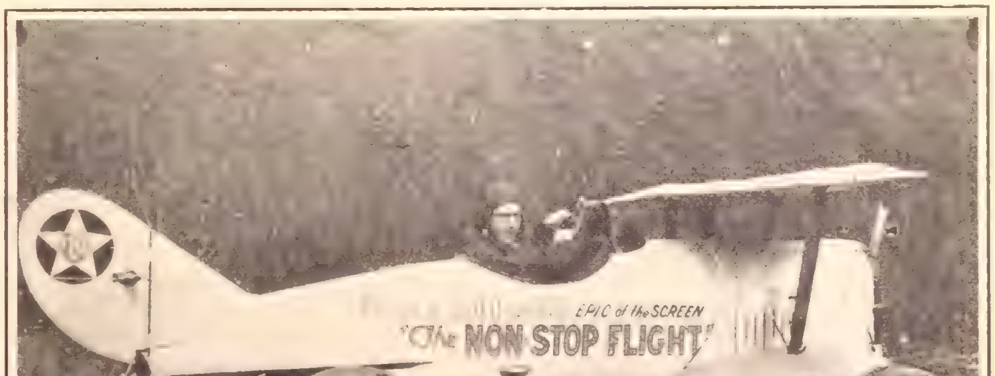
Frontal display for "Steel Preferred" (Producers Distributing Corporation), at the Rialto, Chattanooga, suggested by scene in the play



A realistic portrayal of the title of "When the Door Opened" (Fox) was produced in a cutout display used to exploit the picture at the Rialto, Augusta, Ga.

Display in the Gas and Electric Shop, Pittsburgh, of prizes offered in the "Masked Players Contest," sponsored by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and being featured by the Loew's Aldine Theatre, Pittsburgh

Window display of the W. B. Davis Company, Cleveland, to exploit the showing of First National's "Irene," at the Stillman Theatre in that city



F.B. O.'s "The Non-Stop Flight" was exploited in in New York by the aeroplane automobile shown above. The ballyhoo, built on a Ford chassis, attracted notice in New York streets for the showing of the picture at Loew's State Theatre

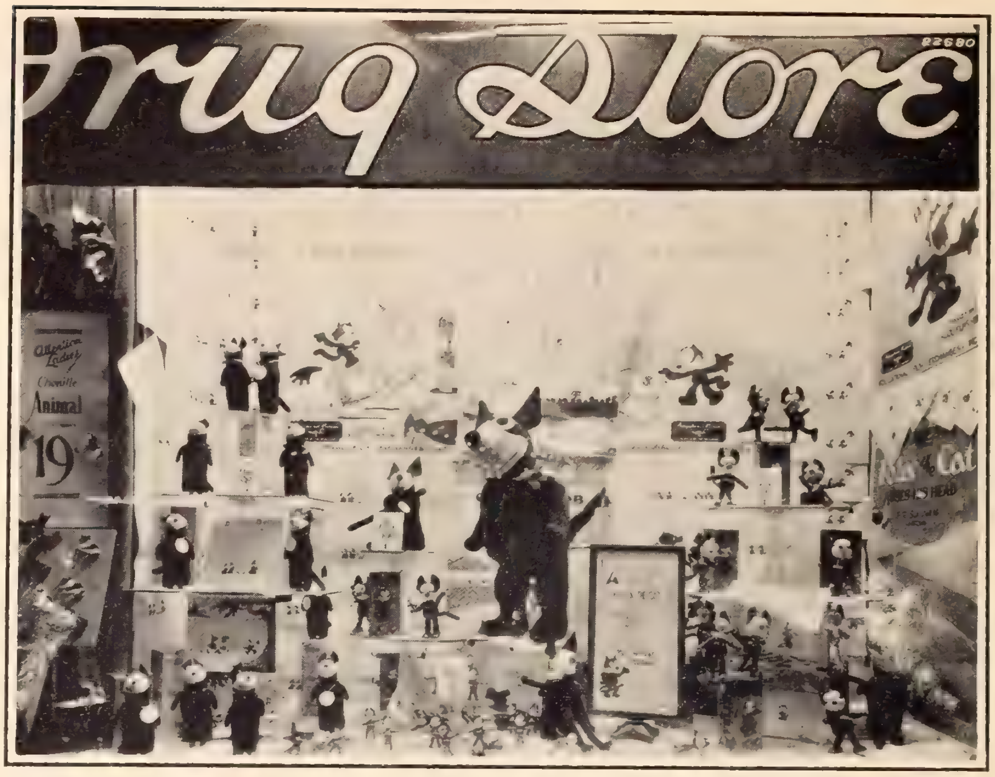
Drive Sponsored by Doll Manufacturer Opens in New York

A NATIONAL window display campaign aimed to promote the mutual interests of exhibitors of "Felix the Cat" cartoons and dealers distributing the "Felix the Cat Dolls," was launched under exceptionally auspicious circumstances in New York City, where the Felix comedies and the dolls were jointly exploited in a window display by the Liggett's Drug Store, Forty-second Street side of Grand Central Terminal—a window space regarded as one of the most valuable in the world.

The display was the opening shot of a big national exploitation barrage arranged between Educational Film Exchanges, Inc., and George Borgfeldt & Co., New York City, who hold the exclusive manufacturing privileges of the well-known "Felix the Cat" dolls.

Every exhibitor of the Pat Sullivan Animated Cartoon series will be privileged to participate in this new publicity campaign. Borgfeldt, who have more than 300,000 retail outlets for their merchandise, will supply dealers with prompt service on the shipment of dolls for these displays and whenever exhibitors desire toys for their own lobby display or give-away purposes they will grant reasonable prices on all their Felix novelties. In addition to the familiar jointed Felix dolls, in large and small sizes, there may also be had a number of inexpensive items, representative of which are the Felix candy containers.

Mr. Murray Frommer, manager of the Liggett Toy Department, Grand Central Station store, states that the window not only resulted in an increase of seventy-five per cent. in Felix doll sales, but also, sold for them many hundred dollars worth of Felix novelties.



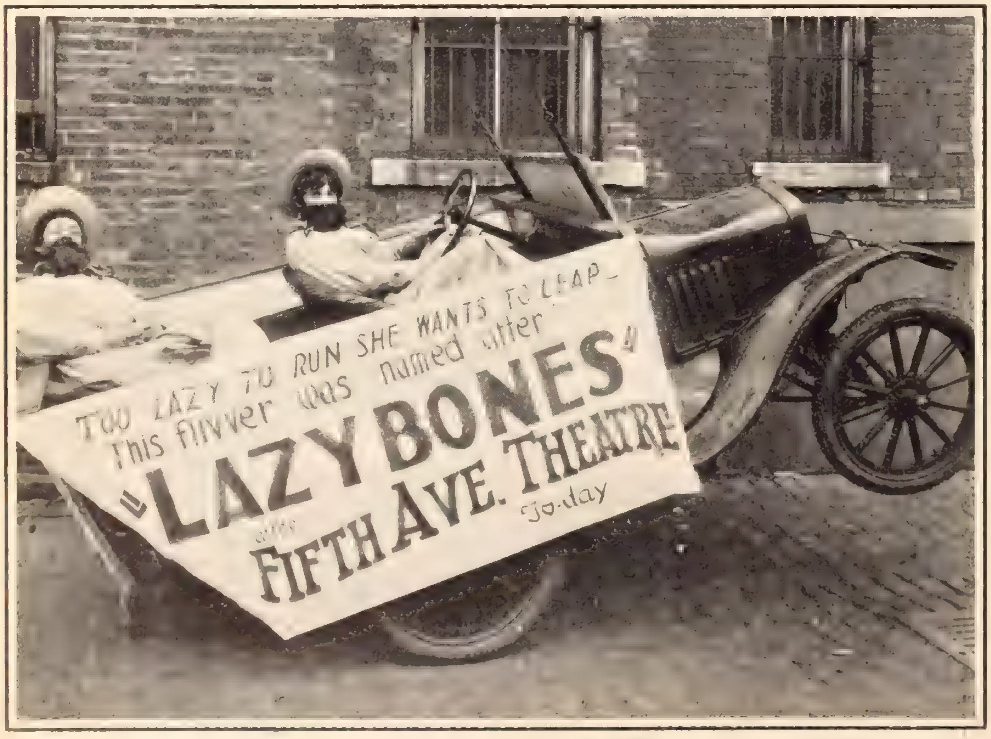
The Liggett Drug Store, Grand Central Terminal, New York City, devoted liberal space to a new Felix, the Cat, tie-up which may be participated in by all exhibitors of the Pat Sullivan Animated Cartoons, released through Educational

Novel Ideas Developed in Cleveland Campaign for "Stella Dallas"

SEVERAL new ideas were employed in the extensive campaign made by the Stillman Theatre, Cleveland, for its extended run of "Stella Dellas." An advance campaign of advertisements was modeled on the heart interest text used in New York, but modified to suit local conditions. On top of this a number of contests were conducted, one of which had the public competing with criticisms of the costume of Stella Dallas from the episode in which her daughter's society friends make fun of her. The picture of her in this striped costume was run daily in the Cleveland Press, and the readers sent in their estimates of the things that were decidedly wrong with her costume.

Another device was the mailing of McAlpin Hotel postcards from New York to a special list of Cleveland people asking them to see the picture in Cleveland. These postcards were signed by the first name of someone who might easily be among their list of acquaintances in New York.

A wide tie-up of book stores was obtained in connection with "Stella Dallas"—the novel and the picture.



TOO LAZY TO RUN SHE WANTS TO LEAP -
This flivver was named after
"LAZY BONES"
FIFTH AVE. THEATRE
To-day

A novel stunt which attracted attention in Nashville during the showing of "Lazybones" (Fox), at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, managed by G. P. Bannizq. The auto was counter-balanced that it could be made to buck at the driver's will

Cut Rate for Students at Liberty, Seattle

Announcement was made by Manager Leroy V. Johnson of the Liberty Theatre, Seattle, last week to the effect that half-price rates will henceforth be granted by his house to students between the ages of twelve and sixteen. Admission prices for children under twelve will remain at ten cents, as formerly, but the cut price for older boys and girls reduces their admission charge from the regular fifty cent price to twenty-five cents.

Short Subjects and Serials

Universal Plans Fifty-Two Comedies

A COMEDY schedule which includes fifty-two one-reel pictures for the next twelve months has been adopted by Universal.

Arthur Lake will make thirteen "Sweet Sixteen" comedies under the direction of George Summerville. An additional thirteen two-reelers will be done by Charles Puffy under the direction of Dick Smith. Neely Edwards will also do thirteen with no director chosen for him as yet. "Slim" Summerville and "Fanny," the mule, are also on the list for a series of thirteen novelty comedies.

Four comedy constructors have been engaged by Scott Darling, head of the comedy units, to write and assist in the production of the stories. They are Eugene De Rue, Mac Marcel Perez, Frederick Spencer and Charles Diltz.

Red Seal Regional Meet in Cleveland

The first of a series of regional conventions, at which were present sales representatives of the Red Seal exchanges in Chicago, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Detroit and Cleveland, was held in Cleveland on Tuesday last, May 11th, with Harry Bernstein, general sales manager of Red Seal Pictures, presiding.

Bernstein outlined the selling features of the Fleischer product and the program for the coming season which Red Seal is now preparing.

Sterns Engage Feminine Lead for Comedies

In the ''What Happened to Jane'' series, which Stern Bros. are producing, Thelma Dell Daniels has been recruited for the title role. Miss Daniels has been on the stage since she was six years old and is the winner of several beauty contests on the Pacific Coast.

Earl McCarthy will play the juvenile lead under the direction of Charles Lamont. The series will be based on stories by Roy Evans and will consist of thirteen for Universal release next season.

New Director on O. Henry Series

Jess Robins has been added to the Fox Films directorial staff. He has started work on his first assignment, an O. Henry story which has been titled ''Babes In the Jungle.''

Hallam Cooley and Jean Benee have been chosen for the leading roles.

Kerr Directing O. Henry Comedy for Fox

The latest O. Henry comedy, ''The Complete Life,'' is now being directed by Robert Kerr for Fox Films. In the leading roles will be seen Ethel Sykes and Frank Butler with Otto Freis, Grace Goodall, Lawrence Steers, Philip Dunham and Henry Murdock completing the line-up.

Dramatic highlights of "Watch Your Wife" a Universal production.

Roach Special Pathe Leader

Small Number of Releases on Schedule for May 23; Stuart Holmes in Comedy

TOPPING the list of Pathe release for the week of May twenty-third is a new Hal Roach two-reeler titled ''Don Key'' in which Stuart Holmes, Jimmy Finlayson and Vivien Oakland are featured.

In addition to this comedy the schedule includes ''The Golf Bug,'' a single reel issue with Paul Parrott, made by Hal Roach, chapter five of the Patheserial ''The Bar-C Mystery,'' ''Liquid Dynamite,'' one of the Aesop's Fables, ''Topics of the Day'' No. 21 and two issues of Pathe News.

In addition to the featured players of ''Don Key'' the cast includes Max Davidson, Tyler Brooke, ''Spec'' O'Donnell, Jackie Haines, Jerry Mandi and Frank Butler. Grover Jones and Hal Yates directed. It is a story of behind the scenes at a motion picture studio.

''Thundering Hoofs'' is the title of the fifth chapter of the Patheserial ''The Bar-C Mystery'' starring Dorothy Phillips. In this chapter Nevada and Jane are in the path of a thundering herd of cattle urged on by their enemies. Nevada makes a brave effort to rescue Jane but his horse stumbles and leaves them at the peril of the oncoming cattle. C. W. Patton produced this new serial for Pathe.

''The Golf Bug'' is a Hal Roach single-reeler with Paul Parrott, which burlesques the famous business men's favorite game.

Pathe Review No. 21, offers: ''Feathered Fishermen,'' how the Chinese Izaak Waltons use cormorants to pull their quarry from the water; ''The Man the Desert Got,'' a pictorial presentation of the famous poem, in Pathecolor; ''The Lost Empire of Africa,'' second instalment of the Pathe Review's exclusive camera record of excavations in ancient Carthage by Count Byron Khun de Prorok's expedition.

''Liquid Dynamite'' is a typical Paul Terry creation of the Aesop's Film Fables series. Topics of the Day No. 21 presents the latest jokes from the press of the world. Two issues of Pathe News complete the May 23d Pathe short feature schedule.

Albert Austin Directing Van Bibber Comedy

''The Swimming Instructor,'' with Earle Fox and Florence Gilbert in the leads, is the latest Van Bibber and the first comedy which Albert Austin is directing for Fox Films. Frank Beal, Lynn Cowan, Bardson Bard, Hazel Howell and Jack Donovan are included in the cast. This will be the seventeenth Van Bibber to be screened.

Resume of Current News Weeklies

FOX NEWS, VOL. 7, NO. 63: Hammonton, N.J.—Harry Hartz beats big field in 300-mile auto race; Washington, D. C.—Boy Scout delegation is received at White House by President Coolidge; Rheims, France—American hotel men see program of work on war-torn cathedral; Santa Cruz, Cal.—Here's a whole family of golf players; New York City—Pacific Coast's golf champion sails for England; San Antonio, Tex.—Gay cavaliers joust in novel tournament; San Antonio, Tex.—New air mail link with rest of country starts with christening of ship "San Antonio"; Washington, D. C.—Democrats in Congress score great victory over Republicans; Portland, Ore.—Enforcing prohibition in the Northwest; Chestertown, Md.—Two teams of society women meet at polo; Buffalo, N. Y.—Opening of navigation in Lake Erie tardiest in twenty years; Hendersonville, N. C.—Jack Dempsey begins training for title fight.

FOX NEWS, VOL. 7, NO. 64: Fort Benning, Ga.—Army Infantry School holds war maneuver; New York City—Picture paragraphs in the Day's News; On the Atlantic—Group of youngsters are deep-sea bell boys on big liner; Dallas, Texas—Candidates for Hella Temple Shrine are put through public initiation parade; Baton Rouge, La.—New state university and war memorial tower formally dedicated; Winchester, Va.—40,000 residents of the Shenandoah Valley join in apple blossom festival; New York City—America's most beautiful girl; Hendersonville, N. C.—Jack Dempsey settles down to hard work; New York City—Great curiosity is herd of sheep that roams Central Park; Every American City—How Charleston craze has swept country; West Coast—Fighting forest fires.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS NO. 38: Liverpool, England—Film sidelights on Britain's great strike; Peking, China—Pig markets re-open as peace dawns in China; New York City—Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stillman return from "second honeymoon;" Stockholm, Sweden—Crown Prince of Sweden reviews crack troops in their first spring parade; Cambridge, Mass.—When Freshman meets Senior look for a battle royal; Versailles, France—Versailles gardens aglow for American hotel men; Los Angeles, Cal.—Yesterday salutes to-day in unique seas spectacle; Winchester, Va.—Dixie belles dance in apple blossom festival; Colo. Springs, Col.—College girls find goat farm profitable; Phila., Pa.—Thousands of youths in monster celebration; N. Orleans, La.—Scores of entries in first yacht races of season; Atlanta, Ga.—Atlanta youth no buddy of John Barleycorn; Minneapolis, Minn.—Fleet of canal barges prove river navigable; Kona, Island of Hawaii—Mauno Loa volcano in mighty eruption buries Hawaiian village under flaming river of lava; New York City—Wire walker trains on roof of Manhattan; Westwood, Cal.—Fire train helps conquer great forest fire.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS NO. 39: Around the North Pole—Commander Byrd flies over the North Pole; Milwaukee, Wis.—Balmy weather opens cages for monkey man; Nice, France—Europe's crack horsemen in championship meet; New York City—Rotor ship makes 40-day trip across Atlantic; Waltham, Mass.—Girl Scout leaders of world visit Hub; Frederick, Md.—College girls frolic in colorful Maytime fete; Philadelphia, Pa.—Boys' Week marble contest develops new champs; Charleston, S. C.—Brilliant scenes mark dedication and opening of Ashley River Memorial Bridge; Hammond, Ind.—Jazz kings of future have tuneful assembly; San Francisco, Cal.—Golden Gate yachtsmen heed call of spring; Grants Pass, Ore.—Modern cavemen in ancient dress hold weird ceremony; New York City—Big city's mutts have a day of glory; Colorado Springs, Colo.—Clearing the way to Pikes Peak; Danville, Ill.—90-candle cake for "Uncle Joe" Cannon; Derby, Conn.—Yale triumphs in first big rowing contest; Pimlico Race Track, Md.—10 to 1 shot wins $50,000 Preakness race; Langley Field, Va.—Giant air bombers in thrilling war tests; London, England—Pictures of Britain's greatest industrial strike.

KINOGRAMS NO. 5185: San Pedro, Cal.—"Old Ironsides" off to sea again; New York City—Stillmans back from second honeymoon; New York City—Owen D. Young, reparations expert, comes home; New York City—Finds "Loveliest" Girl in America; Cambridge, Mass.—A thousand students held up at Harvard; Savannah, Ga.—Dances of long ago on estate of Henry Ford; New York City—Classical dancers venture into open spaces to rehearse latest steps; Philadelphia, Pa.—Rush sesquicentennial buildings for opening; Danville, Ill.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon has 90th birthday; At Sea—Hold memorial service over Titanic's grave.

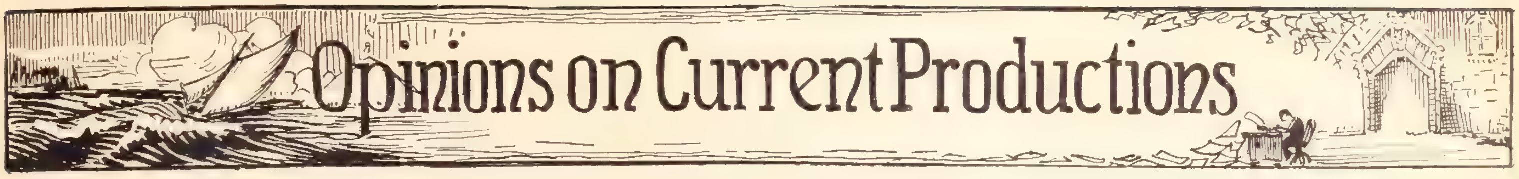
Some of the serio-tragic moments in "Gimme Strength," in which Jimmy Adams is starred. Released through Educational

KINOGRAMS NO. 5186: Arlington, Va.—Homage to mothers at national shrine; New York City—The 71st Regiment observes Mothers' Day in procession at St. Bartholomew's; Block Island—Navy again attempts to lift sunken S-51; Derby, Conn.—Yale crew's sprint wins varsity race; Boston, Mass.—True poetry of motion shown by girls; New York City—Rotor ship here; sailed 6,000 miles; New York City—Yaller dawg has his day at last; San Francisco, Cal.—150 craft dot waters in yachtsmen's holiday; Near the North Pole—Lieutenant-Commander makes successful flight o'er "top o' the world."

PATHE NEWS NO. 38: Washington, D. C.—Democrats stage ball filibuster and slip one over on G. O. P.; Washington, D. C.—Reach French debt agreement; New York City—"Keep healthy" is slogan of great city's children; Rome, Italy—Celebrates 2,679th anniversary of Rome's birthday; Little Rock, Ark.—Race for America's chief balloon honor; London, England—Great Britain rent by gigantic labor struggle; Hammonton, N. J.—Harry Hartz sets new world's record in 300-mile auto race; Abilene, Tex.—State Attorney General Dan Moody weds Miss Mildred Paxton; Bryn Mawr, Pa.—College girls dance in annual May Day festival; New York City—Military unit leaves for friendly invasion of France; San Antonio, Tex.—All neighborhood is digging for oil; New York City—Stenroos captures modified Marathon; Washington, D. C.—Boy Scouts visit President Coolidge.

PATHE NEWS NO. 39: London, England—Bolton Wanderers win British soccer championship; Danville, Ill.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon celebrates 90th birthday; San Pedro, Cal.—Replica of U. S. S. Constitution enacts scenes of "early youth;" Moscow, Russia—Complete great Tokio-Moscow flight; New York City—Foreign Girl Scouts arrive for international conference; Detroit—Pan-American journalists visit big motor plant; Berlin, Germany—Champion German swimmers receive warm welcome on return from U. S.; Jersey City, N. J.—Freckles at $10 a faceful; Indianapolis, Ind.—Makes army safe for the horse barbers; Buffalo, Minn.—Does he like jazz?; Winchester, Va.—Apple blossoms season greeted by gorgeous festival; Taourirt, Morocco—France and Spain parley with emissaries of Abd-el-Krim to end war in Riff; Ehrwald, Austria—Span towering Alpine peaks with funicular railway; Frazier, W. Va.—Blow up limestone cliff; Newport News, Va.—Richmond Blues sail for tour of European battlefields; Oxford, Mich.—Drive motorcycles up steep bumpy hill; Pimlico, Md.—Sarazen wins Dixie Handicap; Mansfield, Ohio—"Keep healthy" is slogan of these happy children; Newark, N. J.—Boys rule city for a day; Baton Rouge, La.—Dedicate great State University club; Scranton, Pa.—Latzo trains for title match with Mickey Walker; Winter Park, Fla.—Orlando High School mermaids win state championship.

PATHE NEWS NO. 40: Pimlico, Md.—19 to 1 shot captures rich Preakness stakes; New York City—First rotor ship visits America after 6,000-mile voyage; New York City—Destroy $1,000,000 worth of seized liquor; Buffalo, N. Y.—Merchant fleet bucks barricade of ice; New York City—The mutts have their day; Derby, Conn.—Yale's driving finish brings victory in triangular regatta; Near the North Pole—American fliers are first to conquer the Pole by air; Groesbeck, Tex.—Revue of bathing beauties marks opening of public swimming pool; Minneapolis, Minn.—Test trip proves navigability of upper Mississippi; St. Joseph, Mo.—Gay festival celebrates blooming of apple orchards; Winchester, Va.—Gov. Byrd reviews Staunton Military Academy cadets; New Orleans, La.—"Bold pirates" hold high carnival in Newcomb University festival.



Opinions on Current Productions

"The Lightning Slider"

(No. 7 "Fighting Hearts"—F. B. O. Two Reels)

(Revied by M. T. Andrews)

NOW that the spring is here Alberta Vaughn, the bright little star of this series, takes to playing ball. And what a mean bat she wields. . . . There is an annual baseball game between Oceanville and Hilldale for which Harry is selected to pitch. In the meantime a heavy makes a thousand dollars bet with Sally's father that Hilldale will win. To insure his bet he orders his gang to tie up Harry at the office and bribes Tod to pitch and lose the game for Oceanville. Seeing that their boss doesn't show up for the game, Jerry and Tom do some rescue work in their usual amusing style, and Harry joins his team at the last minute. He knocks a homer with bases filled, Sally hits another, so the thousand dollars are transferred to her father, and everybody is happy. Directed by Ralph Ceder.

THE CAST

Sally Tracy	Alberta Vaughn
Harry Grayson	Larry Kent
Tod Raleigh	Grant Withers
Tom O'Rourke	Kit Guard
Jerry Hawkins	Albert Cooke

Summary—The ball game with the critical eighth inning when the hero returns and helps to win, will appeal to all young folks. Good average comedy as the series go.

"Playing the Swell"

(Universal-Century—Two Reels)

(Revied by M. T. Andrews)

IT would be difficult to assert that this is Wanda Wiley's best vehicle to date, however, it is unquestionably one of her very best. "Playing the Swell" seems to have everything that goes towards making a good comedy-action, ingenious gags, original situations, and an excellent tone throughout. Wanda is broke so she pulls some clever tricks in order to pay for her sandwich at the lunch wagon. Later when she meets a shiek, she pretends to own his roadster parking in front of a bank, takes him for a ride and when they arrive in front of his home she is determined to own that likewise. When asked to a party Wanda yanks off the draperies to dress up in a swell fashion and there is no end of funny stuff when she is loosing the improvised pieces hastily pinned together. In the end her lofty ambition pays the penalty for playing the swell, but not before she goes through some shrieking experiences.

Summary—This comedy ought to bolster your bank account, unless pneumonia's in town.

"A Social Triangle"

(Fox—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

A WEALTHY bachelor playing a poor young man in order to find a wife who will love him for what he is and not for his money, and an aspiring social climber determined to marry a poor man, are the central ideas in this comedy, which is one of the O. Henry series. Bob Van Dyke is mistaken for his valet's valet by Marian, who, in order to shake off her hateful fiance, is determined to marry the first poor man she meets. Bob lets her believe he's only a commoner to test her love and right here the funny stuff begins. There are some slapstick gags to be sure, but they are extremely funny, action rapid all the way through, subtitles snappy and humorous, all capped by a corking climax, in which Bob substitutes a maid to marry the villain, and reveals himself to Marian just before the minister pronounces them man and wife.

THE CAST

Bob Van Dyke	Hallam Cooley
Marian Wakely	Olive Hasbrouck
Lane Winstrom	David Mir
Percy Fairweather	J. Clifford Rice
The Maid	Marjorie O'Neill
Mrs. Wakely	Clarissa Selwynne

Summary—A good, lively O. Henry number.

"Dinky Doodle In Egypt"

(F. B. O.-Bray—One Reel)

WALTER LANTZ again displays his ingenuity in the adroit combination of his cartoon work with straight photography. Dinky's master goes to the masquerade bidding Dinky and his mutt to retire. They rebelliously obey orders and dream of Egypt and the comely princess who much prefers Dinky to the delapidated mummy whom her father, Tut Tut, wants her to marry. Mummy challenges Dinky to a chariot race the winner to marry the princess. Dinky's horse is handicapped by a wooden leg, but they manage to win, and Dinky is about to embrace his lady fair, when his master awakens him rudely. A very amusing cartoon. Directed by Walter Lantz.—M. T. ANDREWS.

"What'll You Have"

(Universal-Stern—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

ANOTHER of the new series of Excuse Makers featuring Charles King as the fourflushing youth. In this comedy Charlie is clerking in a soda establishment patronized by college girls. Here he meets a pretty heiress and insists on accompanying her home, and plays Sir Walter Raleigh at a muddy crossing so that she can mount the taxi. Quite a stir of funny action takes place at the store when Charlie is trying to disguise himself in order not to be recognized by the heiress. Comedy winds up in a riot of fun when he takes the girl home and there beats up a couple of burglars in a Van Bibber style, is acclaimed hero and receives a fat check from the girl's father. Of course Charlie claims the girl also, so he gets both. Full of breezy action rich in comedy value. Direction and photography first grade.

Summary—Excellent acting and spontaneous situations in this two-reeler should make it go strong in any house.

"Liquid Dynamite"

(Pathe-Fable—One Reel)

THIS cartoon is very timely on the subject of prohibition, as it has a moral which can be easily applied to this troublesome problem of the day: Four out of five have it, the rest know where to get it. The cats are having a great time coasting down the hill, and Farmer Al, feeling rather frisky himself, decides to join them. Right here he gets in trouble with the prankish cats, so he betakes himself to Fording down the hill. Ford is filled with wood alcohol, and when it turns somersault, Al gets his share of it. The drink takes Al into the land of dreams, to the faraway Egypt where he runs into many weird and amusing experiences with mummies.

"Farm Hands"

(Pathe-Fable—One Reel)

PAUL TERRY invokes fast action instead of subtle ideas to appeal to humor in his latest cartoon. Old farmer Al never had experienced quite as many troubles with Ignatz Mouse and the rest of his farm hands as he does in this animated creation. The menial hirelings play foul tricks on the old man, even the dumb mule applies his hind quarters against him. In the end, however, they share his bed with all the sly innocence of the Katzenjammer kids. The cartoon is not up to Terry's best.—M. T. ANDREWS.

"The Vision"

(Educational-Romance—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by Edw. G. Johnston)

WE predict that Eugene H. Roth's "Vision"—a Technicolor production in two reels—will take its place in the sun as one of the finest—if not the outstanding production of its kind—for this year; and further, that when the exhibitor returns are in, approval will not only be expressed from those audiences who highly appreciate a beautifully artistic piece of work, but as well will reflect the approval of the masses.

As to honors due a well selected cast, the lion's share must go to Julanne Johnston and John Roche, the featured players. A greater part of the action centres about these two. Miss Johnston is charming and attractive to the Nth degree and her costumes are most becoming. John Roche has an excellent opportunity to display his ability as an actor of the highest quality—and Esther Rhodes also registers well in her role.

The story, credited to Arthur Maude, and suggested to him by Sir John Millais' painting, "Speak! Speak!" lends itself particularly well to the remarkable color effects produced by the Technicolor process. As to the story itself, it concerns a vision which appears to Edgar Graythorpe, sick and confined to his home at Roxton Castle; and alone with the exception of one servant. Graythorpe's queer actions—his conversations with someone unseen—have led the other servants to leave. Millais visits him and while there, the "Vision" again appears to Graythorpe. And then—the story unfolds—telling of a thwarted romance between Lucy Cludde and Charles de Lacey, and de Lacey's subsequent assassination at the hands of another suitor favored by Lucy's father. Pursued by the rival suitor, Lucy takes her life by leaping over a high cliff. Her spirit is the vision which appears to Graythorpe at intervals—and will continue to appear—until Graythorpe, who along with Roxton Castle has inherited the spirit of de Lacey—joins her. This is all revealed to Graythorpe by an old diary. Graythorpe dies and the two spirits meet.

Summary—Will undoubtedly be rated as one of the outstanding productions of its kind for the year. Done in Technicolor, it is an exquisite piece of work and the story is such that it carries a universal appeal. Admirably acted and produced.

NOW BOOKING

4—SINGLE REEL LESSONS IN THE

BALLROOM

CHARLESTON

Featuring

NED WAYBURN

And

THE FOLLIES GIRLS

Cranfield & Clarke, Inc.

729 Seventh Avenue, N. Y. C.

"Frame Up"

(Universal-Mustang—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

THE opening sequence lags in interest, but the minute Fred Humes takes to riding and battling the villainous malefactors, his furious action injects not only suspense but a heart interest as well. Fred impersonates Bill Wayworth, foreman of the Norwich Ranch, who is in love with Joan, his boss's daughter. Joan's father had promised her to Steve Bryan, whom Joan dislikes because he had refused to help Bill when the latter was attacked by a bunch of rustlers. To square the matters off Steve hires Domino Dan to frame kidnapping Joan, so that he can pose as hero by rescuing her, but Dan double-crosses Steve and kidnaps the girl. Joan sends police dog to notify Bill, who shortly comes to her assistance, and by so doing wins her father's favor, who does not object to him as son-in-law. Good photography. Directed by William Crinley.

Summary—Average fare for fans of short Westerns.

"The Mother"

(Cranfield & Clarke—Two Reels)

THIS is another of the series of Dramas De Luxe, based on famous paintings, being released by this company. In this instance, the painting which has inspired the story is "The Mother." The plot is one of mother love and sacrifice. The mother is shown first when the son is a small child, and through her lenience he is already ill-tempered and headstrong. As he grows up she continues to pamper him, against the advice of everyone, and he gambles and dissipates away their entire fortune. A married woman with whom he has been associating is shot and killed. The mother, thinking her son has committed the murder, takes the blame and goes to jail. The son visits her and tells her he is innocent. Then the warden appears and informs them that the murdered woman's husband has confessed to the act, because he could not bear to see a mother suffer. The story is hardly as sympathetic and convincing as a story of mother love might have been made.—L. C. MOEN.

"Pathe Review No. 21"

(Pathe—One Reel)

UNUSUALLY interesting are the shots showing trained cormorants, a species of water birds, in the employ of Chinese fishermen. These cormorants are used by the fishermen in huge flocks, the more prosperous the fisherman the larger his flock of cormorants. Each bird is tied to the boat of its owner by a long string, and also around his neck so that he will not eat up his catch. A pictorial interpretation of "The Man the Desert Got," a poem by Arthur Chapman, done in color, in a series of magnificent desert shots, and dissolves, constitutes the second part of the Review. This part is absolutely unsurpassed in pictorial beauty. Further camera record of the American excavation of Carthage under the direction of Count de Prorok, concludes the current Review. The last part cannot be too highly recommended for its interesting subject and the human angle with which it is presented.

KOKO
OKOK
READ IT
HORIZONTAL OR VERTICAL
IT MEANS
THE BEST
THE MAX FLEISCHER "OUT OF THE INKWELL" CARTOON CREATIONS WHICH AMUSE MILLIONS ANY WHERE
RED SEAL PICTURES CORP.
EVERY WHERE

"A Haunted Heiress"

(Universal-Century—Two Reels)

(Reviewed by M. T. Andrews)

EDNA MARIAN is a natural comedienne and no matter how hackneyed the story, she seldom fails to extract a laugh or two. In this two-reeler Edna falls an heiress to her grandfather's dilapidated property, which the crooked lawyer advises to sell. He arouses her suspicion with his over eagerness; she refuses to sell and goes to live in the old house instead. The lawyer then hires his gang to haunt the house in order to scare Edna away. With the help of a friendly clerk she outwits the gang and keeps the house. Although the situations here are of the familiar type and there's a lot of slapstick, the scenes in the haunted house will bring in their quota of laughs. Photography O. K. Directed by Francis Corby.

Summary—Good acting and spook stunts, enough to please the average fan.

"The Ostrich's Plumes"

(F. B. O.-Bray—One Reel)

FROM this Unnatural History cartoon we learn how the ostrich got his plumes. A dunce who thinks that Babe Ruth discovered America, is kept after school, but later he is dismissed by the teacher for telling the following story of the ostrich. A lady ostrich is broken-hearted because her boy friend had deserted her for the more beautiful peacock. Mourning her loss, she meets a monkey and asks his advice on her marital problem. Monkey takes her to the beauty parlor and after some comical gags applies marcel apparatus and behold the lovely plumes. Proud lady ostrich now struts out where her boy friend is flirting with the peacock who promptly deserts the latter to join his rightful mate. The cartoon is interestingly combined with straight photography. Directed by Walter Lantz.—M. T. ANDREWS.

"Pathe Review No. 20"

(Pathe—One Reel)

A HALF a dozen stunning hat styles, an advanced spring offering from Paris, comprise the first part of this Review. Women folks will eat it up. Then comes a Pathecolor study of the picturesque city of Auvergne, Provincial France, with its charming rustic background, the peasants, their colorful costumes, and their bagpipe music. "On Thin Ice," a novelty, produced by the process-camera invented by Alvin Knechtel, is a most beautiful camera study of ice skaters. Miss Margot and Bert Clark, famous skaters are photographed against a magnificent ice mirage produced by the process camera. It is simply amazing to watch the figures arrested in motion, reversing it, multiplying, with the combination of regular and slow motion photography. Excellent titles enhance the beauty of this novelty—M. T. ANDREWS.

"The Crown Prince"

(Universal-Bull's Eye—One Reel)

THIS is a very funny slapstick featuring Neely Edwards with half American and half Russian background. Neely works in a pressing establishment in the slum district and on several occasions displays crack aptitude in the manipulation of shears when he cuts the coats in two on a pair of customers, and a pair of trousers on another. He is about to be fired when foreign emissaries mistake him for a runaway Russian Prince and carry him off to the country of "vitch" where Neely is ordered to marry a beautiful Princess. The terrorists threaten his royal life, but what's a bomb or two between a pair of lovers. Neely looks good in his Russian outfit and goes about his work at fast clip all through the picture.—M. T. ANDREWS.

"The Optimist"

(Universal-Blue Bird—One Reel)

OF all the avoirdupois comedians Charles Puffy comes nearest to the place once occupied by Fatty Arbuckle, it is a pleasure therefore, to see him in a vehicle befitting his make-up. In "The Optimist" the smiling-faced comedian impersonates an absent-minded groom who has formed a habit of being late for his wedding. His bride makes up her mind to marry the best man if Puffy doesn't show up at the appointed hour. The best man does everything in his power to keep him away from the church, but tricky fate interferes and hauls the groom to the minister's house in time to substitute himself for the villain. Puffy goes through a series of glum-defying incidents before he finally nods "yes" to the bespectacled minister. A commendable one reeler.—M. T. ANDREWS.

"The Lion Charge"

(Cranfield & Clarke—One Reel)

THE most jaded picture patron should find thrills aplenty in this stirring record of a lion hunt. All of the preliminaries are shown, including the trip to the hunting grounds, the natives beating the bush, the first appearance of the lion, and the rest. This, however, is merely incidental to the real punch of the picture, which comes when the lion charges directly at one of the hunters, who barely escapes. A shot brings the lion down, and the remainder of the film shows the transporation of the lion back to a native village. It closes with an interesting native dance celebrating the killing of their ancient enemy. The photography is all that could be expected in a subject taken under such conditions. General entertainment value is excellent.—L. C. MOEN.

"Wild America"

(Fox Variety—One Reel)

THIS one-reel novelty should have been named Beautiful America, for it presents an assortment of scenic beauty that is unexcelled in its pictorial appeal. From the wild domain of Alaska to Yellowstone Park and the rugged beauty of the Arizona desert, the natural wonders rivaling in grandeur the most famous foreign places of interest are contained in this film. Scenes from Alaska, Yellowstone Park, The Grand Canyon, The Rainbow natural bridge, and the Monument Valley in Utah follow in order shown. The last-named subject is a series of magnificent shots of rock monuments rearing against the skies, a mighty work of nature's hand. This reel deserves a place on any program.—M. T. ANDREWS.

"India Tea"

(Pathe—One Reel)

THIS is an industrial film made by Coleman Goodman for Pathe. The subject is the tea and an attempt is made to cover the complete cycle of its life, from seed planting to the consumer's table. The locale is in the heart of Assam, British India, where this picture has been taken. There is a variety of interesting scenes taken as the natives are shown at work first planting the seed, then caring for the plant, picking the flower, and finally in the process of preparing the plant for the market. The subject is quite well done and interesting.—M. T. ANDREWS.

A Correction

IN our review of "The Angelus," which appeared in the issue of April 24th, on page 1944, the direction of this picture was credited to David Horsley. This is an error. Arthur Maude has written and directed the picture and all pictures of the De Luxe Photoplays inspired by World Famous Paintings.

The Isle of Retribution

Impressive Melodrama With Beautiful Background

(Reviewed by Maurice T. Andrews)

HAD the incidents in this story been less imposing upon human gullibility, and the titling more deftly done, it would have been one of the great pictures of its kind. Even as it now stands, the picture is an uncommon addition to the long list of pictures with Alaskan background. It is regrettable that the editing shears have been applied too indiscriminately, or else the story poorly visualized, the unhappy result of which is that the picture lacks the unity of sequence, continuity is at times jerky and unrelated.

Against these minor demerits we have magnificent backgrounds, realistic atmosphere, and human conflict amid the frigid Alaskan expanse, lashing blizzards and numbing temperature. Victor McLaglen contributes a striking characterization as the smiling villain (with apologies to George Bancroft), and should be in great demand by big concerns for big roles; he deserves it. Lillian Rich and Robert Frazer create a likeable heroine and hero respectively, David Torrence and the remaining cast furnish good support. However illogical they may be, the picture abounds in melo punches that are quite stirring and will hold the audience in suspense. Great photography.

The Cast: Victor M'Laglen, Lillian Rich, Robert Frazer, David Torrence, Mildred Harris, Kathleen Kirkham, Inez Gomez. Author, Edeson Marshall. Director, James Hogan.

THEME: Melodrama. Dissipating son of a millionaire goes to Alaska and there is held captive by a brute giant. Through imposed hardships he is spurred on by the girl he loves, regenerates, whips the villain, gains the girl's love and returns to America, a real man.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS: M'Laglen's sterling character study as the brutal giant. The beautiful Alaskan background, the court scene, the whipping sequence, the avalanche, the cooling atmosphere of the picture.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES: Bill as hardy melodrama with colorful Alaskan locale. Advertise as snow picture for hot weather. Boost M'Laglen and the supporting cast. Use the title.

DRAWING POWER: The beautiful photography will lure them in, acting of Victor M'Laglen and the cooling effect will hold them in. Should please majority.

Length 6,388 feet. Released May, 1926.
Produced and distributed by F. B. O.

Comedy highlights of the First National feature comedy release "The Wilderness Woman"

Scenes from the Fox release, "A Man Four Square," in which Buck Jones is starred

Money Talks

Farce Comedy Doesn't Keep Its Pace

(Reviewed by Laurence Reid)

ANY picture which carries out a farce-comedy idea must be kept spontaneous all the way. If it slackens in pace the least bit or if it loses some of its sparkle the result is more or less disastrous. This piece started out with the best intentions in the world but the expectations are not fulfilled. In other words it becomes vague and wandering in its plot and incident.

The farcical twists evaporate and what develops is a series of slapstick gags as Owen Moore, like Syd Chaplin, dons dresses and a wig and proceeds to cut up some fairly amusing didoes. Owen appears as a flashy youth in the advertising business. He always manages to put up a good front chiefly through his ability to bluff his way. Eventually his wife tires of his unfulfilled promises and goes back to her mother. But the author, not neglecting the happy ending, sees to it that the youth stumbles upon prosperity. And all ends merrily and peaceful.

The characterization is the best feature of the picture, Moore's interpretation being breezy and to the point while Bert Roach and Claire Windsor handle their roles to extract all the humor and charm from them. The others are competent.

The Cast: Claire Windsor, Owen Moore, Bert Roach, Ned Sparks, Phillips Smalley, Dot Farley, Kathleen Key, George Kuwa. Director, Archie Mayo.

THEME: Farce-comedy revolving around young go-getter who gets into business and matrimonial complications.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS: Owen Moore's portrayal—and his masquerade in feminine clothes. The early scenes as hero tries to put over his personality. The incident involving the quarrelsome couple. The scenes aboard the yacht.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES: The title has a certain pulling quality about it—which can be used for advertising purposes. Bill comedy as a "second cousin" to "The Show Off." Feature Owen Moore in feminine attire and exploit the hero's go-getting ability.

DRAWING POWER: Title should attract as well as names of cast. Suitable for all types of houses, large and small. Needs strong support in big first run theatres.

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.
Length, six reels. Released May, 1926.

A Man Four Square

A Lively Western Melo With Goodly Parcel of Human Interest

(Reviewed by Maurice T. Andrews)

THEY have given Buck Jones another genuine vehicle, which though not as entertaining as "The Fighting Buckaroo," closely follows the trail of the former in every respect. Buck certainly gives evidence of consistent showmanship in this picture by selecting a story that will capture the interest, putting over the melo thrills snappily, and shaping a modicum of comedy element. The thrills are supplied via the rough-and-ready style when Buck is forced to battle not only his enemies but also his own pal for the possession of the girl they both love. In spots the picture is marred with sheer melo stunts, but they are of the class that will keep the audience in their seats, especially when Buck achieves a rescue of his disabled pal and the girl from the cabin surrounded by a burning underbrush. The scenario is developed as consistently as it is possible in a western to do, and there is not a slack moment in the entire film.

The Cast: Buck Jones, Marion Harlan, Harry Wood, William Lawrence, Jay Hunt, Sidney Bracey, Florence Gilbert, Frank Beal. Author, William McLeod Raine. Director, William R. Neill.

THEME: Western. A man in an effort to clear his pal of cattle rustling, is himself implicated and pursued by a sheriff's posse. The former turns against him for alienating love of the girl they both love. But by a heroic rescue of his pal and the girl, he gains the love of one and forgiveness of the other.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS: Buck Jones' lightning performance. The scene where he rescues his pal and the girl from fire, the realistic fights, stirring situations, consistent interest and suspense. Fine background and good photography.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES: If you get this picture after "The Fighting Buckaroo," there is no further need of exploitation. If before, you can promise them safely finest western, with human interest, in many months. The catchy title.

DRAWIN POWER: A crack western. Should please even the most meticulous followers of Buck Jones.

Produced and distributed by Fox.
Length, 4,744 feet. Released May, 1926.

Scenes from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature comedy "Money Talks"

Humorous and tragic highlights in "The Isle of Retribution," an F. B. O. release

The Wilderness Woman

Nothing New Here But It Amuses

(Reviewed by Laurence Reid)

THE idea contained here is not so new. Film audiences have grown accustomed to seeing a girl's reactions to city life after she has left a primitive home environment, and if a story carrying such a personality is worked out deftly it invariably succeeds in getting over. The twist here is in presenting the heroine's starting point as Alaska.

The director has resorted to some first class "business" in keeping you interested. Indeed, the visit of the girl and her crude father takes on the form of a sight-seeing tour—accompanied with little tricks of deportment and etiquette. All of this spells quite a bit of amusement—especially since the role of the parent is played by Chester Conklin. Those who enjoyed his work in a recent picture of Pola Negri's will appreciate his presence here—for he certainly enlivens the fun with his keen sense of burlesque.

If the picture serves no other purpose it manages to bring one a definite relaxation from worries and annoyances. Perhaps it is a trifle far-fetched for the sophisticated spectators, but even these cannot deny that it is refreshing. One point in its favor is the fact that it is consistent. It doesn't pretend to be anything but what it represents itself here. Conklin, of course, walks away with the acting honors with his sketch of the Alaskan prospector.

The Cast: Aileen Pringle, Chester Conklin, Lowell Sherman, Robert Cain, Henry Vibart, Harriet Sterling, Burr McIntosh. Director, Howard Higgin.

THEME: Comedy-drama built around girl's transition from primitive environment to the glare of Broadway.

PRODUCTION HIGHLIGHTS: Chester Conklin's amusing comedy as he takes in the ways of the city. The ride in the taxi. The scenes of Broadway night life, etc. The comedy gags involving the principals. The atmosphere and acting.

EXPLOITATION ANGLES: Play up contrast in action of plot. Feature the Alaskan visitors. Tie up with stores catering to feminine modes using idea of how primitive girl is fashioned over into a city model.

DRAWING POWER: O. K. for all houses, large and small. Should prove especially suitable for small towns.

Produced and distributed by First National.
Length, six reels. Released May, 1926.

CLASSIFIED AD SECTION

RATES: 10 cents a word for each insertion, in advance except Employment Wanted, on which rate is 5 cents.

Wanted

FIRST CLASS Chicago organist desires western position account of health, beginning September or October. Good organ and good money imperative. Prefer solo job but will consider any good opening. What have you to offer? Correspondence invited. Reply R. S., Motion Picture News, 845 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

MALE PIANIST, first class baritone soloist; one year present theatre as picture player. Union. Walter Schwartz, Liberty Theatre, Muncie, Indiana.

AT LIBERTY: theatre manager, nine years experience, have just sold theatre; reference, box office statements and bank deposits; can operate any make of projector, also experienced electrician. Will go anywhere. Box 690, Motion Picture News, New York City.

PIANIST desires engagement to play alone evenings only, in picture theatre within commuting distance from New York City. Box 680, Motion Picture News, New York City.

WANTED.—Used posters, photos, slides, banners and accessories of all kinds. Must be in good condition. Will allow liberal credit. Theatre Poster Supply Company and Sign Exchange, 327 E. Sixth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

CAMERAMAN. — Open soon for local news reel, special stunts, screen prologues, exploitation, amateur photoplays, contests, etc.; want permanent place; salary basis; reliable theatre only; own camera. Address Rowe, 6855 Vinewood, Detroit, Mich.

PROJECTIONIST.—7 years' experience. Best reference. Wants position. James Convey, 33 West 65th Street, New York City.

WANTED. — Exploitation man wants change. A-1 ad man. Prefers New York State. R. T. H., General Delivery, Uhrichsville, Ohio.

FOR SALE

Universal Camera 400ft. complete, tripod, twin arc, carrying trunks, perfect condition. Write

Carolina Film Co., Box 476
Asheboro, N. C.

For Sale

MOST BEAUTIFUL theatre in state for size of town —2,700 population; no competition; big brick building, 500 seats; big stage; pipe organ; modern, up-to-date; price $12,900.00. Ten-year lease, $40.00 month rent; forty miles from Indianapolis, Ind. Box 710, Motion Picture News, New York City.

FOR SALE.—Used theatre chairs of all descriptions. Immediate shipments. Largest stock of chairs in west. The Theatre Seating Co., 845 So. State St., Chicago, Ill.

CLOTH BANNERS. — $1.40, 3 x 10 feet, 3 colors, any copy up to 15 words; one day service; sent anywhere; also Bargain Paper Banners. Associated Advertisers, 111 W. 18th Street, Kansas City, Mo.

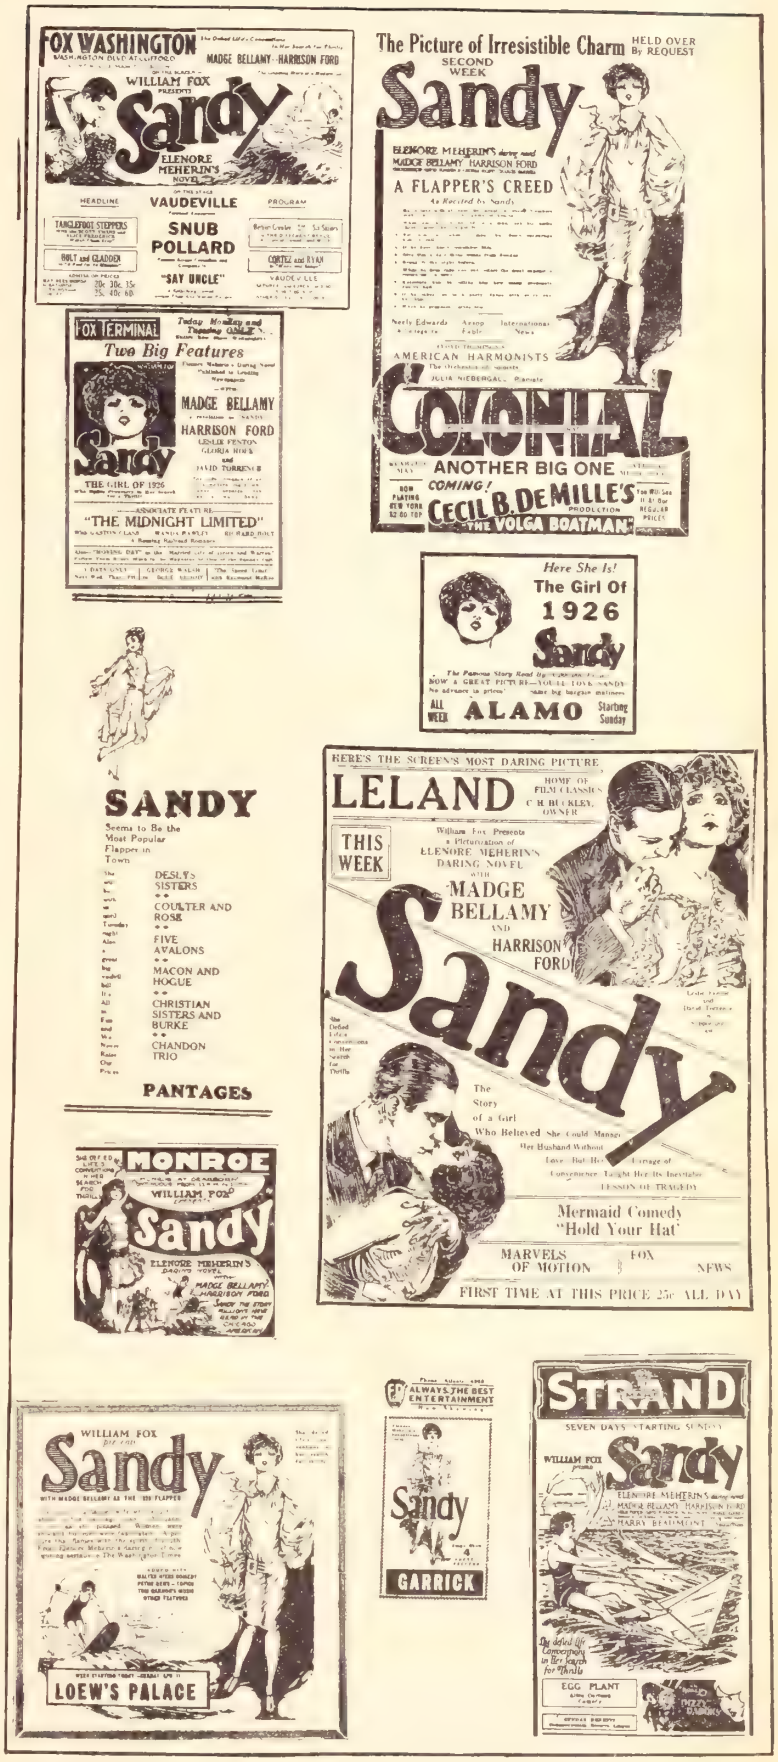
THEATRE — 575 seats. Population 5,000. 7-room flat and store in building. Cash required $35,000. T. Wardle, Amityville, L. I.

COMPLETE MOVIE THEATRE OUTFIT.—Used only one month. Consisting projection outfit of better type. Spot lights, signs, rugs, etc. Bargain. Tweel, 4624 - 6th Ave., Brooklyn.

THEATRE FOR SALE.—New combination theatre and commercial building consisting of 800 seat theatre, five stores and sixteen apartments in manufacturing city of 15,000, sixteen miles South of Chicago loop, in Calumet District. Address A. B., Motion Picture News, 845 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

SEVERAL used pipe and pit organs of standard makes, completely overhauled, traded on new Page organs; priced to sell. The Page Organ Co., Lima, Ohio.

THEATRE for long lease or sale. Fully equipped pictures or road shows. Seating capacity 900. Charels Bellinger, Findlay, Ohio.



FOX WASHINGTON
WILLIAM FOX PRESENTS
Sandy
ELENORE MEHERIN'S NOVEL
MADGE BELLAMY HARRISON FORD
VAUDEVILLE
SNUB POLLARD
"SAY UNCLE"
The Picture of Irresistible Charm
HELD OVER By REQUEST
SECOND WEEK
A FLAPPER'S CREED
AMERICAN HARMONISTS
COLONIAL
ANOTHER BIG ONE
COMING!
CECIL B. DE MILLE'S
THE VOLGA BOATMAN
FOX TERMINAL
Two Big Features
THE GIRL OF 1926
"THE MIDNIGHT LIMITED"
Here She Is! The Girl Of 1926
ALAMO
SANDY
Seems to Be the Most Popular Flapper in Town
DESLYS SISTERS
COULTER AND ROSE
FIVE AVALONS
MACON AND HOGUE
CHRISTIAN SISTERS AND BURKE
CHANDON TRIO
PANTAGES
HERE'S THE SCREEN'S MOST DARING PICTURE LELAND
THIS WEEK
MADGE BELLAMY AND HARRISON FORD
Mermaid Comedy "Hold Your Hat"
MARVELS OF MOTION
FOX NEWS
FIRST TIME AT THIS PRICE 25c ALL DAY
MONROE
WILLIAM FOX
ALWAYS THE BEST ENTERTAINMENT
GARRICK
LOEW'S PALACE
STRAND
SEVEN DAYS STARTING SUNDAY
EGG PLANT

The value of good stock material for newspaper advertising is reflected in displays which first run houses used for the Fox production, "Sandy," a representative collection of which are shown in the group above. The ads were used by Fox Washington, St. Louis; Loew's Palace, Washington, D. C.; Monroe, Chicago; Alamo, Louisville; Mark Strand, Worcester; Fox Terminal, Newark; Colonial, Indianapolis; Leland, Albany; Garrick, Minneapolis, and Pantages, Salt Lake

Regional News from Correspondents

Buffalo

HARRY SIGMOND, general manager of the Tax Free Music Bureau of New York, returned to Buffalo on Tuesday, May 4, to again address the members of Buffalo Zone, Motion Picture Theatre Owners of New York, on the music tax question. There was a fine turn out of exhibitors who were greatly interested in Mr. Sigmond's speech and promised him every aid in his campaign to eliminate the tax on music for use in theatres, radio stations, etc. Arthur L. Skinner, manager of the Victoria, presided.

J. H. Michael, chairman of Buffalo Zone, M. P. T. O. of N. Y., William Dillon of Ithaca, president, and A. C. Hayman, Niagara Falls, member of the board of directors, went to New York the other day to confer with Will Hays on arbitration problems and to further discuss the affiliation of the exhibitors' organization with the Hays body.

Vincent R. McFaul, manager of Shea's Buffalo, was in New York several days last week conferring with Publix officials and arranging bookings for the summer months. With its modern refrigerating plant the big Buffalo house expects to continue excellent business in spite of the warm weather. Some of the biggest attractions obtainable will be offered during the next few months.

The Paramount Pep Club, composed of the entire personnel of the Buffalo branch of Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, held its annual banquet and dance, Saturday evening, May 8, in the Hotel Statler. Marvin W. Kempner, branch manager, was master of ceremonies. The affair was the most successful ever staged by the organization.

New York and New Jersey

LAST Thursday marked the opening of Fabian's Oritania Theatre, Hackensack, N. J. Miss Gladys Rice, formerly of the Roxy gang, sang the Star Spangled Banner. Vincent Lopez, Wolfe Gilbert and Rita Owin, also contributed to the evening's entertainment. The seating capacity of the house is 2,200. Among those present were: Abe Blumstein, of Commonwealth; Sam Rifkin, of United Artists; Sam Epstein, of Elvin; Irving Grishman, of Universal Press; Irving Wernick, of Aywon; Jeff Dolan, of Howell's; Charles Stombaugh, of Pathe; L. L. Baren, of Cranfield & Clarke; Louis Kitinsky, of the Big U; Joe Vergesslich and Arthur Kershwin, of First National; Elemer Hollander, of C. & C.; Louis Sobrosky, of Stanley Co. of America; Joe Stern and Louis Stern, Messrs. Bratter and Pollack, S. H. Fabian, Abe Fabian, Jacob Fabian, Harold Blumenthal, Sid Steron, M. Cohn, of Capital; Fally Marks, Messrs. Libman & Spanjer, M. Enelsen, of World Ticket Supply; Jules Sarzin, of Fox, and Chet Vanderbilt, of Red Seal.

Refreshments were served at the Oritania Club House after the show.

The house is one of the most beautiful in state and is reported to have cost $1,200,000. The policy will be strictly Motion Pictures.

An informal luncheon was given last Wednesday in the Hollywood Pictures Exchange in 729 Seventh Avenue, to celebrate the opening of the newest local distributing organization

Jack Bellman, President of the organization, was host to a continued stream of well-known motion picture exhibitors throughout the day.

Hollywood Pictures staff, acting as aides to Bellman, who was master of ceremonies, consisted of: Adolph Pollack, chief aid and vice-president; Nat Beier, Jersey manager; Fred Meyers, Brooklyn manager, and one of his able assistants, Richard Perry; Manne Rosenblum; secretary to the president, Miss Ida Marshon; Long Young, publicist of Gotham Productions, nad David J. Lustig, publicity man for Hollywood Pictures Corporation.

Congratulations in the form of thirty-two large floral success pieces and over a hundred telegrams wishing Hollywood Pictures success were received.

Definite opening of Jos. Stern's new Ritz Theatre, Newark, N. J., will occur Monday, May 17, according to A. J. Sabo, who has been chosen to manage Mr. Stern's latest enterprise. Manager Sabo comes direct from the Millburn Theatre, Millburn, N. J., another house belonging to the Stern circuit, and this new appointment is a testimonial to his ability as a successful theatre manager.

The Ritz, reported to be the finest house in the Stern circuit, seats 2,500 on one floor and Spanish type architecture strikes a predominant note. One of the features adding to the beauty of the house, is a large marble fountain in the centre of the foyer.

Another change of management among Jos. Stern's theatres has to do with Sam Broskie, brother of Maurice Broskie, who is soon to open a house at Nutley, N. J. Sam Broskie will succeed A. J. Sabo at Stern's Millburn Theatre. Sam was the former manager of Lou Gold's Cameo, Newark. The Millburn is a 1,200 seat stadium type theatre.

Jake Bascombe, night driver for Prudential Film Delivery in the Heights section of New York City, was one of the passengers aboard the train in a recent Lexington Avenue subway mishap, according to report. He received a rude awakening and was badly shaken up.

Several announcements of new theatre projects in this zone and change of ownership have been recently announced: A banking syndicate headed by Iran Bolognino, has purchased property at the corner of Third Street and First Avenue, New York City, where construction of a theatre and store building will soon start. This same syndicate has built a number of theatres on the lower East Side.

On the right a group of local exhibitors who dropped in to wish Jack Bellman success with his newly opened Hollywood Pictures Exchange. On the left, Bellman is seated in centre, and standing in the background are Fred Meyers, Dick Perry, Adolph Pollack and Nat Beier. Dave Lustig and Lon Perry are crouched in the foreground

Leo Brecher and associates have taken a twenty-one-year lease on the Olympic Theatre and store building at Broadway and 107th St., N. Y. C. Mr. Brecher has operated this house for the past two years. The lease is said to involve $1,500,000.

A report is also out that James Lyons is active of late in the way of acquiring and building theatres in the vicinity of Washington and Butler, N. J.

Another project, though a small one, is a 500-seat house to be built at 596 Lenox Avenue, N. Y. C. It will cater to colored patronage.

Julius Leventhal has recently taken a lease on the Opera House at Bayonne, N. J. Leventhal also operates Stock houses in Union City and Hoboken.

Another change of ownership reported concerns the Colonel Theatre, Willis Avenue, Bronx. Paul T. Werner is said to be the new owner.

The Roslyn Theatre, Roselle, N. J., is also reported to have been taken over by Herman Gordon.

Brooklyn is to have another in the Fort Hamilton Parkway section, according to a recent announcement. It is a 2000-seat house to be erected by Henry Kornblum, on the corner of the Parkway and 67th Street.

Harry T. Nayor, of Yonkers, N. Y., reports that his Terrace Theatre will be ready to open Decoration Day. It will have about 700 seats and will be a second run house. Mr. Nayor is head of the Nayor Amusement Corp., at 256 Ashburton Avenue, Yonkers.

Fred Mertens will close his Majestic Theatre, Jersey City, for the summer months, during which time it will undergo alterations and redecorating in order to be in tip-top shape for a fall opening.

Kaiserstein's Strand, at Bayonne, N. J., will also close for the summer on or about June 1.

A summer opening reported is that of the Castle at Long Beach. It is scheduled for Decoration Day.

Sol Raives has returned from a week end spent at Atlantic City.

Manager Leff, of the Star Theatre, Southern Boulevard, N. Y. C., plans to sail for Europe during June.

Detroit

MAX BALABAN of the Balaban-Katz organization was here last week to visit Detroit's downtown theatres, and at the same time look over the progress of the 5,000-seat Michigan theatre.

John Sanders has been engaged as a member of the W. D. Ward Productions on the sales staff. Sanders is a veteran and has covered most all the territories in the state of Michigan.

H. Krueger, formerly assistant manager of the Alhambra theatre, has been promoted to manager of the Strand. Both these houses belong to the Kunsky circuit.

Lloyd Hendrich has taken Ben Wachnancy's position as chief accountant at the local Paramount office.

Ed. Traver formerly operating the Dix theatre in Detroit, has opened the Holden theatre which has been closed for the past year.

Fred Bartow has been assigned to the Detroit Paramount office as exploiteer taking the place of Ed Wall who has been transferred to the Chicago office.

F. J. Shepard, formerly branch manager of Associated Exhibitors' office in New Haven, Conn., stopped off for a week's stay in Detroit visiting the Associated office here.

M. Kaliski, owner of the Farnum and Park Theatres in Detroit, has goin to Europe taking with him his automobile. He intends to tour the entire continent.

John Frederick Morgan, city salesman for Pathe, on his second visit out this season shot a 78 over the Hawthorne Valley Golf Club east course last Sunday morning.

Norman Lane, formerly of Louisville, Kentucky, after wintering in Detroit is now summering at the Associated Exhibitors office as booker.

Ed. Beatty, Col. Butterfield, Mike Scheenherr and Geo. Trendle were among those who attended the National Vaudeville Association of America convention in New York City last week.

Henry Koppin has taken over the Harmony Theatre in Detroit.

Fred Howard, who has been selling pictures for Favorite Films, has joined P. D. C. sales force covering the east side of Detroit.

Harry Ross, Paramount district manager, spent last week-end in Detroit. Harry and his family are still making their home in Chicago.

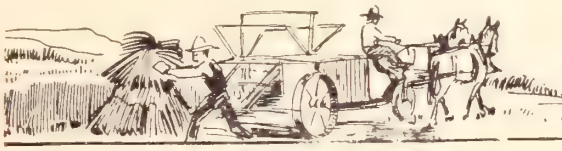
Jimmie Carrier, who has been manager of the Broadway Strand for sometime, is now special representative in this division for Universal as Theatre Exploiteer.

Joe Portell, of the Delray and Greenwood Theatres, is leaving for Europe to visit several southern countries and also part of northern Africa. He expects to return to Detroit about the first of September.

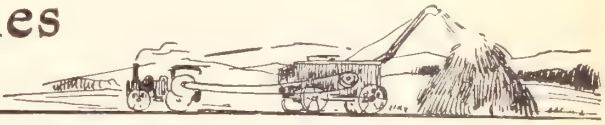
A. C. Schweigart has taken over the entire management of the Doric Theatre in Detroit, from Mr. Donlin, his former partner.

The local office of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will attend the regional convention on Monday, May 10th, in Buffalo.

Charles Carlisle, of the Mecca Palace Theatre, Saginaw, denies the rumor going around that he has either leased or sold his theatre or that he contemplates any such action.



Des Moines



THOSE who attended the First National convention in Chicago the last of April were E. J. Tilton, manager; Art Johnson, booker; Lew Ellman, W. Hackman, C. A. Pratt and Bill Sinter, salesmen. They all came back safe, sound and sober.

M. J. Weisfeldt, division manager for F. B. O., has been visiting the Des Moines office.

W. R. Liebman, manager of the office of Pathe, attended the sales convention in Chicago.

W. E. Banford, manager of the Metro-Goldwyn office, drove back from the national convention in New York and had a splendid trip.

Attending the regional convention of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in Chicago on May 12 are Harry Gottleib, Carl Reese and Jack Kennedy, salesmen; Park Agnew, booker, and W. E. Ba ford, manager.

Roy Jones, of the Gem Theatre, Des Moines, has bought the Blizzard cooling plan for his theatre.

Allison and Stephens, booker and shipper for Universal, drove all night to get back to work on Monday after a pleasure jaunt to Kansas City.

Manager Toensen, of the Parrot Film Company, Des Moines, made a business trip to Davenport. Visitors are now being received at the new offices of Parrot Films.

Visitors in Movie Row were M. L. Dixon of Mt. Pleasant, M. A. Brown of the Forest Theatre at Forest City, Wes Booth of the Strand at Belle Plain, and Art Reading of the Princess at Harvey. Also Charles Carpenter of the Majestic at East Moline. Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Booth of the Majestic Theatre at Wellman, last week made their very first visit to the film exchanges.

New cars which have appeared in Film Row are the new Buick owned by P. W. Robbins, salesman for Famous Players; a Nash owned by C. H. McClintick, booker for Famous Players; the Cadillac belonging to Manny Gottlieb, manager of the Universal branch; a Chrysler purchased by Joe Jacobson, Universal salesman; the Ford sport model, owned by Donald West, shipping clerk for Metro-Goldwyn. Miss Benjamin, secretary and treasurer of the Film Board of Trade, expresses a Packard as her preference.

Jake Cohen, owner of the Strand Theatre at Ottumwa, has also purchased the Circle and Empire at that city. Mr. Cohen recently sold the Lincoln Theatre of Des Moines.

Les Phillips, who has taken the managership of the office of Producers Distributors, is now attending the convention in Los Angeles. Mr. Phillips was head salesman for the Exhibitors Supply Company from their Des Moines Office E. J. Lipson, who was formerly representing Producers Distributors, is now travelling for the Arctic Fan Company of Chicago.

The business men of Granger, Ia., have purchased a machine and complete equipment for a new outdoor theatre which they will operate for the first time in Granger this summer. Equipment was bought from the Exhibitors Supply Company.

J. A. Lane, who is opening a new theatre at Iowa City, the Majestic, has set his opening date as May 15. The decision upon the opening date has been delayed by the failure of the Fire Chief to put his O. K. upon the building's construction.

Complete Mazda equipment was bought by the Rialto Theatre at Bedford, owned by H. Stanley and G. Cecil.

The Community Theatre at Elliott, Ia., was sold by L. H. Ireland to the Commercial Club.

A. M. Leitch has bought the Royal Theatre at Spirit Lake from Howard Varing.

The business men of Hastings, Ia., will have charge of the theatre there. The theatre was sold by K. P. Hull. .

F. A. Burquist has bought the Lincoln Theatre at Stanhope from H. Gottlieb.

The Lyceum Theatre at Slater was sold by the American Legion to Ed Winsett.

S. R. Nelson sold the Our Theatre at Brayton, Ia., to Lawrence Lehr.

The Des Moines Film Exchanges Ball Team is a team which has never met defeat. Now the demons of the diamond are anxious to take on the world to further establish their championship. They are especially anxious to vanquish Omaha and challenge especially to the ballplayers of that city is hereby issued. Answer to the challenge may be sent to Park Agnew, assistant manager of the Metro-Goldwyn office, who is one of the managers of the local team.

TRAILERS SELL SEATS
NATIONAL SCREEN SERVICE

THE
ONLY
TRAILER SERVICE
WITH ACTUAL SCENES
FROM THE NEGATIVE

Chicago, Ill.
845 So. Wabash Ave.

New York City
126 West 46th St.

Los Angeles, Cal.
1922 So. Vermont Ave.

Butte

MEMBERS of the Montana Board of Trade met in executive session last week. J. W. Heineman, president of the board, presided, while Secretary Harry Meyer, who is also General Counsel for the film men, was in attendance. Matters of importance were discussed and the members adjourned to meet later in the week.

Albert Nadeau, exhibitor and owner of the Bluebird Theatre in Anaconda, was in Butte the past week doing some film shopping.

Johnnie Havan, manager of the Liberty in Butte and the Liberty in Helena, has just reported the theft of several thousand rubles in Russian money. He left the money in his room at Butte and while he was in Helena the money was taken.

Plans are being made to enlarge the stage at the American Theatre so that it will be large enough to take care of the elaborate musical programs being planned for the American when North Coast takes charge.

W. J. Sullivan, manager for the Rialto and American Theatres, has just added an exploitation man to his staff in the person of M. H. Burke. Mr. Burke was at one time connected with the Silver Bow Amusement Company so that his return to his old place is decidedly welcome.

E. T. White of Livingston, exhibitor for the Strand Theatre, has been visiting the local film mart for a few days.

Marius Anderson, who for the past several years has been the owner of the Liberty and Orpheum Theatres at Kalispell, has sold his interests to his son, Carl Anderson, and R. D. McDaniel. The new owners have been in the oil business and recently made a "clean up" so have decided to devote all of their time to the theatre interests hereafter.

Carl Anderson has sold a half interest in his Columbia Theatre at Columbia Falls to Mr. McDaniel.

The Liberty Theatre at Kalispell is one of the most modern and beautiful theatres of the Northwest territory.

Frank Murphy, booker-manager for Famous Players, is just leaving his office here to make an extended trip over the state.

Miss Florence Gordon, film inspector for Famous Players, has been very ill the past week and is in a local hospital expecting to undergo an operation.

Miss Bertha Crowl, stenographer for Famous Players, is at her desk again after a serious attack of pneumonia.

C. R. Wade, local manager for Producers Distributing Corporation, has just started for Los Angeles, where he will meet his fellow workers in a big convention. He will be gone for at least two weeks. Mrs. Wade has been in the sunny southland for some months and has just returned home.

J. R. Vickers, exhibitor for the Liberty Theatre at Hardin, Montana, is quite enthusiastic over his comedy programs.

E. C. Shaffer, local manager for Greater Features, has been in Butte most of the week. Last week he spent in eastern Montana and spent some time with exhibitors in Billings.

Wm. Hughardt, manager of the local Pathe exchange, has returned from New York, where he attended the convention for the Pathe representatives.

Baltimore

A SETBACK has been given the plans of the Stanley Crandall Company of Washington, D. C., to build an up-to-date million-dollar playhouse on the site of the present Academy of Music, recently purchased by that company from the Shubert Interests.

The present building was to have been razed and the new playhouse built and in operation by December, 1926. As it is necessary to have foundations 12 feet deep instead of 5 feet as at present, this has delayed the work.

The Academy of Music is one of the oldest theatres in the United States and it was sold for about $650,000 recently to the Stanley Crandall Company.

Joseph Robins, father of Samuel and Fred Robins, directors of the Century Roof and Garden Roof orchestras respectively here, is busily getting his concessions at Virginia Beach ready for the summer season. Fred will join his father later in the season. Sam has taken his orchestra on a tour over a vaudeville circuit.

Several representatives of the Marcus Loew Interests, including Lionel Keene and M. Stewart, came to Baltimore on Saturday, May 1, to look over the Century and Parkway Theatres, recently acquired by Mr. Loew. Mr. Stewart has remained in Baltimore.

Joe La Rose has resigned as manager of the Embassy Theatre here, operated by the Independent Theatres Corporation, Philadelphia, of which Samuel Berman is president. Mr. La Rose was connected with the Fox Theatre, Philadelphia, before succeeding J. V. Carney as manager of the Embassy. W. J. Hagerty is now managing the Embassy temporarily.

E. A. Lake, manager of Keith's Hippodrome theatre here, and Mrs. Lake went to Brooklyn, N. Y., Saturday. Edgar Allen Lake, their two-months-old son, died and he was buried in Brooklyn.

George F. Lenehan, Washington, D. C., division manager of Producers Distributing Corporation, has recovered from an operation for appendicitis performed on him while he was in Atlanta, Ga., recently.

Evans Brothers, Inc., Lonaconing, Md., have bought the Rink Theatre, Barton, Md. The playhouse is open every night now.

Indianapolis

THE Palace Theatre at Rensselaer, Indiana, has been taken over by Frank Kresler. The former owner of this theatre was A. M. Robertson.

The Hollys Theatre at Newport, Indiana, has been taken over by R. A. Warren.

The Ft. Branch Theatre at Ft. Branch, Indiana, has been taken over by Hollis.

The Riley Theatre at Ft. Wayne, Indiana, has been taken over by Wolbrock.

Wm. Ratz, local manager for Producers Dist. Corp., is attending the Producers Dist. Corp. convention in Los Angeles, Calif.

The Rex Theatre at Montezuma, Indiana, which has been closed since the first of the year is reopened under the management of Ralph Young who formerly operated a theatre at Polo, Illinois.

Pat Boyle, of Fowler, Indiana, was in the city this week making arrangements with the Circle Theatre management to book the popular Radio entertainers, Ford and Glenn. This team will show at the Circle Theatre the week of May 30th.

Chicago

BUSINESS Manager Jack Miller of the Exhibitors' Association of Chicago, and H. M. Richey of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Michigan, went to Minneapolis this week to attend the convention of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of the Northwest, of which Al Steffes is president.

Western Sales Director Don B. Ledderman of Associated Exhibitors, has resigned and is no longer connected with that company. It is Mr. Ledderman's intention to take a few days' vacation, most of which will be spent in New York City, and then handle the sales of a large number of theatre properties which he has lined up.

Vice-President Sol Rogers, of Fox Film Corporation, stopped in Chicago this week for a conference with local executives of his company and then proceeded to New York City.

Julius Goodman, owner of the Douglas, Parkway, Marshall Square and Illington Theatres, is enjoying a brief vacation at French Lick Springs.

Clyde Eckhardt, on his return from Fox's convention in Los A-geles, called a regional sales conference at Fox's local exchange. Managers, assistant managers, salesmen, bookers from four exchanges, headed by Manager Sid Abel of Minneapolis, John Nolan of Milwaukee and "Peck" Gummersall of Indianapolis, attended. The meetings were held at the Drake Hotel and following the business sessions a dinner and theatre party brought the meeting to a close.

EMPIRE LABORATORIES INC.
723 Seventh Ave., N. Y. Bryant 5437-5736
DEVELOPING AND PRINTING MOTION PICTURE FILM

Kansas City

ANYHOW, he tried it. Roland Thompson, booker for the Mid-west Film Distributors, Kansas City, sought to fly to the rescue of M. G. Kirkman, owner of the Strand theatre, Hays, Kans., Saturday, and deliver some film in an airplane that couldn't have been delivered otherwise. He printed several hundred handbills to throw away at Hays and the good patrons of the theatre waited and waited. Thompson never arrived. A 60-mile gale forced him to land in a wheat field near Topeka, Kans.

C. M. Pattee, one of the pioneer exhibitors in America, who operates the Pattee theatre, Lawrence, Kans., will close his house next month for some novel improvements. He will carry out the old English idea, installing the more choice seats in the balcony. Box seats, an orchestra and added facilities in the projection room are among the improvements planned. The admission will be increased slightly.

Simplex projectors, a General Electric motor generator, a Payen Halftone screen and Superlite lenses have been contracted for by the Miller Enterprises of Wichita, Kans., for their Klock theatre, Pittsburg, Kans., which is undergoing extensive remodeling.

Among the out-of-town exhibitors in the Kansas City territory this week were: E. V. Turner, Panama and Garden theatres, Burlingame, Kans.; Ben Hill, City Hall theatre, Belton, Mo.; J. G. Allison, Eureka theatre, Weston, Mo.; W. H. Hardman, Regent and Royal theatres, Blue Rapids and Frankfort, Kans.; Ed Peskay, Tivoli, St. Joseph, Mo.; H. Kirby, Dearborn, Mo.; H. Kallmeyer, Glasgow, Mo.; Walter Wallace, Orpheum, Leavenworth, Kans.; J. A. Housey, Calhoun, Kans.; R. Davis, Holden, Mo.; Glenn Dickinson Enterprises, Lawrence, Kans.; 'Doc" Miller, Miller Enterprises, Wichita, Kans.; A. H. Kloepper, Byers, Excelsior Springs, Mo.; C. W. Trickett, Bird City theatre, Bird City, Kans.; E. E. Frazier, Grand, Pittsburg, Kans.

The New Centre, Waldo, and the Baltis theatres, Kansas City, have installed Arctic Nu Air systems and completed other interior improvements in preparation for spring business.

"What do I want most? A shave and haircut."

That was the spontaneous retort from Adolph Eisner, former president of the M. P. T. O., Kansas City, upon his return from Chicago and New York, where he had been on a "big deal," the details of which he could not reveal. Having sold his Circle theatre recently, almost anything can be expected from him now.

Kansas City's movie row worked overtime this week.

R. S. Ballantyne, assistant southern division sales manager for Pathe, held a sales meeting for the Kansas City staff at the Hotel Muehlebach. Ed Lowery, formerly with Midwest, has joined the Warner Bros. Vitagraph sales force.

Leon Abreham, formerly assistant Pathe branch booker, now is a full-fledged salesman for that company. He was succeeded in the booking department by Howard Hancock.

L. F. Durland, assistant manager of Independent Film Exchange, was confined to his home because of illness.

C. L. Hickman and A. M. Levy, formerly with Fox, have joined the sales staff of United Artists.

A quick trip through the Kansas City territory was made by C. A. Jones, Educational branch manager.

G. S. White, publicity director, and J. R. Wilson, sales manager, both of Educational, were Kansas City visitors.

During the absence of Tom Byerle, branch manager of First National, A. H. Chaffee, cashier, is in charge of the office.

Guy F. Navarre, United Artists branch manager, is in Wichita, Kans., on business, while M. A. Levy, Fox branch manager, departed for a swing around the key centres. Fox officials of Omaha, Oklahoma City, attended a two-day meeting in Kansas City at the Hotel President.

A motor transportation system between Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo., has been established by the Exhibitors' Film Delivery and Service Company.

The following changes in ownership and new theatres in the Kansas City territory have been announced: Opera House, LaCrosse, Kans., sold by M. M. Wilson to J. E. Andrews; Lucille theatre, Elmo, Mo., purchased by Z. T. Van Sickle from C. L. Abbott; Township Hall, Placo, Kans., purchased by James Coddington; Riggs theatre, Weatherby, Mo., purchased by O. P. Caster, who will change the name of the house to the Star theatre; Princess theatre, North Topeka, Kans., purchased by Eli Urlamperl from E. S. Meyers; Garden theatre, Burlingame, Kans., taken over by E. V. Turner; Bird City theatre, Bird City, Kans., is completed, having been constructed by C. E. Trickett; McLough theatre, McLough, Kans., purchased by George Casebear from E. C. Whitly; Leeton theatre, Leeton, Mo., has been taken over by J. A. Houseley; Community theatre, Oneida, Kans.; Munden theatre, Munden, Kans.; Gem theatre, Severns, Kans.; Opera House, Newton, Kans., and Parple thatre, Wichita, have been closed temporarily for improvements.

Canada

THERE were two big parties in Toronto on the occasion of the 15th Birthday of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation. One was the official observance of Paramount's progress while the other was a farewell by many associates and friends in the moving picture business to Jack Arthur, director of presentations for Famous Players Canadian Corp., who was leaving for the British Isles for a complete rest and visit with relatives.

Phil Reisman, Mel Schuberg and others of New York attended both parties and M. A. Mulligan, Canadian general manager for parties and M. A. Milligan, Famous Lasky Film Service; H. L. Nathanson, Arthur Cohen of Regal Films, and others brought greetings. J. M. Franklin, manager of B. F. Keith's Theatre, Ottawa, spoke in behalf of the Keith-Albee interests.

H. M. Thomas, of Winnipeg, Manitoba, has been making a business trip to Eastern cities for the purpose of arranging details for picture bookings for the next three or four months. Mr. Thomas is general supervisor of theatres in Western Canada for Famous Players Canadian Corp., Toronto, and is the manager of the Capitol Theatre, Winnipeg.

The Princess Theatre, owned by the Zakoor Brothers, at Chatham, Ontario, has been re-opened after being dark for several months to enable the structure to be rebuilt after a destructive fire, the opening ceremony being carried out by Mayor Thompson of Chatham. The Princess is operated under the auspices of Famous Players Canadian Corp., and the manager is A. P. Drohan who is also in charge of the Griffin Theatre, Chatham. Screen setting, scenery and electrical fixtures were installed by William Dineen of Toronto, a specialist with Famous Players.

The death is recorded at Toronto, Ontario, of Mrs. Minnie Griesman from pneumonia after a short illness at the age of 42 years. Mrs. Griesman was the owner and manager of the College Theatre, one of the older of the neighborhood theatres in Toronto. Her husband, who died a number of years ago, was one of the first local exhibitors, being the proprietor of the Moss Park Theatre in the early days. Mrs. Griesman, who was a sister-in-law of Mr. Gebertig, owner of the Bluebell Theatre, Toronto, is survived by a son and daughter.

Kenneth Leach, proprietor of several theatres in Calgary, Alberta, has remodelled the Strand Theatre there, which he acquired recently, and has closed the Regent Theatre for the summer months to concentrate his attention on the Strand. He operated the Regent Theatre for years.

Manager Phillips of Luna Park, Hull, Quebec, announced on May 8, that a feature of the summer season at the amusment park, which is to open shortly, will be a moving picture theatre, with popular prices prevailing.

Put old man gloom back into the Mothballs

Here Comes ~

GENE TUNNEY

A real money star in a Pathéserial

Albany

THE past week was characterized by a number of shifts among the salesmen along Albany's Film Row. Leon Herman, who has been connected with the Universal exchange, and Dick Melvin, who has been with Fox, swung over during the week to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer exchange. Mr. Herman will cover the southern tier and Mr. Melvin will work north. Harry Bosset, of Boston, arrived in town and will cover northern New York for Fox.

Two new theatres are scheduled to open in Utica this month. John Augello's house will open about May 15, according to present plans, and W. H. Linton will open his Olympic Theatre about May 18, although decorators are still busy.

M. J. Hardy has closed his theatre in Clayville for the summer. The Casino in Victory Mills, run by S. J. Cummings, has also closed and will not reopen until September 26.

Moe Streamer, of New York City, manager of United Artists, and Jules Levy, sales manager for the same company, were in Gloversville during the past week, spending several hours with the Schine brothers.

Among the visitors along Film Row last week were Bill Smalley, of Cooperstown, and Tom Thornton, who has the Orpheum in Saugerties .

The sympathy of Film Row is extended through these columns to Edward Lewin, local representative for United Artists, who was called to New York City last week, through the death of his sister.

Fred Mausert, owner of the State Theatre in Glens Falls, has provided a large space for the parking of cars, and charges fifteen cents for parking privilege, the same price as admission to his theatre.

Jerry Sullivan, manager of the Rialto in Glens Falls, tried out a road show last week, with such success that other shows may be booked from time to time.

Jerry LaRock, of Warrensburg, is now running three nights a week. His house is being redecorated and new fans are being installed throughout.

The first direct information in regard to the condition of Jake Golden, manager of the Griswold Theatre in Troy, was brought to town last week by E. M. Hart, of New York, who journeyed over to Boston and called on Mr. Golden, who has been confined to a hospital there for several months. According to Mr. Hart, there is a chance that Mr. Golden will recover, although he weighs little more than ninety pounds at present.

Walter Roberts, manager of the Troy Theatre, has rented a camp for the summer at Burden Lake. Mrs. Roberts, who has been ill for several months, is on the road to recovery and the couple will probably be able to take possession of the camp for part of June.

Barney Lumberg, Rae Candee and Nate Robbins, all of Utica, made up a fishing party last week that spent several days in the Adirondacks, but returned without bringing any of the speckled beauties with them.

Harry Lux, of the Alhambra in Utica, reports business as being up to snuff these days, and declared last week that there would be no change in the policy of the house during the summer.

No definite decision has yet been reached in Ogdensburg in regard to the erection of a new theatre in that city. The former house was burned to the ground several months ago.

Few motion picture theatres in New York State ever opened under more auspicious conditions than the Opera House in Lowville, which reopened last week. The village band turned out for the occasion and the affair was really a community event. The merchants staged a spring sale for the occasion and many from the country districts remained over for the opening of the theatre.

Fred A. Perry, manager of the Liberty Theatre in Watertown, earned the thanks of the owner of a business block in that city through quick action that probably prevented what might otherwise have been a serious fire.

A. T. Mallory, of Corinth, is building a big parking space for automobiles, adjoining his theatre, and plans to make a drive for automobile patronage during the summer months.

E. J. Hayes, the new manager for Pathe, spent a portion of last week in Utica, calling on exhibitors in that city.

The exhibitors in Utica are not worrying over the effects of daylight saving for the city is operating on Standard time, and it is understood, will continue to do so throughout the summer.

A. J. Pincus has been added to the local Pathe force as a salesman. H. C. Bissell, local manager for Universal, was in New York during the week.

The young ladies employed at the Paramount exchange in Albany blossomed forth last week in smocks, and created quite a sensation along Film Row.

The Rosewind Theatrical Company has moved its offices in Rensselaer and an undertaking establishment is now occupying the building which was formerly the headquarters of the company.

The Palace Theatre in Watertown is being remodeled at the present time and a new ventilating system is being installed. John S. McCormick has just been made assistant manager of the theatre.

Blanche Stock, assistant pianist at the American in Troy, is back on the job, following an illness of several weeks.

When George Ames left here the other day to assume the management of the Pathe exchange in New Haven, he carried a brand new traveling bag which was the gift of employees in the local office. The presentation speech was made by R. J. Meigs, who officiated as toastmaster at the dinner.

Cleveland

MORE than fifty exhibitors came from all parts of northern Ohio to attend Paramount's fifteenth birthday party which was held recently in Cleveland at the Winton Hotel. Harry Dodge, division manager; E. H. Brauer, branch manager, Duke Clark, district field manager, and Lou Edelman of the home office, were hosts. A buffet luncheon was served, after which the meeting continued. In the evening the guests assembled for a banquet.

LOOK AHEAD
KEEP AHEAD
WITH COLUMBIA PICTURES
"COLUMBIA" EXCHANGES EVERYWHERE

Thieves broke into Harry Horwitz' Olympia Theatre, Broadway and East 55th St., early one morning last week, and got away with $1,000.00. The safe was broken open and the money taken, but nothing else in the office was disturbed. No trace of the thieves has been found.

Nathan Cohen and M. L. Hainy are the new owners of the Alvin Theatre, Ontario Ave., Cleveland. They recently purchased the house from Messrs. Lefkowitz and Polster, leading circuit owners.

The Castle Theatre, 7305 Wade Park Ave., Cleveland, has a new proprietress. She is Mrs. K. E. Bradley, who purchased the house last week from Albert Horowitz.

